Much love and many, many thanks for everything from us both- Harold and Dot.

1930

- Depression
- Myron Gould Beard and Virginia Blatchley Space are married on July 15, 1930. Gould begins work with American Airways where he later becomes their chief test pilot until he retires in 1964.
- October/November -Willard and Ellen return from China so Willard can have an operation on an enlarged prostate gland
- Pluto is discovered by astronomers
- Kathleen is at Oberlin College
- Marjorie is working in Lorain, Ohio
- Geraldine and Gould are living together in Amityville, New York until Gould is married
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Willard is 65, Ellen- 62, Gould- 34, Geraldine- 32, Dorothy- 29, Marjorie- 24, Kathleen- 22.

[This letter dated Jan. 2, 1930 was written from Oberlin, Ohio by Kathleen to Dot and Harold. She and Monnie had a quick train trip back to Ohio after visiting Dot and Harold for Christmas vacation. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Old Talcott Hall again
Jan. 2, 1930.

Dear Dot and Harold-

This is the first letter I have written this year- feel honored. And on this pink paper too. I'll give you a choice between pink paper or no paper because I've got to use this up on the family. Never mind, part of it is covered up by the ink anyway.

The trip back was so different from the one coming up and seemed so short. The 8:00 train was not the one for us for we had to change at Toledo but there was a thru train at 8:30 which gave us plenty of time to buy tickets. We just sailed thru on that train and made Elyria by noon where we had lunch together and I hopped right on an Oberlin bus. I don't know how long Monnie had to wait but not more than half an hour I think. We took turns sleeping on each others shoulders and got some rest made up. I hope you were able to go to sleep again easily.

I am all alone here now since all the other kids are out on dates- first right back you know. After my bag was unpacked and the room somewhat in order again I slept the rest of the afternoon and did it feel good! I am going down to Aunt Etta's for a little while to see if the boys have gone back yet. It is wet and rainy out and I sort of hate to go but I do want to see them.

It is just the same as ever getting back after a vacation. Everybody acts merry and puts on a forced gaiety to get back. Vacations are awfully nice but, oh! the aftermath. It isn't as bad as it sometimes is though because I can make myself snap out of it now.

Be sure to write us which radio you decide on (do I miss that ringing in my ears!) and tell us what the doctor said, Dotty.

I can hardly make it seem that we saw you just this morning and that two hundred miles lie between us now- but they do (aren't I right!)

Love and a heartfelt of thanks
Kathie.

P.S. WTAM Cleveland is broadcasting an Oberlin hour on Jan. 18 from 10:00- 11:00 a capella choir, string quartet and some solos are being broadcast. Tune in. -

[This letter dated Jan. 12, 1930 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry and Gould. She wonders if Aunt Grace (a Christian Scientist), is taking medical care for her illness. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2108 N. Bond St.,
Saginaw, Mich.,
Jan. 12, 1930.

Dear Jerry and Gould:

My, now we did enjoy Jerry's letter about all your doings, Gould, so let us hear a word from you once in a while.

I'm so sorry you couldn't have been here for Christmas. We had a grand time. You did have quite a different Christmas than you have had the last few years, didn't you, Jerry?

I have heard from both Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary about their gifts. Have sent the letters on to the girls. Your gifts were all very good, we think- to the relatives, I mean.

I sent Mary Ann a compact and got the cutest letter from her. I am sending it to the girls and want them to send it on to you. It's so sweet.

Dorothy and Uncle Raymond both wrote of your being there, and how much they enjoyed your visit.

I'm so glad you wrote more about Aunt Grace and Uncle Oliver. I haven't heard the details of either case, until you wrote. Is Aunt Grace accepting medical care? How and where is she paralyzed? How is Uncle Oliver now? I am going to write to them.

No, you haven't said a word about what you got from China. What, in the way of linens? I may want to buy something from you. You're coming along splendidly, aren't you? Anything that you can't sell, send to me and I may be able to sell it here for you.

About our gifts to you two- everybody was out of the little nickel bug lights or else didn't carry them, and I just ran across that and thought it was cute. I shall send a refill as soon as they get them in. We are planning to get you something else, but I just didn't seem to have time before Christmas. You must have thought that the cards and bug light was a rather small Christmas from us. Just be patient. Does Gould really like his robe? I tried to find a silk quilted robe such as you told me to get, but nobody seemed to be selling them for men, and those that we did find were terrifically high. If he wanted it to lounge around in the evening, a silk one would be more what he would want, wouldn't it? I forgot to tell you that Monnie went in on that with us, so your share is only $3.00 instead of $5.00. Be sure to write Monnie about her share in it, because I think she felt as tho she wasn't taken on gifts this year. She thought we were all going in on large gifts so didn't get anything herself. What would you say to all of us getting her a camera for her birthday. We have found the prettiest one of three colors overtown. It is a 12.50 camera. What do you say?

Don't forget to tell me about Gould's "progress toward a home" that you left out of your last letter.

I suppose the girls told you about the bridge party I had while they were here. It's the first bridge party I've ever given, and I was quite pleased with the results. I was so glad to have Alice Stapleton come. Monnie and Kathie both like her so much. I am enclosing her tally just to show you what they were. It was the night before New Year's Eve, so I guess the talkies were appropriate enough. I had Alice McKrage, Hazel Curran and her sister, Grace Bray-In fact, I guess I wrote you before, who the guests were.

Dr. Curtis has been very ill for a long time. His office has been closed.

Did you see in the last Alumni Magazine that Dorie Cunningham is engaged and is to be married this month? Don't we wish that she were becoming our sister-in-law!

Are you still getting many subbing positions?

Milo and Niva drove up from Youngstown for Christmas. I wanted to get down to see them, but we were too busy, and they were here only a day or so. Spent most of the time with Niva's folks I guess. Do you ever hear from the Youngstown folks?

I must stop and get rested up for another week.

Have you heard a word from Mother since she got back? What do you suppose is the matter with her?

What have you done about Pearl's wedding present?

Much love to both from both-

Dot.

I forgot to tell you we finally got a Spartan radio and like it ever so much.

[This letter dated Feb. 3, 1930 was written from Shanghai, China by Willard to Geraldine. He is in Shanghai to represent the mission at the meeting of delegates for the Church of Christ. Willard is sending Geraldine linens and tea for her to sell in the states. He thanks her for sending the diary for his use. Grace and Oliver's health is not good. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Navy Y.M.C.A.
Shanghai
China

Feb. 3rd 1930

Dear Geraldine:-

To day I have spent some time with Mrs. Frank Rawlinson selecting cross stitched linen for you. I am asking her to mail to you about $125.00 worth of goods. She will number each piece and send you the key as you will be able to tell exactly what each piece costs you in mex. She will also write you about some of the linen- There are pieces that are to be had only here- no where else on earth. You may think it rather a samply lot- not many of each kind. I so intended it. Dr. and Mrs. Rawlinson are Am. Board missionaries- the only ones in Shanghai. Mrs. R. has a share in a room that sells this kind of goods. Phebe and I bought some of her in 1921 and sent home. I intended to select things that would sell and select so that if they did sell, you could order again direct from her and pay her direct.

She has a lot of tea= jasmine tea and hard. I told her to send you 70 or 80 boxes. She has in all some 900 boxes. She is selling it cheap. It is all in the lacquer cases. I am paying her for all the things she is sending tea and all.

I have this proposition to make to you regarding paying for the goods you are ordering and will order. The check which you sent I have in my pocket. Last Thursday it would have brought me $280.00 mex. I looked up the account with you for the goods shipped in Oct. 1929 and the tea shipped at different times and it accounted in U.S. gold to $100.28. If I remember correctly you thought that check would just about balance your account with me. We will consider it balanced. But it will be better for you I think to send another check to Kathleen for $100.00 to balance the account and let me call this check payment for the goods I am sending now. Exchange is very good for you just now and may not be as good in a month or more. At any rate I am using this check to purchase goods for you now. It is merely a matter of bookkeeping. The Banks here are closed today. I arrived yesterday=Sunday. I will sell as soon as the Banks open and keep the account with you in silver. This time you will have no financial dealings with Mrs. Rawlinson. I will pay her.

If you cannot use all the tea perhaps Aunt Molly and Aunt Mary will take some. Some of it does not have the jasmine flowers in it now. The tea was fired with the flowers in it and the flowers picked out. The flavor is the same either way. But I will send you a lb. of the flowers from Foochow and you can throw them in - a few with each box. I have friends in Foochow who raise the flowers for market.

Mother I hope is buying drawn work and embroidered linen in Foochow for you while I am here. We will send it when I get back- unless she should happen to take a notion to send it herself. We will also send lacquer as you indicated.

Please write me soon if you are sending Kathleen $100.00

As far as I can now think this is the business.

Week before last the Mission Ad Interim Comm. voted to ask me to represent the mission at a meeting of delegates of the Ch. of Christ in China to be held in Shanghai Feb. 5-7. I asked to be relieved but they did not relieve, so last Thurs. I left Foochow and arrived yesterday Feb. 2 – Sunday. I may have to stay another 8 or 9 days. So you see I have plenty of time to do the business relating to getting the linen from Mrs. Rawlinson. Dr. Skinner was my room mate on the steamer and is my room mate here at the Navy Y.M.C.A. The Miss'y Home has deteriorated. We are very nicely situated here. Shanghai becomes more and more like an American, hustling, driving city. It's harder to cross the street here and not get hit by an auto than it is in New York City.

The last home mail brought your diary. THANK YOU. It brought a good letter from Aunt Emma. It is very pleasing to me that she and Uncle Elbert could visit you in Amityville. Say did you or Gould receive a letter addressed to Comityville. I am almost sure that I wrote that on an envelope and mailed it one time when I was away from home and did not have your address.

The last news about Aunt Grace seemed to indicate that she was about the same. She hardly realizes Uncle Oliver's serious condition. He was doing well- improving and getting fit for his operation. I hope he is over that now and back home.

A letter from Monnie is full of interest in the work she enjoys and in which I judge she is making good in all ways. I have written already about the pride I take in being the owner of that swade jacket. I miss the desk set that Gould and Virginia sent a year ago- when I am away from home. That is the best pen that I ever used. But I cannot take it away from home.

It is a great pleasure to me also to know that the Jewetts have visited you in your new home. My! but wouldn't Mother and I like to do so too?

The Communists that threatened Kienning hsien just as I left the week after Thanksgiving got so near the last of Jan that the Shepherds left and were at Ciong lok Jan 28. May God take care of us all and use us all in helping him make the world good. Love to you- Gould and Virginia. Father

George W. Shepherd

MR. Shepherd is our authority on Communism as one finds it in the hinterland of Fukien and is working on projects for rural reconstruction and the re-establishment of the church in devastated areas. His fame has even reached Nanking

Mrs. G. W. Shepherd

MRS. Shepherd furthering her husband's projects is busy preparing courses in hygiene and simple remedies for the use of country people and is supervising the work of a nurse in a model village.

Glee and Mary Shepherd

WHEN asked if they were Methodists and going to the picnic, Glee, aged 10, answered "I thought I was until th's afternoon."

Beau and Delia Shepherd

THEIR mother calls them the "Compound Imps" but even so they are much beloved.

[This letter dated Feb. 9, 1930 was written from Lorain, Ohio by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry (Geraldine). She sends a quick note along with a letter from Mary Ann that she is forwarding. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

1612 E. 30th St.
Lorain, Ohio.
Feb. 9, 1930.

Dear Jerry,

Just a note to accompany this letter from Mary Ann. Isn't it a dear? How I wish we could take advantage of her offer of a vacation in Virginia! Is it really true that you are going down some time this summer? What are your plans for after May 1? Don't you wish that your land lady would change her mind about the date of returning?

I wrote a letter to Kathie, telling all about our doings last week which was particularly full. She is sending it to Dot and they to you.

Do keep up your welcome correspondence. It's so good to hear so often. Tell Gould that we'd love to see a specimen of his handwriting. Love to you both – Monnie.

[This letter dated Feb. 16, 1930 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry and Gould. Dorothy is not impressed with the principal of her school. Her ladies gym class is growing. The Ames teams are doing well in sports. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2108 No. Bond St.,
Saginaw, Mich.
Feb., 16, 1930.

Dear Jerry and Gould:-

We haven't heard so much from you since all that aviation excitement. You must be as busy as we are, for I fear I haven't held up my end very well.

We were very much interested in the clippings and the news you sent. What is the latest news from Mr. Deckard in Alaska?

Two weeks ago our second semester began. Of course, the first week is always hectic. There are so many shifts and changes, new students, etc. Mr. Case doesn't seem capable of arranging a decent schedule. He's got just a mess of a schedule now, and can't do anything to fix it. Our first two morning classes are O.K. - small and all sixth and seventh graders. The third is our free hour, and the poor teachers that take that class are swamped- 98 boys and over 100 girls- 7th and 8th and 9th graders. The hour after dinner is the best of all. Not so large but an aggregation of all four grades- 6, 7, 8, 9. What is one to do with such an assortment. My 5th hr. is huge, and the last, so small that we haven't enough for games hardly. Our poor school is running down terribly- just simply because Mr. Case is not big enough for the job. There's no discipline, no school spirit, no assemblies, no school organization, and no cooperation between the office force and the teachers.

My ladies gym class is growing to such an extent that it is almost crowded, too. For a long time we could get no more than 28 or 30 out, and now there are over 40 almost every Mon. They all like Volleyball so well that we play nothing but that, after about 10 or 10 [20?]min of exercises. I took my ladies over to play against the Central Junior ladies and they beat us 3 games to 2. Tomorrow they come to our gym. My ladies are all set to trim them this time.

Last night I went to a bridge party at Irene Gelin's! She had the cutest score cards. I am enclosing mine.

We're getting terribly tired of winter here. We are due a long and warm spring, because we've had so much winter. If spring doesn't arrive pretty soon I shall be absolutely destitute of clothes. I got a new sport dress this winter, and just a bit ago I got a new purple or plum shade dress and felt hat to match.

Next Fri. is the big Masonic Ball that I've been trying to get Harold enthused over since Christmas. I haven't been to a formal since I was married. Kathie says I may wear her new "flaming glory" if I go. I suppose Harold will have to rent a suit. He says he'll take me if I want to go, but I can see he's not "dying" to go.

Mother wrote that she was sending each of us girls a Chinese necklace for Christmas. I've seen nothing of mine yet. Have you got yours?

I've been going regularly to the doctors until last week when I was so busy and so all in that I came right home after school instead of going to her. She sees improvement each time she says. I had hoped it wouldn't take so long to clear up, altho at this rate I can easily finish teaching the year out.

We have no spring vacation this year, but do have Good Fri. and Easter Mon. We'll drive to Oberlin for that much of a vacation, I guess. I wish you could manage to get out here, too, then.

Our Spartan radio is performing beautifully and gives us just heaps of pleasure. It is lots of company when I am alone.

Our Ames teams are doing very well this year. My girls have played ten or eleven games and haven't lost yet. The High School boys team won their 28th straight game last Wed. That's counting last year and this year both. The older boys come in for a loss now and then.

I was rather happy to hear Harold say the other day that this will be his last year for that work at the Ames. In a way, I hate to give it up, for I love the contact with the girls, but it really is too much, and every year more and more is expected of us. They don't seem to realize how much time we both spend down there on the athletic work itself, without asking us to do all sorts of extras, that others could do just as well.

How are Uncle Oliver and Aunt Grace? I am ashamed of myself for not writing them yet. I shall try to soon.

Are you doing anything with your cello yet? And how are your sales coming?

I am enclosing lots of letters that have accumulated. I should have sent them on long before.

Do write soon.

I am getting the camera for Monnie. If you have already sent something, never mind, but if you want to go in with us, we'd be glad to have you-

Much love to you both from us both.

Dot.

[This letter dated March 5, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Virginia and Geraldine. Willard, Henry Lacy, Miss Plumb and two Chinese students went to Mintsing up the Min River for a preacher's retreat. While on the way a village fired a shot across the bow of the boat for money. Bandits have even taken people off Foochow streets and held them for ransom. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China.
March 5th 1930.

Dear Gould and Virginia and Geraldine:

For I expect you will all read it. The other sheet was business with Geraldine. This is just a little chat.

Last week I spend in Minchiang or Mintsing 45 miles up the Min river. Henry Lacy asked me to go up to help in a preacher's retreat. We left Sunday evening Feb 23rd. I went over and had supper with Henry and his wife and we took the launch just after supper. Miss Plumb and a Chinese girl and a Chinese boy= students made a party of five. We found a very crowded launch and really had to shove four soldiers back about four feet to get a seat on the edge of the shelf that was to be our reservations for the night. Henry hung his feet on a wire that was attached to the beam above us. A little after midnight two of the soldiers crawled out and we were more comfortable.

Monday forenoon about 10:30 a shot went across our bow and the launch turned toward shore. The passengers ducked their heads and were panicky. But no damage was done. This village wanted a little money and they got it. We reached Mintsing about noon, - had a good lunch got up by Henry and a watchman at the foreign house in which we stayed. After lunch I rubbed down and as the temperature was up in the 80 degrees I put off winter underwear and put on B.V.D.s. The next morning my left eye was swollen. Wed. morning all about the eye was perceptible swollen and on Thursday morning. I could not see out of the eye. The eye itself was not effected, so I kept on with my work- got some boracic acid and washed it and about midnight Wed. night I put on a cold pack made from a handkerchief and a towel and after breakfast I put on a hot pack. Either this or the boracic acid wash was effective and when I got home Saturday afternoon Mother did not notice it. I had an hour in the forenoon and an hour in the afternoon for four days running. This is not so heavy for a man who had written out his lecture and reads it. But I had done no such preparing and it was rather a heavy schedule.

Last night a letter from Aunt Phebe said that Uncle Oliver was improving with one or two drawbacks. Aunt Grace was much the same- not right mentally some of the time.

I am writing this with the pen Gould and Virginia sent me a year ago last Christmas. I never had a pen that I liked so well. At times I almost think that with this pen my writing is more legible. I wore the swade jacket to Mintsing. Why did they not have these years ago when I was doing so much touring. I thought sure the diary Geraldine sent me was gone the other morning. Sunday Mother and I went to the funeral of Miss Barker down at the Anchorage. I shut up my hens after getting home- after dark. In one of the houses I bent over the roost to look for the eggs. The next morning when I let this house of hens out I noticed two of my cards on the floor which is well covered with sand. I picked them up and wondered how they came there. I carry them in the diary. After dressing I wanted my diary and it was not there. I thought back and concluded it must have dropped out on the launch= private motor boat #20. I had decided to go over to the river and try for it because that book is very useful to me in several ways. While eating breakfast the query came to me- how did those cards get on the chicken house floor? I ran out and found the diary slightly covered with sand which the hens had scratched over it. I was one happy man.

When I was home in 1928 Uncle Oliver gave me two big long pink cotton flannel night gowns. I have greatly enjoyed them in cold weather. When I got home from my Shaowu trip I found Mother wearing one. This is pretty good proof that they are good gowns. You would have to look twice to see whether it was Mother or I.

Uncle Stanley sent a check this last Christmas and I bought an electric heater for the bath room. This past winter has been very cold- the longest period of continued cold weather that I remember in Foochow. With the humidity of Foochow and the mer. around 40 degrees above it is pretty cold to take a cold bath. But the little electric heater raises the temperature just enough to make it comfortable.

Another term of teaching has begun. This is the third week. Our work is much the same as last term. Teaching in Foochow College and in the Union Kindergarten Training School- I teach 5 periods in F.C. and 2 in the N.K.T.S. Mother is doing twice as much and recently has become organist for F.C. - at prayers twice a week.

Bandits are continually seizing people and demanding ransom. A fine young doctor - a church member at Deng Chio was taken on the pretext that they wanted him to go to see a sick man. His family did not hear from him for nearly a week. Then $6000 was demanded. Price was talked till $800 was accepted. He was well cared for while with the bandits. One of the students of F.C. was taken during vacation. He and three other boys managed to give the bandits the slip and by walking nights got back to Foochow, barefooted and very hungry. The bandits take some men right off the streets of Foochow.

The Sentinels tell me of the finding of the Fairchild plane and the aviators. I should not have known Gould's connection with this accident if the Aunts had not written of it from Century Farm. [On January 10, 1930, two aviators were conducting an altitude test (10,000 feet) in a Fairchild plane. While gone, a heavy fog had set in and the aviators crashed and died near Amston Lake, CT (Northeast of Hartford). About a dozen airplanes conducted a search for the plane. Possibly, Gould helped in this search.]

My hens furnish both Mother and me much recreation- all the nice fresh eggs we want and a good dinner with a party once in a while. But I'm having great luck with setters- two hens were set two weeks ago-both are standing up now. I have found another to set on one of the nests. I'm going to put 40 or more eggs into an incubator next week- not my incubator but one belonging to the Union Middle School. I have thus far sold all the eggs I could spare. If it were not for setting I should be able to sell some now to the others in the compound for eating.

Dr. George Butler, from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace is lecturing this week at the University. I hope to hear him tomorrow and again Sunday afternoon when Mother and I are to take dinner after Vespers, at Pres. Lin's with Dr. and Mrs. Butcher. With a prayer for the highest good for each of -

Very lovingly

Father

[This typewritten letter dated March 30, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Geraldine, and Virginia. Ellen is not feeling well and has not been able to attend church or teach her classes. Willard traveled through the village of Ma Ang and came across 32 bandits. He thanks those at home for the Christmas presents. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China,
March 30th, 1930. Sunday

Dear Gould, Geraldine and Virginia:

This is another letter to a lot of you, - all the children and all the sisters and brothers and the Jewetts.

It is a dark, cold, dismal day. I am not in church. The first time in- I do not remember how long. Mother is in bed and I am the whole thing in this house today. A week ago today was fine and warm. I went out on the plain about five miles to a nice, clean chapel that Mother always goes with me to, and that Phebe always liked to go with me to. The preacher has one of the most attractive families that I know in Foochow. We always stay for dinner with the family. And it is always a good dinner. In the afternoon I went out the Water Gate to a unique service. A man who is a paralytic heard the Gospel twenty or more years ago. Then he got out of touch with it and a year ago evangelistic bands found him and have called on him more or less regularly. Some months ago he asked to unite with the church. So a dozen Chinese with a pastor and four of us foreigners went and held a communion service and received him into church membership. He seemed very happy.

Mother did not go with me either in the morning or the afternoon. She was not feeling well and had not eaten for two days. You all know that her cure for all ills is fasting. I noticed that she was not as lively as usual on Monday. Tuesday I was away all day. On Wednesdays we have been lunching with Miss Allen. That evening the Station was to have a meeting and a picnic lunch at the McClure house. Mother had been asked to make some forty gems [muffins] for the supper. She said she would not go to Miss Allen's as she was not eating, but would stay and make the gems. She was due to teach at the Union Kindergarten, where Miss Allen is, at 1:30 p.m. I made up my mind that she ought not to go and while at lunch I told Miss Allen so and she at once said that she would take Mother's class. I met Mother just starting for her class as I reached home. It did not take a word of persuasion to have her turn back and stay at home. I tried to get her to let me make the gems. But she has earned a big reputation as cook in Foochow and I could not persuade her. That night I noticed she had a fever. But she would not let me speak to the doctor nor tell anyone that she was sick. She cautioned me specially not to tell any one. But on Thursday the fever kept up and she was weak. It was not until Friday that she allowed me to speak with Dr. Dyer. She found a temperature of 103.6. Last night it was 103. There is not much difference today. Dr. Dyer has got her to eating and I hope this will start her on the mend. In two or three days Dr. Dyer will make a test to see if it is typhoid.

In the above paragraph I wrote that last Tuesday I went away from home. Pastor Kiu and I went out the north gate to a place two miles from the city gate, Ma Ang (Horse's Saddle). We went to talk with people about the Truth and to sell copies of the Gospels. On the way out we sold some seven Gospels and talked with several people. When we reached Ma Ang we found things very quiet. Most of the children and most of the valuables of the village had been taken away. Bandits had been operating in the hills three or four miles away and the people of Ma Ang had been told that they must give the bandits $1500. As we were going from one house to another a young man of the village who was with us stopped suddenly and pointed to a group of men at the end of the village. Who are those men? Are they bandits? Soon the men filed thru the village, single file. We counted thirty two. They were bandits. They left a small piece of red paper telling the people that they had served notice a few days before that they wanted $1500. They had not heard anything from the people of Ma Ang, it would be well for them to get into touch with the bandits. We took lunch and as we stepped out of the little chapel one of the villagers said that the bandits had gone on to a place one mile away and had set fire to a house. You could see it burning. We urged the people to go at once to the city and ask the military to send soldiers to protect the village. This they did the next day but the first appeal was answered by saying that a new general had come to Foochow and they must go to welcome him. There was not time to go out to protect villages. But they did send soldiers the next day after the bandits had burned a house in Ma Ang. This is really the nearest I have been to bandits. When one begins to write on the political situation there is no end. The six heads of the Fukien government that were taken up country by the bandit chief are still up there. They were brought down three weeks ago, supposedly to go to Nanking for trial. But something has taken place in political circles that led to their return to the hills. This bandit chief who is responsible for the arrest, is an old wizened, illiterate, with a lot of money and a lot of sharp younger rascals, who can fool the old fellow into doing anything they want him to. The Central government is filling Foochow with soldiers from the south. Perhaps 20,000 have come in during the past fortnight.

The numbers of students in all schools are greater this year than for the past four or five years. The character of the students of today seems to be higher than that of the students of five years ago. All mission schools are very careful in selecting only those who seem to want an education. Many are turned away because the faculty cannot trust them.

I never have seen such opportunities for talking with people anywhere on Christianity. And it is a common thing for one or two to sell 100 Gospels in a few hours. The other day I was out in a small village. The others of the group were talking with some people. I saw up an alley a group of women and children. I walked up to them and in about ten minutes sold 17 Gospels. I just stood still and the people came to me with the money.

The hens are doing well. And I have thus far had sale for all the eggs I have. This month they have produced 214 eggs. I have 14 hens. Tomorrow 41 eggs should produce chickens. 32 are in an incubator, and I have 9 under a hen here.

The garden is getting ahead of me, with Ellen's help we could not keep up with it so I am delivering vegetables to the neighbors.

The Christmas presents that you all sent are giving us a lot of pleasure and profit. The Suade jacket is just the thing for the country and the hikes we take. Its warm and the cold piercing winds do not get thru it. The handkerchiefs- - well you know how useful and sometimes ornamental they are. That box of candy is delicious. It is already almost half gone, what do you think of that, in three months? "Thought of a Dean", (I have left out the "Lay") I have greatly enjoyed. Dean Inge is very refreshing. I had the book with me when I went to Shanghai. On the ship coming home was a Mr. Fu, returned student from England who knew the Dean. The Book gave a good point of contact. We take the "Laugh a Day" somewhat as we do the candy. The coat flower and the safety pins I guess are all right. I have not worn them yet. The gloves are very useful, and just what I wanted. Mother's are too. The bloomers and the silk slip, I have not yet worn so I cannot say much about them. My, only the family and close ups must read this. The cookies are the most delicious, since that first box that came in '22 or '23. The Coffee is most gone. Ellen will let me drink the "Hag". I am making my own since she is in bed and I make the real stuff. The postum is low and she drinks that. You should see me use face powder. Every morning I put it on. I also think of you home people when I lather my face for shaving. "Whither Mankind is a book I have wanted ever since it came out. The introduction by Beard is stimulating. As I digest it there is much material in it for the various addresses I have to prepare in both Chinese and English. Here's a big capitalized THANK YOU for each. I hope I have covered all.

Tuesday, April 1st.

Mother seems better this beautiful morning. She says she feels better. The doctor has not been in yet.

With love to each of you,

Father

[This letter dated April 6, 1930 was written by Ellen Kinney Beard to her daughter Marjorie. It discusses extensively about the vases and silk pieces that were purchased for Marjorie and the difficulty in finding just the right colors. She talks some of her illness. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

Foochow, China
Apr. 6th 1930.

My dearest Marjorie,

I will write this to you particularly and you can then send it on and share with the others such part of it as you think they'll be interested in for there is more personal business in it than I tho't there would be when I began this. Father has of course written you of my illness which came so unexpectedly a week and a half ago and I have been a complete invalid in bed ever since. I still have a very annoying dullness of hearing which Dr. assures me will all clear up when the fever is gone. I hope she is right about that. Otherwise I am getting on nicely and gaining steadily, and sitting up for the second time, today and am trying to start a letter to you. Father takes all the care of me and with his classes, and other mission business, his chickens, garden and other things, it keeps him pretty busy. I have got to make long strides in recovery in the next ten days to be well enough to take care of myself and stay alone while he goes to Ing Hok to help them in a Student Conference. That conference was postponed because I was ill and father couldn't go.

Your letters have been very interesting and I have longed to respond to them but could not seem to find the time; now I am forced to rest and perhaps some of my wishes in that line may be realized.

Apr. 30th - At this point, I got tired and went back to bed, was duly reprimanded by the Dr. for getting up at all, and told not to try it again until the fever had all gone and I had been normal for at least one whole day. So I've been just waiting for that thermometer to say 98.6 degrees normal. But it just won't report that figure. 98.8 degrees is the nearest it has deigned to register so now I'm going to try to finish this letter in bed anyway or you'll receive the parcels we sent before you get the explanation of them. Father probably sent a letter with them but I want to explain more fully. So I am sitting up in bed writing and I guess I'll be none the worse for it.

Your letter asking for the vases and the silk came a number of days before I was taken really ill but I was not really well, had been fasting and was very busy with classes and a good many things going on just then, and tho't of course I had plenty of time ahead when I should be feeling better and have more time to select and not do it hurriedly (for which there seemed no need as you had written so early) so I just hadn't bought any of the things when the collapse came and I was laid low and utterly unable to go out to select the things. Father did the best he could and was very patient with my fastidiousness. I am not satisfied with any of the things we finally had to send in order to get them there in time. If I could have gone to the shops my self I am sure I could have given you and myself a little better satisfaction. But you will understand that one can't ask others to run many times and bring samples for one to look at, - as one's self could go to more shops and look, with a personal interest. I should really have enjoyed doing all that shopping myself as you well know, Marjorie, and it wouldn't have been a bit of a burden for I never tire of looking at beautiful things. And don't think for a minute that any one but himself doing the purchasing for it was done fairly easily, the lacquer man bringing the things to the house for me to see and the work was divided up. I thought some of the ladies of the mission who are used to buying Chinese silks would probably make a better selection than a man could do, so instead of asking father to buy that, I asked Mrs. Shrader and Miss Armstrong to act as a purchasing committee thinking the judgment of two would be better than one as I wasn't quite sure of the tastes and judgment of either, but tho't them the best in the mission. They bought the pale blue piece with the round figures on it; altho they had come up to my room and I had shown them your letter with specific directions that it should be bright sky blue and flower pattern rather than geometric design and I had verbally emphasized these points while they were here. Imagine my disappointment then when they unwrapped that piece! Of course I quickly noted all its good points, - quality, Chineseness, etc. and profusely thanked them for their favor and kindness and didn't show my inner feeling at all I think. But when father asked me if it was satisfactory I had to tell the truth that it simply wouldn't do. So he kindly offered to try. At first he bro't home a sample of the darker, heavier piece thinking he had found just the thing; but because I hesitated and didn't exclaim over it, he said "well, I'll try again". And asked me to explain just how I wanted the next selection different. I told him the color seemed a little too deep, heavy, solid. That a blue that was brighter, livelier, more vivid, shading just a bit toward the greens, or robin's-egg blue possibly would be more nearly what you wanted. But he said that did not mean anything to him was no guide because he couldn't understand those terms as applied to colors. Men, generally, do not deal enough in dainty colors to be conversant with those terms in that application. Well, next time he went he tho't he had it sure, so bo't the silk without sampling- the lighter colored bright blue and lighter weight one. As soon as I looked at it he said "well, I see that won't do so now I'll go back and get the other for these two are all I found of the right color". I said "Yes I guess you'd better for it is better in every way and Marjorie can send the others to Geraldine to sell". Or you may be able to sell them yourself right there if you girls don't want to use them. We didn't hesitate about buying the three pieces as we tho't it would be so easy to dispose of them in America. The piece that is at the bottom of the box is the one I think you'll choose. It is much heavier better quality, the color is better (as I understand you wish) and the color will probably hold i.e. wear better than the other, and the figure is more pleasing. The other deep blue one (the middle piece in the box) has too large, sprawly, loosely- rambling a figure that isn't specially pretty as I look at it. The figures are all Chinese in their character, idea, - or could we say spirit? but I think the undesirably colored one, - the pale one, rather beats the other two in Chineseness. Well, now you've heard all I've got to say on the subject, you just make your own choice just to suit your own taste and Ronnie's complexion and dispose of the others in any way you want to. I suppose Father has written you the respective prices already but I'll repeat here if I can get them from him. Later-Father is away and I can't get the prices for you in this letter but I am sure he has sent them to you. I'll repeat them in next letter. I'll use this space to say a word about myself. I've been lying here 5 ½ wks. but have not been seriously ill have not suffered at all, no pain have eaten regular meals all the time by Dr's. orders so as not to lose strength. I was weak, however, from the fever and from lying in bed and not exercising. I went to the bathroom every day with fathers help. Now I have been fasting 5 days on my own initiative, to finish things up and my Dr. has left the case in my hands.

Now about the vases. Neither am I at all satisfied with what we are sending you in those; but it seemed to be the best we could do under the circumstances.

Father went over to Tai Mei's, where we usually trade in lacquer and he had nothing in blue except little ones. He had a pair of medium sized ones in that beautiful green which would be dry enough for him to bring over and let me see in a day or two, - which he did and as the color was so good we decided to send you the pair and look for others in blue to send too, and let you make a choice and send to Geraldine to sell, what you did not want yourself, or sell them right there in Lorain if you can and want to. But be sure if you sell them yourself, to add the postage, the duty, and a little profit, - a dollar or so, more if you think the customer will stand it. The profit is your own. Well, then Father went up on Curio St. in the city where there are many lacquer shops and couldn't find anything nearer to what I had in my eye for you than the two blue pairs we are sending you. I think it passing strange that they didn't seem to have anything in stock in those blue vases that was just right in size, shape, color and finish. There must have been a steamer in I fancy, whose passengers bought out Curio St.! No one of the three pairs is entirely satisfactory to me and I am so sorry not to be able to send you just the right thing and I know you will be disappointed in them. First, the green ones are a little too small but I tho't their color was good. The larger blue pair is a little too deep a blue and is not polished smooth enough; possibly too, is a bit too large. The other blue pair is too pale a color, not a lively enough blue altho that may change to a deeper shade as it ages; for the mfg'rs. say that the color "qui", that means opens out (like a flower, I suppose the idea in their minds is) as it gets older. I have seen vases that were just lacquered only a few days before and they were a light gray; those that were a few weeks older, the gray had changed to a slightly blue color; older ones were more blue, etc. So perhaps by the time they get to you they will be prettier than when we last saw them. Also another dissatisfaction about all three pairs was that the mouth and throat of the vases was not finished in gold. Possibly the green ones were, -I'm not sure for I did not see them after they were finished. We asked the other dealer to put the gold on the two blue pairs but he said it would take three weeks and we couldn't wait so long for them. I don't believe that, however, for I have seen gold leaf put on myself and it is done very rapidly. I think he did not want to throw that finishing touch in to the price already given for the vases and he feared we would not take them if he asked extra for doing it; so he put the time for accomplishing it what he knew would be prohibitively long; father had probably told him before, that we wanted them right away. If I could have gone to the shops myself, I feel sure I could have done better but it was impossible as I was flat on my back in bed and I had to do the next best way. Don't get discouraged by this failure but try us again when you want something more; I hope I'll not be sick again and will be in condition to function efficiently.

When I began this letter I intended to give you the exact cost of each pair of vases and each piece of silk; but I did not get the prices from father before he went to Diong Loh to the "Retreat" (for ministers and missionaries, a three day's meeting) and I want to mail it before he returns. But father, in his letter to you, has probably given you all the prices. However, I'll repeat them in my next letter to you. Please write and tell me all about the things, - in what condition they arrived, how you liked them, which silk and which vases you finally presented to Eleanor and how she liked both, and what you did with the rest. Didn't you say you were asked to be bride's maid for E. at her wedding? I shall be interested to hear what you wore and all about the wedding. I hope you begin to prepare your outfit in time so as to be all ready without being rushed. I would gladly have sent you silk for your bride's maid's dress had I thought I could get any thing here that would be at all suitable for such an occasion. But styles change; such an occasion requires particular materials; and again, the Chinese silks are mostly so large figured, and figured material is rarely if ever used for brides dresses or bride's maids. This in confidence; -I just saved Father from sending Virginia a piece of white Chinese silk for a wedding dress! Men do not realize that every bride has her own particular choice for this most particular occasion of her life and that she would not want to use a material widely different from that being used generally by bride. If he sent it she might feel obliged to use it, even to her lifelong disappointment. To my thinking, any thing that belongs to a bride's trousseau, particularly the wedding attire for the marriage ceremony, or the go away togs, is the last thing that any one else ought to attempt to select for a bride. Her own choice ought always to prevail on that one great occasion- wedding gifts excepted, of course.

As soon as I get up I will try to get the rings you have wanted so long. Four or five, I think you said.

I have a Pekin necklace which I bo't of a man who came to the Mt. last summer selling such things; he came from Pekin and was at Kuliang only a short time. I am sending you this neck-lace as a gift as soon as I can get up around again so be on the look-out for it. You may call it a Christmas gift or a birthday present just as you like. It was intended for the former but didn't get sent. I have one for each of you girls, - all different, which I am sending too. Yours is not delicate and fine enough to wear to the wedding even if it gets there in time. But I think you'll enjoy wearing it sometimes. I'm not sure it will not stain your neck if you wear it in "juicy weather". Metal mountings that are not strictly pure gold or silver or platinum are apt to do this. If you send your left over silk and vases to Geraldine to sell be sure to insure them and be sure to keep safely your insurance slip from the P.O. and, be sure to follow it up and ascertain whether or not they do arrive safely. Also you would better find out first to what address Geraldine wants them sent for she will be breaking up house-keeping at Amityville about that time will she not? Perhaps it will be easier and cheaper all around to sell them right there in Lorain if you can get the word out to wealthy people thru your callers or thru the ladies who are backing your work and you see them. Don't let your Bulgarians or Mexicans know you have them or they'll steal them from you; and keep them packed away out of sight. I guess it would be cheaper to insert an ad in the local paper than to pay postage and insurance on them to get them to Geraldine unless - she really wants them. You should write at once to ask her if she wants them requesting an immediate reply. Your ad might read; "2 Prs. Chinese Lacquer Vases and 2 Pcs. Chinese Silk (Blue) for sale. M. Beard 1012 E. So. St. At home 4-6 P.M.". (22 words) Of course you will change the hours to suit facts.

If among you four girls you want to make exchanges from preference or because it fits your complexions or your costumes feel perfectly free to do so as it will make no difference to me. The necklaces I mean.

When I came to address this envelope and looked at your last letter to get the address I noticed the new address. It had not come when we sent the parcels so the old address is on all of them and the letter from father that goes with them. So be on the look out for them. The P.O. probably has been duly notified of your change of address.

I have been all alone in the house for 3 nights since father went away, as our one servant goes home at 6 P.M. and comes at 9 A.M. home at 12 on back at 3 P.M. but I can walk around the house slowly and do things for myself in my kimona and bed room slippers taking care not to be up too long for I am now very weak from fasting. I can take my bath and make my bed but I am supposed to be in it most of the time. I don't know how long I'll continue my fast,- it ought to be 15 days but in view of my weakness from illness to begin with I think I'll make it less. I hope you'll keep well. Don't over-eat nor take wrong combinations (you have or should have the Pocket Dietician) nor sit up late nights. I pray for you all every day- have lots of time to now as I am limited on the use of my eyes to read. I hope you get an associate as soon as E. leaves. I do not like to think of you alone in that place. - I have now written a letter to your own dear self precious daughter!

With very much love to you all, Mother.

[This typewritten letter dated April 6, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Virginia and Geraldine. Ellen is still ill with fever and the doctor conducted some blood tests to determine what the illness is. Willard is doing some cooking. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China.
April 6th. 1930.

Dear Gould, Virginia and Geraldine-

Here is another general letter. It was a week ago that I wrote, and sent the letter on Tuesday. This is Sunday. Mother has improved very slightly each day. Her fever hangs around 101. Yesterday the doctor said she might sit up half an hour. This she did and it tired her so she slept all the afternoon. Today she has walked about very little, and sat up a short time. She has tried to write a little, but she has slept much of the afternoon. She is resting well since about last Thursday. She is now eating well. Doctor tells me to let her have anything that she wants. I can manage all very well except the desserts. Mrs. Shrader has very kindly taken to sending us down a dessert each noon and with this we are getting on all right. Mother had not eaten anything in the bread line for a long time. Friday I made a loaf (if that is what you call it) of Boston Brown Bread. It pleased me much to have Mother eat a slice and then call for seconds. She did the same yesterday when I toasted a piece. With her directions I made some scrambled egg that she said,- "This is fit for a king." She is also taking a lot of milk, Cocoa and postum. I have found a place where they sell fine mackerel and she eats that and calls for a second slice. One of Stanley's Christmas presents was a box of American dried apples that I found in Shanghai. They are nice and sour. I soaked out some the other day and boiled them. She said she would take "just a little". When I came in later her remark was,- "You are awful stingy with your dried apples. I guess you like them pretty well don't you." It looks to me however as if this was going to be a long pull. If she gets back to normalcy by May first she will be doing well.

Sunday evening:-

Doctor Dyer was in about 7:30 and said Mother's temperature was just 100. This is the lowest yet. Drs. Dyer and Campbell took some blood to make a test last Friday. We hope to hear tomorrow. The mail closes tomorrow and I am afraid that I cannot get the report in time to put it in this.

Last Wednesday a hen brought off nine chickens for me. 2 P and K Minorcas, 3 R.I. Reds and four white ones. The same day ten were hatched in an incubator up at the Union Middle School. 2 Minorcas, and four Reds and four whites. We are getting about 7 or 8 eggs a day from 15 hens. Last month the hens produced 221 eggs. I sold a 7 lb. rooster yesterday for 50 cents a lb.

A few weeks ago I sent to Tientsin for 100 lbs. of corn and 100 lbs. of millet. I told them that I did not want to rob the starving, but the grain came all right this last week, and it was cheaper than it was last year. I have planted Yellow Bantum and also field corn. Until today the weather has been too cold for it to germinate, but it will come on soon.

The stairs and landing to our little flat have become unstable so some people are afraid to visit us, we are having a concrete landing put in.

How I should enjoy getting on the farm these days and plowing and help generally. I can smell the steam that rises as the ground dries out, and also the fresh plowed earth. It is just time to plow Flora's garden. How are Major and Colonel? Before this gets an answer you will all have made your vacation plans. Mrs. Rinden of Ing Hok wrote asking if we could take her and her two children this summer. Ellen dictated the reply last week saying yes. Mr. Rinden is going north for the study of Mandarin and to study methods and observe the work in North China.

I must close and get this in the mail tomorrow morning. I teach all the afternoon. I am afraid I cannot get the little personal notes in this time. But both Mother and I think of you all and talk with God about you daily. He has been very good to us all.

Very lovingly,
Father

[This note dated about April 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Kathleen. He mentions the school term coming to an end and refers to next fall's finishing term. Donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[About April 1930]

Dear Kathleen-

Soon after this reaches you the class with which you graduate "as with" will be leaving the classic halls of Oberlin. I hope you will be able to enjoy next fall's finishing term as much as Monnie apparently enjoyed hers. Don't plan to take too much work.

We are waiting to hear what your plans for the summer are. Tell us how you found In Hao or Im Go. He'll be leaving soon after this reaches you.

May God guide you in all decisions, keep you self-controlled and always master of the situation.

Lovingly Father

[This letter dated April 11, 1930 was written from Oberlin, Ohio by Kathleen to her brother and sister, Gould and Geraldine. Kathleen visited her friend, Gidge, in Chicago and had an enjoyable time. She may work at Silver Bay again this summer. Dorothy and Harold are coming down to Ohio for Easter. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Talcott Hall
April 11, 1930

Dear Brother and Sister-

That long epistle of yours, Gould, certainly merits a quicker response than this for it really was a masterpiece- and laugh- I thought I'd die. But between the bits of dry humor the story of the week was quite tracable and now we have a well rounded survey of the entire week. Do forego your evening nap again sometime- just one- to write again.

Since I wrote last history in my autobiography has been accumulating fast. For the spring vacation I went out to Chicago again with Gidge and had one of the happiest weeks of the year. It is so stimulating and refreshing to go into a new environment and forget all the worries of every day life with people who are so congenial. Gidge and I were going on the bus to save money but that big blizzard came along just in the right time to block all the roads near Chicago so we were forced to go by train. For the first couple of days we took it easy staying around the house and resting. The family is [a] lot like ours as to principle and ideals etc. so it was very easy to fit into their home life. Chuck, Gidge's older sister, works in the city in an office so she was gone all day. I like her a lot, for she is so spontaneous and has bundles of enthusiasm. I think you would like her, Jerry, because she is much interested in things that you are. She is very much dissatisfied with her present work and is trying to locate something more interesting in the line of social work. It is her desire to go abroad this summer if possible and perhaps study in Brinmore school of social science next year. She is the life of the home when she is there and I see her in Gidge quite distinctly when they are together.

We spent two whole days in the city shopping and sight seeing. About the only products of our long searches were a dress a piece, a hat apiece and sundrae hose, underwear and accessories. One afternoon we spent in the art museum but did not nearly cover it. I should like to live there for about a week spending a day in each department, for it is just fascinating, especially the paintings. That night we were invited to dinner by one of Georgia's friends who is married and lives in the city. Her whole high school bunch was there and they spent the evening reminiscing on their good times together. The husband and I were a little on the outside of the ring, but it was all very interesting not to say enlightening. The two whole days in the city were so tiring that they required two days of rest at home afterwards, and even then we didn't get "slept up". Saturday we went in to see the magician, Thurston, with his daughter. He was very entertaining and did some tricks that would baffle the keenest of minds.

He sawed a lady in two with such deceptive tactics that we are almost ready to believe that the poor girl was actually severed. We- that is the whole family- went to a swell place to dinner and were good and ready for bed when we reached Lombard. Sunday was one of those lovely family days at their home when we all did what we wanted to at our leisure. We took our dinner out into the woods hot! (that is the dinner was hot) spending the largest part of the afternoon roaming over the rolling country. That was about the best part of the whole visit and most remembered because it was our last day of grace. Monday Gidge and I started at six o'clock to get the bus from Chicago riding all day long until 10:30 that night. Nothing but work looms before us now until June.

By the way Jerry – has Edith applied at Silver Bay and does she intend to go? Or has Katherine (Mary Ames's sister) expressed any intention of going? I would like to know real soon because I have my contract here all ready to sign but don't want to go alone. Gidge isn't going and the girl who wrote in with me got no contract. If Edith decides to go maybe I will go anyway. Hugh is going with one of his friends but I'm not just sure that I want to be there with him since we're together during the year. Let me know about Edith soon.

Dot and Harold are coming down at Easter time for three days. Monnie and I are so excited and are planning all sorts of things to do. It will be good to see some of the family again for I haven't even seen Monnie for ever so long. Wish you could fly out and make it a family reunion.

Mrs. Margaret Sauger spoke here several weeks ago on birth control. You can imagine what a big turn-out she got just on her name. I guess most people who hear her were rather disappointed in the content of her talk for it was not informational but merely a well organized convincing argument for its need. Since most of the hearers were already convinced of this they naturally learned nothing new. She is a remarkable woman, though, and a very good speaker.

Do you know where you are going to move when your land lord and lady return? It is only a few weeks now isn't it? I bet you hate to leave the place don't you?

I must get to bed. It's late and I'm sleepy.

Love and then some

Kathie

[This letter dated April 14, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Virginia and Geraldine. Ellen is feeling better each day and the tests came back that she had typhoid fever. Willard enjoys taking care of his hens. He is glad to hear of the good work that Marjorie is doing. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China

April 14th, 1930.

Dear Gould, Virginia and Geraldine

This is the third general letter. Mother has continued to grow better very slowly every day. I can see her strength increase very slowly. Last Tuesday we knew for sure that she had the straight typhoid fever. This put my own mind at rest some what for she developed a deafness that disturbed me and her speech changed so that she talked just like Aunt Ann Paul. Then she said it seemed as if she was two persons and other strange sensations she spoke of. When it was said to be typhoid all week now she has eaten normally, - much more normally than for some years. Our lunch this noon was beef hash, swiss chard, cabbage, beets, peas, one gem and an egg nog. She kept up with me in it all. This evening we had scrambled egg, peas, carrots, turnip (ruta begas) beets, and Boston Brown Bread. And she again kept her end up. She eats with a relish that is good to see. Milk and cream she devours. Sunday mornings she takes waffles made on the iron Dot and Harold sent us. In the morning the current is good, in the evening there are too many lights used in the city for the plant to do good work and the current is too light for waffles. When I am too old to be acceptable in this work I am going to find a job as cook, with Mother's help. I can make brown bread, scrambled eggs, waffles, gems, fish chowder etc. I feel quite elated that she with her rep [reputation] as cook, eats my concoctions and pronounces them good.

I've dropped all other work except my teaching two half days a week and am just taking care of Mother and of the house. Of course I can't get out of seeing people when they come in and of doing a certain amount of work but my first job [is] right here in the home. I had promised to go to Ing Hok for a Conference April [page torn] 27th. That means start next week Tuesday. We are considering whether she will [page torn] enough for me to leave then.

In the modern parlance I should speak of my work as projects. Just now I have more projects than I should carry, if I were consulted beforehand. The garden is a source of pleasure and profit. I have not bought any vegetables since I have been keeping house. And I have supplied many to the other people in the mission. The hens are doing well. From fifteen I get over two hundred eggs a month. Several of these are old hens that I am getting rid of and some are Chinese hens that I bought to set and that I will get rid of, - except one that is a real setter. She is better than an incubator. I have now 9 with a hen, 10 from an incubator, and some more that are just hatching.

Wednesday April 16th.

This must go today. It has missed two mails already since I began it. Mother continues to mend. She has consented to see outside people. She has been so tired that she just wanted to lie and rest and does most of the time. The Ing Hok Conference is postponed so I am at rest on that. I was very much afraid that Mother would not be able for me to leave next week. The other hen has produced seven chicks from 11 eggs. So now I have three broods, 7, 9, and 10 a brood. Then I have 20 eggs in an incubator. I am still in my right mind- or at least I think I am.

Emma's letter enclosing Marjorie's report has come. Both are very interesting. Marjorie's report looks as if she and her associate were doing some work. It has a wide range too. I've a notion to write the Mayor of Lorain and ask him if the people of Lorain are actually so impoverished that they feel truly thankful to have two such young women working for them on the munificent salary of $90 per month and giving a good slice of that for the running expenses of the work they are doing for the well to do people of the impoverished borough of Lorain. It might be a good idea to take up a penny collection among the ricksha coolies of Foochow to help that poor burgh. I'm proud of the two girls. They are getting a big kick out of the work and a lot of experience and real heart satisfaction.

Good bye with love to everybody

Father

Had a good letter from Virginia a few days ago- shall look interestingly for the next one.

[This letter dated April 20, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Virginia and Geraldine. It is Easter and Willard is seeing more people attending church since 1927. The Anti-Christian movement seems to have subsided. Ellen is still ill from the Typhoid Fever. Seven missionaries are headed back to the states for their furloughs and two for good. The Board keeps cutting back on the funding to China. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China

April 20th. 1930.

Dear Gould, Virginia and Geraldine.

This has been a beautiful Easter day. Very warm, - so warm that George Newell came out in a palm beach suit to conduct the Easter Praise service this afternoon. The church was full. The first time we have seen a full church since January 1927. This is one of the indices that the Christian movement is recovering. The Anti-Christian movement is not in evidence here now. I conducted the Communion service in the church at Sang Bo in the suburbs this morning. Four children were brought to be baptized.

Mother continues to gain very slowly. She fasted all day on Friday and it took just so much from her strength. She is back again now where she was Thursday. Her appetite keeps up and she relishes all kinds of food. It does me good to see her put the milk and cream down. If only something could be done to have her keep it up when she gets well. Her temperature stays at 99.2 or .4 or .6. The last few days have been very warm with April showers, which have brought out the flowers in great profusion, and Mother's room is a bower of roses, flox, sweet peas, marigold, pansies, pinks etc. She is seeing people now and wonders why they do not come more. For the first two weeks she refused to see any one even tho they were in the hall waiting. She was just tired and wanted to do nothing but rest and sleep. She reads now and writes in her diary. Today she has been about the house some. She still eats in bed and reclining.

Gould's letter came yesterday. Mother is having a great time filling the orders you children send. She is in bed and I am on the street bringing samples and other things. I hope you will be able to get something that will answer. I cannot hope that you will get what you want. I have four packages in the house now to mail. I must go over to the south side post office myself to do the mailing. I'll try to get there Tuesday. (I got there and mailed the four packages.)

My Ing Hok trip set for April 24th to 28th is fortunately postponed. I could not have left Mother. But another call comes for May 2nd to 5th only to Diong Loh, and only a Retreat with no addresses. I hope Mother will be about by that time.

Wednesday morning, the 23rd.

Mother keeps on an even keel, - a little stronger each day, but slowly as is characteristic of typhoid. Her temperature sticks at 99.2,4,6. This afternoon after the mission prayer meeting we are to meet to say good bye to Mr. and Mrs. Peet (who are likely going home for good) Mr. and Mrs. McClure, Miss Betty Cushman, Dr. Dyer, and Mr. Guy Thelin. Mr. and Mrs. Peet have already gone, and Dr. Dyer is in Shanghai so it will be a show with the Principals away. Mrs. Oswald (Monnie and Kathleen will remember her) tried to give the Peets a farewell party but they were taking the launch at 10:30 that evening and did not get to the party.

It seems an age since we have heard from any of the brothers and sisters, but it has not been so long. While Oliver was in the hospital, the girls wrote every mail and spoiled us. Letters from Virginia and Gould hint at a near date for a wedding. We wait patiently for the next letters. My words do not express the desire I have to be home for the occasion. I cannot however complain. Very few people who have spent their lives on this side the world, away from home, have had the privilege of being present at so many of these functions. We have been greatly favored.

The Board sent us a cut of 10% on all the work of the mission for this year. Then about two weeks or more ago they wrote that we must make plans for another cut of 5% for 1931. This rather got the Chinese. They are getting under the load and they have for more than a year wanted to have direct communication with the Board in Boston. A few have carried the impression that if they had direct access to Boston they could get all kinds of money. Now just as they are attaining this desideratum the money decreases instead of increases. Some of them say openly that the Board's policy now is to decrease gradually year by year until the child is entirely weaned. Only a few are talking like this, however. The cold fact is that the Chinese church members have not been taught to give here in Foochow as they could, or as their means make it possible for them to give. At the same time this does not excuse the Christians at home from keeping up their help. One of the best things that the Americans have done from the standpoint of self help has been the assistance they have given to Belgium and Turkey and China in their distress. When we turn a deaf ear to other nations in their hard times we lose something that is vital to our own life.

Lovingly Father

[This post card dated May 11, 1930 was written by Willard Beard to Kathleen. Willard will be leaving for Ing Hok for a student conference. He talks about how mother is feeling better and how people brought them food. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

Miss Kathleen C. Beard
Talcott Hall
Oberlin
Ohio
U.S.A.

May 11th 1930

This week I am sending a P.C. only to the different addresses. I plan to leave for Ing Hok Tuesday morning early to be gone a week- a student conference.

Mother has had no fever for four or five days. She is beginning to eat and as she eats her strength is returning. She got along all right last week for three days when I was away. The others in the compound here are very good to us. Ice cream, cake, pie, puddings etc. come in frequently. I can make muffins and Boston Brown Bread but pie and cake- take too much time. Lovingly, Father.

Phebe sent me several cards like this from Korea.

[This letter, dated May 14, 1930, was written from Copiague, NY by Gould to his mother. He hopes Ellen feels better. His wedding will be the last couple of weeks of July. Gould feels that airplanes will become an important factor in travel of the future. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel]

May 14, 1930
Copiague, LI., N.Y.

Dear Mother:

Fathers last letter told of your illness. It was rather startling because somehow it seems that we have had very little sickness among us for a long time. I think our family has been unusually blessed with good health, thanks to your and fathers care and intelligence in bringing us up.

Virginia has not yet set the wedding date but it will be in the last two weeks of July. I had hoped to be able to order a rather elaborate Chinese drawn linen set for you to give her for a wedding gift, but my money is all going toward other things just now and I will be hard put to it to get enough together to make a good honeymoon. I do hope to realize a good profit from my money though sometime in the next year.

I have been looking up honeymoon places, but have not decided upon anything yet. A trip thru New England looks good as I have not seen much of the upper regions of that country. Maine is one state we both want to visit.

Sunday before last we (Jerry, Ginny and I) joined the Deckard and Somers families in a party at Montauk Point. We drove about 225 miles that day and had a good two[ten?] hours at the point. The scenery is not marvelous out there, but it made a nice picnic ground and the sea was very pretty. It happened to be the first good Sunday this year for picknicking. The roads are fine clear out to the point.

Memorial Day I will be in Seymour to finish the details of the wedding. I hope they are not planning for a big one.

About a month ago I made a nonstop flight to Dayton, O in 4 hrs. and 50 min. Last Sunday I flew a plane to Pittsburg in 3 hrs. and 15 min. These planes annihilate space. They just can't help but become an important factor in the travel of the future generations.

Our country house is pretty nice but not quite as good as the others are. We have a P.O.B. in Amityville #517, so continue addressing us at Amityville.

Here's hoping you are as you put ??,

Your loving son,

Gould.

[This letter dated June 8, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Virginia and Geraldine. There has been fighting between bandit Lu Hing Bang and the Nanking government in Foochow for two days. The central government won and reports said there were 650 casualties. Willard talks about Lu Hing Bang and the trouble he causes. The Storrs, Shepherds and Mrs. Bliss have left Shaowu because of the fighting. Willard feels that China is in a worse condition than ever. Ellen is better from the typhoid fever. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China
June 8th. 1930.

Dear Gould, Virginia and Geraldine

Here is another letter for all of you. Since writing the last time I must have been to Ing Hok and to Nang Seu. At Ing Hok I was helping in the yearly Y.M.C.A. student conference. There were some 60 or 70 boys with their teachers. They came from about ten centers. Some of them walked forty miles to attend. They will never forget this visit to the metropolis of the Ing Hok country.

Yesterday some of the people in the compound heard firing about 5:00 a.m. Later we learned that there was a battle between Lu Hing Bank, a bandit who was held under his sway the Yeng Ping, Shaowu and Ming Chiang counties for some twelve years, and the forces of the Nanking Government. This morning I awoke just before 5:00 o'clock and soon I heard what I thought was a bird pecking at the tin water spout. But I at once realized that I was wrong and it was firing. The two armies were facing each other only about two miles in a straight line, away from us. They were only half a mile from the house where Mr. and Mrs. Newell are living. The firing continued for two hours pretty severe. Then it was heard at intervals all day. We also heard firing in the distance. The central government's forces were victorious both yesterday and today if reports are true. It is said that there were 600 casualties yesterday and 50 today.

Last evening we were at Miss Wiley's for supper and just as we got to her house we saw a fire. Then as we sat down another fire was reported. They proved to be incendiary. Today the police caught two of the bugs and took off their heads and hung them up in the street near the fires. Yesterday they also caught two spies of Lu Hing Bang and shot them.

Martha Wiley

HER sparkling wit and cheerful manner may deceive you into thinking that she has an easy job but we know that she carries the heavy burdens of many women on her heart as she tries to meet their needs thru' the Women's School.

Monday morning:-

Last night every time I was awake I heard firing, rifles, machine guns and canon. It began to rain about 7:30 a.m. and the firing has now ceased. An Admiral of the Chinese fleet came in two days ago and the report is that he has sided with the Central government. The navy here has been on the fence for a long time. Its men are nicely clothed but their reputation is that they do not fight. But with the navy on the right side, it has steadied the situation some.

This Lu Hing Bang is a most interesting character. He has held the mountainous region of the north Fukien for over ten years. He is illiterate, superstitious, utterly selfish, has no regard for people (except for what he can get out of them) ability to make men follow him and serve him. For over ten years he has been bleeding the people with out mercy, burning houses, seizing for the ransom, killing. The bandits of all that region are his emissaries. He defies the Central Government because he is so far away up in the mountains that it is difficult for a force of men to get to him to strike with any force. Then the men sent against him are used to level country, his men are like mountain goats. However it is now reported that the Central Government is after him out in the mountains. For a month it is said that he has been going the rounds of the temples imploring the gods to protect him. He is held responsible for the arrest of the six Fukien Commissioners in Foochow some months ago. He still has them up in the mountains with him. This makes the Central Government furious. This same bandit has given $20,000.00 mex. as a subscription to the Fukien Christian University to rebuild the building that was burned.

Leon Gardner with his wife are in Foochow looking about on the scenes of his childhood. He has been in Manila for two or three years as doctor in the American army stationed there. Gould and Geraldine will remember him.

Reports of the announcement of THE engagement have reached us [Gould Beard and Virginia Space]. I looked for something in the Sentinel but did not see it. The only date suggested thus far for the wedding is July 19th. We shall watch carefully for the real definite day. And we'll likely be doing some eastward thinking that day. It will be in the night here, while we are in bed.

Last Wednesday I went up to Kuliang and arranged for a few repairs to be made on the cottage to make it pleasant this summer. The mountain is as lovely as ever.

This is Friday morning.

The firing has kept up intermittently all the week. On Wed. the report was that the opposing force had been routed and had withdrawn up river. This has much truth in it, and we think the firing is to let the enemy know that they are still on the job.

Last Sunday a telegram came from Shaowu from Dr. Judd saying, - Storrs, Shepherds, Mrs. Bliss left Saturday. On Tuesday the Consul received in reply to a telegram he sent on Sunday to Yeng Ping, Shaowu folks, Shepherds arrived safely Tuesday. River traffic inadvisable. Yeng Ping quiet. So we suppose the Shaowu people are all at Yeng Ping, in safety and comfortable. Mr. Shepherd had come down and gone to Shanghai to get a little bunch on his lip, looked at. It proved to be only a surface bunch and not important. He is here and of course anxious to get his wife and family down to Foochow. Drs. Bliss and Judd are in Shaowu.

Mrs. Dr. Gillette went to Shanghai for an examination by the doctors. They telegraphed for Dr. Gillette to come up. She has a serious operation. We do not know the exact trouble. Dr. Gillette expected to return on the steamer coming in this week.

Riggs family got off a week ago. McClures got off two days ago. Scotts, Dr. Dyer, Miss Cushman, Guy Thelin leave next week via Siberia. Margaret Smith goes with them.

It looks as if Kuliang might be fuller this year than any time since 1926. Kuling is out of the question and many from the south are getting houses on Kuliang. Mr. and Mrs. McCann are to spend at least part of the summer at the University in the President's house. This house is on the high point where it gets a big breeze. Mr. McCann is a big help at a time like this. He has seen many such in the north and he is calm and steady.

Kathleen is to be in Silver Bay again this summer. I do not like to think of her not going to THE wedding. If it is a matter of money some of you get her there if possible. I will furnish the money. Marjorie, I am not quite sure of. So I am addressing this to her Lorain address. I have to address Gould still at 23 Barberry Court.

I see that Mrs. Lewis Shelton died at the age of 92. As far as I can think she is the last of that generation. I always held her in high esteem.

People are asking us all the time when we are going to the mountain. I tell them "Not yet." I do not think of the date. I have to go to Hok Chiang (Futsing) for a week before there is any Kuliang for me. To day Mrs. Wiant and her two boys and Mrs. Havighurst and her children went up, if they did as they planned.

China was never in a worse plight than she is in today. Many of those in the government positions high and low are worse grafters than the old time officials. Two different persons told me the other day, "Chiang Kai Shek has bled the people worse than any other man ever did." Communists and bandits and those against the present government are making things almost and quite unbearable. Famine is reducing the population by tens of thousands daily. Many returned students are as bad or worse than the old officials. But God has a lot of men and women who are living quiet lives and developing strong Christian characters. Many others are watching and thinking. Some day these level heads will get together and China will be saved.

With love to all

Father

Mother gains strength as fast as what she eats will give it to her. She does not do as much as before, otherwise she is much the same as before the typhoid.

[This note dated about June 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Kathleen. He sends her some money after her graduation from college. Original note is in the archives of Oberlin College.]

[About June 1930]

Dear Kathleen

This $100 check you may use in any way you like. I'd like to feel that $50 went toward the various expenditures incidental to graduation. That is what I have done for the others.

Tell us more about the young men who are attune to you that poor fellow – I do not lay up his name- is not worth a moment of your anxiety. You have done right and now do as near as you can to forgetting it-

Where are you to be in the summer

Lovingly

Father

[This letter dated June 23, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Virginia and Geraldine. The fighting has moved up the river. Some of the missionaries are stuck in Yeng Ping and can not get to Foochow because the armies have taken over the river. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China.

June, 23rd. 1930.

Dear Gould, Virginia and Geraldine

On the eve of going off into the country for a week I am sending another general letter. I promise it shall be all on one sheet. This time I am off for Hok Chiang (Futsing) to help with eight hours in a Retreat for the one hundred workers in the field of the Methodist mission in that district. It must be nearly fifteen years since I have been in that region. I went there as American Consul nearly twenty years ago, deputied by the Consul here to judge six cases of alleged persecution. It is interesting that the persecution cases have ceased since the government has ceased to take the testimony of missionaries as the last word in court.

The local war has moved up river so we have not heard firing for a week or more. Report says that the general in charge of Foochow is victorious and has driven the bandits from thirty to seventy miles up river. Airplanes (hydroplanes) have been in the sky for nearly a week. Report says that they have been flying over Yeng Ping where the bandit Lu Hing Bang has his headquarters, when he does not withdraw into his mountain cave at Iu Ka.

Our people are still in Yeng Ping. They telegraph us that they are comfortable but have no prospect of getting down to Foochow. You see the river is the highway for both armies. This bandit has sealed for his use all the launches on the upper river and not one can stir. There seems to be nothing any of us can do, - except be patient and hope and pray that the strife may cease.

Ned Smith in Ing Hok wrote me on June 20th. "Ing Tai is still in the limboes. Yesterday city surrendered to Liong Ca Ching and Uong Bing Hu was due here for magistrate. But this morning everybody has decamped and we are left alone by both sides. Who will come to fill the vacuum nobody knows. Yamen is occupied by a lonely forlorn ass to bray, in the midst of loot, also one yellow cat to help keep him company, which thing is a fact and not an allegory. Lucy (Lanktree) and all well. Schools dismissed. Don't expect me just yet, too much fun. "

Lucy B. Lanktree

HER ideal of perfection is far from easy to obtain in the country station of Ing-tai but she works with such devotion that even a furlo seems unimportant.

The weather has been not so bad. There is a shower once in a few days and the nights are so we can sleep. If one can sleep at night he can get along with most any kind of weather in the daytime.

Phebe's letter brought the news of the fire on White Hills. The Newtown Bee clipping amplified it a little- or rather her letter amplified the Bee's account. I did not get how about the insurance. I suppose the dwelling was entirely covered i.e. the Insurance Co. would put in good order again. But how about the barns? It was interesting to me that the fire companies got there so soon. Good work.

I'm glad to hear the good news of the dairy. 300 qts a day is going some. Rye is a good milk food, evidently. But you must have some fairly good cows even at that. The cows here have greatly changed for the better in the last ten years. As I look at them as I pass along the roads, there are two or three that must hit close to ten quarts a day when fresh. I'm writing of yellow cows.

For the past three weeks I have climbed the mountains once a week. I went to look after other people's houses. There are some ten families up there now. If the thirty odd at Yeng Ping should be released they would materially increase the population of Kuliang.

We have had green corn and string beans for two weeks. The Kentucky Wonder are just starting to bear. Carrots and kohlrabi and beets are still on the menu. I have quite a patch of field corn that is glazed. It will be ready to pick in ten days or so.

Did I write that Mrs. Gillette had gone to Shanghai for a serious operation? She is doing well and is expected back in a few days.

Mother is picking up all the time. The children write that we have been remarkably free from illness as a family. God has been very good to us. Are we making the best use of our health and our ability in the service of our fellows?

We still have to practice patience about the date for The WEDDING [Gould and Virginia]. We are holding the date!!

With lots of love to you each
Father

[This letter dated July 5, 1930 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould and Virginia. He tells about the fighting and everyone is watching the war between Chiang and Feng and Yen. He had a good trip to Hok Chiang. He asks Gould and Virginia when their wedding is scheduled for. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China,
July 5th. 1930.

Dear Gould and Virginia:

Another rather long silence has elapsed since I last wrote. The local war drags on. Thus far the government forces have kept the rebels out of Foochow. Several airplanes hum over us daily. It is said that they go up to the home of the bandit rebel each day and terrify the people all thru the countryside. We are in daily communication with people in Yengping, Iong Kau and Shaowu. That is we get letter, telegrams and radios, we are not so sure that they get our communications. They write that it looks as if they were being held by the bandit (who has been appointed governor of the province by his government) with the thought that they would restrict the area that the airplanes could or would work in. The bandit has promised them all kinds of protection. Everyone seems to be watching the results of the war between Chiang and Feng and Yen. If Chiang wins they think we are all right. If he fails in the north there is almost sure to be a turn over here with Lu Hing Bang in power. It is reported that he has promised his soldiers one day of looting in Foochow when they get into the city.

Sunday afternoon.

The report is that there has been heavy loss on both sides. I saw a man who lives in the village of Ma Ang, where I saw the 32 bandits some weeks ago, this morning and he said the people in that village do not stay there at night. They leave some of the old women or men and the able bodied come into the city. The men go out in the day and work a little. Harvest is almost ready for reaping and the people are wondering what they will do. But it may all be over by the day they must reap. It is very evident that the bandit Lu wants to get into the city badly.

Ellen and I had made all arrangements to go to Kuliang last Friday in the afternoon. I was to attend the reception given by the American Consul in the morning- 11:30 to 12:30. Go home and get into walking togs and snatch a bite to eat and we would be off at once and get there about 4:30. (Fourth Celebration on Kuliang 4:30 – 9 p.m.) The Am. Consul had promised to give the address of welcome and the British Consul had promised to make the reply. As President of the American Association I had interviewed both these men. I was to preside. But on the way over to the Consulate there was a very heavy shower and while there it rained again very hard. Consul Muccio said to me “What do you think the people of Kuliang would say if I telegraphed that there was so much water on the plain that I could not get up?” I replied that they would say he was very wise and that I would like to sign the telegram with him. So we sent the word. It rained hard much of the afternoon. The British Consul laughingly said to me that he would make my speech for me. Ellen and I are here and have decided to stay till the weather changes. It is not unbearable hot here while it rains so much. We sent up fruit and bread and some other food but Mrs. Leger is there and will take care of it.

I had to be here Tuesday anyway so we will not now plan to go before Thursday morning. Mr. and Mrs. McCann (Treasurer) are still here and Mr. Shepherd is with them. Mrs. Smith and Helen come from Shanghai Friday and on Saturday morning the sky was not dropping much and they with Ned went up to the mountain. They had a good day. But last night it rained hard much of the time and today is rainy with a terrific shower at 3 p.m. We have all the delicious sweet corn we can eat and carrots, Kentucky Wonders, beets, salisify cucumbers, etc.

When I returned from Hok Chiang a week ago yesterday some of my little chicks were ailing. From 32 twelve have dropped off. That week was very warm and dry. I think it was too hot for them. The 20 remaining seem to be husky. The Rhode Island Reds stand up the best. The Black Minorcas are the most frail. I think I shall not try to raise any more of them.

My trip to Hok Chiang was successful. This is we had a good trip down, a good trip home and there was a good attendance and attention all thru. There were some 75 men in attendance. Rev. Hu Ing Kuang went down with me. He is the Executive Sec'y of the Methodist mission here. He is a fine man of good physique and has a good heard on him and is a man of spiritual depth. He is a good travelling companion. A decided change has taken place in the ten years past in the relations of Chinese and foreigners as they travel together. At least this is true when I travel with the Chinese now. Formerly the foreigner had to make all arrangements and pay all the bills. Now I go as a guest. And the Chinese take thought for my comfort. When we reached the end of our launch ride we found chairs waiting for us. I had eaten breakfast at 4:45 a.m. It was a little after 9:00. Mr. Hu suggested that we have a bowl of vermicelli. This we had and also a cup of tea. When I was about to pay he said “I have seen to that.” On the launch he also arranged and paid for tea. You will recall my pleasure at being so well provided on the Shaowu trip last fall. At Hok Chiang I gave eight Bible talks, or rather Bible Studies two hours each for four days. At the second hour there were about 100 present. Many of the young men from the Anglican church had come in. It seems they were holding some kind of a conference at the same time. These young men came loaded. I guess they are not allowed much freedom in asking questions of either the Chinese or foreigners among the higher ups. “Why did God create man if he knew that man would go wrong and bring so much misery in the world?” “Where is Heaven?” “Where do we go when we die?” Can we know now whether we are going To Heaven or Hell? If Heaven is here and now, what takes place when we die? WHERE do we go? How do we know we have souls? What is the Soul? If an infant only a few days old dies what becomes of its soul? If Jesus had not died for us would there have been some other means of salvation provided? Was Judas a bad man? Well these are some of the questions that were fired at me. I talked with them about all but the one about supposing Jesus had not died. I told them I had no interest in talking on a proposition contrary to the fact. It was an interesting hour all right.

Harry Caldwell was with me at Hok Chiang. We were the only foreigners there, except a Miss Oatway of the C.M.S. Harry is a very interesting man. He is Natural Scientist of very high grade. He has a son in his teens that is way ahead of his father in some lines of natural science. Together they are publishing a book on the birds of Fukien. Other scientists in China have published such books and one was just about to publish a book, but when he saw what the Caldwells were planning he backed out saying that his work was not in the same class. A Chinese saw that blue tiger anoly [anomaly?] a few weeks ago in the Hok Chiang region. So he is still waiting for the hunter to get him as a rare specimen.

When is THE WEDDING? The time approaches, - it is near and we do not know the date for sure. We are sending Kathleen's letters to Silver Bay, Gould's and Geraldine's to Amityville, Marjorie's to Lorain. I guess they will be forwarded all right. Dorothy has not written a word about where they planned to spend the summer.

It looks as if I should not get homesick for want of things to do. The Union Middle School has asked me to act as treasurer. I told them I would take the name but they must find some one to do all the bookeeping. I will write checks and see to the general business. I have just audited the mission books with Mr. and Mrs. Christian to help and am told that I must again audit the University books. I did it last year and I thought that as it was a union institution some one else would do it this year. Mr. McCann is here as treasurere in Mr. McClure's place. But Mr. McCann cannot do much of the business agent's work and that is coming my way. Then there are a lot of details that he wants consultation over regarding the accounts and the banking etc. I had hoped to do more of the direct evangelistic work, perhaps I can still get it in. During the past year I have been away in the country for Retreats, Conferences and Annual Meetings five times, this does not count week ends for communion in the nearer churches.

Have I said above that I am harvesting my field corn today, - big crop, - 250 lb cobs and all.

Lovingly
Father

Gould and Virginia Beard - July 15, 1930
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

July 15, 1930

Written on back of photo: "Stanley took this on our porch after we all came down from the wedding. I think Pearl's husband is the only one you do not know."

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

This was probably taken at Century Farm after Gould and Virginia's wedding. There are relatives from the Beard and Kinney side, so it would make sense that it was a wedding of one of Willard and Ellen's children.

L to R front: Monnie with arms around unidentified girl (possibly Ruth Beard), possibly Nancy Beard (Stanley and Myra's daughter), Geraldine Beard, Dorothy Beard Newberg

Middle: Behind Monnie is Stephen Beard and the woman in glasses might be Myra Beard.

L to R standing: Unidentified man, Flora Beard, Unidentified woman, Mary Beard, Elbert Kinney, Kathleen Beard, probably Phebe M. Beard, Harold Newberg, possibly Pearle Chamberlain Tayler and William Tayler.

[This letter, dated July 20, 1930, was written from Costine, Maine by Virginia (Ginny) and Gould to Willard and Ellen. They are married now and on their honeymoon in Maine. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Sunday 7:00 A.M.

7/20/30

Dear Dear Daddy and Mother-

The Wedding itself is past but what fun we're having talking and laughing over this incident and that. Dears everything was perfect except for your absence. But you made us so happy when Mother brought us your cablegram. We just nearly wept in front of all our guests. It was so very Dear and thoughtful of you.

I'm not going to tell you all about the wedding itself because onlookers can, to a better advantage. However that is as far as they can tell at all. We made a grand get away in Dan's car (he at the wheel) after running over several back lawns with one man trying to push crepe paper ?? down my neck, which he did not finally succeed in doing. Dan drove us into New Haven where we had left the car in a garage packed with all our big luggage. We each had a small bag with us on the get away. We left Seymour at 4.45 and spent the first night in Springfield and it was here that we gave each other our Love Rings and we were both most surprised for neither had any idea the other had one. Every where we turn we seem to find some product of your thoughtfulness. Wednesday we made Portland stopping enroute at Old Orchard Beach where several of the Atlantic flight take offs have been made. Thursday afternoon we arrived at our destination a small summer hotel at Costine, Maine. It's way down on the tip of a peninsula in Penobscott Bay and our room looks right out over part of the Bay. Right now it looks like millions of little diamonds sparkling on it with the morning sun. Yesterday was the only poor day we've had thus far. We'll leave here either Wed. or Thurs. Plan to spend one nite in Putnam, get to Sey. on Saturday and go on home Sunday after packing everything. We had perfectly beautiful gifts.

Much love

Ginny and Gould

[Added by Gould]

Ginny forgot to say that Harold Newberg assisted in the get-away by closing the ?? on a small bridge. Ginny was the prettiest bride I ever saw. She wore her mother's wedding gown slightly altered. We'll write more fully later.

Love Ginny and Gould

Written on back of photo: "7/15/30 Myron Gould Beard and Virginia Blatchley Space Beard making their get away to start their honeymoon up in Castine, Maine from the Space's back door while Lillian Space (Ginny's twin) along with Gould's cousin Wells Beard of Shelton, Conn. made a false get away from the front door and down the front 22 steps to the street and a waiting car."

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Taken the day after Gould and Virginia's wedding at Lordship Beach, south of Shelton on the Connecticut coast.

Lordship July 16, 1930 [Lordship Beach, CT -south of Shelton on the coast of Connecticut]
 Left to right sitting at left: Probably Oliver Gould Beard, Jr., probably Nancy Beard, Geraldine Beard, possibly Phebe M. Beard.
 Standing left to right: Possibly Anna Beardsley (Oliver's 2nd wife to be), Dorothy, Harold, possibly Phebe M. Beard, unknown lady, Sitting middle of photo left to right: Mary Beard with niece, Ruth Beard in her lap, unknown woman in hat, Stephen Beard lying in front of Monnie Beard and Flora Beard.
 [Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This typewritten letter dated July 20, 1930 was written from Kuliang, Foochow, China by Willard to Century Farm, Geraldine, Marjorie, Oliver, Grace, Ben and Abbie. They are on Kuliang now. Hu Ling Bang decided to let the missionaries who are stuck in Yeng Ping to come on down to Foochow. Mr. Shepherd is to go up and bring them back. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Kuliang] Foochow, China
 July 20th. 1930.

Dear Century Farm, Geraldine, Marjorie, Oliver, Grace, Ben, Abbie:-

This is Kuliang instead of Foochow. Since I wrote last, Mother and I have moved up to Kuliang. We came up July 10th, Thursday. On July 14th, Monday I went down again. When Mr. Thelin went home the middle of June it left the Union High School with no treasurer. They have elected me to that position. The teachers are paid on the 15th of the month and I had to go down for that. On Wednesday while in Foochow I went to the Consulate. The Consul had just received a telegram from Yeng Ping to the effect that the bandit Lu Hing Bang was willing to let the foreigners come to Foochow. Mr. Shepherd was asked to come up with a launch to bring them down. Then followed a long list of surgical dressings and drugs that they were in need of. I rather had to stay to see what the result was to be. Mr. Shepherd arrived from Kuliang that evening. After three days of negotiations the American Consul, the British Consul and Shepherd left Foochow on two launches to bring the people down from Yeng Ping. A postal came to me an hour ago saying that they were leaving Upper Bridge (five miles above Foochow) at 11 a.m. Saturday, "With military approval." That is not very swift progress. They were supposed to have all military approval on Thursday.

I came up to the mountain on Friday morning. This is the fifth time I have climbed this mountain this year. The weather in Foochow was not bad last week. I could sleep nights and when I can do that all goes well. Thus far this year here it has been pretty wet. Not as bad as last year. When I went down last Monday p.m. I left the house here at 3:00 p.m. walked leisurely down the mountain with a very threatening cloud in my face. It sprinkled a little when I got near the foot. Just as I reached the temple at the foot rain and wind burst at the same moment as if to tear the universe to shreds. For fifteen minutes it was almost a tornado. Water fell in sheets – half an inch in less than an hour. The yard of the temple had a foot of water on it. The road was a small river rushing like a will race. In the temple with me were two chair coolies. I asked what they would take me across the plain to the next village for. They said one dollar. I finally got them for sixty cents. I figured that there would be much water on the road as far as the next village and from there on to Foochow not much. The coolies waded in water on the road as far as the next village and from there on to Foochow not much. The coolies waded in water half to their knees much of the way. I then walked dry to Foochow city, got a ricksha just outside the East gate, found water under the gate so got home dry. If I had not found the ricksha outside the gate I would have got wet feet wading under the gate.

Ellen had an engagement to practice for a sing at the Club at 4:00 p.m. She started and got about three minutes on the way when the storm struck her. She was wet to the skin in half a minute. She tried to get under Mr. Sills house but the wind blew so there was no protection. She of course went home as soon as the storm abated so she could get home. The wind blew the rain into the rooms so Mr. Mobb's bed was wet thru. It is only a little damage to the house.

Friday at about noon two launches started for Yeng Ping as I wrote about. A telegram received this morning says they reached Yeng Ping yesterday afternoon. I plan to go down tomorrow and wait till they come down with the Storrs and the Shepherds and Mrs. Bliss and I do not know how many more. I shall see them up to the mountain if possible.

Foochow College has received a gift of over $5000.00 gold from a woman in Cala. thru her will I believe. I am glad this has come just at this time for the man now Principal of Foochow College is inclined to say that the Board is not as generous with the Chinese at the head of institutions as it was when missionaries were at the head. The school has not had as large a gift as this in twenty years or more.

The cable telling us that THE WEDDING was over that two people had been made one, came through in about eight hours. It was good of them to send it. But how we do want to hear all about THE WEDDING. And we want the account from different ones. It was most fortunate that some one wrote that they had heard that the wedding was to be on the 15th for we had in mind the 19th all the time. I do hope that our cable reached them.

There are only four houses now for rent on Kuliang. Communists hold Kuling and Mokansang, and the people are coming here.

I would enjoy riding the mowing machine over the farm these days, and seeing the barns fill with hay, but I'll have to wait about three years. We had new corn meal mush for breakfast the other morning. When I think of the misery all about us here and then reflect on the pleasant paths in which we are walking, I try to do justice, love, mercy and walk humbly with my God.

Very lovingly
Father and brother Will

[This letter, dated July 29, 1930, was written from Copiague, NY by Gould and Ginny to Willard and Ellen. Gould and Ginny are back from their honeymoon. They were able to visit Dot, Harold, Monny, Uncle Elbert, Aunt Emma. They hope Ellen is over her sickness (typhoid fever). Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

July 29, 1930
Copiague, NY.

Dear Father and Mother:

This is our first letter to you after getting back into our home. We have been home keepers for two days now. Virginia is making just the nicest little home here. We aren't really settled down yet, but we are not rushing that.

We stayed in Costine, M. until the 24th, then made Putnam in one hop of 346 miles in 1 ½ hours [11 ½ hours is more likely]. It was pretty fast driving on the open roads, but we made it easier than I had anticipated.

It happened to be Uncle Elberts birthday on the day we arrived. Dot, Harold and Monny were there, having arrived that afternoon and we had a lot of fun with Uncle E. Aunt Emma looks very well and seems happier than I have seen her for a long time. Uncle E. gets younger in spirit every year.

As Ginny and I had to make Seymour that nite we took a picnic lunch to Mashpog, Union and Nit.Otuck[Naugatuck?], where we ate lunch with cousin Dede Lawson. At 8:00 P.M. we were at the Space home and at 9:00 we called on the Aunts at the farm. Saturday we packed what gifts Lillian and Bob had not gotten to during our honeymoon. Sunday A.M. we were off. Sunday P.M. we had all parcels unpacked and the glass ware all washed and put away.

In the evening in our bathing suits we went to the beach for a swim.

Wed. Morning.

I went to sleep trying to finish this letter and I guess it sounds rather sketchy.

We hav'nt been out on any dinners or parties yet but we have accepted an invitation to a bridge party tomorrow nite at Mrs. Jervis', our land lady's house.

Mothers two special delivery air mail letters and fathers letter was waiting for us when we arrived back from our honeymoon. The packages have'nt arrived yet but that's all right. I don't think the extra postage will do much good. We have US special delivery here at Amityville or rather Copiague. Our P.O. Box is in Amityville 517 and they will not deliver outside the town. As near as I can tell from Mothers minute description, the things will be just right. We are eagerly awaiting their arrival.

We both send love and hope by this time that Mother is strong and all over her sickness [typhoid fever].

Your son and daughter- Gould and Ginny.

[This letter, dated Aug. 15, 1930, was written from Amityville, NY by Gould and Ginny to Willard and Ellen. They write on their one month anniversary. They received a cablegram from Willard and Ellen on their wedding day and were touched by it. They wonder if Willard and Ellen will have to leave China before their term is out because of communism. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Aug 15, 1930
P.O.B. 517.
Amityville, L.I., N.Y.

Dear Father and Mother:

Tonite Ginny reminded me that it was our first month anniversary and I must write and tell you about our first month together.

To begin with, it has'nt been half as hard getting adjusted to married life as I had been given to think by talking with other married men. In fact is seemed rather naturel. Nothing this month has strained my mode of living on my inhibitions or created a hard thing for me to get accustomed to. Perhaps it is because I never have gotten into a set way of living and have been forced to adapt myself to frequent and great changes in my mode of living. I am almost surprised at the way things seem to pan out- namely very much as I had dreamed they would be.

During our honeymoon we just took things easy and did only as much as we wanted to do. We took plenty of time to get acquainted; got up reasonably late and to bed early. Most of our day was spent by ourselves swimming or in a boat or playing tennis or walked. We got plenty of sleep and we both needed it and profited by it.

Perhaps the reason we hav'nt found it hard to adapt ourselves to each other is that we were together so much last winter. Ginny was at our house almost every week end we learned to know each others ways and habits before we were married. Then too Ginny is a very optimistic and cheery little girlie and she has a way of making the best of every situation that comes along.

We have entertained twice already since establishing ourselves in this country home of ours, and I am real proud of the way Ginny does things up.

Our wedding gifts we carted down in two trips from Conn. and we had the car full each time. Most of them we have unpacked and have on display. The table cloth and runners came while we were away on our honeymoon, but Ginny is as tickled and proud of it as of any other thing she got. Everyone who has seen it thinks it is one beautiful piece.

We just have told you before that your cablegram came before the wedding but they kept it until the reception and presented it to us on a bible opened to the passages you designated. Uncle Stanley offered to send a reply immediately and we wrote it while eating the wedding cake and it was sent before we got away. We had planned to send the cable to you at our first nights destination.

Father's two letters have arrived this week. I must read them over again to get all there is in them and all that you want me to get for you.

The papers do not give us very encouraging news from China. Your letters bear out what we have read. We sometimes wonder whether the Communists will let you stay your term out. It seems too awfully bad that the Russians have been able to get such a hold of the ignorant Chinese peasants. I suppose that anything is better to the masses and peasant hords than the oppression they have been living under in recent years. When one grinds all the daylight hours for a mere stomach full of food and gets half of that taken away by his rulers there isn't much left to be loyal or law abiding for.

We think of you as enjoying the friends at the mountain. Monny leaves for Labrador in two weeks and paid us a visit the first of the week.

Our love to you – Gould and Ginny

Written on back: "Aug. 17, 1930"

Marjorie (left) pictured with three unidentified women shortly before she left for Labrador, Canada.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Marjorie Aug. 24 1930

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Beards at the beach

Written in album: "Jones's Beach L.I. 1930"

Left to right: Stephen, Myra, Ruth, Stanley, Nancy

Left to right: Myra, Ruth, Stanley, Nancy, Stephen, Gould

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This typewritten letter dated Oct. 12, 1930 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. Dot has heard from the American Board that Willard and Ellen are on their way back to the states because Willard is ill. She and Harold bought a new Hupmobile car. Their cousin, Donald Hume, will be getting married in November. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2108 No. bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
Oct. 12, 1930.

Dear Jerry;

I don't know whether I dare attempt a typewritten letter to you- an expert- or not. No, it isn't our machine, but one [of] our summer inmates left by mistake and are calling for it this week some time. I am just stealing a try at it while it is here. Naughty, eh?

What did you think of that letter from the Amer. Board? Wasn't it a shock to you? It certainly was to me. We'll all be most delighted to see them back in this country but it must be a great disappointment to them to have to leave before their term is up. I don't suppose they will go back, do you? Of course, it will all depend on how successful the operation is, I suppose. Have you heard anything about Father's being ill? Do you suppose that it is the same operation that Grandfather and Uncle Oliver had? He has had a little of that trouble, hasn't he? It just doesn't seem possible that they will be here in less than a month, does it? I wonder if they will consider stopping here and in Oberlin, or whether they are planning to go right straight through to the East and have the operation as soon as possible and if it is near enough to the week-end, we will drive them down to Oberlin. I suppose the stop-off would be more expensive than a through trip.

Myrtle and Chet Johnson are going down to Ann Arbor with us to the Mich.-Ill. game on the 25th of Oct. The Lappinems are teaching in Ypsilanti this year. They have invited all of us to come out to their house after the game to stay over Sat. night, so we will have a gala week-end. I wish you were out here so that we could repeat that week-end of two years ago, was it? I have written Kathleen to get Hugh to bring her up if she can. She wrote that she was so smart last semester that she got on the senior exemption list this year - - meaning that she can have as many class cuts as she wants. She would have to cut all of her Sat. Classes.

We are having such beautiful weather here now. I went to S.S. this morning without a coat. Girls were out to the H.S. football game yesterday with silk dresses and no coats. I hope it is like this for our game in Ann Arbor.

You can't possibly guess what we have gone and done!! Bought a new car!! The salesman came around with a most astounding offer of a brand new Hup 8 five passenger coupe. That is, it had been driven just 1000 miles and then was turned in and the owner bought a Packard. It surely is the smartest looking car I've seen. The only feature I don't like about it is that the back seat is a little too near to the front seat. There is a plenty of room, except when you want to stretch your feet out to rest them. We took a good long [time] to think it over before we got it, and while it is a bit "out of our class" we really didn't pay much more for it than we would have for a new six. I felt almost ashamed to ride in it at first. Harold was just so keen on getting it that I knew he'd always regret it if we didn't get it so I didn't have the heart to put my foot down on it. I surely admit that it was almost too good a bargain to let it slip by. It really won't cost us very much more to run it, either. We are getting about 13 miles on a gallon, and will get more after we have run it a little more. I'm crazy to have you see it. It drives like "nobody's business" and you feel like a million dollars when you ride in it.

Well, Monnie must be up there by this time, and nicely started in her work. I wonder if we will get any more letters from her. Those two letters to her from that girl were very interesting and I imagine must have been very helpful to Monnie.

Yesterday we got our davenport back from being all done over. It is beautiful - - looks just like new. How I wish you could come out here sometime soon to see our little house. It is all "fixed up" now. I do hope that Mother and Father will stop so that they can see it.

I had a letter from Ish this summer saying that she was expecting another little one sometime in Oct. The other day there came a cute little announcement of the birth of a little boy - - Richard Ripley - - on the 2nd of Oct. She is plain lucky to get just what she wanted - - a girl and a boy.

My school Volley-Ball games start this Tues. I think I have a fairly good team, but, of course, you never can tell until they come up against another team. We play a game every week for six weeks.

Have you heard about THE WEDDING next month? Kathie wrote me about it. Donald is to be married the Sat. of Thanksgiving week. I guess it is to be quite an affair, with a hotel reception and dinner after the wedding. It is at five o'clock with reception at six, so the dress will be formal. Kathleen very much wants me to go down to go with her, as the rest of the family is going down for Thanksgiving and she doesn't want to go alone. I don't know about it. Harold very much wants to go the Galesburg for Th--. His mother is to have a minor operation tomorrow morning - - some "female trouble", Grace says. Harold wants to go home and see how everything is. I may go to the wedding anyway. I wonder if Mother and Father will try to go. I suppose that by that time Father will have had his operation and will not be well enough to go.

Harold's sister, Grace, has been engaged since last Christmas and was married a few weeks ago. She is still working and they are living with the Newbergs.

What about the things we ordered from China? I suppose we will have to go without them. You said that you had some things that you were going to send - - some things that just came. I am anxious to get them and begin selling them.

Was I glad to get that box of linens from you!! Thanks you so much for sending them. I shall be careful of them and you send for them any time that you want them. I have already used some of them, and, judging from the compliments and praises on them, I ought to be able to sell lots like them

How is Aunt Grace now? I haven't heard anything about her since I left the East. At the time we left, she seemed to be failing pretty fast, mentally, at least. Does Uncle Oliver continue to improve?

Do you really think that you can use my old fur coat? It's yours if you can. I don't want to send it clear out there if you can't use it. I think there is enough good fur in it to make a short coat out of it if that is still what you want. I am not going to use it at all, but I shall wait for word from you to send it. Let me know right away if you want it.

How are you fixed for clothes for the winter. If I can help you at all, let me know. Do you need underwear? I can get some quite reasonable, I think, if the sale is still on.

If you are ever in New York and have any spare time, I wonder if you will go to Macy's and have them send me one of those vegetable grinders C.O.D. I sold mine to the folks at the farm and never did get another one. I would send for one, but I don't know just what to ask for. Maybe you can call them up from Aunt Molly's if you know the proper name for it. Thank you.

This is quite some letter for me to be writing on this thing. Now I'll have to look it over carefully for mistakes, since it is going to an "expert"!

Much love to all the folks there and much more for yourself. Tell Dorothy that I haven't forgotten that I owe her a letter. That was a nice letter that she wrote me.

Write again soon,

Dot.

BREAKFAST

: o :

Stewed Fruits

Orange Juice Apple Orange Figs
Watercress Spring Onion Garden Radish

1 Kelloggs Corn Flakes 2 National Zwieback Toast

3 Triscuits 4 Force

5 Snow Flake Oats 6 Cream Wheat

7 Fried Whiting with Lemon 8 Yarmouth Bloater

9 Chicken Liver and Bacon Brochette, Olive Sauce

10 Meat Curry and Rice

Potatoes, Boiled and Sauteed

11 Broiled Kamakura Ham 12 Breakfast Virginian Bacon

To Order from the Grill 5 or 10 minutes

13 Aitchbone Steak, Smothered Onion

14 Loin of Pork Chop, Apple Jelly

Scrambled Eggs:- 15 Fresh Tomato 16 Smoked Salmon

17 Chopped Ox Tongue 18 Mushroom 19 Green Peas

20 Lyonnaise and Plain

21 Poached Eggs in Fresh Milk and Plain

Omelets:- 22 Asparagus 23 Spinach 24 Striped Chicken

25 Shrimp 26 Cheese 27 Strawberry Jam and Plain

Eggs:- 28 Boiled 29 Fried 30 Turnover 31 Baked Eggs

32 Black Butter 33 Opera 34 Marengo and Eggs To Order

COLD MEAT

35 Roast Leg of Lamb 36 Corned Ox Tongue

(EXTRA) Misoshiru and Kazunoko

SWEET

37 Semolina Cakes with Honey or Maple Syrup

38 Ginger Snap 39 Hot Rolls

Brown Bread Toast Dry and Buttered

Jam Marmalade

Cracker Biscuits

Teas:- Green, China, Oolong, Lipton, Coffee, Cocoa, Chocolate, Kaffee Hag, Instant Postum and Ovaltine

M. S. "CHICHIBU MARU" Meridian Day, October 22nd, 1930.

Willard and Ellen returned to the U.S. on the Chichibu Maru in October of 1930.

M.S. "Chichibu Maru",
Suki-yaki Party.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Beard Van Andel.]

M.S. "Chichibu Maru",
Suki-yaki Party.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Beard Van Andel.]

[This letter, dated Nov. 4, 1930, was written by Ginny to Darling (Gould or Willard?). She refers to Willard's upcoming operation. Gould and Ginny are going to Cambridge, Mass. for the Harvard-Michigan football game. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Tuesday nite
11/4/30

Dear Darling-

You had better start right now to take a good long and deep breath for I am going to squeeze every bit of it out when I'm able to put my arms around you. For it is a long stored up hug.

Daddy your very welcome letter came to nite and we are so glad that you are as comfortable as your letter makes us feel you are. But we don't blame you a particle for wanting to get the operation over with as soon as possible and get rid of the nuisance.

We expect to see you for 15 min, Friday nite about 9 o'clock then we'll have to go on to Seymour and pick up my Dad and Mother and beat it for Putnam where we are staying over nite and then we are all going on to Cambridge the next morning for the Michigan-Harvard game. It is our one splurge this fall and we have looked toward it all fall. Then we'll be back in Shelton Sunday afternoon.

My Dears the Lacquer finally came through from the customs the first part of lat week and they certainly are beautiful and we re absolutely crazy about them. They came in perfect condition. There wasn't even a chip on a single piece.

Now we must slip into bed now for we're trying to get to bed before 10 every nite this week.

Until Friday nite.

Much Much Love
Ginny

[This letter, dated Nov. 4, 1930, was written by Gould to Willard and Ellen. Willard and Ellen are back in the U.S. for Willard's operation in New Haven. The airplane business is slow. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel, daughter of Willard F. Beard.]

[November 4, 1930]

Dear Father and Mother:

Your letter mailed from Frisco came tonite. Tomorrow we hope to talk to you in Shelton and Friday nite we will see you for a few minutes. We will be on our way to the Michigan –Harvard game at Cambridge.

I really have felt useless about helping you make plans for your operation. I supposed rightly that you would want it done in New Haven. Probably you will make arrangements thru Dr. ?? Smith or Uncle Stanley.

After you get on your feet again you and Mother must come down and spend some time with Ginny and me. We have a lovely little cottage rite by the side of the canal. We have it all settled and ready now for guests and the family. Ginny knows how to make a home a real little love nest. She's a little dear sweetheart.

The lacquer came a couple of weeks ago and we have admired it and had it admired ever since. We don't quite know whether the two sets of table[?] were most p?? or not. We think if you don't mind we will keep the round tray, the black bowl and the small blue vases as part of the wedding present.

The airplane business is as slow if not slower than the other manufacturing industries. I hardly have enough to keep me busy right now. We have one experimental plane that requires a little attention when the shop is not making changes on it.

Mother Dear, I don't know whether I have followed all your advice, but I'm quite sure I hav'nt made a complete mess of being a loving husband.

We'll see your soon,
Our love to you.
Gould.

[This letter dated Nov. 9, 1930 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. Dorothy and Kathleen were able to see Willard and Ellen in Toledo and found them to be looking in good health. Dot talks about getting Ellen a fur coat from everyone. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2108 No. Bond St.,
Saginaw, Mich.
Nov., 9, 1930.

Dear Jerry:-

By this time you have heard all about the very exciting reunion at Toledo, and have had yours at Shelton. Isn't it grand to see Father and Mother again, and to see them both so well- (compared to what I expected to see.) I was afraid they'd both look very much thinner and a little older, so it was a happy surprise to see them both so happy and well.

I'm terribly ashamed of myself for not getting that coat to you for this week-end when you were in Shelton. I sent it yesterday. I put a battery, for the little bug light I gave you last Christmas, in the pocket of the coat. You may not even have the rest of the light by now. How long does that little thing last? I don't want anything for the coat. I got my money's worth out of it alright. I certainly gave it lots of wear. I only hope that you find enough good fur in it to get a coat out of it. Let it be part of my Christmas present to you.

The new Hup performs to perfection and is very comfortable to ride in.

I haven't heard, before Kathie told me in Toledo, that you were playing cello in that trio with Dorothy. It must be heaps of fun.

I'll be glad to sell your linens and lacquers for you- that is, try to. Did Mother show you all that she brought to you? Aren't they pretty? Aren't you doing any selling at all now? If you aren't, I might be able to sell those that she brought. She told me that those linens that Gould thought might be his are the ones she sent you. Are you going to keep those, or send them to me, too? I was glad to get the tea, and have sold all but one of the medium boxes and the big boxes already. I think I can sell it all, so will wait and send the money altogether, or would you rather have me send some along now?

I would really love to go to Oberlin and to Don's wedding for Thanksgiving, but Harold is so anxious to go to Galesburg and I'm afraid will feel rather hurt if I don't go, too. The more I think of it, the more I want to go East for Christmas, since most of the family is going to be there. I'm game to try it in the car, but Harold is a little leery about that. Well, we'll see.

I thought of Gould and Ginney Sat. at the Howard game. I guess Gould was happy over the victory. We drove down to see the Mich.-Ill. game, and want to see Notre Dame play in Chicago on our way back from Galesburg on the Sat. of Thanks- week.

Thank you for sending Pearl's letter. It was interesting.

Kathie and I were talking about Don's wedding gift [Etta Kinney Hume's son, Donald married Helen Mitchell on November 30, 1930.]. What would you say to you two and us two giving them a pair of lacquer vases all together? Mother gave them Chinese linen. Would that be enough for them? I think so. If you have already sent all of your lacquers to me, I'll send it from here. If you haven't, you send it from there- from us four- providing you think that is O.K.

Also- how about us four giving something, together, to Leolyn [Leolyn 2nd]. Did you get an announcement? I don't know what Mother gave her- probably linen.

When I was in Toledo with Mother, I asked her if she'd like a fur coat. She intimated that she would. Do you suppose that it would be possible to interest enough of the family and relatives there in the East so that we could get Mother about a $100 fur coat, and Father a good heavy winter coat for Christmas. Fur coats are so low now, especially if you can find one that is a last year's coat and cut on straight lines rather than fitted. Mine is a really good coat for just $100. Ask Gould about it, and the Aunts. You and Kathie ought not to go in so heavy. If we could get enough, I'll like to get them as soon as possible, so that they can have them for all winter. Father whispered in my ear "If you get Mother a fur coat, I'll go in to the extent of $50. for both of them- not each- but both."

I'm trying to think about what Dorothy would like for her college room next year- for Christmas. What did she think of the towels? Were they a dumb gift? Last Christmas when Kathleen and Monnie were here, Kathie saw a cute little tea set with a tea-pot and six little cups (straight without handles) in a little gift shop, and was delighted with them. She got them for Gidge, for she said that they had nothing in the room to entertain with when they wanted to serve anything. I was in a cute little Japanese gift shop last night and saw a set very much like the one Kathie bought and wondered whether or not Dotty would use a think like that in her college room. Is there any way you could find out without her suspecting, or could you advise me by what you already know. Or is there anything that you know she wants? Please let me know as soon as you can.

How are we going to divide up the relatives this year? You ought not to take very many. I don't know how Kathie is fixed. Maybe we could get Mother and Father to help us out this year. I'm going to be able to do a little bit more this year because of my Christmas Club money. I just paid my last payment this week and now have $100. Altho if we go east and if we get those coats for Mother and Father, it will reduce that $100 considerably. Harold has $100, too and we won't be very likely to use all of it on his family, because there aren't so many.

Answer this P.D.Q. and very thoroughly please.

Love – Dot.

[This letter dated Nov. 20, 1930 was written from New Haven, Conn. hospital by Willard to Geraldine. Willard is undergoing bladder tests in the hospital. He will be operated on in the morning. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

New Haven Hospital
N. 2- Room 202
New Haven, Conn. Nov. 20th 1930

Dear Geraldine:-

Last evening I wrote you a postal- the nurse said she would see that it was mailed this morning. I can write with a pencil and write postals with little trouble. The letters I give to Mother when she comes in and she mails them. Your letter of yesterday was waiting for me as I came up from the Photograph Gallery. Dr. Denning sure is going to find out all there is to be known about my bladder and the adjacent organs. I put a sentence on the postal to the effect that he looked into the bladder yesterday. He put an electric light bulb right down into it. With mirrors he is able to see much of it. But he wanted to know if there were what are called pockets, pushed out by the distension caused by the obstructing prostate. So this morning he had an X-ray taken.

You write that you will send a draft to Ling Dai Mi. It will be better for him and for you to allow me to send him my private check- I agreed with him to do this. I shall send my private check made out to order and crossed so as one can get the cash on it and only the one to whom I make it out can deposit it and he must deposit in the H & S Bank in Foochow. So it is safe as anything can be in this world. I shall likely send it to Mr. McCann. Then Dai Mi will call on Mr. McCann and get his money. If you get a draft you will have to pay for Exchange. Instead of sending him a draft just send me your private check.

Please thank Uncle Raymond and Aunt Molly for their love. I'll sure be down to see them sometime if all goes well. I imagine that the operation will come sometime next week. I do not have any hope of being with you all at Century Farm for Thanksgiving in person. I'll be there in thought and spirit all right.

A good letter came from Dr. Mark H. Ward of the Board in Boston this morning. This is the fourth or fifth received from different ones there since getting home. Since we went to Foochow in 1894 there has been two turnovers (three turnovers) in the Board Rooms. When we went Dr. Nathaniel B. Clarke was the senior Secretary, with Dr. Judson Smith. Both those went. Mr. Langdon S. Ward was Treasurer and Mr. Swett business agent, both went then came Dr. Jas. L. Barton, Dr. Wm. E. Strong, Dr. Cornetius Patton Secretary. They have just been superannuated. Frank H. Wiggin Treasurer and John Hosmer business agent are gone. Now it is Fred Field Goodsall Executive Vice President and no Secretaries. Harvey L. Meeken Bus. Agent and Frederick A. Gaskins- so I am now corresponding with the third set of officers, since we were connected with the Board.

Last night was a beauty. Every time I awoke the stars twinkled to me telling me they were awake and watching over the world. I note that people are more warmly dressed as they walk along the street this morning.

11:45 a.m. Dr. Denning has just been in to say that with all his tests he can find nothing wrong with bladder and kidneys and he will operate tomorrow morning. As he left, his last words were "Everything is in your favor." It is just two months ago that I began to realize that this operation was necessary- and since then all our plans have been made looking forward to this. Looked at from one point- it is a tremendous expenditure of time, strength and money. Looked at from another point. What wonderful achievements men have been able to make under God's guidance in repairing the human body. Another fact has greatly impressed me- when one is in such a condition as I am, how it draws out the good will- the friendliness of everyone. Perhaps this is one of the ways that people keep good and kind and friendly, and it helps us when it is we that are laid up for repairs, to know that we are helping draw out the pent up good in others.

Yesterday afternoon Mother bro't in Gould's and Virginia's letter. My but it helps lots to get these letters and the calls. Will you forward this to Gould and Virginia please.

Lots of love to you and all
Father.

[This letter, dated Nov. 21, 1930, was written by Ginny (Virginia) to Ellen. Ginny is glad to hear that Willard is doing well and is looking forward to Thanksgiving. She refers to being happy over the prospects (she is pregnant). Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Friday nite
11/21/30

Dearest Mother-

I'm spending my first evening alone since we've been married. Pretty good I think. Honey has gone to a Masonic Banquet and meeting, so I am trying desperately to catch up on some of my long over due correspondence.

I wonder if you have even a fraction of an idea how thrilled, fascinated, and delighted I am with the tablecloth. It's just simply marvelous, and nothing less. I certainly will be one proud hostess when the occasion arises for me to grace my table with that beautiful cloth.

My but I'm glad to hear the good news about Daddy. He just has to come through with flying colors for he has so much to look forward to.

We're just counting the time till Thursday when we can see him and when we can all be together. It's going to be just loads of fun all sitting around one table for one great big very Thankful Thanksgiving.

We are picking Lillian up in Jamaica and Jerry in Mt. Vernon and bringing them both along. Will drop Jerry in Shelton but will spend the nite in Seymour for you will surely have a house full and then we'll be back sometime in the late morning. I have got to go see the Doctor sometime that morning, for I haven't seen him since we've discovered our secret.

Oh Mother, Honey and I are so Happy over the prospects. The more we think and talk about it the more delighted we are.

Goodnite and Sweet dreams.

Much Love
Ginny

[This letter dated Dec. 8, 1930 was written from the New Haven, Conn. hospital by Willard to Geraldine. Willard would like Geraldine to send him a Chinese jade breastpin for his caring nurse. He is pleased with all the visitors and letters and cablegrams he has received. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

N. 2. Room 202
New Haven Hospital
New Haven, Conn.
Dec. 8th 1930

Dear Geraldine-

If you still have those jade breastpins, will you select the least expensive one and get it to me- I want to remember Mrs. Meagher my nurse with some little token. She has been very faithful and her first tho't has been for me- since first she came. If she does not get all things ready to leave me for the night when 7 p.m. arrives, she stays till they are ready. She has been specially good about my meals.

All goes well as far as I can make out from doctors and nurses. I have a little faint hope of spending next Sunday at Shelton- I have not dared express it.

I hope you are at work on your new job and that you like it. Where will you live?

I suppose the simplest way to get that little pin to me is to put it in a little box and mail it.

Tuesday a.m.

Who do you suppose called Sunday? - Mr. and Mrs. Space. And who yesterday? Cousin Vinnie and Lu Turner and Mrs. Taintor, but its nice to have these surprises. People are good and kind and thoughtful.

Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary are taking turns staying with Uncle Oliver. I marvel at the way those two girls get around to help people and bring sunshine into so many lives. That is a very real way of expressing Jesus to people. [Oliver's wife, Grace Gilbert Beard, has probably died by this time.]

Yesterday I received two cablegrams from Foochow- from former students. On Dec. 6 a new cable was opened between China and the U.S. and the Chinese had the privilege of sending 25 words free. Three of my former students availed themselves of the opportunity. Mother replied to the first one and I know the young man was tickled pink to get the answer. Mother got a lot of information about me into it- the first information about me to reach Foochow since we got to San Francisco.

I'm doing finely tell everybody

Lovingly

Father

[This letter, dated Dec. 10, 1930, was written from Amityville, NY by Gould and Ginny to Ellen. He tells Ellen when radio broadcasts are made to Canada for Monnie. He says that their secret is not a secret anymore (the pregnancy). Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

P.O.B. 517.
Amityville, L.I., N.Y.
Dec 10, 1930.

Dear Mother:

We wrote to find out when the Xmas messages are broadcasted to the north. Send a short message to Canadian Westinghouse Co. Ltd., P.O.B. 390, Montreal, Canada. It should be there not later than the 21st as they have to pick their time, usually 11-12 p.m. Saturday nite or Xmas nite. They send it gratis.

You forgot to send fathers glove size. Could you please just drop us a card with it on as Ginny wants to shop Monday. We have divided the families as follows.

Gould and Ginny- Aunt Flora, Uncle Stanley and Aunt Myra, Edith, Uncle Oliver and Aunt Grace, Leolyn and Fred.

Harold and Dot- Aunt Phebe, Uncle Elbert, Stephen, Wells, Uncle Ben and Aunt Abbie

Gerry and Kathleen- Aunt Mary, Nancy, Ruth, Dan, Aunt Emma

I will send either you or Uncle Stanley a check for our share of Aunt Floras quilt. Dot and Harold we are getting a piece of table silver in their pattern. For Kathleen we are putting in with Gerry and the rest in the suit case. Gerry we are getting underwear or we think she needs clothes.

Last year Aunt Etta asked us not to give to their family so they would not feel obliged to return any gifts. Unless we hear different we will do the same this year.

You may tell the little secret now for it is no longer a secret. How is father now? Do you think he can come home soon? Ginny feels a little better these days and I hope the rest of the time won't bother her so much.

Give our love to Father and all our love to you-
Gould and Ginny.

[This letter dated Dec. 10, 1930 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. She mentions Jerry's new job at the New York library. She and Harold enclose an accounting of the Chinese things that were sold and not sold. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Saginaw, Mich.
Dec., 10, '30

Dear Jerry:-

Kathleen did send on your letter about your new job. It sounds very interesting. The New York Library sounds like about as attractive a place to work in, as you could find.

This letter will have to be short as I haven't much time, so I'll get right to "business".

Enclosed you'll find a list of all the things you sent and what is sold and what is not sold. Harold is my secretary-treasurer and I'm the sales-lady. He has it all down in black and white, and has written a check for what we have collected. We thought you might be able to use the money at this season of the year. We are still trying to sell as much as we can before Xmas. I know I can sell more tea. About the tea- I have always sold the small boxes for 50 cents. Some of your small boxes came marked 40 cents. Aunt Mary's came marked 65 cents. What's the idea? Is there more tea in some of the boxes than in others, or is it the difference in lacquered and plain boxes or what? I'm selling them all for 50 cents and making up the difference, for fear the people won't understand the change of price- since I don't understand it myself. I'll hold the tea and sell it as I can.

Lillian Ryman said that she and her sister would be interested in the big grass linen dinner cloth and napkins at $35. From the way she said it, I took it that she was pretty sure of taking, so will you please send it.

I'll wait to hear from you as to whether or not I shall send the lavender flower bowl to Leolyn. I'll send you the money for both gifts together soon.

Let's get Mother a cloth coat with real pretty fur trimming for Xmas. Do you think she could get a good one for $50? If so, I'll put in $20. I guess Father would put in that much. Or I'll go $15., Father $15, and each of you and Gould and Punk $5. Is that O.K.? If we aren't getting a fur coat, we can keep it in the immediate family, can't we? I just don't know what to get for Father. I guess I'll write Mother, and you write Aunt Phebe. Yes, you get K.'s suit-case.

Is it surely settled that Mother and Father are going to take care of all of the Aunts and Uncles?- with us? That is, do we include their names on our cards for the children, and vice versa? If we are taking just the children, we'll let Gould take Uncle Stanley's children, Dan and Wells, you take Uncle Raymond, Aunt Molly, and Roger, (you take Edith Louise, too.) since you are staying there. Kathleen wants to take Aunt Etta, Uncle W. and Millie. I'll take Don, Myron and Fulton and Dotty. I think I shall give something to the Farm Aunts for being so kind to us in the summer. I feel, too, as if I still owed them lots for our wedding. Enclosed is a list of the above.

I told you that the dress was your last year's Xmas present. Isn't there any big thing you want this Christmas.

If Gould and Ginny are really thinking of getting an electric washer, let's give them money toward that.

I'm afraid you'd better not count on us for Christmas. We don't want to drive so far at such an uncertain time of the year- for weather. I don't know that I'd feel at all safe on the bus either, and the train is too expensive- so I guess we'd better stay home and save money to pay for the car. It'll be a lonely Christmas. I wonder if Punk will go East anyway, or whether she'll come up here. Our Christmas party is dwindling down- from five- to four- to three. Next year it'll probably be just us two, unless perhaps we have a new-comer in our family.

I went to hear Commander Byrd [Richard E. Byrd, who flew over the North Pole in 1926] lecture last night. His talk and the movies he showed- together with the other picture we saw in the summer time gave quite a complete account of the whole trip.

Much love-
Dot.

Written in album: "Fred 1929 Leolyn" [Leolyn 2nd will be marrying Fred Griffiths]
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

This photo may be of Geraldine while she was working at the New York Library. It is on a piece of photo paper that is in the shape of a bookmark.
[From the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter, dated Dec. 14, 1930, was written from Amityville, NY by Gould to Ellen. He asks what his father's glove size is. Ginny is feeling nausea from the pregnancy. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

P.O.B. 517
Amityville, L.I. N.Y.
Dec 14, 1930

Dear Mother:

Just a short note to ask you again whether we are to send you or Uncle Stanley the money for Aunt Flora's quilt. We are still waiting for Father's glove size, but Ginny is going into N.Y. tomorrow and will get size 8 and will change them if necessary. Dot and Harold, Gerry, Kathleen and ourselves have got all the relatives- aunts, uncles, cousins and adopted relatives divided up for Xmas. We have had quite a time doing it.

Lillian spent the week end with us as our first week end guest in this house. She survived sleeping in our attic so I guess it is not so bad after all.

It snowed here for the first time this winter. It was wonderful for duck hunting today. In a light snow the ducks can't see so well as they fly. We rested all day today getting over a very strenuous week and Ginny needs the rest.

Ginny sleeps plenty these days. She is still bothered by nausea a little and her stomach doesn't feel so good any time, but she doesn't complain at all. She's a dear little one.

My love to you and father
Lovingly, Gould

[This letter dated about Dec. 15, 1930 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. She talks about Christmas gifts and wedding gifts. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[About Dec 15, 1930]

Dear Jerry:-

I'm so glad you sent a set just like the lantern one I sold before. Now my next door neighbor is happy. She hated to see the other one go. The other set was snapped up just as quickly. For the rest, I think I shall wait till after Christmas, because everybody is so busy and so poor.

About your note- please don't feel that you have to hurry about paying it. It's my own loan, and I have enough so that I can wait a year or so more. I'd much rather see you get up on your feet again and get something to live on. Furthermore, I don't want you to pay interest on that money.

I'm not going to take any commission on these things until I find some set or piece of lacquer that I especially want. I'll put my commission on that, if it's ok with you that way.

I'm anxiously awaiting tomorrow and Fri. to come to see if the grass linen set comes. I'm quite sure the Ryman girls will take it.

I'm sending a check for our share of Don's and Leolyn's gifts. Now, are we square on all the gifts.

I am getting and sending Mother's bag from you, Kath. and us. We'd better let the coat go. I see you said for me to cancel what I owe on the gifts ($4.00) and what you are sending on Gould's gift that I owe you. I haven't got Mother's bag yet, but will take your share of that out of the $5. and send you the rest later- O.K.? That ought to make us square.

Gould wrote me that they wanted money for a silver set, so I'll tell them that our gift is for either a washer or silver.

I'm glad you're so nicely located both as to work and as to room. I'm so sorry about the coat, altho I was afraid it wouldn't be much good. They say some places give very good trade in values on old coats for new fur coats. How I wish we could be with you for Xmas.

Love - Dot.

[This letter dated Dec. 28, 1930 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. Kathleen spent Christmas at Dot and Harold's house. Dot thanks Jerry for the Christmas money and tells what other gifts they received. Radio station KDKA broadcasted messages to Monnie in Canada over the Christmas holidays. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2108 No. Bond St.,

Saginaw, Mich.
Dec. 28, 1930.

Dear Jerry:-

I don't know why, but somehow this year it didn't seem like Christmas at all. I generally begin to feel Christmasy when I start out to buy presents, but this year even when we opened our presents none of us felt as tho it were really Christmas. Poor Kathleen had opened most of her presents in Oberlin, so she had only a couple of three to open here.

We all were in Shelton in spirit, I guess, more than here. You must have had a really jolly time all together. We can't wait to hear all about it. It's too bad that you couldn't stay more than the one day.

We had our usual large tree in the same corner of our front room. I don't believe I could ever get along without a tree. Roast duck was on our menu for the Christmas dinner. We finished him in soup tonight.

Our gift from you and Kathleen couldn't have pleased us more. With the $5 and the six dollars that came from Galesburg, and the $15 extra that Uncle Elbert gave using the summer to add to our wedding gift, we are going to get salad forks and two more knives and forks for our set, so we'll have eight of everything. My, I'm real tickled about that. Gould and Ginny gave us a pie knife in our set- the very "extra piece" that I wanted. Now when I get the butter spreaders and the soup spoons, I think I'll have all I care for in the set. One or two more extra pieces like the carving set and the little sugar tongs are all the extras that I'd make much use of. Gould said something about wanting money for silver. What set are they starting, and how much have they?

Harold and I are both much pleased with our special little gifts from you- the writing equipment. Harold wonders if his is a hint. Just now he's being a very good boy and doing the Sunday night dishes so that Kathleen and I can write letters. We were all so tired today that we lay down and slept for almost three hours. It seems so good to be able to sleep in the mornings. Poor Jerry isn't getting that luxury this year, are you?

Did yours and Gould's gift arrive at the farm in time for Christmas?

Harold and I got for gifts- a sofa cushion, nuts from Uncle Elbert, a Chinese copper dish from Mother and Father; Harold got one tie; I got a Roseville pottery vase from my Parent's gym class, a "press-pad" - (one of those pads you write on then press a button and it vanishes) - and two paper doilee luncheon sets from Aunt Molly, six handkerchiefs, a pair of little knitted socks to go over shoes when you're travelling, from Eleanor Carpenter, a little glass dish with a pewter tray from the farm (Harold got canned fruit last summer for his gift from the farm.), a box of Christmas cookies from the same girl who brings them every year, a box of fancy soap, and a pair of green silk set-ins. Both Aunt Emma and Dottie Bodman wrote that their gifts would be late.

We didn't hear that K.D.K.A. [Pittsburgh radio station] was going to broadcast messages to the North on Christmas Eve instead of Christmas night, so we didn't even tune in on Christmas Eve and sat up till they said "Good Night" on Christmas night- so- we missed it. But - last night- (Sat.) Kathleen and I stayed up and listened for messages. We were thrilled to pieces when we heard two messages read to our Monnie- one from Virginia and the other from Aunt Mary and Uncle Oliver. We also heard two to Dr. and Mrs. Paddon. I hope the message that we three sent gets in on the New Year's night broadcast. Isn't that a wonderful thing! I should think those people up there would just be so thrilled to get those messages. We ought to plan to have a message from somebody to Monnie in every broadcast.

We went to see Jackie Coogan in "Tom Sawyer" the other day. It was good, but Jackie isn't half as cute, of course, as he was in his little boy pictures.

Harold says to tell you that "business is slack" right now. You see pocket-books are pretty slim right after Christmas, and, too, people have other things to think about during the holiday season. We'll "get going" again as soon as everybody gets back into their regular routines again. Mr. and Mrs. Lappinem were in to lunch yesterday, and she took that small lunch set with the big bunch of flowers in the corners. It was an $8.00 set, but I took $.50 off for her, for she wanted it very much and felt as tho she couldn't afford it. I'll take that out of my commission. She wanted it on "time payment", so I told her I'd forward the money to you, and she could pay me anytime between now and the time school closes. The other large lunch set with the pagoda pattern came minus a price tag. We found the little thread that held a tag once, but the tag was gone. Do you remember, or do you have it down, so that you know how much it is? If you do know, please let me know right away, because everybody loves that set, and some are really interested in buying it.

I'm planning to have a bridge party, and invite some of the teachers and other girls that Kathleen knows. That comes this week some time. I wish you were here. All the girls have asked about you and Monnie.

Many more thanks for the silver dollars and the correspondence cards and letter paper, and much love.

Harold and Dot.

Write us soon, and let us know all about your Christmas.

1931

- Mukden Incident begins Japanese occupation of Manchuria
- Star Spangled Banner becomes official National Anthem
- Hazel Ellen Beard was born July 9, 1931 to Gould and Virginia. They live in New York.
- Kathleen leaves to teach in Logan, Utah
- Willard and Ellen leave for China in September
- Marjorie is teaching in Labrador, Canada
- Geraldine is in Long Island, New York working in the New York Library
- Dorothy and Harold are teaching in Saginaw, Michigan
- Willard is 66, Ellen- 63, Gould- 35, Geraldine- 33, Dorothy- 30, Marjorie, 25, Kathleen- 23.

[This letter, dated January 7, 1931, was written from Seymour, Conn. by Ginny to Willard and Ellen. She is visiting in Seymour with her parents while business keeps Gould away. She copies some excerpts about Gould's work from some of his letters. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

129 W. Church St.
Seymour, Conn.
January 7, 1931

Dearest Father and Mother-

You see I'm still here and there is a possibility that I may continue to be so for another week or two weeks. It's fun being home and able to see so many of my friends but I do wish Honey would get back. I miss him so that it's almost agony. However I shouldn't say a word for if this trip really brings the company some good business or even leads up to some fairly soon, I shan't begrudge one minute of his absence. And he has been perfectly Darling. He has only missed writing me about three nites since he left Christmas eve and that is more often than he has ever written me in his life.

I talked to Aunt Mary Monday nite hoping to get either one of you for I wanted to give you the latest from Gould I don't know whether he has written you or not so will re-write the newsy parts of his letter.

January 8th

I had another letter this morning so will have even more news.

Written Jan 2
Telling of trip out.

We had clear sailing against a 27 mile head wind in rough air until we reached Butler Airport, North of Pittsburg. We gassed up and started for Dayton. Shortly after leaving the Ohio River we struck light snow and it stayed with us till we reached Columbus. We landed at Dayton a few minutes before dark.

Yesterday I slept and went out to a friend of Mr. Beals (his mechanic) for dinner.

Also written Jan. 2nd

This begins to look like a long siege than I had at first thought. There are rumors of going on to Cincinnati and Indianapolis after we get thru here, which will probably be a week and a half or two weeks. Mr. Dickman (Gould's boss) doesn't know himself just what to plan on until he finds out how the Army receives our ship.

This morning we were out bright and early but there wasn't much doing and we spend most of the time trying to inveigle the officers into taking a good look at our ship. Tomorrow we wheel it out for its first flight by the Army.

Written Jan. 3rd.

I guess I'm stuck here till the ship comes home. That probably means a whole week at the least. There is really no work to this. It is a diplomatic job and one I am little accustomed to doing. Perhaps it will lead to something better for the future. Today I have been circulating around thru the various departments meeting the various officers and civilians who may come into contact with our ship. The ship was flown for the first time today which means at least a start. The army takes things very easily during peace times. None seem anxious to fly our funny ship. I mean the test pilots, for all flying to them is work and they don't like to work. If we civilians did as little work as these army boys (most of them) we'd be fired before we came into the front door. There is impossible way of nussling the army so we have to sit still and let them take their own sweet time. I think the first tests and pilot's observations came out pretty fair and I have every faith that they will like our ship to place an order for four or five of them perhaps ten. Of course there will be modifications and criticisms, but the first impressions are very good so we have hopes. At least we have had no very vicious kidding that often meets the submission of a new plane brought here for test.

The other nite (I think he means New Years nite) we were over at the home of a friend of Mr. Beals. They tuned in on the police calls to the cruising cars in Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis etc. We even got Boston. It was an eye opener. Every minute we got some order sent to some police cruiser to go to some address and stop a fight, or man beating his wife, or suspicious character hanging around, or suicide attempted or man dead etc. They got the calls on that part of the dial clear above the numbers in the higher Keto[?] cycles as far as they could turn the dial up. Then later in the nite the faster they came.

Written Jan 5th

This evening Mr. Dickman took me to Capt. Hill's house for a little visit which proved to be very nice indeed. Today was spent in studying various things in the line of equipment and ornaments and instruments they have here, and in making better acquaintance with various officers around the field. It all adds to the prestige in the game and is very well worth while!

This last came this morning. I do hope this trip gets them somewhere in the business producing line for the company. I've been trying to get some much needed sewing done and am getting there. However not as fast as I had hoped. There seems to be so many people to see and things to do. I've been to New Haven visiting and shopping since. Been to the Dentist and had a good cleaning and thorough examination but he found no cavities at all or gum disorders. I'm coming up again in April or May to let him give them the once over and be sure that they are standing up well during this rather critical period for them. Have seen Doctor once and everything is O.K. which is what I expected.

I have one orange Russian blouse and brown satin skirt to go with it all made and worn once. A yellow crepe back satin blouse to wear with my suit about half done. I've got two little house dresses to make and two slips and two other house dresses to alternate in one way or another and then I think I'll be through such sewing for a while.

Daddy how are you feeling now? Still making good progress I hope.

Much Love

Ginny

Gould's address is Hotel Van Cleve

Dayton, Ohio Room 806

I just love to wear my lovely beads. They go so well with many of my things and the water color will go beautifully between the windows in our living room if I ever get back to get things put away and put up and taken down. Our tree still stands as far as I know.

Lovingly Ginny

[This letter dated Jan. 8, 1931 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to her sister, Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen was at Dot and Harold's house for Christmas and will be looking for a teaching job when she gets out of school. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2108 No. Bond St.,
Saginaw, Mich.,
Jan., 8, 1931.

Dear Jerry:-

Kathleen left Monday morning at 6:45, or rather, 7:15 by bus- the same day that the Frish.[?] at your house left. Was it hard to get up at 6:00 A.M., after being used to snoozing till 9:30, or ten every morning during vacation! You remember how it was! Kathleen and I got up first in time to have our breakfast with Harold's lunch almost every day.

I guess we did less this vacation, than any others past. We just sat around and rested, ate, slept and did much visiting (with each other.) I had two married couples in to lunch one day and it took us the whole day for just that. We cleaned and got lunch in the morning and the company stayed till about 5:30. We ate supper and it took us a good share of the evening to clean up after the big day. Grace Bray had us over to a bridge party later on in the vacation; and that was the extent of our social doings. I was going to have a bridge party for some of the teachers that were in town, but somehow neither of us felt at all like having it, and you know how Kathleen resents things like that - especially since she was here alone, so I just let it go. K. did lots of practicing, some studying and some sewing. I got lots of sewing and darning done and just about had a regular spring house-cleaning one day. Got lots of little odd jobs done around the house, that have been accumulating for a long time.

We went to see Jackie Coogan in "Tom Sawyer, saw two basketball games that Harold played in and went again to the U.W. on New Years' day to the open house.

Both Sat. nights we were thrilled by hearing the messages to Monnie- the last time ours was read. We heard the New Year's messages but not the Christmas Eve ones, for we tho't they were going in Christmas Night.

The second Sun. morning K. and I went over to the Cong'l church to hear friend Thornton preach. He did remarkably well, I tho't. When I went up to speak to him after the service, he didn't even recognize me, and when I told him who I was and where I met him, I think it took him a little while even then to place me but when I left he said "Good-by, Dottie". He came over last night to speak at our athletic banquet and gave a most interesting talk on Athletics and Religion. Really, he held those youngsters quite spell-bound. He looks just the same as when we knew him, only a little fleshier. He looks very young to be at the head of a large church like that, but seems to have boundless enthusiasm, and the pep natural to youth. He told me last night that he had been skating five times since he'd been here. His brother, Paul, is working in Birmingham- just out of Detroit. Do you remember him? Thornton has had some mighty interesting experiences, - running in some National and International races, travelling abroad in the interests of his work, etc. I think he went to Eng. on the Cong'l tour last year.

You asked what we should get for Father for his birthday. Aunt Mary wrote that Father had bought a new over-coat, so let's get him a good hat (if he doesn't get it himself) or a good watch chain. Does he need a suit of clothes? Maybe we could help him out on that. I'll write Mother and see which would be best.

About Kathie- I'm not so terribly worried about her. She talked with me quite a bit about Hugh. She does love him very much, but from the way she talks, her love isn't the proverbial "blind" love. She sees his faults, and has thought about some of the drawbacks of marrying him, but I think she is pretty level-headed about it all. She says that he has asked her for an answer, but she is quite decided that she will not give a definite answer till she has been out away from Oberlin and him awhile, and until he has graduated and gotten into some line of work. I think she shows a bit of wisdom there. She kept saying she just didn't know whether she really wanted to marry him. She feels that she couldn't find anybody that would be more devoted and faithful to her, and I imagine that's true. I think her greatest fear is what the family and relatives would think of him. That very tactless remark of Aunt Myra's about his being small and red haired, or whatever she said, still lies heavy on her heart. She asked me one time how Gould and Harold got along. When I said they seemed to like each other very much and got along well together she said, "That's one trouble, I just don't know how Gould would take Hugh. I don't think he'd like Hugh's type." Poor girl, she's in more or less of an upheaval on that point, altho she says she's been so happy this year and has had a grand time. (Please don't say anything to K. about this until you see her and talk to her yourself.)

About when she gets out- she has joined one or two agencies and has written some letters in hopes of getting some kind of a teaching position. She hasn't enough education to teach in either Ohio or Mich., so she thinks she'll go right East and stay with Mother and Father until she gets something. If she doesn't get anything within a month, she thinks she may take a short business course- I don't know what for. She made a casual remark one day- "Wouldn't it be funny if I were up with Monnie next Christmas?". Not a bad idea- if Monnie really likes it- eh?

Kathleen finishes in about two weeks, and we have invited her and Hugh up here for their intersemester vacation, and start K on East from here. She wrote today that they were really considering, so she may be back here in a little while. I hope they don't give it up.

Yes, K. told me about Myron's [Cousin Myron - Etta Kinney Hume's son] break with Betty. Is he going with anybody else?

I'm so sorry that you didn't see Mother's bag. I don't even know whether she herself has seen it, for I've had no word from either of them since Christmas. I'm especially anxious to hear whether she likes her's for I want to change it right away if she doesn't. I think it's a beauty, and I'm so anxious to hear how you like it.

How provoking to think you and Gould haven't yet got your gifts. I could kick myself for not getting them off earlier. How do I know whether or not they even reached the farm? I had them insured and am still holding onto the receipt to hear whether they reached their destination. I'll send a tracer if somebody doesn't write about them soon. I'm terribly anxious to hear how you like your gifts. From the list of things you got, I guess our gift won't be a duplicate.

I guess you're right. I owe you $5 and will send it real soon. Pay day this Fr. you see.

Kathleen was muchly interested in why you left Aunt Mollie's. She thought maybe she got on your nerves too much, or did something that made you feel you were no longer wanted there, I believe. How about it? Do you like it lots better where you are now?

Do you have any idea how long you will be in your present work? Do you plan to go back to teaching soon?

Milo and Niva Bugbee were in Saginaw for part of the vacation. They and Mabel popped in on us at about 3 o'clock on New Year's day just as we were finishing our first course of chicken. The steamed carrot pudding had to wait till they left.

Our Christmas tree is still up and is dropping hardly at all. It is a beautiful tree.

Write soon again,

Lots of love - Dot.

[This letter dated Jan. 1931 was written from Oberlin, Ohio by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen talks about looking for a future job while between semesters. She feels that her feelings for Hugh are stronger. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

263 W. College
Oberlin Jan. 1931

Dear Jerry-

That is the best letter I have had from you in ages, and it surely sounded a harmonious note. I'm so glad that you are finding such real joy in your work and hope you are thriving on it. Are you staying permanently with the Vails or just while you are working for him?

I am sending the suitcase with the little one inside by express today. I hate to make you the trouble of going back to change it but I think you will agree with me that it is a little bigger than is convenient to lug around much, especially with a little bag to carry in addition. Well, I'm not particular about the match, so long as the leather and the size are right. I am leaving here in two weeks so I'll want it pretty soon.

My plans aren't definite yet, and I sort of feel at sea, but Dot and Harold very much want me to come up for a while between semesters after exams and Hugh will probably go to. Then I guess the Farm will be my destination, about the tenth of Feb. I will certainly plan on stopping with you for a day and want to do some job hunting in the city too. Do you know of any agencies or organization offices to visit? I am making my attack on private schools just now but realize all too well that it serves only as a random effort to satisfy my desire to be active toward something. I'm afraid I'm going to have to camp on someone for a while, but am not sure who the poor one is just yet.

You asked about Enid's husband [Enid Elmer sister of Hugh Elmer]. I saw so little of him that I would not like to give a definite impression but he seemed like a very interesting young man. He owns in partnership a pool room and barber shop, but neither are doing well now on account of bad business. They are living in the same house as the partner and his family, to save rent and must be rather crowded. The baby [Rollin H. McNutt, born July 12, 1930] is perfectly darling, and just as fat and good natured as can be. We had such fun playing with him. Enid and Rolin [Rollin McNutt] seemed very happy from what I could tell, and they were mighty good to us while I was there.

Hugh continues to grow in favor and I have come to feel that I really love him a lot, but still am a little uncertain about the future. My guess is that I will end up by marrying him, but I know he will not be enthusiastically accepted by all my various relations. Mother does not favor him, I know, and he is not one that shows his best side first, but if I find that my love for him continues as strong as it is now, that will not stand in my way. He has a heart worth a million, and there is much that we can enjoy in common. I have changed my mind about his intellectual tranquillity, for he has proved to be a most stimulating arguer on lots of subjects and really thinks much more deeply and originally than I do. If he can only get started in something that he is deeply interested in and can succeed in, he will not stop anywhere. It is going to be awfully hard to leave him but it will be the acid test.

Last Saturday we went in to German Opera and saw Wagner's Gotterdammerung which I have been studying in Music. It was most interesting to see the production after learning nearly all of it by heart, and I got just oodles more out of it than any other opera. Hugh was enthusiastic about the last act but didn't like the first two so well.

Exams are upon us again and I am up to my nose in work. I'm finishing school with a bang.

Lots of love
Kathie

Pearls address
124 Stuyvesant Place
St. George
Staten Island
N.Y.

KATHLEEN C. BEARD
Music

Kathleen's senior photo in the 1931 Oberlin College Hi-O-Hi yearbook
[Hi-O-Hi from the collection of Mark and Jana Jackson-purchased from ebay.]

[This letter dated Feb. 1931 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, Conn. by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerrabee (Geraldine). She thanks Geraldine for helping her find agencies for teaching jobs. The association that Marjorie works for in Canada has encouraged Kathleen to apply to go work alongside Marjorie. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Tuesday
[Feb. 1931]

Dear Jerrabee:

That was a quick communication after my leaving and swelled my mail this morning to the sum of five letters. I guess you won't be lonely long with all the going that you do, but I know how hard it is to go back to routine after someone leaves. We did have a grand time didn't we? And we did enough to fill three weeks instead of four days. It was loads of fun but we couldn't keep it up long at a time. Thanks muchly for guiding me in looking for agencies. I would have felt absolutely lost without you to help me. I wouldn't be surprised if I was down there again soon for after talking with Uncle Oliver and the Aunts I rather lose hope. However I am going into New Haven with Father Thursday and can tell better then.

Do tell Mrs. Vail again how much I enjoyed being with them that little while. It is good to find an alumna who is still so interested and so well in touch with the Alma Mater. I liked the whole family so much and just hope I wasn't a nuisance. I do believe I forgot to say goodbye to Mr. Rogers and Aunt Nettie. Give them both my regards and I hope I'll see them again soon.

Bravo for making the decision on Dot's gift and I'm so glad it will arrive on or very near the day [probably Dot's birthday on Feb. 26]. Mother doesn't take to the idea- thinks it foolish. But she has some silly desires too. I see that I am in no position to get it here just now and appreciate your promptness. Am enclosing my share of it and keep the change, you deserve it. I don't happen to have any single bills in my purse. I hope this reimbursement will carry my poor poverty stricken sister thru the month. Wait till I get to making 200 a week and I'll send you more copious resources. Ha, ha.

You know I left my filing apparatus with you and my claws are getting dangerous. Not that I can't borrow one but my own is best. If you will send it along in your next letter I guess no harm will be done here. It's on the little shelf of you bureau I think.

"De head man" of the Grenfell Ass. wrote me a very special letter today urging me to apply. They have now heard of Betty's leaving and he says that the cooperation of two sisters would be very good for the school. Ahem! He also said Marjorie had done very good work there so far.

We made butter yesterday which was very interesting. Mrs. Space also called and I see now why we couldn't find Lillian [Lillian Space – she is the twin sister of Gould's wife, Virginia Space]. She was sick and went home that day.

That unsigned message was from Mother and she said all their messages were bungled terribly.
Much love from all of us – Kathie

P.S. Mother found the linens and will send them soon. The pond is frozen so come on up and we'll have a skate. I wasn't a bit stiff or sore, were you?

[This letter dated March 9, 1931 was written from Putnam, Conn. by Kathie (Kathleen) to Gerrabinee (Geraldine). Kathleen is looking for a job. She took Willard and Ellen to see their first talkie, "Abraham Lincoln". Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Putnam, Conn.
March 9 [1931]

Dear Gerrabinee:

Father just sent you a letter but I want to get in my little word too. Are Mrs. Vail and the children still there or have they gone South? If they are staying South long it would be a good time for me to visit you while they are gone wouldn't it? But I'm staying here at least until April 7 anyway. We are having lots of fun here and are planning several trips. I may even go up to Wellesley to see Peg and Van.

I don't believe I ever acknowledged receipt of your check. You were a rascal to send it for I owed you double every cent, but I won't send it back if you promise not to send me any more. Father says he will lend me all I need until I get a job(???) But I really am trying every place I know. I went to New Haven to the Y.W. and the school Superintendent both of whom sympathetically told me that nothing was doing. Then I looked in Hartford the other day when we passed thru. The city Sup. wouldn't see me unless I had a state certificate, so I trotted up to the State Board of Ed. for that and am now making out my application. Lets hope that will help me if I can get it. I am also answering ads in the Boston paper but have heard nothing yet. A job in the Bank house for children sounded interesting. If you see any governess adds or other interesting ones in N.Y. papers will you sent them up?

When in New Haven I looked up Shirley Harvey and made a date with her for lunch the following Saturday. She had a half day off so we spent it together talking over old times and new times. Her experiences are fascinating but deliver me from nursing. She doesn't like the East as well as the Middle west and is rather anxious to get home, but she says the work is no harder than college work. It was lots of fun exchanging news on our class mates and reading letters. She wanted to be remembered to you.

Father told you about seeing the Talkie "Abraham Lincoln" in Derby. It was very very good and I was so glad that they saw it for their first one. There was almost no loving in it and it was historically true, which cut a lot of ice with Mother. I felt indeed honored to be able to take them to their first talkie and we sat far enough forward so that they could hear perfectly. They both enjoyed it greatly but when the comedy came on they were shocked. I should have taken them right out, but Mother insisted that she wanted to see the part of the picture that we missed and I, forgetting that it was a matinee, sat back and laughed at the jokes- some of them. Even Mother laughed, and quite often too.

Is the chair that I broke mended yet- or discarded? That was a terrible brake! The trouble of it is that I repeated my stunt here. I merely sat on the bed here and it collapsed with me. The folks were all downstairs and when the crash came they rushed up in anxious excitement for fear I had fainted (??). A big laugh went up when they saw the bed. Uncle E. fixed it with a wooden box. I'm too heavy for old furniture I see.

We want to know who Monnie's "Stranger friend" is. Did you listen to the last broadcast? Then tell us who "Gazelle" is or isn't that it? We must send Monnie more messages. Where have yours been lately?

Well, I'm working awfully hard- doing nothing, so I have lots to write about.

Mush luf too u

Kathie

[This typewritten letter dated March 22, 1931 was written "at home" by 27 year old Myron (Hume) to his cousin Jerry (Geraldine). He has been ill and missed many classes in school. He is hoping to find a church to be a student pastor. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

At Home

March 22, 1931

Dear Jerry,

Your cheery and therefore most welcome letter of the 8th of the month is on the table before me. What a bold, legible hand you write! Surely no difficulty in reading it. Your letter was newsy too. I was frankly interested in all you had to tell about the visit of your Father and Mother and Kathleen, about the brief but exciting chat you had with Ernie and Ruth Edmunds upon their return from Scotland, about hearing Pres. Wilkins at the Oberlin banquet, etc. By the way, I hope you enjoyed your 12 lecture course under Laki. You ended your letter with your sincere wishes that I'd soon be my old self again.

I'm pleased to report, Jerry, that I am quite my old self again. Indeed, I have been feeling so well of late that 10 days ago I flirted a bit with the idea of returning to school. I realized that I had missed six weeks of lectures, yet I felt sure that by getting them from some of the students in the courses I should elect, by staying there and studying during the Easter vacation, and by attempting no outside church work I felt, I say, that I could successfully pass the exams at the end of the semester, and could, therefore, get credit for the semester's work. I didn't know whether "the powers that be" at Union would agree to it or not; but I saw no harm in trying. I did write to Pres. Coffin, and he conferred with Sec'y Tryon, but they both did not see how I could make up six weeks of lost work. Anyway, they didn't see how an attendance at only the remaining lectures could yield me credit for a full semester's work. Well, a kind but rather final reply for Pres. Coffin punctured that bubble. I'm still convinced that I could pass all the exams in May. Even so it would possibly be unwise to attempt so much so soon after a recovery from the condition I found my self in.

Since the realization that I could not return to school I have been quite vigorous in my efforts to get a church as soon as possible. I wrote to Dr. Frank L. Moore in Chicago who has oversight of all the home missions work of the Congregational Board west of the Mississippi, explained that I had to drop out of school because of a temporary failure in health, but that I had not quite recovered and was looking for a church. He thought there might possibly be a place for me in South Dakota and wrote to the supt. there. He wrote back, that there is no opening at present. Well, Dr. Moore himself stopped off in Oberlin about 10 days ago on his way east. I had an interview with him, and he took a picture of me which he said he would send to all the state supts. under his supervision up there in the northwest. He felt quite sure there would be some place for me. On my own hook I wrote to the supt who had charge of my work in Shoshoni, Wyoming last summer and inquired if that pulpit would be open again or not for a student-pastor. He said he had made arrangements for the regular pastor of a town to the west to come to Shoshoni twice a month to hold services. He stated that he would quite likely have a church for me, however, this summer. With my name in the hands of a dozen state supts, then, my hopes are bright. Really I should like to go out by the 1st of April, but I may have to wait until May or the 1st of June. Well, I can keep busy.

Since I've been home I've been doing a good deal of reading in the field of biography. To date I've read "Lincoln" by the Englishman, Lord Charnwood, "Goethe" by Emil Ludwig, "Herman Melville" by Lewis Mumford, and the "Life And Letters of Phillips Brooks", two thick volumes by a Professor Allen. In the field of the novel I've read "Jude the Obscure" by Thomas Hardy, and George Eliot's "Adam Bede." Next I shall read I've wanted to read for some little time, especially the life of Phillips Brooks. What a man he was! He is indeed worthy of ranking among the great.

I had a most delightful visit with Don [Myron's brother, Donald Hume] and Helen in Alliance. Incidentally, I left Oberlin on Friday, the 13th, but met no mishap. How silly some of these superstitions are when really taken seriously! I found them well and happy as a young bride and groom should be. By the way, have I ever confided to you my opinions of Helen? Perhaps I have. Well, in case I haven't—She, like Don, is not very intellectual, yet it would not be fair to say that she takes no interest in things intellectual. She's not very imaginative either, - easy to "kid." When all's said and done though, I must say that she's "a peach of a girl." My, how she can cook! When the rest of us have children, I'm sure Don will be known as the "Uncle with the double chin." Tho she's lived in very comfortable circumstances, she seems quite willing to live within Don's means. Well, there's really nothing exciting to report about my visit. I never got up till noon during all the 10 days I was with them. Most of the afternoons I spent in reading or in having some work done at Don's office. Mirable dictum, I still had a touch of the trench mouth that I acquired late last August. He quite cleared it up, however. Most of our evenings we spent in playing Hearts. Don's business is nothing to rave about during this depression, yet he's able to keep his head above water and pay his bills as they come due. While I was there, I was impressed again about the "give and take" that is necessary to happy married living. Was also reimpressed with how marriage increased one's responsibilities. It will probably be at least 3 years yet before I think seriously of marriage. Well, in the first place I've got to find somebody. Our Putnam Uncle [Elbert Kinney] considers finding The RIGHT ONE one of the gravest problems in this existence of ours. Well, who'll be the first to say he's wrong. Not I.

I must get this off to the office, Jerry. Think I'll take it down myself for the exercise. You recommend a good deal of the same, I believe. I fear I've not been taking as much outdoor exercise as I should. When I get up in the A.M., I go thru a series of exercises the Uncle finds helpful.

I trust you still find your library work interesting. What letter have you reached now? How I'd like to be at Union and dine with you again.

Love,

Myron [Myron Hume, son of Ellen's sister, Etta]

P.S. Do you listen in to the Sat. nite broadcasts? Putnam has one in most every week. I sent my first last Sat. nite.

[This letter dated July 1931 was written from Putnam, CT by Dorothy to Jerry, Gould and Kathie. Brother Gould has a baby girl named Hazel. Dorothy, Harold and others drove up to Boston with Uncle Elbert to see Bill and Pearl (William Lonsdale Tayler and wife, Pearle Tayler) arrive by ship from somewhere. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Sunday- [July 1931]

Dear Jerry, Gould and Kathie:-

We have been thinking of you all at the farm and Seymore this weekend. Gould has held little Hazel in his arms by now, and did you girls have that great pleasure?

Today we are all "resting-up" after a very exciting day in Boston. We followed Uncle Elbert's usual plan of rising at 5:30 in order to get off by 7:00. We ladies were going to "do" the big Boston stores in the morning, while Father went to the Beacon St. offices, but, alas, we found the big stores closed at noon, so Harold and Fulton went to the ball-game and we ladies idled away a couple of hours by looking at a few little dress shops, the big flower gardens and taking a nap in the car. The boat was supposed to come in at 5:00. We got down there early and drove in just as Cousin Ed and Raymond drove up. They knew nothing of getting passes for meeting people on boats. Father had got one in the morning and we argued for three hours as to which two should use it, but, tho't it our duty to make someone else take it, and so it went till we saw Cousin Ed and Raymond [Raymond Chamberlin is Pearle's brother]. The question was settled in a hurry then. They took it without much hesitation. We saw the boat lying out a way in the harbor, then ran around to a place where we could see her dock. She was quite a big boat and the newest on the White Star lines [probably the Britannic 3rd - maiden voyage was June 28, 1930 according to www.titanic-whitestarships.com]. After we had seen her dock we got as near to the place where they would come out, as we could then waited, and waited and waited, watching scores of people come out from the customs and meet their friends. Finally, Uncle Elbert screwed up courage enough to ask if he might go in. The man said yes. That started the ball rolling. Fulton and I did the same thing and one by twos, by threes we all trailed in. Pearl [Pearle Leonard Chamberlin Tayler] was nearly bowled over with surprise, for Cousin Ed and Raymond had kept it a secret that we were all out there. They had a little trouble with their baggage that they had to straighten out. That's why they were so slow in getting out.

Pearl said she had been sea-sick most of the way over, and she looked quite tired, but Bill [William Lonsdale Tayler] hadn't been sick at all, and he was looking fine. They were both delighted to get back home. It was Pearl's birthday, so we all chipped in and gave her $3.00 with a cute birthday card. We were going to find something in the stores for her, but they were all closed. They invited us right up today, but we thought they'd be rather tired, so are going up later in the week. Uncle Elbert is planning a day at the Gildersleeve's cottage on the shore and Pearl and Bill are going with us. Wish you all could be with us.

Tomorrow evening we are to call on Roger and Harold will deliver his lecture (?!?!).

Later on in the week we are going to crescent Park for our annual shore dinner, where Harold will glory in the class course- I don't think! Today we went to the Baptist church for the Union service. Saw Mr. Converse, Katherine Lown and her little girl, Ralph Pierce (one of my classmates) and his wife, who is one of Hazel Converse's cousins.

Kathie, on the way to Putnam we were discussing the greatly argued frog rock when all of a sudden we came right onto it and in five minutes came to a sign saying "Pomfret town line". Who wins? I've forgotten who said which, and I do believe Mother herself has too.*

Before we left the farm Aunt Mary gave me a little butter with which I was to greet the birthday Uncle, and he got it right along with the hello kiss. He said he was glad that was over with right at the beginning.

What do you think- they have a new electric ice-box here- a beautiful Majestic. This is quite a "Majestic" household now. They got it a couple of days after they got back from L.I. [Long Island].

Well, Kathie, did you find that we left anything? We forgot just one thing- to our knowledge- and that was the Aunt's cot which they probably told you about. Be sure and have Gould take it up next week-end. It's in the garage.

How are you coming with the work? Is Hugh down there now, and when do you leave?
Lots of love to all from us all,

Ice Pan! - - - - - Windows! - - - - - Heater!

In an interview with Kathleen by Jana L. Jackson in the year 2000, Kathleen shared the following:
Kathleen and Hugh worked at The Silver Bay, Lake George, New York Conference Center over the summer during college. It was a boy's school in the winter and a conference center in the summer. Kathleen was a waitress and Hugh started out washing dishes. One day, he took Kathleen out for a row boat ride. He rowed for about 12 miles and when he got back, had horrible blisters on his hands. He had to be hospitalized for a week because of infection and almost had to have them amputated. They had to drain them. This was in the days before antibiotics. After that, he couldn't wash dishes, so they gave him a job renting out the canoes and boats.

[This letter dated Aug. 14, 1931 was written from North West River, Labrador, Canada by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry. Monnie would love to have sister, Kathleen, come up to Canada and work with her. She mentions that they are aunts now that their brother has a baby girl. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[North West River]
Aug. 14, 1931

Dearest Jerry,

What ages it has been since I've written you yourself! I've liked your letters so much- your work sounds so fascinating. You know, enthusiasm is contagious! As you said, one would never think that books in themselves could ever be so interesting.

I'm ever so glad that the people you are living with are so congenial. And you are getting about so much, and are seeing a lot of the family. Poor you! It will be lonely for you when Father and Mother go back, and Dot and Harold leave, and Kathleen finds a job and everything settles down for the winter. But you are near everyone and ought to be able to see quite a bit of them during the year. I do so wish Kathie would come up. I don't think I've wanted anything so much in my life before. I'm sure this one year wouldn't make any difference in their love, and there's no one for her to fall for up here, anyway. She ought to get away and see some different things before she settles down; Betty declares that she won't get married before she's 30 at least, there's so much to do and see before settling down! She's a dear! You must see her a lot next winter. Do you know, she gave you a compliment the other day. That Sunday when the Lorimers came to the farm, they didn't know what to expect Marjorie Beard to be like. Aunt Flora was the first on out, and Betty thot the new principal was she! Then as each one appeared, she thot that one might be the lady. But when you appeared she hoped it was you; she said that you had the most sparkling, loveliest eyes she had ever seen- she loved you right from the start! I'm jealous! But Betty has been such a dear to me all year. Her philosophy of life is so different from the one to which we were brot up- and just by being her own dear self, she has changed me more than Ronnie ever could with her "helpful" advice and suggestion.

By the way, did you know that Ronnie's baby has arrived. It was a boy, Robert Ayres Edwards. But he came prematurely and there was some injury to his head, which may prove serious, and also he has a collapsible larynx which affects his voice. The latter, they say may mend itself when he is about a year old. I am waiting for the next mail to find out whether the poor thing lived or not.

It was so sweet of Percy and John to remember me. Do please give them my best, and tell John I simply am crazy about Labrador! The only good reason I can think of why Kathie shouldn't come up, is that it will be such a wrench to leave it- she'll never be the same girl again!!! Poor Betty can't bear the thot of leaving. If her father and mother knew how she felt about leaving they would telegraph right away and tell her to stay.

Some Mr. McLeod in the States sent me up a brand new and very expensive radio and sending apparatus. So we can get the messages beautifully next winter, thank the Lord! - and we can also send you messages about once a month. Little good- no, he? (a Labradorism!) not oftener, for the Canadian Marconi Co. has a monopoly on all the wireless business up and down the coast, and once allowed the Mission at St. Anthony the privilege of sending messages. That privilege was abused, so the Co. is loathe to grant another. So we'll have to be very careful about personal messages.

Here I have been rambling on about everything- not at all as I had planned this letter!

First of all, would you do a favor for me? I sent some one a list of things that I shall have to have for next winter. I for got my blouses, of which I shall need two or three. One is to be silk- long-sleeved. The others may be cotton, - broadcloth or voile, etc. and may be sleeveless or sleeved. White or cream are the preferred shades. Also we have found two complete ping-pong sets, and only one ball. I'm afraid the children will break too many of the celluloid balls, so am getting some hollow rubber balls about the size of ping-pong balls. Could you send about 50 of them? Wouldn't they be about 5 cents apiece?- that's $2.50. Then 1 silk blouse at $5.00, and 2 at about $15.00 to be sure- and to cover depreciation from Nfld, to U.S. money. Thank you just ever so much for the favor.

The last few days have been just perfect. The sun is so bright and warm and the Bay sparkles just the way I have always imagined that the Mediterranean must. The heat certainly gets you here- we just seem to be good for nothing on hot days, almost more so than in the States.

My, I do wish you could come up, Jerry. You'd love it! If I come back in the fall of 1933, to complete a 5- year term, as I'm thinking of doing, wouldn't it be grand if you could come up for a year's leave of absence?! Betty would be here and we three could have a grand time- the Paddons would be back then, too, and Jack and Annie Watts would be here. They are all that matter. But it's too rosy a dream to plan on!

How does it feel to be Aunt Jerry? I find it quite a thrill- me! (another colloquialism). Betty is an awful pun-ner and of course she would see Hazel Beard as a shade of Whiskers! She thinks it a rather unfortunate name for the youngster. It's not too bad, tho. I like Hazel. Do write me your impressions of the first niece. I do hope they send a picture soon. I'm so glad Father and Mother could see the first grandchild so soon.

We are getting beets, carrots, lettuce and spinach, Swiss chard and radishes from out garden every day. It's fun being a gardener!

Do write again soon. Lots of love, Monnie

Written on back of photo: "Century Farm Aug 1931"

L to R: Oliver Gould Beard Jr., Flora Beard, Ellen Kinney Beard, Willard Beard, Abbie Hubbell Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard, Mary Beard, Phebe Beard, Myra Palmer Beard and Stanley

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Written on back of Photo: "Century Farm Aug 1931"

Oliver Gould Beard Jr., Flora Beard, Willard Beard, Phebe Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard, Mary Beard, Stanley Beard

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Photo taken same day as previous photos as you can see from the same clothing worn. August 1931
 Back row left to right: Stanley Beard, Stephen Beard, Oliver Wells Beard, Harold Newberg, Oliver Gould Beard Jr., Nancy Beard, Myra Palmer Beard, Willard L. Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard behind Dan Beard, probably Ruth Beard.
 Middle row left to right: Mary Beard, Phebe Maria Beard, Abbie Jane Hubbell Beard, Flora Beard, Ellen Kinney
 Beard, Dan Beard's wife Beatrice.
 Seated left to right: Dorothy Beard, Kathleen Beard, Edith Beard, Geraldine Beard.
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Written on back: "Dot and Harold Newberg"
 August 1931 -Taken same day as previous photos
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

A blurry photo of Willard and a calf taken in 1931.
 [Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Late Aug. 1931 was written from Chicago Station by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerrabee (Geraldine). Kathleen is in Chicago visiting her friend, Gidge before heading off to work in Logan, Utah. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Late Aug. 1931]
 Chicago Station
 Saturday

Dear Jerrabee:

It was dear of you to have a letter waiting for me at Gidge's house. I was tickled to hear all the news. And thanks so much for the garter belt. I thot it might be the bridge set so opened it in front of the girls. What a howl it sent up. Gidge said it was perfectly alright about the set and she will be in Oberlin next Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were away so I saw only Chuck, Basil and Gidge. Chuck is still wildy looking for a job so if you hear of anything do drop her line- teaching, social work, secretary- anything. The other two are so happy, they act just like a couple of kids all the time. The wedding was very simple given in her home informally. She wore a white crepe de chine and had one maid of honor. She didn't even march in or have music, but just stood in their big bay window for the ceremony. They gave a supper, then took the Chicago boat up Lake Michigan and spent two weeks hiking and camping along the shore. Her wedding presents were lovely and more numerous than I supposed with such a small wedding. I stayed from five yesterday P.M. to 10:30 this morning, then shopped in Chicago a bit. It is almost time to take my train, and I feel as if I were going to drop off the edge of the world. My train goes right thru Lombardi so they are coming down to wave to me as I fly by. Fun! Monday noon will find me in Logan.

Too bad about Nancy. Those children seem to get everything going. I was not surprised at Aunt Flora, for it is probably the affect of the let down after Father left. I'm glad you are located. Do give me your new address and tell me how you like it. Are you getting the room free?

Dot, Mother, Father and Harold are seeing the air races today. How I should love to be there. It was hard to leave them. I have heard nothing from Hugh for days, but know that he is in Cleveland hunting work. Tell me how much I owe for the bridge set and I'll pay when I can. Here is the card I meant to send last time. Hope I'm not too late with it. Off for the West- Goodbye- Love Kathie.

[This letter dated Sept. 1, 1931 was written from the "Glad Tidings II", Rigolet, Labrador by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry and Kathie. Marjorie tells about 2 airplanes coming to the area from the Forbes expedition and the pilots gave most of the people of the village a ride. She sends some deerskin moccasins trimmed in deer fur. Marjorie is expecting a new teacher soon. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

On board "Glad Tidings II".
Rigolet, Labrador.
Sept. 1, 1931.

Dear Jerry and Kathie,

I'm really on vacation! The new minister for N.W.R., Mr. Burry, came down in his little boat to meet his wife who is coming on the "Kyle" from St. John's, and he allowed me to come down with him for the trip. A bunch of five of us made the trip together- he and his man, Mr. Locke, Miss Mason, a St. Anthony nurse on vacation, Mr. Jarrett, wireless man from Grigus, Nfld., and myself. We have had more fun- and this is such a cute boat. It's 35 ft. long, has auxiliary sails and is most completely equipped; every chink is used. The United Church board of Nfld. had it made for Mr. Burry.

Last week we had quite a thrill. Two airplanes from the Forbes expedition came to N.W.R. to use it as a base for a short trip to Grand Falls, 200 odd miles from us, and which are the next highest falls in the world to Victoria Falls in Africa. It seemed so queer to be hearing and seeing planes again. They took almost all the staff up that afternoon. N.W.R. looked so neat with its little white, red-roofed houses, white fences, and garden patches. And we got such a good idea of the relation of the bays, lakes, mountains rivers and streams to each other. It was so interesting. Now I can say, "Ahem! the last time I flew was on the Labrador!"

The airmen spent two and a half days at Grand Falls, and then returned. One afternoon they took up almost everyone in the village, in relays. My, how the people loved it! Only two that I heard of were at all afraid- and they were both men!

When the men left, they were going to fly straight across the Mealies to Cartwright, on the way looking up a high mountain range which Mr. Forbes thot he saw on their way up, and which is not on the map. When they heard I was coming down the Bay they suggested my flying to Cartwright with them and taking the "Kyle" back up to Rigolet. Wouldn't that have been perfect? But of course the naughty little Waco had to go and get engine trouble, and they decided to fly straight to St. Anthony and cable for parts, for they were afraid once they landed they'd never be able to get her up again. So goodbye trip!

I'm sending by this mail, two pairs of deerskin moccasins trimmed with deer fur to Jerry. She can take her choice and send the other pair to Kathie. They are quite good deerskin, and I love the deer fur for trimming, don't you? When they get dirty, just take a scrubbing brush and some lukewarm water (not hot) and soap and go after them. After rinsing, shape them again, and dry in not too hot atmosphere. It will help keep them soft if you work them a bit while drying, tho that isn't necessary. They soon get soft on your feet again. Water doesn't hurt the fur- just fluff it up again when it's dry. I do hope Kathie has a good job by this time. We hear what awful times the U.S., Canada and Nfld. are having with employment. The new teacher is expected on this boat. So is Miss Buxton- and that's all we know about here. Jack, Stella and I have a bet on her age- a 5 lb. box of candy! Speculations on the new-comers is half our diversion here! How I wish it were Kathie instead of the old Miss Buxton!!! Loads of love to you both, Monnie.

[This letter dated Sept. 1, 1931 was written from Oberlin, Ohio by Willard to Geraldine. They drove from Shelton to Saginaw. They took Kathleen to the train station to go to Chicago and then on to Logan, Utah. Willard and Ellen visited Detroit and saw a parade and air race in Cleveland. Willard gives their address on the Empress of Canada

which will be their steamer back to China. His operation earlier in the year was a one hundred percent success. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

263 W. College St.

Oberlin, Ohio

Tuesday morning Sept. 1st 1931

Dear Geraldine:-

Someone dropped you a card on the trip from Shelton to Saginaw. At Watkins Glen we all sent a little word to someone back East. The whole trip from Shelton to Simcoe, to Saginaw, to Oberlin, was successful. The first day we drove thru Binghamton and stopped a mile this side with a Mr. and Mrs. Steer- a very neat, clean, well furnished place and pleasant people, $5.00 for us five. The next day we stopped about noon and walked part way up Watkins Glen and stopped in Niagara Falls that night. We saw the falls lit with electricity. That night, Saturday, we were with the Wallaces at Simcoe. Sunday I went to S.S. with Mr. Wallace prepared to sit as a listener, both in S.S. and church service, but ended up with an address before the whole S.S. a talk during lesson hour to the Adult Bible class and address as sermon in the regular church service.

In the afternoon Harold, Dot, Kathleen and one of the boys Malcomb(?) drove over to Hamilton and got Sarah who is studying nursing in the hospital there. Bruce the oldest boy was away. I had not seen Sarah since 1910 when she was 20 months old. She is a very pretty young lady now Kathleen's age. I judged the family was in better circumstances financially than in 1928 when you were there. We reached Saginaw Monday afternoon about 7 p.m. Fifty miles from Saginaw the auto stopped dead. A little spring ¼ in. in diameter and 1 ½ in. long had broke. I chanced to pick one up by the roadside that answered to get us home. The car had run some 6000 miles during the summer without a stop. It was interesting to get within 50 miles of home and have it stop.

While at Saginaw Kathleen bought a very pretty travelling dress, hat and shoes and Dot a hat and suit for school. Harold and I shopped for a house jacket for me. It is gray with fancy trimmings- collar and cuffs- just what I want and Mother is pleased with it. I understand it is a Christmas gift from you children and this is a big THANK YOU to you. The bandits borrowed my old one in 1927 and have not returned it. It was well worn. Mother gave it to me in 1904.

Friday morning we put Kathleen on the 6:50 a.m. train for Chicago. She was planning to stop in Chicago to see her room mate (Gidge if that's the spelling) and go on Saturday at 2:30 arriving at Logan just before noon Monday. She is the only one of our girls that I have seen start out on her own. Phebe, you, Dot, and Marjorie started out when I was in China. Then we four drove to Detroit saw the big new Fisher building and the Masonic Temple and came on to Oberlin arriving at 8:30 p.m. Sat. with Aunt Etta we went into Cleveland. A flower parade was advertised to begin at 11, and the Air Races at 1 p.m. We saw the flower parade from Union Sq. 12:20 to 2:30. It was long, beautiful and interesting, but it cut us out of the Air Races. We got to the Air Port about 3:00. Saw stunts, gliders, parachutes, comet trail- and got home at 11 p.m.

This is Tuesday. Last night about 1:30 Stewart got home. He is still sleeping so we have not yet seen him.

Sunday morning Harold found the picture of Marjorie's associate for this year. I'm addressing a copy to you. We think she appears to be a society girl. But I trust she and Marjorie will find enough in common to be real friends and mutually helpful.

Mother and I plan to leave here this evening about 6, go to Chicago, get tickets there for Seattle, stop at Geneseo Sept. 2 to 7, going to Galesburg during this time leaving there for the coast Sept. 7th.

Our address will be

Passengers

S.S. "Empress of Canada"

Sailing Sept. 12th for Shanghai

Canadian Pacific S.S. Co.

Victoria, Canada.

(122 W. 2nd St. Geneseo Ill.)

The year has been one of very great satisfaction to me. The operation, the doctor told us the last time I saw him was 100% successful. I feel that way myself. We have been with our own all the time and our own have been very good to us. We have seen much of all you children except Marjorie and her letters and decision to stay in Northwest River give me great satisfaction. You are all making good. Every one of you holds the confidence and respect of those with whom you are associated and of all the members of the two families. I feel that Kathleen will make good. Hugh has ability and he will grow up and wake up. I shall watch with interest and something akin to anxiety to see what he finds for a job.

If God wills, Mother and I will try to be helpful friends in Foochow until 1935, about June then we will hope to see you all again. In the meantime letters and prayers will keep the heart strings in tune.

Lovingly father

[This letter dated Sept. 2, 1931 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Jerry (Geraldine). Willard and Ellen were visiting Dorothy and Harold and went shopping with Dorothy and Kathleen. Kathleen left by train to teach in Logan, Utah. Dorothy, Ellen and Willard visited Detroit. In Cleveland, Willard and Ellen saw a parade and air races. Aunt Flora is not well. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy C. Newberg
2108 North Bond Street
Saginaw W.S.
Michigan

Sept. 2, 1931

Dear Jerry:-

Your letter was here to greet us when we all arrived here at Saginaw.

Yes, we had a lovely visit with the Wallaces. Got there Sat. afternoon, went to church Sun. morning and Father preached, drove to Hamilton to get Sarah in the apt. She is in nurses training there and likes it a lot. She has one more year. She had Sun. afternoon off. That same aft. we went up into the carillon tower at the invitation of the operator and watched him render his Sun. afternoon concert. It was mighty interesting. In the evening while some of them were taking Sarah back Mother and Harold and I drove down to listen to another carillon concert. Father enjoyed the visit there hugely.

We had fine places to stay both nights we were on the road- one at Binghamton and the other at Niagara Falls.

You spoke of the Festival Toys. We found another box of them, so Kathie took one, I took one and we sent you one. I'm going to give them away as favors at parties.

The folks were here only Tues., Wed. and Thurs. and we spent nearly every one of those morning and afternoons over town getting Kathie and Mother and me fitted out. Kathie got a darling brown outfit- a natty two-piece silk suit, a cute brown hat with a brown plume on it and a pair of tie-pump shoes. She really looked very chic. Mother shopped for more odds and ends and I got a brown suit and a darling brown new-style hat with an orange plume across the back- just exactly what I have looked all summer for.

Fri. morning we got up real early and saw poor Kathie off all alone. It doesn't seem possible that she is ready to start out into the world by herself. We were a lonely bunch that came back to the house for our breakfast, then we set sail for Oberlin. We stopped in Detroit, saw the Fisher Building, part of the Masonic Building (where we ate) then went on down arriving at about 7:00.

Sat. we went into Cleveland and in the A.M. saw a long parade of floats for the flower show and in the P.M. went to the Air Races. We were so late getting out there that we parked just outside the grounds and watched the rest from there. Mother and Father and Aunt Etta enjoyed it all very much.

Sunday we all went to church at the Methodist Church. I saw Betty Garland. She has resigned her position as Dean and at present has no work.

Right after dinner we had another sad parting when we said good-bye to Mother and Father and had a long, lonely ride back to Saginaw.

Today we had our first teacher's meetings. Tomorrow more meetings, and Wed. away we go on the teaching. It always takes me nearly a month to get back into working order after such a delightful summer. My mind and heart are still away back East with all the family and relatives.

Did you hear that Aunt Flora had another shock? Aunt Mary writes that her foot and hand are considerably weaker and that her voice is quite thick. Aunt Mary also wrote that Nancy had been operated on for appendicitis and was coming along nicely.

When we ladies were doing our shopping Harold took Father around to find a house jacket for his Christmas present from us children. We found a very pretty gray one for $10. Did you ask Gould if he wanted to help with it, and do you? We couldn't get out of Mother what she wanted, so we'll have to send her hers. Also, we forgot to fix the Christmas lists!

Yesterday Harold got the Cleveland Sunday paper in Oberlin to read up on the Air Races. In the picture section, what should we see but the picture of a girl in a white fur-trimmed dickie. Under the picture it said that the girl's name was Miss Nancy P. Buxton of Newport News, Va. and she had had this eiderdown hood made to go up to teach the Labrador boys and girls in Northwest River. We were all very much excited and went right down and ordered more papers to send the picture to all the family and relatives. Isn't that an interesting coincidence! She must be an aristocrat to live in Newport News, and to have an eiderdown hood made and to appear in the Cleveland News. I don't know whether Father is sending you one of the pictures or not. I took the original and sent it out to Kathie. I think I told Father that I'd have K. send it back so I could send it out to you. I'll do so anyway. You may see one before it reaches you. Write and let us know your new address.

Much love- Dot.

[This letter dated Sept. 3, 1931 was written from Rigolet, Labrador by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry (Geraldine). Marjorie adds a brief note to a previous letter. A Viking aquaplane came to the area. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Sept. 3, 1931]

Rigolet, Labrador.

Dearest Jerry,

I forgot to send these pictures with the other letter I wrote you, and that's mailed now. Would you circulate them around the family and relatives and see that they eventually get to China? Thank you so much.

More airplane excitement here. Donald McMillan sailed out of the sky yesterday in his "Viking", a beauty of a red and white aquaplane. His ship, the "Bowdoin" steamed in last evening. He flew Dr. Paddon to Indian Harbor and back, for a conference with Sir Wilfred whom they didn't finally find there at all. Indian Harbor is the summer hospital station for Labrador.

The new teacher has arrived- on this "Kyle". She came in at 1:30, this morning. Her name is Miss Buxton, and she evidently has just graduated from the Univ. of Richmond- and is quite Southern. She looks rather likeable.

Must close and get this off- maybe by the "Viking" which is going to N.W.R., Grand Falls, then home.

Lots of love,

Monnie.

[This typewritten letter dated Sept. 3, 1931 was written from North West River, Labrador, Canada by Monnie (Marjorie) to Dot (Dorothy). Marjorie thanks Dorothy for her box of gifts. She also received a typewriter. The new teacher has arrived. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

North West River

Sept. 3, 1931.

Dear Dot,

I got the two boxes you sent, in the last mail, which came just today, and I just had to write you right away- on my new typewriter! All the things in the boxes were O.K. - - and it was dear of you to stick in the little bottle of perfume. I'm almost out of what I have. Thank you so much. The bathing cap is a beauty. And the shoes are so pretty. My! I feel rich with two really good pairs of shoes. You ought to have seen Betty and me going around this summer with huge holes in our soles. There wasn't a pair of shoes to be had in the place! I sent away to a mail order house in Halifax for a cheap pair of sneakers, among other things, and they came a while ago and saved my life. The shoes that came in your box are almost too pretty to put on -- I just sit and look at them. This ground up here is awfully hard on shoes - - it's a combination of sand and gravel, so you hate to wear really good shoes every day. We all wear sneakers - - they are cheap and seem to stand the sort of rough usage that shoes get here better than anything else. I especially love the combination brown and cream shoes. They are an exact fit and oh, so comfortable. I think I shall save them to wear out next summer.

Father's little gift of the jade buttons was a surprise. I shall use them for cuff links, I think.

My typewriter came in this mail, too. I am so proud of it. It's a Corona portable - - green, and with trimmings on it 'n' everything. Quite new not at all like the one Ronnie used to have. You see what an expert typist I am - - Note the seventh line down. I shall be afraid to write to Jerry on it. But I ought to get plenty of practice on it this winter. There is a short course in the touch system given in the booklet which came with it, and if I have perseverance enough, I ought to be able to accomplish some thing with that.

There is only a little over a week now before the beginning of school. You begin next Monday, don't you? You haven't even written whether you were planning to teach this year or not. In fact, have I heard from you at all this summer? What have you been doing all your leisure time? Do you love me still? I do realize tho, that it is awfully hard to settle down to writing letters while you are visiting - - I never could at Putnam or the farm, either. And with Father and Mother there is must have been all the harder. I do wish I could have been home for awhile this summer. Did you have a family picture taken? You ought to have - - Jinny could have taken my place. No one has written me anything about what the family did while they were all together. All the letters have been so general - - I haven't much idea what everyone did, except fly hither and yon with astonishing rapidity. It's only thru other people's letters that I know you were east at all.

"Nuff said - - let's change the subject. The new teacher seems quite nice. Her name is Nancy Buxton and she is from the U. of Richmond class of 31! - - her home is at Newport News. I only met her yesterday at 4 a.m., when she got off the boat at Rigolet, so I haven't much idea what she's like. But she went at painting the school floor this afternoon right willingly, so she must be a pretty good sport.

I wish some of you had sent Father's sailing address. I should like to have written them a steamer letter. I could have gotten it to them too, for those McMillan flyers took letters to mail with them, and were planning to be in the States tomorrow or next day.

Just contrast the bottom of this page with the top. I'm getting better already - - eh, what? Maybe you'll be able to read my next letter to you.

Lots of love to both of you, Monnie.

[This letter dated Sept. 3, 1931 was written from Geneseo, Ill. by Willard to Geraldine. Willard discusses getting Marjorie a new typewriter which unbeknownst to him, she already has one. He talks about the trip to Saginaw, putting Kathleen on a train, visiting Detroit and Cleveland, then visiting Cousins Addie and Carl in Geneseo, Ill. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

122 W. Second St.

Geneseo, Ill Sept. 3rd 1931.

Dear Geraldine:-

First I'll set down the business and after that the news. In some letter Marjorie suggested that she wanted a typewriter. Dorothy spoke of it and suggested that the family give it as a Christmas present. Mother mentioned it again this morning and suggested that I write. I said if it is to be done it should get under way soon so as to reach her while the ships are going to Northwest River this Fall. I suggested that I send you a check. Mother thought you were the logical one to make the purchase and ship it. To get a line on the cost I looked in Sears, Roebuck Catalog. They advertise a Porto Rite for $47.50. This is specially made by the Remington Co. for Sears, Roebuck and Co. It is ten or twelve dollars cheaper than most small typewriters. I think it is as good as others that cost about $60. I am afraid it will exceed the maximum weight for parcels cost to Labrador = 15 lbs. = This weighs in the case 11 ½ lbs. I should think it would need a wooden box with packing to go so far. You will know about this. I am enclosing my check for $60.00 to you, and I am writing Dorothy. Mother and I will give $30.00 toward the machine and the cost of packing and freight or express. I'll tell Dot that the other givers, and the amount, I leave to you and to her. Send any money to Aunt Mary and she will deposit to my account in Derby.

All has gone as we planned when we left Shelton, Aug. 20th. That night we spent 1 mi. west of Binghamton with a Mr. and Mrs. Steere- very fine rooms and people. The next nite we spent in Niagara Falls and saw the falls lit by electricity. The third nite we were with the Wallaces at Simcoe. Sarah came home from Hamilton, where she is studying nursing. Sunday afternoon, Harold, Dot, Kathleen and one of the boys went after her and her brother Gordon took her home in the evening. The oldest boy Bruce we did not see he was away on a vacation. The others Malcomb and Margaret were there. Sarah was 20 months old when I saw her in 1910. I judge they are in better financial circumstances than when you were there in 1928. We drove from there to Saginaw Monday Aug. 24. The Hupmobile went some 6000 perfectly. But stopped 50 miles before we got to Saginaw. An hour and a quarter was spent in finding and repairing the gasoline pump. A little spring had broken and a little steer pin had fallen out. Harold chanced to find the pin, and I chanced to pick up a spring that did the work on the road side as we waited for the mechanic. So we reached Saginaw in good season. We were with Dot and Harold from Mon. night until Friday morning. We put Kathleen on the 6:50 a.m. train for Logan, Utah Friday a.m. and at 9:20 we four were off for Detroit. We looked at the new office building- The Fisher Building. Then saw part of the big Masonic Temple and then drove to Oberlin arriving at 8:30. Saturday we four with Aunt Etta drove to Cleveland. A large flower parade with many beautiful floats and bands and women's clubs and schools and group of foreign nationals= Chinese, Italian, Slovaks etc. etc. formed a parade that kept us on our feet watching it from 12:20 to 2:30. There we went out to the Air Port and watched students, parachute, gliders, autogyros and last the plane with the tail of fire like a comet. It was all worth while. We were home by 11 p.m.

Dot and Harold left for home at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. Monday Mother went to Cleveland to see her oculist. Stewart got home at 1:30 Tuesday morning. We left on the 6:26 p.m. for Chicago. Yesterday we purchased our tickets for Victoria, so we are all set for meeting the Empress of Canada, Canadian Pacific Line sailing Sept. 12 from Vancouver and Seattle.

We arrived here at 7:50 last evening. Cousins Addie and Carl are as well as usual. Carl looks better but his asthma does not improve. This evening we are to take supper with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brewer, Sheffield. Saturday we go to Galesburg, = all four of us. Sunday I preach for Mr. Brewer.

It has given me much pleasure to see how much you enjoyed your present work and that you were standing up under it so much better than under teaching. You will let us know your new address as soon as possible.

Very lovingly
Father

[This letter dated Sept. 7, 1931 was written from Logan, Utah by Kathie (Kathleen) to Dottabee (Dorothy). Kathleen tells about her impressions upon arrival in Logan, Utah. School starts soon and she tells about her duties there. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Please send this on to Jerry so I won't have to write it again. I just wrote Father and Mother yesterday. I do wish they could stop here.

Logan Utah
Sept. 7, 1931

Dear Dottabee:

Your letter was so good. You know how much mail means in a new place like this. We just look for it every time we go to the office. The lovely part of it is that we can get it on Sunday, Holidays and all, for we have a school box and trot up after it twice a day.

Wasn't that exciting about Monnie's new teacher? I think she looks sort of laxadazical but no telling what she may do for Monnie. I'm sending it back with this letter.

Just a week ago today I pulled in at the little station on the old gasoline car which we call the "Galloping Goose." If you could be bounced around on that with dust and hayseed whirling around you all the time you would see why the name. Miss Frick was right at the door to meet me and as the fat friendly conductor helped me off he yelled "Here's your boss." We walked up to the school, four blocks, and right then I got the surprise of my life. After the little hik towns we had been passing and after climbing way back into the mountains beyond Ogden I naturally expected just a four corners, but Logan is a neat clean little town with some really rich looking homes, lovely lawns and quite a few trees. If you could see the dry treeless plains over which we rode for miles and miles you would appreciate the description more. And there is nothing backwardsy about the place either. We are thoroughly modern with a Woolworth, a Piggly Wiggly and a J.C. Penny Co, besides two colleges and a beautiful Mormon temple into whose holy sanctums we can never go. State agricultural college of 2000 is just outside of the town and a small Mormon college makes the other one. We have wide boulevards here and a whole block of green park up town. Really, you won't have to send me a thing I think, I almost believe I can even get my winter coat here.

Three miles to the East of us rises a range of grand mountains, the Wasatch range, so we are right in a valley which used to be a big lake once. A canyon cutting the Wasatch mountains for 40 miles thru the summer resort for the valley and we teachers had the wonderful opportunity of spending two days up there in the cottage of the only gentile doctor in town. His wife took us up there in her Packard and left us to ourselves, seven of us. (The reason why the doctor is so wealthy is because he is a good obstetrician and Mormons believe in having as many children as possible.) We had a marvelous time getting acquainted and climbing the mountains. Three of us went on a six mile hike over the crimson trail along high cliffs and hazardous crevasses. Oh these mountains are real mountains and you have to cling onto any little shrub you can to get up. They aren't anything like S.B. [Silver Bay] mountains because they are so rugged and rocky and steep. But we got superb views from the cliffs and I'll send you some pictures when I get them developed. Coming down we just slid all the way snatching here a limb and there a bush to keep from going too fast. It was jolly fun. The girl's camp is also in that canyon and when we all go there in May the snow is feet deep, they say. And they tell of winters with the mercury at 30 degrees below zero for weeks at a time. Monnie will have nothing on me in the cold line. They have dandy sliding and skiing here too.

Just a little about the school, then I must get to work. We have had faculty meetings every day and are now fairly well prepared to withstand the mob which will over run the place tomorrow. School starts Wednesday. I will have about 5 piano pupils, the Glee Club, choir, choral class and one Latin class. That isn't the half of my duties though. We have numerous little extras like tending study hall, day and evening, saying grace at meals, escorting the girls for Sunday walks and keeping an eye on them every minute. We will get so sick of them that we will want to flee to the mountains. Ten of them are here now working to fix the place up so we are getting used to them gradually. I find that a great deal more is expected of me musically than I had thought and some of the girls are quite far advanced. Yesterday I was church organist for the first time and I was so scared. My worst error was to start a hymn one too many times and when the minister looked around I ended in a hurry. Their singing is atrociously slow and I had to keep a measure ahead I can see. I will be able to tell you more about things a week from today so I'll desist now.

I hope school is going nicely and you are all over the summer loneliness.

Much love to all – Kathie.

[This letter dated about Sept. 9, 1931 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy forwards a letter from Willard and refers to the typewriter gift for Marjorie. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy C. Newberg
2108 North Bond Street
Saginaw W.S.
Michigan

Wednesday
[About Sept. 9, 1931]

Dear Jerry:-

This letter came from Father the other day. I should have sent it on right away.

I wonder who all wants to go in on it. Probably Gould will. Let us know how much it is and we'll divide up the cost as evenly as possible. Better take care of it as soon as possible so it will get there. Father sent two huge long letters from Monnie, which I am starting off on a long family itinerary today, so you'll get them soon.

So you're out on L.I. [Long Island] now. I bet you like it there. You'll see a lot of Edith now I suppose. Give them all my love.

I haven't heard from Kathie since she started her work. She must be powerfully busy.

I'm terribly sorry that we all let your birthday slip by with just a telegram. When they were all here, the plan was to send you $5. from all of us five. We mentioned it at the Wallaces, and after we got here, but our minds were so full of a hundred and one different things, and nobody seemed to take the initiative so it just didn't get done. My plan was to help you get a bathing-suit, and just as soon as that blessed first check comes rolling in this Fri. I am sending you $2. to do whatever you want with. Pardon the awful delay.

I had such a glorious time out East this summer, that I just can't seem to fit into things here yet.

Went out to the lake with the Crowley's last Sunday and went sailing and swimming. Mon. went on a picnic with the Johnsons and went swimming. I missed the old salt water and the surf. Much love Dot

[This letter dated Sept. 16, 1931 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Gerry (Geraldine). She sends an accounting of the Chinese items that they sell. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Sept 16/1931

Dear Gerry:

Am sending your check of fifteen dollars as agreed upon this summer. Checking over what we have here I find:

1 pr red candlesticks @	1.75
1 pr blue " @	4.00
1 lavender flower bowl @	4.00
1 small blue bowl (with frog) @	2.50
2 gold oval boxes @ 2.25- 2.75	5.00
2 Scrolls @ .65	1.30
4 Pictures @ 40, 100, 90, 40	2.60

As far as we are able to figure out this is all we have that belongs to you. I hope that your figures agree with ours here. The check for $15.00 is for the tea and other things sold that were not returned to you this summer. Shall we keep what we have here and try to sell it or shall we return it to you.

While Harold's settling up, I'll fill out the rest of the space with a word or two.

The little Chinese towels I got from Aunt Mary went like hot-cakes at first. I've sold eight or ten of them already. I want some left for my Christmas sale. Regarding your linens- if you have any doilies luncheon sets for around $6. or $7. I'd like them for wedding presents to Ralph and Grace. If you aren't going to have a sale and want me to put the rest of your things into my sale send them along, with an itemized list and prices.

Last Wed. night we received a phone call from Harold's home saying that his Grandfather died that evening, so we planned to drive home over the week-end for the funeral, which was to be Sat. afternoon at 1:30. As luck would have it, our Supt. let us out at 2:30 Fri. aft. because of the terrific heat and the possibility of an infantile paralysis epidemic [polio] so we got an early start. Harold wanted to drive right straight through the night, so we did and arrived there at about 5:00 a.m. to find that half of the family had sat up all night. Why - I don't know. It was lucky too, that we had Mon off for Children's Fair Day. Luck was with us at both ends of the trip. Going down we went through Benton Harbor - the big fruit district and got some peaches for the folks at home for thirty- five cents a bushel! The bushel-baskets themselves cost $.20.

I had a letter from Kathleen in which she told her first impressions of Logan. She was surprised to find it such a large town. She said she didn't know your new address. Maybe you have written her by now.

Have you done anything about the typewriter for Monnie yet? On her list she wanted to know about photographic supplies, and Uncle Stanley said they'd like to take care of that. Do you know whether or not they have sent any? If you see them, would you ask them, for time is getting short.

Father and Mother are out on the high seas now, and it ought not to be very long before we get a letter from them.

I have a chance to sing in the Cong'l Church choir and am debating whether to or not. I'd adore to do it if I were sure it wouldn't prove to be just one thing too much. I'll have to hurry up and decide.

Am enclosing the picture of Monnie's helper that I wrote you about.

Very much love-

Dot

P.S. We got Father a good-looking housecoat, or "smoking jacket" costing $10. Mother didn't know what she wanted (as usual) so we'll have to send her something later.

K's address is Logan Academy, Logan, Utah.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

S. S. EMPRESS OF CANADA.

*4 hrs. out from Honolulu,
Friday, Sept. 18, '31.
Dearest Kathleen,
Yesterday morning, the most spectacular event of all our ocean trips*

[This letter dated Sept. 18, 1931 was written 4 hours out from Honolulu on the S.S. Empress of Canada by Ellen to Kathleen. It talks about the trip from Victoria to Shanghai on the S.S. Empress of Canada, the King and Queen of Siam, description of arrivals and departures in Honolulu and Yokohama, Japan, military planes in Honolulu, description of 1st Cabin Smoking Room, Japanese/Chinese tensions and purchases made. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

CANADIAN PACIFIC

S.S. Empress of Canada

4 hrs. out from Honolulu
Friday, Sept. 18, '31

Dear Kathleen,

Yesterday morning, the most spectacular event of all our ocean trips thrilled the hundreds of passengers on the Empress of Canada.

I should go back a little to give you the back-ground. Perhaps Father has written you that we have the honor of being fellow passengers on this boat with the King of Siam and the Queen and their entourage [The King of Siam was in the U.S. for optical surgery.]. They occupy the suites deluxe in first cabin, and no one ever sees them except the necessary functionaries of the ship, - so much for the "fellow" part of being fellow passengers of a King! The royal party embarked very quietly and unostentatiously, and according to the Canadian Press, they did not want any demonstration or publicity and requested the Canadian gov't to keep things as quiet as possible. I saw them come on the boat, and they took tea with the capt. in first cabin reception room on the boat and I saw while I was straying about to find our cabin. But all the way from Victoria to Honolulu nothing was seen or heard of the Royal travellers, and we were all just common people together like any passenger list of any boat on any ordinary voyage.

But soon after we sighted Honolulu harbor, while we were slowly moving up the bay to the entrance of the harbor, the sound of motors was heard from the sky. Every one who was not already there lost no time in getting on deck and close to the rail. There, in the blue dome floated the winged parade of more than sixty of Uncle Sam's Army planes, a greeting of welcome to Honolulu in honor of the King and Queen of Siam and their entourage. Round and round they flew in formation of three, then of five then of seven, in huge circles, passing very close to the ship and dipping low to the water as they passed the portholes of the King's suite, opening the throttles of their motors wide, making a tremendous noise. It seemed as tho we could almost put our hands out over the rail and touch the tips of their near wings as they passed. There were two men in each plane and the ones in the rear seats waved to us as they passed. This demonstration lasted a full half hour and I think all the planes passed the ship closely three times. If the King and Queen got anywhere nearly the thrill out of it that the rest of the passengers did, perhaps those hundreds of dollars of expense to the U. S. Gov't. were not wasted. Just as Uncle Sam's demonstration of welcome was drawing to a close, a group of 8 or 9 amphibians appeared in the sky in a somewhat higher altitude, presenting the welcome to Honolulu, and the compliments of the Inter-Island Airways Corporation, the Supt. and part owner of which Father and I met on our trip home last Oct. on the Chichibu Maru, of the N. Y. K. Line.

We drew up to the dock at about 11:40 with the diving boys thick about our port side, sixteen in all I think. But the passengers were not very generous with their coins.

The twenty arches of the pier gallery were filled with people three or four deep and I scanned the rows critically but could not see anyone who looked like Allen Thayer our neighbor's son in Putnam, although there were several men dressed in the military uniform, in the crowd, and one carried two leis on his arm.

Everybody knew the King and party were aboard and waited expectantly to see them come off the boat. Passengers booked for Honolulu and those going ashore for the day went off first, then after a short interval of suspense the King and Queen were escorted off the boat by the officers of the ship in white uniforms, and were followed by a whole bevy of other white uniformed officers. At the foot of the gangway two U. S. Army officers in dress uniform waited to receive the King and Queen and they fell in as leading escort as soon as the Royal party reached the pier and lead them to automobiles in waiting and they were driven away, presumably, to the Royal Hawaiian Hotel for lunch. Father had gone off on to the pier to look for Allen Thayer while I staid on the deck of the boat to receive him if he came up there, and he, Father, saw the King and Queen take the auto,- police had to keep the crowds back and clear the way for them. It was interesting to see how quickly the crowds in the pier gallery dispersed after the royal passengers had passed down the gangway.

Just before the King's party left the boat, I was looking over the crowd in the pier gallery just opposite the deck of the boat where I was standing, for the thirtieth time probably, and who do you suppose I saw?!! Mrs. Geo. W. Andrews of Oberlin! She was just turning to leave and I caught a side view of her face but of course could not attract her attention and was too far away to speak to her.

When Father returned from a fruitless search, we went down to the ship's dining room and had lunch then went ashore.

First we went to the P. O. to mail our letters; then to the Y.M.C.A. (Navy and Army) to see what we could do about finding Allen Thayer, and finding its impracticable to go about 30 miles from the city to see him, I wrote him a letter telling him when we were leaving and posted it at once by special delivery. But he did not appear before we left.

After posting the letter we telephoned Gerald Kinnear or his wife rather at his house that we would just drive out to call. We drove around by the University which he is treasurer and business agent to see if he had left for his house and found his office closed. But as Father was coming back to the auto, he saw Gerald crossing the campus and waved to him. He was much surprised to see us as his wife had not telephoned him that we had called up or rather she had not reached him. Our driver knew the way and we led off and Gerald followed us in his car. When we reached the house, it was raining hard,- it rained anytime on the least provocation in Honolulu!) And up their valley they have 225 inches a year and on another section of the island less than ten miles away they have only 25 in.

After a pleasant call, Gerald and Mrs. K. took us in their car to a Chinese Restaurant for a Chop Suey dinner, -the best I ever ate of that sort I think; they are immensely fond of it. I am not; but they didn't find it out; and it was very good.

Gerald keeps two cars, - one for his use and one for his wife to drive to her card parties, lunches, shopping etc.

We had planned to attend a lecture at the Museum of Arts but couldn't get away from this entertainment; so spent the evening with them. After dinner we took a long drive about the island seeing places by electric light and by moonlight and finally called on Dr. and Mrs. Andrews at their home. They received us very cordially and we enjoyed it ever so much. We had been there a few minutes when Mr. and Mrs. Leete, missionaries going to China on our boat and both graduates of Oberlin, came in; they had been entertained at dinner by some friends in Honolulu and had, also come to call on Oberlin's well-known organist. Gerald saw some music paper and a pencil on the table of their dining- room and remarked to Dr. A. that that looked like work and asked him if he hadn't got to the place where he could rest yet. Dr. A. replied, "Well, I've taught fifty years and I think I ought to have a chance to study ten years now." Characteristic? Gerald and his wife took us back to our boat at about 10:15. It was registration time at the U. and he was very busy. So they wanted to get to bed early and did not come in to see the boats.

Next morning we rose at 6 and at 7 started on a 2 hr. drive over one of the highest points on the island. We took just fruit for breakfast as it was too early for the cooks and stewards, and 4 other ladies went with us on our invitation. They were Miss Walker of our mission in Foochow; Misses Cole and Cooper of the M.E. Mission in Foochow the former of the Girls College at Hwa Nang, the latter of the Anglo Chinese Boy's College of the M.E. Mission; and Miss Lee of the Southern Baptist Mission of ----- near Shanghai, - a southern lady. This drive was up a hill 1600 ft. high, thru tropical forest, and the road wound back and forth in easy grades up the ascent many of the turns being literally "hairpin turns" and most of the others were almost that angle. I feared after we had bargained for the drive ($6. for 2 hrs.) that I should be in an agony of fear over the steep grades but I was most happily disappointed. A fine 7 passenger car, a competent, careful driver, easy grades, congenial companions, a fine day, and magnificent scenery made the ride a never-to-be-forgotten one. Guavas fallen from trees by the roadside were lying in the road in several places. Night-blooming Cereus, Ginger flower (one of the flowers they make the leis of) Bouganvillas, Lantanna, Hibiscus, and other flowers grew beside the road. We picked two buds of Night-blooming Cereus and bro't it back to the boat and put it in water hoping it would blossom but it hasn't yet and I fear will not. It misses the sunshine.

Returning from the drive we went to the Agricultural Experiment Station and got seeds of Honolulu trees and plants. Here they have envelopes of seeds, 8 or 9 kinds put into a large manila envelope already to give to visitors who ask for them. Each of us ladies took one. Father, who had waited outside and had given us a time limit because our driver 2 hrs. contract was nearly expired, was amazed when we came back in less than three minutes all fixed up, for he tho't we would have to look over scores of kinds and each have a pkg. done up and each pay a bill and get change etc. etc.--- proverbial shopping! Our driver then took us down to the center to one of the big department stores where we dismissed him and each went our own way to shop, and meet on the boat which sailed at 10 a.m. We separated at 9:15. I bought an orchid knitted suit. 3 pcs. that was big enough (Dorothy and Kathleen) but not nearly so pretty as the blue one in Saginaw. Father went to the office of the Inter-Island-Airways Co. to call on Mr. Arthur Armitage, our friend of the Chichibu last year and left his office at 9:40 to go to the boat. After the boat had sailed and we were about an hour out, I went down to our cabin and there on the floor sat a big bouquet of double white tube roses, a dozen sprays, and 4 dozen red roses! All nicely done up in green paper and parafin paper. I rushed back up on deck to ask Father about it. He was innocent and ignorant of its source. We opened it and found the card of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Armitage. He certainly did some hustling to get that bouquet on to the boat in 20 minutes; for they did not know of our presence in Honolulu till Father called at his office. Wasn't that fine of him?

The Hawaiian band of about 15 pcs. played in the gallery of the pier as they always do for outgoing boats and a Hawaiian woman said to be of Royal Hawaiian blood, a relative of the last ruler, Queen Lillioukilani, sung solos and with a Hawaiian tenor, sang several duetts. The band and vocal music continued thru nearly a half hour before the boat sailed. She had a fine, full, strong clear voice for such open-air service, and, as always, was greatly appreciated by the passengers. The deck steward passed around the tray of rolls of paper streamers which were thrown generously by the passengers at the rail to their friends or to any one on the pier gallery opposite our deck, many missing their mark and falling to the pier below near to the water level and picked up by those standing there. As is always planned by the band master, the most appealing melody of all was timed for the moment just after the last deep whistle blast announced the boat's departure. The engines started, the housers were thrown off, the tug that was to pull the Empress out of her berth steamed away, the multicolored paper ribbons that attached departing friends on the pier waved in the breeze tightened and broke and the huge white ship slipped slowly out into the harbor while the dark-skinned soloist sweetly sung the "Aloha Oe" "Goodbye, till we meet again". The diving boys come close to the ship's side as soon as she moves away from the dock while several stand on the top-most deck of our boat waiting the strategic moment to make a spectacular dive; one by one they slip gracefully thru the air past the gazing crowds at the rails down into the water with so little splash and up again in an instant ready to dive for a coin. Several times I've seen it but this time, I saw an unusual thing which I've never seen before. As the tug that was pulling the Empress out into the harbor, swung around and came along up beside us, I noticed that one of the diving boys was being pushed before it. At first sight I thought him in great danger and distress, but after watching a few seconds, I saw that he was doing it as a feat of skill in the water, for the benefit of the spectators, and that the crew of the tug were working with him to produce the desired effect, for when he had carried it as far as he desired the tug crew shut of the power, brought the craft almost to a stop and gave him a chance to swim away to safety. He apparently was in the ordinary swimming position, with head held well up out of the water and his feet braced against either side of the prow of the boat and thus was pushed rapidly thru the water, his neck parting the water instead of the prow of the boat, the big foamy riders of water flying of over his shoulders. We all expected to see him go down under the boat any second till we caught on to the idea. Something new under the sun!- in the way of feats.

Everybody's interest had been held intent on what was happening at the water level, and few if any had thought to look skyward till the sound of motors from that quarter drew every one's attention aloft to behold Uncle Sam's big birds circling the ship in formation again. In threes they dipped low to the water in front of the king's port holes with wide open throttles (I guess this Gould, by the terrific noise they made!) then rose immediately to the higher altitude and were off and away following the leaders. This time, as soon as each group had finished the salute and risen, they fell into line single file until the whole group of 60+ planes were moving in a perfect circle over the ship. Their next move was to dip before the king's port-holes in single file with roaring engines and rise. Looking back in the opposite direction they dipped again singly to the ship's side rising sharply to the right and immediately turning left banking deeply, a very pretty stunt seen repeatedly, singly, and in rapid succession (Gould would explain the feat in three words where it has taken me fifty words to describe but I don't know the technical terms). As the noisy, but graceful, birds soared away in the distance, homing, our ship put on speed, turned her prow to the open sea, and with the fragrance of leis still wafting to us on every breeze that swept the deck, and the melody of the Aloha Oe still ringing in our souls and the green shores of the tropical island fading in the distance astern, we realized with a definite pang of regret that we were leaving Beautiful Honolulu perhaps for the last time.

I didn't buy a single thing as a curio, but got the flower seeds and a few little things we needed that we had forgotten before, I looked for a knitted dress like the one I tried on at Saginaw (3 pc. suit) and found an orchid one with white blouse; it is pretty but does not compare with the blue one. I took it however and it is large enough.

On Monday we just didn't have any day at all because we went over that arbitrary 180th meridian that takes one day away from you every time you cross it going west and gives it back to you in addition to your full quota when you go back over it east. We didn't notice any hole, or blank space in time however; things went right on just the same as tho we hadn't dropped out a day. We didn't really miss it altogether however, for we lived 40 minutes of it each morning as extra time in bed. So, you see, it didn't drop out with a bang, but little by little, - so gradually that we didn't notice it.

We have now seen the King and Queen and the Prince and Princess several times and they look really quite like ordinary humans. I came so near them at a lecture on typhoons in 1st Cabin Lounge the other evening that I could have shaken hands with them easily, but did not presume on that privilege. At the close of the performance, the rest of us were asked to stand while the royal party crossed the front of the room and entered the elevator to be taken to their suites. Last evening at moving pictures in 1st Cabin, we arrived (at 8:45) too early!) and were sitting in the reception room or foyer just outside the dining room waiting for the first cabin passengers to finish dinner and the stewards to clear the tables and set the chairs for the picture show when the doors of the private dining room opened and the royal party emerged, (the king smoking a cigarette!) and crossed the foyer in front of us 10 ft. away, and entered the elevator. We also saw them once on deck. They looked just like their newspaper pictures and are, (the king especially) diminutive. The prince and princess are a little larger, - at least more portly.

Last Tuesday, (I am now writing on Sept. 26) and we are waiting in the 1st Cabin Smoking Room, 40x45 ft. containing at least 25 large stuffed chairs, and 25 other armchairs with stuffed seats; about a dozen 3 or 4 seat, stuffed divans or sofas, 25 card tables glass-topped, six triple windows, 6 electric fans- large, -13 indirect ceiling lights 18 side- wall double- candle lights indirect- globed (or shaded) etc. etc. and a very ornate carved mantle and over mantle and fireplace, - this just to give you an idea of size, proportions and sumptuousness. - We are waiting, as I said, to get our pass-ports checked up so that we can go ashore, - 1st and tourist passengers all together assembled, and 3 Japanese officers working at full speed negotiating these all important credentials with reference to their authenticity, legality and integrity of ownership. As soon as this is over we go down to breakfast. Later: - Well that was not much of an ordeal aside from the long waiting, and breakfast was quickly over for we wanted to get up on deck to see the boat dock.

All the steamers in port were decorated with long lines of small flags of all nations strung on rope and draped over the mast from prow to stern. No salute was fired that we heard, and no gun-boat escorted us in, as we heard there was to be.

There was one, the officers tell me, just one, that we didn't hear, - while we were at breakfast. The gunboat also did escort us in before we were up.

We reached the entrance to the harbor at 4 o'clock in the morning and stood off till 6:30 when the Dr. came on and began quarantine inspection. At 7 the mail came on and the pilot boat was along side, and the immigration officers arrived in another launch about 7:30. At 8:30 we were up at the pier; it was interesting to see the men on the pier put the boat up to it. A small rope was thrown to the pier from the prow by which a larger rope was drawn thru the water to the pier. All of the ten men got hold of this one behind another at the front edge of the pier and pulled the boat up by walking to the back of the pier. As each man reached the back he let go and returned to the starting point to get a new hold behind the last man. This was repeated many times till the boat touched the pier. Probably the same was preceding at the stern but I did not see it. Those two ropes of human strength handle this enormous bulk and weight so easily tho slowly. Then the 3 gangways were placed by three crews; one midway, the other two from the lowest deck at points about halfway from the middle to the prow and stern respectively. The two latter were soon in place and in use. But the middle one to the deck above took the longest time to adjust that I ever remember to have observed at any port in all my travels. But, - there was a reason; - it was being especially prepared for a King and Queen. It had a cover over its full length of cream white heavy canvas, was lined on both sides with a strip of the same, and carpeted with two thicknesses. We awakened to a cloudy, misty morning and could not see Mt. Fuji. By eight o'clock it was really raining and ever since 10:30 a.m. it has just Poured. It is now 10 p.m. and the officer of the ship who is playing cards in the deck saloon where I am writing has just remarked that it is "coming down in bucket-fulls, and will probably rain all night!" Well, finally the gang-way for the royals was completed and one of the men stayed by it constantly, pushing up the sag in the top to drain off a few qts. of water that collected in the dips, at intervals, and wiping the rain off the handrails with a big cloth the rest of the time. Nearly all of the passengers were gathered at the rails on the promenade deck and the deck below waiting to see the royal party go off. A few hundred had gone off soon after we docked. A group of Japanese officials and dignitaries in cutaways and high silk hats stood waiting in the pier gallery opposite. Police in dress uniform of white trousers, high topped black boots, brass buttoned blue coats, and white gold braided caps, and swords hanging from their belts were guarding the pier below and were sprinkled about generally. Away off at the far end of the pier five hundred ft. away a crowd of people under umbrellas waited to meet their friends or to see the King disembark and were roped off and police-guarded, to keep the pier clear till the king had gone off. On both decks of the boat Japanese police guarded a section fifty feet each side of the King's gang-way. The Japanese dignitaries and one Military official in lots of gold braid and brass buttons and very ornate hat went on as soon as the troublesome gang way was adjusted and everybody tho't the Royals would soon appear, - but there was a lot more waiting still to come. I suppose the Capt. of the Empress had to entertain them all to tea; moreover Japanese ceremony is proverbially deliberate. One after another of the passengers who had been so anxious to see the King and Queen go off, got tired of waiting and gave it up and left for they couldn't afford to waste so much of their precious time on shore. A Bishop's wife (Methodist South) stood beside me; her husband wanted to give it up and go but she said, "This will be our last chance to see them for we get off at Kobe." The King's party left the steamer at Yokohama, went by rail by Kobe where they came on again just before we leave that port. And still we waited, not caring to leave the rail for a minute lest it all happen while we were away. I remarked to the Bishop's wife Mrs. Keru, that I wondered if the King and Queen realized at all how many hundreds of people's time they were consuming by their delay. Presently, a small group of the Japanese dignitaries escorted the prince and princess out, - the mother and father of the queen; she carried a large bunch of yellow roses which had been presented by the Japanese. Then more waiting:- I suspect the King thought he would fool the people into thinking it was all over and that the prince was the king and would go away satisfied that they had seen the King. Then he would come off quietly and unobserved. But they were not so easily fooled. They still waited. The top layer of the canvas on the floor of the gang way was now wet and well traced up by so many important Japanese going in and out executing their various functions of reception and entertainment. And when we saw the two men in charge of the gang way rolling up the wet one and taking it away leaving the other one dry and clean with a speed that was certainly significant we were sure the King Is Coming. Father had just been down stairs and returned just at this juncture to confirm our prediction for he had seen them come out of their suite into the foyer just as he was passing. Every one's eyes were riveted on the gang way. After a few minutes more waiting a murmur ran thru the crowd "There they come", then perfect silence as the military man and silk hatted Japanese men led the way and the queen in brown hat and coat and carrying a bouquet of red roses followed by the king, proceeded up the gang way. Two ladies in waiting followed and more Japanese dignitaries brought up the rear. The younger of the two other ladies was dressed in red and the other all in white. Conspicuous among the rear guard was the one Japanese lady in blue Japanese costume, probably the first lady of the city. It was very evident that they were all keenly conscious that we were all getting a good look at them as they passed out thru the pier gallery to their automobiles below. Then there was a grand rush on the passengers to get ashore as soon as possible.

One hour and a half we had lost of our precious nine hours in port, waiting for a one minute's view of a King and Queen! Foolish people? Yes, I guess we were; but for most of us it would be the only opportunity of just that kind we would ever have. Then too, every one was thinking, all that hour and a half, that it would all be over in five minutes and so they kept on being foolish lest, if they gave it up and left, it might happen immediately and they would wish they had been patient a few minutes longer.

All the business of the ship had been held up all that hour and a half as they wanted to keep the ship quiet and tidy till the social ceremonies were over and the Royal party were off and away. As soon as they were gone the cranes and deck machinery began working to lift the heavy covers of the well into the hold and to carry the mail bags and cargo to the pier. By the time we went out across the pier a huge pile of mail-bags was already out. O, how it rained. We walked all the way up town to Benten Dori, and began looking thru the shops. Every little while some of our ship mates would drop in to the shop where we were looking about or we would go into a shop to find some of them already there. One girl of ten years was in one shop her older sister in another, older brother in another and father mother and younger brother in a fourth shop. She asked me if I knew where her parents were. I told her. You girls weren't quite so venturesome as to go about by yourselves when you came thru were you? Well I should not have been willing to let you go about alone in a strange foreign city.

I bought for Dorothy's sale Pictures, place cards, correspondence cards, writing paper and env., combs in cases, purses, grape clusters, place-card holders, puzzles, toys=tops and apples. For myself I bo't fans and looked for a hour but did not find what I wanted. I'll get it at Kobe. I bo't another china set for somebody. I am sending Geraldine two crystal necklaces and a crystal ball drop set in silver mounting. She wants one and will dispose of the others as she sees fit.

Father took his lunch in a Japanese restaurant on shore but I used my time otherwise. He returned to the boat at 4 o'clock to receive the things I bought as they were delivered by the messengers of each shop. Our boat was scheduled to sail at five p.m. but we had an inkling of some possible delay; so I staid up on Benten Dori feasting my eyes on beautiful things till 4:30 then dashed for the ship expecting to walk all the way; but it was pouring so hard that when more than a third of the way there I saw an empty rikisha and bargained for a ten sen ride to the pier. The runner was old and couldn't go any faster running, than I could walking but he took the wetting and the exercise while I kept dry and rested so it was worth the cost. I arrived at the boat with 12 minutes to spare and found Father getting off his wet clothes. That was one rain that made him buy an umbrella! Hurrah!

Did you meet any rain on your journey to Logan, Kathleen, that was sufficient to teach you the wisdom of carrying an umbrella? And how about that fresh new suit with its white silk scarf-tie after your train trip to Logan of two days or more?! [Sad face drawn here]! If it was as hot and dirty as our trip was across, it must have been a sorry sight!

No sooner was I on board than I learned that the boat would not sail till the next morning at 8 o'clock. Some of the passengers went ashore again after dinner and returned at 11 o'clock; but for once I had had enough shopping in the rain and was content to stay on board and go to bed.

Sun. 27 "We sailed this morning at 8 o'clock with very little ceremony or excitement, I fancy; but I was not on deck to see. Possibly it was more quietly done because of the strained relations between Japan and China. We are hearing various reports of their activities and got a radio newspaper at sea every day, but do not know what to believe and can form no opinion till we reach Shanghai. We hear the Chinese have refused to sit with the Institute of Pacific Relations if the Japanese do, on account of the strained relations between China and Japan. So the members, many of whom are on this boat, have decided to meet in the international settlement of Shanghai, as China was to be the host of this remarkable gathering, and if she has refused to sit with them, of course she will not act as host to them. It is too bad that this important conference has been marred and handicapped by unpleasant international occurrences just on the eve of its convening. Three of its members gave us lectures, on board a few evenings ago. Very interesting. The Institute was to have met at Hangchow, by China's invitation she acting as host of the Pacific Nations.

Sunday Sept. 27 This is my 2nd sitting today on this letter and I forgot I had written any of today's news. We have not been at all religious today, - no service at all has been held on board today except the Catholic early this morning. There are 7 minister missionaries in tourist cabin, and plenty more in first cabin besides three bishops and yet no religious meeting at all! The more spiritual leaders, the less religion it would seem! Every one waits for one of the others to take the initiative, so nobody does anything. It hasn't seemed like Sunday, with no service and everybody playing cards and deck games and majong. I have always thought that it was the rule on all British and Canadian ships that a service must be held every Sunday at sea. I don't understand how the Capt. got around that. Possibly 1st Cabin had a service but did not invite tourist cabin as there are now more Chinese on board going home from Japan on account of the troubles. They got on at Yokohama Monday- We arrived in Kobe about 6:30 this morning and official inspection was brief and easy. I stopped to pack some things I had bought for Dorothy's sale so as to mail them in Kobe, that day so did not get out on the street as early as I intended but we had until 4:30 to shop as our steamer did not sail till 6 o'clock. we mailed two pkgs. to Dorothy registered, of Japanese things, - water color pictures, gauze, center pieces, and doilies, writing paper, correspondence cards, place-cards, place-card holders, combs in cases, (cute) purses, grape clusters, apples with tops in them, apples with a game in them, puzzles, - I guess that's all. They should reach her before this does about Nov. 1st.

Having mailed the parcels I picked out ½ doz. more cups, saucers and plates; but as my money got short and the rest of the patterns where he would break the sets were not specially new or interesting, I did not buy more. I added to these a large milk pitcher and a funny little water jug with a little bird on top under which was an opening which acted as a whistle when water is poured out the spout and air rushes in thru the whistle. I bo't this merely as a curio. Then I bo't a houri for myself! It has an iris pattern in pail lavender and yellow with green leaves on the outside and pale lavender lining with iris on that in similar shades, - not the prettiest thing I have seen but, will do. I did not buy one for Kathleen as she had the Chinese coat and will probably appreciate hers more when she is married. Nor did I get one for Marjorie for she may go to China next year and will prefer to pick hers out herself. But I did buy one [for] Myra with green flowers on the outside and green lining with gray flowers on it. And I bought one for Virginia with conventionalized chrysanthemums (similar to the to batik dresses a bro't home last) the flowers outside were in red white and yellow, lining orange silk with same flowers on in red black and white. We mailed these to the respective parties or ordered them mailed and shall be interested to see if they get thru alright. I can get other houris for any of you any time.

Father went back to the boat for his lunch but I couldn't afford the time. He came back up to Moto Machi where I was shopping at about 3:30 and told me to get back to the boat quickly if I wanted to see the demonstration for the king. We just stopped long enough to order the two houris mailed- (I had picked them out before) and then he went right back to the boat and I went back up the street a few doors to pick up mine where I had seen it an hour before. Then I made for the boat. The special train that brought the royal party and their entertainers right down to the pier was just moving out as I came up to the pier. So they had gone on to the boat before I arrived; but I saw all the decorations and the school children about 2000, the boy scouts, several score, the soldiers, about 200. All,- every individual, had the national flag in several sizes from 1 in. long to forty or 50 in. long; the largest were carried by the soldiers, were of red silk, I think, with gold fringe all around, only about 15 of these; then there were many large ones of bunting with no gold on them and of cotton also. Every few minutes all these groups would cheer and lift their flags and wave them at the same time. I could not understand what the word was that they said,- it apparently was not "Bonzai" the old cheer word that I used to hear which means "A Thousand Years". The pier gallery was lined at the rail and at the back- against the house, also all down the long staircase, both sides, leading up to the gallery from the street with white and red striped cloth about 3 ½ ft. wide, the stripes about 6 in. wide and running cross wise. Also the same cloth was draped (straight) along the back of the pier warehouse where the train came in. The floor of the whole length of the pier gallery was carpeted with one width of heavy white canvas 2 ft. wide as was also the whole length of the staircase and the gang- way. The schoolchildren, scouts, and soldiers were arranged in a long double 2 deep line facing the pier, along the whole length of the street where the train came in, but on the opposite side of the street from the pier and the train, where they could be seen to better advantage from the train than if they were standing near it. After the King's Party had gone up the stairs and on to the boat, I think the carpeting was taken up and the school children went up on the gallery and arranged themselves in a double or triple line along the rail with their flags resting on it, while those behind held theirs at 45 deg. between the children of the front row and the back row held theirs between those of the second row and as the larger flags were at the back and had longer staffs all the flags showed to good advantage and were a unique sight when they waved. Add to that the flags and banners of the scouts and soldiers below, and the hundreds of citizens without flags but wearing hdkfs., and hats and you have a picture that strains your imagination to visualize!

We left Kobe at five as scheduled. As the boat was moving slowly out of the harbor day fireworks were put off from the break water (wall) that bounds the inner harbor. Rockets were sent up which burst with a bang releasing the Japanese flag which descended slowly by a parachute. About 4 of these then three of those that break and spread out into a great tassel of sparks, and several that were all noise. Had it been dark they would have appeared to better advantage,- all except the flags, perhaps. Now we are wondering what China will put on at Shanghai as a welcome to the King.

We shall reach Shanghai Wednesday at about 2 p.m. I will send the next detachment of news from there.

Please send this letter around as follows:-Dorothy, Geraldine, Gould, Marjorie. I am not sure that this is interesting enough to send to Etta, Emma, and the farm; if you think so send then to those places before it goes to Marjorie. Mail it to her as soon as it makes the rounds even if it is winter as she will get it at Christmas or when the first Spring mail goes.

Very much love to all,

Mother.

Reached Shanghai at 2??

[This letter dated Sept. 19, 1931 was written from North West River, Labrador, Canada by Monnie (Marjorie) to Gerry (Geraldine). She talks about the sociability of the people around her and she tells about the people she lives with. She tells about the moccasins, sealskins and blankets that are available up there. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

North West River, Labrador.
Sept. 19, 1931.

Dearest Gerry,

The mail goes today and I must get off at least one letter to the family! There are so many to write for the school that I always leave personal letters till last, then they sometimes don't get written. My family gets few, and my friends almost none! We always leave letters till the last thing before the mail goes, anyway. It sounds so foolish, but when there isn't a mail going everyday there is [isn't] the urgent need for writing away, and there are so many other pleasanter things to do when you have time away from work. We don't get out for walks nearly so much as we'd like to- and N.W.R. is a beautiful place- ideal for walking, and so many different walks to take. I've splurged enough so that you must know that already by this time.

Last year- or rather the year before last, I felt almost no sense of social obligation toward anyone, if that expresses what I mean. Ronnie was usually taken up with Carmen, and when she wasn't she was the aggressive one in planning what we should do, and did it in a way that made one withdraw into oneself rather than reach out to meet the suggestions and match them with others oneself—just passive acquiescence. But here everyone is so generously sociable. When you have to see anyone on business, you always stop and have a talk, or even a cup of tea. And everyone notices when you are tired and hauls you out for a walk, or invites you out for supper and the evening. And if you don't see people in the course of your work, and don't then make occasion to see them, they ask where you keep yourself and why you don't come out of your retirement once in awhile and be sociable. One can't keep talking all the time and giving nothing- and being friends takes time! That's a big reason why not more letters.

This year the teacher's cottage was let to the new minister and his wife, since Dr. and Mrs. Paddon are to be in the States, and all the teachers except me are living with the nurse and housekeeper and dentist in the hospital. I, fortunate I ! am living with Jack and Annie Watts in their lovely new house. I have the nicest room, overlooking the river. It's as much fun helping them christen their new dishes etc. as it was helping Dot and Harold use some of their wedding gifts. Annie's kitchen is all cream and green with a complete set of pots, pans and utensils in the same colors, sent to her by a wealthy lady who spends summers here often.

Betty and Mrs. Paddon, with the P. boys are probably just now reaching the states. You must see and know Betty and I have arranged with her to have you meet Mrs. Paddon. They are both such dears. Betty lives at 37 Grant St., Chicopee, Mass. Do write to her and invite her to drive down some Sunday and take you over to Westville (I think that's the name) Conn, to see Mrs. Paddon. She promised me she'd do that.

By the way, if there's anything you'd like me to bring you when I come out next summer be sure to write me soon, for I can't always get anything at a moment's notice. I am having a short deerskin coat (sport) made. They are the warmest things and would cost somewhere around $10 or $15 I think, finished. Then there are moccasins, sealskins and anything made from them, the warm duffel blankets I gave Gould and Dot, all sorts of mittens etc. If you would like anything wire soon so that I can be sure to get it. I am going to try to get a big black bear rug for Gould. There are such lovely ones for only 5-8 dollars. Don't tell him, tho, I want to surprise him. Will you pass the word along to the others to write their wants, too? Thank you.

In the spring at our fair, we have a fish pond and each of year we have the dickens of a time finding enough white elephants to fill it. Do you suppose you could take up some among your friends and from the farm people or the other relatives and send them as soon as possible- for the last boat comes up the last of October. For girls- ribbons, pins, handkerchiefs, beads, pictures, pocketbooks, any sort of novelties- for boys, ties, stickpins, handkerchiefs etc. Any little thing which could sell for 10-25 cents. Don't break your neck to do it, but it would help a lot, if you could find a few things. I always am in some sort of work that requires begging, am I not?!! Thank you so much! Must close and go to school. We started last Monday. Lots and lots of love – Monnie. Write again soon- I mean you!

[This letter dated Sept. 28, 1931 was written from the steamship "Empress of Canada" in Kobe Harbor, Japan by Willard to Geraldine. The King of Siam is on the ship which causes some changes in normal ship life. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Kobe Harbor, Japan

Sept 28th 1931

On Board the Canadian Pacific Steamship
"Empress of Canada"

Dear Geraldine:-

I have just mailed something to you for Mother. I think it was a crystal of some kind. This is just to appraise you in case it does not come I have the receipt.

The trip thus far has been fine- a little- what I call rough a day out from Victoria and yesterday. But not sufficient to make me sick – only lazy.

Your photo reached us at Seattle or rather at Victoria. It is the nearest to having you yourself with us and we thank you for it. I have in my pocket the picture Mary and Stanley took that Sunday at the farm and also four views of Hazel. Very likely you see her more frequently than others of the family.

We are to go at 5 p.m. today, - if the King of Siam does not upset it. Several passengers are not 100% pleased at travelling with Royalty. It is too sacred and common people are denied privileges that are given to all when Royalty is not aboard. Very lovingly

Father.

[Addressed to:]

Miss Geraldine Beard
Room 304
Public Library
5th Ave and 42nd St
New York City
U.S.A.

[This letter dated Late Sept. 1931 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy thanks Geraldine for getting a new typewriter to Marjorie. She tells about miscellaneous family and day to day things. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Wednesday-
[Late Sept., 1931]

Dear Jerry:-

How's good old New York? As busy as ever? I get quite homesick for the East at times. It must be lovely to be within walking distance of Edith's. Do you get over there very often? Have you heard from the Vails to see how they like their new home?

That was tough to have so much chasing to do about that typewriter. I guess none of us realized that it would entail all that trouble to you when we asked you to do it. We really should have seen about it while we were all there in N.Y. It got to Monnie post haste, for I received a letter a while ago from her, that she wrote on it. Also, she said that my two boxes of things- sent several weeks before-came in on the same steamer. The shoes just fitted her and she is delighted with them. That relieves me greatly, because Kathleen was so positive that they would be too small.

Kathie writes that she can't sit in on the family radio chats on Sat. evenings any more because they can't get KDKA.

Have you got your Empress Eugenie yet? I do wish you could see mine and my whole brown outfit. I like it so much.

Have you had your sale yet? I don't expect my things from Mother till Nov. sometime. I do hope they'll get here before everybody has done all of their Christmas shopping.

Do you get the Bertha Studio Christmas cards? I have been getting them every year, and each year I think they grow prettier. I got my box just last week and I sent it right on to Monnie. I think she will be able to find use for a dozen of them. I am having the Bertha Studio send both you and Kathleen a box, too. It will be all paid for, so don't let them charge you. I think you will like the cards.

Have Monnie's two big letters reached you yet? I do wish those pictures would hurry up and get here. Did I tell you that she sent us a lovely warm bright red duffel blanket, with black stripes across the ends- a 4-point blanket. It's a beauty and real heavy and warm. With the blanket came a pair of little white deer-skin booties for a much-craved little personage. My, they're darling! By the way, did you deceive Donald Hume Jr.'s little announcement? Another "Junior"! We got ours just today.

Day after tomorrow- or, rather, Saturday- the Johnsons and we are driving down to the Ohio State game. This year we didn't send ahead for tickets, but are going to take a chance on getting them down there. After the game, we go on to Ypsilanti to spend the night with the Lappinems. I hope to see Margaret Wilder Menzi this time. Her husband teaches right across the hall from Matt Lapppinem, in the same building. Do you remember the time you drove the girls to see one of the games? Wasn't that fun? Are you going to get to see any games this year?

Next week Thurs. and Fri. are our Teacher's Convention days. This year the convention is held right here in Saginaw. Just today, I wrote to Ruthie Brooks to see if she wouldn't come up and stay with us during that time and over the week-end. This is my third invitation to her and she hasn't come yet, because each time she has been busy. I don't even know whether she's down there again this year or not, but I'm taking a chance on it, and I hope she accepts this time.

I just read in the paper tonight that we actually have a spring vacation this year- along in the last of March- a week. We haven't had one for two years. We get just fourteen days at Christmas. That's a lot more than you get, tho, eh?

The wife of one of our men teacher's at North has two brothers teaching at West Haven, Conn., and she and her husband are planning to drive her father and mother out there for Christmas. It just makes me want to pile along with them so awfully badly!!

Have you seen Hazel Ellen recently? I haven't heard a word from any of them.

Do you still have that crazy old fur coat? I was thinking that if you're sure you can't use it, I guess I'll send it to Galesburg and let either Florence or Grace use it if they care to. I'm sorry it's been such a white elephant on your hands. Send it right along, and don't bother to insure it.

I have bought some beautiful straw flowers and bitter-sweet and have fixed up two or three winter bouquets for the house. They do brighten things up so.

I must stop and go to bed early and try to sleep off this cold. You see, I haven't started to take my cold shower every morning yet.

Much love and write soon again. Am enclosing a check for $6. for our share on the typewriter. Dot.

The Headquarter of Bandits Suppression of Kiangsu Province

Yangchow, Kiangsu, China,

October 1, 1931.

To all Christians, Chinese and Foreign, and all members of Christian Institutions,

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

As we know, China has a history of four thousand years and her people have always preserved the old virtues such as loyalty, fidelity, benevolence and righteousness. Through this long period the reason why she could remain as the oldest nation is simply because of her adherence to the above virtues. At present, the so-called modernists, coated themselves with imperfect western civilization, urge for the throwing away of all the old moral restraints so as to enjoy themselves in the new evils. Thus God is punishing us with much suffering. First come the bandits then the flood which falls upon China as a very heavy stroke.
(Isaiah I; 4-9)

while we were in deep sorrow and suffering all busy trying to relieve those suffering people, imperialistic Japan attacked us. They occupied Mukden and other cities murdering our officials and citizens but spreading false reports to all other nations so as to make them believe that we were at fault. According to the international law all nations ought to interfere with them since their actions are barbarous indeed. we, Chinese, offered no resistance as we wanted to seek Justice through the League of Nations by which we plainly proved our high moral standard.

when we read the Book of Judges in the old Testament we find that whenever the Isrealites disobeyed God their country was always invaded by enemies until they cried for God's mercy. when they showed true repentance, they were soon delivered by God. So we can be sure that the suffering we meet is meant to teach us to repent.

Therefore the first important thing is to arouse all Chinese up to seek repentance which may stop the anger of God. Here at Yangchow we have co-operated in organizing prayer meetings. The place of meeting is not important nor is the number of people. Two or three coming together and praying to God in spirit and in truth fulfil God's conditions. Now we wish all Christians to join us in this earnest praying. In ancient times God promised not to destroy Sodom and Gomorrah if only ten righteous men could be found there and we believe there are more than ten in China but we have to help each other to cleanse ourselves and then pray for china. This is the greatest responsibility of Christians.

In these recent days Japan is ready to fight, her government on one hand calls back all Japanese immigrants along the Yangtze River and on the other hand refuses to allow the interference of other nations. She tries to force General Chang, the chairman of Kirin Province, to sign a statement to prove that Chinese soldiers attacked Japanese first. When he refused, they put him in prison and gave him nothing to eat. These are all facts. Alas! It is inhuman! So we beg all foreign friends to write to your friends and relatives in your native countries and if possible to your governments, telling them the true facts of the Mukden incident so that they may uphold justice for China preventing the Japanese from making use of their false reports. This shows the difference between Christianity and imperialism. Since we Christians, no matter whether foreign or Chinese, are brothers and sisters in Christ you will surely be willing to help us (Psalm 9; 7-10).

We need your earnest prayers and we also ask your help in presenting the real facts to all whom you know.

May God bless you and your holy work. Amen.

I am,

Yours in Christ,

Chang Tse Kiang

[This letter dated Oct. 28, 1931 was written from Logan, Utah by Kathie to Jerrabee (Geraldine). Kathleen has heard that Geraldine is living on Long Island and studying at Columbia. She jokes about Ellen's long letter written from the ship about the King of Siam. Halloween will bring many parties. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Oct. 28 [1931]

Dear Jerrabee:

Indirectly I hear that you are all settled on Long Island and are studying in Columbia. Bravo! You are probably rushing your head off again in a whirl of activity. Now don't get all tired out this time. Write me all about your new location and how much you have to pay for it.

You probably have the news of our new cousin-first-removed, Donald Corbin Jr. Aunt Etta wrote me a proud letter about him and gave me a lot of Oberlin news. She does write the newsiest letters of anybody I know. Poor Don, now he has a family on his hands and business is pretty slack, I guess. Aunt Etta said that Mill [Millicent] was enjoying her work but especially the checks that it brought. She would! Do you see Myron very often? He wrote me a nice long letter which I have never answered, but tell him I intend to when you see him next.

Did you ever get that bridge set off to Gidge? She has never mentioned it in her letters and I wondered if you forgot it. How much do I owe you on it?

A great big, long letter from Mother is on its way around the family. It came here first on its way East, but I'm just warning you about it so that you can ask for a day off from work to read it. The whole thing is 14 pages of fine writing, a detailed account of their trip and a full description of every demonstration for the King of Siam. It is really very interesting and enlightening but I had to read it in installments.

What is happening at the farm now, do you know? I haven't heard anything from that quarter since leaving Saginaw and am wondering about how Aunt Flora is.

Next Saturday is Halloween and we have numerous parties to attend. I don't have any costume but I guess I can scrape up one. We have already had a kid party on one Saturday night which was lots of fun. The girls danced all evening and acted as crazy as they wanted to. It is so different attending a party like that as a teacher from the ones we used to have at school. I don't enjoy them nearly as much - just watch others have fun. In a way I am getting very tired of being a teacher, for we never can come out of our "shells" so to speak. I am longing for a chance to "let out" and be myself once instead of being Miss Beard all the time. The eternal strain of acting the superior is getting on my nerves and there is no escape from it until Christmas. It is just 50 days now until the "brats" go away and leave us in peace. They have the days all counted just as we used to, and notify us of it every day. I can't wait for the vacation; for work is piling up on me and I am beginning to feel rushed, as of old.

I mustn't write more now for my mood is none to good for an interesting letter. Much love anyway and remember me to the folks at the Lib. - Kathie

[This letter dated Nov. 1, 1931 was written from Northwest River, Labrador, Canada by Marjorie to Jerry (Geraldine). Monnie feels Kathleen has matured from the sound of her letters. She had a quiet summer and a vacation trip to Rigolet. Winter is coming and she has been on 2 hunting trips with no luck. She thanks Geraldine for the typewriter which is on its way. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Marjorie Beard
Northwest River
Via Rigolet
Labrador

Nov. 1, 1931.

Dearest Jerry,

Your last contrite letter was most touching. Cheer up, that last mail was a corker! Letters from almost every member of the family - not only the "immediate", either. And photos galore. Kathie sent two dandy long epistles, with pictures, too. My! that child has matured! Some of the expressions she used, and her really masterly description of the country, made me feel quite humble. I hear she's getting to be quite attractive, too. I'm anxious to see her - that kid sister of ours!

I'm so glad you've found so good a place to move to - you've been so happy with the Vails. Aren't you glad to be out on Long Island? - and so near everyone, too. You're lucky.

I'm looking forward to your next installment. I got so many letters telling about separate events, from so many different points of view, that the impression I have received of the whole summer is that of a whole tribe of whiskers [a fun way of referring to the "Beard" family] flying to and fro- now in multitudes together, now in smaller companies! which it probably was – and I know how much fun it is! No wonder you all had no time to write. I didn't write over much my self, if you noticed.

Our summer was rather quiet- spent mostly at gardening, writing (mostly business letters) when there was mail, helping paint the school and school cottages, going off for an occasional (very!) trip. I am enclosing a letter I wrote to you, which came back to me for some unknown reason. It tells something of my vacation trip to Rigole. That was fun!

Our first snow was day before yesterday, so winter is really beginning. However, it probably won't last, and will get warm again before winter sets in for good and all. We had been hoping for a lot of partridges this year- that was the rumor. But we have been hunting twice and have had absolutely no luck. And the native hunters have not done much better. Today tho, right at the end of our path leading to the house, two partridges flew up off the ground. The silly creatures knew it was Sunday, when shooting is a sacrilege, and six of them, we heard, flew about the portage path, just back of the village, just to tantalize everyone! I'm getting up at the crack-o'-dawn tomorrow morning, and am going out with the trusty 22 that Betty left me, to see whether I can find any of the fowls- for they don't fly far. I'll have to make it early, too, for all of N.W.R. will be along out after them, too! When partridges are so scarce, one is not to be sniffed at! We have had them just twice, and last year at this time we were having them every day.

Thank you so much, Jerry dear, for your part in the typewriter which is coming, I hope on this next boat. Your part is larger than any of the others', for you had the trouble of ordering it. I shall appreciate it so much, and will try to do what I can with the book of lessons, tho I am busy and shall probably have to go on until at least Christmas vacation with my old Hunt and Peck method.

Many, many thanks for your package. The blouses are so pretty- especially the satin one. I declare, I'll have to have a skirt made to go with it- all mine are too old. I'd like a black velvet – maybe I can get some up here. And where did you unearth that white silk blouse that I used to have? Did I give it to you? I had an idea I gave it to Ronnie. That was awfully good of you to send it along. The little toys included in the box were cute. I love the little Dutch family and am going to save it for a time when the children are studying Holland. It will make an adorable sand table scene.

I do hope your next letter is on the next "Kyle". And don't feel badly about not having written, for the letters served all the better, for my not having heard for so long.

Would you do me one more favor? Namely, get a lb. box of Chinese jasmine tea in a red lacquer box ($1.25, I think- from Mrs. Davis, Oberlin) and send it to Betty Lorimer, 35 Grant St., Chicopee, Mass.? I want her to give it to Mrs. Paddon for my Xmas present. I haven't the money to send you now- but tell me how much it all is- postage included, and I'll reimburse you. Thank you. And now- goodbye until January Love- Monnie

[This letter dated Nov. 6, 1931 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. Willard sends a brief note to Geraldine with her birth certificate. Sherwood Eddy is in Foochow again. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Friday evening 9:30

Nov. 6- 1931

Dear Geraldine:

Just a word before I retire. I am enclosing 1. Your birth certificate. You may never need it but if you do need it you will want it badly. 2. A writing making you the beneficiary of your life insurance policy. The company will not accept this but it will show my intention and when I come home in 1935 if all goes well I will satisfy the Company's demand for a Notary Public's stamp.

Sherwood Eddy arrived in Foochow this morning. The Chinese almost worship him because of the telegram he sent to America from Mukden relative to Japan's doings there. He will speak three or four times daily for ten days in all parts of Foochow and to all kinds of audiences. Mrs. Eddy is with him. Mother and I are to meet him at dinner tomorrow evening at Mr. Munsons- and at lunch with Mr. and Mrs. Siek (Hseuh) Principal of Foochow College next Thursday.

Annual Meeting comes in a few days. Mother has promised to entertain the Beaches.

The mail today brought a good letter from Dorothy. With love Father

[This letter dated Nov. 8, 1931 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Jerry (Geraldine). She is forwarding Ellen's letter written on the steamer about the King of Siam. She talks about some items from Japan for their sales. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy C. Newberg
2108 North Bond Street
Saginaw W.S.
Michigan

Nov. 8, 1931.

Dear Jerry:-

Letters come so fast from both ways, to be forwarded in so many different directions, that it keeps me humping. This monster epistle from Mother came from Kathleen last week. I kept it over Sun. for I wanted to write a long letter answering it and didn't have time in the week. Take a whole evening off to read it. It's wonderfully interesting.

Have you received your box that Mother referred to in her letter: Was there much duty? I got two shipments of things from Japan- mostly inexpensive little novelties that went like lightening around here. I was planning not to sell a thing till everything got here, but it's half gone already. She sent some of the handsomest correspondence cards, cute place cards, and lots of other cute things that she tells about in her letter.

The paintings and the doilie sets that she wants you and Kath to have if you want them, I think I'll send to you and let you take your pick, then you send them to Kath and let her pick, then she send to Ginny, etc.- or would it be better the way I started out- send it out to Kathie first then she to the East for you and Ginny, and you send the rest of the doilie sets where Mother said to, and the rest of the pictures to me and I'll keep them for Mother with the rest of her things.

She sent only six doilie sets and wants nine people to have one. Monnie wouldn't want one up there now anyway, and what do you think about Aunt Mollie? That might eliminate two people. Maybe Kathie wouldn't care about one right now either. She could send for one if she wants one.

I am also sending you one of the toy apples that she sent. It's a cute little thing and the game is quite a bit of fun. She sent some pretty hankies. I'm sending you one of those too. I wish I had kept a box of those cute correspondence cards for you. They are all gone.

I had a birthday party for Harold last night. Served a chicken dinner to eight. It was a very congenial bunch and everybody seemed to have a good time. Harold's real birthday is Mon. - tomorrow.

Mrs. Croley called up yesterday to tell me that she had met an old Putnam friend of mine. Her married name is Tryon and she's been living here for five years. She didn't know her maiden name, so I called Mrs. Tryon right up and had a long telephone visit with her. She was Miss Anne Montague who taught in Putnam High. She had Phebe, Gould and you she said, but didn't have me. She was there only a year- right out of College. Do you remember her? She said that she used to live with a family of Gilbert's whose daughters used to be friends of the Beard girls, and one time she came down to our house with Florence Gilbert. 'Member it? Is that the Gilbert girl who married the Shaw boy, and who was thrown from a horse and had such a time? I'll have to look her up and have her over. She said that Mr. Cody pestered the life out of her the year she was there.

The pictures of Monnie have at last arrived from Aunt Etta. They are real good, aren't they?

Kathie writes asking what we'll do about Christmas. She said that Aunt Etta's family wanted to be left out this year, so I guess we'd better do it. I guess we'll all give a little something to the baby and that we might make the extent. Harold and I gave to the Farm this summer but we might take one or two others to help out. You and Gould make out the list this year if you can, will you? In one of your next letters, will you send a list of your personal wants for Christmas, and begin finding out Gould's and Ginny's.

Must stop and write to Kathie.

Much love-
Dot.

I've lost your address, so hurry up and write.

[This letter dated November 1931 was written from Logan, Utah by Kathie (Kathleen) to Dot (Dorothy) and Harold. Kathleen is hoping to get a new winter coat. Hugh is still searching for work. Kathleen feels discouraged with her work and is not enjoying it much. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Logan Academy
Logan, Utah
November, 1931

Dear Dot and Harold:

It is shameful the way I don't write. Things are just getting so rushed that my head is half off and my wits are on the caboose. I guess I haven't written about the Christmas cards have I? They are ever so pretty and thank you so much for them. They solve my card problem beautifully for I am planning to send Christmas letters to my closest friends. Let those cards be your Xmas gift to me for you have done so much for me already that it should go for several Christmases ahead. I am asking the rest of the family for [a] little contribution toward a coat which I need desperately as you will remember. I am making my old blue and my summer green do me until after Xmas but the weather is pretty raw. We have had two heavy snows and things are all frozen up around here. I feel as if I were in Labrador. You mentioned sending pictures for my room, but please don't bother, because I got some cute little ones on sale at Woolworths and I couldn't use any more. Thanks all the same for being so thoughtful.

Hugh, alas, is still hunting work and it gets him rather discouraged. He has a friend there with him so doesn't get as lonely as he did in Cleveland and he keeps his spirits wonderfully. I think this experience is doing him worlds of good even tho it is hard, because it is giving him time to think and is giving him a deep sympathy for the poor laborer. I think he will come out of it a stronger and wiser man. We both get desperately lonely for each other and it seems as if I couldn't stand it another minute here, but letters every day do help a lot even if I do get dreadfully teased about it. I am hoping any day to hear that he has been successful.

Jerry actually wrote me a letter the other day, the first I have had direct from her since I came. She is as busy as ever- trust her to find enough to keep her going. Also letters from Monnie and Father came today, I am enclosing Father's for you to read and pass on to Aunt Etta. I am glad that they are staying in Foochow. Monnie seems to enjoy everything so much and loves her work so much that she wants to go back to it. I wish I could muster as much enthusiasm as she does, but I must confess that I have had enough. I should like to leave right now if the way were clear and go to some place where I could feel happy for once in my life. It surely takes a person whose heart is in their work to enjoy life here, and mine isn't- it is four thousand miles away. I just have to force myself to do my work and in consequence I feel rushed all the time of course it is all my fault because I can't do as much as I am expected to in music and I feel awfully inferior. I am just a flop in the eyes of the girls because I can't sit down and play jazz or anything else for hours and thus losing their respect. I can't hold them in any other line either. I feel like a miserable failure and nothing can induce me to stay here another year, if indeed they even ask me. I dread Sundays like H—and I get so sick and tired of playing hymns at every kind of meeting. Oh, its awful and I'll give my head to be out of it. I am up to my neck in Christmas music now and can't get any that I like by mail, then I am trying to put on a Glee Club concert in January and an operetta in May when I don't know beans about it. Well, all I can do is bungle along somehow. Jerry wrote about how romantic it must be out here, but the romance is buried under a nightmare of work. Don't expect another letter from me until vacation starts, but in the meantime have a good time and remember that I wish I was with you for Christmas. Much love Kathie.

[This letter dated Nov. 16, 1931 was written from Shelton, Conn. by Phebe Maria Beard to Gerry (Geraldine). She updates Geraldine on the relatives and friends. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Phebe M. Beard
R.F.D. No. 2
Shelton, Connecticut

Nov. 16, 1931

Dear Gerry,

We are wondering when we are to see you again, surely at Thanksgiving. We are having all the family but Uncle Stanley's, who go to Bessie's this year but they will be up here Saturday for one night. We had a short note from Marjorie to tell us of some mittens and a little basket that she was sending. They are here and are lovely. Last week Betty and her mother were here to lunch and Betty spoke at a union meeting of our Miss. Society and King's Daughters and had over 50 women out to hear her. Of course I did not go as we cannot leave Aunt Flora [Flora is 62 years old in 1931] alone anymore, but Mary said Betty was fine and everyone enjoyed her talk. A few weeks ago Betty and Mrs. Lorimer with Mrs. Padden and her two groups of boys surprised us one afternoon and stayed to tea. It seems that Dr. Padden arrived this last week and they are to be in New Haven this winter, so we hope to see them again.

I wonder if you have known anything of Helen Peck's illness. She took Ruth down to Brooklyn the first of Sept. and has not been well since. A specialist in New Haven called it Pectoral Angina and she has just grown worse rapidly after nearly a month of intense suffering and yesterday she was buried. It seems too sad to be true. Ruth is going back to her studies. She is so happy in her chosen work and Doctor[?] and Johnson will stay on with a housekeeper.

Gould and Virginia and Hazel were here for dinner Sunday- also Oliver and Mrs. Beardsley- Stanley's family were at Mrs. Palmer's, then Stanley came back Monday as Fred wanted him to be pall-bearer.

Well, let us know when to meet you next week and we'll be there. Can you stay one Sunday?

With love-

Aunt Phebe-

A letter came from your father Friday which is to be passed around and we are keeping it here for Thanksgiving as we can read it to many more then and save him in getting it around. Mary received your letter today and asked me to tell you.

P.M. Beard

This may be a picture taken the Sunday that Gould, Virginia and Hazel came to dinner as referred to in the above letter. Gould is seated in the very front. Just over his left shoulder is Virginia holding a baby (probably Hazel who was born in July of 1931). With her arm around the dog is Mary Beard. Flora is the white haired lady just behind Virginia and Hazel. Phebe Maria Beard is seated and second from the left in the photo. Bennett Nichols Beard is the man with the mustache, 2nd from the right standing in the photo. The lady at the far left is Ben's wife, Abbie. Edith Beard is behind Gould and next to Edith is Oliver Wells and Marion.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Nov. 22, 1931 was written from Logan, Utah by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Marjorie mentioned coming home from Canada next October. Kathleen expects to spend Christmas in Logan. She finds it challenging to get the choirs ready with Christmas music, but her Latin students are doing well. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Logan Utah

Nov. 22. [1931]

Dear Jerry:

It certainly was a rare treat to get that letter of yours. Don't be so choosy with your stationary after this for letters are the only things that lend zest to our existence. (Add one grain of salt.) You are up to your old tricks of rushing madly around aren't you? Now do be discreet and remember you aren't an "iron man". That trip up north sounds interesting tho, and I can't wait to get the press account of it. There must have been a delay along the line. And that account of your dinner with Jerry Smith actually made me laugh, which I seldom do heartily any more. I should like to have listened in to the conversation- that night.

Yes Mother's letter was good and told us all we wanted to know. She sent me a pair of pretty Japanese pajamas all folded up in a little case for travelling. They are lovely. I haven't got anything from Monnie, but I have received two short letters saying she plans to "come out" next October. I must get some messages into KDKA for her. How I do wish I could hear those broad casts.

I am enclosing your check for $8.50 and thanks for doing all that business for me. I am as well off now as I will ever be so you might as well have it now. As for the Japanese things, I don't believe I want any of them. I have all the jewelry I need out here and I don't have time to do any selling.

Christmas will find me right here I guess- where else have I to go? I will miss being with Dot so much, but we will have lots to do here. Nearly all the teachers are staying and the kids are leaving so we will at least have unmolested peace. We may go down to Salt Lake for a couple of days to blow a little, and I want to get a new winter coat. By the way, if you are looking for Christmas suggestions, here's mine. All I want from the whole family is a few pennies apiece for that coat. That is my one big need and any help on it will be greatly appreciated. How is the relative list coming? You know Aunt Etta wants her family counted out again this year because they feel a little cramped with the new addition, so I guess she would really feel more comfortable to be omitted. Give me any one of the families but do it soon so that I can get my shopping done early.

It seems almost like Christmas now because we are having zero weather, lots of snow, and the house is freezing part of the time. Besides, I am getting my Christmas music ready so am bringing the season a little prematurely. I am having a mess with the music too- trying to handle three different groups for one concert. My girls choir, a ladies adult choir of seven, and a mixed quartet makes a terrible muddle and I get so discouraged about it because I don't know how it is going to pan out. I am having to order all my music by mail, for there is no selection here, and I have hundreds of approval numbers to go over and send back those that I don't want. I almost wish I had tried a cantata now, as my predecessor did.

Last night four of us teachers went to see "The Apple Cart" put on at the local theatre by a travelling stock company. They say the same actors gave it in New York and how it ever happened to come to this burg I don't know. Anyway it was good to see professionals once more even tho we did go and sit an hour just to get rush seats. There is a series of plays up at the college for which I have a season ticket. It is amateur performance but quenches my thirst for such entertainment a little.

You spoke about the nightmare of a Latin class. Mine must be a model one for I really do enjoy that more than anything else I do (not saying much). There are only three and we play Latin word games and have spell-downs, besides drilling hard on tenses and cases. One of the girls said she was so disillusioned because she had heard that Latin was so hard. Perhaps I'm too easy a teacher. The music is a struggle all the way thru. I guess I am not adequately prepared for it because the girls want jazz and everything that I can't play. Getting four selections is taxing in itself and then I tussel with the Glee Club once a week and have eight piano pupils. The worry of it all gets me terribly and at times I feel like throwing it all up. I haven't had a word of encouragement from anybody- not that I deserve it- and I feel as if I were groping in darkness. You can talk about "romance" off there in New York, but it is far less romantic to me shut up in this yard, hardly seeing anyone but the school kids week in and week out. Even the movies is welcome distraction sometimes. Well, it might be worse, but I can't harbor the thought of another year here. I am practicing typing so that I can be ready to take a secretarial job next fall in whatever place Hugh happens to be by then. I think that may be more my forte than teaching. I guess I'm not endowed with that courageous spirit to surmount all obstacles. I have had some mighty blue days recently.

P-U-N-K now signs off with L-O-V-E Kathie.

[This typewritten letter dated Dec. 2, 1931 was written from Logan, Utah by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen talks about her Thanksgiving in Logan. She keeps busy preparing for the Christmas concert. Hugh and a friend will be taking a test to try to become an immigrant inspector. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Logan Academy
Logan, Utah
Dec. 2, 1931

Dear Jerry:

Your letter with the Christmas list in it came yesterday. The list is all right with me, but I don't think you gave me nearly my share. You have four people yourself and you only have me down for three. Also I thought you were going to give them around by families this year, instead of individuals. You asked what my salary was; It comes to the big sum of $50.00 per month in cash, plus my keep. Not so bad, but I can't throw it away. Just now I am still paying Father for the money he lent me when I came out here, so I am living on as little as possible and rushing each check off to Aunt Mary before I spend it. Of course I am saving this month's check for Christmas.

As for "cute and different things", there are quite a few of them out here if you want to give the Indians plenty of cash for them. But there are no little cheap trinkets for children as I hoped there would be. I can get you a pair of Indian beaded gloves for Stephen for $2.00, and some Navajo virgin rugs of very small size for $1.25, or - - but I must not give away any secrets. That is really the extent of the different things that I could get for you. The big man size buckskin gloves that the Indians make cost anywhere from five to ten dollars. It is terrible how they charge. I think I wrote you in the last letter that I wanted help on my winter coat from the family, but if any of the relatives ask what I need - - silk stockings or wool golf-socks would be very acceptable.

You must have had a grand time up at the farm for Thanksgiving, and I wish I could have been there. I had the hard task of downing two big dinners that day and I felt done for after the attempt. One of the other teachers and I were invited out for dinner at noon and then had to come back here and sit down to a regular feast of goose. That was one morning when we were allowed to sleep so I did it with a vengeance, not getting up until after ten. The girls had a soccer game out in the snow and very nearly got frozen but they loved it. Mary Jane and I were invited to dinner by a Mrs. Kepner, a very nice young lady who comes from Conn. and has taught in Saybrook for two years. I wrote Dot that she knew Hazel Converse very well in college. Well, there were eight of us all together and we had a grand time with the huge turkey and all the other things that she had. We stayed there all afternoon talking and looking at their wedding pictures. It was so refreshing to get away from the school and the howling mob of girls. But the hard part was to come back here and sit right down to another dinner almost as large as the first, if not so good. I ate very little of that dinner, I assure you. Afterwards we were made to do some crazy stunt. I had to dress a girl up to represent a character, in crepe paper. We teachers had our first experience in being taken off, and the girls did it very well. I was represented as directing my Glee Club. Only about half the girls were there since many of them went away for Thanksgiving. Our next two days of school were lots of fun with small classes and only three tables in the dining-room. We played anagrams in Latin class and the two pupils whom I had loved it.

Today we go swimming for the second time this year. The city High school has kindly consented to let us have their pool one hour a week, and although it is not a very big pool, it has good water and gives us a place to exercise. The kids are wild about swimming and most of them go. It is a life saver for me because I get so little exercise otherwise.

My Christmas concert comes off a week from this coming Sunday so I am having to put in a lot of time on that. The hardest part of it is getting the groups together to practice, for they live all over town and have so many other things to do at this busy time. I am hoping for the best, tho, and I'll tell you how it comes out.

Our town is getting all decked out for Christmas in the business district. We have red and green lights along the side-walks and large trees tied to every lamp-post, with big silver stars dangling from the street lights. It really looks very pretty and makes you feel Christmasy. I have nearly all my Christmas shopping done for once so that is not a worry with me this year.

Today I got my present from Monnie, and it is just darling. She wrote me that she was sending me a pair of mitts made of duffle but I never imagined they would be so pretty. They are long white gauntlet ones with bright red flowers embroidered all over them and that lovely soft white fur around the top. All the people here are quite crazy about them, and so am I. The only trouble is that I have nothing to wear them with, and I might get them dirty around here. I think I will ask her to have a short jacket made to match them for next year.

You asked about Hugh. He is in Boston now with Tom Mustard, a college friend of his, and they are both looking for work. They have decided to take the exam for Immigrant Inspector and are studying hard for it. I do so hope Hugh makes good in that because it will make him more encouraged. His letters lately have sounded quite happy although he does get blue spells once in a while.

How do you like my sample of typing? There are a good many mistakes in it but I am improving little. During the vacation I want to get up some speed if I can so that it will really be a time saver. It has taken me over an hour to type this while I could have done it long-hand in nearly half the time, but it is good practice. It is awfully hard to think and type your thoughts at the same time isn't it? I can copy a page lots faster than I can write it out of my head. It is grand fun, though, and I want to be good at it before I leave here.

I must stop now, for I have choir practice tonight and I must get ready for it. My ladies choir is singing some lovely French carols that I just love, but they find them rather hard to get on to.

Be sure to write me if you want me to get any of the things I mentioned and do it soon because they may be gone. There is only one pair of gloves left. I am getting Dan a cow-boy belt and Aunt Emma one of those rugs. Ruthie's gift I have not decided on yet.

Lots of love

Kathie.

P.S. That sketch of the library was very good.

[This letter dated Dec. 6, 1931 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy mentions how Kathleen is not happy in her work in Logan. She would like to try to have Kathleen come to Saginaw for Christmas. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy C. Newberg
2108 North Bond Street
Saginaw W.S.
Michigan

Dec. 6, 1931.

Dear Jerry:-

Since I've written you last you've been doing some skyking around the country. You all must have had one grand time at the farm at Thanksgiving time. Are you all going to be there again at Christmas?

The Christmas list is O.K. I have written Kathie to see if she wants me to take Ruthie. Mother suggested a carving set for a gift to both Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert. I am going to ask Kathie if she would like to do that for Aunt Emma, if we can find a good one reasonable enough.

Good for you and your sales! My lacquers haven't even come, and everybody's waiting for them. I do hope they get there this week. The reason I didn't ask you to send your things is because my Chinese things haven't come, and I have sold most of the order of Japanese things, so I didn't have enough for a real sale. If you are all through with them, and don't think you can sell anymore, I'd be glad to try to sell the rest if you want to send them.

Everybody seems to be so busy. Kathie writes that she is swamped with work. By the way, Kathie used to write quite glowing letters about her work out there, and I really thought she was enjoying herself, but along comes this letter that sounds pretty doleful, - poor kid. I feel sorry for her, for she'll have to stick it out for a year anyway. I have written her telling her that if she can find some excursion rates, or come by bus, I'll pay half of her expenses here for Christmas, if she feels she'd like to come. The change of atmosphere might be worth it for her, and we shall be mighty lonely here alone. Don't say anything about this letter (of Kathie's), or about my offering to help her come. She might not want her troubles published, and I know Gould would think it was downright folly to spend so much money on a vacation. It's worth that much to me, tho, to be together.

Aunt Mary writes that my $7.98 check for April has not come back yet, and she wonders if it was lost. Was that the check that you kept to pay for some wedding presents, or was that the one before that? I can't seem to remember anything about that one- last April's.

Yesterday Harold and I got up at 5:00 A.M. and drove to Detroit. We put our car in the Hup. factory to have various little things done to it. I went to Hudson's and spent the whole morning right in that store, Christmas shopping and just getting an eye-full of everything. I turned "youngster" for almost an hour in the toy dept. and was just as interested and fascinated as any of those real youngsters.

I bought Harold's Christmas present- a blue silk bathrobe. I also got gifts for Don's baby, and for Ruth Bartlett Nelson's new little baby-girl, Joy.

In the afternoon Harold and I went to a show, then drove home and got here at about 9:30. We both enjoyed the day a lot.

We went to see Svengali not long ago. It was quite a weird play, but very well acted. Have you seen it? Basketball has started at the church, so from now on, we will be pretty busy until Easter.

I wrote Gould that Kathie wrote that her one big desire for Christmas was money for a new winter coat. I guess she has that in this letter. Shall we all send her money for that individually with any other little thing that we might want to send? Gould sent a list for each of the three of them and said he was sending the same list to you and Kathie. Most of the things are small enough for one person to get, aren't they? Shall we get individually or together for them. If individually, what on the lists are you getting?

Gould asked about Mother's and Father's gifts. We got Father's while they were here, but I don't know what to say about Mother's. The only thing that I know she wants is one of those small lamps picturing Niagra Falls and a fire- in action. She liked both of them and if we could find them and they are not too expensive I think she'd like to have both of them. She thought the Chinese would be so interested in them.

You asked what we wanted for Xmas.

You asked what we wanted for Xmas.

Harold Socks - #11
Ties
Gloves - #9 1/2
Car clock

Dorothy
Stockings - to go with brown or black
White silk slip
Painter water pitcher

Subscription to Reader's Digest

Did you see those square yellow dishes (breakfast set) that Aunt Molly got at the 10¢ store? I would love a set like that - plates, cups, & saucers.

So have you seen Aunt Myra's green cream-soup set (bowls and plates).

Also, have you seen Aunt Myra's green cream-soup set (bowls and plates). If you see anything like that (same color) would you price it. I might want to get it for my self. I love hers.
Much love, and write soon- Dot.

[This letter dated Dec. 24, 1931 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to all the folks. Dr. and Mrs. Sherwood Eddy are in Foochow and the Chinese look up to him. Willard summarizes Dr. Eddy's talks to the students. Willard tells of a 27 year old Chinese woman who joined the church against her friends and relatives wishes. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China
December, 24th. 1931.

Dear All the Folks:-

Here starts another letter to all of you. The last general letter was dated Oct. 18th.
December 31st. This is the way the time goes. You must not ask me to tell too minutely how it has been used.

Since writing the last family letter I have written someone about once a week or oftener. On Oct. 24th Mother and I went to Kuliang. We could find but one chair at the foot (it was rice harvest and the men were busy) so we took a chair between us and that meant I did most of the riding, for Mother would have it so and I have learned to be babied as you all will testify. Both of us stood the trip well and felt all the better for it. The house was hit by the typhoon but only the veranda much injured. I am now having the roof taken off and a new one put on. This one has been on since 1896. I have no complaint.

Dr. Sherwood Eddy and Mrs. Eddy were here Nov. 6 to 14th. This meant a lot of extras. I gave three or four talks to different groups in preparation and as many more in the follow- up work. He spoke some 24 times and Mrs. Eddy some twelve or more. He spoke to all classes of people, - students in five different groups and in as many places. At the University he has about two hundred, in the other places from 1200 to 2500. He spoke to 600 officials and their secretaries. He was in Mukden when the Japanese took the city and came here soon after. He read the telegrams he sent to Geneva and to the British and American governments to the audiences here and of course the Chinese were ready to proclaim him a god. Two other factors contributed to his success here; - there has been a lot of good work done by Chinese pastors, teachers and by missionaries among students and others. Then for ten years the anti-Christian movement has had the effect of repressing any ardent expression of Christianity on the part of students. For two years a movement among the students called The Back To The Church Movement has been gaining strength and has been active this fall. I should add a fourth factor, - for two months there was a special group of about eight hundred men and women in special preparation for what they called the Eddy Meetings. In Let's even up our debts. I paid $12.50 for Mother's bag. (Did she like it? And did you?) K. says she will pay $4 on it. Can you pay $4 and I'll pay $4.50. I sent Gould a ten dollar gold piece. I'll go $4 on that. Can you give $3 and K $3. That makes $4 you owe me. Now, what do I owe you on Father's and K's bag? I also owe you for the wedding gifts. You make out your bill and cancel my bill and tell me how much I owe you. Also how much Kathleen owes you. Let's straighten this out right away.

Dot.

1932

- Charles Lindbergh 's baby kidnapped and killed
- Amelia Earhart is first woman to fly solo across the Atlantic
- Willard and Ellen are in Foochow, China
- Kathleen is teaching in Utah until summer. She moves back East and marries Hugh Elmer September 9, 1932.
- Dorothy and Harold are teaching in Saginaw, Michigan.
- Marjorie is in Canada until the end of summer.
- Geraldine is in New York.
- Gould and Virginia are in Shelton and Seymour, CT, Newark, NJ and St. Louis, MO
- Willard is 67, Ellen- 64, Gould- 36, Geraldine- 34, Dorothy- 31, Marjorie- 26, Kathleen- 24.

[This letter dated Jan. 7, 1932 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dorothy to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy and Harold had a small fender bender on the way back to Saginaw because of icy road conditions. She was hoping to visit California this summer but Harold is hesitant because of his family's financial condition. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy C. Newberg
2108 North Bond Street
Saginaw W.S.
Michigan

Jan. 7, 1932

Dear Jerry:-

I hope you haven't given up hopes of ever getting your gloves. I tried to exchange them at Baries where I got them, but they had no more fur-lined, so I got a "due-bill" there, and went to another store for these. I don't think they are quite as pretty, but the stock is low right after Christmas. I'm so sorry I didn't think to get a size larger in the beginning.

We had glorious weather all the way back until the very last two hours. We ate supper in Lapeer [Lapeer, Michigan]. When we came out it was raining. As we came north the rain began to freeze to the roads and everything else, so we just crawled into Sag. at 20 per. About five miles out of Sag. a car hit another car on the other side of the road from us, glanced off from that car and skidded over and hit our front fender denting it in quite a bit. We were both at almost a stand-still when it hit, so there was no danger, but it was too bad the car had to be marred. We were all thanking our lucky stars that we were so near home when the bad weather began, and not on Bear Mt. or some of the others of those hills.

Jan. 25. - This poor letter was held up in the rush somewhere.

You asked me to send one of our lost and found pens in with your gloves. When I came to look for one, there were only two ladies pens in the bunch, and both of those were broken. That's why I didn't send any. Do you have a good pen and pencil by now?

Our first semester ended last Thurs. and the second semester began to day. The 9A's had their Banquet last week and as usual Harold and I had charge of the games in the gym after the banquet proper. I put on the Virginia Reel which went off very successfully. I am enclosing one of the programs. Don't you think the whole thing a clever idea? They were standing (the acroplanes) at each place. The speeches were all good.

The Russian Don-Cossack Chorus sang here a week or so ago. It was splendid. If you get a chance to hear it- go!! It was remarkable to hear voices as high and sweet as a high soprano- and not falsetto, either-among those huge, hardy, stern-looking Russians. Also, the deepest bass you ever heard.

Midra Elmann was to have come here last week, but cancelled his engagement for some reason, or other.

Tomorrow our Oratorio Club starts up again to practice an Oratorio for an Easter, or spring concert.

My Ames girls are coming along nicely, having played about eight or ten games and lost only one- to the last year's champions of Detroit. Later we beat that same team on our home floor. I've had that same bunch of girls for about six or seven years now. Therein lies their strength. I'm afraid I'm going to lose three of them next year.

Kathleen wrote that this Thurs. she is to give a talk on China and wanted me to send some of my curios. I sent the Chinese dolls, some of my embroideries, and a few odds and ends which I hope will help her out.

Did I write that my lacquers and linens were here when I got back from the vacation? I had a sale here at school but sold only a few dollars worth. The teachers are the poorest buyers. They love to look at the "pretty things". The lacquers came in perfect condition. I suppose everybody was money-shy right after Christmas. I'll wait a little while then make another "attack". By the way, we can't remember whether we settled with you for the lacquer pieces of yours that we had- and the tea- last summer. I had two gold boxes, some candle sticks, and two flower bowls. All I've sold of those is one gold box. I'm almost sold out on the tea, but I want to get completely out of this lot before I get anymore.

Do you have any "spot" luncheon sets among your things? I have a call for one trimmed in blue, and one trimmed in green.

I was talking with Alice McKeage about our possible trip to Calif. this summer. She got interested and said she would love to go. The Johnsons can't go, and we can't seem to find anyone else interested. Alice has two friends that are interested. I can't imagine any better company than Alice and one of those friends, who I know. She used to teach here in North- Laura Lesh. I believe she was at Alice's breakfast party. I don't know the other one, whose name is Phebe. Harold is questioning our going because his family is in such straits. Some of them are laid off from work and others have work only part time. It would seem funny for us to galavant off on a pleasure trip with them so hard up. If they only knew how to use money, I'd feel much better about helping them.

Very much love- Dot.

[This typewritten letter dated Jan. 12, 1932 was written from Logan, Utah by Kathleen to Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen tells all about her Christmas in Logan. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Logan Academy
Logan, Utah.
Jan. 12, 1932

Dear Jerry:

This is a family letter to tell you all about the kind of Christmas we have among the Mormons. It really isn't so different from the usual ones, for the Mormons celebrate it just about as we do. However, for me there was much that was new and interesting. I'll begin way back in November when I started training my choirs for the Christmas concert. I say choirs because I couldn't find enough tenor and bass singers to make a good chorus, so I worked with three separate groups, a girls' choir which sings every Sunday, a ladies' choir of three parts, and a mixed quartet. My leading soprano was so busy that she couldn't join the quartet, so I had to screech on that myself and let someone else play. It was pretty hectic to keep them all going, but worked out fairly well in the end. The concert came on the thirteenth of December, just before the girls went home for vacation. It was patterned after the Oberlin Christmas service, with the story of the "Other Wise Man" read in the middle of it. Some people thought the service too long, but it lasted only an hour and a half. I think an over-heated church made the time seem longer, for we nearly roasted- a feeling which we seldom have here. With that off my hands I was free to enjoy the rest of the Christmas doings.

That same night after the concert I took a group of girls out caroling around town. It was a bitterly cold night, a little below zero, and we must have walked several miles, accepting only one of the many invitations to come in. Thanks to your warm duffle mits, Monnie, my hands kept from freezing, but the poor girls were stiff with cold when we came in to find some warm cocoa waiting for us. We had a taste of some really cold weather before the vacation- 20 below every night, and 10 below during the day. However it is so dry that we wear no more clothes than we did in Ohio. There is almost no wind in this protected valley, which makes a big difference in feeling the cold, and the snow stays on the trees for weeks after it falls. We quite often have heavy fogs in the mornings, which as they settle cover everything with a frost coat, making the prettiest sight you can imagine, I have taken pictures of it which I'll show you next summer.

On the Saturday night before the girls went home there was a big Christmas party for the whole school and all connected with it. We drew names for ten cent gifts, which was all most of the girls could afford this year. Really some of them are nearly destitute and are having to work for their entire expenses here. At the party we had an act of Bird's Christmas Carol staged by the Junior girls, and it was perfectly killing. I had no idea that these girls could act so well, for most of them are very poor in public performances of any kind. Our minister's wife played Santa Clause when it came time for the tree and was a good one even though she wasn't quite cor-pulant enough. She was generous to us, especially with candy, for it seemed as if all our employees, such as the night watchman and janitor, said their Merry Christmas with sweets. We had pounds of it sitting around the house all during vacation and we couldn't help taking a piece every time we went by the box even though we knew it would add another ounce.

Each class had a separate party on the last night before leaving and were entertained by the faculty. Winifred, the girl who lives in the same dormitory with me and is gym teacher, and I entertained the Sophomores, nine of them. We had such fun winding our big Christmas tree into a cobweb with a little gift on the end of each string. The girls enjoyed unweaving it as much as we did tangling it up.

The most fun for all was our midnight ride in a covered truck. Sixteen girls had to take the two o'clock train from a Junction thirty miles away, so two of us teachers went along as chaperones. We dragged them out of bed at midnight to have a little lunch before leaving, then bundled them all into a large canvas-covered truck. I think I know just about how it felt to rumble along in the ancient covered wagons now from that experience. It was pitch dark and we were wound up in blankets until we couldn't wiggle, for it was right cold. The girls sang and yelled all the way over in spite of the frequent lurches of our buggy and the springless seats. Nothing sleepy about them! Fortunately the train was half an hour late, which gave us time to buy all their tickets and fix them up for their journey. The little rattlebrains were so excited that they had no idea what they were supposed to do, and we had to tell them just where to change etc. etc. One Junior didn't even know the difference between her baggage check and her ticket. After we waved them off we two teachers climbed back into the big empty truck and rattled home. It was four o'clock before we hit our downy couches.

One more party was given by the Sunday School for the little kiddies after the girls left. I had a chance to proxy for Santa that time and it was such fun. I stuffed myself to the proverbial size, safe beyond all recognition with pillows, and wore a mask. The greatest pleasure was to see the enlarged eyes and gaping mouths of those youngsters as they received their candy boxes. They trustingly confided their little wants and even told me what to bring father and mother. One little boy was terrified by my mask and yelled bloody murder when I approached. I didn't get any whispers from him. We were about fed up on parties after that one and were ready to forget school for a while.

When the girls were all gone we settled down to have our own Christmas. Only one of our nine faculty went home, the principal. The rest of us all lived in one house and had a grand old time being just as lazy as we pleased. Our big tree was just loaded with gifts which we religiously refrained from opening until the appointed day. It was just like a family gathering on Christmas morning when we tumbled downstairs, not even bothering to attire ourselves properly, and it seemed a lot bigger Christmas to watch seven others open their gifts too. I got more than my share, thanks to all you good people, and it helped so much to compensate for not being with you at the big family gathering, although I didn't know it then. It was jolly that you could all manage to get together on such short notice.

We new ones had all pictured vacation as a time with absolutely nothing to do- but we were sadly, or gladly, mistaken. The church people were wonderfully kind about inviting us out to dinner parties, teas, theater parties, and socials. I think we had turkey at least five or six times during the three weeks; I hardly want to see it again. You see those birds are very plentiful out here and are especially cheap this year, so we got our fill. There are numerous farms where they raise the ones hatched in California and then send the full grown fowls back there to sell. On New Years day we sat down before a twenty pound roast and he was a pretty bird, I'll tell the world. In between our gaddings we amused ourselves playing bridge, chess and other games. I am becoming quite a chess fan, and bridge was a real treat, for we are not allowed to indulge in it while school is in session. We economized on the work by having only one real meal a day, and taking turns in getting that. It is rather tricky to cook in this altitude, so I let the experienced hands do all the fancy stuff. In baking you have to use less shortening and baking powder, and more flour. They say it takes quite a while to get used to it. Oh, it was glorious not to have forty screaming kids under our feet continually, and to throw off completely that school-marm dignity. We had a chance to become better acquainted with each other too, although there are a few cases where familiarity didn't help.

One high spot of that "evaporated bliss" was a rush wedding. Winifred and I were called upon to be witnesses for a couple who were getting married at the minister's home. Idaho has a five day registration law that many couples avoid by slipping over the border and getting their licences here. That is the first wedding I ever attended in my work clothes, but they really didn't issue their invitations in time for me to change.

The vacation ended for me with a weekend spree in Salt Lake, and a sad parting from all my money. However I have a new coat and a pair of hiking boots (which are almost essential here) to show for it, so it's "not so very bad" as Uncle Stanley says. Now school is in good running shape again, in fact almost running away with us, and we are in for a steady five months of work. These girls can afford to go home only once during the year; there for we have a long vacation now and get out before decoration day in May. My Glee Club is working on a concert for February and an operetta for May. (I though I had better let you know before hand why I will not be writing any letters about next February and March).

[The next part is written in long hand.]

I hope this answers all your questions Jerrabee, for I haven't time to write a long letter to everyone. I have made ten copies of this letter to send around the family so you won't have to do any passing. Incidentally it helped me a lot in my typing. You see I have made quite a few mistakes on a page.

Your letter was so good Jerry, and of much inspirational value. I need that sort of help very often, and I only wish I could find it for myself. I have turned a little more to the spiritual this year than ever before but I don't take nearly enough time to study and think. I have to struggle so awfully hard to produce anything in the way of music that I'm about all worked out when it comes to anything else. I realize my need for a higher source of help but have not come to the point where I am ready to turn completely around yet.

The clipping was interesting and I have sent it on to Dot. Have you seen the Navajo rug that I sent Jinny? I can get you one if you want it- any size. I think I'll get a few to bring back anyway for they are cheaper now.

Gidge has written about the bridge set and I think she enjoys it a lot. She has written quite a bit lately and seems to be wonderfully happy, though terribly busy.

I'll have to have the teachers tell next time, and I'll give you a character sketch of each one. Much love and encore on the letters- Kathie Kathleen in about 1931 or 32- possibly in Logan, Utah. Is this the new coat she refers to in the previous letter?

[This letter dated Jan. 17, 1932 was written from Rigolet, Labrador, Canada Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry (Geraldine). Marjorie tells about a new housekeeper at their hospital who has been unpleasant to everyone. The new teacher, Nancy Buxton, is doing well. Marjorie would like to hear more messages broadcast to her over KDKA and WBZ radio stations. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Marjorie Beard
Northwest River
Via Rigolet
Labrador

Jan. 17, 1932.

Dearest Jerry,

The mail is leaving sometime this next week, so the rush to write letters is beginning in earnest. It's hard to get down to it when one is so out of practice! I have several things to get out for the school, so this will have to be comparatively short.

My, such a funny winter as this is turning out to be! And all because of one person, Mrs. Keddie, the housekeeper at the Hospital, has just turned the Staff here upside down. Last year the Hospital was a place where one wanted to go. Mrs. Paddon was always such a gracious hostess (I hope you've had a chance to become well acquainted with that family by now,) and gatherings of the staff and Hudson's Bay men were happy, if not exactly hilarious times. But this year, with Mrs. K. there, it's a place to be avoided, and even the people who live there, go out or retire to their rooms of an evening, instead of gathering by the fireplace as they used to do.

In her relations with the rest of the Staff, especially with Jack, with whom she has a lot to do, she is so aggressive, and fault-finding that to work with her is one long quarrel. She and Jack and she and the nurse, Miss Peterson, who is the temporary head of the station, have come to open warfare. Jack no longer cares what he says to her.

Today Jack, Annie and I were invited down to dinner at the Hospital. Jack and Annie refused- probably on the ground that Annie was not feeling well- she is expecting a baby sometime within the next two or three months. I went down, however, and found the three H.B. Co. men there. Everyone was feeling rather good, and wit flowed freely, so the party was rather jolly.

Our weather has been exceptionally warm, just as it is everywhere, I guess. The thermometer has touched 33 degrees below, once; which is more than it did at any time last year. But this winter we are not having the long cold stretches that we did last year. But the dry, hard snow has come. It packs well and makes capital paths for walking. The nights are moonlight this week, and are simply magnificent.

Next Friday evening the church is giving a program- play and basket sale, - to get money for the new building they expect to put up next summer. I am in the play, and, while we are not having nearly the fun that we had with the Mission play under Dr. Paddon last year, still it is a rather clever one, and, despite the fact that we are having to put it on a little earlier than we expected to, I think it ought not to go so badly. The basket sale is what I'm looking forward to most of all. It's always such a lot of fun- the people get such a kick out of one up here. The bidding always goes quite high- sometimes as much as $20 for a basket. The average basket goes at from $5 to $10.

School is going as usual. Nancy Buxton is doing rather well with her class, but finds it hard- as do we all- running two or three grades at once. She is not staying another year, but the other day we got the joyous news by radio that Betty is coming back. I'm so glad, and the children are just standing on their heads- they just loved her.

What's the matter with the messages?! They are sent on both Sat. and Wed. nights now- from KDKA and WBZ (Springfield) and still very few for me. Nancy, Mrs. Keddie, and Dr. Sheldon all get quite a few. Has the novelty worn off? Mail comes in this week and I'm hoping for some from the family. I'm hungry for it. Do do your part by writing as often as you can. I'll see you next summer sometime- and how glad I'll be to get back!

Lots and lots of love,

Monnie

[This letter dated Feb. 1, 1932 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. The government in China is still unsettled. He is now receiving their Christmas packages from the U.S. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China

Feb 1- 1932

Dear Geraldine:-

How about that diary? If you have started it all right- if not better get one and send it on soon. I'm temporying[?].

Christmas packages are coming fast these days. From Uncle Stanley and Aunt Myra came a mechanical pencil and a beautiful box of cakes, and a few days later from the Farm a beautiful box of cakes, and this afternoon ten lbs. of pecans from Uncle Elbert,- with no duty. It is just possible that conditions are such that they are not charging duty now- I do not know who would receive it. The report this afternoon is that the gov't in Nanking has moved to Honan. It is also reported that the Fukien government is planning to move to Yeng Ping. Certain it is that things are in a grand muss. Just this afternoon as I passed along South St. many men were reading posters said to announce that America was fighting Japan=helping China!!!

In the midst of it all every one goes on his way about his business as usual. The boycott is lifted and Japanese goods are coming with Foochow. It is rumored here that Chinese in New York have raised money to buy 100 airplanes to send to China to fight Japan!!!

I hope you will write me when you settle with that woman for the curios she had of yours- just to satisfy my curiosity.

Your description of your new home and its nearness to your chum sounds good. And I'm much pleased to note the friendship cemented between you and the Vails. You have a capacity for making and keeping friends- the most valuable asset any person can have.

Your account of the trip to Mass. and Conn. sounded rather hectic- to use our expression that Phebe used often.- I have not yet developed a desire to ride in the busses of the states more than is necessary.

I wonder if you have sent any money to Aunt Mary for me. She has not deposited any but it takes a long time for such items to get around to me.

It would have been medicine to sick eyes to see you and Gould and Virginia when you first sighted Dot last Christmas eve. I do not get over the pleasure of thinking in imagination of you folks together there at Century Farm. I know it did you all good. - It turned my thoughts back to 1927 Christmas at Dot and Harolds. We'll thank God for all these good times together and also thank Aunt Phebe and Mary for providing the place and the friendly latch string of the "house by the side of one road!"

With lots of love
Father

Kathleen forwards a letter shortly ago of yours.

Father

[This letter dated March 2, 1932 was written from Logan, Utah by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerrabee (Geraldine). Kathleen keeps up with news stories about China and the Lindberg's kidnapped baby case. Hugh still does not have a job and hopes to hear results from the civil service exams soon. She tells about some of the school events. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

March 2, 1932

Jerrabee Dear:

Since you are three to one ahead of me I had better get busy and write. But I believe I told you in my Christmas letter that I would be very busy during February and March, and it is proving true. This week is just a little lull between episodes, so I am writing for all I am worth.

Going back to your letter of Feb. 1. I'm glad you liked my character sketches, but I guess I made a little too much of Elsie- the slow one. She is really the most insignificant one on our staff, but she is so utterly different from most people that I wrote a lot about her. Most of the time we hardly know that she is here.

You are certainly doing plenty of running around aren't [you], and it all sounds like such fun. I think if we could get away from here for week-ends we would be a much happier bunch of teachers, but there is no place to go and we are tied here with Sunday duty. I'm glad you can get up to the farm so often and see your friends around the city. You mentioned Ethel and Howard and I don't seem to grasp just who they are or where they live. I agree with you about the singing, only in our case I shall have to be the singer. This year has made me more eager than ever to take more voice and I certainly am going to when I get a chance. I do want to hear about the "crazy bridge" too, although I couldn't use it out here at all.

Rhoda is a lucky girl to be able to get married so soon and I'm glad for her. I shall try to write her a note soon. I suppose she is still working at Macy's isn't she? I really wasn't surprised that she is married, but I was that she sent us an announcement.

The article on Roosevelt was very interesting and I read it clear thru. Shall send it to Dot immediately. "Time" comes here for one of the teachers but I don't ever see it, let alone get time to read it. I made a stab at the daily paper to keep up with the Chinese situation and the Lindberg baby. Wasn't that a disgrace for anybody to take a baby like that? I do hope that it comes back safely. People out here are as worried about it as the parents almost. Wouldn't it be terrible to have such publicity? I'm glad I'm a commoner.

You asked about Hugh. He is still in Boston studying for Civil service examinations which ought to have been announced weeks ago. I am hoping that they will come soon and that he will get a job out of them for his own peace of mind. Being idle and having no money is demoralizing to his initiative and happiness. Things look pretty black. About a month ago his uncle in New Jersey died and he felt it his duty to go to the funeral. Pearl and Enid were there with the baby and he said that Pearl was getting worse again. She is now living with Enid. [Pearl and Enid are Hugh Elmer's sisters. Pearl has schizophrenia.] On his way back to Boston Hugh had to wait in New York, so he went up to the Lib to find you, but wasn't successful. I guess he expected you to come out of the front door at dinner time and waited there for you.

We have been having a February thaw for the last few weeks and most of our three feet of snow turned to slush. Walking was bad business and the roads were veritable rivers. But yesterday we had more snow and it has turned cold again. We are all so anxious for spring to come, and are so tired of winter. Everybody is getting irritable and worn out, so you can imagine what lovely times we have. We teachers have terrible fights over the girls, for our activities inevitably run into each other's and there are so few girls that many of them take part in everything. I never saw a place where people crabbed more than they do here, and I do it too, as hard as I try not to.

For once I remembered Dot's birthday because I already had her ring and bracelet picked out which she said she wanted. I got a good letter from her the other day, and I take it that she is fearfully busy. I think it is awful to be so busy that you can't have any leisure time, and I'm not going to do it again.

I do hope you get into that Appalachian Club. It sounds perfectly thrilling and I bet it would be lots of fun. There are some grand hikes and a nice place to ski and coast here but where is the time withal? We considered getting a pair of skis for the teachers after Christmas but other things have crowded that out of our minds.

I haven't told you anything about our Washington party, my recital tea or Glee Club concert. I had to make a costume for the party and the whole school dressed up a la Colonial style for dinner. It was grand fun and Winnie was my George, she made a stunning man- even gave me a corsage to wear for the occasion. (out of school funds) At our tea on the 22nd the minuet was danced by four girls and we served Chinese tea again. The four girls who played pieces did nobly. My concert was last Saturday night and was quite a success I think. I patterned it after the Oberlin ones and the girls wore their formal dresses which thrilled them pink. They looked so pretty and sang quite well. I put on a couple of stunts that I saw at Silver Bay and they took nicely. Now I'm working on Easter music and my Chinese operetta.

My Latin class and Glee Club continue to be my life savers. I really enjoy teaching Latin and we drill every day on forms. All but one of my girls are good workers. I find myself increasingly glad that I do not have to repeat this another year, but I may get something worse- who knows.

This has been an awfully scrappy letter for I was trying to answer three in one and have been continually interrupted in the writing of it. However, it carries its load of love just the same and do write me whenever you can scribble a line for it brightens the day- you don't know how much. All days seem to be dull and hard now. As ever- Kathie.

[This letter dated March 7, 1932 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. Kathleen has told him that she plans to quit teaching at Logan Academy when the school year is out. He and Ellen have had colds for a week after having both warm and cold weather. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

American Board Mission
Church of Christ in China
Mid-Fukien Synod

Willard L. Beard

Foochow, China

March 7th 1932

Dear Geraldine:-

Thank you for your good letters telling about your visit to Conn. They give pleasure not only to you but to those whom you visit as well. I do not remember that you mentioned Aunt Jane, so I take it for granted she is as well as usual. William has evidently had as hard a time finding a job as many other young men. He is fortunate in having a wife with such a home.

Kathleen wrote in one of her last letters that she thought of resigning and going East at the end of her first year in Logan. I am writing her that unless conditions change it will be hazardous to throw up a job. I have not yet heard that Hugh has work. He was preparing for some kind of government job I believe.

It is proved beyond any doubt that Hazel Ellen is a very wonderful human being. We are losing the pleasure of seeing her develop. But letters from many of you are so full and detailed that we can keep up with her pretty well. Virginia sent several snap shots of her recently and incidentally we got good pictures of her Mother and Father. We appreciate all these immensely.

Yesterday Mother and I went over to Ha Puo Ga to church. The first time I have been there since coming back this time. I had to preach and help conduct communion. We came home, had dinner and were off for Ma Ang- 2 miles beyond North Gate in the country. After two weeks of very cold weather, the past three days have been very warm. A week ago Sunday 2 ft. of snow on the mountains. Ther. 38 degrees. Yesterday Ther. 70 degrees. The sun was very warm. It rather got us- the walk of three miles out, conducting service and walking 2 miles back. After supper Mother disappeared into her room. When I was about to go to bed, I found her fast asleep on her bed with all her clothes on. This she very seldom does.

We have both had head colds- more like hay fever, noses running like leaky milk pails- for a week. Mother has fasted, I have eaten, and both are better.

I am enclosing an account of our Washington's Birthday Celebration. The photo I am sending to Kathleen. It will or should reach you in time.

I think you have sent Aunt Mary for me $75.00. Is that correct. Your letter this evng. corrects this it is $110.00

I sent Aunt Mary more lacquer than she ordered. If she does not want it you might take it.

Very lovingly

Father

[This letter dated March 1932 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to the Folks Everybody. They had a celebration complete with costumes for George Washington's 200th birthday. His chickens and garden are doing well. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[March 1932]

Dear Folks Everybody:-

We had a big celebration of the Two Hundredth Anniversary of Washington's Birthday here in Foochow and I am sending you a little account of it.

The celebration was one of the best events that Foochow has seen in a long time. Nearly every American in port and all outlying stations near enough to make it possible was present. And nearly all the Europeans. We invited all Americans, Canadians and Europeans. Practically all came. A very careful program had been arranged and it was carried out without a hitch. There were fifteen in the costumes of two hundred years ago. We have two photos of those in costume and are sending one to Kathleen to be forwarded to all of you. They cost $2.00 each so we are economizing and asking you to go to the bother and expense of sending this copy to all the families.

Mother represented Mrs. Jefferson and I Thomas Jefferson, Secretary of State in Washington's Cabinet. Both Ellen and I had some costume. My wig was of raw silk and cost me $5.50 mex. My coat and knee britches were of black sateen with large tin buttons. The waist coat was of white silk, I wore Mother's white silk stockings, and a pair of new patent leather pumps (the bandits borrowed my others in 1927 and have not returned them) with white brass buckles, and lace frills on my cuffs and shirt front and a white cloth around my neck that Mother says is called a "stock."

As president of the American Association I was chairman of the evening. Every number on the program was very well received. The community very kindly lent us the use of the Foochow Club for the occasion. The room was filled with many standing about the sides. Several have said to me that it was the finest thing Foochow had seen for a long time.

Willard and Ellen dressed as Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson at a George Washington Birthday party.
[Photos from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

The change in transportation during the past few years is realized when I write that Mother and I dressed at home, got into an auto at our gate, and were nearly four miles away at the Foochow Club in about fifteen minutes. And when we were ready to come home there was the auto, taxi, at the door of the Club and in about fifteen minutes we were home. The charge for each was $1.00 for the round trip. We took an elderly lady, Mrs. Hand, with us both ways and brought home Agnes McClure aged 12 and her sister Joan aged 10. Joan was in costume.

My chickens are flourishing. I have one cock about three years old and two hens two years old all thorough bred Rhode Island Reds. One brood of eight hatched Nov. 20th. 1931, four of them perfect R.I.R. the other four have some White Leghorn in them, then I have eleven hatched Jan. 11th. I have four native chicks that are laying. They are about as large as my brood of eight.

The garden is growing nicely. We are now eating lettuce, carrot, radishes, beets, swiss chard, with parsnips, ruta begas, spinach, kohl rabi, brussels sprouts, coming on.

The winter has been very cold, some twenty mornings with heavy frosts. Last Saturday night snow fell so the mountains on all sides of us were white for four days. The men at the University had a snow-ball contest on the campus. The ther. went down into the 30's. It now registers 62 in my study. The fire is out and doors and windows wide open.

News from Shanghai Saturday Mar. 5th caused great rejoicing, and the setting off of perhaps $1000 of crackers. It was reported that on Mar. 4th there was very heavy fighting. The Chinese retreated and laid mines so that the Japanese in following them got on these mines and were slaughtered. The Japanese have changed head commanders five times since the fighting began in Shanghai. News from the radio said on Sat. night that the shops in Shanghai were opening for business.

We'll hope the fighting has ceased. The Chinese must win in the long run for they can carry on this struggle indefinitely. The Japanese are about at their end of money and men and public sentiment.

Lovingly Father

[This letter dated March 20, 1932 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy and Harold have kept very busy with out of town basketball games. She discusses the financial condition of Harold's family. Many schools are now not letting married couples teach in the same school and Dorothy wonders how that will affect her. She mentions the Lindberg baby case. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy C. Newberg
2108 North Bond Street
Saginaw W.S.
Michigan

Sunday, Mar. 20, 1932

Dear Jerry:-

Yes, I did get your check, and should have written right away about it, but I simply couldn't find the time. The last three or four weeks have been rather hectic ones for work. I've had hardly a minute to call my own. Someway our out-of-town basketball trips were all piled into the last weeks of the season and we have had to make two a week right along- trips to either Detroit, Lansing, or Flint. Sometimes I would have to drive myself, and every time we'd have to start soon after school and I'd have to chase home and grab a bite to eat, or, go without. For the last 3 weeks, I've been out (on business of some kind) every night in the week except one, and Sundays. Now, thank goodness, the Ames work is over, and I'm going to bed early every night I'm home, or know the reason why!

Yes, the check was a surprise to me. When your letter came I just couldn't imagine what kind of a surprise I was going to get, and I puzzled and wondered till the surprise came. Thank you so much. I do hope it hasn't left you absolutely strapped, for I'd rather take it a little at a time than to do that. Also, I told you I didn't want a cent of interest, and I really mean it. Consider yourself paid up right now. By the way, how are you financially now? Are you able to save anything out of what you get, or does it take it all to live? If there is anything you need in the way of clothes of anything else, I wish you'll tell me and let me get it for you, for things are down so low now here that it doesn't take much to get quite a bit. What of these would you like-bloomers, slips, shirts, stockings, gloves, nighties or P.J.s, brassiers?- or anything else. Let me know right away.

You spoke of going to a "crazy bridge". No, you didn't tell me about it, and I'd like to know how to put on such an affair. Tell me about it.

You surely did "leap out" on leap year night, didn't you. That was quite a coincidence.

I just don't know about our plans for the "wild west". It seems as tho all of Harold's folks are out of work and they seem to be having a hectic time to get along. Harold has been sending checks right along for the last few months to help them out. He says he wouldn't feel like taking the trip if they are still in that condition by summer. His Dad was laid off from the brick yards. His uncle was laid off at the foundry. Grace is still working, but hasn't received any pay for several months. Her husband hasn't worked very much since they were married as far as I can find out. On top of all that his younger brother- the one that has two children- has just had an operation to straighten a foot that has been crippled all his life. He was working as a mechanic in a garage and had to lay off from work for three or so months to have that done. We sent him $300 for the expenses of the operation, besides some money for his mother's expenses to stay with him. Ralph and Relda are still both teaching, but as far as I can find out, they can't seem to help out very much. We are driving to Galesburg for Good Friday, Saturday, Easter and Easter Monday. That is all the spring vacation we get this year.

I wonder if you hear anything more about the Lindberg baby case out there, than we do here. It has ceased to hold the headlines, but there never fails to be an item or two somewhere in every paper, but none are very satisfying. Do you suppose Lindberg knows more than he will let the reporters know? I thought surely the baby would be returned 'ere this.

Did I tell you that Myrtle Johnson and I joined the A.A.U.W. here last fall? We have been to three or four of the meetings, of which only two were real good, as far as the program was concerned.

Last week the officers and coaches of the Ames Athletic Ass'n. gave the members of all the teams a chicken dinner. It was a lot of work for us and took lots of time to put it on, but the boys and girls seemed to enjoy it. This week Fri. the boys and girls put on a fish supper to make some money. That was a big job for us too, but it went over big. We served almost 300 people and took in over $50. That money was divided evenly between the Sunday School and the Athletic Ass'n.

There seems to be a grand furor all over the country in educational circles about married teachers. We have been reading articles in the Detroit papers by Deans and Profs. of large Universities, who mostly all favor letting married teachers keep their jobs if they are rated superior as they are supposed to be. I don't know what they are going to do here, but according to our Supt. they will not let anyone who gets married now remain, but will keep the ones already in the system until they wish to stop. The Board may think differently, however.

Did I write you that we have a cute little all white Spitz puppy? We got her as soon as we got back from the East- on New Year's day. She is now almost four months old, and just as cute as she can be, altho she gets into mischief and tears up things if you don't keep an eye on her. Today she got down cellar and into the coal pile and now she doesn't look like our little Fluffy at all. I'll have to give her a bath.

Have you seen Hazel Ellen recently? They sent the dearest snap shots of her a few weeks ago.

Do you get a vacation this summer? If you do, are you planning to do anything special? I was going to say that if we don't go West, we might be East for a while, and I'd like to know when your vacation would come.

I heard that Thornton Penfield is engaged to Mr. Lindberg's young sister- Constance, is it? I don't know how true it is. It was reported that he was out there at the Lindberg home for a couple of days right after the kidnapping.

Thanks again for the check, and don't send interest.

Love- Dot.

The stockings came yesterday. They are so pretty! Just the right size and shade. Thank you heaps for them. The only pair of net stockings I have are just about gone, so these came just in time. The ones you sent are much prettier than the ones I've been wearing.

[This letter dated March 27, 1932 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Gould, Virginia, Hazel and Geraldine. He visited the village of Deng Chio which was completely burned in 1927. He tells how 96 villages have recovered from being robbed. A road for cars is being built across the plain. Willard tells about a couple of funerals. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

March 27th. 1932.

Dear Gould, Virginia, Hazel and Geraldine:-

This has been a great week. Saturday March 19th, with a young man I started for Deng Chio, fifteen miles across the plain and across the river and then into the plain on the other side of the river. The village of 2000 people was entirely burned in January 1927. Admiral Sah went in and rebuilt it on modern lines. The main street is sixty feet wide, with a row of trees in the middle. For our church he put up a long building 60 X 50 feet, in five sections.

Half of each section has two stories. We have had no resident preacher there for a year. A man from another church goes over to hold service Sunday afternoon. We visited about Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning. Saturday evening we had supper with a fine young doctor and his family, - wife and four boys, the daughter was away at school. This man was with the bandits three years ago for about three months, and finally his family got together $800 and ransomed him. It is a beautiful Christian family. Sunday noon we dined with a graduate of Foochow College, - some fifteen years ago. Sunday afternoon the little church was full and seventeen partook of communion. One young woman united with the church and one baby was baptized.

Five years ago this whole plain of ninety six villages was robbed of everything worth taking away. All the cattle, hogs, goats, chickens and rice and potatoes were killed or eaten or taken away and the bandits also got a lot of jewelry that had been taken over there from Foochow. Just before this there was a scare in Foochow, and the big shops sent their valuables away. The whole plain was skinned. Not more than twenty people were killed. I asked several people there if the people had recovered. Yes, they were about where they were before the raiding. Now that is characteristic of the Chinese. Their recuperative power is amazing. Going and coming to this place and to two places within a few miles, I have a walk of five miles across the plain to the south west. An auto road is under construction over this five miles. The method of construction would interest Wells and Dan. It would be hard to find them rods of straight road in the old path. Modern surveyors have planned the new road. It is straight. It is nearly all the way thru rice fields. A ditch is dug on each side and the mud thrown up to make the road about eight feet higher than the surrounding fields. Then the road is faced with broken stone and cement. As it is now the face is the rice field mud. It had rained hard the day before we went over it, and the old road was destroyed and that pile of the worst, stickiest mud was our only way. It took us an hour to go a mile. Of course we were walking. We did not fall down. W.B.

When I came into the compound Monday, I met the Treasurer of the mission. He said, "Will you come down to the office a minute". I went and found over $200 mex. that we had utterly given up three years ago. It was the American-Oriental Bank here and that went bust. They have been paying off their depositors the past few weeks.

When I went to my desk I found a slip from the Post Office asking me to call at the head office four miles away to open a parcel just from America. I went and found a small paper box with four of the best most efficient wash cloths you ever saw. The poor fellow, when he saw only cotton gave a grunt and turned away in disgust. "I don't want anything more of it." I felt sort of even for the last time I went at his call he pulled me for almost $9.00 duty.

On Wednesday I found corn and peas above ground and put in [a] lot more seeds. In the afternoon we had our weekly prayer meeting for the mission. Mr. Topping and I conducted communion and I baptized Muriel, Rena and Lois Topping and Margaret and Whitney Shrader.

It is the custom more and more to hold funerals of Christians in the church, the same is true of weddings. Last Thursday in the Lau Memorial church here was the funeral of a woman forty eight years old. She was a daughter of a preacher of our mission years ago. One of her sisters was the wife of one of our pastors, and another sister is the wife of the Postal Commissioner of all China. He attended the world conference of Postal Commissioners in London two years ago. Now he is giving his attention to the Postal Savings Bank of China. I helped start this man on his road to success. The second winter we were in Foochow I gave him two evenings a week in English. We read the Gospel of Mark together in English and talked about it. Then when I was in the Y. work he was in the Post Office in Foochow, the head Chinese. His monthly reports were for all Fukien Province, and they were spread over about twenty pages of foolscap. They were in English. He asked me to correct the English before he forwarded them to Peking to the Commissioner of Customs as it was then. This woman whose funeral took place last Thursday never married. She studied medicine and was noted for her helpfulness. It is the custom for the relatives to invite two or three church leaders to make addresses at the funeral. I had a fifteen minute talk that day. It was noted by the foreigners present that nearly every Chinese who had any part in the funeral mentioned the fact that she had no family. Not a single member of her own family were there. The arrangements were made by the pastor, Husband of her deceased sister. It was to us Americans rather pathetic that the Chinese should consider the fact that she had no children or husband so lamentable. This is another Chinese characteristic.

Thursday afternoon Mother and I left at 5 o'clock for the University. I was to preach and conduct Communion for the University Faculty, students, workmen, servants etc. This required a bilingual service. So most of the way thru I spoke in English then said the same thing in Chinese. We had supper with the Beaches and then listened to the radio for a few minutes until the electricity went off, the service was after supper. As I had an appointment the next morning we came home after the service. On the way up the engine went on the blink five times. The tide was running out and we lost from ten to twenty rods each time she stopped. We reached home at 11:30 p.m.

Friday there was another funeral. This was the wife of a well-to-do umbrella merchant. It was held in the house. All sorts of people were there. There were the husband and five sons and one daughter, - quite different from the other woman. But most of the two hundred present were non-Christian. There were two brass bands and four addresses.

Yesterday I admitted to membership in the Lau Memorial Church nineteen adults, and baptized twelve children. Two of the men admitted were brothers. Did I write a short time ago of a little boy who was sick some fifteen years ago and his mother gave him up, put him on the floor in the back room to die, went and told one of her relatives who was a Christian, and he said he knew of only one remedy, - to pray. He prayed and as he prayed the little fellow, then only about eight years old, opened his eyes and asked for a drink of tea. Well one of these brothers was this little boy grown to manhood, married and brought his baby to be baptized. [Refer to letter dated May 23, 1915 by Willard.]

We think of you all and devour every letter from you. The photos of the granddaughter (her parents don't count) are displayed to each caller. We had one enlarged but it was not entirely satisfactory. Mother and I had our photos taken in costume and will send them soon. Garden and chickens are doing well. Corn up also peas. Easter was a glorious day.

I do not yet get any light on how we may arrange to hear Marjorie. We hear Manila best of any place in the East.

Here is love to you all and a prayer for God's blessing to be always with you each.
Grandfather and Father

[This letter dated April 3, 1932 was written from Northwest River, Labrador by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry (Geraldine). They now have a radio and enjoy listening to church services on it. Marjorie tells a very sad story about a house fire in town which caused the six deaths in a family of ten. Marjorie tells about the weather up there and about some of the lakes and rivers. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Marjorie Beard
Northwest River
Via Rigolet
Labrador

April 3, 1932.

Dearest Jerry,

I should make an apology like the one you made in the letter you wrote at the end of the summer, but I should have to make it to every member of the family; for I haven't written very many family letters this winter. I've gotten so rusty that it's hard to get down to it again. Besides, just now I have to write against two very fascinating distractions. One is a grand church service over the radio. It does seem wonderful to have a radio this year. And how good congregation singing and anthems by large choirs do sound! The cathedral congregation in Montreal is singing one of my favorites now. We have such puny, little choruses in church, and no harmony-oh! how I miss it! I mean it is all unison singing. And then they dra-a-a-ag it so! Sometimes I can't stand it; and we've tried to make them sing faster but in vain.

Well, to go back, the other distraction is that Annie is giving that darling baby her evening bath, and you just can't help watching. Her name is Evelyn and she is just a little over six weeks old today. It was quite thrilling when she arrived. Annie walked down to the hospital at about 5 in the morning, and the baby had arrived at 7:30! Almost all the babies that have come this winter, and there have been about 9, have come that quickly. None of the mothers was in labor anywhere near a day. Pete (our nurse, her real name is Miss Freda Peterson) must be a very good obstetric nurse.

Evelyn knew just when to come. It was a great coincidence. All the birthdays in this house were in the week beginning Feb. 14. Jack's was first, Annie's the day after, mine two days later, and Ella's (Annie's cousin, who is helping her) two days later, the 19th. And when did little Evelyn leave the sight but on the 20th! Just the right week, on a day all her own, and in her right order of age and size, as all the rest of us happen to be! It was the talk of the town!

And just the Wednesday before, on my birthday, Annie had given Ella and me a party- or rather supper. We had each had one guest. Annie said she and Jack would celebrate later when she felt more like it.

Two weeks later, however, the whole town was plunged into sorrow by the greatest tragedy that has been known on the whole coast. (The congregation is singing "Jerusalem, the Golden". Oh, Oberlin memories! Am I getting homesick, I wonder! How good it sounds. How I'd love to sing in the choir once again!!) Well, to go on - we were all awakened one night by the school bell, which is rung in case of fire, ringing frantically. At first I thought it must be school time, and I had overslept. But immediately came to, and jumped out of bed, craning out of the window to see where the fire was. It was out on the point and burning fiercely, the flames roaring before a northeast wind, just the right direction to be worst for a fire in that place. Jack was out of the house in a minute- literally- and when he came back he had such a gruesome tale to relate. When he had got there, the house was so far gone that nothing could be done to save it. And what was infinitely worse, almost a whole family had burned up with it. The stove evidently had been filled up with dry wood that had been gathered just that day. The mother had written a note to ask that one of the boys be allowed to stay at home to get dry wood as all theirs was so green that it wouldn't burn. And when the family awoke the whole house was ablaze. It was one of the few two-story houses in N.W.R., and all the family slept upstairs. One of the older boys ran out to give the alarm, and was badly singed on the way. When they got back to the house, the upstairs was all ablaze and one of the men opened one of the windows from a ladder against the house and called but evidently it was already all over with those inside. All the houses here are just wooden frame houses and there is almost nothing to do in case of fire. I believe there is not one case of a house being saved after it had really got a start.

The only members of this family who are left are the boy that ran out- he lives here at Jack's now, since he works for the Mission- he's sitting here in the kitchen with us now-, his sister of 11, who happened to be spending the night at the house of an aunt; an older boy and the father, both of whom were on the furpath, trapping. They both came home this past week. My! it must have been a shock to them. The ones who were burned were the mother, an older daughter, two boys who were in my sixth grade, a little boy of 3, and the baby girl of a year. That day and the week after were terrifically depressing- I never want to repeat anything like them again.

April 10, 1932.

The mail came last night- and what a mail!!! Oh! it's so good to hear from you all. You realize how far behind you get when the news comes in. Your letter was so good. Wasn't it grand that Dot and Harold could have come east for Christmas? And what fun to have them do it as a surprise.

I'm so glad you went to see the Paddons. Don't you like Mrs. P.? Yes, she and Betty are alike. Mrs. P. has an uncanny way of knowing what you want almost before you do yourself, and providing it before you ask. And yet all her attentions are so natural and unforced- it looks so easy to be the perfect hostess when she does it.

You didn't say anything about Dr. P. Wasn't he there, or didn't you like him? Jack and I were speaking about them this noon, and I was telling him what your opinion of Mrs. P was. He remarked that Dr. very seldom made a good first impression. He said he didn't like him at first.

After church.

This afternoon I was sitting out on the porch writing. It has been such a warm, spring day today. One hardly needed a wrap. And the sun was so brilliant on the snow that one had to have glasses whenever one went out. Last year wasn't nearly so bad on the eyes; and even old hands say that they have never had to wear dark glasses so much. Even the school children wear them out to play.

March was a miserable month. First it would be cold, gray and blizzardy and the snow would pile in great drifts making walking next to impossible. Then would follow gray days, cold enough to put a crust on the snow so that one could get about on the paths, but terribly depressing and lifeless. Just as walking got good, along would come a jewel of a day- bright, warm, and springy- but bad for the snow, for it would all go soft again, and you were confined to just the village paths that were most used. We had few of those sunny days, tho, so we are appreciating days like this one to the full, - and more. But it will spoil us for the cold snaps and further snow which we are bound to have a little more of. Spring tastes too good.

John Betts came up, and we walked to the top of Sunday Hill- the favorite walk here. From there you get a superb view to east and west. To the east stretches the bay, with the Mealy Mountains, all white with snow, just across. As we came home, the snow was just beginning to turn rosy with the light from the west. The sky, mountains and water- that was not frozen- was never bluer. The mountains are the most intense dark blue here, of any that I've ever seen. The bay was still frozen- a great white sheet, with the blue of the free river water running out into it for a short distance. The river has been open for the past week.

To the west is Little Lake, connected with Grand Lake by the Rapids, running thru a narrow place between two hills. The Nascopil River runs into Grand Lake about 30 miles up its length, and that current keeps the Rapids open most of the winter. There is a strip of open water all the way down Little Lake now, tho the sides are still frozen. The hills are nearer on the opposite side of Little Lake, but they, too, are white where they are bare of trees. Just a soft, warmish breeze was blowing, and we sat down on the top of the hill and were not too cold- for over half an hour.

I've written you who John Betts is, haven't I? He's an English boy (he'd appreciate that term, I suppose! But he's little more, being only 21) working with the Hudson's Bay Co. He is awfully good company and I have enjoyed going for walks with him this winter, and last fall. During Jan. and Feb. and March we couldn't do much walking, but now that it's getting warmer and a crust is on the snow, we'll not be house-bound anymore.

I did appreciate your description of Hazel Ellen. I'm just pining to see her. If she's half as cute as our baby, Evelyn Watts, she's absolutely irresistible. I think maybe Evelyn could put up almost as round a little head as Hazel, and she has the prettiest little nose you ever saw- just like her father's, sitting up there and asserting itself saucily!

Today Jack got me a message from Aunt Mary. It was a fine long one and newsy.

Have you heard of the broadcasts which the Board is sending to its foreign missionaries? It tickled me so to hear of it. I'm wiring out a message. I'm listening for messages that night, you bet.- April 20, it is.

This will be the last mail that goes out, before the boats start. I don't know how many more letters I can get done, so will you pass this around? Thank you. Do write again. Much love to you- Monnie.

[This letter dated April 3, 1932 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. The faculties of the many schools and colleges in Foochow met for a dinner at the Union High School. The Chinese report that another battle in Shanghai is imminent. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China
April 3rd 1932

Dear Geraldine:-

Yesterday Ling Dai Mi brought his bill for your lacquer and the receipt from the Post Office for $8.65 postage on the box. You will note that I guessed fairly near- only 81 cents off. I'll keep that - just about 20 cents gold to apply to your next order. Dorothy wrote that her last order came thru in perfect condition. Harold had to bark water about his confidence in the Saginaw P.O. not charging duty for he had plenty to pay this time.

Spring is here. To day I preached at Sang Bo in the morning- over on the river- a mile above the bridge- came home and at 1:45 started in the opposite direction for Ma Ang- richsha to the north gate and walk 40 minutes. It was good and hot. After the service a 40 minute walk back to the gate and a ricksha home and a delicious cold water bath and thinner clothes all thru. At 8 p.m. the ther registers just 70 degrees. Two nights ago I wore an overcoat and the evening before that we had a fire in the living room.

Saturday noon I went out to the Union High School to dinner with the faculties of Foochow College, Wenshan Girl's School, Union Kindergarten Training School and Union High. More than forty ate together at four tables. Old and young, men and women, foreigners and Chinese were well mixed up. Only three or four years ago these affairs were stiff when they tried to hold them, but the stiffness is all gone now and the men and women act normally. They also play normally and after eating and playing they paid attention to the intellect. Two hours before I started the Chairman and our host phoned me asking me to speak on (1) Cooperation among the members of each faculty and also among the different faculties, (2) Extra class room activities between students and faculty members. Chinese teachers find it difficult to associate with the students outside of the classroom.

I have been reading "The Marks of an Educated Man" by Albert Edward Wiggons. It's rich- very plain, matter-of-fact, practical, like his Ten Commandments of Science. Is that the exact wording. I like specially his chapters on getting along with other people, and popular notions are always wrong. If you have not read it already, take time some day to run over that chapter on getting along with other people. The title of the other chapter rather antagonized me. But after reading it I decided that if I wished to be considered an educated man, I must agree that popular notions are wrong and always have been- the notions that the world was flat, night air is unwholesome, the world is going to the dogs. Not all these are his, but he lists among other popular notions snakes can charm birds. I have seen what I called a snake charming a bird. He had the bird seemingly unable to move away and was within about 4 feet of it when I came up and broke the spell. Nevertheless it is a very interesting and thought provoking chapter.

The last few days have not produced much radio news from the Shanghai situation. The Chinese report that another big battle is imminent. They have no use for the League of Nations. This is a popular notion and it is wrong.

This afternoon the cook left for 50 miles beyond Ing Hok to see his mother, -to be gone a week. Mother will be cook during his absence.

Be bas- do you remember them? are in market. We are still eating delicious pumelo and dry gik, with very fine hung gek. I do not think we had many when you were here. They are as large as a small grape fruit- sections much like it also but quite sour. They grow where oranges grow. We use the juice on lettuce instead of vinegar.

I have just cut my first ham. It is all right.
With lots of love
Father

Will you send one bunch of chop sticks to Kathleen. I'll take it off your bill. I brought both for her if she wants them. Mother has had two bunches for her for three months but does not get to send them.

[This letter dated about Spring 1932 was written from Labrador, Canada by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry (Geraldine). Marjorie tells about her plans to come home and would like to study at Columbia for an M.A. in Education. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[to Geraldine]

[about Spring 1932]

My plans now are as follows: I want to stay until the new principal comes, which I hope will be before the end of August. I'll try to get the last mail boat down the coast in August, stop for a day or two in St. John's, then take a boat from here down the St. Lawrence to Montréal (if there are boats running from St. John's in that direction. I've written our agent in St. John's to find out.) then take the train to New York. It won't be as thrilling as coming in to N.Y. harbor by boat, but I do want to see the St. Lawrence, and Quebec.

Next year I'm thinking seriously of taking work in Columbia [University]. Miss Peterson, the nurse here, studied there last year and is crazy about it. She is about 35, so can give mature advice- and is the kind of person who would, too. She advised me to study for an M.A., saying that it would come in handy in future. What think you? O, experienced one?! I have almost no money and would have to borrow almost the whole amount. I don't even know how much I'm getting this year yet, as I haven't seen a cent of salary to date. Been borrowing! So I don't know how much to depend on. If I do study, would I live with you? That would be heaven! I'd like to do it just so we can.

The catalogue I sent for hasn't come yet. I expect it in the mail that will be here next week. My! what I don't look for in that mail! If it doesn't come up to my expectations I'll collapse!

I'd take an M.A. in Education, I guess, as that is what I want right now. I feel the need of it desperately, and have all this year. Dr. Paddon wired offering me an extra year on my term if I'd stay next winter, and go out the following year, then come back for two years more. But I couldn't think of such a thing. I've found out that I really know so little about my jobs that I want to go and learn something. Then I am getting tired of it for now, and out of ideas, and when one gets like that it's time for a change for awhile. A new person would put new life into it next year.

Well, this is enough of this raving for now. I jump about from subject to subject so that I doubt if you can make much out of it. I'll write you by the next mail.

Please give my love to all the relatives, especially Kathie, Dot and Harold, and Gould and Ginny. My, don't I wish Gould would bring you all up after me, and I'd show you all around, then we'd all go home together! What fun! We do expect an airplane any day now with prospectors- prospecting for what I don't know. Love 'n' then some, Jerry dearest- Monnie.

[This letter dated May 15, 1932 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to the Folks. Five families are on their way back to the states. He and Ellen spent a cool weekend on Kuliang escaping the high heat in Foochow. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Gould, Virginia, and Geraldine AND Miss Hazel Ellen Beard

May 15th. 1932.

Dear Folks:-

This is to be only one page. It is a long time since I have written. And I am planning to go to Sharp Peak tomorrow with a band of Christian workers for a Retreat. I may not get back until next Saturday.

The Board is telling us when to listen in for their radio messages, but it is as yet of no use, they say a faint noise can be heard from Boston, but nothing intelligible. Before long someone will have a short wave set so we can hear.

Every one is now talking about the five families who are going home. Four of them are leaving this next week. They go via Hong Kong and Europe. They go on the President Van Buren to arrive in New York July 21st. Rev. Wm. H. Topping, wife and four children, Rev. Ralph Shrader, wife and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Christian, Rev. and Mrs. Arthur O. Rinden and two children. I am writing this in case any of you can get off to run down to meet them. They will be in New York two days and then go on to Boston. The Christians may disembark at N.Y. and go to Albany, near where Mr. C. lives.

They are being feasted by Chinese and foreigners these days so it is a danger to their health. We had them in for dinner last night and one sat thru the dinner without eating, another was just getting back on rations again.

A week ago Mother and I were on Kuliang. We started Friday morning and got up for lunch. The two days previous had been schorchers, 120 in the sun and playing with the nineties in the house. But that morning was delightful for travelling. It was very damp up top-side and we just staid in and had a good rest, slept under two double blankets that night. We drew our own water and cooked our own meals and washed our own dishes. Saturday we looked at several houses that are being repaired, and loafed. It was a fine day. Sunday we went to church in the morning and I spoke in the afternoon. Just at lunch time two of the Culver boys blew in and lunched with us. We did not have much food to bring back with us Monday morning. Helen Smith and Mrs. Lewis were up also, early and started down about noon. It was another fine day. Monday morning was foggy again and cool for us to come home. We took one chair between us and did not get tired. We have been able to go in rickshas half way across the plain for ten years, on a jogglety road. We saw them repairing this road and they have begun the road the rest of the way to the foot of the mountain. It will be ready for us to use in August. This will greatly cheapen and shorten the trip to Kuliang.

The garden is doing great string beans today. Corn in tassel. We buy strawberries. The pullets hatched last Nov. 20th have been laying for over a week. Five out of eight were pullets. I have sold or exchanged nearly all the eggs from the two Rhode Island hens.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Church Executive on Friday the men who are leaving unloaded. McClure and I are the only men left in the compound, and as one vacancy after another appeared it was Bi Sing Bang who was proposed (McClure speaks Mandarin). I am now Assistant General Secretary. Newell is up at the Union High and Guy Thelin will be there in the fall. I have persuaded the people not to commence the Thelin residence or the Theological school building until fall. This will relieve me of a lot of work now and also in the fall for Thelin and Newell will be there then.

We were glad to hear of the get together in the old home so often. It is good thing. And we are all glad that the home is there for this. I wonder what has become of the horse that "goes better in reverse." It will not be possible to add the little personal notes this time. I ran across Ruth's letter the other day. Its time for another, Ruth [youngest daughter of Stanley Beard, Willard's brother]. Tell Dan he must get that invitation around at least two months before the eventful day if she wants a real to goodness Chinese present. Lovingly Father and Grandfather

[This letter dated May 16, 1932 was written from Foochow, China by Ellen to Gould, Virginia and Hazel. Willard is at Sharp Peak for a M.E. Mission retreat. Three families have packed up and left for the U.S. and two more are getting ready to leave. Ellen attended an Anti-Cob meeting the night before. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Foochow, China]

[May 16, 1932]

Dearest Gould and Virginia and little Hazel,

I am adding just a very hasty note to Father's letter. He is at Sharp Peak (our first summer resort, where Phebe was born.) The M.E. Mission are having a retreat there this week for their pastors and preachers and asked Father to speak twice each day to the group; he went Monday and will be home Saturday just too late to see any of the house-goers off.

The compound has been full of the excitement of three families packing up and getting off, growing more exciting each day until yesterday when Mr. and Mrs. Christian left the compound for the last time amid volleys of firecrackers, perhaps never to return, for they have been asked to retire, very much to their sorrow of course, as well as to that of the whole mission; but they still entertain hopes of returning and are just waiting God's leading when they have completed their furlough. They are spending the time till their boat goes Sunday morning, at Pagoda Anchorage with Dr. Gillette's people in a beautiful home beautifully located on the hills over looking the anchorage where all the steamers come in. Do you remember it Gould? Not Dr. G's house but the Anchorage itself? This morning or early p.m. Mr. Shrader and the Topping family leave, the latter on a house-boat with all their luggage and will sleep on the house boat tonight and go on the steamer early tomorrow morning. The Shrader family left yesterday p.m. and are staying at the University over two nights, Mr. Shrader returning last night to finish up and close up the house. Mrs. Beach and Mrs. Scott at the University are entertaining the family these two days. Mr. Rinden and family (2 children) go on the same steamer but they leave from Diong Loh, down near Pagoda Anchorage, so we miss that part of the excitement. Dr. and Mrs. Lewis and two children make the fifth family but he cannot leave till a month later and is going across the Pacific home. All the others go by way of Europe on the same boat.

Last night our last Anti-Cob meeting was held at the University, and was a picnic supper on the lawn of one of the residences there with tables and chairs supplied, and ice cream with strawberry sauce and spice cakes furnished by the University ladies (yes, and iced tea) while we took our sandwiches, first course and silver. Our program was held later, after moon-rise, in the assembly hall of the U. with a paper on Chinese art pottery, with an exhibit of scores of pieces from the U. Museum, but the curator and collector. Mr. Brand (do you remember him Gould) of the community rented at a reduction his private launch to take the people down to the U. which also towed a house-boat carrying the surplus passengers. Mr. and Mrs. Brand are members of Anti Cob and went too. The moon was full and most of us rode on deck (top most) of the house-boat. It was glorious, and so warm that even with the wind on the river which was taking the sail-boats up even faster than we went, it was not cool enough for a wrap; for the wind was with us. I was sorry father had to miss that pleasantest meeting of the year especially as all the people going home on furlough were there saying their last Good-byes, and it was the one picnic meeting of the year. Now, little Hazel, I hear wonderful reports of you from your Aunt Geraldine. She thinks none of our own precious babies were any cuter than your own dear little self. But dearest, don't let all these doting grown people spoil you. Tell father and mother to be on the guard not to show you off, not to let any one else do it but to let you just act out your own sweet innocent personality unobserved, so far as your consciousness goes.

This ink-scratch is from Mother, with much love. Please pardon the penmanship and poor form.

Gould climbing on American Airplane and Engine Corporation's Pilgrim 150. He took the plane on it's first flight on May 22, 1932.

Delta, Mike. "North American's Unique Airliner". International Air Review July/August 1992: 49-63.

[Magazine in the collection of Mark and Jana Jackson, given to them by Robert Amend, Jr. and to him by Willard and Mona Beard.]

[This letter dated Late May 1932 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Kathie and Dot to Jerry. Kathleen is in Saginaw now and she explains to Geraldine why she is turning down a job. Dorothy and Harold are going to drive Kathleen and Hugh back east. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2108 N. Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich
[Late May 1932]

Dear Jerry:

Accept my most humble apology for delaying my answer so long. Time has just slipped by on greased rollers since Hugh came and I have been in sort of a dream. I don't blame you for thinking me foolish to turn down a seemingly nice offer like that, but considering everything it strikes me from my biased point of view to be unwise to take it. In the first place it would eat up all my savings to get there and I would have to get some new clothes for that work. I have absolutely nothing suitable for it. Then it would evidently keep me tied down all summer when I would want to be looking for jobs. I don't see how I could get away to go job hunting at all. Besides that Hugh and I have our summer plans all made and part of our share of expenses already paid, and if I went off to New York I couldn't see Hugh at all, and as for being in the open, we will be much more in the open in Penn. than on Shelter Island. If I didn't want to be with Hugh I think I should take the job even tho it doesn't appeal to me, but the whole point of my coming East was to be with him. I would have stayed out in Utah otherwise. Now do you still think I am foolish? Hugh and I are going to hunt in Philadelphia and Reading during the summer and the Hunts with who we are staying will help us some, I suppose.

I don't exactly know Dot's and Harold's plans, nor do they. They are not going West- that is certain but I'll let Dot speak for herself. I had a good bus trip out here, four days and three nights. It cost me only forty dollars to get from Logan here.

Have a good time at the Wellesley Institute.
Love Kathie.

Dear Jerry: Have been so dashingly busy that I just haven't had time to write anybody! We- Harold and I are planning to drive the two "love-birds" to Philly, then do about as we have always done, I guess- visit around through the East, then in Ill. I'm terribly disappointed not to be going to Calif. But it may all turn out for the best in the end. I am going to write to the Farm asking if we can go there first, then arrange our visits from there. Will you be at the Institute all during our visit? I do want to see you. Love- Dot.
Today is our last day.

[This letter dated June 1932 was written from Long Island, NY. by Dot (Dorothy) to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy and Harold are on Long Island near Geraldine and Dorothy lets Geraldine know what their visiting and travel plans are. Dorothy lost her teaching job because of the new rule on married teachers working together. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy C. Newberg
2108 North Bond Street
Saginaw W.S.
Michigan

[Long Island, NY]
Tuesday-
[June 1932]

Dear Jerry:-

Yes, we are here on Long Island, but since your letter came, and I came to the full realization that this was the only place we'd really see very much of you, we immediately decided to go on and do our other visiting first and come back this way later. Now, these are our plans. We go to Aunt Myra's tomorrow- Wed.- stay till Sat. when we go to the farm over the 4th. (This visit to the farm is not definitely fixed, for I have to call them tonight.) Aren't you stopping at the farm on your way back? We'll all be there- that is, Gould's family, Harold and I- if they consent to having us come. We'll probably spend about a week there.

We hear that Aunt Emma hasn't been feeling so well lately. That rather makes me hesitate about going to visit there. Aunt Etta is going to Putnam for the summer, and is going to suggest that the three of them get a cottage and have a good rest. We may visit them there if they do.

About the Long Trail- I'd dearly love to don the hiking togs again and set sail, and I'd love to do the Long Trail, but I just don't know whether we're going to have time to do it. Harold's plans for the summer are- three weeks out here, three weeks in Galesburg, and the last two in Saginaw. Needless to say, I would love to spend lots more time around in the East. I don't enjoy myself nearly so much in Galesburg, and I really think that Harold enjoys himself almost as much as he does in Galesburg, but, of course, we have to divide our time as evenly as possible.

Have you heard when, or whether Monnie is coming? I've been thinking that it would be grand if you could save the rest of your vacation, or, at least a week of it, and you and Monnie visit us in Saginaw together when she comes. You know, I may not teach next year, unless the Board decides to slip out a contract to me the last minute. This married teacher problem "got" us married ones in Saginaw this spring. Some of them got contracts if they really needed work- and- some of us didn't. I felt quite badly about it at the time, but I'm quite reconciled about it now, for I'll have to pull away sometime, and make the break. Now's as good a time as any, I guess.

Kathie spent three weeks with us in Saginaw, and Hugh was with us two weeks. We finally succeeded in getting the two bed-rooms papered. It took all four of us to do it and none of us had had any experience before. We didn't get any of the "border on Grandmother's shawl", either.

Did I write you that Mabel Short and her sister and two other girl friends (sister) of theirs are renting our house for two months this summer? Our landlady finally came down from $45. to $35. and we are getting $32. from the girls, so are almost breaking even.

I do hope that Uncle Harold and Aunt Dot won't spoil the baby, altho there really is grave danger of it. She is a darling, isn't she. We had her all to ourselves yesterday, for her mother went to the city.

Harold and Gould went on an all-day fishing trip Sun.

I'll either see you, or write you, when we are to be here again and we want to see a lot of you. Write me either at Uncle Stanley's or the farm.

Much love-
Dot.

I am powerfully sorry to have kept these things all this time. I suppose they are no good to you now. Ginny wanted me to enclose these letters.

[This letter dated July 5, 1932 was written from Indian Harbor, Labrador, Canada by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry (Geraldine). Marjorie is helping the doctor open the hospital in Indian Harbor for the summer patients. She talks about how she might travel back to the U.S. She describes Indian Harbor. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Marjorie Beard
Labrador

Indian Harbor
July 5, 1932

Dearest Jerry,

Just look where I am! My plans changed suddenly with Dr. Paddon's coming. He asked me to come out here and help open up the hospital for summer patients, so here I am! And poor Nancy Buxton is back in N.W.R. doing my job. Poor kid! she wanted to come, too. I wish she could have.

The "Kyle" with its welcome mail pulled in yesterday. How they could have found out that I was here instead of at N.W.R. I don't know, but my mail came here and was I glad to see your letter! It was the only family letter. You are an angel to write so often.

I did write you in my last letter by the last mail when I expected to come out. But now I'm not at all certain when I can get out. But as I told Miss Torrens, who is staying here waiting for the Kyle to come back from North (she's on her way out), I'm going to have a grand time tonight just letting my imagination go, to you. So here goes!

I sent out to St. John's for schedules of boats going from St. John's to Montreal and got back two enchanting folders that made me want all the more to go that way. They are sort of excursion steamers, a two-week's trip from Montreal to St. John's and back. They stop at St. Pierre Island, a French possession, then go on to N. Sydney, and down the St. Lawrence past Quebec (I'm afraid they don't stop there, mores the pity, since it's the return journey I'd be taking) thence to Montreal. I'd take the night train from there for N.Y.C. Hip hurray! I can hardly wait!

But I can think of two plans even better than that. These boats run fortnightly and I'd probably not be able to take an earlier one than that which leaves St. J. on Aug. 26- Friday. It touches at N. Sydney on the 28th. If you could only come up by train and join me on the boat and go home with me! The boat reaches Montreal on the 31st, leaving plenty of time for you to get back and even have some time before Labor Day. The fare from N. Sydney to Montreal would be about $30. according to the folder. The big drawback would be that it is expensive for you. But it would be fun!

My other grand idea is that Dot and Harold gather together all the family that can come and come and meet me in the car at Halifax. I would pay all expenses except food, for the trip home, since it would be saving me some anyway. In that case, I'd just take one of the weekly steamers from St. J. to Halifax. The Lorimers took that trip up into the Acadian country once and could give you all the dope. I'd try my darndest to get out during your vacation if it could only be worked at your end.

I'll write Dot and Harold, too, and you try and urge them to make the trip. Maybe Uncle Elbert would come, too. It's lovely country, right thru Evangeline country. And I repeat- I'll pay all the car expenses. Oh! it would be so jolly! Ever so much better than coming in, in the conventional way at the steamer dock. And what grand talks we could have on the way back.

If you decide you can do either of those things, wire me. I think Dot and Harold have done it before; anyway the New York office could tell you how to send it. If you can't do either, don't bother to send a message, just write, for I'll know when I don't get the message. But oh! I do wish something like that could be done.

Now that I'm out here, all my plans are upset, and I don't know what to expect. You learn here on this coast to expect the unexpected, and just to wait patiently for whatever turns up. I can't get back to N.W.R. until the next mail boat (in two weeks) anyway, for no one but the doctor has come for this hospital yet. Last year it was well running by this time. They expect a nurse on the mission boat "Cluett" whenever she comes- we expect her any day. No one seems to know anything about who or where the housekeeper and industrial worker are. So it's just possible that I may be kept here all summer, if one or both don't turn up. I verily hope not, tho!

Just now our establishment consists of the doctor, a young medical from Yale, just about to enter his internship; Miss Torrens, on her way home to England; Blanche Davis, our N.W.R. teacher you know, on her way home to Cartwright- both taking the Kyle day after tomorrow; myself; and 3 patients, one in bed, two not; one boy-of-all-work; and 3 girls; one cook, one maid, one ward assistant. When Blanche and "T" go, I'll be all alone with young Doc, which I don't particularly relish. However, there may be another wop on the "Cluett", for this hospital, making two men and a maid! No better, I guess. I hope one of the other women workers hurries up and comes.

As for Indian Harbor, it's a grand place-grand in the proper sense of the word. It's an island, one of a small group. All are bare of trees and rocky- right behind the hospital there is a miniature mountain peak, mostly a large black rock, from the top of which one gets a grand view. The place gets its name from the fact that from a certain place, the rocks behind the hospital form themselves into the shape of a recumbent Indian, with profile to the sky. I haven't seen him yet, but I'm going to get a picture of him before I leave.

We've had miserable weather ever since we came last Thursday. The sun has hardly been out for a whole hour together, any day. And the fog and rain come rolling across the hills just as they used to do on Kuliang. It's been awfully hard to get this old rambling building dry and warm, and blankets and Mattresses aired.

Indian Harbor used to be a bustling fishing harbor at one time, but the price of fish has dropped so low, that few, comparatively, of Newfoundlers come to the Labrador coast now for summer fishing. Just now there are seven schooners in the harbor, most of them bound north. And there are about a dozen families on our island or the adjacent ones, to fish for cod and salmon. We are reveling in the fresh variety of both kinds- I love fresh salmon.

There is a tiny post office on a neighboring island, and a Marconi wireless station on the same one, a little farther away. One of the Newfoundlers keeps a small store, I haven't been there yet, but I hear from the girls that he at least keeps candy! I'm perfectly safe, for I haven't a cent to my name, up here.

Jerry, I wrote in my last letter that I might be studying next year. I've changed my mind, and I'm going to get any job I can-preferably teaching. I realize that any jobs at all are few and far between, so I shan't be at all particular about anything that may turn up. Would you be good enough to keep your eye and ear out for anything at all that I might do? I don't know any of the Teacher's Agencies in the east or I'd write myself. Could you give me the names of a few by the next mail. I'd like to be in the East some where: my! how I wish I could live with you!

I haven't answered your letter at all. I was so sorry to hear of Ethel LeRoy's death. It was a shock.

You saw Sir Wilfred before I did. I hear he's coming up this summer. I may meet him. I hope so.

You are a dear to send my stockings. I'm low in them, and I'll need some for going out. If you had seen how little time I "wasted" on darning stockings this winter, you'd laugh. I think I could count the number of times on the fingers of one hand! I've never done less. I can hardly wait to see the little dolls. Dot sent some cute little Dutch China dolls and I've had them on my bureau all year. By the way, who is Edna Watkins?

Kathie seems to be head over heels all right. But it seems to me it was going pretty far to throw down a chance for a summer job like that, when work is so scarce. Do they both plan to try to find work for this year, and then get married next summer? What did Father and Mother think of Hugh- what do Dot and Harold, and Gould and Jinny think of him? Does Kathie realize the family feeling?

I'm awfully sorry Dot and Harold and Uncle Elbert couldn't manage that western trip. It would have been so interesting. Maybe they'll think now that they can afford to come up to Halifax!

I must close and go to bed. My, but it's been good to talk with you; I can hardly wait to get out. I crave to see you all, and it'll be unbearable if I get held up.

More love to you than ever,
Monnie.

Please let the rest of the family read the news parts of this letter. I'm short of stationary out here, not expecting to be here so long.

September 9, 1932
Saginaw, Michigan

L to R: Geraldine, Harold, Hugh, Kathleen, probably Gidge's husband Peter, Marjorie, probably Gidge, Dorothy
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

Kathleen Cynthia Beard Elmer
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

[Following is an invitation to Kathleen and Hugh's wedding celebration in her parent's home in Foochow, China. Bride and groom were actually married at sister, Dorothy's house in Saginaw, Michigan on September 9, 1932. Poem in Jill Jackson's collection.]

Wedding bells! Wedding bells ring out today.
Far across the sea,
Bringing to two hearts truly one, joy,
Deep, full and free.

Let imagination take its flight
O'er the long miles between,
And we here participate
In that fair wedding scene.

'Though the actual hour is doubtless past
By a day's full half,
We may in wedding viands share,-
Of its nectar quaff.

To the bride's parental home,
You all are invited to come,
As the evening hour is sounded
By temple bell and drum.

No veiled bride, - not radiant groom
In person you there shall see;
No garlanded, gowned attendants,
No priest officiant be.

No gay-clad throng of guests you'll meet,
No nuptial music will hear;
No ring-tokened marital vows
Shall reach the listening ear.

But deep in the silence of the heart,
The parents give the bride;
And soulfully solemnize the rite
By which the bond is tied.

Hugh Elmer was born in Marsovan, Turkey June 19, 1909 to missionary parents, Theodore Allen Elmer and Henrietta M. Horsley (Henrietta's parent's were English missionaries in India). Theodore Elmer obtained his masters degree at Princeton and Theological degree from Princeton's Theological Seminary in 1897. Mr. Elmer spent time teaching at Jaffna College, Ceylon (where he met Henrietta), then in Turkey with the ABCFM. He worked in British refugee camps during WWI in Bakubak, Iraq. He also spent time working with the American Committee for American and Syrian Relief at Etchmiadzin in Russian Armenia and Baku on the Caspian Sea. Until 1928, Theodore stayed in the Caucasian countries where the Turkish and Russian armies were fighting back and forth over territory. He saw great starvation in Tiflis, Georgia (Russia) where he headed up the Near East Relief to feed, clothe, give medical aid and maintain orphanages. In 1930, Mr. Elmer was appointed business manager of the normal department of the Near East Foundation's school at Antelias, near Beirut. Theodore Elmer retired in 1934 and moved to Florida. Theodore Elmer had 4 children- Pearl, Enid, Hugh and Fred who died in infancy.

[This letter, dated Oct. 11, 1932, was written from Seymour, Conn. by Ginny to Willard and Ellen. Ginny and Hazel have gone to live in Shelton and Seymour while Gould is in Newark and the west. He is waiting to see what his position will be with the Aviation Corporation or American Airways. She discusses Flora's health. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Tuesday nite Oct. 11, 1932
129 W. Church St.
Seymour, Conn.

Dear Father and Mother-

Bless your Dear Hearts so many things have happened in the last month since I wrote you that I hardly know where to begin. By now you have probably noticed the address. Yes Hazel Ellen and I are staying between Shelton and Seymour, while Gould Bless his Dear Heart hardly knows where to hang his hat.

Well to begin in the beginning. The model 150 [see photo after letter dated May 16, 1932] that turned out to be a beautiful ship with a top speed of 199.2 miles P.H., the fastest single motor transport with the passenger capacity and pay load (10 passengers and pilot and I've forgotten the weight of the other payload {baggage and mail}) ever built, has been sold (ship and all rights of building) to the General Aviation Corp. in Baltimore, which is the Aviation end of General Motors; and Gould is the only one in the Company there in Farmingdale whose services the Aviation Corp. has absorbed since they entirely closed the Farmingdale plant about two weeks ago. But the poor boy does not know yet just what they want him to do. We gave up the house and put all our goods and chattels in storage in Hempstead the last of September. They told Gould four days before we closed up that he was to be located out in St. Louis Missouri so we sent his trunk out there (You remember Dot and Bill Littlewood whom we took you to visit in that lovely brick Colonial House in Garden City. Well they left in entirety for St. Louis Missouri the 25th of September). Just a week from the time they told him they wanted him in St. Louis and the day before he expected to leave they told him they wanted him to stay around Newark Airport for a week or so, for they didn't want him to get out there before Hugh Smith who is to be (or was to be) Gould's boss and who was on a tour in the East, for they apparently had some special work for him that no one else knew much about. Honey has been teaching Mr. Cohu, the President of the Aviation Corporation how to fly and we both think he wants to get his private pilots license before Gould gets very far away. So Gould was in Newark all this past week and hoped to be off for the West this past week end when Mr. Cohu springs the statement that they wanted him to be an inspector on the lines and report to the New York office; all which would mean that he would be flying from the East coast to the West coast and from Chicago to Texas so for the moment as near as we can figure out I might as well be a widow and Babe Daddyless here among Honey's people and my people as out in St. Louis with very few friends. But really we don't know any thing very definite. We only know that he is supposed to be drawing his regular salary that he had while in Farmingdale now.

We hate terribly to think of being separated so much of the time (and it may mean any where from several days to 7 or 8 weeks or more) at one time. I feel lost without my own home to plan and care for and do in as I please and even more so without my Sweetheart to say goodbye to in the morning and welcome home again at noon and night. I miss our meal time visits together, but chiefly I miss my Honey and every thing his presence means. And poor boy he misses it all too, perhaps, even more so because I have Baby Dear as a semi comfort and he doesn't have even that and he does so love his little girl. I only wish you might see him with her. My heart just simply swells up with all sorts of pride and joy when I watch him with her. You know Dears, Gould has made me oh so many times happier than I ever supposed possible. Our love seems to be on the increase all the time. It doesn't seem possible that there is even the tiniest room for more but somehow it succeeds very well in wedging a bit more in from day to day and each bit seems to add a little extra thrill to it all. While Honey is physically absent (for I do feel he is with us almost constantly in spirit) I keep having the Dearest little thoughts about him and all he means to me playing tag through my heart and mind; and Dears it is truly a wonderfully beautiful feeling.

I do so hope that Kathie and Hugh may know at least a portion of the wonderful love and thrill of Life together as we have known it and we both feel positive we'll continue to know and improve upon it from year to year.

You know occasionally I get all so filled up with feeling for my Sweetheart that I have to tell someone else if he isn't around to receive it and because you are not near enough to see it I'd rather tell you then anyone else I know.

I shall write you again as soon as I know anything more definite, first at present Gould's address is American Airways
Newark Airport
Newark, N.J.

I came here last Thursday P.M. after spending a whole delightful week on the farm. The Aunties surely did enjoy Babe for it is the first time they have had such a fine chance to know her and I even ran off one night and let them take care of her and they just loved it. Even A. Flora derived a tremendous amount of pleasure from her presence. Personally I think A. Flora seems quite well. She is fairly happy the majority of the time and I think she isn't quite as mean and sarcastic in some of her statements as she used to be, for some of the time she can be pretty horrid to A. Phebe.

We are so disappointed to have had to break up our home just as Monnie got here for we had really counted on some grand visits this winter. She and Jerry came up to the farm the weekend I was there and Gould was able to get up also so we saw a little then of her, and we saw her a couple of evenings at Mrs. Linches with Jerry and Mineola before we left the island.

Well Dear Ones another letter will follow this in fairly close succession. Until then Au Revoir
And Much Love From Gould, Ginny and Hazel Ellen

[This letter, dated Oct. 12, 1932, was written from Newark, NJ by Gould to his parents. He is in Newark waiting to find out where American Airways wants him to work. He gives them updates on some of the relatives. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

New Tremont Hotel
16-18 Fulton Street at Broad
Newark, New Jersey
Mulberry 4-6336

Oct 12, 1932

Dear Father and Mother:

You must wonder why I am writing on hotel stationary in Newark. Well this is my hang out for a few days till I find out where American Airways wants to place me. The Farmingdale plant has closed down flat and I have been transferred to the airways. They started me to St. Louis but stopped me before I got started. The last two weeks I have been staying around the airport at Newark with very little to do just waiting for Mr. Cohu (Pres.) to decide where he wants to place me. He has indicated that the job could be working out of the N.Y. office as his special representative. I don't know just what that means or what he intends me to do for him. I'm just waiting and in the meantime watching and learning.

When we gave up our little home in Farmingdale we left the prettiest little garden of flowers you ever saw. The gladiolas had gone by but the asters were right in their prime. Snap dragons were a beautiful mass which supplied two bouquets daily. The annual phlox were a ?? of dancing color. The tall blue delphiniums spikes stood out vividly among the green of the flower leaves where there were no blossoms. The petunias again were in a mass of color and the roses were full of buds. We had a bunch of the sweetest carrots I have ever raised. They were from special California seed. Tomatoes, green, hung on the wires in clusters. Some of them would have tipped the scales well over a lb and some nearly two lbs. They too were Dieneir's[?] Calif. tomatoes from expensive seed. Swiss chard stood 14" high in a 20 ft. row and we cut it twice weekly (quarter row). I am having all the rose bushes, 6 delphinium plants, some madaura lilly bulbs, 29 gerbera or transveal daisy plants etc. sent off to Seymour. I think Aunt Mary has all of everything she wants.

Gerry and Monnie have a cute little apartment up near Columbia. I have visited them twice. Gerry is very much set up with a place of her own to do with as she wants to. Monnie is quite pleased with her college courses.

Now the farm- Aunt Phebe and Mary are fine. They both got some vacation this summer. Aunt Mary went to conf [conference?] with Uncle Stanley's family. Aunt Phebe got away while Dot waited for Monnie and visited Uncle Stanley and us. That gave them both a break. Aunt Flora is failing very slowly but surely. [Flora is 63.] I fear she will drag on for a long time like this. Her mind is calmer or more dormant than last year and she does not fly off into the tantrums she used to at best not so often or violently. She either accepts the facts or does not realize them. She is not jealous of her position as head of the house and Aunt Phebe seems to manage things a lot easier without that interference.

However, Aunt Flora is more care than she used to be. She moves about with difficulty and requires assistance to do everything. She has little control of her urine or bowels and Aunt Phebe spends hours keeping her clean. Aunt Flora reads some and plays some games, but most of her time is spent in just sitting and gazing out the window down the lane. Sometimes she talks thru a long conversation coherently and sometimes she loses the thought of her sentence before she finishes. She is amused by very trivial or childish things and if she laughs hard, often she chokes because of the paralysis in her throat. Her decline is not rapid but seems to progress very slowly and that is why I think she will live like this for a long time. She takes much enjoyment in visits from all of us and still enjoys auto rides immensely. She is quite tickled to hold Hazel Ellen in her lap, but that little squirmajig won't sit still any longer.

Uncle Oliver is just about as you picture him. He has gained in flesh quite a little but his reserve power is still small and he does'nt do much these days. He looks fine and seems to enjoy life. Mrs. Beardsley makes a very sympathetic companion for him. He visits the farm quite often and they go there for Sunday dinner every other week.

Ginny and Hazel Ellen are two dear hearts to make a husbands and father heart swell with love and pride. Do you remember once before we were married, that I wrote you to the effect that at that time I was afraid I did not love Virginia as much as I had loved another, but that there was something in the girl that gave me confidence to feel that she was true blue and would stick by me forever and that I felt sure my love for her would always increase?

It has – very much greater- stronger- deeper than I ever dreamed of. It seems that we grow closer each time we embrace. Each problem we meet together and honestly and openmindedly. We respect each others feelings, wishes, ideas, thoughts and needs and it works out for the best for both of us.

Hazel Ellen is growing normally-not too fast-but too fast for you, Mother. (Remember how you kept your babies as babies as long as you could?) She walks only with the aid of a hand or holding on to things. She has'nt crept at all. She only says "Daddy" as yet, but don't talk too plainly in her hearing, because she understands more than you suspect she does. Just now she is with Virginia in Seymour and visiting the Aunts frequently. I have managed to get up the two week ends to see them, and it is a real inspiration to be with my own little family these few hours. Hazel is as cute as God makes babies. I think she is going to be a pretty girl and well formed. Her eyes have real life and snap to them. Just now she is getting more attention than is good for a ?? child but I guess it is part of the growth of every child to be made a fuss over by the aunts and uncles and grandparents. I wish you could be here to enjoy her with us.

I guess I have left out the B.N. Beard family is this family word picture. Uncle Ben and Aunt Abbie seem happy and look better than any time since Uncle Ben got out of active politics. Business is good for him and his two sons and they are keeping very busy. Dan and Bee are as happy as two little birds in a nest. They got ?? of Babe last Sunday and even insisted on having her on their laps in the picture of the family. Dan is as proud of his house as a rooster would be if he had ten worms in his beak for his favorite hen.

Wells is going to have to watch his step. Prosperity is puffing him up. He is "getting away" with too many little things, summons for speeding being taken care of politically, etc. He feels that he is immune from the inevitable which he is not perceiving enough to see. He talks big money very glibly. He likes to "get away" with things that are not just according to the Beard family's standards. He is a fine big boy still but he will have to watch his step.

Edith is the prettiest of all the Beard girls of any of the generations I have known. She is as sweet and lovely as she looks.

Uncle Elbert is looking very well. I think he was very worried about Aunt Emma for a while, up to now he is sure the worst is passed and she is on the up grade again. He is not too optimistic but he feels sure she will be well in time.

I do not know too much about Aunt Emma's trouble. The girls and Uncle E. have probably written about them.

As to my future I am uncertain. I think I have a good job waiting for me somewhere in this acquisition. With five years of service tucked away under my belt for the company in Farmingdale, the Aviation Corp. owes me something in the line of a job and I intend to have it if it can be bot honestly. I am still teaching Mr. Cohu how to fly. He is getting along slowly but doesn't come for lessons often enough.

Well, you have an eyeful of the family as I see them and by now you must be ready to stop reading my scrawl for once.

My love with Ginnys and babes to you both. Your son, Gould.

[This letter, dated Nov. 17, 1932 was written from St. Louis, MO by Gould to his father and mother. Gould is now inspector of American Airways and living in St. Louis. He misses Ginny and Hazel. Uncle Oliver re-married a Mrs. Beardsley. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

St. Louis, Mo.
Nov 17, 1932

Dear Father and Mother;

Your letter suggesting that husbands should write more often came to me in one of Ginny's letters yesterday and I am taking steps to improve that condition at once.

You see this letter is written from St. Louis. Well, in the next year you may get letters from almost any part of the country. I am now an inspector on the air lines- The American Airways- reporting directly to the President, Mr. Cohu. My work takes me from Boston to Los Angeles and San Diego, from Chicago to New Orleans and Brownsville, Texas and Atlanta, Ga. I inspect all flying and operations and equipment and work on the planes.

It was pretty tough breaking up our little home and leaving Ginny and babe in Seymour, but I honestly think that if things go ok, the job will lead to something within the year which will be worth working for and that we can again have our little home. I thought that it would'nt go so hard with me who had been used to knocking about and that it would be harder on Ginny, but I really never missed anything in all my life as I miss my own little sweetheart and our little love flower.

Here in St. Louis I am staying with the Littlewoods. It is pretty nice to be in a home again. Your letter spoke of Mr. Buchnall. I remember him well. He used to come around every so often and we kids were half scared of him. He had'nt adopted Chinese at that time as I can remember. At that time he was in the camphor business.

I won't be home for Thanksgiving this year but I'll get back for Xmas. Ginny writes that Uncle Oliver and Mrs. Beardsley were married two weeks ago. I think that really was fine. They seemed so compatible with each other. I think the aunts are really glad about it too.

I'll write you more in a couple of weeks. I must write Ginny her nitely letter now. It is the only way I can have of writing all my feelings for her now till Xmas.

With all my love to you my Father and Mother- Your loving son.

Gould.

P.S. I guess the country spoke pretty loudly on election day. The people are after their liquor strongly and several of the states have stopped enforcing prohibition already. Time only will tell what it will bring.

1933

- Prohibition ends
- Roosevelt inaugurated
- US recognizes USSR
- Hitler assumes power
- Willard and Ellen are in Foochow, China
- Kathleen and Hugh are living in New Castle, Pennsylvania
- Marjorie leaves for Canada again in August
- Dorothy and Harold are teaching in Saginaw
- Geraldine is in Long Island, New York
- Willard Frederick Beard is born December 7, 1933 to Gould and Virginia and they are living in Memphis, Tennessee
- Willard is 68, Ellen- 65, Gould- 37, Geraldine- 35, Dorothy- 32, Marjorie- 27, Kathleen- 25.

[This letter, dated June 25, 1933, was written from Memphis, Tennessee by Gould to the folks all. He tells about their vacation to Michigan and the World's Fair. They bought a new car while in Michigan. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Memphis, Tennessee

1641 Netherwood Ave.

June 25, 1933.

Dear Folks All:

We're back from a two weeks vacation and we benefited by it all the way around. I'm sending this to the Space home first and they will advance it.

I got in off the last run at 4:00 a.m. June 11th, went home and slept till 11: a.m. then helped Ginny get ready to leave. We got off at 3:00 p.m. and drove as far as convenient that evening. We arrived at Paducah on the Ohio R. at 8:30 p.m. and put off in a little old fashioned but reasonable and clean hotel. (Hotel Knox)

The next morning we were off by 7:30 a.m. They asked us $1.00 to cross the river on their new bridge. We could have gone west 10 miles and crossed to Metropolis for $.50. At Metropolis we had to wait 10 min for the telegraph office to open so we could wire Dot and Bill Littlewood our plan of arrival. Ginny and I took turns at the driving. The car was full inside about as it looked when we came west but we had nothing on the running boards. The previous afternoon we had a little thunder shower to drive thru, but from Paducah to Chicago it was perfect weather. It got colder as we approached the lakes until it was positively cold when we arrived at La Grange at 8:00 p.m. just one hour late. We had taken about 30 min to drive around Urbanna and the Univ. of Illinois campus.

The car still had that rasping noise which came from the clutch throughout [the] day at a speed of 52 m.p.h. I had'nt had time to fix it myself and did'nt want to spend the money to do so. We kept our speed at 50 or below. It took us 17 ½ hrs. to make Chicago from Memphis. The distance is 598 miles.

Babe rode as nicely as before with just the same arrangement except that she used the little seat more and would get in it of her own will and sit there till she got tired. In fact she did this throughout the whole trip which made it no trouble at all to take care of her or to keep her interested and happy. Ginny brought along a pillow which Hazel would put under her head and sleep whenever she desired and she spent nearly 4 hrs during the day sleeping while we were driving.

The Fair should be a letter in itself. I went one whole day alone while Ginny was being entertained by "the girls". In the evening Dot, Bill and Ginny met me at Old Heidelberg Inn at the Fair and we did the amusements. Ginny would like to tell about them. As for my prowlings, I did all the auto shows, the domestic animal show (very poor), one of the Indian Village (fair), five of the model houses of the future (interesting and novel but not so practical with some exceptions), the transportation building was not complete but the exhibits that were there were most interesting. The Mayan Temple was good but rather colorless because of the lack of objects to exhibit in it. Most of the amusements I passed off to be with Ginny in the evening. The Horticultural Building I figured on seeing with the folks in the evening, but there was'nt time so I missed it altogether. I heard several people say it was among the best of the fair. The electrical group was very good especially a 20 min lecture by Gen. Elect. Engineers on the electric ?? I also saw the social science group which was very good in parts. The Agricultural group was fair; mostly commercial advertising of canned and preserved goods with one big exhibit of farm machinery by Int. Harvester. That's as far as I got, except for the States Building which was a group of local wood screens[?] or products exhibits.

The next day Ginny and I tried to do the Science Bldg. together without much success since we were each interested in different kids of exhibits. We went up onto one of the Skyway towers and saw the Chinese temple and Japanese Bldg. together then split and went separately. I saw the planetarium alone and she looked at the Model houses. I think the planetarium was the most interesting thing I saw at the fair.

There were many things worth seeing that I did not get a chance to see, but I went over better than ¾ of the fair in the day and a half I was there. Dot and Bill Littlewood were royal with their hospitality and we are much indebted to them for making our visit to the fair possible.

We got off for an 8:30 start for the drive to Saginaw on the 16th. Progress was slow until we got past Gary, Ind. The drive along the tip of the lake was very nice. It is a four track concrete road from Gary to Benton Harbor and one sees the lake in many little glimpses.

Ginny got a good education in geography and a good idea of the size of the cities in the middle west. Easterners somehow think that the East has all the big towns and are somewhat surprised when they see the size, beauty and civic pride of these mid western communities.

We stopped in pausing long enough to say hello to Dave Bishop and his father. Mrs. Bishop and the baby could'nt be found. Dave was a house mate of mine at Ann Arbor. We pulled into Saginaw just 10 min late much to the surprise of Dot and Harold. Fluffy made a great fuss over us and Hazel was delighted with her.

Dot and Harold just gave their time over to being our hostess and host. School was out and aside from some Eastern Star rehearsals Dot had nothing pressing. We had a most pleasant and enjoyable visit with them. They took us swimming at Bay City almost every evening and we made a trip to Traverse City to try the fishing. I had the experience of seeing carp 2 ½ to 3 ft long swimming about my legs and not being able to offer them the right kind of bait. We tried pork rind, bread balls, potatoes and all my box full of artificial lures without success. The carp either drove away the pike or the season was too early. Anyway we didn't get a strike all day over fishing grounds that always deliver the fish. I would have been thrilled to get just one strike. I still have to think of seeing a fish walk on water with his tail and shake the jangles. The old fishermen all tell of it but it's a myth to me.

The same evening we landed in Saginaw the auto agents began calling up. I had written Harold and asked him to see what kind of a proposition they would make me since that was pretty close to Detroit and Pontiac. Two of the agents bid each other down until the price got ridiculously low, even better than the best offer Ginny got in Seymour. Of course there were no freight charges to pay on the car. The price being much lower than the point I had decided to buy at, I bought a Pontiac Coach, black with cream stripes. The touring sedan with trunk on the rear was $40 more and the rear seat is uncomfortable because of lack of room. The two door coach suited our needs better. The improvement over the old car is something to shout about.

Babe enjoyed Fluffy hugely although Fluffy was very jealous of babe's usurpation of Dot's affections and took every opportunity to let us know about it. Much to babe's dislike I took her on a merry go round. I think she would enjoy it again if she had the chance. The first swim she wouldn't have much to do with the water. The next time we went she saw her daddy walk out into the water and decided she would do too. I let her walk out till the water was up to her chin while holding my hands, then took her back into shallow water and showed her how to play and splash and roll. The next time we went swimming it was a job to get her out of the water. Her Uncle Harold introduced her to ice cream cones, and after that it cost him a nickel each time we went riding. It was a real pleasure to see and be with Dot and Harold. They took things easily and made no fuss and we felt at home and enjoyed our visit.

We had hoped that the folks in Oberlin would drive up and planned to stay an extra day if they would. They all had their plans laid however so we stayed the extra day anyway. On our way back to Memphis I stopped in Pontiac and called up the Am. Airways overhaul depot and found Billy Lester there. We drove out to see him and he gave us the address of the Townsands[?]. We took lunch with the Krishners[?] in Wayne and I went to the Stinson factory for an hour with Otto. After that we drove to Detroit City Airport where the head offices of the Am. Airways Northern Div. are. I saw the Div. Sup. and several others there. Then we drove to Harold Beatties home and had supper with them. We started for Ann Arbor at 9:00 p.m. and arrived there about 10:45. I had reserved a room at the Michigan Union and we spent a comfortable nite there.

About 11:30 Harold Beattie phoned from Detroit that we had left our thermos bottle and that they could drive out with them the next morning to take a little air themselves.

We were late getting up that morning and so we just drove around Ann Arbor and saw the buildings. There have been a lot of improvements and additions since I was there. The campus is not as pretty as some of the other state universities, but the compactness of the lay out makes it more practical for a large university where the students have only 5 min. to get from building to building. My third story cubby hole at 50 S. Hill St. where I lived 4 years was still there. I didn't take time to hunt up Dad Rosey. Ann Arbor with all its shade trees and pretty homes renewed old sentiments and memories. The only thing that was lacking was the student body. We were there between commencement and summer school and the campus was deserted.

I had intended to make Louisville that nite, but with the late start from Ann Arbor, about 11:30 a.m. it would have been stretching it a little far. Ginny was driving about 7:45 p.m. north of Westfield, 26 miles N. of Indianapolis when the engine quit cold. After 20 min of investigation I found that the distributor shaft was not turning. A half mile tramp took me to a telephone while Ginny and the baby sat in the car. The farmer prevailed upon a friend mechanic who had a small garage to give us a lift. In due time he arrived and took us 4 miles to his shop. The two of us got busy and between us we got the engine going perfectly by 11:00 p.m. The distributor shaft had run dry and frozen in its bearing. The little spring coupling did as it was intended to do under such circumstances and sheared off. We inserted a new spring made for a tunpered[?] back saw blade.

We got to bed in Indianapolis about 12:30. The next morning we got started about 9:00 a.m. I inquired as to the price of gas before leaving Indiana to cross the river into Kentucky and saved 2 cents a gal. by filling up in Indiana. The road from Louisville to Mammoth Cave was mostly asphalt and we would have been hammered[?] badly in the old Pontiac. This new car just "Terraplaned" over this stuff at 60.

We arrived at Mammoth Cave at 4.00 p.m. One can't miss it; can hardly get by it without stopping. At least 20 miles down the line the natives and agents begin stopping the car to direct you to the Old Cave, the Onyx Cave, the New Crystal Niagara Entrance etc. We went to the New Entrance which is a State parks and State owned.

Hazel went down with us. We made the mistake of bundling up too much as they told us it was 54 degrees F. all the time. It was, but with the constant climbing and descending of steep stairs one keeps active enough for ordinary clothing. A thunder shower put out all the lights just before we went into the cave so the guides used gasoline lanterns to light up the cave. I think we did not get quite the views that the electric lights would have given.

Little Hazel quite took the eye of some senators and other people in another party that we met down there. Everything would have been O.K. with her if daddy had brought along a cracker or two. She got hungry during the 2 ½ hrs below and cried a little toward the end. Otherwise she exclaimed and painted[?] more than the others. She walked whenever the cave bed was smooth enough. On the whole I was a little disappointed. A party from Georgia told us that Endless Caverns in Virginia are much grander and have more beautiful formations and colors. We arrived in Knoxville at 11:30 p.m. It was hot all day. At Mammoth Cave it was 110 degrees at 2.00 p.m.

The next morning we took a fairly early start and got off at 8:00 a.m. and arrived in Memphis at 1:15 p.m., just 5 hrs and 15 min. It took us over 7:00 hrs. the last time. I have a day and a half before I go out on a run so I'll have time to get rested from my vacation. Really though it was a good vacation and a change for Ginny and the baby and the whole family profited by it.

The heat was getting on Ginny's nerves and Hazel was shrinking. The cool weather of the north set Ginny right and she saw people she knew and liked and Hazel developed in weight, strength, words and activity on the trip.

I hope you have struggled thru this.
We send out love to you all,
Lovingly Gould.

[This letter, dated Aug. 13, 1933, was written from Memphis, Tenn. by Gould and Ginny to Willard and Ellen. He talks more about their vacation and visiting with his siblings. Hazel is growing. They may get an apartment this winter since Gould will be travelling and she hopes an apartment will be less lonely. They look forward to Willard and Ellen returning from China in 1935. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1641 Netherwood Ave.
Memphis, Tenn.
Aug 13, 1933.

Dear Father and Mother:

This is one of those quiet, sunny, drowsy Sunday afternoons, very similar to some we used to have in China during late June or early Fall. I happen to be home today and it's a good thing because I have a good summer cold and swollen tonsils and I need the rest to get ready for another trip to Cleveland and back. I go out tomorrow A.M. at 2:56.

I believe you will have gotten my round robin letter telling of the trip to the Fair by now and of our little jaunt to Mussel Shoals in Alabama. That was really a most interesting trip to me because I saw the project that has been a political football ever since the war. It has been under the Army Engineers Corps. ever since and has been perfectly preserved. The people in that part of the Tennessee Valley are really looking happy about the prospects of good times and better business. In flying over this country I have often thought of the use the Chinese would make of all the rivers which are allowed to flow on quietly without a boat on them. I have only seen three boats on the Tenn. R. since Jan. when I began flying this route. The river is navigable well beyond Florence, Ala. and the locks at Mussel Shoals dam are a fine piece of engineering.

About the 22nd of July we got a special del. letter from Monny written from Chicago saying that she would be thru Cleveland soon on her way east with Jerry and that if I would tell her what day I was in Cleveland they would plan to meet me there. I wired them the dates and on the 27th Dot, Harold, Kathleen and Hugh, Monny and Jerry and Fluff all appeared at the hotel Westlake just as I was at lunch. We had a good party together. They had driven down to Oberlin the nite before, plopped in on Uncle Willis (who was watching it) and slept till 10 a.m., then drove on to Lakewood. We had a nice visit after lunch till Kathleen and Hugh had to leave to catch the last bus for New Castle. Then the rest of us went down to the river and took two boats and rowed out onto the lake for a couple of hours while we visited.

Dot and Harold have had the pleasure this summer of entertaining the folks from the East. They seemed quite pleased that it turned out that way since they knew they would not get East this year. Monny seemed glad that she was at last starting back to Labrador although not as enthusiastic as she was the first time she went. It seems the station at N.W. River had a lot of personal squabbles among the staff last winter and all her old friends left this summer so she is going up into a new set of workers. She is looking fine and healthy though.

Jerry seems rather lost. She doesn't know whether she will keep the apartment with a friend or go back to L.I. in Mineola where she was while we were there. Her job will last another year and that's all so she feels that that good thing is coming to an end. She looks well and not all tired out as she often does.

Kathleen and Hugh show the effects of lying around with nothing to do and a very limited sum of money to exist on. They both look physically healthy and not at all lean, but Kathleen looks very serious and has a little worried expression on her face.

After the boat ride at the Westlake we= Jerry, Monny, Dot, Harold and myself went out to the Cleveland Airfield for Jerry and Monny to fly Am. Airways to Newark Airport, N.J. on the 5:30 a.m. the following morning. They probably have written you about it. I had difficulty in getting reservations for both clear thru and the ok had not come thru when our trip left at 9:30 p.m. for Memphis. However the boys at the station took care of them nicely and kept working on the stations down the line till finally the two reservations came thru and they were both fixed clear thru to Newark. Monny was so excited she just could'nt contain herself at dinner at times. She had to be persuaded hard by Jerry to take the ride and it was two hours after it was first suggested before Monny gave her consent. After I got permission for half fare and they knew they could go part way at least she really got excited. You know how she is at such times- apparently perfectly calm for a speck, then she clutches her fists to her shoulder and shakes them and lets out a little squeal all out of a clear sky and then perfectly sober and calm (apparently) for another stretch. They all went out on the ramp to see me off, then the two girls went to the airport hotel and Dot and Harold back to Oberlin. From the letters the two girls wrote Jerry enjoyed it intensely and Monny thought "It was'nt any fun at all."

It may not be as hot here as it is in the valley in Foochow, but some of the days might near approach it. Ginny has stood the heat better than I thought she would, but poor little baby has looked rather forlorn at times. The prickly heat breaks out on her in perfectly raw patches around her neck and the backs of her head in her hair if we have two hot days in succession. She has been a very good little girl thru it all never the less. I tried the cold water soaking we used to give Monny, but that didn't work at all. Plain starch put on in a thick paste was the best of all, but that didn't do for the spots that sweated the most and washed it away as fast as we could put it on. Ginny got a medicine for her to take internally which she thinks helped some.

Babe has grown some since she was born. She is now 34 1/16" tall and weighs 23# 7 oz. She apparently will be tall and slender in her younger girlhood. She is taller than the average but not as heavy. She is very steady on her feet now and has lost all the baby toddle. The little words are beginning to come out of the little mouth very rapidly. She attempts several new ones each day. They come best when not coaxed. Dogs are still "wo-woos", cows= "moo", donkeys, horses and mules = hahrsch.

We gave her a nice little girl doll with closing eyes and a cry to it for her birthday. The closing eyes and cry were worth the extra price. She thinks the doll almost human and loves it dearly, much more than the three inanimate dolls she has had. Her little teddy bear which cries also is still her favorite. She sleeps with it and whenever she rolls over on it or shoves it it cries out at nite and she seems to feel that it has life to it. That is the only explanation I can make as to why she likes the teddy and the doll better than the other nice animal toys and dolls she has.

Her chief diversion when daddy is home is to sit in his lap and have him show her the pictures in the National Geographic. She will pick out all the animals and birds, boats, bridges and any children also any airplanes. Her next favorite fun is to have either mother or daddy draw her a picture on her pad, then she sits down and marks it all up in an attempt to copy it.

I go out for Cleveland at 3:31 a.m. tomorrow and it is now 10:00 p.m. so I must get to bed. Ginny is adding a letter. We enjoy immensely your letters.

May God bless you both.

Lovingly your son.

Gould.

[The following is in Ginny's handwriting:]

Aug 14th Monday P.M.

Dear Ones-

You must be mind readers. Gould and I have been wishing for some tea ever since we got back into a home of our own so we're just doubly tickled with that portion of Hazel Ellen's birthday. That little jade pin is so cute and such a good size. You were Dears to send it to her. She had several lovely things. The little dress she has on in the enclosed pictures, Dot and Harold sent her. Then she had another darling little blue dress with hat to match, four lovely little sunsuits of the dress up type. Her Daddy or Mother gave her a doll that crys and opens and closes its eyes which she just loves and then put a few dollars into her bank account in Derby. Great Grandpa Van Namee gave her a dandy little drop leaf table and two chairs which she uses for every thing, including all her meals. Century farm sent her a scrap book of animals that she has a grand time talking to.

August 15th- Tuesday-

This is a gorgeous bright sunny morning with a nice little breeze to make it comfortable. I'm sitting on our front terrace under a fine awning the owners had put up attempting to finish this and at the same time keep an eye on Baby while she plays with a couple of youngsters in the yard next door. It makes it so nice that she can have play mates close to her own age even if they do nearly pull each others hair out at times. The other kiddies are all only children also; so it is the best thing in the world to help them develop a little "give and take" and we Mothers can see a good 75 % improvement in the past four months.

Our lease on this house is up the first of November and we are going to try an apartment next. In the Winter once in a while the boys get stuck away from the home station for as much as a week at a time. I just don't want to be all alone for such long stretches. The winter nites are just twice as long nearly, as the summer ones and we both think we'll try an apartment for once. Neither of us having ever lived in one before.

By degrees I'm getting to like the section of the country a little better. I seem to have acclimated myself (physically) at last and Babe seems to be so much better now that I really begin to feel encouraged. It nearly broke my heart when we first came down here because she was sick or half sick for nearly three months and she had had just two sick days in her life up to that time and she had made such strides during her five months in Seymour and Shelton. I am so tickled that we had that time there, especially when we came so far away when we finally left. My family had a glorious time with Babe and I think the Aunties on the Farm enjoyed her hugely, particularly when I left her in their charge for three days. And did I enjoy the time spent on the Farm? I'm just terribly fond of that place. Someday Gould and I want most awfully to own it. Especially if there is a chance of it's ever going out of the family.

Interruption- 8:30 p.m.

Well I have my Darling home again. He still has a good share of his cold so I put him to bed until supper time and he got some good sleep. Naughty Boy, he played 3 good sets of tennis and only got about 6 ½ hours sleep last nite there in Cleveland and such things are not conducive to the clearing up of a cold.

It has been too hot here for active sports so Gould has been taking his tennis racket to Cleveland with him and getting in some dandy games with some of the boys in from the Eastern run there and I have been glad of it up until the last time for the exercise is good for him for he gets practically none in his present job.

You know I really don't enjoy the present arrangement of things as far as his hours of work are concerned but when he does get home I'm so glad to see him and he is so very very Dear that it's a little bit of heaven that seems to make every thing else worth while. They just couldn't make a Sweetheart husband and Daddy any finer and any Dearer than he is and I am persistently realizing it. I really think our little Love Flower senses her Daddy and Mothers feeling for each other too, for she's one mighty happy little girl most of the time.

I've tried to keep my mind off of the intense heat this summer by keeping my hands busy while the main part of the torso has remained almost motionless. So I have made two birthday gifts and have eight Christmas presents all done and two more well in the works. I just can't bear to cut down on our Christmas gifts for we get such fun out of giving to the various ones so I have been making very gay little bridge sets and breakfast sets out of 'everfast percale' and putting an inch deep fringe on the cloths and napkins with rounded corners and you'd be surprised how very effective it is. Some are made out of very fine red and white check others out of a fine check that has a little pattern worked into the check by use of 3 or 4 colors on the one piece. You see with our very much reduced salary it simply means cut down the cost materially or cut out the gifts entirely and thus far I'm getting 12 gifts for the total of $3.28 plus some ambition on my part. Then I want to make 4 or 5 cross stitch doggie pillows and some hand hemstitched handkerchiefs for some of the men. Here's hoping I don't weaken before the last is completed.

We sent Monnie a couple of pairs of silk stockings, a silk slip and a gay little washable scarf to take North with her also sent St. Nicks gift to be tucked away in the corner of her trunk until next December 25th.

My how we are looking forward to that date 2 years from 1933 for we expect you two back here in the states and Monnie back and will just have to have a grand little family reunion if it is humanly possible. I wonder what corner of the globe we'll be in by that time? This time last year we were in the wide world supposed we'd be 1300 miles away from our home and families in Connecticut.

We would have loved to have gotten back there during our vacation but we figured that while we were in this section of the country that we should take advantage of its possibilities so by now the Round Robin of our trip has surely reached you and you know quite minutely what we did and we did so enjoy every minute of it. For we did things we had always wanted to do but some how just were never able to.

Father we are so glad you seem to feel so well. Be careful and make it last a long long time for you've got a lot of living to do with your children and grandchildren after your work is completed there in China. Maybe if you both are real good we'll see what can be done about a small grandson for you to watch develop from infancy. It will be about time for another to keep Hazel from being too spoiled.

Well Dears it's time we tumbled into bed so until another time goodnite and sweet dreams.

Much much love

Ginny.

[This letter dated Aug. 18, 1933 was written from New Castle, Pa. by Kathleen to mother and father. She talks about the Centennial celebration of Oberlin and Monnie is home temporarily from her teaching job in Labrador, Canada. Kathleen talks about the 1933 Chicago World's Fair and about employment for Hugh and herself during the depression. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

31 N. Liberty St.
New Castle Pa.
Aug. 18, 1933

Dear Mother and Father:

Our address is still the same as you see and promises to be for at least six weeks more. The summer has nearly gone- and gone fast too, for we have done quite a bit since I wrote last.

Marjorie starts for Labrador day after tomorrow, as she has perhaps written you, going by train part of the way and by boat from northern Newfoundland. It hardly seems as if we were not to see her for two years again but we have had her quite a bit this summer. She stopped here on her way to commencement in June and we saw her later in Oberlin too.

The Centennial was a little disappointing for there was nothing so very special, just a greatly enlarged commencement. I suppose the depression curtailed their plans considerably. The town, however, looked lovely, all painted up and more luxuriant than ever with strubbery. We saw many of our friends, the Christians among them. It was good to see Foochow friends again especially since they are going back so soon. Uncle Willis went to one of the Alumni meetings which we didn't attend and told us that Pres. Wilkins read aloud part of your message from Foochow. It was one of the three out of many which he read. All of Aunt Etta's family were in Oberlin, and Uncle Elbert, but they left for the Fair before commencement was over. We drove Monnie down to Canton, where she was to speak, in Rollin's car and then came back here. When her duties were over in Canton Monnie came here for a stay of two weeks. We did have lots of fun swimming, picnicing and hiking around here and she grew very fond of Enid's children. They are darling and I love them too. All Rollin's and Enid's friends were much interested in hearing Monnie talk of Labrador and seeing the skins and other things she had brought with her. Once while she was here Rollin's Uncle who is an Engineer on the B. + O. Railroad took us all down to the New Castle Round House and showed us the mighty engines there. We mounted into the cab of one which was fired up ready to start and peered into the fire box. My! those monsters made an awesome sight and with all the explanation he gave I fear I still know very little about the action of those machines.

Monnie finally left in July going thru Oberlin to Saginaw and then Gerry stopped here over the week-end on her way to join them. They spent a week at Dot's before we went up to go to the Fair with them. Uncle Elbert and Uncle Stanley very thoughtfully gave us all money enabling us to go, as Hugh and I otherwise could not have. We took the night boat from Cleveland to Detroit where Harold met us and started for Chicago the next day. My! that was a great trip and I do so wish that you could have been with us. We spent three days there staying near to the grounds so that we could walk to and from. There is too much to describe and we saw not a half of it. The buildings were very colorful and modernistically angular, but when they were lighted up at night they were really beautiful. From the 600- and - some foot towers we could look over the whole grounds with searchlights playing over the buildings and spotlights showing up the brilliant colors everywhere. We went through the Chinese village where we found a shop of Foochow lacquers and jade and talked Chinese with the clerk. My speaking ability has gone pitifully but I recognized a familiar word here and there. Gerry did the best in conversation. We also went to the Chinese theatre where they did some of the most wonderful acrobatics I ever saw. The Hall of Science was full of wonderful things but we could only skim most of them for lack of time. The Aquarium and Planetarium were marvelous but indescribable. Hugh and I went to the miniature Hollywood and saw scenes being taken for a movie.

The Lama Temple brought over in twenty-eight thousand pieces was very beautiful but of course not so new to us. What was perhaps the most engrossing was the industrial exhibits showing ties, stockings, dresses etc. in the making, but those too we didn't see so much as we wanted to. One display showed all kinds of mechanical machinery working in miniature. Gear shift, piano action, a combustion engine and others were very elucidating to me. Many European nations built up little villages there and several tribes of American Indians were living right there as in their native habitats.

One day I came upon three of my Logan [Utah] friends most unexpectedly and we had a little visit there while we rested. Amid those hundreds of thousands of people I was fortunate to run into them.

The weather was awfully hot while we were there and of course our feet got dreadfully tired with so much walking. They did have rickshaw and wheel chair transportation around the ground but American coolies are high class and charged seventy cents the half hour to pull people around. It was too much for our famished purses. I got a cane to help me around and it was some support. By the end of the third day, though, our poor legs just about rebelled. That last night we began our drive back to Saginaw immediately to save room rent, and got there about nine o'clock the next morning. Then we had three days together just to visit, shop, and play tennis. It was good to be all together again but the time was so short. Dot and Harold drove us all down to Cleveland where we met Gould by an arrangement and had a few hours visit with him in his hotel. Monnie and Gerry flew by plane to New York which they have probably written about, Hugh and I took bus for New Castle, and Dot and Harold started their drive back home. And now we are all apart again. I hope the others tell the particulars which I have left out for I know this is too brief and undetailed for you, Mother.

You will be wondering what is on the horizon for us this year. Our sun has not risen yet, so to speak, but the dawn is breaking and hopes are higher. Hugh is making application to take a civil service examination for social work which comes in September. If he makes good in this exam it means a good position for him. Of course it is still an "if" but that is better than nothing. As for me, I have a temporary position as Church organist in one of the small Presbyterian churches here which is giving me good experience and a pipe organ to practice on. My year of organ lessons stood me in a better stead than I thought and I do enjoy playing.

We are still staying in our little cottage and will stay out here as long as the weather permits. Rollin's relatives often come out to visit us and we go into town nearly every day for mail and supplies. Our financial supply is running rather low since our Reading Bank is still withholding our savings but it ought to open almost any time now. The railroad is picking up a great deal and is putting men back to work who have been idle three years. But there still seems to be no room to absorb the younger men who have never had jobs. The uphill climb is slow and often makes us impatient but as long as we keep trying we are at least busy.

The Kuliang season is nearly over out there and before this reaches you, you will probably be down in Foochow again. Do write us all about your summer at Kuliang, for it is months since we have heard from you.

With lots of love from both of us
Kathleen

[This letter, dated Oct. 15, 1933, was written from Memphis, Tenn. by Gould to Willard and Ellen. Ginny is pregnant again and they are being transferred probably to Cincinnati. He talks about the economic situation in the U.S. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1641 Netherwood Ave.
Memphis, Tenn.
Oct 15, 1933.

Dear Father and Mother:

Two good letters and the roll of Kuliang Messengers have come from you since I wrote last. We have really been very delinquent in writing everyone lately and our mail box shows the results.

With the departure of the hot weather Hazel is picking up in weight. That may also be because we have her under a different baby specialist who seems to be doing better by her. She is still a little underweight, but her little legs are filling out and her ribs are disappearing from sight. She is progressing in words slowly, we think. She is still quite babyish, not backwardly- but she is not as grown up for her age as some of these children here in Memphis.

The other day we took a couple of our films (movie films) down to the camera store and had them demonstrate the projector to us. They are all of Hazel and her playing and are very good. They will be all safe and ready for you when you get home. We have no projector as yet because we just could'nt afford one on my present salary.

The Kuliang Messengers were very interesting although I didn't remember more than three or four persons mentioned in them other than you. It gave me an idea of how organized the mountain colony now is. From your two last letters we gain that you somehow think we got East on our vacation. No- Detroit and Saginaw were the farthest East we got. Aside from the one trip to Mussel Shoals the summer was spent very quietly, mostly at home. You see- you are to have a new little grandchild in about five or six weeks. It should arrive about the last of November or the first of December.

We had planned to write you just a little later than the present date so you would get the letter just about the time of the birth and we were going to keep it a secret from all the folks in the east until we announced the birth. However, we are to be moved to another station- we don't yet know where or just when, but suspect in a couple of weeks.

That upset our arrangements we had made here, and we will have to call upon someone to care for Hazel until Virginia gets out of the hospital. We are writing Kathleen first. If she doesn't feel like coming we will ask Lillian. If she can't help us we have several friends who we feel sure would come and visit us for the three or four weeks Ginny would be laid up.

I feel rather certain that we will be located at Cincinnati; if not there, then Chicago, Newark, or Boston in the order given. I shall hate to move Ginny after Nov. 1st and might make arrangements to keep her here until she is strong after the child comes if the move comes in November. I should like to keep her under Dr. Pride here if possible. He has followed her thru thus far and we like him.

When I took this job I rather thought that I would get a first pilot's job within 6 months. However, all they have done thus far is reduce the mileage flown so that they have had to lay off pilots until now there are about 10 first pilots waiting to take up jobs. These will all be placed before any co-pilot gets a promotion. Next spring should see an opening out of the lines considerable if business continues on the up trend and I most certainly shall expect to see better pay by then or else I shall look for another job.

The United States are going thru an economic or social and business revolution. The life of the people does not seem to be much affected as yet. There are reports of thousands being put to work at various places in the country but there are still over 2,000,000 men unemployed and there seems to be no likelihood that these can be put to work this winter. The government is making huge plans to feed the hungry this winter. The N.B.A. codes are in operation, but business is skeptical about the actual increase in purchasing power of the people. Usually where more men have been put to work, each working fewer hours, the individual pay envelope is less than it was before the code went into effect. It actually spreads about the same amount of pay over more workers.

Also it is the heavy or basic industries that are. Feeling the lack of business the most, i.e. steel, heavy machinery, building and construction, etc. these industries are little effected by the laborers pay envelope and what he spends out of it. The groceries and dry good and notion stores have been running along pretty well since last spring.

The administration is certainly catering to the labor vote to the detriment of the earnings of the various corporations and the next congress will probably have some fierce battles directly and indirectly centered around this policy. However the outcome may be, the tendency is toward evening up the individual wealth of the country. I see no way for the country to make up the debts it is incurring none other than taxation, and the taxes will fall heaviest on the rich. Therefore I feel sure that in the coming years the national tax will go up instead of down until we may be taxed as heavily as England and France are today.

Today's papers tell of the withdrawal of Germany from the League and on the same ?? is an item that Lloyds is betting 2-1 that there will be war in Europe within 18 months. What that may bring for the U.S. is a puzzle, but I feel certain that we have enough men in this country who know what they went thru in Europe's last war to keep our boys over here this time. Also I believe America will be a little cautious about loaning huge sums of money to Europe to be burned up in powder.

Ginny is taking this pregnancy a little easier than her former one. She has not had as much time to sleep and rest as she did, but she has not been bothered as much by nausea or pains. Ginny says to tell you that Hazel's little brother will arrive shortly after Nov. 20.

Dear Grandpa and Grandma: Mother says I will have a little boy brother. How do you like that?
Here's all my love and a hug and kiss for both of you. XX Love Hazel.

Lovingly your son

Gould.

[This letter, dated December 8, 1933, was written from Foochow, China by Willard and Ellen to Willard Frederick Beard. They send congratulations on the birth of Willard Frederick. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Foochow, China, December 8th 1933

Dear Willard-Frederick:-

As Grandmother and I were at lunch today a man in the front door shouted Dieng Bo. The result proved to be your Dads announcement that you had arrived.

Well now your Grandmother is happy, - and I'll risk a guess that another woman is happy. It seems to have been a normal trait of woman from the beginning- to experience rapturous joy when told that she has given birth to a man child. God must have meant it so. This helps her to forget the pain she endured to bring him into the world. How we shall look forward to the letter that tells us all about you- how many pounds and ounces- color of eyes, how much hair, who you look like- grown ups still like to talk about who a baby a few hours old looks like- my impression is that most of them could do as well to speak their ideas on this subject a year in advance as to wait until the child arrives- but it makes conversation and gives a chance for women to show their wisdom (???)

We're filled with joy at your arrival. Both Grandmother and I agreed that you should have a nest egg laid beside your venerable sister's in the Derby Savings Bank. So I enclose a check for $100.00.

Very lovingly Grandfather and Grandmother

Dear proud parents-

We wanted to cable a welcome to the dear boy, but to direct at $2.00 per word would eat up a big check, so we are just writing at once. We thank God and rejoice with you. Lovingly Father

All's well with us- no matter what the papers may be saying. Father

I hope you'll have no trouble in depositing this check. Mary will put it thru to you with hers. Father

[The following is an article in the one of the Shelton local newspapers dated February 3, 1934. It tells about the bombing of Foochow on December 25, 1933. Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

City of Shelton, Saturday Evening, February 3, 1934

Local Missionary Escapes Bombing Raid at Foochow

Dr. Willard L. Beard Writes Interesting Letter of Air Raid at Foochow, China, Christmas Day

An interesting letter has been received by relatives of Dr. Willard L. Beard, describing the bombing raid at Foochow, China, by forces of Chiang Kai Shek on Christmas day last year. Although Dr. Beard escaped being hurt, he was not far from places where bombs fell. Dr. Beard is a native of Shelton, and has been in the foreign mission field in China since 1894. At one time he was president of Foochow College, but since no foreigners are allowed to hold such offices in China, he has been engaged in the missionary field in Foochow by the American board of foreign missions. He is the oldest missionary in China and is called by many as the "bishop" of the missionaries. Two years ago Dr. Beard visited in this city, but he returned to China. In two more years he will have reached the age limit for missionary work and will be eligible for retirement. Whether he will retire and come back to his native home is doubtful.

Dr. Beard is a graduate of Oberlin College and also the Hartford Theological Seminary. About two years ago Oberlin College conferred upon him the degree of doctor of divinity.

Dr. Beard's Letter.

The letter dated December 25, 1933, is as follows:

"This morning I awoke 15 miles from Foochow at the village of Chong Ha, where I had spent Sunday with the Christians of the village in a Christmas celebration and the Holy Communion. A motor boat brought me 10 miles on my way home. When I climbed up the bank from the boat I found the village street crowded with people, old men and women, little children and what baggage they could carry, all fleeing from Foochow. I could learn only that Chiang Kai Shek had sent bombing planes and they had bombed the city.

"The five miles of road into Foochow was lined with people leaving the city. I must have met 4,000 and when I reached the city the streets were crowded. I passed Wenshan on my way to the city and there was Mrs. Beard looking for me. I stopped there and found the McClures (6) and Miss Armstrong and Miss Burr. We stayed for lunch.

"Yesterday the city was the center of a bombing raid, from about 1 to 2 p.m. Some said 24 bombs fell. One struck the Lau Memorial church. It went through the roof and through the gallery floor. It broke most of the glass in the windows in front of the church. In the yard in front of the church were more than 100 children waiting for the doors to open, when they could enter for Christmas exercises. The newly-ordained pastor, Mr. Lu, had been in the church only five minutes before putting the finishing touches on the decorations. So fortunately no one was in the building when the bomb struck it.

Church Bombed.

"Since I began this letter I have been over to see the church. Only a part of a shell struck the church. The pastor said he saw it. It was a big ball of fire, and it divided into three parts up in the air. One went over the church, through the roof on the farther side and landed on the gallery floor. Within five minutes the police were in and took it away. Another part went into a paint shop and killed two people. I engage this paint shop to do any painting I have done. The third struck another house near the church.

"Another bomb struck across the street, killed a person and badly wrecked a house. Another knocked a partition over on a poor man lying in bed and killed him. Others struck at least two of the official headquarters.

"After lunch at Ponasang we stood on the steps and watched nine planes for half an hour as they bombed the airport in Foochow and the military governor's yamen (headquarters). The report is that a bomb struck a corner of a hangar and two or more struck the yamen, killing several soldiers.

"There seems no danger now the raid is over. The planes came either from Nanchang or Kieningfu. The latter place is about 200 miles northwest of Foochow and the former twice as far. Both have airdromes belonging to the central government. As I got to Wenshan this morning one of the men in the new government knocked at the gate and was admitted. He was here in October. He was once principal of our American board school in Shansi. He is now representing Feng Yu Hsiang (Christian general) and holds some office in the new government. As he entered I nodded to him and said, 'This is the way you are treating us?' He grinned sheepishly. He was there at lunch with the principal. After the raid I passed the veranda where they sat and stopped to ask, 'Do you think it is safer here than in the city?' He looked at me again with a grin and said, 'I don't know.'

"The raiders were evidently after the headquarters of the new government and they landed shells in three of their yamens. The raid was unannounced and very severe. Shells struck within 20 rods of our house. A few shells dropped on Saturday afternoon.

"December 26, I am leaving now at 10:15 a.m., to attend Christmas exercises at Ciu Ciu in the suburbs. No shells have been dropped over there and there are no soldier camps or official yamens near. Some of us will stay here all the time, going under the three story houses if the raid comes."

1934

- Mao Zedong begins the Long March north with 100,000 soldiers
- Willard and Ellen are in Foochow, China
- Uncle Elbert Kinney visits Willard and Ellen in China.
- Kathleen and Hugh move to Florida
- Marjorie is teaching in Canada
- Geraldine is in Long Island, New York
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Gould and Virginia are in Cincinnati, Ohio
- Willard is 69, Ellen- 66, Gould- 38, Geraldine- 36, Dorothy- 33, Marjorie- 28, Kathleen- 26.

[This letter, dated March to May 1934, was written from Foochow, China by Ellen to Gould, Virginia, Hazel and Willard Frederick Jr. She congratulates them on the birth of Willard Frederick Jr. (December 7, 1933). The Christmas season in Foochow was stressful for all because of bombings of the city by Chiang Kai Shek's troops. Thousands of people evacuated the city each day and Ellen describes the various types of evacuees and their loads. There is a new form of government in Foochow now. She tells about the upcoming meeting of the Anti-Cobweb Society. The mission had a birthday party and anniversary party for their oldest missionary, Miss Hartwell. Letter from the collection of Virginia Beard Van Andel.]

[March to May 1934]

Dearest Gould, and Virginia and Hazel and Willard Frederick Jr.!

First I must congratulate you all on the most welcoming arrival of the dear little grandson! Grandpa and Grandma Beard are very, very happy about this new addition to their family. Another recent cut in our salary lead us not to send our congratulations in a cable at once, which you will please pardon; but believe us, the congratulations and welcome conveyed in this slow letter couldn't be heartier or more sincere and enthusiastic.

Well, well, well, where shall I begin to tell you all the strange things that have happened in these last few days? How we would like to see one of your big American daily papers each morning these days and see what they are saying about our new Foochow government! Such a Christmas Season as we have had! Singing and talking and joy-making about "Peace on earth, good will towards men" with bombing air-planes roaring over our heads dropping destruction and death from the sky! It certainly has been a never-to-be-forgotten Christmas. I really cannot realize that we have passed thru the Christmas season at all.

Last Saturday afternoon I heard a loud report that didn't sound like a gun, nor a giant firecracker; but an explosion of some kind. I looked all about the city from our windows but could see no column of smoke nor other result to tell what had happened. Later the children of the compound said all the people were out of their houses in the street in front of our place, much excited and puzzled by the noise, and were closing up their shops as fast as possible (that means sliding a dozen or 13 boards into grooves along the front edges of the ceiling and floor which closes the whole front of the shop). But we heard nothing more nor got any explanation of the first report. Will returned soon after from a Christmas service out on the plain and packed up and went to Chong Ha up the river for the Sunday, to return Monday morning.

Sunday noon I had just finished preparing my dinner and was about to eat it and go at once to a Christmas service in one of the churches and was talking with Miss Armstrong who lives below us for a moment, when the sound of motors in the sky led me to remark, "That sounds ominous; there must be more than one." We went out to look but decided they must be below the horizon for we couldn't see them. But the noise grew more formidable and seemed nearer and we went out again and looked some time before we found them, 3 of them more than 4000 ft. up, I guess. The sky was covered with a white haze and the planes aluminum painted and we just couldn't see them at first. As we looked at them a terrific report startled us. Then another and another. "They're bombing the city," I said. Soon the servants of the compound all came running down the basement steps under our house which is always considered a safe place when bullets and kindred missiles are flying. Bang!- Bang!- Bang!- on this side and that and the other, all around us. And above us roar, roar, roar of the planes. It was simply terrific. And one feels so absolutely helpless, and defenseless; there is nowhere to run to, to escape it; nowhere is safe. I dared not stay in the house for fear of being buried under the debris if it were hit. I felt safer out in the open. So I went to the middle of the tennis court but would instinctively run to one side when a plane came straight over my head. [Following sentence written in the margin:] (I have learned since writing this that the three planes that soared so high were the protecting planes to the bombers which flew much lower to get good aim and were three in number.) Then I would realize I was too near a huge pile of boulders in the middle of our compound and flee to the other side, only to desert that, lest the old white pagoda might be the victim of a bomb and fall on me. We are very near it, you know. One doesn't realize in a time of such tense mental strain what ludicrous things he does in the quest of safety. About $\frac{3}{4}$ hour it lasted then the planes went away and O, what peace and what relief! This was my first near experience with war bombing, and I hope it was my last. Later in the afternoon we went out to see the ruins. Near our kindergarten, a temple and a house were struck and two people killed in the house. Our city church and a house near it were struck and several people killed in the house. The church was not much damaged except a small hole in the roof and much broken glass and some fallen plaster. A hundred children were in the court outside waiting to be admitted to the Christmas service at 2 p.m. The pastor had just come out of the church to tell them to hurry home to safety (?) when it was struck. No Christmas exercises were held that afternoon in any of the churches. Printed notices, dropped by the planes said the city would be bombed again on the following day from 8 to 12 o'clock. So the next day was a great moving day.

I went, with the two ladies in the house with us down stairs, out to the school where Phebe taught, (where we lived first, Gould) and there, at the gate on the street, watched for Will to come along on his way into the city and to stop him off there, for he knew nothing of what had been happening or was to happen, having been out in the country. Such a scene as I looked upon for nearly two hours! I have never seen anything like it before and never expect to again. The street, - both the center road and both sidewalks, was full of men, women and children of all ages, classes, and conditions, all traveling together at the same steady pace, nobody hurrying, all going in the same direction, over South Side across the long bridge to a place of safety away from the bombing. There were blind, lame, crippled, sick, healthy, rich, poor, all traveling side by side, no one paying any attention to any one else, most of them on foot, doggedly traveling on. There were mothers carrying babies in their arms; others with a baby strapped on their back and leading one or two others by hand; children of all ages above seven carrying babies, or 2 or 3 yr.-olds on their backs or in arms; children carrying dang loads or hand loads of personal effects as well as women and men similarly laden; men carrying children or sick people on their backs; sick people from hospitals being carried on stretchers by 2 men; one woman I saw who was well dressed was carrying a dang load, one end of which was a Chinese trunk, her little girl got tired and couldn't walk further, so the mother set her on the top of the trunk and picked up her load and went on. A man had two children in a dang load, one in a basket on one end of his dang stick, the other on the other sitting in a bamboo baby chair which had a guard rail in front to keep the baby in, and further secured by two bamboo spindles from seat to front guard rail between the baby's legs to keep him from slipping out downwards off the seat. Scattered promiscuously through this throng of pedestrians were rickshas loaded to capacity with women and children, every one having a trunk, or bundle, or bed rolled up on the back, or in front of the riders or under their feet. Some were loaded with so much stuff, one could hardly see the person riding with it. Some loaded their effects into rickshas and walked beside them. There were horse carriages filled with people and piled high in back and on top with trunks beds and bundles. Many carts piled high with similar luggage, were pulled and pushed by from two to five men and women. Some men and women had just a bed in their arms, - a bed is just a very thick cotton comfortable. The two most common articles of hand or dang luggage were beds and cooking utensils. Some moved their entire house furnishings on carts, that is, those who had ancestral homes in the country villages. This procession of refugees began immediately after the Sunday bombing ceased and continued uninterrupted all night long from 3 p.m. Sunday until 2 p.m. Monday, when that day's bombing began. I think I must have seen, in the two hours I stood there watching, between 10,000 and 12,000 people pass. And this road out of the South Gate is only one of six or seven roads out of the city, but is the one from which more people would leave the city than by any of the other roads leading out of it, - the East, West, North, and Water gates and two others. But the populace were undoubtedly pouring out of all these other gates in great numbers, into the country villages on the plain and in the hills. People have been leaving the city in smaller numbers every day since. As I went to church today I saw some leaving, a week later. Undoubtedly over 300,000 people have left the city since last Sunday's bombing. Of course not nearly all those people who went out of South Gate to South Side could be accommodated in houses, but as the weather was fortunately fair, mild and dry and had been so for weeks, so that the ground was very dry, they just scattered about on the hills out in the open and slept on the ground, those who could not find housing. Many of them returned to the city in the afternoon after the bombing was over, at 3 p.m. I returned home every day about 4:30 and every day there was quite a procession returning from 3:30 till after dark. People are now moving their goods back to some extent altho there is still great lack of confidence in the situation, evident, for all shops in the city except restaurants, fruit shops and food shops are closed except for a little door in the front just large enough to admit a person; you know usually all the front is open. Many are entirely closed. Business has been at a stand still for a week. All schools in the city are closed and some outside the city. No services were held in many churches today. I should have said above that during the week the people who came back into the city for the night went out again the next morning and did it every day, most of them, except last Friday which was rainy and therefore no danger of bombing. Think of several thousand people walking (or riding) out of the city three or four miles every morning and back again at night to avoid being bombed! Since Monday nothing has happened but no body could know when it would come so we had to play safe. Rumor had it that the 28th of Dec. Thursday, was to be a terrific bombing. Another report said the 30th was to be the worst yet. So we had to all run and take no chances.

The Union Christian Council of Foochow sent a telegram to the National Chin. Council at Shanghai asking them to telegraph beseeching Chiang Kai Shek not to bomb civilian population any more; and we have now had word that he has promised not to. This "People's Government" group send to the newspapers of the city any thing they want printed as propaganda and the papers have to print it. As to the "news" they print, one cannot put any dependence on it at all. One never knows whether it has any truth in it or not. Every thing we hear seems to be only rumor so we hardly know what is happening right around us except what we see.

As I stood at Wenshan Gate watching that unique procession moving thru the street, I thought many times, what an interesting moving picture that would make. Afterwards I learned that Mr. Culver of the Christian Herald Orphanage took a moving picture film of it. So I think I shall see it on the screen here some day. It may be released to the world, if good.

Mar. 4", I wrote the above while things were fresh in mind but seemed to find no time to finish it.

After our bombing some of the cities around us were bombed we heard. About two weeks after the bombing after the 19th army had left and the navy was in charge of our city, and the upstart "People's Government" heads had all fled, people began to move back their goods into the city and for weeks the same kind of loads in rickshas, dang-loads, gong-loads (2 men loads) horse-carriage loads, auto loads, and carts piled high with Chinese trunks and goods, could be seen coming into the city every time we went out South Side or on South Street, but I think it was over two weeks before the shops really opened up for business. Business was at a stand-still all that time, only the most necessary buying,-principally food was carried on. From the trader shops, the employees,- many of whom came from the country villages or places out side the city, had gone home for safety and did not return till peace and confidence were restored; so no business could go on.

When the 19th army began to leave and the nationalist troops and the navy (first) began to arrive to take over the protection of the city, such hords of soldiers as were in the streets coming, and going. For three weeks this condition continued. One of our missionaries was coming from the University (down the river) over the new road and reported that he saw double lines of soldiers on one side of the road coming and on the other side going! thousands of them, - a mobilization that he could not understand. On another occasion in the city streets this same missionary asked a soldier what division he belonged to. He replied indifferently "I don't know." The missionary laughed and said in surprise, "You don't know what division you belong to?" "No there are three divisions all mixed up in this company; how do I know which I belong to!" That is about the status of many of them I fancy; so many of them are young ignorant boys. But the present government has instituted a system of gendarmes or super-police force who are over the ordinary police, controlled by the military but never fight as soldiers and whose business it is to keep peace in the city. They are superior men and look and act as tho they had had experience and superior training and know their business. They are nattily uniformed in olive-tan wool uniforms, in foreign style with brown leather belts, swords, pistols, and clubs with long orange silk tassels on them; and Will has often remarked as we pass them on the street how uniform in size the men are presumably selected with that in view; - figures well developed by military training; and they have a business-like bearing. So our province belongs again to the Nationalist Government,-thanks to Chiang Kai Shek's courageous move.

Just a little "aside" here.

Early last fall we entertained at dinner in our home, a young man whom we heard was principal of a school in Foochow making a study of the schools of South China; another guest was the Chinese lady principal of Wenshan, the school where Phebe taught. She came with him. He was going to Amoy and Swatow later in the same capacity. Because of his educational connection and position, he was invited to one of our mission suppers and meetings in which rural evangelism and mass education were to be discussed. He was hesitant about expressing his opinion on some questions when asked, and frankly said at last that he didn't dare speak his sentiments too openly for Chiang Kai Shek would cut his head off if it got to his ears. But he didn't hesitate to say he thought Chiang Kai Shek was a bad man and that he had many enemies in China. That set us wondering somewhat; but what was our surprise when some weeks later, six of us American Board missionaries were invited by Miss Huang, the Wenshan principal, to be her guest at dinner, at a large restaurant on South St. It was the very night of the day the rebel government was installed, with great doings at a mass meeting on South Parade Ground. And that evening, the People's Gov't put on a lantern parade on South St. of students and police and fire companies etc. and as we went to this dinner up South St. we were meeting the parade the whole length of the street. But the surprise came when we entered the private dining room where our dinner was to be served, and there stood Mr. [left blank], all arrayed in his new uniform of the People's gov't. a blue cotton one, and Miss Huang our hostess, introduced us to him as one of the heads of departments of the new People's Gov't.! That put the missionaries in an awkward situation at once and conversation proceeded with much restraint. But I decided to break the ice and "take the bull by the horns." So I said, "We have a good opportunity now, by the presence of Mr. U, to learn all about this new government. Won't you tell us about it, Mr. U?"

He did tell us some things about it, - that he was the Commissioner of Finance, that all the officers were to wear the same blue uniform he wore; that no officer was to have a salary of more than $150 a month etc. But we felt rather queer to be hobnobbing with the officers of the rebel gov't!

When the 19th Army had to evacuate and retreat at the approach of Chiang Kai Shek's troops, they are said to have poured oil (kerosene) over several hundred bags of rice that they had to leave behind, so that the incoming soldiers might not use it. Well, they're gone, and that episode is over. What next?

Mar. 11- Schools opened again two weeks ago and we had three day's review, then the examinations in last term's work which we were prevented from having by the closing of the schools before the term was completed, by the rebellion. The depression has kept some of our students from returning this term but most of them are back. I am teaching two classes in English three times a week, which gives me about all the written work to correct that my eyes will stand.

This week Friday our literary society, the Anti Cobweb Society, is to be held in our compound and I am one of the hostesses, three other ladies cooperating. Tea is served and social intercourse proceeds for $\frac{3}{4}$ hour, then the program is given lasting about $1\frac{3}{4}$ hours. This month our subject, I thought was to be "Psychiatry"; but our notice says "Chemistry and its allies." Last month it was "Technocracy." The month before, it was about the Nazzi movement in Germany. Three or four papers are read by the members of the group which elected to study up the subject for any one meeting; and we have eight meetings a year.

The past six months we have had some very helpful meetings of the "Oxford Group." I suppose you have read of their work in the U.S. and Canada when the delegation came over from England last year. If they come to Cincinnati or to Cleveland when you are there attend them. You will find them interesting and helpful.

I hope you are sending Marjorie messages every week or two thru K.D.K.A. and letters will be going thru to Labrador by the time you receive this, so do write her a nice long letter as you did us a few weeks ago. She must be so lonely after that fine year at home with Geraldine. A letter from Geraldine this week told us how terribly lonely she was after Marjorie left. Dear girls! They did enjoy that year together so much judging by the letters from both. Geraldine wrote that there would be an opening for her in North West River next year according to Marjorie's letter, and that she was thinking rather favorably of it. Don't say any thing about this tho; perhaps it was confidential until she makes a definite decision.

I want to tell you, dear Gould, how very, very much we did appreciate that fine long letter telling us all about the arrival of dear little Willard and of the precious little sister's mystification over the whole situation. Poor dear little girlie! She was too young to comprehend the situation which robbed her of her loving mother's presence and companionship and left her to the care of almost strangers. She was fortunate to have so sympathetic tender and understanding a father to help her to adjust herself to the new situation. Such early evidence of deep affection and the strong bond of family ties, is gratifying and reassuring. May they be ever fostered and cherished.

Virginia wrote recently and we did appreciate her letter so much telling us all about the babies, father's business, the new home and the family life generally. She did not remember whether we had received latest pictures of the little folks or not. We certainly have not and we are most eager to see a likeness of his Highness, and an up-to-date one of her Majesty.

Has father written you that we had the hardest winter here that we have ever known in Foochow? It seems to have been so the world over by letters we have had, etc. I wonder if it was unusually cold in Labrador where Marjorie is. I hope she did not suffer from it. Out here, trees which have always remained green all winter and never drop their foliage in the fall, were turned all brown and dead looking on top, and some varieties of bamboo were entirely browned by repeated frosts. Some more nearly tropical trees and plants were entirely killed. Ice formed on father's chicken water-cups so thick I could not break it with my fingers. Some of our poinsettias were killed but it is easy to replace them; just cut off a stalk and stick it in the ground eight or ten inches and it grows. We had beautiful ones this year and lots of them all over the place. Some of mine grew nearly twenty feet high. Roses are in full bloom now, except ramblers which came a week or two later. There is a fascinating little bird here whose brief, oft-repeated little song says so plainly "Don't pick those cherries" and he rolls the double "r" in cherries so prettily. Every time I go out to pick my red roses, he sits on a tree nearby and sings it to me over and over. Sometimes he adds "Don't pick those cherries, Joe." Wouldn't you like to hear my little bird friend sing his little song Hazel? I'm sure you could understand the words for he says it so plainly, - in English, too, even tho he is a Chinese bird! I wonder if you and Willard have a nice place to play out of doors in your new Cincinnati home. I am afraid father doesn't have any place for his flower garden but perhaps he is having some flower boxes outside the windows. There are in bloom now in our compound, roses, pansies, calendula, pinks, cineraria, snap-dragon, nasturtions [nasturtiums?], marguerites, callas, white locust trees, stocks, camphor trees, begonia, marigolds, geraniums; and in other compounds in Foochow sweet peas, petunias, flox; azaleas, etc. Johnsonian lilies will be along in about ten days, Easter lilies, in about three weeks, and I am expecting (?) my two kinds of night-blooming cereus (cactus) one from Honolulu, and one raised in Foochow to blossom for the first time in June, $2\frac{1}{2}$ years old. I had this year three beautiful trees of double flowering peach, one white, one pink and one red, just covered with bloom. This spring I have just planted more roses, two deep red hibiscus trees, blossoms all the time nearly, and two trees of myrtle, lavender-pink flower in falls, like wisteria. Wisteria is now in bloom here. I have also planted four ginger plants the flower is very lovely. I am having my first success, (2nd try) with glads this year; they will bloom the last of June. I must stop the flower topic or I shall make Gould envious! Just one more, - I have about twenty pink hydrangeas planted some in pots the rest in the ground.

Sunday April 22 Father went to Nan Seu yesterday right after breakfast and will return tomorrow about 11 o'clock. I am knee deep in monthly examination papers and note-book correcting. That is the hard part of teaching for me on account of my eyes. Four o'clock tomorrow must find me at work on these.

Rather a notable event has taken place in our mission this last Monday. Miss Hartwell, our oldest missionary reached her 75th birthday and her 50th yr. of missionary service. I thought our mission should not let that numeral event in missionary circles pass by without some celebration of it. So I got busy and got a committee at work and we had a party of 100 guests from the four missions and the business community. A tea in one house in our compound with a 3 story birthday cake, 3 tables of refreshments and four to "pour", and a profusion of flowers, 75 candles in two circles; program at another house (where we used to live, Marjorie and Kathleen), (tea in Rachel Hodous' house), 7 speakers, violin solo by a Chinese, and bass solo, gift of $50 from our own mission presented in new one dollar bills, pinned to a long strip of adding-machine paper and bro't. in in a long strip over the shoulders of the children of the Mission led by the smallest one carrying a large bouquet of sweet peas. The presentation was by Mr. Christian and Father was chairman. O yes, we had a photograph taken which you will have the opportunity to see soon. It came out exceptionally well of nearly every one, and nearly all the missionaries in Foochow were present; so it is a photo which we shall prize being taken so near to the time where we shall leave the field and this particular group of people permanently, the majority of whom we shall never meet again in this life. It was an outstanding occasion and was greatly appreciated by Miss Hartwell.

This is probably the photo that Ellen refers to. In the book The Gospel of Gentility by Jane Hunter, there is a clear photo of Emily Hartwell and Martha Wiley on page 67. I believe the two ladies in the bottom row sitting in the middle are Emily Hartwell (on the left) and Martha Wiley (on the right). Willard and Ellen are at the bottom, far left, front row. Hunter, Jane. The Gospel of Gentility. New Haven and London: Yale University Press, 1984.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

May 20th Dear Me! how even the months!! slip by and I don't get this letter off on its way to you.

It is Sunday again and I am alone again. Father went to Teng Chio yesterday to conduct services today there and will return some time tomorrow. He took with him, 2 1/2 doz. pint glass jars to bring home strained honey in. This year's big and best crop of honey is just gathered from the blossoms of the pumelo, gang orange, Gek orange, lie cie, nong dang and leng geng trees and we are buying our year's supply while it is fresh. These flowers make the best honey. The Chinese about here are doing a good deal of that business these last three years and by strictly modern methods too. The honey is taken out of the comb by a centrifugal machine and is clean and sanitary if rightly operated. Last year we bro't the machine right to our house to separate it. This time Father hopes to be able to oversee the process done there

[Letter either not signed or finished by Ellen.]

[This letter, dated April 22, 1934, was written from Cincinnati, Ohio by Gould to Willard and Ellen. Virginia's mother and brother were visiting them recently and they showed them around Cincinnati. Gould is waiting for a 1st pilots position with his company. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

2204 Madison Rd.,
Cincinnati, Ohio.
April 22, 1934.

Dear Father and Mother;

Father's letter came yesterday before Mother Space left for Connecticut. She has been here for the last ten days on a little visit. Great Grandfather VanNamee died a month ago at their home in Seymour and she came here for a rest and a change and to see her two grand children.

We had something to show her too. Both the kiddies are in good health and spirits and she decided that we were doing a good job with them. We drove her around the city and showed her parts we had never seen ourselves. She was of an opinion that Cincinnati has more pretty residential suburbs and more pretty and large homes for its population than any other city we have seen.

Bob Space came down from Ann Arbor for his Easter vacation to be with mother. We did'nt have enough activity for him at first until we introduced him to a young lady. He managed to get in plenty of entertainment after that.

Virginia and Mother had a grand time talking and shopping together. I kept the kids at home and let them go shopping on afternoons that I got in from Chicago. I gave Ginny the respite she needed from constantly being with her children. Ginny and I also managed to go once to the picture together which is the first time we have been together to a show since last November= 6 months.

I am enclosing the long waited for pictures. The one of Willard I took in a 1 min time while he was asleep on the divan. The group pictures of Martha, Ginny, Hazel and Willard were taken at the base of the campanile at Marie Mount, a suburb east of Cincinnati. Hazel and Bob are flying a kite on the bank of Ault park which is on the top of a hill overlooking the airport. The group in front of the auto is also taken there.

Now for the family- Master Willard is a little husky fellow. At four months and 1 week he weighed 15 1/2 # and was 25" long. He eats like a healthy calf= 7 oz milk every 4 hours from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. and is starting on a couple of spoonfuls of cereal in the morning after his bath. He is the happiest little duffer I ever saw. It is very seldom that I cannot get a smile out of him and he even stops crying for his meal and grins me a laugh if I take him up and bounce him a little. He spends hours on his tummy with head up in the air and raised up his arms trying to look over the side of his basket crib. He likes to be on his stomach better than his back. He is awake a full hour every morning before we hear from him and he always looks up with the fullest smile when we come to him. I will get a picture of that smile before long. He really laughs and has laughed for at least two months.

Mother, I suppose you would think we are rushing him out of his babyhood too fast. We got a little knitted suit for him. Dark navy blue trousers, white sweater and navy blue baret or French cap. He looks just like a little sailor man in it. He has'nt worn any of his little dresses that were given to him and he will probably outgrow them before he can use them at all. They will be passed on to Dot or Kathleen or Lillian. Lillian is expecting a baby in about 6 months now.

Ginny I think has fallen in love with her young son. Mother Space admitted he was so cute and good a baby as she had ever seen. He likes company and keeps them interested by smiling and laughing for them.

Hazel is growing faster here than she did in Memphis. Just lately her appetite has come back to a visable degree and I think I see a gain in stature a little more rapid than before. She is getting her spirits back too. It took her the full ten days to get accustomed to Mother Space and she was still a little shy yesterday when she said good bye on the train. Hazel has a little streak of independence which comes out every now and then and it takes all the ingenuity we both have to handle it. Her vocabulary is increasing daily and she is very fond of picture books which have a little story about the picture which can be read to her. We hav'nt a good place for her to play around outdoors near this apartment and it is difficult to give her all the outdoors she needs. If I get a 1st pilots job soon I will move into a house where she can have a yard to play in.

Its time to get ready for the run to Chicago so I will finish this tomorrow.

April 26, 1934.

This letter just side tracked longer than I had intended. Things are just getting nice and green here. The trees are in blossom and the daffodils and tulips are in their full glory. Cincinnati is beautifully blessed with landscaping and with pretty residential districts and it is a pleasure to drive around thru the city and see the architecture and landscaping of the various homes.

Ginny is feeling very well these days. In fact she is having difficulty in keeping the scales from telling on her avoirdupois. I gave her $10.00 for her birthday. Mother added two and Bob one more and another from somewhere so she had $14 to spend for a spring outfit. She got material for a dress and a pair of white shoes and a slip and two pr of stockings and some other miscellaneous items of clothing all out of that fourteen dollars and I think she still has a dollar or two left.

My salary now is $225.00 a month. With insurance and paying for land I bought on L.I. and installments on dentists bills and doctors bills for delivery of Willard we go thru each check completely with only a dollar or two to spare when the next one comes. I am glad I own everything we have outright and not on part payment installment plan. We pay $50.00 a month for a furnished apartment with gas, light, heat and hot water all furnished in the rent. This is about the best I could do here in Cincinnati and live in a good section of the city and with the comforts we have been used to having.

Kathleen and Hugh are both busy in Saginaw and I think they are very much happier than before. Hugh has given up his funny idea about not wanting to take a factory job and is in the Chevrolet auto plant in Saginaw. We have had only one letter from the Saginawites since the first of the year. Gerry also is too busy to write much so we have not much news about the others.

I am waiting patiently for a 1st pilots position. It is a case of wait until the opening comes. The lines would expand and the position would be there if the administration would only get over their blunder and give us back the Air Mail.

We think of you every day and ask Gods blessing for you both. All the family sends love and kisses.
Lovingly, Gould.

[This letter, dated May 8, 1934, was written from Cincinnati, Ohio by Gould to Uncle Elbert. Elbert is headed to the U.S. West Coast to leave for Foochow to visit Willard and Ellen. Gould would like to also, but work keeps him busy. He talks about the airlines bidding for delivery of airmail. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

2204 Madison Rd.
Cincinnati, Ohio.
May 8, 1934.

Dear Uncle Elbert:

We were awfully disappointed that you could not get down to see us on your way out, and I can assure you that your sister will be also when you get to Foochow because they would like first hand information about one little chap they have never seen. I have the fever to go out there too before Mother and Father leave Foochow but I don't see any possible chance rite now.

This air mail situation may upset all my plans. The American Airways has been badly under bid by several little jerk-water outfits who have scraped together a little cash and enough second hand planes to cover the requirements of the Post office bids. Last year we lost $200,000 in operations with mail contracts that averaged 38 cents per mile. Evidently the board of directors does not intend to run in the hole just for the privilege of carrying the mail and they figured that 39 ½ cents per mile would allow them to break even on operating the line, so they bid that price on all their runs. So far we have only three of our former eight runs. We have a chance to get about four more with the remains of the runs to be bid on.

The only way the low bidders who took our runs can possibly break even is to cut pilots salaries, eliminate two way radio and have only Dept of Commerce weather running apparatus which eliminates all company radio operations, and pose the ground personnel to a skeleton crew. The equipment will be old, slow and in poor condition and will not carry half as many passengers as our modern planes.

This situation will exist until the operators who bid low go into bankruptcy or turn their contracts back to the government then they will have to rehash the whole mess. In the mean time I expect to either be put on one of our fun runs (if my seniority is high enough to keep me on), or to choose between flying for the new operators at an appreciable cut or to go to the farm and get in the hay. I probably will know by this end of the month what my fate is. I am not worrying – it has gotten beyond the worrying point long ago. “Gen” Farley has made good Republicans of the Aviation crowd.

Myron, Stewart and Milicent drove down the other evening (Sat.) I have to go out on the run to Chicago that evening so had only an hour with them after they arrived. We hope to see Aunt Emma some time while she is in Oberlin.

I don’t suppose you have two extra trunks with you for curios and trinkets. No you are traveling single, it’s the ladies that need the extra trunks for carrying all their purchases.

Chicago, May 9, 1934.

I didn’t get this finished last night at Cincinnati so I brought it along to finish and mail here. While you are on Kuliang I hope Father takes you to Kushan Monastery, Moon Temple, Kushan Top, Tipping Rock, Ox Head Fort, down in the Bernie where I used to go swimming and all the other places I used to know. You have a good camera with you and plenty of films in tropical cases.

Get in with all the chief engineers of all the boats and ask to see the engine room each time. It is the most interesting part of any ship.

Virginia wanted me to give you her very best wishes for a grand voyage. I could thrill myself at the thought of hearing the last long three blasts when the ship drops the pilot- meaning- Good-bye, Good Luck, God Bless You.

You are carrying all the good wishes and love of all the folks to Father and Mother so tuck Willard Frederick’s, Hazel’s, Virginia’s and mine in your kit for them.

We wish you a most happy and successful voyage with plenty of smooth seas and just enough rough weather to make it interesting.

With all our love,

Gould and family.

[Evidently Elbert traveled via the Pacific Ocean to China and came back via the Atlantic. The ship’s list for the S. S. Manhattan shows Elbert traveling from Southampton, England to New York from September 27, 1934 to October 4, 1934.]

Written on back: “Mother- Betty Cushman Thelin, Mark Cushman Thelin and I. Uncle E.C.K. took it.” Uncle E.C.K. is Elbert C. Kinney, Ellen’s brother. He visited Foochow, China in 1934.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte, and also, Virginia Van Andel.]

This was taken at the Kuliang cottage. It appears that the chairs are being prepared for a trip. Uncle Elbert may have taken the photo or is in the photo.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Ellen sitting in a chair and holding a black umbrella at the Kuliang cottage. Probably 1934.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Ellen is in the chair to the right and Willard is the man standing to the left and holding the walking stick.
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel, and also, John and Nancy Butte.]

Ellen riding in the front chair holding her umbrella. Probably 1934.
[Photos from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Ellen to the far left and Willard in the middle wearing all white.

[This letter dated July 20, 1934 was written from Jacksonville, FL to Monnie from Kathleen. It talks about the new old Chrysler that Hugh bought and fitted for camping. Kathleen meets Hugh's parents for the first time. She tells of the trip and move to Florida. At the end of the letter she tells Monnie of some special news. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

Jacksonville Fla.

July 20, 1934

Dearest Monnie:

It shames me terribly to think how awfully I have neglected writing you. I'm very very sorry and will try hard to be better after this. Just now we are travelling and it is hard to find opportunity for writing more than a postal but a day of respite gets my latent pen to work.

I don't believe I even wrote you that Hugh and I stayed with Dot all spring and were both working. Hugh was doing horrid labor in the Chevrolet foundry and I was doing teaching at the YW night school. For a while we were making good money but my work stopped the first of June and Hugh wanted to meet his folks in New York so he resigned at the end of June. It was fun being with Dot and I was sorry to leave.

Hugh bought an old Chrysler, much better than the one we had before, and we fitted it all up for camping even to making a comfortable bed inside the car and cooking inside the engine hood. We started out across Canada following the Blue Water route that we took that summer after Dot's wedding, only we went clear up to Montreal this time and down thru New York state past Silver Bay. It was a grand trip and wonderfully cool all the way. We stopped in Nyack to see Winnie, my Logan chum, then to Uncle Stanley's where we spent the night. He and Aunt Myra had just returned from Europe and Aunt Mary was still there. [The ship's list for the President Roosevelt shows Stanley and Myra Beard arriving in NY on June 23, 1934 from Southampton, England.] Later at the farm we saw all his moving pictures taken over there. We met Hugh's Mother and Father on June 28 as they docked on the Bremen. It was a thrilling sight to watch the big boat come in and it was my first introduction to my parents-in-law. Mother is ever so sweet and Father is quite the executive type but rather liberal in some of his thinking. Gerry put us all up on Long Island for two nights after which Father went up to Dalton Mass. to preach and Mother came with us up to the farm for the weekend. We had a lovely visit and saw nearly everybody except Edith Louise. Danny and Beverly Ann are two cute children. Aunt Flora is better than I had expected but is failing rather fast I guess. I hope for Aunt Phebe's sake that she doesn't last much longer for it tolls on Aunt Phebe's looks and actions. She certainly deserves something very good after all these years of service to her family and I hope she gets it.

Tuesday we met Father in New York and drove to his home in South Jersey stopping in Atlantic city at his cousin's for supper. Atlantic city is dying a slow death, for the tourist business, or guest business, has diminished to almost nothing compared to what it was, they say. In Fairton N.J. we spent two of the hottest days I ever remember and Father had packing to do in the attic of all places. We were glad to move on West to Warren Ohio where Enid and family, and Pearl were staying. It was decided there that all of us should go South with Father and Mother to settle in Florida. It has been Father's idea for some time to settle on the south coast when he retired and have a place where he could be almost self subsisting by producing all his own food. Since Hugh and Rollin didn't have good jobs he asked them to join him and help with the work of making a homestead. So here we are in Florida and we may stay here the rest of our lives.

In Warren Father bought a new Chevrolet and a luggage trailer to trail behind our car. We got a tent and cots and camp stove so we could save money camping on the way. There are nine of us counting the children and it makes quite a crowd to set up for and feed. One night we camped in a cow pasture just outside Lebanon Va. and bathed in the brook. The next morning I walked into town and chatted with Mary Ann Burns while they were breaking camp. Remember Mary Ann? She is as dear as ever and I met her mother and brother too. They were so nice to me.

We drove straight down thru Ohio, crossing at Marietta, thru West Virginia over terrible roads but beautiful scenery. Then thru the western part of Virginia and a wee bit of Tennessee both of which were thrillingly mountainous and wild. North Carolina was gorgeous too but South Carolina was poor and uninteresting. Georgia was even worse and it makes one wonder why people even try to live in that part of the state. It was almost a desert where we went, only a few scrub pines along the road and a dirty cottage here and there inhabited mainly by Negroes. Our one night in Georgia is long to be remembered. We saw a place with a swimming pool which greatly appealed to all of us so we asked to camp. We were given the privilege without that hospitality which we had noted in other places but we stayed. We enjoyed a good swim and supper and prepared camp, but we couldn't sleep. Mosquitoes kept buzzing around, gnats got in our eyes, the heat was almost unbearable, and to add to that a little dance hall near by started up a victrola played "You Nasty Man" about twenty times in a row. Have you heard that crowning glory of jazy absurdity? As if that weren't enough we discovered that we had camped in the pig pen for a dozen little pigs came grunting around our food supply and made a frightful stink. Rollin swears he didn't sleep half an hour that night and both the children look as if they had measles with their bites, poor things. We got out of there in a hurry and made tracks for Florida. Last night we found this lovely tourist camp with showers, kitchenette et al and we women are staying here while the men find a cottage or house for us to live in while they comb the coast for a desirable place to buy. It really is great fun coming to a new country to settle and from all reports it is a land of Paradise. I hope we shall find it so but just now it is rather warm during the day. I hope we soon get near the sea where it is cooler.

You ought to see Molly [McNutt] now. She is a perfect little doll toddling around on her dainty little legs. She has more hair now and it is very light. Her big blue eyes show off better than ever and she jabbars a mile a minute saying absolutely nothing. Her little body is so cutely formed and proportioned. You just can't help but love her.

And now I'll tell you a deep, dark, secret if you will promise not to tell a soul. Promise? Yes, I'm going to have a baby about between yours and Dot's birthdays next Feb. Isn't that too thrilling? I'm so happy I could fly. Not a soul of my family knows but Dot because it started before we left Saginaw. I want to surprise all the rest of the relatives but I was afraid I couldn't get word to you at the time so I'm telling you now. Don't you dare even hint about it in your letters for I'm sure they suspect nothing. I may write Mother and Father because they do like to know beforehand. I was examined in Warren and everything is O.K. A little nausea has troubled me but not much. I can hardly wait. Remember "mum" is the word. Love Kathie

I'll write you our address as soon as we are settled. Send my mail to Dot until then.

P.S. I saw your good long letter at the farm. Your cold story helped to alleviate the heat we were enduring.

[This letter dated Dec. 10, 1934 was written from Foochow, China by Ellen to Kathleen. Ellen talks of Kathleen's wedding day. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

Foochow, China
Dec. 10th, 1934

Dearest Kathleen Darling,

You never would imagine that mother thinks of you so affectionately would you, judged from the infrequency of her letters? Alas and alack! Ah, me! If only thinking them would set them up into tangible form that could be sent to you, you would get many of them. Well, mother does think of you letter-wise very often and very affectionately. If I could only have taken you in my arms on your wedding day and hugged mother's love and sympathy and Godspeed into your troubled heart, and smoothed out the roughness caused by your trying experiences, and have made it the happiest day of your life! Dear Dorothy was a good sister to you and took mother's place so well! (Did she not?) Geraldine was kind and helpful when she was assured her baby sister knew her own mind and had thought it all through and was not to be moved. (Was she not?) And Gould has relaxed his over-cautious, sagacious, wisely-critical, older-brother attitude and respect his "little sister's" confidence in herself and the courage of her convictions even if she has to "go it alone"; and all are feeling the warming, sympathetic cherishing spirit and the drawing together influence of the family bond, (which may be stretched but cannot be broken,)

[letter is unfinished]

About 1934

Photo magnified with key on following page

Willard includes a typewritten "Key to photo"

W.L. Beard – Right front standing

Mother – Squatting near him.

Mrs. Betty Cushman Thelin – Standing back of E.L.K.B.

Dr. Dyer – Behind Betty – head only visible

Mrs. Scott – with back to Dr. Dyer

Miss Graves – Next to Mrs. Scott, a space between

Mr. Culver – White hair, black belt

Mr. Scott – Tall man near left of picture

Mrs. Culver – Extreme right

Helen Smith – Lowest front left in grass

Helen and mother – are frying bacon and eggs others you do not know

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1935

- Mussolini invades Ethiopia
- Jacqueline Elmer was born March 3, 1935 in Clearwater, Florida to Kathleen and Hugh
- Flora dies April 18, 1935 at the age of 66 years.
- Willard and Ellen are in Foochow, China
- Marjorie is teaching in Canada
- Geraldine is in New York
- Gould and Virginia are in Cincinnati, OH then move to Santa Monica, California
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Willard is 70, Ellen- 67, Gould- 39, Geraldine- 37, Dorothy- 34, Marjorie- 29, Kathleen- 27.

敬啓者西歷一九三五年二月五日為
裨益知博士七秩雙慶之辰同人等謹於二月六日
午後三時補開祝壽大會藉表賀忱屆時務希
準臨為盼

三時至四時半茶敘
四時半攝影
四時四十五分開會

祝壽委員會謹訂

注意 (一)祝壽會辦事處設中華基督教會(電話四五六六)
(二)祝壽會開會地點假觀巷紀念堂
(三)茶敘場所假格致禮堂

The Friends of Dr. and Mrs. Beard
Request the Presence of Your Company at the Celebration of Dr. Beard's
Seventieth Birthday on Feb. 6, 1935.
Tea at 3-4.30 P.M.
In Foochow College Assembly Hall.
Meeting will be held in the Lau Memorial Church at 4:45 P.M.
Church of Christ in China Office
Ming Gaing Seng

The Friends of Dr. and Mrs. Beard Request the Presence of Your Company at the Celebration of Dr. Beard's Seventieth Birthday on Feb. 6, 1935. Tea at 3 4:30 P.M. In Foochow College Assembly Hall. Meeting will be held in the Lau Memorial Church at 4:45 P.M. Church of Christ in China Office Ming Gaing Seng [Invitation from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

The following four photos are a single panoramic “Photograph of W.L. Beard Birthday the Seventieth”. It measures 42” in width and 5 3/4” in height.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel, and also, John and Nancy Butte.]

Buildings L to R: Temple on hill, upper left. Lower left, Assembly hall. Brick Smith Hall.

Buildings L to R: Gate house Foochow College. White Pagoda - 2 top stories. Lincoln Hall, Dormitory- Foochow College. 2 chimneys, house in our compound. Chinese house- right of tall pole.

Buildings L to R: Sr. Mid. School Foochow College [the one on the right with arches]

Buildings L to R: Chinese House in rear, Lau Memorial Church, Parsonage.

Close-up view of Willard and Ellen from the previous panoramic photo of Willard's 70th birthday festivities.

Jacqueline Elmer's birth announcement – March 3, 1935
[From the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

Flora Beard dies April 18, 1935 of "Paralysis following apoplectic stroke" at the age of 66. She had a stroke two years before, also.

Written on back: "May 1935"

Left to right back: Bennett Nichols Beard, Mary Beard, Anna Beardsley Beard, Oliver Gould Beard, Jr.
Left to right middle: Probably Mrs. Lin, Abbie Hubbell Beard, Edith Beard Valentine and husband, Seymour.
Left to right front: Two children of Mrs. Lin, Phebe Beard, probably Dorothy Beard.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Left: Jacqueline "Jill" Elmer Written on back: "October 2, 1935"
Right: Kathleen and Jill Elmer Written on back: "6 months October 2, 1935"
[Photos from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Dec. 1, 1935 was written from Ing Tai, Fukien, China by Ellen Kinney Beard to Kathleen and her family. It tells of road construction, the river rapids and the boatmen, Ing Tai malaria, availability of meat and the prices, types of fruit and vegetables they eat, flowers in bloom, New Year's celebration activities, Marjorie's engagement ring, and the bad habit of smoking. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

Ing Tai,
Fukien, China
Dec. 1st, '35

Dearest Kathleen, Hugh and little Jacqueline,

Here I am this Sunday afternoon, all alone in a great big house (The house was built for a girl's school with ladies residence at front end. But last year the girl's school was united with the boy's school and they moved over to the other compound where the boy's school and the Smith house are occupying as a dormitory an unoccupied residence formerly occupied by Dr. Whiting, Donaldsons, Rindens, Lewises, at different times respectively.), almost a mile from the Smiths who are the only other foreigners within forty miles, - Foochow. Even our two servants are taking the afternoon off and the house is pretty still. Two Angora rabbits outside in the cage, and a dozen hens and a rooster keep me company. A pair of squirrels up in the pine trees whistle and chirp to each other at times. I am sitting on the porch swing, on the upper veranda which is pretty well up as the house is built on a sharply sloping hill which rises abruptly from the river bank. Our house is only about 250 ft. from the river, and there is a rapid directly in front of the house which makes so much noise we can hardly hear when it is raining. At first the constant, ceaseless noise of the water wearied me and disturbed my sleep at night; but I am getting somewhat used to it now. Were it not that there are so many pine, maple, tallow-berry and other trees in our front yard, we would get a splendid view of the river both up and down for about a mile each way.

The new road down toward Foochow which is still under construction runs right by our house, - between our front boundary (compound) wall and the river. 76 stone steps in 8 flights of from five to 17 steps each, connected by 8 inclined walks, lead up to the front door, from the street. At the Smith house and the school which is the other terminus of our walk to get to our classes, there are from the street level, 136 stone steps in 10 flights of from 3 to 23 steps each connected by 10 stretches of inclined walk. So with a climb at both ends you see we are getting plenty of exercise.

It is very interesting to watch the boats come up the river. If they have a good wind up-river, which is generally the case in the p.m. they come up fast under full sail, - often from three to seven close together. But if there is no wind they have to pole and row and progress is slow. All boats slow up when they get to our rapid as the water is so shallow, other means of propulsion have to be applied. Two men get out into the water one at the head and the other at the rear and they partially lift the boat and walk it over the stony bottom while the third man goes ahead also in the water pulling the boat by a long bamboo rope. When there are three or four boats, they all come up to the foot of the rapid, anchor, all but the leading boat by putting their bamboo pole straight down thru a hole in the prow thus pinning it to the river bed; then all hands fall to and pull on the bamboo rope of the leading boat while that boat's two boatmen at prow and stern, lift and walk her up over the stony bottom against the current. When that boat has reached the still water at the head of the rapid they anchor her fast and all hands go back to pull the next one up. And so on till all are over the rapid. This cooperation makes it easier for everybody. The clack of their iron-shod bamboo poles on the stony river bed, and the scraping of the boats over the rounded stones, are two very familiar sounds in our present every day life.

The boatmen who get out into the water to pull on the rope or to lift the boat think nothing of entirely disrobing below the waist in order to keep their clothes dry. They never do that, however, on the boats we hire. Our boatmen roll up as high as they can and take the risk; or they jump right in, clothes and all and come back on deck dripping. In winter weather I feel awfully sorry for them; but in summer and spring and autumn, - even pretty cool weather when we are wearing good warm coats and using steamer rugs, they don't seem to mind it at all. If I have never told you before, you will be interested in a remark Phebe once made on a trip to Ing Tai at the age of three. I discovered a boatman thus unattired on a boat some distance ahead, and at once endeavored to concentrate Phebe's attention on the opposite side of the river. But in an unguarded moment her head turned in the undesired direction. Her comment was immediate: - "Why, mama, there is a man that hasn't even his 'dappers' (diapers) on!"

Father has gone to Foochow for about ten days starting last Friday, in a rain. But he was glad of a little rain before he went as the river was very low and his trip would be quicker with higher water. He preaches tonight, at just this minute I am writing this he is preaching in the English Stone Church at Vespers. The English clergymen are getting so few out here now that they are asking the American Missionaries to take their turns around preaching and are also inviting the Americans to attend and to contribute to the support of the church. He will dine tonight with Rev. W. P. W. and Mrs. Williams, (Eng.) who is in charge of the Church services. He has at least two Board of Manager meetings to attend: one the F.C. University and one the Electrification Experimental Enterprise (that is not the right name); and several other pieces of business. He calls in our old cook at 50 cents a day to cook for him when he goes down like this, and also receives many invitations to meals in the compound and outside it. This time he has at least one Chinese feast to attend, probably two or three.

We are looking forward now to getting ready for Christmas which is always a strain. As far as the church and school exercises are concerned we foreigners will not have much to do as the Chinese are taking so much of the responsibility now. The two Smiths and the two Beards are asked to sing our quartette in English. We shall probably have to help some in furnishing costumes and adjusting them to the actors in the Christmas play. But getting gifts and wrapping them and delivering them for all the teachers, the preacher's family, the Dr's family, the Kindergartner's family, and one other family, and cards for all the women and for each of my two classes, - this is the great effort. Being so far away from Foochow, too, where we can't buy anything is a hindrance. It's hard to think of everything one will want a month ahead.

Let me wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year altho this will not reach you until after you've had them.

Our transfer to Ing Tai has not worked out quite so happily for me as I anticipated; for I got the dreadful Ing Tai malaria "bug" into my system when I had been here only about three weeks and I have had five or six attacks. A chill comes on somewhere from 12 to 2 o'clock p.m. and lasts about an hour toward the end of which I generally go to sleep, all wrapped up and lying down, and about 6 or 7 o'clock wake up with a high fever and my heart beating like a trip-hammer. The fever lasts nearly thru the night, but is gone by 7 the next morning and all but the last time I got up and took my classes on this next day after the attack altho rather weak and unsteady on my feet, walking nearly a mile to the school and back again, at that. But each time it seems to take more of my strength and the last time, having no classes that day, I staid in bed till noon. Mrs. Smith, who has spent her whole time in China in Ing Tai, and has never had it before, has had 2 or 3 attacks this fall too. She has had boils, too. And I had one, quite large one just back of my right temple just back of the hair line. It was so long developing I was a bit anxious lest it be something much more serious. Ing Tai is famous for its malaria but Mr. Smith says it is worse this year than it has been before and a different kind. Some think that so many soldiers going thru here from various places stopping a short time, have in their blood the germs of other kinds of malaria, Ing Tai mosquitos bite them while they are here, get their germs and give them to the next person they bite and so the different kind of malaria is introduced here and spread. I was terribly sorry to get that bug into my system especially at my age, but they say it does not appear again after one goes back to America, or seldom. Eunice Smith came back to China this fall to work in the Kindergarten Training School and came up here to visit her parents and her old home then went to Peiping to study Mandarin in the Language School and was taken with an attack of malaria after she got there which she caught while here, and had to go to the P.U.M.C.=the big hospital in Peking called Medical College, - at a cost of a $100, for the few days she was there. Then had a second attack and had to go back to the hospital. And she had never had it before in her life altho she lived in Ing Tai more than a dozen years.

Miss Armstrong, just back from furlough in America came up here for an outing with the Foochow College and Sr. Class and had an attack of malaria two days after she got back to Foochow; but Dr. said she did not get that here for there had not been time for it to develop. She took it the week before on a hike to Ma Ang, the Mandarin's grave. She was in the hospital two weeks. Quite remarkable that so many of us should have it this year who have never had it before. But Mr. Smith says it is worse this year all thru the country up in this region, many deaths having occurred from it, two children in one preacher's family up country. One boy in school here, was made crazy by the high fever and jumped out of the second story window. Not hurt much. So they had bars put across all dormitory windows. Mr. Smith dispenses scores of dollars worth of quinine to the Chinese on his trips thru the country every year. They have no other source of relief from it. Our house is screened but mosquitos will get in, and we get bitten outside the house, too, I suppose.

This is enough about this side of the globe now we'll talk about other things.

When those photos came it did not seem possible Jacqueline had had time to grow so much; she seems, from the pictures, so advanced for 7 mos. It is a good picture of you and you look well. Baby looks like a very happy little girlie as you wrote she is. I hope she keeps well.

You certainly did have a most unfortunate experience with that hurricane, but I am thankful your lives and home were spared. A hard year for the initial year of an undertaking with three superlative adverse conditions. But none of these are apt to occur two years in succession anywhere I think, so you can look for better times ahead. Our congratulations to Hugh on securing a job. Gould is having a chance to see the country in various parts of the U.S. isn't he? Glad he and Dot got out east.

I do want to jump back to this side of the world a moment to tell you about that new road that I wrote is under construction.

The first road expert who was commissioned by the provincial government to build it came up here and set soldiers to digging with gusto. They began right in front of our kindergarten building and dug so long and extensively and apparently so aimlessly that Miss Lanktree feared they would undermine the compound wall and infuse our property. So she wrote the Foochow authorities about it and it was stopped in that place. Then they worked on down toward Foochow making a stretch here and there where it was easy; but if they came to ledges that must be blasted thru or places that must be bridged, they left off there and went on to start a new place. After two or three months work the one in charge pocketed the balance of the money, went to Foochow and reported that the road was 9/10 completed and the money all used up, and departed. Some months later the gov't. appointed another man to finish the road with the direction that every able-bodied man must give three days work on the road without pay even the magistrate. This includes men from 16 or 17 to 60+, and some women. It applies to all the villages for scores of miles around; and many from distant villages have to walk miles to get to the place where the work is going on. All from one village come together, each bringing his hoe, baskets, rice for three days, extra clothes, and some have cooking utensils. Groups from 8 to 75 are passing the house every day on their way from up-river villages to their work, or from their work, homeward bound. Often there are several women among them who may be workers or they may be the cooks. It is very interesting to see these groups frequently passing as we see them from our upper veranda or living-room windows.

The school teachers and students all had to give their share of the work. Our principal went to see the authorities here about it and got it reduced (for our school) to 150 days work for the whole institution. So Saturday morning two weeks ago certain classes came marching down the road shouldering their hoes and baskets and their dung sticks, boys and girls alike. The gov't. furnished the baskets; the hock and dung sticks belong to the school as they have manual labor as part of their regime, as this school is now an Industrial school. The girls dug earth from the side of the road opposite our house and a few rods below, and the boys dug from the opposite side a few rods farther down. They carried the earth a few rods still further down to fill and widen the road near a small bridge just below our house. The students were given this little job near to the school out of consideration for their youth and inexperience, as well as out of consideration for the difficulty of housing and feeding them if they went too far from the school. They worked a half day and went back to school to dinner. Sat. p.m. is always a half holiday. Next Monday morning the rest of the classes gave a half-day of work and that was the end of that episode. Both days were clear and hot working in the sun and I made tea and took it down to them. Most of the work is now going on miles below our house. I fear we shall not stay here to see the first auto-bus go over the road. There is one bicycle in Ing Tai now.

We get fine fresh river fish here almost as often as we want it, - several times a week; the best is a big fish that sometimes weighs 10 or 15 lbs. We have had deer, - gazelle once, and pheasant once, - a cock, a handsome bird and fine eating. It seemed too bad to kill it. It was better fitted to adorn someone's garden as a pet. You ought to be able to raise pheasants on your place. You know they are occasionally seen up at the farm. You could buy a pair for a reasonable price couldn't you, for a start? For pleasure if not for business.

We get no beef here, - only pork and goat, goose, duck and chicken. Duck is 13 cents per lb. silver, - hardly 4 cents gold at present rate of exchange = $3.33 silver for one of gold. Goose is 20 cents per lb. live weight, silver; 6 cents gold. Venison 16 cents a little less than 5 cents gold. That best fish 20 cents silver; 6 cents gold.

Neither father nor I have been out on any country trips yet but we hope to take one or two before we leave for good. I want to get a first hand glimpse of what the life of these country people really is. They are, most of them very poor. I have been doing a little gardening, today, - repotting Miss Lanktree's Johnsonian Lillies, Eastly lillies and some geranium slips I got of Mrs. Smith. Do you have poinsettias? I wish you could see mine down at Foochow. Father says they are glorious. When it is time to cut them down next spring, I am going to bring up scores of sets here to this compound and plant them generously.

I note your request for seeds and I am writing the Horticultural Dept. at Washington D.C. to find out if there is any way to get seeds into the country honorably. You know no seeds, bulbs roots or plants are allowed to be brought in from a foreign country by law, for fear of introducing plant diseases. I would like to send you the Uoing dang, leng geng, the big northern persimmon, and two other kinds; black peaches; honey peaches; sang chu; knife beans; meat beans; strawberry bananas etc.

You may be interested to know the present agricultural status of Ing Tai as we have seen it in the four months since we came here. The chestnut crop (the big ones, like the Italian ones) was reaped about two months ago and sold off in about three weeks. We enjoyed them immensely, boiled, in soup salad, goose dressing, and as a vegetable served with cream. Sweet potatoes (mostly white ones but a few yellow ones are raised) have been dug as wanted, ever since we arrived late in Sept. But the real harvesting of the crop began the last week in Oct. and went all thru Nov. and Dec. till Christmas, during which time every body who owns a potato field has been making sweet potato rice. They grate the potatoes into straws 3 to 4 inches long and as large around as a straw and dry them on long bamboo trays, 3 ft. by 8 ft. one end of which rests on the ground the other supported by a bamboo horizontal bar 4 ft. high so that the trays are at an angle with the ground of about 45 degrees. Thus the sun shines on them and the wind blows thru them and dries them. We have had little sun for the drying of it this fall, but not much rain either, - mostly gray cloudy days. For two months the air on the road between our house and the school has been scented with turnips from the turnip fields under the plum trees all along both sides of the road. They have been digging them in small quantities and kept them on the market ever since we came in Sept. but the final harvesting of them is just finishing now, Jan. 5. Some of the farmers cut the tops off and hang the leaves over the plum branches to dry; or cut them in short sections and dry them on the bamboo trays for use at times when there is little in the line of green leaf vegetable to be had. Pigs, goats and cows eat much of the tops. The rice harvest finished about three weeks ago. The tallow berries were harvested from trees about 3 weeks ago. They boil out the tallow and make candles from them. The first, early persimmon crop was harvested about Nov. 1. The late persimmons were harvested about 10 days ago. The great big thick-skinned Bong gekks, sour, - do you remember them? are just being harvested and marketed. They take the place of lemons for us; also are eaten like grape-fruit. You ought to raise these too in your Florida orchard. Father took down 400 or 500 of them to the people in our compound when he went down last Thursday. Also he took a load of persimmons. We bought this fall a dang load of each, the gang oranges, the gek oranges, persimmons and long gekks, and have them spread out on the floor of the vacant former girl's school room at the other end of this house.

Spinach, cauliflower, and white cabbage have been in market several weeks. And for the last two weeks we have been gathering from the school garden, (which Father came up here to help teach the Chinese boys and girls in the school to cultivate, for the school has been changed by order of the gov't. to an industrial school, teaching agriculture and animal husbandry) yellow turnips, purple top turnips, carrots corn, spinach. So you see we're well fed. In the Chinese gardens the fields have been plowed since the sweet potatoes and turnips were reaped and have been sown to wheat, peas, and some other vegetables. The wheat is now 6 in. high. The peas are in full bloom some white blossoms, another kind have a pink and garnet blossom, very pretty.

As to flowers, our poinsettias are still in full glory as they have been for about 6 weeks. We have had one frost Jan. 2nd but it did not kill anything. Chrysanthemums have been in bloom over a month and are still going. Geraniums also, and roses at their best, so deep in color these cool cloudy days. The kinds we have are the "Cloth of Gold" a large pink rose of the type sold in flower shops in America with beautiful shaped buds; and a pink common rose but with the prettiest, deep pink buds, and so prolific. Then there is a dark red rose. There are some wild flowers too; asters both white and purple are just gone by; wild yellow chrysanthemums single are just past; also a kind of golden-rod is just passing. I have used these much in house decoration-bouquets.

Ten days ago a neighbor shot another gazelle, and we bo't a hind quarter for a roast and soup meat. It was good and isn't gone yet. I hung the soup meat 6 days just to see how long we could keep it in case we wanted to buy to take down to our Foochow friends some time. With temperature ranging from 50 degrees to 58 degrees, it kept perfectly, hung in an open window out of the sun.

Here it is Sunday Jan. 5th and this letter isn't off yet! I have been in the house all alone again this afternoon; the woman went to her home direct from church, and the boy wanted to go to the hot spring bath house for a bath. Father went to Foochow last Thursday on several errands, Board of directors meetings etc. and will return Tuesday night. Mrs. Smith invited us to dinner and I accepted. Roast Pork, gravy, sweet potatoes, turnips, meat, beans, brown bread, sang cha jelly, and sang cha sauce, Persimmon pudding with whipped cream.

The Magistrate decreed a 3 days holiday to all schools to celebrate New Years. The city gov't. also planned two evenings of entertainment Jan. 1 and 2 in celebration, to give the people a "nan ick" time. They asked all the schools (ours included) to put on a few numbers of the program, plays, stunts, kindergarten activities and songs folk dances etc. I went both nights but did not stay either night thru to the finish as they went from 7 to 12 o'clock. It was held in a large temple or theatre, having two galleries, earth floor for ground floor. It was lighted by 5 or 6 bright kerosene lamps that burn under compressed air or something of that nature, which makes a very bright, white, light. These lights are used very largely in Foochow and environs for feasts, weddings etc. and theatres. The purely Chinese numbers on the program which interested me most, were 1st Chinese "boxing" done by one man; it is not at all like our western "boxing". It is just a series of different motions of the open hands, arms, and legs with apparent effort at gracefulness. 2nd an oration, apparently of a humorous nature, in the rendition of which the orator gestures profusely and vehemently with hands, arms, feet and head and facial expression, while his mouth frames all the words with conspicuous precision, but really he is not making a single sound. What the audience hears spoken is uttered by another person behind a screen, close behind the orator on the platform. An audience always likes that kind of a performance, and the performers do it remarkably well. The one on the platform keeps time with the real speaker exactly and they are so adept at it that one who was not acquainted with such a performance would never guess that the talking was not really done by the person on the platform. Indeed, at our Christmas program in the church, such a number was put on and I did not know till I got home and Will told me that it took two to do that stunt. Most of their efforts at humorous performance seemed to me very silly and childish but the Chinese laugh and enjoy what I can't see the least bit of a reason for laughing at. It gets terribly tedious when the same number of that kind goes on for half an hour, as one number each night did; but the performers in each case were members of the gov't. force at the yamen and must have a big place on the program whether they had the ability to fill it acceptably or not. The one who performed the second night did not draw many laughs from the audience and I am sure the more refined among them were bored, as I was. Will was with me on New Year's night, but as he went to Foochow the next morning, I staid at Mrs. Smith's over night the second night rather than walk home alone at 11 P.M. for my woman and boy wanted to stay thru till 12 o'clock.

Our last mail bro't a good letter from Gould telling of their trip across the country to California. Perhaps I'll send it around among you girls, as he may not get time to write to all of you so much in detail.

The mail before that bro't your would-be airmail letter. It was just as good as if it had flown here. By the way, I saw an account of your hurricane as one man experienced it in another city where it worked havoc worse, than in Clearwater; and I see your Florida blows can be worse than our typhoons. Perhaps your father Elmer takes the "Advance" and you have read the account too. I hope you don't have another as long as you live in Florida.

Gould's letter told us that Marjorie had written that her ring was coming up on the next boat. He added that he hoped she had found the right man this time. I certainly do too, but I can't entirely resist some misgivings. I am sorry that he is a smoker. I sincerely hope that none of my daughters will ever be inveigled into taking up that foolish, harmful, filthy practice. I am amazed that no reaction has yet come from truly refined, cultured, Christian women of America to cause the pendulum to swing back in the other direction. I should have thought it would have come from men of culture and refinement before now, i.e. against women's smoking.

Your letter says Father did not explain the reason of our change of residence. He tho't he did this. Miss Lanktree, who is the foreign lady teacher in the school here, went home on furlough at the beginning of last summer vacation. That left the Smiths the only foreigners in the station. If Mr. Smith went out on country trip for a week or two or three at a time, Mrs. Smith would be the only one to be here all alone and she just about refuses to do that. Some one had to come up to take Miss Lanktree's place if Mr. Smith was to do any country work this year. Moreover they needed more English speaking teachers in the school and more teaching force to take care of the agricultural and animal husbandry side of the new regime for this new school since the gov't has ordered it changed from an ordinary middle school fitting for college to an industrial school. Will having been reared on a farm seemed better fitted to take up that teaching than anyone else. He borrowed books on the subject from Mr. Thelin, the agriculturalist at Union Middle School. We didn't move our furniture up here but just went right into Miss Lanktree's house and used hers. She said she left everything open for us to use freely and wanted us to do so; but I couldn't be quite so free as that and preferred to use our own bedding and bed linen, bath room linen, table linen, table cutlery, bureau and side board scarfs and some kitchen utensils. She wanted to keep her woman cook for her return and rather wanted her to have a home there; so we just about had to leave ours down at Foochow and employ hers. She is very faithful, neat, willing, refined and does what she has learned to do well.

You asked if I like it as well as in Foochow. Well, it is very different of course, very quiet, we see no foreigners but the Smiths and there is no English church service to attend, no Anti-Cob, no mission prayer meetings or business meetings and no social gatherings except just us four. Of course we have social gatherings for the Chinese. But it is a rather pleasant change on the whole altho we miss many privileges the people in the port have. We missed Dr. Poling's visit, Mr. White's visit, the youth conference, the week of prayer meetings, Mission Christmas. But there are interesting things up here and ways in which we can help, which is a satisfaction.

You ask about our address for mail. Just "Foochow" China will reach us allright as the postal officials know that we have transferred. But you can put "Ing Tai" on the lower left hand corner of the envelope if you like. The "Hok" had been changed to "Tai" because there was another "Ing Hok" and mail got mixed up.

I guess everybody tho't the postage too high for we didn't get any air-mail letters and they all were sensible to refrain.

What a rambling letter this is! And it savors strongly of Ing Tai. But I'll write another some time. Write me often and write poor Marjorie often too. And send her some radio messages thru the Canadian Station. You probably know the address; I have it right here. Much love to you all especially our cu-nioug-sung Jacqueline. Affectionately, Mother.

Edward H. Smith

THIS picture slipped in by mistake. The one that should be here shows him in a characteristic pose looking down benevolently on one of his ragged little orphan boys. However this is almost as characteristic for his laugh is as hearty as his love for boys.

Mrs. E. H. Smith

NOW that the Ing-tai school is co-ed, the one "Tai-tai" of the station finds plenty of opportunity for hospitality mothering and teaching the little boys and girls.

Edward Huntington "Ned" and Mrs. Smith

Guy A. Thelin

MR. Thelin helps growing boys to work with growing plants that some day the full grown boys may be the key to China's rural problems.

Mrs. G. A. Thelin

MRS. Thelin is a fine example of the metamorphosis of a single lady into a missionary wife. Even baby Mark and a new house do not debar twenty-three music pupils.

Undated Chinese Christmas Card
[From the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Close-ups of Missionaries in the photo of Willard's 70th Birthday Celebration

L to R: Mr. Topping, Mr. Lacy, Mrs. Scott, Roderick Scott

L to R: Henry Talbott (in hat), Mrs. Hinman (white hair), Mr. McClure (American in hat), Mr. Hinman (white hair)

Mr. Billing

L to R: Guy Thelin, George Newell, Miss Webster

L to R: Bertha Allen, Muriel Topping (3rd from right), L. J. Christian, Josephine Walker

L to R: Agnes McClure, Lois Topping, Joan McClure, H. S. Brand, Esq., Mrs. Brand, Mrs. Burke, Vice Consul Gordon L. Burke, Willard, Ellen.

Bishop Hind, C.M.S.

L to R: Three C.M.S. ladies, Miss Izzard (second from right), Mrs. Christian

1936

- King George V of England dies and is succeeded by his son Edward VIII
- Edward VIII abdicates throne to marry a divorcee and is succeeded by his brother George VI
- War between China and Japan begins
- Willard retires and he and Ellen leave China for the U.S.
- Gould and Virginia are in Santa Monica, California
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Florida
- Marjorie is teaching in Canada
- Geraldine is in New York
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Willard is 71, Ellen- 68, Gould- 40, Geraldine- 38, Dorothy- 35, Marjorie- 30, Kathleen- 28.

[This letter, dated April 17, 1936, was written from Santa Monica, California by Virginia and Gould to Willard and Ellen. Virginia and Gould are living in Santa Monica now. Their letters go to China on the China Clipper now. She would like to see her niece, Jill and also meet Monnie's Ralph. Willard and Ellen are expected to leave China in June. Letter from collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

84- 18th St.
Santa Monica, California
April 17, 1936

Dear Father and Mother-

First off I must enclose pictures of three months ago (I don't think we sent them before, if we have put them in a corner of one of the suit case and we'll use them in the kiddies albums.

The long letter, you should have had years ago but it got caught in a desk cubby hole and didn't reach us until I was leaving for the East last August and I stuck it in my trunk and only came acrossed it a couple of weeks ago. I'm dreadfully ashamed to even send it but it is so interesting you just must have it anyway.

Mother your letter was a rare treat. Fathers interesting letter arrived about a week before.

We are anticipating your return with much interest and excitement. We speak of you often and Hazel and Willard are beginning to feel some of our excitement and expectation too.

April 24, 1936

I'll try another start and see if I can't make better progress this time.

We feel so fortunate to have been sent out here this winter for according to all reports it has been one pretty tough winter back in our native section. In Chicago they had thirty-one days when the thermometer didn't once get above the zero mark. Even one of our pilots froze his hands and feet and there were plenty of frozen ears.

We saw several things on this last trip that we have always wanted to see. We saw Niagara Falls both going East on our way out here. The Grand Canyon is so immense and its magnitude so great that you just stand there and look down in to that hole in the ground and gasp and tell yourself that you can't possibly believe your eyes. It's an experience indeed and we count ourselves mighty lucky. Boulder Dam leaves one feeling almost the same except that one God made, and the other man has made. We came by the Dam too late to get any pictures much to our regret. We stayed that nite in Boulder City and came on into Santa Monica the next day. Boulder City is quite a lovely model city layed out since work was started on the Dam.

We had quite forgotten that we had so very many friends out here until they began welcoming us back. Hazel went right back into her nursery school she was in before. She went into the Beginners Class in Sunday School and Willard took her place in the Cradle Roll Dept. They have a very fine Sunday School in our church here (Presbyterian). Even the Cradle Roll has a lovely room all their own and there are between fifteen and twenty out every Sunday. Easter there were forty-one kiddies there. I have to stay with Sonny but Gould generally goes to our Couples Club (The young married group) class.

Father and Mother I wish you could hear what an orator your son is becoming. I'm sure you would be most as proud of him as I am. He had to speak at a Parent Teachers Banquet here and they other nite he was the Speaker at our Couples Club Annual Banquet. He likes to do it and I hope he has many opportunities for it certainly can never hurt him if he is any good at all and it is awfully good experience.

I told you in my Air Mail letter (It has been interesting to watch the progress of my letters to you, by the notices in the papers to the landing of the China Clipper on the route across. According to the boat notice I figure you should have it about the 26th or 27th of April.) about Gould's work here this time. It is very similar to last year's assignment only very much more extensive. For the Sleeper is a brand new plane and we are the first company to get any of them hence we have all the preliminary experimental tests to put it through and it is no easy job. The first ship was originally supposed to have been delivered the fifteenth of February and it hasn't been yet and probably won't be for another week of so. Then Gould and others have got to take it on a fifty hour Department of Commerce run between here and Fort Worth Texas. If all goes O.K. he will take it to Chicago after that and break in some of the pilots on it. I'm hoping he'll get on to Newark so he will have a chance to say Hello to all the family.

We are so extremely happy that Aunt Mary and Aunt Phebe had that lovely long vacation trip together with Uncle Stanley and Aunt Myra. They certainly more than deserve it. We hope they will be able to have more similar ones.

A letter from Kathie tells us that they are at last in a home all their own and they have plenty of room and want all the family to come visit them whenever possible. We are so anxious to see little Jill. According to the pictures she is a duplicate of her daddy as is our son and most of our daughter.

We wish we might all be together out here for a while; this is such a lovely and interesting section of the country. We'd love to ask Dot and Harold to drive out as soon as school closes but we know they should save all their pennies to get East after you and Monnie get home. Or will you come home over the Canadian Dome and come down the St. Lawrence and make Saginaw your port of entry. We are so anxious to see Monnie and meet her Ralph. All the family feels so proud of her fine and sensible attitude about it and its possibilities.

A card from Jerry a couple of days ago says she plans to leave for Labrador July 1st. We hope you all manage to meet on the other side and have a grand trip back together on the boat. We are all hoping to have Christmas under one roof this year although at present it seems only remotely possible. From your letter Father we gather that you are planning to leave sometime in June.

Please Dears whisper a few words of prayer for us for that Dear Sister who will always remain in the field of your life's work. Thank you so very much. We realize that this departure is going to be much harder than you have ever taken. But do remember please that we are waiting for you with open arms on this end.

I hope my request didn't cause you too much trouble. I'll be watching the mails sometime in June or so for the duty list from you. Oh I'm just terribly fond of those fine Chinese linens.

If another letter doesn't reach you before you sail, here's wishing you a wonderfully happy and successful trip and loads of love and kisses and greetings waiting for you on this end.

Much Love

Virginia, Gould,
Hazel and Willard.

[added by Gould:]

Dear Father and Mother:

Just a few lines to tell you this will be your nicest trip home. The kiddies will be able to talk to you and tell you stories by the time you get here. Our new sleeper plane will be in operation by the time and you can have a ride in it.

Lovingly your son,
Gould.

[This letter dated April 28, 1936 was written from Foochow, China by Ellen Kinney Beard to Marjorie. She discusses the English Dept. activities/plays of her school, gives motherly advice to Marjorie about living in Canada, and describes her fall from a ricksha and the resulting broken nose. She tells how the doctors set and bandaged her nose. There have been many changes in Foochow. Ellen visited Peking and there are bad floods in China. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

[Note: The paragraph to the left of the date was written at the top left corner of the letter. The original letter was written on both sides of very, very thin and fragile paper and was very, very difficult to read, particularly the last page.]

Don't try to read all of this at one sitting; you'll have an eye-ache if you do. Just read two sheets at a time then take a long rest for your eyes before you try the next two, etc.

Foochow, China
April 28th, '36

Dearest Marjorie darling,

It is certainly an unpardonable shame that I have not written you oftener in the past but I will try to oftener in the future. I have started a letter to you many times but it gets so old before I get another chance to finish it that I discard it and begin a fresh one with the same result. But I'll not do that again either. And besides, I'm going to gather up all the unfinished ones that are not already burned up and send them to you now, old as they are to prove to you that I have really meant to write to you and that I have thought of you very, very often, - every day more than once for that matter. I can pray for you far easier and far oftener than I can write to you.

It was so good to get your very interesting letter on April 27th and the photos enclosed none of which we had seen before.

Poor dear girlie, away up in the cold north shut off from your whole host of relatives and family and all the rest of the world besides and looking expectantly for a lot of letters in the first winter mail and getting only one!!!! It is truly a burning shame for us who have so much to cheer and divert us not to share it with you who have so little! I will see that you fare better than that every mail from now on until you leave North West River. (Interruption No. 1) Miss Burr has just come in to ask me to help her with her work in Foochow College (so called still). Miss Armstrong the head of the English department is home on furlough and Miss Burr who teaches English too as I do only she is a full time teacher is acting as head of the dept. in Miss Armstrong's absence and has her hands full with dramatics and everything else music included so in the coming weeks of especial strain, she has asked me to provide a cake for light refreshments for a dozen boys from our school and girls from Wen shan on Wednesday next, just before they go down to the broadcasting station to sing before the microphone, - their first attempt at singing "over the air"; second, to take her composition class in my vacant hour between my two classes on Thursday morning; third to assist in dressing the participants in the play "Cinderilla" given by the Sr.s and Jr.s. Friday evening; and fourth, to oversee and assist the dressing of 7 boys for the play "Columbus" given Saturday afternoon before the English Teacher's Association as a demonstration of dramatics as an aid to teaching English, of which I personally am not much in favor; and fifth, to prepare a bouquet of roses for presentation to the pianist for the play Friday evening who has been taking lessons of Miss Burr several years, and is virtually giving his graduating recital in playing for "Cinderilla". He graduates with the Sr. Class this June and goes on to China Hua, the Indemnity College, in Peking.

Leona L. Burr

ON top of a heavy teaching schedule in Foochow College, she helps minister to the needs of the Shaowu refugees and in her spare half minutes, writes religious drama which the boys delight to produce.

You referred to our hiking when Elbert was here; - we have just been to the Mt. again. Father had to go up to Kuliang on Easter to conduct communion and receive new members into the church and baptize some children. So I decided to go with him. We went up Saturday after lunch taking rikishas to the foot of the mountain over the new auto road and we both walked up ahead of our two load carriers. We intended staying until Monday but at the last minute were invited to Mr. Munson's to meet three Y.M.C.A. travellers, an opportunity we tho't best not to miss so came down Sunday P.M. after service and dinner with the preacher's family. Father tho't we'd better have one chair between us going down, he riding first where the carrying was easier as he is heavier, and I take it below the first rest house for the rest of the way down. I started on ahead as carriers usually walk faster than I like. I picked red azaleas where I found them near the road and took it quite leisurely but they didn't over take me. Once father sighted me as he turned a curve and hailed me; I waved back and went on and on to the foot and they didn't overtake me at all. Father walked a little and they, the coolies had expected a lighter burden a part of the way. So he evened it up with them that way. Tuesday and Wednesday my leg muscles were frequently reminded of the extra and unusual amount of work they had been required to perform. The azaleas and the white wild roses and many other kinds of flowers were in their prime and were quite abundant. I think I picked fully a dozen kinds of wild flowers going up Saturday.

I shall be interested to hear about the visit of the airplane you expect to land on ice there in Feb.

I am glad you had such a happy Christmas. We had a tree, as usual and much other decoration about the parlor and dining room and one afternoon we had the servants in for their Christmas. We also attended several Christmas gatherings and feasts of the different churches.

I am glad you are not staying more than one year more in Labrador for I agree with your thought of one's making it a life work. A work of such isolation and in such a severely cold climate ought to be done by many people serving short terms.

I am glad you find so congenial a companion in your closest companion, Becky Sharpe. When one has to be so close to another with no other or few other possibilities of companionship, it is very wearing if the personality is not congenial. When we all get home together, I hope to understand better what wrecked the North-West-River-career of your first companion there, Betty Lorimer.

I was interested in your reminiscence of eating quavas and sang cha. I am planning, if nothing happens to prevent to bring home a few cans of those two things and other Chinese fruits. Kathleen ought to be able to get quavas in Florida.

Yes, Foochow is greatly changed and changes keep going on. The latest thing is that some wealthy Chinese has built a real road from Kuliang over to Kushan Monastery. You will remember how very rough and stonely it was in some places. We haven't seen it yet as it was done since last summer. But whoever would have thought of anyone's putting perfectly good money into a road away out there in the wilderness, so little used except in summer? Even if I did preach it to my chair bearers all the way over there last summer when we went with Mrs. Emery, as being the duty of the Kuliang people to put that road thru since the foreigners had made so many miles of roads right there in the Kuliang community which they, the natives use the year around.

Another innovation within the past year or so is the establishment of several bus lines going over different routes with common starting points at the head of the long bridge and at South Gate, Pagoda Anchorage and way stations, Hing Hua and way stations and Jrang Zring Ge'uk are some of the points reached, Ing Tai or (Hok) as you remember it, is building a road down toward Foochow now. It will not come clear to Foochow but will come down to the point at Dai Chong where the launches go up to (as far as). Some can easily make the trip in one day when it is finished. One other thing we ought to have soon is electric light on Kuliang. We now have telegraph, and telephone, one, - a public one.

Another new thing is air-plane service, - mail and passenger twice a week, Tuesday and Friday. Tuesday down from Shanghai to Hong Kong and Wednesday back Friday down and Saturday back, stopping here both ways. It is a hydroplane and lands on the Min River a little distance from the University. Bishop Hind came down from S'hai in it just before he went home on furlough a month ago. Two days ago a motion picture man came down on it to take a boat here for Formosa to take moving pictures of the terrible earthquake which occurred at 6:30 last Sunday morning when we were at Kuliang. People in Foochow felt a slight quake at the same hour but we were on the mt. and asleep so we did not feel it. I think no one on Kuliang did.

Many thousands of people in Formosa were killed and injured, and many thousands more were rendered homeless. Definite news has not come in yet but brief reports came in over the radio. I wonder if you will get that news by radio.

Your work of reading the thermometers etc. for weather bureau records is interesting but must be quite an addition to your work. Isn't it dangerous to go out during blizzards to take the readings? And don't they get covered up in heavy snow falls. Don't run any risk of your safety or life going out in blizzards for that or anything else. And don't be too ambitious about hikes in winter lest you get overtaken by a blizzard suddenly and get lost. It seems as tho there are so many dangers in that cold sparsely settled country, I hope you will be wise, cautious and follow the advice of old-timers. Isn't it dangerous for two girls to sleep out in tilts [a type of shelter]? Aren't there any wolves or other dangerous wild animals up there? Be very, very careful about canoeing. Those boats are rather dangerous. Don't get into one with any one who isn't a wise and careful person. And don't encourage that bachelor who sits beside you in the picture and get tangled up again. Nor with the curly headed mop, unless he's much more of a man than the other one was. How about an Englishman anyway? I'm devoutly hoping our two remaining daughters will marry good Christian, educated, pureblooded Americans at least 3 or 4 generations back, since we already have three "in-laws" of foreign extraction. [Added here was a note written in, presumably by Marjorie, "I told this to Ralph!!"]

About three months ago, one Saturday afternoon father and I took the bus out to Ching Chu Liang where the Union Middle School is and the Newell's, Thelins, and Billings live. From there we intended to hike up on to the hills, but we started a little too late for that in the 3 short days, and had to wait so long for the bus that we decided to make calls on those familiar and return home. We went first to the Thelin's and they insisted on our staying to supper. Mrs. Cushman, Mrs. T's mother is out here visiting her two daughters, on in S'hai. We accepted, and after supper took rickshas home. We were coming down Curio St. and had almost reached South St. when, in a poorly lighted place, my right ricksha wheel ran over a pile of earth deposited near the curb for road repairs and unlighted. My coolie did not see it and over my ricksha turned depositing me on the pavement, my nose and left side of my face receiving the impact with a terrific crack. Father was following me and saw it all and came and assisted me out of the overturned vehicle and onto my feet. I wasn't sure whether there were any features left on my face or not, it felt pretty flat. Blood was flowing and I reached for my hdkf. but father supplied a larger and more useful one. I held it over my nose all the way down South St. and home. I could not tell whether my nose was broken or not. While I washed up a bit, Will went to call Dr. Dyer whom he found had gone to the University to spend the weekend. Miss Wilcox, the nurse who lives with her was over South Side for over Sunday.

Mrs. Topping is a registered nurse tho not practicing and he called her. She could not tell whether it was broken, so we called an auto and went over South Side to see Dr. Campbell our mission Dr. in the Union Hospital. He was also at the University for the week end. But the M.E. Dr. living in the same house was just back from a trip to Kuliang and came in and looked at my nose but could not tell whether it was broken. He put on some gauze and adhesive plaster which stayed on almost until I got home! I thought if the professional people couldn't tell whether it was broken or not, I would decide that it was not, and let it go at that. But, Monday p.m. I changed my mind and tho't I'd see Dr. Campbell, so went to the Union Hospital. He at once pronounced it broken and called in the Chinese Dr. who assists him to see how a broken nose looks. But the ear, eye, nose and throat specialist of the hospital, a Chinese Dr. Li, American trained, was at his home and had to be sent for. Dr. Campbell could have set it just as well himself, but medical etiquette has to be observed, and he could not operate in the specialist's dept. Dr. C is a surgeon. Up in the operating room, the four Dr's. and three nurses assembled, -a formidable array. The Dr's all made an examination and discussed as to just which bones were broken. They sent down to the apparatus room and had a human skull brought up and we all studied it wisely under Dr. Campbell's explanation. They went to the Medical library and brought in the anatomy, -more study and more discussion. When it was finally agreed just what was broken and just what had got to be done, they began to hunt for the proper tools to do it with. Several drawers of instruments were brought in and looked over successively, but just the right thing could not be found. They finally decided to take an instrument they didn't have much use for and send it down to the work-shop and have it cut off and shaped for the work of moving my nose back into place. That took some time. When it was ready, Dr. Campbell stood behind me and held my head and directed the operation and Dr. Li manipulated the instrument and set the nose. There was some cracking of bones and some pain (more than they knew, by the way, for I did not make a sound or hardly winced, -except to ask once if they could let me put my head forward for a minute to rest the muscle strain muscles in the back of my neck. Dr. C complimented me twice on my courage and pluck and said I was an a-1 patient. I told him I had not borne six children without gaining that. When it was finally just right, which took some time, the question was how to keep it in place. They had no appliance suited to that need. As one lack after another of paraphernalia and familiarity of treatment presented itself, I remarked, "You evidently don't have broken noses to repair frequently", whereupon Dr. Campbell replied, "This is the first case of broken nose this hospital has had in ten years!" They finally took two rolls of gauze about as large as a man's thumb placed them each side of the nose and strapped them on with adhesive plaster strips across my face and a wire clothes-pin-like arrangement clipping the gauze rolls close up against my nose. Dr. C. then stood off in front of me to get a good view and passed out to me the compliment "Well, Mrs. Beard, now you look just like a rhinoceros!" I went to my classes two days in my surgical dressings much to the amusement of the boys and the curiosity of the Chinese teachers. The clothespin arrangement fell off early in the game and the Chinese weather-impaired adhesive let go here and there so it did no good at all and Dr. removed it after two days and let the nose hold itself in place. He told me in sleeping at night, I must lie on the back of my head with my nose pointing straight up and put a pillow each side of my head to keep my head from turning; and that I must not blow my nose for ten days!

To next sheet. Too hard on eyes to read when written on both sides. I'll not do this again. [I'm so glad!]

Later - Much Later

I left this for father to read and it waited and waited. So I put it in my bag and brought it with me to Peiking.

Just think of it Marjorie, I am really in Peiking!! You perhaps knew that I wanted to visit Peiking some time and this is my last opportunity. So here I am! And, I'm enjoying every minute of it hugely! I hope you'll have the chance to visit it too some time. It is certainly great. I have walked on the Great Wall, been all over the Forbidden City where the Royal Family lived, all over the summer palace, and out at the North Lake and saw the lovely pink lotus blossoms. Oleanders (in pots!) are in their glory now. Went to the temple of heaven and the altar of heaven yesterday. They are repairing it so have staging up and workmen about which detracted some from the solemnity and sanctity of the place. But Oh!. What magnificent distances everywhere in the old Manchu realms of Royalty!!!!!! Very lovingly, Mother Father took a Chinese gentleman of influence with him and went to see the head of the street Construction Bureau about that pile of earth being left there unlighted at night for we had heard that another similar but worse accident had occurred in the same place. Two children were riding in a ricksha and the puller tried to escape an on-coming bus by a quick turn to the side not seeing the pile of earth in time to avoid tipping the children out right in front of the bus; one child's head was run against by the front wheel and his scalp torn off in part. We never heard whether the child lived or not.

About a week after my accident Mrs. Christian was thrown from her rikisha and her shoulder dislocated. She managed to get up alone, get back into her rikisha and get home without fainting altho in great pain and then took an auto to Union hospital on South Side and had it replaced. It was in a sling for a month. Hers was much worse than mine. I have always sat in my rikisha care-free as far as my safety with reference to trafic was concerned; but since my accident, I find myself watching the road ahead as intently as I do in an auto that is driven fast, and am cautioning the puller frequently; I am apprehensive of danger and not at ease and not free to look at the scenery, shops and people as we pass, as I used to do; but feel that what really is my puller's duty, must now be my own concern; they are getting so ha[?] And to the possible danger and consequence so careless. Mrs. Christian says her accident had the same effect on her. She has recovered now. My nose is all right and as good as new; and you would never know it had been broken. This is long enough for one, so I'll write the rest another time. Much love, Mother

July 13 [Note: June 2 also written in] We have a big flood on today and yesterday; water is up into our drive-way in front of our gate. Weng Geng Sing, the street straight out from our gate is full of knee deep water.

When Hangkow is flooded the water comes up to the eaves of the foreign houses there.

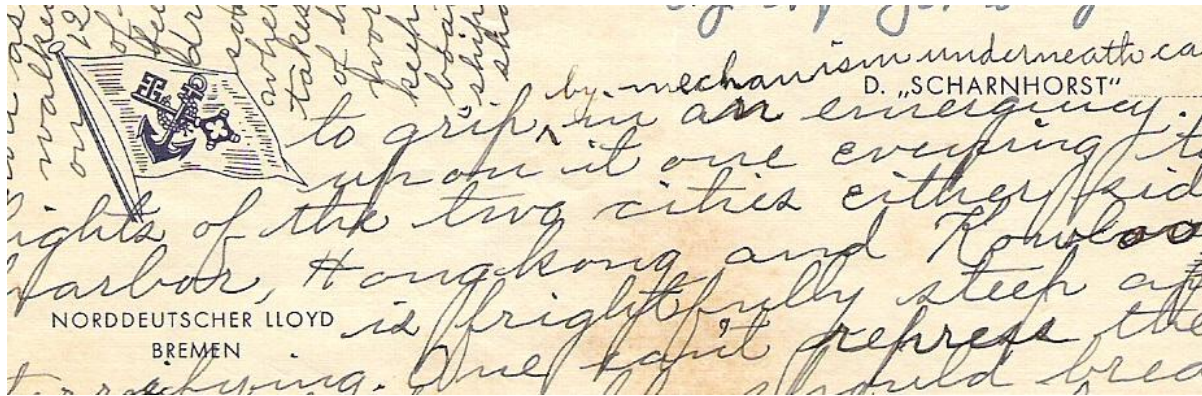

I have a tea on for tomorrow, June 3 in honor of our new Consul to let our mission folks meet him, but I guess it won't come off for he can't get here. We have such deep flood. Later, - The tea did come off and we had a grand time. The consul came in a white wool suit! He had to ride in 4 rickshas and 3 boats to make corrections to get here! One boat was so wet and dirty his coolie who came with him to help him through had to take off his only dry garment and spread it down on the seat to give him a place to sit on. He was quite late getting here and people suggested that Father would better get a suit ready for him for he might need to change his clothes after he arrived thru the flooded streets. But he looked spic and span when he arrived. I hope he reached home without impaired attire! Later- July 16th Now we are hearing of such terrific floods on both side of the Yangtze river and also of the yellow river, -thousands of people drowned and tens of thousands homeless and destitute! What can be done with these troublesome tho useful Chinese drivers. Hords of coolies are working strengthening the dikes. Hangkow is threatened but not yet flooded.

Willard and Ellen about 1930s

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated June 30, 1936 was written on the "Scharnhorst" at sea leaving Manila, Philippines by Ellen to Gould originally, and forwarded on to Dorothy and Kathleen by Ginny, Gould's wife. Ellen describes their brief stay in Manilla. Their next stop was in Swatow and Hong Kong where they had more time to visit "The Peak" and Canton. They switched ships after a brief stay in Singapore (from the Scharnhorst to the Karagola). They slept on the deck one evening because of the heat and she describes the cleaning of a large canvas on deck by the crewmen. Letter in Jill Jackson's collection.]

At Sea Leaving Manilla
June 30, 1936

Send rest of this letter to Dorothy and Kathleen.

(This I copied so wouldn't have to cut into some information I wanted to keep about my linens that Mother and Father bought me.)

Monday of this week we were in Manilla- all too short a time- from 8:30 to 3 P.M. We wanted to see something of Philipino life so to a taxi (and road out thru the country 35 miles and back) to an agricultural school. All along we saw the native houses, small, square, steep thatched roofs, lateral sliding windows..... [end of copied part and onto Ellen Kinney Beard's writing]

.....windows on the four sides which were always all open (by day) and as they occupied fully half of the wall on each side the houses were very airy. The eaves overhung widely and kept out the rain. All the houses were set up on posts at the four corners about 5 ft. from the ground. A flight of steps or a ladder served as entrance. A few houses had curtains. Some side walls were clap-boarded, poorer ones thatched like the roofs. We passed by miles of rice-fields, sugar cane fields, Banana groves, and hundreds of caribou grazing. Many beautiful flowering trees lined the roadsides and were planted in public and private grounds. One had a lavender flower, one an orange and yellow spike of flowers, the Honolulu "Flame of the forest" which was a solid mass of bright red flowers on top. Red hibiscus grew everywhere in abundance. We didn't have time to visit the flower market. If we could have cut out the return trip which was over the same route, we could have seen more of the city of Manilla. We bought some strawberry bananas 2 for 1 cents silver and 1 dozen great big mangoes for 60 cents. Does your mouth water for them Gould? or do you have them in Cal. ?

Since leaving Hong Kong we've had lots of rain and gray sky and very little sunshine.

We were in Hong Kong almost a week arriving Sunday morning and leaving the following Saturday night at 6 o'clock. The auditor of the Seventh Day Adventist Missions of China who had been in Foochow auditing, came down on the boat with us to Hong Kong and we found him a very pleasant traveling companion. Edith Simester (do you remember her, Gould?) and her mother who have been out here teaching in the M.E. Anglo Chinese College were on our boat also on their way home.

When we reached Hong Kong, Mr. Williams, the auditor, introduced us to his wife and they invited us four for an auto ride that afternoon at 3 p.m. They took us for a ride around "The Peak" the residential section of the city. It was simply unique. "The Peak" is a hill, or 3 or 4 hills closely connected, very steep, 3500 ft. high with residences built all over the sides and top at respectful distances. They look as tho they would surely slide down. The very good auto road winds around so the grade is not very steep anywhere. The whole surface of the hillsides is overgrown with small trees and wild shrubs, ferns, etc.- tropical vegetation, so it is green and beautiful everywhere. They have reservoirs, rain catching trenches, filter beds,- a good water supply. But the most interesting thing about it is the tram that takes people up the peak to the "Peak Hotel" the Matilda Hospital, and the residences. Did you hear Uncle Elbert tell about it? It is pulled up by a cable 1 3/4 in. in diam. and electric power, one car coming up while the other goes down (double track of course). It runs on a track, with a middle rail to grip by mechanism underneath car in an emergency. We went up on it one evening to see the lights of the two cities either side of the harbor, Hong Kong and Kouloun. It is frightfully steep and most terrifying. One can't repress the thought "What if the cable should break?!" Coming down we sat in the rear seat of the car,- the 3rd Class section,- to get the full benefit of the thrill, as the car backs down. It was worse than sliding off a steep roof in a child's express wagon! I would walk up the motor road ten times before I would ride on that tram again. But I'm glad I've had the experience. The lighted cities were beautiful. The Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank have just built a new building, modernistic style, similar to some of the buildings in the Century of Progress. It is the only air conditioned building in Hong Kong. Nanking has an air-conditioned moving picture theatre. I was advised to take a light wrap last summer when I went to a movie there last summer, as the contrast in temperature is so great and so sudden.

We went to Canton one day and saw Linyang University, a fine educational plant for Chinese students. We took lunch with Prof. Metcalf of Oberlin ancestry (Gould knows of the family.) He is now at the head of the Botany Dept. in the Univ. We went up to Cautere by night boat and returned by train. It happened to be dragon festival day- the 5th of the fifth moon and we saw two dragon boats in action. They are much longer than those in Foochow which Gould will remember. 36 oarsmen on each side. We had no time to look in the shops, but we saw the most important thing. There is another university in Canton which we did not see. We drove about the city and outside of it and saw three important monuments all in Chinese style. One was for the great statesman who has just died Hu Lin Han, I think the name is. His monument was of a temporary nature built largely of bamboo. But later a permanent one will be built. Another was for the 72 martyrs of some years ago whom China, especially Canton, highly honors.

It was a holiday the day we were in Canton, for the dragon boat festival, so Chinese shops were closed and we could not see the ivory carving, the Canton Black Wood carving and the silk embroidery shops. We came back by train in late afternoon and saw a most gorgeous sunset.

We stopped one day in Swatow before we reached Hong Kong (I'm reversing the order) and had a curious experience there. We wanted to visit drawn workshops there and were seeking addresses as the P.O. Edith Simester and her mother were standing on the street waiting for me to come out of the P.O. when a graduate of M.E. Anglo Chinese College, Foochow, came along and greeted them much to their surprise. They knew him well. I was as much surprised when he greeted me; he had been in my class in Foochow College too, when Will was president. He insisted that we go to lunch with him on the boat on which he had just come in. We all declined because we wanted the time in the linen shops. He insisted on guiding us to the shops, paying our rikisha fares and taking us to lunch after ward. I told him I must meet Will at a certain place by appointment. He insisted on taking us to the shops first then going himself to find Will and bring him to lunch. He did. Then went out again on business while we looked at linen, and returned with two more ladies for lunch one Chinese one Scotch. The Chinese lady he had met in Canton before, the wife of a gov't. officer there. The Scotch lady had just met the Chinese lady on the boat that morning and had arranged to come ashore with her because both were alone. Both were strangers to us. So this opulent young Chinese gentleman got up an impromptu lunch party from the passengers from three different boats from three different classes of people, and the three classes all strangers to each other. It was a superlatively funny situation; but we had a good feast and an interested experience. It cost him $19, but he's good for it. Gould, he is Ding Ming Uong's nephew,- Old Pastor Ding Long Go's grandson. He now holds a high salary position and it looks as tho he is leading rather a fast life;- not, I fear, emulating the example of his worthy forbears. The lunch took so much time we missed the opportunity to visit the Baptist Mission industrial work,- linen work.

The day before we reached Swatow we stopped at Amoy and lunched with a Miss Pearce and her three associates. Father has transacted business for them regarding their Kuliang house. We called on a Miss Kitty Talmadge who is 83 years old and is still teaching in the women's school there. She with her sister who died 2 yrs. ago, entertained our family of six, Gould, at lunch and showed us around Amoy, 33 years ago when we were on our way home for our first furlough. You were 5 yrs. old.

(Now to last page.)

I thought I had finished this sheet so turned to the margins for space to finish my account of the journey as far as Singapore. Now I can write it up as far as Penang.

We reached Singapore about 6:30 a.m. on July 2". Father's first business is to get our passage on some boat going to Calcutta for we had to leave the "Scharnhorst" at Singapore.

So I staid on board while he went to the S.S. offices. It took him over an hour and a half. When he returned, we transferred our baggage to the steamer we were to proceed on,- the "Karagola" from Glasgow, a British India Line boat about 2/8ths the size of the Scharnhorst, and bade good-bye to the officers of that boat who had given us such a fine trip thus far. We were loath to leave it. Then we took a little Austin car about 10:45 for the rest of the day for $5.00 Singapore currency ($1.00 U.S. Currency= $1.72 Singapore Currency). We drove out to the causeway 3/4ths mile long, to Johore, the southernmost state of the Malay States and to the "Botanical Gardens". There were so many varieties of palms, shrubs, flowering trees, and cannas; excellent roads winding in graceful curves thru the gardens, and a stretch of real tropical jungle. Then we rode back to the city and visited a few shops. But like our stop in Manila, we spent so much time riding the shopping was much curtailed. I did buy a few things.

On this boat, as on the Scharnhorst it has been cool and cloudy (so less glare) and the sea has been smooth thus far. Last night it was hot in the cabin so we both took our upper sheet and went out on deck and slept in the steamer chairs and settee till 4:30 a.m. then the cabin had cooled off. We are the only foreigners in the 2nd Class on this boat. A Singapore Police officer and family are on, but they do not eat in our dining room. Only one English couple are in 1st Class so far as we can see, and almost no 3rd class passengers- possibly 4 or 5.- 12 sailors have just been cleaning a canvas nearly 50 ft. long and 7 breadths= 12 ft. wide on the lower deck. A cleaning powder is mixed with water in a bucket, one sailor sprinkles it all over the wet canvas with his hand, then the rest fall to with scrub brushes. Then they rinse it off with a hose, turn it over (and it takes 12 to do it) and repeat the process. Then it was rolled up lengthwise, and 12 arms supported the long roll as it walked off on 12 prs. of black feet to dry out somewhere. It takes a lot of hard work to keep a boat in "ship-shape!"

[Note from Ginny at top of letter follows]

I didn't know whether she missed a sheet when mailing or just forgot to sign it. Ginny

[This journal travelogue, dated June 18, 1936 through September 13, 1936, was written while traveling from Foochow, China to Lucerne, Switzerland by Willard. He writes about their visits and travels through various countries while traveling Westward towards the U.S. He and Ellen have just retired from missionary service in China. Journal from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Homeward bound 1936

We left the city compound this morning = June 18th at 5:45. The 2 servants Nyer Iu-ting and Iong Dieu-ming got into the auto and Mr. Christian had to take a ricksha. Both servants had a big round pack of firecrackers and lit them and threw them into the street ahead of the auto so we had to wait nearly 10 minutes before starting- until the crackers stopped. Many were at the jetty- Gerz, Leona Burr, Helen Smith, Will Topping and Mrs. T., Mr. and Mrs. Maloney, Len Christian, Ging-meng, Liong-ing, Hsui-in, Suoi-ling, Hung-seng, Diong (Shorty), Diong-huok, Nguk-song, Geng-guong, Nguong-cong.

The "Hai Yang" weighed anchor about 8:30. The sea has been smooth and the breeze delightful. At 3:30 we ran aground on the Haitan Straights- tide rising.

We have said "goodbye" to Foochow, our home for almost 42 years, where our 6 children were born, where Phebe left us for a better home,- where we have put our lives. How different the Foochow we came to in Nov. 1894 was from the Foochow we left this morning! We came to a Foochow with the widest street 12' wide and we left Foochow with several 50' streets. A 2-story building with a "lift" window glass was for foreign houses. Now nearly every building has glass in both windows and doors. In 1894 there were 2 wheels in all Foochow. Now autos and busses and trucks and carriages and hand carts make it necessary to look both ways before crossing the street. But it requires a book to even mention the changes that have taken place in Foochow since we first saw the city.

Friday, June 19

We anchored in Amoy harbor at 6 a.m. After fruit and cocoa we started to go ashore, and met a boy with a note from Miss D. Pearce inviting us to come to her home and to lunch there. We went directly there and Mr. Short's cook- now at leisure- conducted us to the U.S. Consul, Dick, then to the French Consul, Roy, who put his vise [?] on our passport and would only accept a thank you for it. Then to Miss Kitty Talmadge's home where we lunched 33 yrs. ago. She is 83. Then we went to Mr. and Mrs. Bost, and met Mrs. Angus. After lunch Miss Pearce and Miss Frazer took us across the bay to Amoy and we autoed to Amoy University with its beautiful site and buildings set in very artistic surroundings and the faculty residences in a row on one of the bluffs. Farther up the Bay is the airport and still farther the park. The last time I saw old Amoy the streets were all torn up so it was difficult to get anywhere. Now streets are well paved with side walks. The 2nd stories of the buildings cover the sidewalks. After calling Mr. Ling Geng-ong in the customs we went back to the "Hai Yang" which was to have sailed at 4. Some misunderstanding about some of the cargo held us until 5.

Another beautiful day- dry and clear.

Saturday June 20- 1936

About 6 a.m. we tied to the buoy in Swatau harbor. After a b-fast of grape-fruit, apple, banana and cocoa we went ashore- I to find a barber, Mother to buy linen. Mrs. Nicholas and her daughter Edith Simester were with her. At the P.O. Mother got the address of a linen shop. As they were on the street after leaving the P.O. a young man Diong, son of Diong Kong-guang and Ming Uong's youngest sister met them and recognized them. He had been a student in Foochow and in Anglo Chinese Colleges under Mother, myself and Edith Simester. He put them in rickshas and took them to Mrs. Tshu Sok Che, Kialat, Swatau. He also chanced to meet Mrs. Andriva (Roumanian) wife of a white Russian, advisor to the Canton government, and a ship mate Miss Moir. Diong invited all to tiffin in the Yong Ping Restaurant (Cantonese). So this was the company- James I.C. Chang (Diong Ngi-Chiong), Miss Edith W. Simester, her mother Mrs. Nicholas, Mrs. Andriva, Miss Moir (Scotch and Irish chance acquaintances, stopping in Swatau for the day as their ship discharged cargo), W.L. and Mrs. W.L. Beard. We had a classey Chinese tiffin. Then I mailed the linen to Virginia and we reached the ship at 3 p.m. +. We are on the last lap of the trip to Hongkong. The sea and sky and friends have all been good to us thus far.

Sunday June 21 – 1936

Came to dock at Hong Kong at 9:30 a.m.

The man from the "Phillips House" met us and took charge of all our baggage. We took the Star ferry to Kowloon 10 cents and walked = 8 min= to the "Phillips House"- new, clean, quiet, cordial, accommodating, central. At 3 p.m. we four = Mrs. Nichols, Edith Simester and we two went across the bay to the Star ferry on Hongkong, where Mr. and Mrs. Williams (7th Day Adventists) met us with their auto and took us all about the island- one of the beautiful drives of the world. Also when we got to the Peak Hotel. We took rickshas = 2 men at 30 cents per man = for a further ride around the Peak. The views on these drives are beautiful- islands and ocean and city and residences and public buildings and ships are seen as in a kaleidoscope as we wind in and out and up and down. Residents are pushing out along the shore and up on the hills very fast during the last five years. The hill above and back of Victoria= Hongkong= is already well dotted with dwellings. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are in their mission dwelling $\frac{3}{4}$ of the way up. We stopped and had a cool drink and a cookie. With a home in that locality, they do not need to leave for the summer. The 7th [Day Adventists] people have good business heads among their numbers. Mr. and Mrs. Williams have no children.

They left Mother and me at the Cathedral. We heard Mr. Carpenter preach and after service met him and Mrs. Carpenter and got back to the Phillips House at 8:30 p.m. and found dinner waiting for us.

Monday June 22- 1936

To-day we tried to do the necessary business with N.D.L., Am. Express etc., relative to sailing. But the letters from Shanghai to Melchus and Co. - N.D.L. Agents and to me with money have not arr'd so we just bo't our Travellers checks, shopped and in the evening took the boat for Canton – ticket 2nd class $5.60 for a cabin. Our Foochow money sold for $1.08 Foochow on Bank of China = $1.00 Hongkong. The heat is not oppressive. It is very pleasant on the Star ferry that plies between Kowloon and H.K.

Tuesday June 23.

We awoke at 6 to see the banks of the river, and soon the dirty little sampans of Canton- such a contrast to those in Amoy, so meticulously clean and bright with paint in colors. A Miss Ding was at the jetty to meet the ladies and we went with them to the Y.W. and had breakfast. Then in the auto of Miss Ding's brother who is in the gov't service in Canton to see the Sun Yat Sen Memorial- a very large building with an auditorium to accommodate 2000+ seated and standing. Just now this is used for a memorial to an important Cantonese Hu. We were allowed to go in. Then we drove to the Memorial to the 72 martyrs of the Opium War and then to the Memorial to the soldiers of the 19th Route Army who died trying to defend China near Shanghai in 1932(?). This last is in shape much like the Martyr's Memorial Arch in Oberlin.

Then we took the Lieng Ang laing[?] the University. As the launch drew near I recognized Mrs. Metcalf. She had come over to meet a friend of Mr. Wisdom who came out last year to the C.M.S. in Foochow- and was taken ill on Kuliang and has for a year been seeking health in various hospitals,- the last one = Matilda Hospital Hongkong. He has decided to go home. While in Matilda [Hospital] Jack Metcalf came there for a few days, and Wisdom wanted to go to Jacks home for his last days in China.

We went home with Mrs. Metcalf for lunch – saw the University. It has been here long enough to have the appearance of a come-to-stay institution. The buildings are Chinese and foreign in design, - far enough so they do not look crowded. I hoped to see the dairy but the day was hot. The night had been steamy and not restful and I gave in to the feeling of = go slowly and lay down in the beautiful chapel and napped.

After lunch we visited and went back to Canton and took the 4:50 train for Kowloon. This reached Kowloon at 4:45 [does he mean 4:45 the next day or 5:45 the same day?]. The fare was $5.60 Canton money for two persons, $2.80 a ticket 2nd class. The ride was cool and pleasant, - no more boat between Kowloon and Canton for me.

Wednesday June 24 – 1936

I went at once to Melchers and found N.D.L. Shanghai office letter to their H.L. Agents and also letter from Ass't Treasurers to me with my L100+. So my reasons for any worry were gone. Tickets were fixed up and all ready to sail for Singapore.

In the afternoon we met Mr. Carpenter at the Star ferry in H.K. He drove us to his home for tea. Then Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter took us for a ride to see the H.K. 7 Dairy and pigs.

Thursday June 25

We gave this day to purchasing various articles for relatives at home. Out in the evening after dinner we with Miss Simester and her mother took the train to the Peak and had [a] refreshing walk in the cool moonlight.

Friday June 26

The morning we spent with Dr. Reichelt and Mrs. R. in their Institute. I met him in Shanghai in 1922. He was then working on the plans for a Christian-Buddhist Institute with the hope of influencing Buddhist Monks to accept Christianity. The upset in 1927 ruined his plans for the region of Nanking. He then went to Hongkong, Kowloon and purchased a hill top for 5 or 6 acres about 9 miles from Kowloon and perhaps 1000' up and has built 4 or 5 residences for himself and his foreign staff. And a beautiful little chapel, - a hostel and a meditation nook- all is very plain. He makes much of symbols, robes, incense, ritual. The architecture of the Institute is semi-foreign. He has already baptized about 40 monks and 30 novitiates. Last Christmas he baptized the first Laama monk to embrace Christianity in all China and Thibet. He is very happy and hopeful. We lunched Chinese vegetarian style with the staff and the monks who are studying in the Institute to become missionaries to Buddhist monks in China.

Friday afternoon we tied up the ends of purchases.

Saturday June 27 – 1936

This a.m. I mailed linen to Virginia, Dorothy and Kathleen. Then we repacked three trunks to go right thru to Bremen, and to be put on the S.S. "Bremen" Sept. 14. We hope to see them Sept. 15 at Southampton, Eng.

At 4 p.m. we went aboard the S.S. "Scharnhorst". Mrs. Phillips of the Phillips House Kowloon, Hongkong is about all that one could desire in a hostess. We were very comfortable there and everything was done to help us in carrying out our plans.

Sunday June 28-

Last nite was hot, but to day has been cool due to rain. A Catholic service and a protestant service were held this a.m.

Monday June 29th Manila

A beautiful morning we were up at 6 to meet the doctor at Manila. After breakfast we met Turner of the Y. and Mr. Wright of the Presb'n mission here. He insisted on our getting into his car and riding to a garage where he found a car to take us out to the Agricultural College of the Philippines at San Banos for $8.00. It was a beautiful drive, showing us the bamboo organ and the Philipinos in their own homes, each with his dog, horse and two wheeled gig. Buffalo cows were very numerous. The rice fields were in all stages some were fallow, covered with grass which seemed to furnish pasturage for cows, goats and horses – some were being plowed and harrowed, some were just heading out and some were being reaped. We saw perhaps 60 men and women reaping one field, as we drove out. I said I would snap them when we returned. It was raining hard when we got back to it.

The Ag. College is rather striking. All buildings are one storey, very neat, clean, light and airy. I snapped the entrance, done in white. A large arch guarded on each side by a big caribou's head, and far enough inside the arch so autos go to the left of it. Going in and to the left of it coming out, is a large block with a life sized caribou and a life sized man holding a pole, standing side by side. The visit has left a pleasing image on my mind. Rice and sugar cane and bananas were the crops we saw. We bought 20 bananas for 5 cents U.S. currency and 42 large luscious mangoes for 5 cents U.S. each. Primary School buildings were in each village of any size – one storey, neatly painted, lighted perfectly and well ventilated. The Philippino's house is only about 15' sq. - stands on stilts about 6' from the ground, has a thatched roof, often bamboo sides and either under the house or under a roof to one side is the 2-wheeled cart and the pony. The rice fields are small-rectangular- perhaps 50'X100'. Cocoanuts grew in one village. The motor roads are good. 40 miles an hour was done with perfect comfort. Manila is a pretty city- you have a feeling that they had land enough to build on. Most of the yellow cows and oxen and the dogs made one feel like stopping and throwing some food to them.

Tuesday June 30th 1936

The Pesos 8 yesterday was for the round trip to Los Banos. We left Manila at 9:30, drove about the grounds of the Ag'l College as we wanted to and got back to Manila at 1:30 p.m.- This in spite of repeated – “A little slower, please”. I judged the distance was about 30 mi. It rained in showers all the way home but stopped to let us buy manila dresses and go aboard at 2:40 p.m.

Last night it rained much of the time. Our port hole was closed but the cool air poured in all night thru the ventilater. This a.m. I had a refreshing swim in the pool on deck, in salt water. Clouds cover the sun and it is cooler.

Wednesday July 1-1936

The latter half of the nite was cooler- a sheet over one was comfortable. Another salt water swim to begin the day. It is clear but not over bright- just right. We plan to dock early tomorrow- 5 or 6 a.m. at Singapore. The “Potsdam” will want the slip day after tomorrow, so the “Sharnhorst” plans to get out tomorrow.

I am sending leaves 1-9 to the Girls at Century Farm for all relatives.

Thursday July 2 – 1936

On board British India S.S. “Karagola”. We docked at Singapore about 7 a.m. After b-fast I went at once to Brustead and Co. Agent for the B.I. Steam Navigation Co. They had a steamer leaving for Calcutta via Penang and Rangoon at 4 p.m. today. I engaged passage, then took a taxi to Police headquarters to have our passport recorded and stamped. Everyone if he lands for only a few hours has to do this. You may stay [in] Hongkong for 72 hours without registering- over 72 hrs. you must register.

In about 1 hr. 30 min. I was back on the “Sharnhorst” to get Mother and the baggage, and go to the “Karagola”, find our cabin, put the hand baggage in it and then get a taxi for a drive. We engaged a little yellow cab- these have 2 doors, a seat for the driver- the seat beside the driver is an empty space, very convenient and cheaper than the large cars. We paid $5.00 Straights Settlement money for this car from 11 a.m. till 4 p.m. and drove about 30 miles. Within Singapore 40 cents seems to be the fare. We went out to Johore 13 mi. out. It looked as if this were in the nature of a large park for Singapore. The road is very new- one bridge had the figures 1935. For the first time we saw rubber plantations. The trees were smaller than we expected to find. They were planted in neat rows some 15' apart. This is evidently not the season for the rubber to run. We saw the tapped trees with the little cups held by wire stuck into the tree to catch the sap as it runs from the oblique incision in the bark. The trees were not a foot in diam. and not more than 25' high. It looked as if they were short lived. All underbrush and grass is kept down. We saw one truck load of pineapples but none growing. We passed several rubber factories but they were closed and some looked deserted. Coconut trees were plentiful- not as tall as the ones we saw in Penang 33 years ago. It's interesting to drive on broad boulevards, swarming with autos of all kinds and auto busses and auto-over-head trains, and to sit in a modern 4-storey building, built of massive granite blocks and be told that 33 years ago the land was sea. We realized this in Amoy, Swatow, Hongkong, Canton and Manila. As one senses these facts he realizes that this world's population must be increasing fast. Personally I think this is one reason for the unrest in the world. Some form of birth control must come.

The Botanical Gardens near Singapore are beautiful. We saw many flowers and shrubs new to us. At Johore the zoo was very interesting. Several species of deer, and several kinds of very large birds looked well kept. Kangaroo were sleek and thriving. We saw no horses. The cows and oxen were cream colored with the hump on the shoulders and the long flopping brisket. A very few pigs were seen. Strange to relate Indians import Chinese and Japanese and Chinese silks and embroideries to sell- but no Indian goods. Chinese seem to be contractors, washermen- dealers in fruit and vegetables- and building materials. We saw no Japanese- many Chinese. I am writing this July 3rd Friday on board “Karagola”.

We are practically alone on this boat.- We are homesick for the “Sharnhorst”,- so many of our kind and of old friends there,- such a fine ship- such a variety of delicious food- We were with Mrs. Nicholas and her daughter Edith Simester from Foochow. Mr. and Mrs. Laird son and daughter fr. Canton Lieng Nanag Univ'y. Hugh and Mrs. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. Cady, Dr. Rawlinson and daughter Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and son and daughter, Nanking, Miss McKee, Foochow, Miss Lenders, Peiping, Miss Horn of China, Mr. and Mrs. Moore and children, Korea, and others. How I do hope Geraldine and Marjorie will make the “Bremen” with us Sept. 15.!!

We have mailed some menus to Shelton and Putnam. To show them up you should have the menu we ate from on this boat this evening- Consume- Lamb's tongue- toast duck- boiled cabbage, potatoe, ice cream, bread and butter after I called for it. 'Dessert'= peanuts in the shell burned enough to make coffee, and coffee-

July 4- 1936. At Penang. Saturday

We anchored here last night about 11 o'clock. We took on rice, cocoanut oil in barrel sized drums, and cocoanuts. The cocoanuts in their shells were put in loose, thrown into large, round bamboo baskets about 3 ½ ' high and 4' in diam. These had 2 ropes tied the rim in 4 places. They were hoisted by these ropes. In the center of the bottom of the basket another rope was tied to the basket. The man caught this rope as the basket stopped about 5' from the floor. Then 3 men pushed the basket to where they wished to land it as the engines dropped it then the engines hoisted on the rope tied to the basket's bottom and the cocoanuts rolled out into the ship's hold. The three articles of export from Penang are cocoanut, cocoanut oil, and copra = dried cocoanut.

We allowed a Chinese - 3 generations in Penang - to introduce a guide. We had only 2 ½ hrs. in Penang. First we went to the shops and bo't a kimona for Mother also a bathing cap and a kimona for Hazel and one for Willard and pajamas for Jacqueline. Then we taxied to the Gardens. What a change in 33 years!! Then [or 'Back then'] we took a pony carriage to the Gardens - the road lay thru cocoanut groves. No houses. The Gardens were not much to see. Dot was hot and tired and sleepy. She and I stopped under a large tree in the shade near the entrance, while Mother, Phebe, Gould and Geraldine "did" the Gardens in a little less than an hour. This morning we drove out in a taxi in about 20 min. The road is new, with neat little Chinese owned cottages all the way. About the cottages are the cocoanut trees. Indians climb the trees- about 60' high and pick the cocoanuts and throw them to the ground. In the interior, monkeys are trained to do this. We saw families of monkeys in the Gardens. We saw them also at Johore.

In Penang Chinese predominate. There are very few Japanese. The dealers in Japanese kimonos etc. were mostly Indians. I sold after coming on board the Karagola again $3.00 ?? Settlements $ for 4 rupees and 8 annas.

Coming on board at Penang- we left for shore at 9:00 and were to have sailed at 12:00 - we found new passengers, Mr. and Mrs. Pruden. He has been teaching in Shanghai University for 2 yrs. and a Mr. and Mrs. Stevens. The Prudens are from Virginia and know Raymond Hightower. Mrs. Stevens is from New Hampshire. Mr. Stevens is a Southerner. There is a Hollander, two Maylaians- your Catholics who cross themselves before sitting down at table and a Japanese and another American who says "he aint got no" - a congenial group however the Prudens are of fine caliber. They are in for just the same trip as we as far as Suez. We plan to "do" India together. We will not decide what to do at Rangoon till we get in. We may go to Mandalay. We all want to see the Himalaias - whether we go up from Calcutta or go on to Delhi and up from there is the question. I am drawn to the Delhi route. Today has been Sunday. The monsoon blew rather strong all nite and this morning no one was 100% happy altho each was up and took nourishment. This afternoon the sea in a little calmer. "Live-a-Century School" in June Readers Digest- we're joining it. This is the first term of the freshman year for us. We find it hard to obey the rules in the "Karagola" for fruit is scarce here. So we bo't 80 cents worth in Penang. The rest are in their 30's. We are farther along but they take us in.

Monday July 6" 1936

The nite was cool. We kept a thin covering over us all nite. Today the wind is less strong. Last evening Miss Pruden played the piano while we sang hymns, - a fitting close to quiet day. This morning Mrs. Pruden, Miss _____ and I played bean bag. I ungallantly beat them. A Mr. Van den Hook- a fine looking young man from Holland has captivated us and Mother talks of visiting Holland (me too). We are to reach Rangoon tomorrow at 6:00 a.m. - not decided whether to go Mandalay. This trip from Singapore has been quiet and restful and our companions are agreeable.

Tuesday July 7

This a.m. at 6:00 the "Karagola" anchored. The customs, the police, the immigration, and the health officers each met us. We passed. A Mr. Dixon pastor of the English speaking Baptist church here - a school mate of Mr. Pruden came aboard and invited us to go ashore with the Prudens and him. We took his car and drove to see Dr. Gray of the Y. who was out. Then we drove around the city some and to Mr. Dixon's home in the Baptist mission's compound in the house used by the country missionaries as the go and come. Then we drove to the Shwe Dragon = Gold Pagoda. This is one of the largest and one of the oldest temples in the world. This big dome or pagoda must be nearly 200' in diameter- round - all gilded perhaps 200' high. There are four entrances - north East, South, West. You enter each of these and climb perhaps 50 steps. Stalls with flowers and curios to sell line the avenues as you ascend. We bought a rosary, wooden beads - 20+, a little ivory image and a Loong yi = the cloth all the men = natives here wear = a piece of cloth – I bo't silk – 4' wide and 6' long. It is sewed into a pillow-case-tubing like and the men take a tuck in it after putting it over their heads. It covers them from the waist down. There are many small copies of the Shwe Dragon much smaller and built by individuals all about the Pagoda. There are alabaster Buddha everywhere – large and small. The sun was hot and the pavements were very hot. No one is allowed to wear shoes or stockings when he enters the Pagoda grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Pruden and Mother and I took off our foot wear and went in and all about bare footed- imagine it!! When we got home we washed our feet- rode home with bare feet – and dipped them in lysol water before putting on stockings and shoes. Mr. Dixon asked us to stay for lunch. He called it breakfast at 1:00 p.m. It was a delicious lunch – bananas, mangostines, apples, grape nuts, beef steak with potatoe, beans and marrow, ice cream and cake – coffee.

While we ate a very hard shower came up and water poured from the sky. We napped. About 3:30 we got into the car again and drove to town- to the Baptist Mission press. I sold $50.00 U.S. for 125 Rupees. Tomorrow I will get more. The banks had closed for today and the exact rate could not be told. I exchanged this money at the Baptist Mission Press. Then we went thru the Press. It is very large and has the latest modern machinery – a linotype machine that sets up the type from melted type metal. Mr. Dixon then drove us to the “Karagola”. The world is full of good people who are friendly.

Wednesday July 8th – Still at Rangoon

Yesterday the Burmese who man the boats that bring freight to the ship and take it away had a row from 5-10 p.m. The boats with rice to ship to Calcutta got to the ship first and tied up. The empty boat to take cocoanuts and coconut oil away could not get to the ship. The boatmen squabbled till 10 p.m. Someone at last got the police to come out with a boat. He pulled some of the loaded boats away from the ship and the empty boats then came in and unloading began. Rangoon in 1935 shipped 3,500,000 tons of rice to other countries.

This morning Mr. Dixon was here with his car as soon as we were thru breakfast. We drove into the country about 15 mil, saw the Burmese in their country homes, rice fields, rubber trees, wild land. Then we looked about Judson University and the University of Burma. The Judson University is named for Adoniran Judson. The two are on the same plot of ground, only a road divides them. Burma University has about 1300, Judson about 350 students. They are really one institution. England grants diplomas to each. The faculties and students exchange. The Judson University church is a beautiful building- the inside down in teak wood is very fine, but the acoustics are very bad. We climbed the tower and saw a large extent of country – we went up 150 steps of iron, - this above the gallery of the church.

Again we lunched at the Baptist Mission Guest House – two of us for a rupee and 8 annas = 60 cents U.S. This afternoon, I went to see Dr. Osborn about repairing my cracked plate. He will do it tomorrow between 9 and 12. The boat sails at 2:30 p.m. We hear that the trip Rangoon- Calcutta is likely to be rough.

Thursday July 9

This morning took a taxi from the “Karagola” to the dentist. Dr. Osborne of Passaic, N.J., [has] been in Rangoon 30 yrs. unmarried.

I left my teeth with him. The plate was cracked. Then I walked to the American Baptist Mission Press to get the rest of my Rupees for the $50.00 I left with them Tuesday. For the $50.00 U.S. I received Rupees 130 + 4 annas. There I waited for Mother with Mr. Dixon and the Prudens. Then we went to see silver and ivory – bo't nothing. Then we went to the bazaar. I never saw so much stuff for sale in so small a space. Cotton and silk goods, Burma Lacquer, cosmetics, lace, everything you would find in a dry goods store at home, - groceries- we bo't a tin of Postum and a cake of Lux soap, vegetables, fruit, - li cies, mango – Bombay and Burma, - pineapple, grapes, lemons, bananas, mangostines, apples, grapefruit, Japanese pears, onions potatoes, cauliflower, - all under one roof. The venders are importunate. More so are the little boys who want to carry your packages. We gave ours 2 ¼ A.

The others left us here and after we had finished buying,-

1 nut bowl lacquer	4 annas
1 can Lux	12 “
1 tin Postum	4 “
2 Bombay mangoes	8 “
10 bananas	4 “
10 Burma mangoes	1 ¼ “
10 lemons	10 “
1 lb grapes	10 “
1 lb grapes	12 “
1 lb lie cies	2 “

This ship's fruit larder has a rusty key.

We came to the ship in the carriage we took at the bazaar. 1 hr. for 12 annas. The rates are printed in the vehicles. Each carriage carries on its top green grass while waiting for a fare the grass is placed before the horse- for lunch. Rev. J.E. Dixon has been very good to us. He has taken us all round with the Prudens.

Rangoon is Burma's seaport. She sells most of her tin, rice and coconuts – and cocoanut products- copra wax candle oil. Near Rangoon we counted nearly 30 ships in the harbor. This is normal.

The Burmese do not take kindly to steady work. It was only a few years ago that Indians were introduced as laborers. Of course it produced riots. The Burmese are promised independence next year- independence from India. This is sure to bring trouble.

Yesterday we saw the theological work of the Baptist mission in India. There are really three schools here for the work must be done in 3 languages. English, Burmese, Karen [one of the languages of Burma and Thailand]. Both men and women attend. The church work is largely supported by the people of the country and the administration is largely in the hands of the natives. The buildings of the seminary were erected with native money to a good extent.

Friday July 10 – 1936

Dr. Pruden has worked out the following for a tentative itinerary in India.

Sun. July 12	a.m. arr. Calcutta (visit Serampor [Serampore])
Sun. July 12	8:40 p.m. lv.
Mon. July 13	6:15 a.m. Ar. Siliguri (change to hill railway)
Mon. July 13	6:50 a.m. lv.
Mon. July 13	12:15 p.m. ar. Darjeeling (Tues. July 14 at Darjeeling)
Wed. July 15	3:00 p.m. lv.
Thurs. July 16	7:00 a.m. Ar. Calcutta
Thurs. July 16	7:36 p.m. lv.
Fri. July 17	8:15 a.m. ar. Benares
Sat. July 18	3:31 p.m. lv.
Sat. July 18	4:00 p.m. ar. Majhal Sarai [or Mahal Sarai]
Sat. July 18	4:17 p.m. lv.
Sat. July 18	8:12 p.m. ar. Allahabod (Sam Higgenbotham)
Sun. July 19	7:17 p.m. lv.
Mon. July 20	9:45 a.m. arv. Delhi
Wed. July 22	8:35 a.m. lv. Delhi (Tues. at Delhi)
Wed. July 22	12:02 p.m. ar. Agra (Taj ma Hal) (Thurs at Agra)
Fri. July 24	10:09 p.m. lv. Agra (Sat on train)
Sun. July 26	5:15 p.m. ar. Madras
Mon. July 27	9:00 p.m. lv.
Tues. July 28	7:08 a.m. ar. Trichinopoly
Tues. July 28	7:30 a.m. lv. Trichinopoly
Tues. July 28	11:20 a.m. ar. (Madura [Madurai]) (Wed. Thurs Fri at and near Inodaur[?])
Sat. Aug 1	8:20 a.m. lv.
Sat. Aug 1	9:42 a.m. ar. Manamdurai [or Manamadurai]
Sat. Aug. 1	11:49 a.m. lv.
Sat. Aug 1	8:30 p.m. ar. Pier
Sun. Aug 2	5:05 a.m. ar. Palgahawela [or Polgahawela]
Sun. Aug 2	5:45 a.m. lv. Palgahawela
Sun. Aug. 2	8:20 a.m. ar. Kandy
Sun. Aug. 2	2:02 p.m. lv. Kandy
Sun. Aug. 2	5:38 p.m. ar. Colombo

In the Madras Presidency we shall try to see some of the Am. Board work in one or two places, - the large College at Madura for one. You may be interested in the expenses of this trip. Dr. Pruden has worked it out thus:

	Rupees	Annas	rice[?]
Calcutta to Darjeeling and return	25	6	12
Calcutta to Delhi	20	0	6

Delhi to Madras	44	14	0
Madras to Madura	9	11	6
	6	0	0
	3	8	0
Madura to Kandy	9	14	0
	3	0	0
Kandy to Colombo	3	0	0
	122	3	24

$1.00 U.S. = 40 Rupees 122
 40
 $48.80 U.S. per person

To day the sea has been smooth and the air cool. It has been delightful. It seems months since we left Foochow. It was really only a month yesterday since we left Ing Tai. Why are some of us receiving so many of the good things of the world- while the multitudes are hungry and have such a meager capacity to enjoy even if they had the privilege to possess and to go? How can I use my rich experiences of these months to help people?

Saturday July 11-

Last nite 11-3 the seas felt the monsoon, but calmed down bout daylight. It is a fine clear morning. We are to enter the river Hooghly about dark to nite.

Pages 10-20 mailed at Calcutta July 12 to Stanley
 Pages 1-9 mailed at Manila to farm

Sunday July 12

We had been told the monsoon would blow hard Monday and the ship would rock. The ship steady – the weather cool- all was delightful. I wrote ahead to Sam Higgenbotham at Allahabod – to Elsie Simester Garden, Hydrabod [Hyderabad] to John and Miller and to a man at Madura and one in Ceylon.

We had b-fast at 8 a.m. docked at 8:30. We left with the Prudens at once and went to Lee Memorial, Wellington Square #13. Mrs. Lee lost 6 children, when a land slide took away the house in which they were staying at Darjeeling several years ago. She is now well into the 60's- has two sons. Mr. Lee is dead. She built this Lee Memorial in memory of her 6 children and now it is a girls school- with many girls rescued from the temples. We tried to attend the Carey Memorial Church Service, but were too late. We saw the church and met the pastor – an Englishman.

Then we went to the New Market and bought what we needed to travel with in India – 4 sheets, 1 blanket, - we had a steamer rug – 2 pillows – 4 pil. cases, 2 towels and a hold-all to carry them. For all we paid 15 rupees = $6.00. Then we went to Lee Mem'l for a lunch at 3 p.m. Then a rest. At 6 we left for the train – got a bite at the station. We tried travelling “Intermediate” ticket to Darjeeling return was 41R, 8 annas- 16 annas = 1R. On the train we had a bench with a cushion. We were early and spread out our beds. If the car had been crowded we would have had to sit up. It was hot and noisy. The Indians visit while they travel. None of [us] slept very well. We had to change cars at 7:30 for a narrow gage road to climb 7208 ft. We got b-fast at the station. We made fun of the “toy” engine. But when she got to work, she laughed at us. The engineering feats that it took to build that road are very interesting. 5 times we ran into the mountain, backed up quarter of a mile, on a side track, went ahead on another side track. #2 track raised us at least 20' from #1 = the track we came in on. Once we made 3 complete circles about 100' in diam and gained about 25' in elevation.

Monday July 13

The scenery was entrancing. This is the rainy season. But the sun came out and for 2 hours we had the most beautiful views of mountain sides covered with little white houses with roofs of corrugated iron painted red, tea bushes in rows growing everywhere, and all bespangled with clouds. It looked as if God seeing to beauty of the mountain sides with the little houses and the tea bushes took a big handful of white clouds and threw them so they fell helter-skelter all about. Then there were streams of water falling, splashing down over the rocks all along- streams from 1' to 10' wide. Deep gorges met our view at every turn. The scenery on this part of our way up was worth the whole trip. The last 1 ½ hours it rained and we were in the mist. It was tiresome for the little car trembled, looking so intently used up ?gy and the mist had nothing of interest for us. The temperature fell some 20 degrees and we put on more clothes. The distance from Calcutta was 388 mi. 50 of which was climbing.

At the Darjeeling station I asked the man in the restaurant if we could get lunch. "No we do not serve meals – only tea." I looked my thoughts – hungry and tired. He then said he served eggs and we could get Salmon or sausages in tin. So we ate. Then Dr. Pruden looked up Mr. Duncan a Scotch Presb'n missionary here we had heard took care of such as we. We found a warm reception. So here we are in the clouds. Mists everywhere. In the p.m. we just walked about the place a bit. We would have seen snow-capped Himilaya two weeks ago. We hope for a glimpse now. Mt. Everest is only 100+ miles away. We do not hope to see it, but another (just as good to us) = Kin chin Junga [Kanchenjunga], Pandur[?], Kabru and Jannu are also frequently visable from here.

Darjeeling was found and started as a kind of summer resort and tea plantation center some 80 years ago. It is now a bustling center for tourists and the tea trade. We saw tea fields on the way up for 25 miles, and how far back from the R.R. they extend I do not know. There are several large hotels here and many schools. Curio shops of Thibetan and cashmere wares abound. This morning =

Tuesday July 14

We visited Mr. Herman School = A Meth. for children of foreigners = about 175 British, Am., Norwegian, Swedish, 2 Thibetans- daughters of the (now) ruler of Thibet are students. The school has 83 acres – with the large building and many cottages. Other buildings are being erected. The hills on which the houses of Darjeeling are built are very steep. Trees are abundant. Houses are gray or white. Nearly all have corrugated iron roof painted red. 60 degrees is the average temperature. The R.R. stops here. Look at the map. Darjeeling is on a strip of land running up between Nepal and Bhutan, two absolutely independent provinces that allow no foreigners to enter and the penalty for leaving is the refusal to allow of reentering. We hope to see the mountains. Our room and board here is 3 R, 8A per day each.

Wednesday July 15

Today I went to the Imperial Bank of India and found I could get R25.70 for $10.00 U.S. Mother has all the $10 = travelers checks so I came back to the Duncans and she went with me. We sold $10.00. We were ushered in behind the counter and asked to sit down before the Indian Manager. Mother made out the check. It was taken away – bro't back – a form produced on which she had to write our Darjeeling address. This taken away and again brought for her signature, another wait and the Rupees were given. In Penang I stopped beside the road, signed the trav'rs check, gave it to the bank, took the money = Rupees and the business was over. After getting the money we visited one shop and looked at Tibetan embroidery. Mother was taken with a cashmere coat and a tea set, but did not buy. I think she will get the coat. In the afternoon after the mandatory 4 o'clock tea we rested – also mandatory (I do not seriously object to the mandatory factor in either) we took a short walk and attended Prayer meeting led by Mr. Duncan. About 17 present. I spoke briefly on China. Then Mr. Duncan took us for a walk to Observatory Hill. On the top of this was an altar used by Hindus and Buddhists. Some 10 or more poles 20 ft. high bore cloths or flags on which were written prayers, and on wires stretched all around the place- 50 ft. in diam- were stuck paper and cloth with prayers. I have seen pictures of this but never before the real thing.

We decided to day to stay another day here with the hope of seeing Kinchenjunga 28000'+ which is seen from Darjeeling – 2 weeks ago it was in good view. But since we have been here it is not in view. –Sent a cable to Elbert "Enjoying trip"

Thursday July 16 -1936

Last night was beautiful – star light- but Kinchenjunga kept in the clouds. After midnight rain fell and it has rained steadily and hard until noon. Mr. Duncan phoned to learn that the train from Calcutta was 20 min. late this a.m. and that there was a slip in one place on the road. This decided us to remain till tomorrow, – such is travelling in the Himalayas. We set by a fire to day. It cleared shortly after noon. After 4 o'clock tea we went out to find the clouds parting and Kinchenjunga peeping thru them. For an hour she revealed her snow capped tops and slopes. We have our reward for staying an extra 2 days. We got photos of three of the peaks and I snapped the Hindu-Buddhist Shrine with prayer flags on Observatory Hill. Mother and I then went to a shop to look at Kashmere coats. The Prudens came with us. Mother bo't 2 embroidered coats R14. This evening a Miss Scott and a Miss Henderson of the Scotch Presb'n Mission here for dinner, and Mrs. Hogg, wife of the Secretary to the Governor and Colonel Hold of the Black Watch Regiment famous for their brave assault on Ticonderoga, were here for lunch.

Friday July 17 –

Last nite we discussed calling an auto to go to Tiger Hill from where Mt. Everest can be seen in clear weather- but both Mother and I were opposed. We start on this trip at 2 a.m. I was awake at that time and it was raining hard. We have had all we can hope for more than we could reasonable expect of views on this trip,- The grand views on the way up Monday and that never-to-be-forgotten view of Kenchenjunga yesterday p.m. - a delightful home in which to stay with a thoughtful host and hostess. We definitely plan to leave for Calcutta and heat this p.m. at 3.

Mailed pp 21-26 to Mary to day.

Tuesday July 21 at Delhi

We left Darjeeling at 3 p.m. Friday July 17. The ride down in 3rd class was more comfortable than the ride up in 2nd. The car did not tremble as much. We shed wraps as we neared the plain. That nite the wives went into a compartment for women and we men were with 2 Indians- a fairly good nite.

Sat. July 18

We went straight to Lee Memorial, - got toast and tea. I am learning to drink the ever-offered tea. Then we all went to the Am. Express Co. and got a R.R. ticket to Benares, Allahabad, Delhi, Agra, Hydrbad, Madras, Madura, Kandy, Colombo, with stop overs as we please for R316-0-2 for 2= R158-0-1 each. We sold U.S. dollars for 262R=$100. I sold $150.00. Mother and I then went back to Lee Mem'l and lunched while the Prudens took train to Serampore to see Wm L. Carey Mem'l. Seminary. We went to see Victoria Memorial, Black Hole where 145 Britains were shut into a hole 18' X 27', with only 1 small hole for air [the year 1757]. 23 only came out alive and St. Johns Cathedral, where Bishop Heber presided. He wrote "From Greenland- Icy Mountains". Mother and I took lunch and dinner at Lee Memorial and in the p.m. tried to see the museum, but met people coming out just as it closed. We shopped till dinner. Immediately after dinner we went to the station and took train for Benares.

Sunday July 19

Arr'd Benares 8:15 a.m. took light b-fast in station- left all baggage with the station agent, took a guide- got into two lauries = 2-wheeled pony cars and went to the Ganges, - saw men and women in the most superstitious and degrading exercises. A boat- old, open with 4 men to push, pole, row took us up past crowds in front of temples in the water bathing, - sitting in the water, dipping it up in their hands and drinking it. They believe the water has medicinal powers that will heal. We saw a body being burned- half a cord of wood was piled under, around and over it. It was charred when we arrived. Hindus desire to die in Benares and be burned there. They attain Nirvana. There is no building opposite Benares. No one will live there lest he die there and will have to go thru 1000's of reincarnations. Others desire to be thrown into the river when they die. The superstitious reverence for the Ganges is almost beyond belief. Then we visited some of the temples one of the carvings of which are unmentionable, - others fitted with worshippers- all so filthy we all wanted a bath before we finished. We had a guide but a big fat Hindu began to direct us. "You must not walk there. You must not go here.", all along. When we had seen enough he turned to me and asked for a tip. I said "If you will come to my country, I will invite you to go with me into all our churches and worship our God with me anywhere. I come here. You tell me I must not step here or there. I can only walk in certain places. I do not care to give you money." He turned and left without a word.

On the way back to the station we stopped at a factory, if you can say factory for a place where all in hand work where tapestry was woven- beautiful, very skillful-intricate. At 3:31 p.m. we took the train for Allahabad- glad to leave behind Benares. I had both written and telegraphed Dr. Sam Higgenbotham of Allahabad we were coming and had his invitation. His daughter met us in a car built for the purpose, and took us four and all our baggage right out 2 miles to the Presb'n mission compound. Mother and I staid with Dr. and Mrs. Higgenbotham. The Prudens with another family. This is Monday July 20.

In the a.m. Mrs. H. showed us the Leper asylum in her care. Men, women and children, - families. We saw several with no fingers or toes, but the treatment given had arrested the disease and the people were able to care for themselves. There were couples, one of which was a leper, the other not who had lived happily together for years with no bad results. We saw 2 class of young men here learning "First aid to the injured" to go out into the rural districts to help people. Mrs. H. verily shocked the Prudens by picking up the babies and touching all kinds. She said she has done it for 30 years. The Prudens actually shuddered. Meals in India are to us shocking- At 6:30 a.m. toast and tea are brought to you in bed. You get no more till breakfast at 11:00. Then you go to bed until tea at 4, - dinner at 8 p.m. But I was napped and ready at 1:50 p.m. to address 130 AG. Students on China. Then we looked over the Colleges and went to tea with a Mr. and Mrs. Rice. We saw in the a.m. also the farm which is Dr. H's special hobby- about 600 acres of land- 450 head of cattle- cows and working oxen and young stock. He grows a kind of napier grass wh. he cuts 6 times a year and which yields 9 or 10 tons to the acre. His silos are 20' in diam. and 30 ft. deep. He has one stable of native cows that produce from 3000-4000 lbs. of milk in 12 mos. Opposite them are their daughters sired by Jersey and Holstein and Alde? Bulls that are producing 6000, 7000, 8000 and 9000 lbs of milk a yr. And the farmers are using the grade bulls all thru the surrounding country. As we pass farmers near the R.R. They are using the oxen attached to the same kind of plow that Abraham used, - all of wood with a very small metal point one handle. The end of the beam is tied to the yoke. It goes into the ground about 3". In his blacksmith shop Dr. H. has a master blacksmith with students as workmen who is turning out plows all of iron for about $1.00 U.S. and the people are buying them. I found in Calcutta, Delhi, Agra, business men know Sam Higgenbotham. I enjoyed and profited by the day spent there.

We left at 7 p.m. for Delhi and were fortunate in getting a compartment all to ourselves and woke up to find us nearing Delhi.

Tuesday July 21.

We had no address to go to in Delhi, so decided on an Indian Hotel for 4 Rupees each per day. The ladies did not naturally take to it. But it was either this or pay 8 rupees. We got along and came away feeling that it might have been worse. Delhi is the capitol city of India. The Government is here. The parliament building is grand. It is composed of circles. The Senate chambers are circular. A very enthusiastic Hindu showed us thru. The upper most of the 3 chambers of Parliament has now 45 members. Some elected- some appointed. Next year Britain is to allow this number to be increased to 260+. The other chambers will also have great increases. This man was very pronounced in his antagonism to British rule. "We have no independence. The British Viceroy can veto my bill passed by Parliament. Parliament passed a bill 4 times a few years ago and the Viceroy vetoed it every time." As I said good bye to him he said, "Come again in 50 yrs. and we will be independent."

Then we went to the site of Old Delhi. There have been 7 Delhis. The parliament buildings are in what is called New Delhi. In Old Delhi the monument is an old high tower of red sandstone - this is the material of most of the old buildings in this part of India. This tower is 275' high. We did not climb it. The carvings on it and in the surrounding walks and arches were interesting and beautiful. We were guided to the "Jumping Well" = a well with stone arches above, so the men climbed 80' above and jumped down thru a hole about 8' sq. - 4 men jumped for our edification and then demanded a rupee each. We gave them 4 annas. We were in Delhi Tues. and Wed. till noon.

Wed. July 22 noon to 6 pm on train. Delhi to Agra. Thurs. July 23

Here we tried two missionary homes. The Benders are with Eng. Baptist Reynolds. We are in Empress Hotel. O.K. 5R per day. The one thing to see here is the Taj Mahal- built by Shah Jahan in memory of his second wife who was his most beloved wife= Mum taj-i-mahal. Married at 21 she died after the birth of her 14th child at the age of 39. There are many stories about the architect of this Taj. I shall not describe it. Words cannot. We have been twice to see it and are going again this p.m. and Friday July 24.

Yesterday we saw the fort of red sand stone with beautiful carvings and much inlayed work- all jewels and precious metals were taken away by the Indians at the time of the month[?] 1857. Lord Curzon has in several places restored small areas to show what it looked like. These old palaces impress me. 1. As massive very large in area. 2. Sumptuous, lavishly furnished. You can believe all the Bible says about Solomon's grandeur. Every one of the palaces has gorgeous apartments for the women of the Monarch = harem. Just before noon we drove to the Taj and took a view from the entrance. In the evening we went again and went about it and thru it. But I like best to sit awhile some distance 500 ft. and let it impress me. For 300 yrs. it has stood unchanged speaking to 9 generations of people from all countries. As a building the proportions are perfect. The material is white marble. Its base is about 275 ft. sq. It looks as if the builders finished it only yesterday. It is spotlessly clean. No bats- no birds defile it. The rain, sun, wind has not effected it in the least. The steps are not worn. I like best to just sit and commune with the Taj.

Friday July 24

Yesterday we went 33 miles to the Deserted City. A magnificent old palace of red sand stone. Think of the millions of money taken from the poor people to build this palace. After a few years the water supply gave out and the palace was deserted. It is still deserted. The horse stables here stabled 250 horses. The ruler had 1200 horses. We left Agra on 10:19 p.m. train.

Sat. July 25

On train all day. At 1 p.m. we were 3000' up - it was very cool.

Sunday July 26

Arr'd Hydrabod - Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Garden, Elsie Simester, Mrs. Nicholas, Edith Simester - at 7 a.m. chota[?] then to church service in Telagu - breakfast - rest, drive about the city. Hydrabod is an Indian province - but the British Viceroy has veto power. Hydrabod is a backward province because the ruler has been conservative.

A few years ago he visited other provinces. The improvements he saw convinced him. He and his province were back numbers. He called his men together and told them to widen the streets and make it a modern place in a few months. Everywhere you see improvements done or going on. Eve'g attended English service. 6 services are held in the Meth. ch. here each Sunday in 4 different languages. Mother visited the zoo and shops in a.m. I wrote and packed. In p.m. we drove out to a native village 13 mi. and went into several homes- each 2 rooms earth floors, no windows- no furniture- a few cooking vessels of metal- stove = on the ground in a corner of the kitchen so dark. We had to stand several minutes to let your eyes form so we could see. Not a chair or stool or table- the mother had a simple bed. We took picnic lunch in a beautiful (new) public park. Took the 7:13 p.m. train for Madras. Saw schools- very simple furniture- no beds or chairs.

Tues. July 28

Changed cars at Bezwoda for Madras. Car full. Prudens came on board 1:17 p.m. It was very cool all the time at Hy'd and on way to Madras. Went to Baptist Guest House. Arr'd 5:15 p.m. found Rev. S.D. Bowden Bapt. Eng. delightful- he and his wife 68.- He drove us to fort and church – to Girls College. 17 denominations. Miss Coon, Teachers Training Institute. Miss Lawson, daughter of Lawson's Pasumadar- Miss Ferguson has a girls sch. in crowded part of Madras, - not Christian girls.

July 29 Wed. at Madras as above.

Got camera repaired 9R, 8 annas. Board 5R 4A. Madras is a bustling city. The schools mentioned above very modern and efficient- with floors for new buildings and enlargement.

Thurs. July 30 Madura arr'd 7:57

Mr. Lawson [this may be Ellen's cousin, Harvey Lawson, referred to in letter dated May 2, 1897] met us. After toast and tea looked at schools. Boys here are learning to work in wood, iron, printing, - large grounds, large homes- needed to live in the heat. We sleep in a covered-in roof garden, delightful, use a blanket at night. Mrs. Lawson drove up into Madras 3 miles to see a disgusting temple – most used of all in India. The Dr. Van Allen Hospital in Madura is a big institution and is enlarging. We saw an old palace refitted in Madura to house the offices and court. Very large pillars with unique decorations. Thurs. eve'g attended Madura prayermeeting led by pastor George, Indian, Mr. and Mrs. Bonniger and Mr. and Mrs. Loibeer. At dinner Friday we telegraphed Dr. Curr of Jaffna. We could not visit Jaffna and got money from Mr. Wallard 70 yrs. for my check on Birmingham Nat'l Bank. 2:02[?] p.m. went 13 miles out to see very interesting center 96 girls- 121 boys in a model vocational school. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley, now on furlough in Guilford, Conn. were in charge. Now an Indian pastor Rev. Thomas is in charge with Rev. Charles his able wife and a young man-resident, unmarried principal. The boys and girls live in several small cottages. They do their own cooking and work and the farm work. They raise grain enough for 2 months food. Keep a yoke of oxen and goats and chickens. They gave us a royal reception threw garlands of flowers about our necks- met in assembly, gave songs and welcome addresses and the girls put on out door songs and games. This is the right kind of work the British gov't pays the expenses of 114 of these boys and girls. Most of them are of what is called criminal classes. They are specially bright and active and happy. 40 women met with us of the merchants class. This is a unique movement- one woman, the leader had to be a secret Christian- her husband opposed her attending meetings. But met with a few others whom she gathers- just for prayer. Her husband has ceased his opposition. This work among these women has sprung up and is going on almost spontaneously with only a little help from church leaders. We stopped at an Indian village and looked again at the simple earth floor, windowless, furnitureless homes.

Saturday a.m. Aug. 1

Saw farm = stables and fruit trees and took 10:47 train for Ceylon. Rode most of the day thru desert, turned to hilly country and rice lands in latter p.m. Reached straights just at dark, crossed water and boarded train for Kandy, Ceylon. P'd 1R duty on 7R's worth we declared. 1R, each for sleeper. They were going to put Mother into a compartment with an Eng. woman and her 5 dogs and two servants. I was not very polite. The guard finally gave Mother a compartment alone, saying another woman would come. I was with 4 Indians. At the next station Mother put her head out the window and called to me. "The guard says you may come with me if no one gets on at the next station. " No one got on. I changed and we had it to ourselves all night. In the morning we changed trains and rode up to Kandy. As we went thru the gate a taxi driver met us (Sunday Aug. 2) with a note from Dr. Pruden to come to the nice ?? place they had found. We met the Prudens going to church. Found a beautiful villa on the hill side. Genial Mrs. Jago and a nice cool room. Kandy is 1700' up and delightful. The Prudens left at 2:05 p.m. We went for a drive about Kandy, saw all kinds of spice trees- allspice, nutmegs, pepper trees, chocolate, cloves, bread fruit, cinnamon. This is not the largest but one of the most beautiful gardens we have seen. In the morning Mother mounted on elephant and [I] snapped her. Dr. Pruden snapped me in the same position. In the p.m. we saw 6 elephants bathing and later dancing. Attended ?? 5:30 p.m.

Willard on an elephant in India in 1936 on their way back from China via Canton, Manila, Philippine Islands, India, over the Himalayan Mountains, Egypt (the Pyramids), Jerusalem, Italy, Switzerland, Paris, France, and London. [Information from The Evening Sentinel, Wednesday, December 30, 1936, in the collection of Virginia Van Andel. Photos from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Ellen in India 1936. She is the one with the black choker necklace under the umbrella.
[Photo from a slide in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Monday Aug. 3

We're off for Colombo at 7:15 a.m. and 10:45 went to Y.W. Found comfortable room 5Rs. Phoned Mrs. Reeves. She sent her car for us at 5, drove us to Mt. Louinsa[?] Hotel and Beach. We took dinner with her and Cyril and Jack- she drove us to the Y.W. – a very pleasant evening.

Tuesday Aug. 4

We got ready to go to "Potsdam" and left at 10:00 and to find that she sailed at 7 p.m. instead of 3:00. The Prudens went on board. We ordered a pr. of pants for me @ 12R's to be finished at 3 p.m. then got lunch, took a walk thru the Indian shops. A guide attached himself to us and stuck. Mother labored with him to leave. He stuck. We found ourselves in an Indian silk shop with the owner a glib Eng. speaking high powered salesman. I found 2 silk short sleeve shirts for 3 R's. Mother found something – 3 rings for 10R's. He took my private check for $4.00 as pay. He found an auto to drive us to the Museum, zoo and other public buildings. We went to the Potsdam at 4 p.m. We are at table with a refined Eng. girl well in her 20's from a tea estate 15 mi. from Kandy. The monsoon is strong wh. makes it cool but a bit rough. At Colombo we had a good mail from Foochow and from home and were delighted to know that Jerry and Monnie were booked on the "Bremen" with us Sept 15, [According to Ancestry.com, the ship's list for the Carinthia shows Marjorie and Geraldine taking passage on October 2, 1936 from Liverpool and arriving in New York on October 12, 1936. According to Nancy Butte, Geraldine and Marjorie were on a bicycle trip in Europe. For some reason they did not come back on the same ship as Willard and Ellen.] Now, - can we get to go to Palestine? We will do what is best. God has thus far given us all we could desire. He will guide us the rest of the way.

Thurs. Aug. 13

From Aug 4- Aug 12 at 12:30 a.m. we were on the "Potsdam". There we found old friends and made new ones and of course had a delightful 8 days- really only 7 for we got on about 5 p.m. and got off about 3 a.m. The monsoon only made the sea a bit choppy for 2 days. One afternoon Mother and I were repacking in the stateroom and we had to wag our heads from feeling upset. This was all the inconveniences we experienced. The heat was so tempered by the breeze that we didn't feel it.

Our experiences landing at Suez were- interesting [expenses listed here]

Now to return to landing at Suez Aug. 12. (1) We went to smoking room with passport. The stamping cost me 3 shillings. I had Eng money only. It was 2 a.m. There was no money changer. At last a man was found who changed British money for me= Egyptian. For nearly an hour business was blocked for want of Egyptian money. No one among the passengers was able to understand. It looked much like a put-up job. Passengers were charged different rates. The Purser advertised a single rate from the steamer in the sea at Suez to the steamer the next day at Port Said for about $35.00 U.S. Many accepted and Cooks directed. Those who paid this sum were rushed thru ahead of everyone else with no trouble and no questions. We two only disembarked at Suez and we got off next easier. But there were about a doz. who wanted to go independently and thought they could save about $10 or $15 on the whole thing. I judge they did of course. The Cook's agent and the S.S. Co. did not greatly put themselves out to help these. We got our baggage off the steamer on the launch. We told that was Cook's. The fare ashore was 50 cents. The company's launch would be along side presently. On this each of us paid $1.25 !! From this we were shot to the immigration officer at Suez to be charged 3 shillings 6 d. each for his stamp. We found a brand new Buick car and agreed with the owner to take 6 of us and our baggage to Cairo 90 miles. Then to the pyramids, museum, mosque and bazaar for L4-10sh. Mother and I got a nice room at the Hotel Pension, Anglo Suisse for $2.00 each for day. The other fam. took b-fast and lunch there.

The drive across the desert was worth while. The Egyptian gov't and is making a No. 1 hard road- it is nearly completed. We saw the moon set and the sun rise. He came up just as we were at the half way house with Cook's sign. We had a cup of coffee here for which the Egyptians wanted a shilling. We finally paid him 3 sh. for 5 cups.

After breakfast we drove to the pyramids and sphinx. We engaged a "guide" to take us all about for 50 cents, 6 camels @ 50 cents each and tickets to go into the temple of the sphinx for 25 cents each and p'd a young fellow 75 cents to go up the largest pyramid and down in 8 min. 480' up. He did it in 7 ½ min. easily. The others went into their pyramid to see the tomb. Mother and [I] let them go. From here we went to the museum. It is marvellous- the amount of relics that have been collected from excavations. Tutankamens tomb= beautiful things too- jewel boxes, chairs, bed steads. His coffin was there with 7 cases. The coffin was of gold, its case was of stone layer and when we got to the 7th it was broad[?] and a small house. His chariots were there. I'll not now tell more. In the p.m. we saw the citadel = an old Mosque. This is being repaired. Then we visited a shop- of all kinds of things that tourists buy- went back to Pension Anglo-Suisse, said good buy to the Prudens with whom we had companied from July 6- Aug. 4.

Thurs. Aug. 13

After b-fast mother and I went to the pyramids on our own. We got the train O.K. but one of the omnipresent omniscient "guides" spotted us and clung. He finally offered his absolutely indispensable services – not to show us about for we convinced him we knew the way about and did not [need to] be bothered with a "guide". That word "bothered" was our down fall. The guides and others will bother you all the time. I will go along to protect you "for 25 cents". "Will you promise to keep still and not bother us?" "Yes." He did very well. We wanted a photo of each of us on a camel. I forgot [to] take my camera Wed. Well we went about at our leisure and took pictures for an hour and had a good time. This was Thurs. Wed. I telegraphed a Mr. Beaumont in Jerusalem to ask if we could stay with him a few days. I did this more to know his attitude toward our visiting Jerusalem than to find a place to stay. His reply was "Welcome Beaumont will meet you." This decided us and we bo't our tickets thru to Jerusalem of the Am. Express. We got away from the Hotel and on the train with a relatively small amount of bother fr. every one who chanced to touch a sent case or tell you which train to take. "Guides" in Cairo are worse than mosquitos on the beard for you can at least swat a mosquito and kill him. You cannot do this to a "guide".

We got some sleep Fri. night on the train. It was well fitted with British soldiers. Mother found a compartment with a young Jewess and they were quiet all night. Two British Tammies and I had a compartment. I got a good sleep. We found in Cairo delicious plums, pears, apples, mangoes and grapes. These we ate for supper and b-fast with Postum which we carry with us and for 10 cents we buy graham crackers and we are fed. Mr. Beaumont had an Arab guide = a Christian to meet us and here we are in Jerusalem. Sat. Aug. 14 at 9 a.m.

I am writing in harbor of Alexandria 9 a.m. Aug. 21 – '36. We have – just here I had to go ashore for a drive to see the Museum. – 3 hrs. for 3.50 U.S. and 1.50 for the guide 1 Eng L. Aug. 15 p.m. Sat. We saw the ch. of the Holy Sepulchur, - saw old men and women, young men and women, boys and girls come in, kiss the stone that covers the Holy Sepulchur and go on to pray and worship- each in turn in its own place and two and manner. There is intense jealousy among the sects- five. Blood has been shed because one sect mopped one more stair than the rule allowed and because one sect swept 1 inch over its line. Everywhere are priests who must go thru their own form of worship twice every day. This is true of every church we visited- in varying degree. This ch. of the Holy Sepulchur is the largest church in Palestine. Jesus is believed by the worshippers, to have been buried on this spot. The mosaics- the chandeliers, the panels, the paintings are of the most costly- they are many of them underground, and a beggar monk is over each with candles to light and give you, and with an outstretched hand for a tip. Beggars are everywhere- at every turn.

Next we went to Roman Cath. Girls School underground . Here we saw what it is easy to believe were the stones that paved the road in Jesus' time. Some of them had markings on them for playing games- a kind of Checkers. Some were chisled to prevent slipping. We could see the cistern for water beneath and the watering trough for the horses.

We were shown the via Dolorosa = the road Jesus walked with the cross – very doubtful- we saw the Jaffa Gate.

Sun. Aug. 16

We attended church at a Scotch church with Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont in a.m. In p.m. we climbed Mt. Zion and climbed a tower fr. wh. we could see all of Jerusalem and much country about. We got a glimpse of the Pool of Silvan fr. the wall, and of the Kidron Valley, - looked over on the Mt. of Olives and Garden of Gethsemane- saw what most experts say was the foundation of an arch in Solomon's temple. The name of the man who found it is Robinson. It surprised me that Mother and I were able to walk, and climb for 3 hrs. - scarcely sitting down once with so little fatigue. We climbed towers and we went down steps into dark damp callers.

Monday Aug. 17

We visited in a.m. a Catholic Convent presided over by an old lady 80+ who explained for about 45 min. standing all the while, the three temples- Solomons, her father Rio _____ had put much labor in studying the forms and changes that the builders in Solomons time, and the changes made by the Moslems and Crusaders and Hadrian had made. These were made to scale 1' -18 and 1' to 200'. We have all these changes in a pamphlet she sold.

In the p.m. Mon. we rode to Bethlehem on donkeys and saw the church of the Nativity- If one could only go to Betheny and feel that in this place somewhere Jesus was born about 1932 years ago, it would be much more conducive to the spirit of worship. The big church with its immense pillars and bare floor serves as a meeting place for pilgrims once a yr or oftener, and back of one church, priests burn candles and chant prayers twice a day- 2 sects are here, mentally fighting continually- antagonistic. Kindness, love, goodwill are strangers to them. The guide pointed to the stable where he was born, and the manger where Mary laid him. "Several shops opened doors to sell brass, wood, silk dresses etc. We bo't a dress and Kimona and a child's dress.

Tues. Aug 18. a.m.

We saw Pool of Bethesda and St. Anna ch. by the side. These pools or springs, one may believe have not changed so much since Biblical times. This one is very deep. We went down perhaps 40' then we went to the Mosque- Mohamedan= I should have said before that since April 19 practically all Jew and Arab shops in Jerusalem have been closed and locked. There is no business. The guide took us into one or two- the door was opened and closed as soon as we were inside. We were told that the proprietor once had 100 workmen- all of whom were dependent on him for food. Times are bad. Every morning the papers told of shootings of Jews by Arabs. I cannot amplify on this. We will talk it over when we get home.

Then we saw Solomon's quarries and stables- not hard to believe are real.

Tues. p.m. We rode donkeys to Mt. of Olives, Garden of Gethsemane and Russian Convent and Tower. I would like to be able to go to the Garden of Gethsemane alone and sit and commune. The olive trees are very old. The place is retired. The church has an inviting air. The garden is full of flowers. The priest was from Washington D.C. and not a beggar. But all said it was not safe. At 7 p.m. curfew was really enforced, so we sat for a few minutes only and meditated and looked over across the Kidron to the city of Jerusalem. It was in some place near here that Jesus looked over and wept for Jerusalem. The sisters at the Russian Convent a short distance [from] this garden were at prayers. One of them admitted us to a tower 100' high. We climbed the spiral stair case inside until we could see the Dead Sea.

Wed. Aug. 19

Up at 5- off at 6 a.m. for Betheny- on the way we skirted the city and on the East side went down to the Roal[?] or spring of Siloom[?]. Saw women with standard oil tins of water from this spring taking it home for household use. To look down on this spring from the wall of Jerusalem is one thing. To go down it and climb it is quite another. The path is steep, stony, dusty. The little donkeys worked hard to carry us down and up. Once up we took the modern hard road which Britain has made all over Palestine and rode out to Bethany. Jesus went from Jerusalem each nite during the last week, to Bethany to spend the nite with Mary and Martha and Lazerus. I think we went the same road part of the way. We most certainly did not go the same role part of the way.

We could not go to the Dead Sea, Sea of Galilee, Nazareth, Hebron, Bethel. We did about all it was possible to do with conditions as they are. One day we saw the "wailing wall"- but only Mother was there. We certainly put in full time. The Beaumont House is a perfect place in which to stay. We slept under a blanket each nite- not a mosquito. At 12:40 p.m. Wed. we were off for Haifa- with tickets thru to London. Sold by Am. Express and 1000 Lire Italian money. It was expensive= seeing Jerusalem- about $43.00 U.S. for guide and tips. It cost about $6.00 to see the big mosque. I will not try to describe the carpets. The mosaics, the gold and silver plaques, costly windows, inlays etc. The rock is in a circle perhaps 50' in diam. surrounded by a circular court 30' wide all carpeted with Persian rugs, changed 3 times a year the worship hall is immense, 200' by 100' marble floor, immense pillars. In Jerusalem I went to get an extension to our passport. The agent told me to pay L2 then or when we left – all the same. We said when we left. The charge was F3 1sh, - Palestine is an expensive place to get into and out of. The board was only $2.50 U.S. per day each.

[From an article in The Evening Sentinel, December 30, 1936, in speaking to the Kiwanis Club, Willard talks about trouble in Jerusalem while he and Ellen were there en route back to the U.S. "Dr. Beard said they arrived in that city and heard about the shooting of two nurses by the Arabs. These nurses he said had been administering first aid to wounded Arabs and upon their departure they shot them down in cold blood. In his travels through all of these countries Dr. Beard said he observed vast changes being made." Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Fortunately Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont had friends in Haifa who kept a boarding place and they phoned and engaged a room. The son of Alvin Yantiss met us and we found a quiet, clean well ordered house and Americans at the head.

Thursday a.m. we took a bus to the top of the hill behind Haifa- to Mt. Carmel. The site of Haifa resembles the site of Hong Kong. At 1 p.m. we went on board the "Marco Polo" Lloyd Trieste Co. Italian tourist class. We are trying to be comfortable. This ship is out for cargo- passengers are a 2nd consideration. After the "Sharnhorst" and the "Potsdam" this is – different. She is full- four in a cabin. We are in separate cabins. We leave Alexandria, - i.e. to here. We should be in Bimise[?] Monday Aug. 21 at 11 a.m.

I am writing in the R.R. station at Bologna. Why? We planned to take the 12:55 from Florence – missed it. Took the 2:45 p.m. to learn that it was an extra fare train- paid 1L, 60C. Extra fare to Bologna- now waiting till 5:50 to go on- may go thru Geneva. Now to resume travelog.

At Alexandria we paid 1 Eng. L for taxi and guide about the city- to the Museum and Catacombs- nothing special about the museum- full of statues dug from buried cities. Pompey's pillar- a one stone shaft 75' + feet high and 5' in diam. was a sight. We had not seen the catacombs in Rome so these were a good introduction to Catacombs. This was Sat. Aug. 21. Sunday Aug. 23 was a quiet day on board with good music by the brass band from a Boy Scout troop of 150 Italian youth studying Egypt. A strong breeze made for a cool day.

Monday at 11:30 were docked at Brindisi I had only a little Italian cash – not enough to pay porter to put baggage on the train so had to get it from in front of station to train myself. It started the perspiration well, but it was cool on the train and I was soon dry. At midnite we were in Naples- went to Roma hotel, so near that the porter carried our baggage to the hotel. We got a very good room for 20 lire 80 centenos a day- no food. At the Am. Express we found a room for 20L a day each including food. We moved. This pensione was near the Am. Exp. which was very desirable- but we do not talk about the food. The two full days cost us 80L= $4.80 which was cheap.

Tues. Aug. 25 a.m.

Did necessary business at Am. Exp. In p.m. we got a guide, saw a large cathedral with many private chaples, given by individuals. Then to the museum.

Wed. was a great day. A.m. saw Pompeii [Pompeii was first unearthed in 1748]. It is not all excavated yet. But it must have been a beautiful city. In earliest times the people put their decorations into the floors. We saw beautiful floors in several of the ruined houses. Later they decorated the walls and still later they used fantastic wall decorations. We saw one house of a weather man restored. The floors were beautiful mosaic. In the center was a large open garden. All about this garden were the reception, dining, bed rooms- beautifully decorated. Baths were an important part of the house. The streets were all paved with what we call flag stones. We could see the ruts in these stones made by the carts. There were narrow, 3' wide, side walks 2' above the street and at the intersections were placed stepping stones so as not to have to step down and up again. The wheels could go each side of these stones. We saw the ruins of the amphitheater. In the museum we saw the water jars, little oil lamps, cooking utensils, mummies, jewelry, etc. that had been dug out of the ruined city. They are still digging. While at lunch we saw little cars dumping ashes from the digging.

In the p.m. Mother, not caring to go up the steep ascent to Vesuvius, went to Herculanaeum and saw excavating in operation. I went to see fire and brimstone belched from the stomach of the earth. The first part of the ascent was a grade of 10% an ordinary trolley. Then a grade of 25%, a little "pusher" was put on. Between the tracks was a cog rail, which the "pusher" used. Then came a grade of 55% and for this a cable was used. The seats were so arranged that we sat normally. There was no vegetation on this part of the mt. The last ¼ of a mile we walked around to the volcano. When we came to the "sea of lava" each had to pay a lire to a local guide. These men told us where to walk. A few of us walked so close that the sulphur fumes, continuously pouring from the main crater as well as from three or four smaller holes in the side of the mountain, that we nearly choked. These fumes are always pouring out. At intervals of perhaps 8 or 10 min. a rumbling noise like heavy blasting is heard and from the main crater as well as the smaller holes dense black and yellow fumes pour forth. I saw stones fall after one blast. I picked up some lava covered with sulphur- while it was hot. Steam is pouring out of many crevices over which I walked. One hole 10' in diam was so hot that paper thrown in at once took fire and burned. It was awe-inspiring to stand so near an active volcano, and realize that two cities Pompeii and Herculanaeum were buried 10 to 20 feet by one of the eruptions from this beast. We spent half a day independently with a private guide seeing Cathedrals and museums and Naples. I am fed up on Cathedrals and museums.

Aug. 27- Mon.

We left Naples for Rome at 7:40 arr'd 10:40. Here we went to Hotel Roma. We are travelling on tickets bo't in Jerusalem at 1/3 discount, but we had to go to the Exposition and have them stamped. This compels everyone who travels in this way to attend the Exposition and pay 3 lire for the stamp which includes the Exposition. This was purely an exhibition of the growth of Catholicism in each country of the world and in various lines such as Catholic news papers, Cath. Schools, students, books, ch. member etc. When we came to China, the first Chinese that we saw was a mimeograph cope[?]- bottom side up. It was much such a thing in schools and other institutions put on for the 75th or 80th anniversary. For instance, the growth of the church 1825-1935 is shown by a lot of human figures, each larger than the last.

Aug. 28 Fri.

We took Am. Exp. bus with 28 others to the Vatican and walked most of the 2 ½ mi. of corridors, thru lines of statues and mural paintings and other paintings by Raphael, Michael Angelo, and others. The statue of Moses the guide told us was the best piece of work by the author. When he had finished it, he spoke to Moses, no reply. The sculptor struck the right knee and the guide pointed to the mark made by the trowel. On the beard, under the mouth is ingeniously cut in the face of the sculptors lady love. In the Vatican the Sistine Chapel is the place every one wants to see. As you sit facing the front, the whole wall is painted with the author's idea of the Last Judgment. The Pope viewed the picture and pronounced it better suited to a bath room than to a chapel, upon which the painter, put the Pope in the lower right corner bound. Upon which the Pope excommunicated him and had his likeness put in the lower left side- so they were even. It seemed that every available sq. in. of space was painted ceiling and all. Statuary abounds. A new building already nearly full of statues and paintings and mosaics and relics. We looked down on the Popes garden. We spent the half day here. In the p.m. we drove by the Colliseum- over part of the Appian Way which was built by the Romans, from Rome to Naples to Brindise. We descended to the Catacombs and plenty of bones that generations of tourists have left- or do they keep a supply on hand to replenish. It was hard to suppress a smile at the attempts of the priest who guided us thru here to manipulate the English. When he got us over depth he could always fall back on St. Peter and St Paul. He had mastered these two names. His talk was a little too much for some of the younger members of the party. The Vatican is an immense building- better, series of buildings.

Sat. Aug. 29-

Off for Florence at 8:15 arr'd 11:55. The train was crowded as was the train fr. Naples to Rome. At Florence we went to Pension Melignano. 25 lire a day for each with food. Here I got the last 100 lire on the 1000l I bought in Jerusalem. We walked about, saw Duomo Cathedral with nearby Baptstry and witnessed the christening of a baby while there. The priest took up handfuls of water and put on his little head and then covered it with a white cloth. The baby did not peep.

Sunday Aug. 30

We attended service in the Church of Eng. church with 16 others- were not noticed- much less spoken to. We had planned to visit the Art Gallery in the p.m. but it was closed. So went to Michael Angelo Garden- went by trolley. This proved to be a cemetery but money has been and is being spent lavishly. It is high and we got a good view of Florence and of the Arno [river]. We had planned to leave early Mon. but decided to stay to see the Art Gallery here, - said to be the finest in the world. We shall not dispute any one who pronounces it the best. We tried to leave on the 12:55 p.m. train but the porter took our baggage to the wrong place and the train got away from us. We waited for the 2:15, got in, but when the conductor took the tickets he said that was an extra fare train. So I said we will go only to Bologna. Extra charge of 10 lire 20 centinos,- I had left of the 1000 lire only 10 lire 60 centinos- not enough to pay the extra to Milan. We planned to stop at Milan. I had $2.00 U.S. money in my purse and hoped this would pay for a bed one nite. The hotel recommended was only 5 min from the station. 2 porters carried our bags over. The clerk spoke good English, pointed to his register that showed one room vacant with bath for 55 lire for one nite. With extras this would mean $4.00 U.S. We said "No Thank You" asked if he could phone for something cheaper he said 50 lire would be the cheapest he could hope for- he would be ashamed to ask for a room for less. We hurried back to the station and waited for the 12:15 a.m. train to Geneva. I was glad to even think of getting out of Italy. It was refreshing to hear the kindly voice of a Swiss officer ask for our passport. The very air seemed different, a change of cars at Lusanne put us on the home stretch for Geneva. The mountains were beautiful. The farm and gardens spoke a welcome. The water of the lake looked clean and inviting. We had "done" Italy and said good bye to it. Only one of the several Americans we have met during the week had any good words to say of Italy.

We reached Geneva Tues a.m. at 7:00. The Pension we planned to stay at was full, but the Proprietress pointed to another across the street.

The Swiss towns are full of Hotels and Pension. A genial man of 50+ met me. When I asked his price for room or room and board he said, "Come and see the room first, - a nice room on 3rd floor- twin beds, running water. 14 Swiss francs a day for us two, - a Swiss franc = 33 1/3 cents U.S. = 3 SF for $1.00. I accepted at once and went back after Mother and the baggage. I should have added that the head of the Pension Meligman in Florence put up a lunch for us and as far as we could make out made no extra charge. It did not trouble my conscience for there was a charge of 20% for "service". Ever since Cairo we have not been troubled with tips a charge of from 5% to 20% is added to our bill and we are not expected to tip. Then there was a tax of 3.20 and a stamp bill of 1.00 and I was charged 4 lire for 4 eggs for b-fast. But we got two meals out of the lunch she gave us.

We spent in Geneva Sept. 1, 2, 3, and left at 11:15 the 4th. Switzerland is the land of all lands for happy world-wide conferences. She is small- ideal climate in Geneva. No ambition to enlarge territory- no ground to be jealous or to envy another nation- no sea coast- no navy- not much army and lives much off those who come from all lands to be her guests- to enjoy her marvelous scenery. Geneva is a beautiful city. Each morning we looked out of our window on the snow covered side of the peak of Mt. Blanc. Little parks with very beautiful flowers and shade trees- all trimmed to symmetry abound. The tables and chairs of hotels and restaurants are often on the side walk or in a little garden- very inviting. The lake affords bathing and boating and on both sides extends a [words off the page] - trimmed-to-symetry shade trees.

One a.m. we attended a session of the World Youth Movement- a Prof. Martin, spoke on the relation of economics to Peace, - clear, concise- convincing. Until there is more free trade among nations there is not much hope of peace. One afternoon we went thru the new League Building. One a.m. we looked about the old part of Geneva- went into the room where the 1st International Arbitration Conf. was held. The Arbitration Treaty between our own North and South was signed in this room. The Rhone river takes the water from the lake and carries it down to the Meditteranean. Polite officials- pleasing climate, beautiful scenery, a genial host and hostess made us say, "We would like to come again." Mr. Reiss wrote for letters of introduction to places in Interlaken, Lucern and Berrn with times of trains to and from each and put up a lunch that beat any lunch we ever saw. Between 2 large slices of bread he put beef, tomatoes, ham and celery and butter.

We left Geneva at 11:15 and arrived at Interlaken at 4 p.m. to find a porter from Hotel or Pension Krone at the station. Interlaken is quite different from Geneva- 60 hotels here. Here is where everybody comes for the pleasure of it and to see the Alps. An all day trip takes you to a glacier and to the Yung frau. We went yesterday p.m. to Schynige Platte 6500' where [we] looked across a valley at the bottom of which we saw a stream fed by the snows of the Yung frau, Molench [Monch?] Eiger, Finsteraarhorn and Schreckhorn. It was cold up there. But the scenery on the way up and down as well as while there was in a class by itself for us. An electric cog rail way took us up. Mother forgot all about any danger before she was half way up.

To day is Sunday Sept. 6- We should spend next Sunday the 13th in London. We plan to leave here tomorrow at 9:13 a.m., reach Lucern at 12:00+. We may stay there only 1 day so as to have more time to visit Holland and more time in London. The shops here are temptingly full of all sorts of useless and useful things to buy= trinkets of ivory and wood, beads, embroideries. Mother can hardly leave the windows to go see the sights. Snow clad mountains are in view all the time. We wish for warmer clothes. The beautiful green brook rushes by right in front of our hotel. All sorts of people are here- working men- rich people- Brides and grooms- whole families- young and old. You can wear anything and be in style. I left my pith hat in Naples. I am wearing a straw hat. Good nite. Sept. 6- yesterday Sept 5. 1936-1894= 42 [Willard and Ellen's anniversary]

Sept 13- Sunday in London

How time flies!! We tried in vain in Interlaken to find a church in which there was a service, so we went into a Rom. Catholic church and meditated for a time. In the afternoon we took a long walk thru Regan Park- the only place to go in Interlaken- many go for mountain climbing here, but one wants shoes and a stick and a knapsack to get pleasure out of this. The trees in this park were very tall and straight and thick for firewood and housebuilding. The houses are mainly built of wood. The barns are often of logs like log cabins. "Neat" is the word one wants to say when speaking of Interlaken. Both of us felt like going back to Interlaken some time. You awake to look out on a mountain covered with snow, and in your ?? you see snow on several mountains.

If you have learned to window-shop just for the pure pleasure of seeing beautiful things without any wish to own them, you can get a lot of real pleasure in Interlaken. All sorts of things carved from wood- trays in a hundred shapes, bears, little and big, nut crackers, canes, book ends, other animals, embroideries, ivory in all shapes, beads, watches, watches and more watches, and all these things beautiful. Interlaken is so small one does not think of taking a conveyance, he just walks. There is a beautiful lake at each end of the village- the lakes like the village are long and narrow. There is one place of comment- the "Kursace"- a beautiful summer house open with chairs and tables- a table for every ten chairs. You are expected to drink- anything, coffee, tea, beer, wine- most take wine. Cake also if you wish. The rich come to Interlaken, but I did not feel any snobbishness. You hear German, French and Italian but English enough to keep you in practice.

We left Interlaken at 9:43 Mon. and were in Lucern at 12:00 +. We rode thru entrancing scenery- a cog R.R. much of the way. Tunnels (these all along the R.R.'s of Italy and Switzerland) were frequent. Trees nearly 100' tall grow on the mountain sides straight as a ram rod and no branches for 60' up. Orchards and meadows on steep slopes. Little farm houses and barns and cows, - All stock was good to look at - clean and sturdy. Switzerland is small. You arrive at anywhere in Switzerland before you really get started. It is a pleasing sensation. No sleepers on the R.R.

Lucern is larger than Interlaken. We struck Lucern as the Congress of Jehovah Cult was in session. We tried to attend the open session.

[Journal ends here, but in the back of the journal, Willard lists some of the places that they stayed. He lists Brussels, Holland and France.]

Bremen- from Ancestry.com

This undated photo of Ellen and two women may have been taken in 1936 on the Bremen. It appears that they are relaxing in steamer chairs on deck.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Record on this blank United States citizens and citizens of insular possessions of the United States arriving at a port of continental United States from a foreign port or a port of the insular possessions of the United States, and such citizens arriving at a port of said insular possessions from a foreign port, a port of continental United States, or a port of another insular possession.

Number 92

LIST OF UNITED STATES CITIZENS (FOR THE IMMIGRATION AUTHORITIES)

125

92 S. S. "BREMEN" sailing from SOUTHAMPTON, 15th SEPTEMBER, 1936, Arriving at Port of NEW YORK SEPTEMBER 20th, 1936

No. on List	NAME IN FULL		AGE	Sex	IF NATIVE OF UNITED STATES INSULAR POSSESSION OR IF NATIVE OF UNITED STATES, GIVE DATE AND PLACE OF BIRTH (CITY OR TOWN AND STATE)	IF NATURALIZED, GIVE NAME AND LOCATION OF COURT WHICH ISSUED NATURALIZATION PAPERS, AND DATE OF PAPERS	ADDRESS IN UNITED STATES
	FAMILY NAME	GIVEN NAME	Yrs. Mos.
1	ELIAS	JANE	41	F	JUN. 20th 1895 ROCKSPRINGS WYOMING		ROCK SPRINGS WYOMING
2	GUSSENBERGER	EVA	30	F	DEC. 6th 1906 SEBAQUE WASH.		2421 WARREN AVE. SEATTLE WASH.
3	ELIAS	WILLIAM FRANCIS	41	M	DEC. 18th 1914 SAN FRANCISCO CAL.		37 BURNING TREE PARKWAY BROOKLYN 100 CAL.
4	GLOVER	HARRIET	24	F	SEP. 9th 1912 LAWRENCE MASS.		169 TENNEY ST. METHUEN MASS.
5	BLACKWOOD	PHILIP T.	24	M	MAY 15th 1912 PITTSBURGH PA.		52 MERCHER ST. PRINCETON N.J.
6	FROST	HENRY A.	53	M	FEB. 8th 1883 NEWTON MASS.		15 FARWELL PL. CAMBRIDGE MASS.
7	FROST	ANNA	56	F	SEP. 5th 1880 SOMERVILLE MASS.		DO.
8	FROST	HENRY A.	14	M	FEB. 13th 1920 CAMBRIDGE MASS.		DO.
9	JOHNS	DAVID	35	M		PASSPORT 333965 WASH. D.C. JUL. 25th 1936	274 CHICHESTER AVE. LINWOOD PA.
10	SILVERMAN	AUDREY MAY	20	F	MAR. 12th 1916 NEWTON MASS.		32 RIVERDALE RD. WILLESLEY HILLS MASS.
11	WALTH	EDITH	56	F	MAY 2nd 1880 PORTVILLE N.Y.		90 HIXON RD. SOUTH BARBARA CAL.
12	WALTH	EUGENE	23	M	DEC. 29th 1912 BUFFALO N.Y.		DO.
13	HAWLINSON	NEIL	29	M		PASSPORT 10794 WASH. D.C. MAR. 19th 1936	GRADUATE SCHOOL HARVARD UNIVERSITY CAMBRIDGE MASS.
14	DALE	STEPHEN	55	M	DEC. 7th 1916	" 163575 WASH. D.C. JAN. 26th 1935	5 W. 63rd ST. NEW YORK CITY N.Y.
15	BLACK	CLAIRENE	23	F	JUL. 7th 1913 JEFFERSON TEXAS		214 E. WASHINGTON, APPLETON WISC.
16	AOSTENHAGEN	OLGA	37	F	DEC. 6th 1898 MAYVILLE WISC.		DO.
17	HUGHES	WALTER EDWARDS JR.	31	M	SEP. 21st 1904 STAMFORD CONN.		7-21 LEBRETT HOUSE, CAMBRIDGE MASS.
18	Houghton	NANCY ANDERSON	2	F		PASSPORT 282667 WASH. D.C. JAN. 18th 1936	DO.
19	DOW	ELIZABETH	25	F	JAN. 2. 1911 KENNEDUNK, MAINE	" 445 ATHENS GREECE JUL. 15th 1935	216 VAUGHAN ST. PORTLAND MAINE
20	CANTRELL	HARRY	65	M		" 318141 WASH. D.C. JUN. 24th 1936	1033-4th ST. SOUTH, ST. PETERSBURGH FLA.
21	BURBELL	JOHN AMOS	46	M	APR. 9th 1890 MAYSVILLE MONT.		COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY NEW YORK CITY N.Y.
22	BEARD	VILLARD L.	71	M	FEB. 9th 1865 HUNTINGTON CONN.		SHELTON CONN.
23	BEARD	ELLEN L.K.	66	F	MAR. 29th 1868 UNION CONN.		DO.
24	WILSON	JEAN S.	33	F	MAR. 31st 1903 DULUTH MINN.		72 PROSPECT ST. NORTHAMPTON MASS.
25	WOODRUFF	GEORGE E.	24	M	MAY 27th 1912 ORANGE CONN.		GRASSY HILL RD. ORANGE CONN.
26	BIRD	CAROLE EDITH	25	F	SEP. 23rd 1910 BENTON ARK.		302 SO. STATE ST. ANN ARBOR MICH.
27	HONE	LYDIA V.	23	F	APR. 18th 1913 ATLANTA GA.		ARCOIRIE DR. ATLANTA GA.
28	PARRY	HOWARD	19	M	NOV. 11th 1916 WINDER GA.		301 ATHENS ST. WINDER GA.
29	MELUZZI	JULIUS	36	M		PASSPORT 328924 WASH. D.C. JUL. 14th 1936	322 B. ST. SE. WASHINGTON
30	KEARNS	ELEANOR	34	F	JUL. 5th 1902 SHERVILLE MASS.		46 DEVONSHIRE RD. WARAN MASS.

No. 3 (WILLIAM F. DREW) CANCELLED, SEE MANIFEST 96/29

CH. PURSER

- IMPORTANT NOTICE.—1. Great care should be taken not to place on this list the name of any passenger who was not born in the United States or who has not taken out final naturalization papers.
2. Where one or more members of a family are aliens, the names of all such members should be recorded upon the alien manifest. Suitable notation may be made upon such manifest opposite the names of those members who claim citizenship.
3. Failure to observe the terms of this notice may result in delay to passengers at the port of arrival.
List on this form only United States citizens or citizens of an insular possession of the United States.

Willard and Ellen shown on the Bremen, September 1936 sailing from Southampton to New York
[Ancestry.com]

Mary Beard and Jill Elmer – about 1936
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

[This letter, dated October 1, 1936, was written by Virginia to Willard and Ellen. She is disappointed that they were not able to greet Willard and Ellen when they arrived back in the U.S. Gould is often away on business trips. Jerry and Monnie went on a trip together somewhere on a freighter. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Thursday October 1st [1936]

Mother and Father Dear-

It's a wonderful feeling to know that you are home at last; even tho try as we could to be on the pier it just couldn't be done. Gould left here Saturday afternoon at 4.30 and was to be in Newark at 11/20 Sunday morning. He was flying through as check Pilot, but when he got to Dallas they wouldn't let him go on because the Pilot checking from Newark would have had to come on out here and within 4 hours turn right around and fly all the way across the continent again and Gould would have had to do the exact thing in Newark and Dallas officials just put a stop to it. If it hadn't been for making it so hard for Ray Wansey too, he would have insisted upon going on. He was so terrifically disappointed and he did so want to surprise all of you by being there. I could have cried when he got back and I found he hadn't been able to make it. Nevertheless Dears we welcomed you with our hearts a thousand times and we are going to see you as soon as possible altho we're afraid that will be close to Thanksgiving.

We still have seven ships to be delivered and it will be a couple of weeks after that because we plan to drive East so as not to have to buy another car.

You know when Gould left that Saturday after expecting to see you the last thing Hazel said to him was "Daddy I want you to bring Grandma and Grandpa right back out here. There just isn't any sense in their stopping there." She is so terribly anxious to see you.

We have a little plan up our sleeve if it is agreeable to all parties concerned. You people, my family and my twin.

Gould wants to drive to Chicago and then have the kiddies and myself hop a plane and go on to Connecticut. If before Thanksgiving, I'll stay until after it. Then go back to Chicago and leave the kiddies in the East to be divided up among the Grandparents as desired. Gould doesn't want them separated at any time, but I don't think it should make any difference at all. I should be back sometime the week before Xmas and take the children home to Chicago shortly after Christmas.

You see we are very seriously thinking of buying furniture when we reach Chicago and getting all our goods and chattels out of storage in Cincinnati and see if we can't have a home mostly all our own. We are tired of paying storage rent and we do so want all our nice things to use again. It will be 3 years in December since most of it went into storage and 2 yrs this past July since all but our barest needs went into the store house. I know I'm going to be surprised at all the things we really do have.

It would be a very hard and trying job to have to house hunt and then shop around for just the furniture we know we want with two kiddies to be considered constantly. It would be so nice not to have to worry about them and after every thing was all settled to pick them up and bring them back home.

Gould feels almost certain now that he will be able to arrange it so that he can have Christmas day in Connecticut at least unless the weather should play an unkind trick at the last minute.

We will hope so sincerely that we may have an extended visit from you sometime later in the winter.

My Dears I must tell you how thrilled and pleased I am with my linen order. I'm going to have years and years of pleasure from it's use Mother- that list of the first shipment that you had lost track of got on the right track before you lost sight of it. Father mailed it to me the day he mailed the linen. Everything came in splendid condition. The only thing I'm waiting for is the five place mats [and] one napkin of my formal luncheon set (cutwork). The runner was mailed to me after you left Foochow but the other pieces haven't put in their appearance yet. It's lovely and I'm so fond of it. I'm so anxious for the rest of it to get here so that I can use it.

Gould has been so terribly busy these past three or four months and he has been away about one third of the time. Making deliveries, breaking in pilots in Chicago and East. A good many trips only as far as Ft. Worth or Dallas. Sometimes only over nite or as long as ten days at a time.

I'm rather glad he gets East occasionally because at least one member of the family contacts the rest of our families in the East.

We have so enjoyed it out here this time even more so than the first trip here. We have so many friends here and the climate is so nice for all of us and the schools ever so much more progressive than the majority in the East. Both Gould and I wish that Hazel and Willard could go through school out here.

Hazel started kindergarten this fall and just loves it as is so very independent and grown up about it. Wants to walk alone to and from school and simply explodes if you even so much as go half way to meet her. Willard has started nursery school again. This time in Westwood about five miles away but I don't have to worry about the transportation so am letting go there. It is an excellent small school of only a dozen kiddies and he just glows in it. Hazel's nursery school here closed the first of August and Miss Floyd is herself teaching kindergarten in Compton this winter.

By now I presume you know we had the whooping cough here this summer, but we didn't have it hard and they came through with flying color and both Daddy and Mother are very glad it is had and over with before the school period of their lives set in.

I'm wondering if Jerry and Monnie have docked yet? Sincerely hope they had a grand trip on the other side after all their many delays before making past there. We had a lovely letter from Monnie written on the freighter which I sent on to Kathie. Jerry's round robins were fascinating and under separate cover. I am mailing them to you for her permanent record of her trip.

We had a nice letter from Edith Louise Valentine the other day. You'll have to tell her for me that I'm surprised at her being a terribly greenhorn at cooking for I never knew a Beard yet that wasn't just a grand cook. So glad she liked our gift.

Isn't it nice about Nancy Morgan Griffith [born September 19, 1936 to Leolyn Beard Griffith]. We would so love to see them all before we depart from these parts but there is a great big question mark there. Gould is much to busy to take time off to go up there and that route East from there will be badly snowed in by the time we leave for the East.

Oh I must tell you. Who do you suppose we had a lovely visit with the other evening- none other than Dr. and Mrs. Neal Lewis. I found they were here through Derby friends and my family's here in Hollywood. We had a lovely visit and found there are lots of Gould's China friends here. He talked to Ray Gardner in Glendale Sunday but we haven't seen him yet. Found Vernon Pete and his sister are here in Pasadena. It is so too bad he should happen to find them all so late in our stay out here. Dr. and Mrs. Lewis are planning a Foochow reunion for Gould just as soon as Gould can give them a date 3 or 4 days in advance, but things have been so terribly uncertain as far as any schedule for him is concerned. He has only been home 3 or 4 weekends since way last June.

Aunt Mary I just love to hear your account of the Labrador trip. Here's hoping we will all be able to hear all the stories before long.

Much Love to Each and All of You
From All of Us,
Virginia

Written on back of photo: "Thanksgiving 1936"

Standing left to right: Willard, Elbert Kinney, Stanley Beard, Emma Kinney, Myra Beard, Ellen Kinney Beard, Phebe Maria Beard, Anna Beardsley Beard, Oliver Gould Beard, Jr., possibly Geraldine Beard, Oliver Wells Beard, Edith Beard Valentine, Seymour Valentine, possibly Stephen Beard, Abbie Hubbell Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard.

On ground left to right: Nancy Beard, Marjorie Beard, probably Ruth Beard, Mary Beard (looking to our left), unidentified man-or is this Stephen Beard?, Gould Beard.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter, dated November 29, 1936, was written from Safety Harbor, Florida by Kathleen to the folks. She tells about her sister-in-law's new baby girl. She is looking forward to hearing about Thanksgiving at the farm. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Nov. 29 [1936]

Dear Folks:

We are sitting out in our back yard in the sun and finding it almost warmer than by the fire place this morning. Two nights ago it went down to freezing and injured some plants, especially our poinsettias which look very sad. It was plenty cold and our wood pile is somewhat depleted.

We thought of you on Thanksgiving day with the big party and big dinner. Thankyou for the telegram, Mother. It reached us the day after Thanksgiving because it went first to the Elmers in Largo but we appreciated it none the less for its detour. In case you have occasion to send another sometime it will reach us more quickly addressed to Safety Harbor, the village where we live. The railroad agent here receives them and brings them right up.

Our Thanksgiving was very nice but we missed Enid and Molly, and Chickie was ill with a bad cough which they fear will develop into whooping cough. Enid's baby arrived last Sunday at 2:00 A.M., a little girl named Sarah Graham McNutt. We saw Enid and the baby after our big dinner and they both looked well. Molly has gone to stay with her other grandmothers in Clearwater for a while. With the threat of whooping cough Enid doesn't want to take the new baby home so will stay at our house until Chickie is out of quarantine. It will be nice for me to have them, especially since Hugh will be working nights a lot until Christmas.

We fairly ate up Aunt Phebe's and Monnie's letters and are awaiting accounts of the Thanksgiving party now. You have all been on the go pretty much, it seems to me. One or another of you must be departing or arriving nearly every day so it must keep things buzzing.

Dec. 3 It was almost fatal for me to lay this letter down on Sunday for in the meantime Enid and "Sally" have come to stay with us and time is at a premium. Sally is a dear little baby, very tiny, and very rosy. I enjoy giving her her daily bath and she seems to enjoy it too now, altho the first two days she protested the delay of her dinner vigorously. Enid is an ideal patient too, and is recovering nicely. The difficulty is to keep Jill from taking frequent peeps at the "Bee" as she calls the baby. She is much amused at the tiny cry which the baby gives and is most displeased when I pick up the little bundle. Jealousy I guess.

They have decided that Chickie's cough is not real whooping cough but it certainly is a bad bronchial cough and Molly has one just like it. Jill has a light cough and we are trying to keep her from getting a worse one.

Did you get a box of oranges before Thanksgiving? Hugh sent one from the packing house two weeks ago and if you didn't get it we want to have it traced. The fruit is getting sweeter now and there is a large crop in this county. Father Elmer's trees are loaded, especially the tangerines, but they are smaller in size than previously.

The telegram mentioned Gould being there. Is the whole family East or Gould only? Give them our love and let us know their plans.

Hugh, Jill and I send our warmest love to everybody there-
Kathleen.

In a letter written June 26, 1936 by W.H. Topping to Willard and Ellen on behalf of the Church of Christ in China, Mid Fukien Synod in appreciation for their many years of faithful service in Foochow he writes:

"We are going to miss Dr. Beard's friendly helpfulness at every turn. His long experience in China, has made him an invaluable adviser on church councils, whose sound judgment has created in us all an attitude of trust. His willingness to undertake the most difficult tasks, has been equaled only by his unbounded energy, with the result that he has been usually overloaded with the many matters which could be handed only to the most capable of committee men. He has had to try at practically every sort of work on the Mission field, Evangelistic, Educational, Administrative, Rural work, etc. and has made a conspicuous contribution in each case, much appreciated by his co-workers."

"Mrs. Beard has always made her own worthwhile contribution, whether it were in the home, or in the work of the church. She stayed at home in America with the children, when that seemed to be the thing to do, and when the home no longer claimed all of her time, she took up other responsibilities in the school or elsewhere. We are very happy in the way you were both pleased to spend the last year in China at Ingtai, where you not only helped out in the school and Evangelistic work, but where you could also be wit your old friends, the Smiths, from whom your work has usually been separated. We must add, that the members of the Synod Executive Committee are going to miss Mrs. Beard's afternoon teas, with the nice cake and thick icing, and we want to assure Mrs. Beard that we do not expect any future generation of Missionaries in Foochow, to compete for a higher place along that line."

In a letter written September 14, 1936 by W.H. Topping to Willard on behalf of the Kuliang Council he writes:

"At the Annual Residents Meeting held at Kuliang this year I, as Secretary, was asked to write to you and express the deep appreciation of the Kuliang Residents for your long years of service on the Kuliang Council, and for your unstinted giving of yourself in the service of the Community for nearly 40 years."

In a letter written March 27, 1937 by W.H. Topping to Willard he writes:

"The work goes on as usual. Ling-iu-cu and I were at Ingtai and missed you and Mrs. Beard. The other day at the Pastor's meeting at Ling-iu-cu's we asked the Chinese what kinds of foreign desert they liked best. Kiu said: "Bi-go", which translated means Mrs. Beard's cake."

[On the following pages is a beautiful lacquer plaque with the following inscription presented to Willard prior to leaving China. From the family of Myron Gould Beard.]

“In appreciation of the invaluable services rendered by, Rev. Dr. W.L. Beard
To the development of Rural work in Foochow, this lacquer plaque is presented to him on the occasion of his return to American in the month of June 1936, and we quote:
That which makes a man to be desired is his kindness
Book of Proverbs, Chapter 19, verse 22
From the Board of Managers, Department of Rural Electrification, Foochow Electric Company Ltd. Foochow, China”

In appreciation of the invaluable services rendered

Rev. Dr. W. L. Beard

To the development of Rural Work in Foochow presented to him on the occasion of his return to June 1936, and we quote:

That which makes a man to be desired
Book of Proverbs, Chapter 19, verse 2

From the Board of Managers, Department of F
Foochow Electric Company Ltd. Foo

Foochow, this laquer plaque is turn to America in the month of nt of Rural Electrification,

Foochow, China

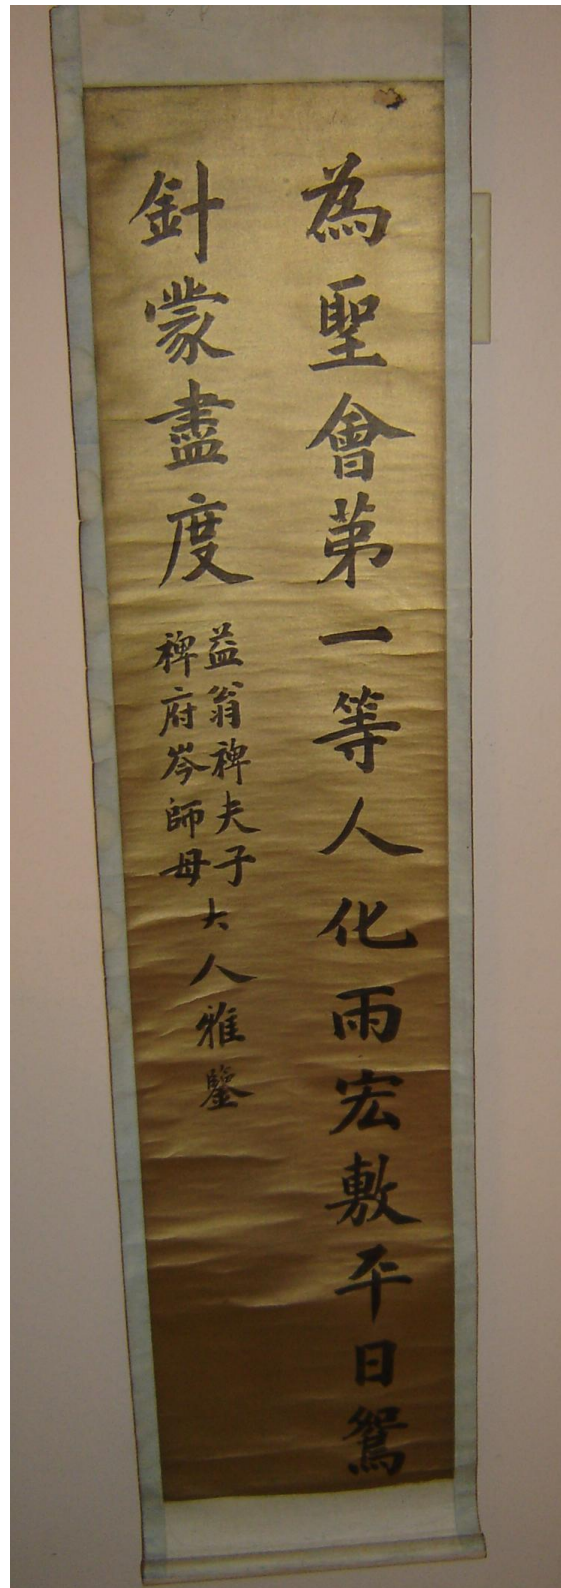

裨益知理事回國紀念

人之可慕在其仁慈

福州電汽公司農村電化部理事會敬贈

Scroll given to Willard and Ellen Beard. This scroll hung in Kathleen Beard Elmer's home for many years. Sherrie and Allen Elmer gave it to Jana Jackson who then donated it to Yale University Divinity Library in 2007 for safekeeping. Sherrie was told that it honors the years of missionary service Willard and Ellen gave to China. Close ups on the next page.

會第一等人化雨

盡度

益翁稗夫子大人雅
稗府岑師母

為聖會第一筆

針蒙盡度

益翁
稗府

雨宏敷平日駕

雅鑒

[The following articles are from newspaper clippings in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

The Evening Sentinel

Tuesday Evening, October 6, 1936

Beard Upholds Chinese Regulation of Religious Teaching in Its Schools

"It's what we went to China for- To teach them to help themselves," He tells ministers in interesting meeting at Congregational Church- Christian influence is infused into new China, missionary says.

Dr. Beard held his audience in rapt attention for nearly an hour, as they hung on his words, and led him on with questions, eager for every grain of information which he brought with him from the work to which they had long given financial allegiance.

Ladies of the Congregational church served the luncheon, following which the Rev. Mr. Strickland asked Deacon Charles Z. Morse to introduce the speaker. Mr. Morse told from recollection of the time more than 40 years ago when the Congregational church would have been glad to have had Dr. Beard as their first pastor, but he had chosen China as his field of endeavor, and he served long and faithfully as secretary of the Y.M.C.A., a member of the missionary board as well as president of Foochow College.

Dr. Beard.

Dr. Beard reflected in opening that almost everyone could look back at his life and see in it points at which his course might have been entirely different, had he made a different decision. Such a point as this, he suggested, was that time when he graduated from Birmingham high school, in the days when all of Ansonia, old and new Derby, as well as Shelton, could muster only 80 students. It was then that the late Charles H. Nettleton invited him to join the force of the Derby Gas and Electric company and he refused, having decided to study for the ministry. Had he chosen differently, he said, he might have stood with Arnold Norcross, a classmate, in the limelight of industry. A few years later, three different committees from the Shelton Congregational church asked him to accept the local pastorate. He declined. He was on his way to China.

"I'm not at all sorry today for the choice I made," Dr. Beard said, and then turned to a brief discussion of the time when he thought he might best serve the Y.M.C.A. by affiliating himself with the American board of missions as district secretary. In this capacity he served three years. He was further influenced to make this choice, he said, by the fact that four of their six children were of school age. Then came the call to go back to Foochow as president of Foochow College, and Dr. Beard returned to the scene of his missionary labors.

Political Situation

Dividing his talk into three parts Dr. Beard said he would consider first the political situation.

Chiang Kai Shek, he pointed out, has held the top position longer than any other man since the Revolution. Two years ago, he was not liked, especially by the students. Today he has a great popularity. When he asked representatives of 12,000 high school and college students not to push him too close on the China-Japan situation, he talked for six hours, and succeeded in influencing them to a point when the pressure for action was relieved. Chiang Kai Shek has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for ten or 15 years. His wife is a graduate of Wellesley College. His sister is married to H.H. Kung, a graduate of Oberlin College and holding degrees of B.A. and L.L.D. from that institution. Mrs. Chiang Kai Shek is as great an influence as her husband. Her sister, Mrs. Sun Yat Sen, is too much inculcated with communism, to be of the greatest influence, the speaker said. With T.V. Sung, Mrs. Chiang Kai Shek's brother, they hold the key to the Chinese situation, and are all big Christian influences.

"Everyone is wondering what China will do about Japan. Japan has already put more into Manchuria than she can ever get out, and the colonization attempt there has not been a success. More Japanese are moving to the Philippines than to Manchuria, but the Japanese influence is gradually spreading south covering everything north of the Yangtze river."

Dr. Beard told how at Nanking, students are required to serve three months in intensive military training. From May until August, they rise at 5 a.m. and put in 17 hours in intensive training, with 10 minutes allowed for a meal. "It did them good," Dr. Beard said, emphasizing the harsh attitude of the leaders who gave orders to "Make them obey. Work them hard. Lick them if they don't mind, and let them die if they can't stand it."

A New Factor.

In 1919, Dr. Beard said, a new factor came into the whole Chinese situation. Previously the scholar had been a bookworm and a philosopher. But in that year the students organized a Japanese boycott and thereafter at regular intervals they have roused themselves to act as the goad at the back of the political situation.

Dr. Beard was asked about "Reds," and he replied that Sun Yat Sen some ten years ago went to America and to England asking for money. He was refused, but Russia not only proffered the desired funds but offered to send men to train the army. This offer was accepted and at one time there were 17 Russians drilling the Cantonese, the up-and-coming citizens, who, if anything, are moving too fast in the way of civilization. This communism, bolshevism or third internationale, Dr. Beard said, is not the stuff the Chinese like at all. It is a bitter pill for them to swallow, and although Shek allowed it to prosper for a time, he has recently taken new steps to check it. Instead of moving in and driving the reds out and retiring, he is now building roads to connect the points where the reds are driven out, and rehabilitation this area. As a result the communist element is practically crushed.

Education.

It was in the field of education that the gathering found Dr. Beard's viewpoint most difficult. The educational methods of 42 years ago he said, are a thing of the past. The eight legged essay in which 13,000 took examinations with only 108 passing, have been abolished. No longer do students put in two days of examinations in tiny stalls with nothing to eat. Schools are just as modern as those in America. They are likewise under absolute government control, he said, and with the exception of the seminaries, Christianity may not be taught in any registered institution. Moreover, with the exception of St. John's College, all schools are registered. The ministers gathered there acted as though they could not believe their ears when Dr. Beard said he thought this government regulation was a good thing. He explained that the schools of China are patterned after the mission schools, their teachers were trained in the mission schools. It is only recently that the mission union has received orders from the government that it must stop training teachers.

"I don't deplore that," Dr. Beard went on. His listeners looked amazed. "What did we go over there for?" he asked. "Wasn't it to teach these people to help themselves?" That is just what they have done. No one else can do for them what they will be able to do for themselves. They are fully able now to train their own teachers and teach their own people.

"Don't misunderstand me. I hope missionaries will never stop going to China, but I hope they will also ask the Chinese to come to America. You haven't everything of Christianity, you know. Neither have I. For one thing, they can teach us patience. We can teach them love."

Chinese Education.

Dr. Beard went on to say that there are 13 Christian universities and about as many more Chinese. They are giving good education, Dr. Beard said. It is comparable with the education furnished by major American colleges. Teachers are being trained for this work in all parts of America. Chinese students are sent to America, trained, and go back to China to teach. Others replace them.

It was added that a part of this training is financed with the Boxer money. It was Dr. Arthur H. Smith who suggested to the American government some 25 or 30 years ago that the Boxer indemnity should be used for Chinese education in the United States, this is done. Other countries are using the Boxer indemnity in the same way. England contributes to industrial development, Japan uses the money for hospitals. Germany and France also contribute to this program.

Compulsory Religion

Dr. Beard was compelled to repeat many times his belief that China is able to administer her own educational system. He said he thought the laws which forbid compulsory Christian training in schools and colleges were good, and explained that there was a time when students had to attend two young people's services, two Sunday school services and three church services a week." The study of the Bible was required. It was all uphill work, both the religious and Bible teaching. When the law was passed which made this attendance voluntary, the tension seemed to be relieved at once. There might not be so many boys attending church but there was less pin sticking and restlessness among those who did attend."

The schools, he emphasized, compared in curricula with American schools. English is a subject but not a medium of education except at St. John's.

The Christian Influence.

People are not going to church as they were forty years ago, but Christ has been infused about the whole of China, the speaker continued, and even men who have nothing to do with the church are well versed in Christian standards and Christian ideals.

Dr. Beard went on to describe the Christian work which Foochow and other Christian institutions are doing in lifting the level of the people of China by the use of modern machinery and power. He told particularly of the use of electricity to pump the flood waters from the rice fields in the rainy season, and pumping it back in the dry season. As an illustration an area equivalent to 6,000 American acres could be drained for $50,000. In one season it would produce $90,000 worth of rice, but this obvious worthwhile investment cannot be effected because they haven't got the money.

Dr. Beard told an interesting experience at the college where 12 villages were allowed to hire a boar at $5 a month, and as a result had greatly improved the strain of native stock.

The college had five white pigs grazing on the hillside, while everyone predicted that the Chinese would not accept these white pigs in preference to their native stock. When the pigs were ten months old they weighed 108 and 113 pounds each, while native stock averaged only 80 pounds at 12 months. So much demand was experienced for the 13 pigs in the first litter, that it was with difficulty that they saved three for breeding purposes in spite of the fact that they charged the top price of $5 each for the pigs.

This practical training of the Chinese to better their living conditions speaks louder than all the Christian teaching in the school, the speaker concluded.

The Christian Product.

He emphasized that 60 per cent of the men ruling China today are products of mission schools. They are not all exemplary Christians he admitted, but there are many. He told how graduates of Foochow College were exerting an influence in various capacities and agreed with the suggestion that China's friendly attitude to America is largely the work of the missionaries.

[The article goes on to list those in attendance.]

The Bridgeport Sunday Post, October 11, 1936

Dr. Beard, Chinese Missionary for 42 Years Returns to Family Homestead at Shelton

SHELTON, Oct. 10 – (Special To The Sunday Post) Dr. Willard L. Beard, for 42 years a missionary in China, has returned to Shelton with his wife to take up his residence at the family homestead, Century Farm, where the Beard family has lived for more than 100 years. He comes back to his birthplace as a man who set out in life to accomplish a great work, and has been fortunate to live to see that work completed and a new and greater task begun.

Dr. Beard does not look his 71 years, for that matter he does not look like a missionary. He has the gentle face of a country practitioner, the patience of the Chinese themselves, and the peace of a man who has lived a long time, close to the soil and to a people of the soil.

Turns Down Job

More than 50 years ago when Dr. Beard was graduated from Birmingham High school he had a chance to enter the employ of the Derby Gas and Electric Co. He refused. Already his mind was set on the ministry. A few years later when he was ordained at the Congregational church in Huntington, the Shelton church, then just being formed waited on him three times to persuade him to accept a local call but he declined. His eyes were on far off China.

Forty-three years ago, the missionary to China found the progress of Christianity blocked by what seemed an insurmountable wall of ignorance and poverty. Stone by stone he began the removal of the first, always with an eye to the alleviation of the second. Dr. Beard's life, which included 15 years as president of Foochow college has been long enough to see the wall of ignorance entirely removed and many stones crumbling in the wall of poverty.

One of the things he finds hardest here is to make people understand that the American missionary in China does not deplore the government mandates which prohibit the compulsory church attendance and Bible teaching of the mission schools; which have ordered the mission schools to stop training teachers; which make the teaching of religion in secular schools against the law. "You think these are a good thing?" local ministers ask him repeatedly. And over and over he has to repeat "I certainly do."

Sought to Help

To grasp his point of view, it is necessary to hear the whole story, and it is a long one. But through it runs this thread: The American missionary went to China and remained in China, not to Americanize them, but to Christianize them, not to set up a system of foreign domination, but to help the Chinese to help themselves. The original mission school was used first to teach and then to train teachers. It served as a pattern of education and in this capacity it still exists. It taught the Chinese not only the importance of elementary education but the importance of a system of elementary education.

It took nearly 40 years to build up this system but the work is done. Now the Chinese have their own teachers, their own schools, and, what is infinitely more important, their own training schools. Chinese teachers are being sent to America to learn modern education methods, and return and to teach them to the Chinese teachers under them, who will in turn incorporate them into the Chinese classrooms. "It is the instructors, teaching in the Chinese thing for which we have worked all along," Dr. Beard insists. The schools, the normal schools and the colleges of China, staffed by Chinese language, compare favorably in every way with similar schools in this country, he says.

The war against poverty is yet to be won, Dr. Beard points out, but the ground work of education has been done, and it is in the industrial college, such as the one at Foochow, that the greater part of the work is being carried on. Here Christian men and women – 40 per cent of the influential men and women at the head of the Chinese government are Christian – are training students in modern agricultural methods. The General Electric Co., is showing the use of electricity through its rural electrification committee of which Dr. Beard was a member. Everywhere by Christian example the importance of improved stock and soil is taught. By electric power the flood water is pumped out of the rice fields in the rainy season and pumped back again in the time of drought.

“This is the Christian work which speaks louder than all the Christian book teaching and compulsory church attendance in the world,” Dr. Beard insists.

Church Attendance Days

Like the rest of Christendom, the church in China is experiencing a let up in church attendance. “But,” Dr. Beard insists, “Christianity has been infused into China, and its influence is seen in every field.”

Dr. Beard hastens to add that he does not mean that he would advocate an end of Christian missionary work. “I hope missionaries will always go to China,” he says, and adds: “But I hope that Chinese missionaries will also come to America. After all we haven’t everything here. For one think the Chinese could teach us Christian patience. We try to teach them Christian love and we often fail for lack of patience. In this field, the Chinese might well be our teachers.”

In all the unrest in China during the past 15 years, he has never been molested. At all times, the Chinese themselves have held him in the highest regard. His friends feel it is because he practices in daily life the gospel which he preaches. Upon leaving China he was presented with a plaque, a splendid example of Foochow lacquer, unique in that it is so carefully applied that it looks like ebony. The plaque, hand painted, testified to the esteem in which he was held by the people of that city.

Parents of Six

Six children have been born to Dr. and Mrs. Beard during their long sojourn in China. Now these six children are scattered all over the continent, and have children of their own. A daughter is a missionary in Labrador, now visiting in London. Another is in Florida, another is in Pearl River, N.J.; another is in California.

“The world is very small,” Dr. Beard says, reflecting on how far his family is scattered, “It is only a few hours from one end of the country to the other. I seem never to feel that my family is very far away.”

And indeed they are not. Since leaving China he has seen four of these children including the daughter from Labrador and the son from Florida. [a daughter is in Florida – Kathleen.]

[Newspaper articles from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Friday Evening, November [probably 1936 from the Sentinel]

Dr. W. L. Beard Rotary Speaker

Recently Returned from 42 Years in China, Shelton Resident Talks of Progress.

Rev. Dr. Willard L. Beard, for 42 years a missionary in China, who recently returned to make his home at Century farm, Shelton, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Derby-Shelton Rotary club yesterday noon in the Hotel Clark dining room.

Dr. Beard gave an interesting description of the conditions in China, and drew upon his early experiences to illustrate the growth of the country and the progress made in the last few years. He told about improvements in highways, saying that in the large cities the pavements are excellent. Stores today he said have plate glass fronts, not unlike American stores, although when he first went there, glass was practically unknown.

In concluding Dr. Beard described his trip home, the journey through India, the visit to Jerusalem, now under martial law, the trip to the Pyramids, and then, briefly, the return through Switzerland, and England to this country.

November 30, 1936

Dr. Beard was Preacher Sunday

Former Missionary to China Discusses "What We Can Believe" at Second Church

Rev. Dr. Willard L. Beard, for 42 years a missionary to China, was the preacher at the Second Congregational church Sunday morning, his topic being "What We Can Believe."

Dr. Beard said that at the present day there is a great deal of uncertainty as to religious ideas and beliefs, but that there are three things of which a person may be absolutely sure.

A man can say, "I can believe that I am. I can say 'I will' and I can say 'I believe'." A man can also say: "I believe that you are," and finally a man can believe that God is. These three things a man can believe whether he can read and write, or no.

"We can also believe that Jesus Christ was," Dr. Beard continued. "We can believe further, that He was different from other men, and that He was the Messiah, the Son of God, for to these two things both His enemies and His followers testified.

"Also," Dr. Beard continued, "we can believe that He rose from the dead. The resurrection was the foundation of the Christian life for 200 years after His death. Finally, we can believe that Jesus is the same today that He was 2,000 years ago."

The church school met as usual at noon and there was a meeting of the young people at 6:30.

An article in the Sentinel dated December 7, 1936 reported that Willard spoke at a meeting of the C.E. Union at the Baptist Church on "Conditions in China".

Tuesday Evening, December 8, 1936. [Probably the Sentinel]

City of Derby

Business in China is Subject of Address Before Board of Trade

Rev. Dr. Willard L. Beard, of Shelton, Told of Vast Opportunities in That Country and Some of the Things Being Done There.

Rev. Dr. Willard L. Beard, former president of Foochow College, China, and now retired and living in Shelton, was the speaker at last night's supper-meeting of the Derby and Shelton Board of Trade, taking as his subject "Business in China." Dr. Beard, during the course of his remarks and the questioning period that followed, showed that he was thoroughly familiar with conditions in China as well as the Chinese characteristics by reason of his long residence of 40 years in China and his study of the people. There are no big business men in China, he said. The Chinese in his own land is a small business man conducting a little shop and dealing in small quantities of his own products. In other countries, Chinese become big business men he said but it is peculiar that in China he adheres strictly to the custom of his ancestors and carries on his business along small lines.

Dr. Beard Speaks.

Dr. Beard, presented by Philip Franz, said, that appearing before the Board of Trade was like coming home again. He did not know very many in the audience. He was born in the Long Hill district in Shelton and during high school days walked every day a distance of 3 ½ miles to attend the Derby high school and return [aka Birmingham High School]. The Derby high school was the only one serving the several boroughs hereabouts. He remembered very vividly the late John W. Peck, who was an instructor in the high school at that time and later became superintendent of schools. There were 80 students in the high school in the four years he attended Dr. Beard said. He intended to go to Yale but went to Harvard [actually Oberlin and Hartford Seminary].

Great Changes.

Great changes have taken place in 40 years, Dr. Beard said. The “red devils” or automobiles have come and trolley cars have come and nearly all gone again. In China similar changes have come about in the 40 years in which he was engaged there in missionary and educational work.

Business in China.

Dr. Beard said that trade or business in China could be divided into domestic and foreign. Changes in business there have been owing to three causes: First, the diplomats sent there; second, the business men sent there; and third, the missionaries sent there. Dr. Beard described in a general way, saying that domestic business in China is small. Business is carried in many small shops. The Chinese, in a general way are not big business men. The largest concern is the Steamship Navigation company which plies its trade up and down the coast and up the Yangtze river. The Chinese, himself, carries on his business in a small way. He has his small shop, few workers and the products of these small shops, combs and other materials are sold direct to customers all over the country. In other lands, Singapore, for instance, you will find Chinese engaging in business in a big way. In China business is done along the lines adopted by ancestors years before. The speaker illustrated by saying that a certain medicine for jaundice is prepared and made, according to a recipe handed down in a family from generation to generation. This medicine is made on a very small scale. In this country, he said, a corporation would be organized and the medicine sold on a large scale.

China Buys Much.

China, Dr. Beard says, buys all sorts of manufactured articles, in the machinery line, also cotton goods, and clocks, watches, etc. In 1913, he said Japan sent to China 18 million dollars worth of cotton goods and in that same year England sent 58 million dollars worth. In 1929, Japan had raised its export to China to 110 million dollars worth and England's had fallen to 35 million dollars worth. China is the richest country in the world in natural resources. Enough coal is to be found in China to supply the world for 200 years, the speaker said, but it costs too much to transport it.

Dr. Beard explained the various projects undertaken by independent groups in China as well as by the present Chinese government headed by Shang Kai Shek, present leader of China and his able cohorts. He told of these projects especially as they affected farmers helping them to increase their crops, installation of irrigation systems enabling them to save the crops from floods in the spring and droughts in the summer.

Dr. Beard answered a number of questions concerning industry, government and the like and altogether presented an interesting and instructive picture of China of today with its promises for the future.

An article in the Sentinel dated December 14, 1936 reported that Willard spoke at the Lafayette Parent Teacher's Association meeting. “Dr. Beard spoke interestingly of his educational experiences in China. He traced the development of education in China from the 19th and 20th century, in its various stages from the kindergarten to the university. Dr. Beard also discussed the present situation in China.”

The Sentinel, December 21, 1936

Dr. Beard Gave Talk at Senior Epworth Meeting

Famed Missionary to China Tells of Experience at M.E. Church Parsonage

Dr. Willard Bead, famed missionary to China, now a resident of Shelton was the guest of the Senior Epworth league to the First Methodist Episcopal church at a meeting held in the parsonage Tuesday evening. The reason for this meeting during the holiday season was that the college students, home from school, had expressed a desire to meet and talk with Dr. Beard.

The meeting was informal. After speaking of the political situation in China, Dr. Beard spoke of the religion and economic situation. His special emphasis was upon the fact that the ideals of the Christian religion, carried to the Chinese by missionaries have made great headway in permeating the society of that country. Although people are not uniting with the Christian church as they once did the idealism of Christianity carries forward with greater emphasis each year.

Many of the young people asked questions and for more than two and a half hours Dr. Beard was kept busy.

The Evening Sentinel, Wednesday Evening, December 30, 1936
City of Shelton

Dr. Willard L. Beard Tells of Present Situation in China
Kiwanis Hear of Interesting Experiences of One Who Lived in China for 42 Years.

Speaking on the present situation in China, the abduction of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, and the sudden coup d'etat last week at Sianfu in the release of the military war lord by Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, Dr. Willard L. Beard told a large gathering at the weekly luncheon and meeting of the Shelton Kiwanis club yesterday noon in the Baptist church parlors he did not think anything would be done to the rebellious young leader, but it is unlikely that Chiang Kai-Shek would trust him any more.

Dr. Beard who recently returned to this city after spending 42 years in the mission field in China related many interesting things of the vast changes in that country since the first time he went there. Before proceeding to tell about China and his many experiences in that country, Dr. Beard said he couldn't but think of the great change in Shelton in nearly a half of a century. He recalled that his uncle, James H. Beard, conducted the only store in the city on a site near Bridge street. It was a one story high structure and when people bought sugar or flour, it was by the barrel, today they buy it in a small carton. As Shelton has changed he said, so has there been changes all over the earth.

Pointing to Foo Chow on a large map of China, suspended from the wall, Dr. Beard said he left that city last June and went down to Canton, and from Canton by boat to Manila, Philippine Islands, then to India over the Himalaya mountains. From there to Egypt and Jerusalem, Italy and Switzerland, Paris, France and then to London, England, where he boarded a steamship for the United States.

Speaking about the trouble in Jerusalem, Dr. Beard said they arrived in that city and heard about the shooting of two nurses by the Arabs. These nurses he said had been administering first aid to wounded Arabs and upon their departure they shot them down in cold blood. In his travels through all of these countries Dr. Beard said he observed vast changes being made. In the town of Amoy, China, he said that when he first went there 40 years ago, the streets were narrow, and now there are boulevards 50 feet wide. The shops that used to stand one story high are being replaced by structures two and three stories high. The same he said can be said of Foo Chow and Hong King, although the latter city is controlled greatly by the British. The speaker told of the beautiful roads in Italy and Switzerland. China is also building new roads and is advancing along with the rest of the world, he said.

Communism in China.

Dr. Beard told how communism got into China. About ten years ago Sun Yat Sen went to America and to England seeking money to equip an army of men. He was refused, but Russia not only proffered the desired funds and offered to send men to train the army. This offer was accepted and at one time there were 17 Russians drilling the citizens of Canton. This communism, bolshevism, or third internationale, Dr. Beard said, is not the stuff the Chinese like at all. The stronghold of communism in China was at Kiang Shi. Communism brought along banditry. The soldiers of the communists would go into a small village and find out those who had money, and then would seize them until a ransom was paid. This was done under the threat of death if the money sought was not paid.

Chiang Kai-Shek, he said, the generalissimo for the whole of China, who held this position for 20 years, longer than any other man since 1911, was trying to drive the communists out of China. General Chiang has practically driven the communists out of China. In driving out the communist element Dr. Beard said he has built good roads over which his armies could move.

"Many good things," Dr. Beard said, "have come about as of war. I hate war. How much do you realize has been done for airplanes since the war?" The speaker pointed out the vast improvements done for aviation through the war and also the old Roman road which was built out of war.

Dr. Beard told of his experience when traveling in a convoy of boats down one of the rivers in China. This convoy of boats consisted of thirty small craft. As they were slowly going down the river all boats stopped. "What's up," I asked. The reply was "I don't know, bad men." Dr. Beard said he learned from the boat pilot that a messenger had been sent down the river to negotiate with the bandits. The boats proceeded slowly down the river and ahead in a bend of the river could be seen an empty rowboat with a large bamboo stick sticking out. This was a sign that the messenger had been making arrangements with the bandits and going down further we heard three shots ring out. That was the signal that everything was all right. Passing down the river further, Dr. Beard said, could be seen eleven boats burned to the water's edge, which indicated that they tried to run the gauntlet without negotiating with the bandits.

Rebellious Leader.

Marshal Chang Hsueh-Liang, the speaker said, had been appointed lord of the Shensi province by Gen. Chiang. Chang Hsueh-Liang is the son of the former lord of the province and is said to have something to do with the death of his father. Chang Hsueh-Liang was appointed to that post last May or June. Evidently Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek had suspected that something was wrong at Sianfu, the capital of the Shensi province and went there to investigate when he was made a prisoner with several of his military leaders. Dr. Beard said he didn't think that Chang Hsueh-Liang would do anything to hurt Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek. Dr. Beard enumerated various persons who hold the political situation in China. Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, his wife, who is a graduate of Wellesley College, his sister, who is married to Dr. H.H. King, a graduate of Oberlin College, and holding degrees of B.A. and L.L.D., from that institution. Then Mrs. Sun Yat Sen, sister of Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek and Dr. T.V. Soong, brother of Mrs. Chiang Kai-Shek.

Chiang's Birthday.

The bombing planes, which number 50, were given to Gen. Chiang on his 50th birthday anniversary, were bought by money raised by the government in schools and donated by the citizens. Dr. Beard told how young women went about the city stopping buses and collecting funds with which the bombing planes were bought.

Dr. Beard spoke interestingly of Foo Chow University, which was founded in 1915, and of which institution he was president for several years. He told about the progress being made in educating the young Chinese at the university. There are today 175 students at the university. There were 153 applicants for entrance last year and out of this number 144 took the examinations and 63 were admitted as students.

The speaker told about the civilization in China and the work that is being done among the people in the rural sections. The government, he said, is also cooperating with funds to bring about a better China.

Ellen, about 1936

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Willard Beard – about 1936
[From the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1937

- Amelia Earhart is lost in the Pacific
- Hitler continues to build German power
- The Japanese begin occupation of China in August
- Gould and Virginia are in LaGrange, Illinois
- Cynthia Elmer was born December 19, 1937 to Kathleen and Hugh in Florida
- Marjorie is back in the U.S.
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Gould and Virginia are living in La Grange, Illinois
- Willard and Ellen are in the U.S.
- Willard is 72, Ellen- 69, Gould- 41, Geraldine- 39, Dorothy- 36, Marjorie- 31, Kathleen- 29.

Undated photo of Beard ladies dressed in Chinese clothing taken at Century Farm -about 1937
L to R: Marjorie Beard, Ellen Kinney Beard, Mary Beard, probably Edith Beard Valentine, Phebe Maria Beard, Kathleen Beard Elmer.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte and women identified by Jill Jackson.]

Undated photo of Phebe Maria Beard and Mary Beard in Chinese clothing.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter, dated January 19, 1937, was written from New York City, New York by Marjorie to her father and all the rest. She is a governess for a Teresa Peabody and tells about her responsibilities. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Care Mrs. J.D. Peabody
18 E. 84th St.
New York.
Tuesday Night.
Jan. 19th [1937]

Dear Father and all the rest,

Things are growing brighter. But it's always darkest before the dawn- this was the worst day I've had yet, and it seems as if I had been here a week. I can't get over the feeling that I'm in a prison, tho a rather pleasant one.

I got up at 7:15 so that I could get my hair fixed before going down to wake Teresa, for that's always the longest part of my dressing and I want to be sure of it. At 7:30 I went down to wake Teresa, Ray going with me this first time. She has warned me that Teresa is hard to get up and frightfully slow about all her operations simply because she (and all the rest of the children) have no conception of the value of time.

Here Ray came in with an orange and sat down for another good long talk. I'm glad of the orange for I was starved. I'm really going to lose here, for, tho the food is delicious, one just does take small helpings (everything is passed) and I never take seconds. Dessert is always fruit or custard, sometimes with small cookies. How I miss Aunt Mary's apple pies that melt in your mouth! There's no place like home!

Well, Teresa at last got down to breakfast, and ate a pretty good one. She eats practically nothing at dinner. Lunch she has at school.

I got left when the car took Muriel, Ray and Teresa off to school, because I didn't hear them go down. It was my own fault, I had my wraps all on. The stairs and halls are padded with carpets almost two inches thick so you can't hear anyone. I washed Teresa's stockings, pressed her skirt, looked over her clean stockings and found no holes, looked thru her dresses on eager quest for something to mend and was rewarded by finding a sleeve- seam with an inch split in it!!! After that was all done I asked Ray if there wasn't some thing I could do for her- but no. Well there were 2 ½ hours until lunch and nothing to do. So I began mending my own stockings. Nothing is so depressing and nerve-racking as feeling you ought to be busy and having nothing to do. Presently Mrs. P. came along and sent me on the immensely important errand of buying a needle-book for my work basket! At least I got a walk out of it and any chance of getting out of the house is like release from prison. Poor lady, I think she even is hard put to it to think of things for me to do.

Ray asked me to walk to Muriel's school with her at 12:15 to get M. I jumped at the chance. Ray is so comfortable and satisfying. She's a perfect dear- my chief friend and helper here- tho all the servants go more than halfway to be nice. Really, I do think that most of the people in this world are nice. I expected to get all sorts of bumps in job-hunting and in this kind of work but I've had none yet.

After lunch- from which Mr. P. retired in a coughing fit (his cough sounds worse than a consumptive's). He's had a stroke and is just getting on his feet again. Awfully young for a stroke- about 50, and the nurse says he'll never be strong again.

Well, to resume, after lunch I telephoned down to find out about tickets for Teresa and me for the opera Saturday afternoon. We're going to hear Flagstad in "Tales of Hoffman", Aunt Phebe, as you suggested! But no response from the box office, so I'm going to the Opera House tomorrow morning to get them, another errand to take me out. I'm reading up on the opera, to educate Teresa. They have a large library here- the book I have on "Opera Synopses" came out of it.

Then I went downtown to Altman's- first time I've ever been in- to do some bits of shopping for Teresa- dress buttons etc.

Teresa came home tonight on the school bus at quarter to five, and my job is to meet her. I found that she'd sprained a few ligaments in her foot playing basket ball. We soaked it in hot and cold water alternately and the nurse did it up with adhesive.

Since Mr. P. doesn't like to cough at table, he and Mrs. P. are dining alone at 7, and all the rest of us eat at 6. We have lots more fun- the two children, Ray, the nurse and I.

After supper we, Teresa and I set to work on her lessons. She goes to bed at 8:30, so then I was free. But I really have very little time with her on week days. She goes to dancing school at five tomorrow afternoon, that will be fun. I find I can't skate when she goes to skating on Tuesday's (she didn't go today) for it's a special Junior club.

I've promised to knit a sweater for Mrs. P.- one that she promised to send to the Kentucky mountains. That's the way to do your missionary work- by proxy!

During the month of February, while the Peabodys are south, Teresa and I are going to stay at the house of a cousin of Mr. P.'s, who is godfather to these children. He and his wife have no children. Ray says he is very silent. Mrs. P. says the wife has always wanted to be a missionary, so she thinks we'll hit it off beautifully. Ray says they're lovely people, so I'm expecting a very pleasant time, especially as Teresa will probably be on her best behavior.

Teresa really studied hard tonight. She has brains if she'd only use them. She's really clever. But she used her cleverness to the worst possible advantage. But she really seemed interested in what I had to say, so I hope I've begun to touch her slightly. So this ends on a bright note. Lots of love to everyone.

The kiddies will be going the day you get this so kiss them each for me and take their pictures- don't forget. Monnie

[At the top of the letter, Ellen wrote:]

Please forward as follows:-

Mrs. Hugh Elmer, Clearwater, Florida, R.D. 1.

Mrs. Harold C. Newberg, 2306 N. Bond St. Saginaw, Mich.

Mr. M. Gould Beard 610 N. Catherine, LaGrange, Ill.

Then back to Mrs. W.L. Beard,

Shelton, Conn.

Don't destroy; they're history.

[This letter, dated January 20, 1937, was written from New York City, New York by Marjorie to Jerry and the family. Marjorie talks about her duties and goals as a governess to Teresa Peabody. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

18 E. 84th St.
New York City
Jan. 20, 1937.

Dear Jerry and the family,

Father's letter came this afternoon- Teresa handed it to me when we came in from dancing class- and I fairly shouted with joy. I certainly did "like to see an envelope from home" Father, and that's putting it mildly. I'll answer the letter first.

As I wrote you last night, Teresa and I are going to move to a cousin of Mr. P.'s on the first of Feb. or thereabouts, so I'm afraid I shall have to make arrangements with those people. I'm sure they wouldn't mind my taking a couple of hours off on that Monday afternoon, since Teresa is at school until 5 anyway, that day. I'll write you about it the first week in February.

Today has been a day of the greatest emotional ups and downs. I really think I've got the clue as to what's the trouble with Teresa, but I'm holding my breath.

This morning's work was insignificant in comparison with the findings of afternoon and evening. I spent most of it trotting around town buying opera tickets for Sat. afternoon and arranging at the Berlitz School of Languages in Radio City for my first lesson in English on Friday morning. I'm to arrange for the succeeding lesson each time, for my schedule here at home isn't at all fixed. It was very snowy and blowy but I loved it, for this is real winter. The snow plows have been working all afternoon and snow piles taller than a man are scattered along the sides of the streets.

Teresa came home for lunch, and we washed her hair, bathed her and practiced piano from then till five, when she went to the Plaza Hotel (Mrs. Beaumont-Smith's hotel, Jerry) for her dancing class. During her dressing and the ride down something must have impressed her as especially clumsy and inexperienced about me for suddenly she asked as we rode along, "Have you ever taken care of anybody before?" And I explained that I hadn't. She was silent for while and then said "Do you like it?" in a more gentle and interested voice than I've heard her use before.

When we got to the hotel, the fact that she now knew I was "green" made me "greener" still. But I think she felt for me, because she guided me about most watchfully in a rather shy, awkward way. It was so queer, being taken care of by someone I was supposed to be in charge of. My prize faux pas came when she was taking off her wraps- a red felt hat and a lovely little red velvet coat. She wore white kid gloves, and in a spasm of helpfulness I burst out "I'll take your gloves." "I'm wearing them," she said, and I sank thru the floor.

When we started upstairs for the ball room (it must have been that, with the crystal chandeliers, little balconies etc.) one of the other girls promptly attached herself to Tray (as every one calls her) and her nurse and I walked side by side in silence for awhile, but finally introduced ourselves, and she- dear lady- took me under her wing when she found I was new, and I blessed her for it. We told her all about "our families". She had been with hers for 24 years and had served three generations. They were real aristocrats for the old dowager to whom she is lady's maid has never put on or taken off her own shoes and stockings. My friend said it proudly. They are Rhinelanders- Germans, I suppose? The girl looked it.

The dancing class was fascinating- all girls, between 12 and 17, dressed beautifully in all colors of velvet and silk, about half had gloves. I learned four new dance steps- if I can ever remember them.

I felt for the first time that jealous pride of servants for their families, for Teresa compared well with the other girls. She is small for her age (Ray says she thinks that's part of what's eating her), but she has a perfect little figure, lovely legs and arms, the cutest most characteristic walk- I'd know her by it anywhere, and an abundance of dark, naturally wavy hair cut in a long bob. She's not pretty, but her large, dark eyes are lovely. (You'd think this was a novel. Truth is stranger than fiction.)

I was amused and touched when the teacher announced at the end of the class that there would be no class next week, that Teresa caught my eye solicitously to be sure I'd got it.

I usually come up to my room right after supper to give Teresa a little time alone with her parents before they go down for their dinner. When I went down to her room, she was industriously studying. Exams are coming next week, so she's a bit interested. Ray says her report card last quarter was so bad that they didn't show it to her parents. She's bright, but indifferent- another of my reformation jobs. She's absolutely unashamed, outwardly, of bad marks, tardiness, etc. Ray says she has no Achilles' heel. We'll see.

I'm surprised at her ability to organize and choose her material for review. She simply won't let me do a thing, but tells me just what to hear her say, and has me ask her dates and declensions and conjugations backwards and forwards unsparing of herself. When she applies herself that way she does it amazingly easily. During the year she evidently just doesn't. Her brother was on the honor roll of his class at Groton, last term.

During her prolonged process of undressing we got to talking about her faults and virtues- I had planned to have a talk with her tonight, and was just steeling myself, when suddenly we just fell into the subject so naturally. And it gave me my golden opportunity; I spoke very frankly about her attitude toward her mother which I think shocking and said so. But I went on to say I wasn't going to nag- esp. about her slowness morning and night- she's forever late. And she burst right out that that's why she was so stubborn- because they all constantly nagged. I'm so hoping that the trouble is as simple as that - do you suppose it can be? Everyone is always telling her to do or not to do something, regardless of who's around. It's so inconsiderate of her feelings. If she were a moron it would be different. But she's of more than average intelligence, and sensitive, I think, so she covers it up with a hard little crust of seeming indifference and defiance. All the nagging has become absolutely meaningless she does exactly as she pleases. Ray says Mrs. P. is utterly powerless with any of the children- even 7-year-old Muriel. Last summer when Ray was away for two days, they told her Muriel ran wild and they were all thankful when she came back. To reform Teresa is the main reason why they got her a governess.

After I had explained that I wasn't going to nag, I asked her what I would do if she didn't do as she knew she ought. I told her she was old and intelligent enough to watch time herself and see that she kept to the schedule she knew perfectly well. She thought for a minute and then suggested that I try her tomorrow- just wake her and not come down to see whether she was up, until I was dressed myself. So I agreed. She even told me breakfast was supposed to be at quarter to eight. She's never down till 8. And this morning she asked me to wake her early to study for a quiz today, and then I went down at quarter to 8 to take her down to breakfast and she was still in bed. I felt like pulling the clothes right off her. But I knew that any demonstration on my part would only make her worse. So I just seemed slightly shocked, and let it go at that. Then's when I resolved on the talk tonight. I've been rather feeling my way toward a plan of action and this morning brought it to a head.

When I said goodnight to her finally I remarked that I thought the plan would work. She flung back gaily, "That's what you think." But I'm hoping that's just a face-saver.

I'm awfully glad she is what she is. She has a strong and most interesting personality, and is essentially serious. She smiles seldom for a child of her age. While we were waiting in the hotel lobby, there was an orchestra playing in another room, and she remarked that she didn't like jazz, only to dance to. At supper she said something about these women who go around all painted up. Neither she nor Muriel ever wear any jewelry. They are really brought up very simply.

Poor Teresa has hardly a minute to herself all day. Except for Friday and Saturday her whole week is full. Maybe that's not exactly simple, but their home life is.

I hope you haven't been bored by this letter. It was an emotional necessity. I was so down at the dancing class because I seemed socially a failure as a governess. Then I was so encouraged by that talk with Teresa tonight- I just had to get it out of my system.

Tomorrow afternoon I'm off. I think I'll go and see Pearl and Bill. They may even invite me to supper. I'll also call Miriam Samuels. I'll try to arrange to go out to Aunt Mollies' next week. It may not be possible to go to the Oberlin supper. I find I can borrow one of the boy's radios from the nurse, and plug it in right beside my bed Saturday night. Grand eh? Did Willard have his hair cut?

When is Jerry coming down? Aunt Phebe, those handkerchiefs are such a comfort now I have enough so that I can send them to the laundry and not have to do any myself.

Loads of love to all, Monnie

[This letter, dated January 31, 1937, was written from Marjorie to the folks at the farm. Marjorie tells more about her job as governess to the Peabody family. She has visited with some acquaintances. She expects to stay about one more month. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

18 E. 84th St.
New York, N.Y.
Jan. 31, 1937.

Dear Folks at the Farm,

Mr. and Mrs. Peabody have left for Florida and we are having a very quiet Sunday afternoon. Since it is so dreary outside, and not too warm inside, and I'm going to be in my room all afternoon, I've lighted a fire for the first time, in my fireplace, and the soft coal is making a cheery blaze which I do so wish you were all here to share with me. Ray, Muriel and I are alone in the house- except for the servants below. Teresa has gone for the weekend to Long Island with her godparents and will not be back till tonight. I had thought I'd ask to be off today and come up to the Farm and surprise you. But I saw that it wouldn't work, because Mrs. P. would have things to tell me at the last minute, and she has already made two concessions for me- last Monday night when Miss Grutchfield came and last Friday night when I went to the Oberlin dinner- so I'm stuck here. I shall get some of my correspondence done; and Ray gave me a card from St. James Episcopal Church, where the Peabody's go, which she got this morning when she took Muriel to S.S., telling about a special service there, to which I may go tonight.

Thursday afternoon I was off. Did a bit of shopping, went to the Trans-Lux, the new movie house at 60th St., which the children go to nearly every week and saw very impressive pictures of the flood. Had supper and came home to get my skating things. Met Miriam Samuels and we went to Madison Sq. Garden rink. The ice was terribly chewed up and my skates were too sharp to go well, and Miriam wasn't feeling too well, so we left at ten o'clock. But we had a very satisfying talk, and she gave me all sorts of encouragement. She's going to be very tied down from now on, for she's taking three courses at Columbia T.C. this semester. Both families with which she has worked have told her she ought to do something with children, since she is so very gifted along that line; so she's decided to take training to be a primary teacher, and plans to do three courses this semester and complete her work with full-time study next year. Besides, she says, teachers get more than librarians. Miriam is very self-assured, isn't she, Jerry? She felt quite capable of giving me all the advice needed for my job. Otherwise I liked her. She was much surprised that I had had any trouble finding work. She had had five offers, all the families eager to get someone they could trust. They baby she has charge of improved tremendously in the first two weeks she had him, and all the trouble with him was that his former nurse had been giving him paregoric to keep him quiet. She says many nurses do that to save themselves trouble. I don't wonder mothers want someone they can trust!

Friday night was most satisfying. Just as soon as I reached the place I found Esther Radachy, a psych. major whom I knew in Oberlin and with her was a 1928 man, whom I never knew at college, but whose face I knew. And he had since been in China- Shanghai, banking- and knew of Father, so we immediately had something in common. I'm enclosing the program of speeches given afterwards. And as you see, I at last heard and saw John Gurney. He looked much the same, and sang well with real operatic drama and finish and effortlessness. After two arias and a funny English folk song, he sang "Ole Man River" which he declares will become a classic. Mr. McDonald spoke of all the peace-preserving measures which have been tried- war, League, disarmament, etc., - and of the failure, and left us with a rather pessimistic view of the world, which Pres. Wilkins was supposed to brighten by giving us some suggestions as to what we could do about it. In speaking of writing to Senators and Representatives to let them know how their constituency thinks, he told of one (of several) letters written by an Oberlin student last year, in the answer to which was a confession by the Congressman that that letter had made him resolve to study up seriously on international affairs. I thought that was noteworthy.

After the dinner, I spoke to Judy Van der Pyl, saw Ethel Metcalf 2, who was so cordial and thought Jerry a great rascal for not writing, and is going to write her to come for a visit. Polly Root was there but I had no chance to speak to her. I saw Henry Douglas (whom I met in the subway that day, Jerry) and met his wife who is a very interesting person of Porto Rican birth, and of Japanese-Spanish parentage (what a combination!) who is interested in social work and knows Rhienhold Neibur (whom she calls "Rheiny") and his wife well, and adores them both. The Douglasses have invited me up any time I can come, and have asked me to come with them to a class (I guess at the Theolog. Seminary) on the Bible as literature every Thursday night. She wears the pants in that household, I think. I never did think there was much to Henry.

Yesterday morning we got Teresa ready and moved her things down to 67th St. where she will stay next month. I shall have to see her to the bus each morning, and take her home from school and see that she is dressed for dinner each night, so I'll get plenty of exercise, thank goodness walking the 17 blocks at least twice each day. And I intend to walk whenever I have time, for the exercise.

Teresa left with her godparents yesterday noon, and in the afternoon I took care of Muriel for Ray, since the latter couldn't have gotten off today, and she will be tied down without any days off, as I will be, next month. In the mornings when the children are at school, and in the evenings when the children are in bed, we will be able to do our errands and get our recreation. I'll be off earlier in the evening because Mrs. P. says when I have dressed Teresa for dinner I'm done for the day- about 6:30 or seven. So I'll be able to stay in for Ray sometimes in the evenings. I'm taking care of Mrs. P.'s mail, too. She gave me my first check today, for about $35, for the two weeks I've been here. It isn't half a month of 31 days, so it's not $40. I shall have to keep all of it and wait to begin payments until next month, for I need some new clothes (Mrs. P. has said nothing further about helping me with them, so I'll have to get a blouse and dress) and Mrs. P. gave me $10 for expenses during the month, and if they run over I'll have to dig into my own purse, she said, until they come home, so I dare not risk running short. We, Teresa and I, have spent more than that in the last two weeks.

Father and Mother, Mrs. Peabody said I could have you up here to call. So either next Monday morning or afternoon, come up to 18 E. 84th and, if you'll write me when to expect you, I'll be here. Get the Madison Ave. up-town bus at the corner of 43 rd and Madison and get off at 84th. Cross Madison Ave. after you get off and it's about the third door down. Just ring the bell. Wallett, the butler, will be expecting you. If you could stay for a later train than the 4:30, we could have tea. Write me anyway. Bring the aunts or Jerry with you if you can. I shall be free until about 5:15 when I go to get Teresa from her music lesson.

Her skating lesson on Tuesday was as much fun for me as for her. The darling costumes, and the tiny children, and the really beautiful skaters among the girls from 10 to 15, were fascinating to watch. Two little 11-year-olds are far on the way to becoming Sonia Heinies. One tiny four-year-old boy in a yellow knitted suit persistently trudged (you could hardly call it skating) round and round and round hanging on to the railing. I don't believe he stopped once during the hour and a half period!

Want to hear some gossip? Mr. Peabody has just paid his income tax- $28,000.00. Mrs. P. says "Isn't that robbery?" Mrs. P. just bought a new hostess gown for informal, at-home dinners- dark red trimmed with fur, with a bustle ruffle and a short train- $200.00 [using an online inflation calculator, this equates to about $3,000 in 2007]. (This from Ray, who is the eager vendor of all such information, bless her. I like her better every day, she's so good hearted.)

Anne, the chamber-maid, says Teresa is getting better natured. Otherwise, I can't see much change in her. Tho I know I influence some of her opinions, I can't seem to change her actions much. Miriam Samuels says "Have patience. I didn't begin to see any change in my three-year-old girl until lately, and I've been with my family since early fall. Teresa is 13 and you've been with her only two weeks." In a way, I'm sorry she's going away during February, tho Ray and I agree it will be the very best thing for her to have to toe the mark with no one to give in to her. But now I can't see what I could have done with her. Any changes will be attributable to her training at her godparent's. They are both awake to her problems.

Please send my trunk- it looks as if I were going to stay at least a month more! And send me the bill for expressing it. I'll also pay Father for the skates and things Jerry so kindly sent (they got here at 7 o'clock Thurs. morning!) and he can repay her.

Thankyou, Aunt Phebe, for your most welcome letter. Letters are events these days. Dorie's letter was good, Jerry. I'm enclosing it in case you want it again. Lots of love to all, Monnie.

I tried the small portable radio a week ago last night, but couldn't get any Canadian station, tho they all insist they've had even England on it. Last night I was so dead sleepy, I didn't sit up. But next Saturday night I'm going to try again. Did you hear my message go thru?

[This letter, dated March 1937, was written from Century Farm by Virginia to Ellen in Putnam. She thanks Ellen for watching young Willard and Hazel. Gould is away with work and they are in the process of moving from Cincinnati to La Grange, Ill. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Century Farm
Shelton, Connecticut

[March 1937]
Monday afternoon

Mother Dear-

I have a very guilty feeling that I haven't written and told you how much both Gould and I appreciated the generous and splendid care you gave our kiddies while with you here.

We were so anxious that they both learn to know and love you and Father as they do the rest of both families and it certainly accomplished it I think, if the amount of discussion of Grandma means anything. I've been told by them all the nice things you did for them. How grandma slept in the room so that you'd hear them if they called, shown the splendid patches that were put on the knees (they are holding out better than the rest of the suits), all about singing with Grandma and countless other things.

You were a jewel to do it my Dear and Gould and I can't say thank you enough.

Our house is only about half settled. We couldn't get our goods out of Cincinnati, but they were not the least bit damaged and we'll probably have them in another month. The kitchen, and bedroom and the kiddies room is complete, the dining room still boasts only a card table and the living room a studio couch, folding chair, world globe on floor standard, Encyclopedia Britannica, and my serving cabinet. The studio couch will go into our third bedroom which is going to be fixed up as a den.

I'm hoping that Dot and Harold may be able to come down and spend Easter with us.

I haven't seen Gould very much since Christmas. He left Chicago Jan 3rd and got back Jan 15th. Then left again Feb. 5th and isn't back yet. You see he is testing and taking delivery on 5 more Douglas planes for us. He had gotten three of them when the strike set in! They were supposed to open today again but don't know whether they were able. So haven't any real idea when he'll be back; certainly hope it is soon for we don't either of us enjoy these separations.

I had planned to stay East until Gould was ready to leave the coast but if he isn't leaving within a week I think I'll pick up the kiddies and go back to LaGrange anyway. I just don't feel that I should be away much longer, for I have altogether too much to do back there and then too I want to get the kiddies back in school again.

Tuesday morning-

I'm on my way into New York for the day. The enclosed advertisement I thought might interest you. I'm going to look at them this morning and will tell Monnie about them on the phone so that if you should want one for Aunt Emma she could get it for you on Thursday if you let her know right away.

How I wish I might get up to Putnam, before I leave but it is quite impossible. Do give my love to Uncle Elbert and Aunt Emma. It was so nice seeing them at Christmas.

I have been at the farm since last Friday and probably will stay until this Thursday or Friday.

Mother is going into N.Y.C. with me and just asked that I be sure and send her regards to you.

I'm so glad you can have this nice visit in Putnam but am very sorry I won't see you again before I leave, but will hope to see you in Chicago soon after we finally get all settled.

Much Love
Virginia

[This letter, dated March 8, 1937, was written from Florida by Kathleen to her mother, Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert. She thanks Emma for the dress for Jill. They visited the Ringling Brother's winter quarters in Sarasota, Florida. The Elmer's garden is abundant this year. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

March 8 [1937]

Dear Mother, Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert,

News has been rather scarce from you folks in the North this month but I am presuming that you, Mother, are still in Putnam and Father is at the Farm. I see that I made a mistake in sending his birthday socks there but you knew what to do with them anyway.

Since I wrote the above the darling little blue dress from Aunt Emma came. Thankyou so very much Aunt Emma. It is sweet and just Jill's color. She wanted to put it on right away so we tried it on and found it a perfect fit. She will wear it a lot this spring and summer.

We had a little birthday party for our two-year-old last Wednesday, having her three cousins, her grandmother and Aunt Enid over to help celebrate. The children had a grand time breaking six balloons and eating jello and cake. Here are some recent snaps of her and her cousins. The one showing the zebras was taken down at Sarasota when we visited the Ringling Bros. winter quarters. The one with Jill under the parasol was taken in our back yard. Something blemished the film and left a mark on her feet but it is pretty good otherwise. She isn't fond of having her picture taken and I have a hard time making her pose. She is growing so fast now that she out grows her clothes in a few months. She has shot up more than an inch since you saw her and has done a little filling out too. She isn't so shy now and I'm sure she would take to you all in a few minutes if she could see you.

Father Elmer's garden is bearing lots of strawberries and peas now, so many in fact that they have a canning fest every week and I go over to help. This year has been the best so far for growing vegetables and he is encouraged by the abundant harvest he is getting. The first two winters here were very bad- too cold and rainy, but I guess they would call this a normal Florida winter.

Two weeks ago a friend of Mother Elmer's from her days in Turkey came for a four day visit. The other house is full so we entertained her here for nights and breakfasts. Perhaps you, Mother, have heard of her, Miss Worley, now of Salonici, Greece. The A.B.C.F.M. is withdrawing support from the girl's school there and Miss Worley is raising funds in this country to continue the work. We found her very interesting and lovely. She remembered Phebe in Oberlin and said she had heard of you and Father.

I fear I never answered Aunt Emma's good letter which came in January. I did send a card to Aunt Viola tho, and hope it reached her in time for her birthday. I do love to get your letters Aunt Emma and will be more prompt about answering your next one. Yours and Mother's birthdays are coming soon and I suppose you will celebrate together. I'll send some good wishes now and more when the time comes for both of you.

We all send our love to all three of you-

Kathleen

Jill Elmer

[Photos from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter, dated March 19, 1937, was written from Florida by Kathleen to Monnie. Kathleen had a birthday party for Jill. She tells about their family life in Florida. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

March 19 [1937]

Dear Monnie:

Guess I haven't written since your birthday have I? But have been what I call "busy" for the last few weeks. Other people probably wouldn't say I did much but Jill can consume so much time and I have been helping the family some.

Your two letters have been gobbled up and re-gobbled in the usual way and I could stand more. I must correct you on your niece's age however. You must be thinking of Willard for Jill has had only two years of illumined life. She loves her new doll and is forever wanting me to undress it. I do think Jerry and the Aunts got up a very cute outfit and am eager to see your creation. Don't hurry on it tho; because there is no danger of the baby getting cold in this weather. We had a little party for Jill to which Mother, Enid and the three children came. Five balloons entranced them until eating time and the popping of four disturbed them not at all. I made a little cake with robin's-egg blue frosting and pink candles which we ate with jello and tea (orange juice for the little ones). It wasn't much of a party but the children got a kick out of it.

I know how "suspended" you feel about word from Ralph and I hope it comes soon. Is he coming down to N.Y or just to Montreal? Are you going to quit work in June anyway and does Mrs. P. have any idea that you are only a temporary governess?

Jerry said "narry" a word in her letters about her nose. Will these operations clear up her bronchial trouble? I wish my nose could be excavated too for it does me little good as is, and isn't any decoration either.

We did see Maid of Salem when it was here and liked it very much. Romeo and Juliet was also grand. I am very fond of Norma Shearer and she is so sweet as Juliet. There are several other good shows I would like to see but we can't always arrange to go when they are showing in Clearwater. "Lost Horizon" and "Winterset" are on our list of must sees, and I'd love to see Sonya Heinie's skating in "One in a Million."

Pearl is on another rampage now. She is completely absent and no help at all so I've been helping with washing and picking vegetables over there and have done lots of driving for Father this week. I like to drive but it takes time to go to Clearwater and St. Pete and I don't get much done here. Of course Jill goes with me everywhere and, while she likes to ride, she gets restless on long drives and wants to get out. I'll be rather glad when Rol stops work again and can be their chauffeur. He says he is going to take his family North this summer to stay. He's disgusted with jobs down here and thinks things will be going better in Warren again. We will miss them awfully- especially Jill will miss Molly. I don't know what Mother will do without Enid.

I sent some snaps of Jill to the Farm and to Mother so maybe you can get a look at them since I haven't enough prints to go around. I thought maybe your picture would come today so held this over for comment but, it didn't and I want to send this on.

This week a Miss Bailey (I think that's the name) and Miss Shelton and two other ladies stopped to call. I don't remember any of them very well but was glad to see them. She, Miss Bailey, raved about how sweet and interesting you were and how she enjoyed Father's talks. Fortunately I had just been to Clearwater and so looked half way presentable. We are going again this Sunday to see the Nichols and have supper with them. I think they must be leaving shortly for the north, but am not sure.

I must get to work on some of my lagging correspondence, much as I don't feel like it. Jill can say your name (Monnie) very plainly, but Aunt Jerry sounds something like "Ann Duwy". She calls herself Du (Jill) and me "Kassie". She fell the length of Mothers back steps the other day (about 8) and scratched her nose and forehead so looks quite banged up. Love as ever Kathie

[This letter, dated March 27, 1937, was written from Oberlin, Ohio by Etta Kinney Hume to Ellen. She wishes Ellen a happy 70th birthday. Etta updates Ellen on her family and various acquaintances. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Oberlin March 27/37

Dear Ellen:-

Birthday Greetings to you on the 29th! How does it feel to be almost 70 yrs old? Not much change in feelings from year to year I can tell by experience. You must be feeling younger, rather than older, with your grandchildren, if you are like father, who felt ten years younger after the twins came. Grandchildren, - two in one order, rejuvenated him.

It is always a question what to get people (who have nearly everything) for a present. Should I send you a rose bush or another apron? As you do wear aprons, and probably do not have time to make them as you are busy with speaking engagements, am sending you another, which I bought at our Bazaar. You will think my selection of both rather gay but all of those on sale seemed to be very colorful, and seeing much color in China you are accustomed to it. I am giving Emma a rose bush, and that would have been equally appropriate for you; as you will, no doubt, have a little patch at the farm where you can cultivate flowers of your own choice.

I'm wondering if Marjorie is liking her work better as she continues as governess. No doubt she is enjoying N.Y. City. Quite different from Labrador isn't it? Stewart disliked to leave the city. He enjoyed the Y.M.C.A. advantages; Fordich's church; and the Lake Chatauqua reunions, and the hikes with Geraldine, and others. He likes his work much better now in the Acceptance Dept. of General Motors. It takes him out doors and he was looking better after he was in Youngstown a few weeks. In N.Y. he took "bottled sunshine" – (Cod Liver Oil in Capsules) to keep fit. We expected him home last week end but did not come, and again this week end with Millicent but he is so busy the last of the month he could not get away. His work was held up a little by the strike. His roommate's father died, and he went home to take his father's business; Stewart was given his work; and he has been busy since.

Millicent came yesterday for a week's vacation. Lucybelle and Myron will be in Sunday to dinner. They were over Tues. evening to attend the Conservatory Concert. The Orchestra of 90 pieces gives two free concerts a year.

The Girls Glee Club has just given its home concert. I went last year but did not go this year. They are on their concert tour in the South and West.

Mrs. Van der Pyl passed away a few weeks ago; buried in N. Hampshire. Think it must have been at their summer home. Prof. Miller's wife died a week ago. Think you must have known her. She taught children in the Conservatory until two yrs. ago. Two sisters of Mrs. Upton have recently died. One was Mrs. Nelson, who has been a missionary in China, and the other Miss Elmore, who has been a teacher in Brooklyn. When she retired ten years ago, she and her friend, Miss Henry, built a nice house on Morgan St. They were both making a visit in Brooklyn when Miss Elmore died suddenly.

Prof. and Mrs. Upton are spending their sabbatical in Washington and she has been called home twice by the death of her sisters.

Elbert writes he has decided to make his trip this summer, but did not say when he planned to start.

I will probably go East about June 23- as the reunion at Mt. Harmon is 25-28. I will be with Emma a while, during Elbert's absence, and hope you will be in Putnam at the same time.

I suppose Marjorie has not made any definite plans about her wedding.

Millicent is going up town so I'll conclude this that she may mail it. I sent the apron to Shelton day before yesterday, and I hope this letter may reach you before you start for Putnam. Elbert said you were to be there April 1st.

We are having real winter. Quite a lot of snow. There will be few Easter outfits tomorrow.

Mrs. Davis led a women's meeting in Fairchild chapel in new Theol. Building Friday at 7 o'clock, and a meeting followed at the church at 8; Communion was held Thurs. Night. Have heard Lent services over the radio from Detroit.

I enclose Mrs. Davis outline.

Birthday Greetings- and Easter Greetings to all

With love-

Etta.

I intended to remember the Feb. birthdays in your family, but failed to look them up in time. We have five in March in our family. Bobbie 12, Helen 13, Donald 31, Stewart and Millicent 16th.

[This letter, dated March 27, 1937, was written from Fukien province, China by W.H. Topping. He tells Willard about a dispute over some land that their church is on and asks Willard for a written statement that might shed any light on the situation. A response by Willard to Mr. Topping's letter is written at the end of the letter. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Church of Christ in China
Mid Fukien Synod
Mar. 27, 1937.

Dear Mr. Beard:

There are so many things piling up that I have been hoping to write you about, that I must not delay any longer. We have greatly appreciated your fine letters which have come to the mission one way or another. They all give the impression that you are kept busy, not only with pigs and cattle, but with speaking, and strenuous social rounds. We envy you your good home life in the land of the free, etc. I am herewith enclosing some pictures which we took the day you left, and some taken before that time. They are very poor, but perhaps will serve to stir your memory of the send off early in the morning over at Dong-ciu. I could not get a shot at Mrs. Beard's face, so had to be content with the back of her head. I hope that you got some good ones on the way home. We got some great pictures on our last trip.

Now, to open the meeting, the first matter of business, is Au-cieu. After Sing-gang's death, the son Nguk-guong claimed the day school property, and collected the rent. He said that he had the deed to it given by his father, and it was registered etc. in good shape. We did not hurry to dispute his claim. We consulted lawyer Gong, and he said that since we had the deed of the land, that the property built thereon after we bought the land, could only be claimed if we had given permission to the builder-owner to build it. We of course had given no such permission, because the building was supposedly our own and not Sing-gang's. It looked as if Sing-gang's family were trying to freeze on to the property. They soon got to see this themselves, and gave up that trench of "Ownership". The next claim was that the church owed the family $280 for a loan made by someone to Sing-gang at the time the school building was built. The money the family claims is still owing, and so the Church must pay this. I told Nguk-guong I was willing to investigate. I told him that Newell was one of the committee and he had better to [go] and see Pop. This Nguk-guong and wife did at once. Pop told them that he himself was the treasurer when the school building went up, and he and no one else handled the money, and that he had squared up everything absolutely. This was a stagerer, and they told Pop that the $280 had nothing whatever to do with the school building, but was connected with the church building. This was trench number three. We wonder if you can remember anything about the building of the Church. They have never made any claim to that property, and we are sure that no one would loan funds on Church property to an individual. Even if it were true, it could be the church committee which would be responsible, and not the District. We would be glad if you could put any statement in writing on a separate sheet of paper, if you can make a statement which you think would be of value. The week before Sin-gang died, Ling Iu-cu and I had a long talk with Sing-gang and settled up all his claims on the church. He owed the District treasurer $39 and signed papers to have that paid out of 1937 subsidy to his church. He said nothing about anyone owing him any money. The accounts showing debt of $280 were in the year 1916. i.e. their family accounts. (My typewriter is gone bad) We have an account showing Sing-gang borrowed $100 from the Treasurer in 1917, so that it is not likely the Synod owed him.

I am enclosing a letter from Ung Huai-iu which I will not try to translate. It is his usual appeal for funds, which you can understand without reading. Many others have been here wanting me to make an appeal to you on their behalf. Pang from Au-seu, is very anxious for me to make a strong appeal for him. You know the situations at these places. Len Christian has been doing some good work at Au-seu, and there is promise of good there. It is as you know run under the auspices of Hartwell Memorial Church. This brings up thoughts of Pastor Guok. He has never bent a hair from his former attitude of having done nothing wrong about Sing-gang's wedding. He has not submitted to discipline and has gone on conducting his own Communion services. The subsidy to his church was cut off because of their attitude toward their Pastor's insubordination. The matter thus stands as it was. At the Pastor's Association which met this week, a resolution was passed asking him to come to the meetings - -- which he has not been attending. The meetings are for both Pastors and preachers, and are for the deepening of the spiritual and intellectual life, and we feel that he needs this as much as the rest of us. A committee of three was asked to see him - - - Len Christian, Diong-huak, and Ieu from West Gate. I am on the best of terms with him, and preach in his church occasionally. I never refer to the matter.

Lawyer Gong fell out of a rickshaw and is probably lame for life. He was told by Dr. Jarvis after his X-ray that he should either go to Shanghai for an operation, or should get the bones placed by a competent physician and lay absolutely still in bed for several months. Jarvis told me this. Lawyer Gong did neither. He took rather the advice of his evangelistic friends - - -many of whom you know - - -not to show his lack of faith in God, by trusting in the knowledge of men. I went to see him once, and he walked round the table - -hanging on for dear life - - -to prove what God could do for a man who had faith in God rather than in a mere doctor. I have heard both Ieu Soi-ling and Pastor Guok in sermons refer to this cure as a wonderful example of Faith in God as against faith in a human doctor. Had it not been for this pernicious evangelistic advice, no doubt Lawyer would have had his operation, and the promise of two good legs. Now it is too late. One leg is about three inches shorter than the other already.

I must say a word about the Kuliang Council. I was asked to send you a letter of appreciation at the Resident's meeting. Skerret-Rogers is back in Foochow and has put $2000 on his Kuliang house. The new swimming pool is being built where the Chinese Club was. That property was given to the Council for this purpose. The Provincial Gov. contributed $1000 to the project. It will cost about $2000. Tieng-die is dead. He was accused of having part in some thefts. His son was accused, and his wife imprisoned. I know now he was not the thief. He ran up and down the mountain too much over it, and died. We will miss him at Kuliang. I always liked him and got on well with him.

The work goes on as usual. Ling-iu-cu and I were at Ingtau and missed you and Mrs. Beard. The other day at the Pastor's meeting at Ling-iu-cu's we asked the Chinese what kind of foreign desert they like best. Kiu said: "Bi-go", which translated means Mrs. Beard's cake. We all send our greetings to you all. Cuthbert, Muriel, and Rena are all in Japan.

Very cordially yours,
[signature]
W.H. Topping.

[Handwritten]

Thanks for the nuts at Xmas. We've all enjoyed your gift and the kind thoughtfulness which prompted it.

Bessie and I went "in" to the Oxford Group at Meetings during the retreat with Bishop Root past October. The Bingham's are just back and are also "in" it.

[Willard's carbon copy of his response to Mr. Topping's letter:]

Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.
U.S.A.

April 26th, 1937.

Rev. W. H. Topping
Foochow
China

Dear Mr. Topping:-

Regarding your inquiry relating to the claim of Rev. Ling Seng-gang's son for $280.00 for a loan made to his father many years ago. I am very much surprised. For forty two years Rev. Long Seng-gang and I have been very intimate. We have always talked very freely. In 1896 the first building was rented for a chapel in Au Ciu. I have known the circumstances of the church since then, the acquiring of the land for the present building and the getting of the building, the dedication and all. Mr. Newell was in charge when the school building was gotten. But Mr. Ling and I talked that all over. If there had been any encumbrance on the property, church or school, he never mentioned it to me. We always took it for granted that the property was free of encumbrances of any kind.

As to the church owing him money, or the school owing him money he never mentioned it to me. He has several times told me he did not need money.

In the light of the above I am very much astonished that any one should present a claim of this kind, and special of so long standing.

Very sincerely yours,

[This typewritten letter, dated March 31, 1937, was written from LaGrange, Illinois by Virginia to the dearest family one and all. Virginia, Gould and family have moved from Cincinnati, Ohio to LaGrange, Illinois. She describes a flight they took. Virginia asks Geraldine about the surgery on her nose. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

610 N. Catherine
LaGrange, Illinois
March 31, 1937

Dearest Family One & All:-

If I don't just stop and take time out to get this letter written now I don't know when I will get it done. Right now I am spending nearly all my spare time house hunting and believe me it is a mighty discouraging job. Rents here have gone up terrifically according to the supply and demand, most certainly not according to the quality of the houses. I have seen a couple of fairly good ones but they are both two story frame houses and not in the location we want and do not have automatic heat but I am afraid it is going to be a case of - - beggars cannot be choosers --.

All the goods arrived from Cincinnati storage the day after we got word that the house had been sold and we would have to vacate within sixty days. Needless to say we did not have any of the barrels or cases unpacked. However we are overjoyed in a few ways. When I opened the pasteboard cedarized cartons that I had my blankets and linens sealed in, I could still smell the moth crystals that I put in two years and nine months ago and they were in perfect condition. I was so tickled for I a little bit dreaded what I might find. My silver was just as I left it and we found one box that we thought had gone to California and been lost there when we came back the first time. Now if the cases and barrels are holding their contents in as good condition I shall sit down and write Pagels a real thankyou note after we get settled again and everything unpacked. I can't begin to tell you how grand it seems to have all our belongings under one roof and to use at any time we care to.

Mother I hope you are getting as much pleasure from the use of your comforter as I am of mine. It came the week after we got back here with the kiddies and I have used it on our bed nearly every night since. How did yours turn out Aunt Emma? I'm so proud of mine and the dark blue matches as near perfectly the upholstery on my bedroom chair and vanity bench as is possible when one is satin and the other taffeta.

Our dining room set has been ordered and am expecting it within a week or so. I'm terribly anxious to see it all together for it is from three different companies and sections of the country. The chairs from Wisconsin, the table from Charak of New York and the buffet and china-closet from some wheres around Georgia or the Carolinas. I know it is taking a chance but it had to be done to get what we wanted. It is all in Walnut only because I couldn't get some of it in mahogany as we would liked to have had all of it. We still have to buy rugs but it will be another month before we invest in those. What we do about our livingroom will a little bit depend on the house we find.

We had so hoped that Dot and Harold could spend Easter with us but they were both too tied up with the work to get away very much to ours and the kiddies disappointment. Mother they were so tickled with their cards you sent them. The only one they received and they are being treasured.

About our trip back here. - - Monnie we were so sorry not to make connections with you for a few minutes anyway. Seeing Gerry helped tho. I had no idea it would be so hard for the kiddies to say goodbye, but Hazel just wept her little heart out before we left that morning and she has said countless times since here in our own home; "Mother it is so good to be all together in our own home again, but I did so hate to leave the Farm and Nana's." They both still talk of all the nice things you did for them and the interesting things they saw and did. I really think the both will never forget those two months in the East.

We had no trouble getting out on the plane. First they thought we might have to go out on the noon local via Buffalo and Detroit but at the last minute there was room for us all on the noon nonstop. We went right up through the clouds and flew on top in the most gorgeous sunshine and all those fluffy billowy clouds underneath us. We only had fleeting glimpses of the ground about a half dozen times during the entire trip; but we didn't care for it was raining down there. They served us a delicious dinner. Lets see if I can remember at this late date what the menu was. Hot boullion, fried chicken that was perfectly grand, string beans, potato balls, slaw and orange salad, hot rolls, coffee, and delightful ambrosia custard. Uncle Elbert you'd better try one of our trips when you come out to make us that promised visit. Yes you'll even find the stewardess very charming young ladies for the most part. If they don't stop getting married by the wholesale though I won't know any of our girls any more. Did you see the pictures of several of our girls and their husbands in the last issue of Life?

The kiddies loved the trip. Willard took a splendid nap after filling his little tummy to the bursting stage under Daddy's supervision. The stewardess was lovely with them and they had a good time visiting the other passengers. Willard was saying only tonite during one of his mental ramblings, that a great big truck would come and take everything and then we would go on a long airplane ride and then finally get the automobile out and then we'd be in our new home. Poor youngster felt quite disappointed when we told him that this time there would be no long airplane ride because our new home we hoped would be right here in LaGrange.

Gould has been to Newark two or three times in the last couple of weeks. He is having to check out the Pilots on the new ships that they are putting on the new nonstop run from here to Washington and then Newark. The run was inaugurated today. Gould is having to go out on it again tomorrow and gets about 8.30 Saturday night on the same trip.

We have had one or two touches of spring since we got back but that is all. The first week after we returned we had snow every day but none stayed more than a few hours very much to Hazel's chagrin.

Gerry how is the nose? Certainly hope this takes care of things for you. Hazel has been in bed for the last four days with a good case of bronchitis that started out with an earache. I just went in to her and she is sweating so the fever must be breaking for which I'm very glad. She ought to be already to go back to school Monday I think. This has been her Easter vacation. Billy Littlewood has spent his vacation in bed in the hospital having his appendix out. Has come along very nicely and are bringing him home Friday night. I took "A Genius in the Family" over for him to read and Dot said he got to laughing so hard he had to stop reading it because it hurt him. I talked with her this noon (Thursday) and she said he had finished it and he didn't believe he had ever enjoyed any book as much. They all want to read it now.

Willard likes his new Nursery School very much. I'm so glad I was able to find a good one here for him. Hazel is enjoying kindergarden too and is really beginning to learn things. Several times she has come home with a paper with free hand drawings on it and she has explained to me that the teacher had read a certain story to them and they had to draw it on paper what the story had been about. One of the papers had the blackbirds nipping off the maids nose. I've forgotten the others for the moment.

This end of the Beard Family will be very happy if the fireplace set works in nicely at the Farm. I was so glad when I hit on something I thought you might get a lot of use out of.

Mother I am returning Monnies letters that Dot just forwarded to us last Saturday. They were so interesting, thank you so much for sending them the rounds. I'm going to ask you to send this the rounds if you don't mind. Will make Saginaw the last stop for Dot and I are both the worlds worst about forwarding letters.

Kathie how is Jill since she got over her whooping cough or is hers hanging on. I know it does with some children. We were mighty lucky with Hazel and Willard when they had it last summer and we are thankful it has been had and is over with. How we wish we might see the three of you. How I wish the entire family might all be together before Monnie goes North again if she and Ralph get married this summer.

The wood in our nice fireplace is just a mass of glowing coals gradually dying out and with it my thoughts are about used up and it's time I stopped so Gould will go to bed. Could use a little sleep myself after a couple of poor nights with Hazel.

Much Love to each and every one of you from all of us.

Ginny

From a Pearl River newspaper dated Wednesday, March 31, 1937

Rotary Hears Talk on China

Education Plays Big Part in Chinese Progress, Nyack Club is Told.

Education has played a most important part in the material and physical changes during the last half century of China's history, according to Dr. Willard L. Beard, president of Foo Chow College, who spoke to the Nyack Rotary Club yesterday on progress and changes he has witnessed during the 42 years he spent in the Orient.

Modern highways connecting the cities and provinces and bus transportation facilities that are equal to anything on our highways now provide dependable services to all parts of the nation, he said. Although communism has made progress he expressed doubt it could hold any gain since the philosophy of communism is not in keeping with the traditional Chinese mind.

"The army comprises almost 2,000,000 well armed and efficiently trained men," Dr. Beard said. "And while no effort is being made to establish a navy, every effort is being made to build a first-rate army and a large air corps. Today it is not uncommon to see young ladies soliciting contributions on the streets and in busses, and railways trains for funds to purchase airplanes from America.

"A combination of things made possible the march of progress, but the crucial thing was education. In 1908 the Empress abolished the old school system and in its place established one based on the best to be found in the Western world. Since then progress has been slow but steady.

"One of the interesting things education has brought to the nation has been the change in the status of women. When I first went to China, it was considered a waste of time and money to educate a girl. 'A girl is too stupid so why waste time educating her' was the reaction. Today, however, girls receive the same advantage of education as do the boys. Some of China's most progressive leaders are women."

Stanley D. Beard of the Pearl River club was a visitor.

[Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter, dated April 2, 1937, was written from Florida by Kathleen to Monnie. Kathleen thanks Monnie for the gifts that she sent. Hugh would like to get a job in accounting. Kathleen and Hugh went to a nightclub and left Jill with Hugh's mother to baby sit. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

April 2 [1937]

Dear Monnie:

The little tea-set is sweet and Jill did so want to play with it, but I knew that it would go the way her little one did (the one Aunt Mary got her up there) so I just let her hold a few pieces and then put it away. She has forgotten about it now but she loves the utensils and plays with them a lot. Two cups got broken en-route but I think that is a pretty good percentage for the distance it had to come. We will use it at the next party we give. Thankyou loads for such a cute outfit. Your picture came the day after I wrote last, and thankyou for it too. It is good but not your best expression or angle for your face. The family all thought it excellent, but I will say (as Ralph probably does) that I'd rather see you in person- and how I wish I could. You asked if there was any prospect of our moving North. I don't think so, at least not for some years. Hugh thinks he wants to get into something down here and establish a permanent home here. He is working toward being an accountant and there seems to be some opening in that field if only he can find it. We both like Florida, especially this part, very much, and often wonder if we would enjoy a Northern winter again. If we could have a couple of months in the North each summer it would be quite ideal here, but of course it is all day dreams as yet. We're merely scraping along on a fish line now and hoping something will break.

I hope you have heard something from Ralph by now, or perhaps even seen him. Do keep me posted on events concerning your beloved for I am feeling with you.

Your job has worked out rather nicely, hasn't it? And will release you just at the right time. When I quit as a waitress in N.Y.C. they felt rather bitter about it for I only worked three weeks and I suppose it was unfair of me not to tell them. From what you say of Mrs. P. she must be a very reasonable and likeable person. You were lucky.

Well, we at last got to a night club in St. Pete and tried to trip again on rusty feet. I didn't get much kick out of it and didn't get into the dancing mood either. Guess I'm getting old. It was Father's treat to us and he went too. The floor show was amateurish and not a little dirty, and the floor was crowded. But we had fun watching a young gold-digger play up to an old fool who resembled W.C. Fields, and there was nothing subtle about it. Jill stayed with her grandmother and howled when we left, so I had her on my mind much of the evening. Poor little thing does hate to be left. I took her on a shopping trip to Tampa when I drove Mother and Father there and she enjoyed the stores so much. It's hard to shop and watch her too, so I didn't get half what I wanted to. I did get some lavender gloves with flowers to match for Mother. Do they go with her spring things? I do so hope she wears them. What did you finally do to celebrate her birthday?

I can't keep track of Jerry so if she is there this is to her too, and I hope she has luck in finding a temporary job. I have seen nothing of that long letter sent via Dot, Jerry. She is having one of her letter lapses now and it may run on for months. Love to you both Kathie

The package came alright addressed just R.D. 1. The mail man knows us, in fact even delivered a letter addressed to Jacqueline Beard which Father sent. That's observation for you isn't it?

[This letter, dated April 9, 1937, was written from New York City, New York by Monnie to her father and mother. She will be staying a little longer with the Peabody family and then may look for temporary work for the summer. Ralph is doing an apprenticeship with his company and won't be home for another year. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

18 E. 84th St.
New York City
April 9, 1937.

Dear Father and Mother,

This is just a short note to corroborate Jerry's announcement that I am staying on with the Peabody's until the first of June. Evidently Mr. and Mrs. P. talked it over and decided that it would be best to keep me during May while Mrs. P. went to the hospital to have a tumor removed. They may keep me after that for all I know. I was so disappointed when Mrs. P. asked me to stay on, for I had had visions of the last two weeks of April at the Farm, during these glorious spring days. And here the life is so dreary. But I suppose I ought to be thankful, so I'll try to be.

During June and July Mrs. P. suggests getting work thru a Temporary Work Agency. That gives work taking care of the children of transients at hotels just for the week or two while they are in town. Temporary work always pays more, and if I can get enough of it, it ought to be profitable. I shall sign up again with teacher's agencies, if Jerry gets no encouragement for me from the school at Locust Valley, L.I. where she is visiting today.

Yesterday I shopped for Becky and managed to spend about $35 of her money. I was fortunate to be able to get so much in one day. She wanted it soon.

Have I written that Mr. Butt says Ralph will not be home until a year from this summer, so I shall plan to teach next year. It will be best for us both if he takes the regular five year apprentice-ship required of all new Company men, and isn't favored because of relationship to the high-ups. But this year will seem awfully long. Yours and Aunt Phebe's letters were good. I shall answer the letter soon. Mother's birthday gift from me will come later. Had letters from Gould and Kathleen. Will send them on when answered. Must close. Much love to all, Monnie

[This letter dated May, 9, 1937 was probably written from Clearwater, Florida by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen asks about Geraldine's nose operation. Kathleen is pregnant with her 2nd child. Hugh's sister, Pearl, is in the hospital but is doing better (schizophrenia). Hugh's current job will be ending and he will have to find another. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

May 9, [1937]

Dear Jerry:

Your letter was dandy and I'm glad your nose is fixed up. If it is a very noticeable improvement in your breathing I would like to know more about it for I'm sure my nose would show about 1% breathing space in an exray. It has always been the bane of my existence.

Thanks for the letter about England. I hadn't seen it before and I think it quite the prize of all you wrote. The preceding ones I sent on to Ginny before Christmas and asked her to send them back to you, so if you don't have them Ginny may know where they are. I'm returning this one directly.

No, I haven't read "Gone with the Wind" yet but would if I could lay hands on it. The mention of it on the radio so much is enough to arouse anyones curiosity. I hear that its success has quite unstrung its authoress tho.

I am feeling much better after the flu but still don't have much energy, due, I suppose, to the fact that the next little Elmer is using it all. (Mother told you didn't she?) We expect its arrival in January but it may fool us as Jill did. I don't imagine I will feel much like travelling this summer and that means that unless you come down here I won't see you and Monnie for another whole year. I am writing Dot trying to persuade her and Harold to drive down and bring so many of you Beards as can come. If you don't have a job by July I do wish you would come down for at least a few weeks. I don't think you would mind the heat so much if we went to the beach every day and we could take things easy.

Pearl is still in the Tampa hospital but the doctor says she is much better. We expect to bring her home toward the end of this week and I do so hope she will be well enough not to be a care. Hugh has taken Father over to see her today. If the treatment does make her normal again it will be a wonderful thing.

Enid's family is still here and will be at least until the packing house closes. If Rol finds work after that they may not leave. Coachman's will be closed at the end of this month and Hugh will have to find something else, but just what it will be we don't know yet.

You people do go around so much that I never know where you are but I guess if I send letters to the Farm they will always reach you. How long did you stay at Pearl River? And are the folks back from Putnam yet?

We are having tomatoes and corn from Father's garden now and string beans. Soon their cow will be fresh again and we will have plenty of milk. We have been getting along on one quart a day all winter. Berries are gone now but melons will soon be ripe and mangos in a month or so.

Several of our neighbors have gone North already and it seems rather quiet but it isn't hot yet and the nights are almost chilly. Jill is glad to be wearing sun suits again, all of which I have had to lengthen this year. Much love from us all Kathie

[This postcard, postmarked June 3, 1937, was written from Boston, Massachusetts by Monnie to her mother. Monnie has finished her job with the Peabody's and is staying with Bella Butt before coming down to the farm. Postcard from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[Postmarked June 3, 1937]

Thursday

Dear Mother,

I am staying tonight with Bella Butt at her friend's in Newton Highlands. Left the Peabody's this morning. Will leave here tomorrow afternoon, arrive Bridgeport tomorrow night at 8:27 and come to Shelton on the bus. Will telephone when I get in. We are in Boston this afternoon. See you soon. It's good to be free.

Love to all,
Monnie

Written on back: "1937"

Left to right: Stephen Beard, Ellen Kinney Beard, Marjorie Beard, Willard Beard, unidentified woman, Mary Beard, Ruth Beard, Myra Palmer Beard, Geraldine Beard, Stanley Beard, Nancy Beard, unidentified woman, Phebe Maria Beard, unidentified man..

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This postcard, postmarked June 4, 1937, was written by Hazel Beard to her grandmother, Ellen. She writes a brief note en route to Chicago. Postcard has a photo of an American Airlines Flagship airplane. Postcard from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[Postmarked June 4, 1937]

[Addressed to:]

Mrs. W.L. Beard
Century Farm
Long Hill Ave
Shelton, Conn.

Dear Grandma Beard, Sonny and Mother and Daddy and I are riding home from Detroit to Chicago. Daddy came to Saginaw from Los Angeles Sunday and spent Monday with us at Uncle Harolds and Auntie Dots. All my love-
Hazel

[This letter, dated June 4, 1937, was written from Putnam, Connecticut by Emma Kinney to Ellen. Elbert is on a long vacation to the West. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Putnam, Conn. June 4 37

Dear Ellen,

Elbert left this p.m. on his western trip with flying colors. He took a 4.40 bus to Springfield where he plans to take a 9 o'clock train for Ohio arriving in Cleveland Saturday morning.

They are having an Exposition in Cleveland which began last year and is opening again this year.

Elbert thought he would go in for a few hours and reach Etta's in the early afternoon.

College Commencement begins this week and he will reach Oberlin early enough to see the Illumination on Saturday night.

Elbert plans to remain in Oberlin until Tuesday a.m. He has been very busy the last week getting things ready to leave for two months at least, and I think it will probably be three months. He has very thoughtfully planned everything even to the most minute detail for my comfort and conscience. He has earned a delightful vacation and I'm sure he is going to have it. He has arranged with one of our neighbors, who knows gardening, to take care of our garden on the 50-50 basis. He will also take care of the lawn. This man will plant some more corn and I have two more rows of glads to plant and then our planting will be done.

How are your flowers coming on? My roses are doing finely but I find something is eating the beans. Think I'll have to spray them, if I can learn what is the best kind of spray to use.

Do you have this difficulty at the farm? Elbert received your letter in this mornings mail.

We learned this a.m. that Miss Nellie Kent, (Ernest Kent's sister) who was principal of Isreal Putnam School thirty five or more years ago, is on a trip to Alaska this summer. She, with three other ladies, is taking one of the shorter trips into Alaska. Perhaps when Elbert reaches the Pacific Coast he will decide to do the same thing.

I think I wrote you that Willis, Etta, Donald and Helen plan to arrive in Northfield about June 215 and will reach Putnam probably June 28 or 29.

Donald and Helen will make a short visit and then go on to Washington. I do not know Willis plans. I'll be glad to have you come up to be here when they are here, or later if you prefer. Suit yourself as to time. I want you to be here while Etta is here. D and H want to make a call at the farm on way to N.Y. D. was there once with Etta when [he] was three or four years old but does not remember it. I am getting on finely and will have no difficulty staying alone. So do not neglect your work or anything you wish to do in order to keep me company. Let me hear how your garden is coming on,

Much love Emma

[This letter, dated June 13, 1937, was written from Putnam, Connecticut by Emma Kinney to Ellen. She talks about the upcoming commencement of Putnam High School. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Putnam, Ct. June 13 '37.

Dear Ellen,

It had not occurred to me until last evening that the banquet and graduation exercises of the P.H.S. were so near and that you might like to know about it. Commencement comes a little earlier this year than usual. The banquet takes place next Wednesday June 16 evening at 6.30 at the High School. Menu as follows- Virginia ham, escalloped potatoes, peas, relishes, tomato and lettuce salad, rolls, strawberry short cake, and coffee $1.00 a plate.

Kenneth Sharpe will lead the alumni in the singing of the school song and School days. Several professional entertainers from Boston and Providence will be heard in a program of songs, dancing and patter[?]. Wm. J. Carrigan radio tenor (have not heard of him before) and Miss Blanche Golthwaite N.E. outstanding diseuse[?] in impersonations and light character ?? will entertain. Husbands and wives of members are invited to attend.

The entertainment committee have departed from the old custom of having an address or remarks by old members of the alumni and now cater to the younger classes.

On the following Tuesday June 21 graduation will take place. There will be no address by some outstanding educator and no graduation essays by the honor students as one former occasions. Instead the class will present the opera, "Daniel Boone". I failed to mention that dancing would follow the entertainment at the banquet. Probably the audience will be made up very largely at the banquet of those who have graduated since 1915. If the entertainment would be of interest to our class mate Mr. Bliss I would invite him and Seraph to attend, but I do not think it would interest him so do not think I shall suggest it.

I don't know that you would feel it worth while to come up unless you were planning to come soon. Since you have been unable to attend the banquets in the past, I thought I would let you know about. I hav'nt attended for many years but would be glad to go if you want to attend. It would be well to get tickets as early as possible. I am sorry the time is so short.

A letter from Elbert states that he is in Salt Lake City yesterday and to day. He enjoyed the mountain trip into Denver very much. The next six days he will be touring the National Parks.

We had a very interesting Children's Day Service to day.

I expect Etta about June 28 or 29.

I invited a Hampton friend to spend this week or next week end with me but she had appointments for both dates. Will hope to see you up here some time soon or when you find it convenient. Am getting on finely doing a little of a lot of things. Much love Emma

[This letter, dated June 24, 1937, was written from Mt. Harmon, Massachusetts by Etta Kinney Hume to Ellen. She tells briefly about what she and her family have been doing in their travels. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Mt. Harmon, Mass Thursday June 24/37

Dear Ellen:

Helen, Donald, Willis and I left Oberlin Wed. noon and reached here at 5.30 today stopping over nite with Fulton. As there is only a Musical program on Sun. evening they think they will go to Putnam Sun. evening calling at Pearle's on the way, stay with Emma Sun. nite and with you Mon. nite and hurry in to N.Y. where they want to do some sight seeing and meet some Alliance people. I think they will arrive for supper. We drove over to Northfield this evening. Every thing is beautiful. Lovingly- Etta.

Fulton may call on you before he goes to Honolulu early in July.

[This letter, dated June 30, 1937, was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to her father and mother. She and Harold are on vacation for the summer. They hear that Kathleen is pregnant. Dorothy gave a speech on China and has been asked to give it to seven other organizations. Hazel and Willard F. visited them for a couple of weeks. Dorothy refers to Willard and Ellen's new car. Letter from the collection of Mona Beard.]

2306 No. Bond St.,
Saginaw, Mich.,
June, 30, 1937.

Dear Mother and Father:-

No wonder you think we've dropped from the face of the earth. I guess it's eons since I've written. I now have letters from you, Jerry, Monnie, Kathie and Ginny to answer. I've had two from Mother and one from Father since I've written.

Why, I haven't even congratulated you on your new car. That's just grand. What fun you must be having with it, and how independent you must feel not to have to rely on someone else to get you where you want to go, and when. Mother, are you driving yet?

Well, here's the why's and wherefores about us. Harold wrote to Mrs. Holland - our landlady- before school was out, asking her if she would supply paint for the outside of our house- (pillars, window casings, trellises, etc.) and let him do the labor in exchange for a month's rent during the summer. He thought it might take him a week or maybe two to get the outside of the house fixed up, and at the same time help out with our summer expenses. We've been sitting here over two weeks now since school closed and nary a word from the dear lady. We've asked her twice before for the same thing and each time she's put us off. We've done so much on the inside of the house that we don't feel like paying for the outside, too.

While we were waiting for word, Harold saw in the paper that they were hiring playground supervisors. He applied and got the job at Bliss Park right down by the school. Today is only his second day on the job. It is supposed to last for eight weeks, which would take him almost up to the opening of school, but he may decide to do it for July and let Russ Parish take it for Aug. We're not sure yet just what we'll do. So that's the story thus far.

Just about the time school closes my heart always yearns for the East and all the relatives out there, and how I do want to be there. Yes, wouldn't it be grand if we could celebrate our tenth anniversary at the very scene of our wedding. If we take Aug. for our vacation, I shall certainly try to do that.

No, I didn't plan at all to go to the Oberlin Commencement. Next year will be my 14th reunion, and I very much want to go then.

I didn't even know that Uncle Elbert had started on his trip till you and Jerry wrote about it. A letter from Ginny today says that he called her up between trains in Chicago, and is seeing Gould in Calif. She says he plans to stop for visits with us on the way back.

Monnie's position for next year sounds very interesting. I think she is pretty lucky to be located so nicely and so early. I hope Jerry finds just what she wants.

Yes, Kathie wrote her most interesting news to us. Are you going down there to be with her when the baby comes? She'd like nothing better. I'm so sorry we can't plan to take a load down this summer, I do want to go down sometime. Harold just can't see going South during the summer. However, he never can get there in the winter.

Thank you so much for sending all these letters. They certainly did give lots of news about the wanderings of the various members of the family.

I was reading over your letter, Mother about the tiger skin. You suggested that you'd like the head a little lower. The one we sent you had the whole mouth- upper and lower lip. He said you could have it mounted without the lower lip. That probably would make it a couple of inches lower. Don't send any more until we see if we're going East. Then we can bring them back if you want us to.

I wish you all could have been here to have some of our asparagus. It was an especially good crop this year. I gave so much of it away, canned some, and ate just as much as I could. I think next year I'll have to make a little "vacation money" by selling it. We've always given it to our friends except now and then when my grocer asks for some and cancels a little of our bill with him. My currants are going to be ripe enough for jelly next week, and the bushes are full. Grapes- both our red and the wild- are abundant.

I never saw roses around town here more beautiful than they were this year, nor more profuse. I asked someone if she knew why, and she said because we'd had so many rains in early spring. They both watered the plants, and did a lot toward washing bugs off from the plants.

I suppose you've been reveling in strawberries. I have too. I put up my usual amount of "sunshine strawberries", and several pints of sauce, and have put up some peas. Now I'm waiting for raspberries.

From what Jerry writes, she's getting pretty well fixed up. I surely hope so. I'm so relieved that she feels so much better.

You needn't apologize for not sending material for my China speech. That that Father gave me helped a lot. It must have interested them a little for from that talk directly or indirectly I got some six or seven calls to give it over again at all sorts of places- the Culture Club (ladies), a Presb. Young people's mixed group, the Merry Wives Club of the Y.W., Mothers and Daughter banquet at Frieland (20 miles from Saginaw), the Young Married People's group of the 1st M.E. Church, etc. I was so afraid that many people would hear it a second time and really, when I talk I tell just about all I know, so it would be just the same thing over again, but out of all those groups I believe only three or four people heard it twice, and that was because they heard it in one group and were responsible for getting me on to the next program in another group they belonged to. I have a date for the second week in Sept. for quite an elite group of ladies whose group is called the P.E.O. whatever that is. I know almost all of them, but don't care so much about talking to them. I'll have to get more help from you this summer, I guess, for that big speech.

According to Father's letter you are having a good apple crop this year. Our tree is just loaded. Harold asked the man who takes care of all the trees in the parks for the city, to come down and spray our tree. He came once and is coming again soon. In return we're giving him a bushel of apples.

We certainly had one grand time with Hazel and Willard while they were here. I was fortunate in that it really was about the most free two weeks I had all year- for outside activities, but Harold seemed to have everything under the sun pile up in those weeks, so he couldn't play with the children as much as he would have liked. I took them to my swimming class and had one of my girls sit in the balcony with them. One of our large gas stations here has a lot of little ponies that they use for advertising purposes. Children can have free rides on them if parents are with them. We took them there twice and they loved it. But the most fun of all was when we went to the country for our milk and meat. A neighbor lady goes with me. I get milk and eggs at the first farm, my cream, her cream and milk at the second and both of us, our meat at the third. All three farms are within about a mile of each other. Of course, each farm had little baby animals, and the kiddies went wild over them. At the first farm they saw little chicks. At the second, baby ducks, lambs, chicks, pigs and calves, and at the third Hazel ran for the barn and found some baby kitties. Oh, I tell you, that was a big day. Our kind neighbors came to the rescue and offered tricycles, carts, toy trucks etc. that their children had outgrown, and, of course, Fluffy came right into her own those two weeks. The children were crazy about her, and this time she wasn't one bit jealous of them. Isn't Willard's little Robin Redbreast song adorable- I mean, the way he sings it! He got his Uncle Harold's number right away and always came back with, "Oh, you're just 'poofing us.'" He could never start that word with s. One day Hazel had been out in the back yard, and came to the door and said, "Auntie Dot, here's a branch of 'lolly-locks (Lilacs) for you."

Monday and Tues. afternoon of this week I went to a cooking school put on by the Morge Co. The instructor was very charming and really made some very practical, different, and delicious dishes. Some 15 or 20 prizes were given away to the "lucky numbers" each day. I'm never lucky that way. I marveled at the worth of the prizes tho! Five different pieces of Super-maid aluminum- the frying pan, roaster, tea-kettle, sauce-pan and chicken fryer, five great big baskets of groceries (all sorts of things in them) three- 3 lb. cans of Pioneer cobbler, and of course all of the various things she made for us in the school. Did you ever make- or taste- butter-milk pit, Aunt Mary? By the way, would you be willing to give me the receipt [recipe] for that bread pudding made with caramelized sugar?

Love to you all, and do write soon again- Harold and Dot.

Father, if we can't go East why don't you fill up your car and come out here sometime in Aug. They all could help you with the driving.

[Added by Ellen:]

Marjorie please send to Gould, 75 North Park Road, LaGrange, Ill. Kathleen please send to Marjorie, Steamboat Island, Lakeport, N.H.

[This letter dated July 8, 1937 was written probably written from Clearwater, Florida by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen is hoping that Hugh can get a job with the Express Company. She went spear fishing with some members of Hugh's family. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

July 8, 1937

Dear Jerry:

You probably have by now that box of lovely rotten [rotten] mangos that I so unfortunately sent at just the wrong time. I would have written you immediately on receiving your letter about the change of address but I thought you would leave your forwarding address at 21 Claremont and it would reach you alright. A week after we sent the box I got a card from the express co. saying it could not be delivered and yesterday my letter which went with the box came back via Woostock Conn. So you see everything went pretty much haywire and I guess I had better not try it again until you are more or less stationary. So sorry it was such a mess and I wonder what you thought when that stinking fruit was delivered to you.

Got your card yesterday and am anxious to know what comes of the Thompson position. Can you have it if you want it? Where is Monnie all this time and why under thunder doesn't she write? Dot is like a sphinx too and you are my only family correspondent at present. Thank heavens you don't all clam up at once.

We are waiting daily for Hugh's call to work for the Express Company. He is sure to get a job there but it may be tomorrow or Sept. The suspense sort of keeps us on tenter hooks. I guess you know how we feel, just waiting.

The other night Enid, Rollin, Hugh and I went spearing fish out in the bay. The air was as still as could be and it was ideal for fishing. The boys take turns standing with a spear at the prow with a bright light shining into the water, and poling the boat slowly in the stern while we girls sit in the middle and sack the fish as they come in. We didn't get anything very big that night but Hugh pierced a three foot shark- then let him go again. We got about ten edible fish- enough for both families a meal. Today we are taking dinner with the family and some friends from Turkey days are coming to visit for the day. It will make a crowd of fourteen, not counting baby Sally [Kathleen and Hugh's, niece, Sara McNutt], at the table.

Lots of love from us all
Kathie

[This letter, dated July 9, 1937, was written from an island in Lake Winnepesaukee, New Hampshire by Monnie to the folks. Monnie is a governess to the Tucker family. She describes the family, the other workers, the living quarters and the island. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

July 9 [1937]

[Steamboat or Birch Island in Lake Winnepesaukee, New Hampshire]

Dear Folks,

We have been having almost as hot weather here as any of you. Last night we could hardly sleep. The Tuckers said it was the hottest night they ever remember. Swimming helps a lot. We go in almost every day- the children and I twice. There is a gently sloping, nicely sanded beach on Birch Island, to which our bridge connects us, and that is just the thing for the children. I hope some day to go over and dive from the diving board and slide down the slide on the wharf.

I'll introduce you to the limited circle of my acquaintances here. Mr. Tucker is fifty-four (he said so the other day) white hair, ruddy complexion, and a twinkling pair of the bluest eyes you ever saw. Carol, my 6-yr.- old has them too. They will help her break some man's heart some day. Mr. T. is rather easy-going, but must be worth something in a lawyer's office or he would not be where he is today. His father was a carpenter and Mr. T. is a self-made man, the only wealthy member of the family. People on the other island who have known Mr. T. a long time (he has been coming here since 1910) say his first wife used to have to count both sides of every penny.

Mrs. Tucker is his second wife. She is a quite attractive woman between 45 and 50, hair quite gray, but she gives you the impression of being much younger. Her manner is fresh and vivacious and she is always the master of the situation. I have never seen her visibly upset in any way- embarrassed, excited, or angry- under any provocation. She is a charming hostess, and awfully nice to me. But despite her seemingly familiar manner, she very subtly holds me at arm's length. She is a very unusual, capable, and winning person- apparently- but there's something about her I don't like. (Mrs. Tucker is a rabid pacifist, Jerry. You and she would probably click.) She was a travelling and speaking secretary for the Presbyterian Home Missions, with offices in 156 Fifth Ave. where the Grenfell offices are, before she married, and why she should look down on Mr. T.'s relatives is something no one on Birch Island can understand. They have all known and loved the Tuckers for years and resent the luxury and snobbishness of our beautiful establishment (only 3 years old) alone here on our own little island. Most of the other "camps" as the summer cottages are called, have kerosene lamps and outhouses. We have six bathrooms, 3 floors, running hot and cold water, something like a Delco system (Frigidaire and electric iron) and furnishings that give a charming atmosphere of roughing it, without any lack of comfort. His (Mr. T.'s) family never comes over here except on invitation tho the whole family, children and grandchildren are over there on Birch Island within 5 minute's walk of us. Mr. Tucker for certain is not the snobbish one. The other island is more or less like one big family. All have come here for years. We are the only outsiders.

Billy is also staying with us until his summer job starts on Monday. He is the son of Mr. Tucker by his first wife. He's 19, fat and usually good-natured, a Junior in Dartmouth. He doesn't have to work, but is doing so for the fun of it- a "brown" job, carrying and hauling, in an uncle's factory or something. Mr. T. has told him to come home if he doesn't like it. That cut his pride and he declared he wouldn't quit. He worked with a Swiss road gang last summer sort of exchange job got thru a student exchange organization. Must have been interesting. The relationship between him and Mrs. T. (he calls her Christine) is interesting- very friendly, sometimes genuinely so, on the surface. But the antagonism pops thru once in awhile. She shows it in sarcastic remarks given with the sweetest of smiles, and he does, much less subtly by exploding quite bluntly and childishly at what he considers unnecessary fussiness.

He seems immature anyway. But I like him, for he is friendly to me, and awfully decent in every way.

In the kitchen are Arthur and Maude, a colored couple. They both are very particular about how people step on their toes, and are rigid about any infringements of their kitchen laws. Scrupulous cleanliness and orderliness are the rule and woe be to anyone, no matter who, who is careless. Mrs. T. warned me, and I was not long in finding out for myself, that I'd have to watch my step in the kitchen. That's unusual and very commendable in Negroes. They are both young- under 35 I should say. Arthur comes from Jamaica- is "English", his wife says proudly. But if you show them that you are perfectly willing to clean up after yourself and to do more than your share of the shared duties (like Stuart's trays- my 4-year-old eats alone in his room, and I bring his trays up) then they are really very nice. Maude has put herself out for me twice- offered to do some errands for me when she and Arthur had the afternoon off and went to Laconia. He's the chauffeur, so he takes the car to be serviced and goes for the laundry so they get to shore at least weekly. I have been only once as yet. We decided, or rather, I did, this morning that my times off would be when there was something I wanted to do - a trip etc.- instead of a half-day weekly, because it's so hard to get off the island. So for goodness' sake come up in August, someone, for I can get the day off, if there are no family guests here then.

My evenings I spend in my room, mostly, reading, writing letters or sewing. And I have so much of all three to do that it will be weeks before they will be done. In August I'm going to start on all those geographics and English and arithmetic books I brought up with me.

The mother of two children on the other island, comes down with them sometimes to the beach. I like her immensely. She's Mrs. Canterbury, the wife of the Yale forester who took care of the Yale forests in Union, Conn. She seemed as attracted to me as I to her. I'm going over to her camp as soon as ever the Tuckers stay in for an evening. Both last evening and this I planned to go, but they went out both evenings. She's between 40 and 50, but has such a rich sense of humor shining out of the blackest eyes (actually black) under heavy black eyebrows. She wears old dresses and stockings with the awfulest runs- she and I laugh over wearing out our old clothes up here. She has summered here since girlhood, has climbed all the mountains and almost walked around the lake in yearly laps, with the young crowd of her day. It must be a rather rich feeling to have such deep roots in a place. I never have, and am only beginning to realize the value of something I've always held rather lightly.

On July 3rd night there were fireworks on Birch Island- Mr. Tucker's brother (everyone affectionately calls him Uncle Doctor) always treats the crowd to a sumptuous display. Then on Monday night we took the children 15 miles down the lake in the speed boat to a town and stayed drifting in the harbor watching the fireworks from camps all around the shore. It was lovely and the children were thrilled to death. My first fireworks in years.

That completes the people I know here- as yet- (except the High School girls who helps Mrs. Canterbury). Only a few, but life is full and busy- never busier than when my day's work is over. A letter is an event in our placid life. Monnie

Please send around the family.

[This typewritten letter, dated July 14, 1937, was written from LaGrange, Illinois by Ginny to Willard, Ellen, Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary. American Airways keeps Gould busy and away much of the time. Hazel and Willard spent some time staying with Dot and Harold. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

75 N. Park Road
LaGrange, Illinois
July 14, 1937

Dear Father, Mother Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary:-

Father your nice long letter was so very welcome with all its interesting news. I have carefully put it with the other mail that Gould must see and read when he finally gets home, which I and the kiddies sincerely hope will be very very soon.

You see the Company sent him to the coast the eleventh of June to be gone about five days then to go out a few days later for another very few days. As usual in cases like that unforeseen things arise and we didn't see him again until seven o'clock Sunday morning the fourth and he had to leave for California again the next day, Monday evening the fifth of July and so it goes. He promised me he'd be home for tomorrow but I'm afraid I'll be fortunate if I have him home by the end of the week.

We've been separated three out of the first six of our anniversaries and it looks like the seventh would fall that way too, worst luck. Well everything comes to he who waits so we have found out so we have hopes that even that may come to us. After all it is rather a low trick to keep separated so much two people so terribly much in love with each other. Maybe it's for a purpose though for certainly it is just a little bit of heaven here on earth when he does get home. Hazel, bless her heart came to me the other day and wanted to know why God couldn't bring her Daddy home to her even if the American Airlines did want to keep him away. We have every hope that after the middle of August there will be no more extended trips until sometime in the middle of the winter.

It looks now as if it will not be until sometime next March or April that we will have to move back to the coast, if at all. I'm not so keen on moving again but I certainly would love to go out there again to live. Gould jokingly keeps telling friends that he doesn't dare take me out again for fear he'll have to come back alone when it comes time to leave.

I was so glad that Gould was on the coast while Uncle Elbert was there and helped him to see some of the things that he might not have seen any other way. Sort of a little family gathering out there with Freck [nickname for Virginia's brother] being there also.

How I did enjoy my visit in the East in May. I did so many things and saw so very many people in the comparative short length of time that I really felt as if I had been away longer than I actually was. It was such fun though and believe me the good old New England Spring just made me realize all over again that it is just about the most perfect section of the country and I just couldn't seem to absorb enough of it. It just tickled Gould so much for he has always talked for weeks about it when he has been sent East for several days around New Year while we have been located on the coast and he comes back out there with a lovely new green picture in his mind which makes poor Sunny California look most as dry as the desert.

The kiddies enjoyed every minute of their stay with Dot and Harold and now we are hoping that they can come down here and make us a visit sometime this summer. I haven't heard a word from Dot since we left so don't know what they finally planned to do with their summer. At that time Harold wasn't sure whether he was going to get a job for the summer or not. Dot said if he was she was tempted to pick up and go East for at least a goodly portion of the time.

The weather has been trying hard to get us down out here. The thermometer has said 90 or over, several times in our dining-room and it gets up to a hundred or so up in our bedroom at that time. Gould has brought me several short, shirt, and skirt combinations from out on the coast and I find myself practically living in the shorts and shirt and keeping the skirt handy to slip on when ever the occasion called for a bit more modesty, which is very often compared to what we were used to in California.

Sunday July 18, 1937

Today is a perfectly grand day; just the right temperature and the sun not too hot. Guess I'll see if I can't get some one of the neighbors to play badminton with me after supper. I gave Gould a set for Father's day but he hasn't had a chance to really use it yet. Our back yard is just the right size for a court and it is loads of fun and such excellent exercise.

Gould did not get home for our Anniversary but remembered it several ways. He is such a Dear. I swear they didn't make any more like him. He hopes now to be home by the 25th, but isn't at all sure.

Had one of my Los Angeles friends here last Sunday and Monday and was I ever glad to see her? Her husband Bill Birren is Pacific Coast Representative for the Wright Engine Corporation. We knew them very well out there and Gould and Bill are very busy working together out there now. His Father [Joseph Birren] was a very famous artist. His fame was in his trees. Art as art bores me for the most part but his paintings are thrilling. They are so very very alive and he has painted so many scenes that I know, it is a joy to look at his works. He has pictures in museums all over the world and many in private collection. When he died not quite four years ago he left over three hundred thousand dollars worth of paintings still to be disposed of. I saw a good many of them last Monday night when I drove Belle into Mother Birren's down in Chicago.

Had a card from Monnie the other day. If her charges are not too difficult to handle I imagine she will enjoy her summer up there. It certainly is a beautiful location. How is Jerry's work coming? Is it going to be more permanent than she first thought?

Mother I'm so glad to see that you are not waiting for Father to drive two years before you go on any trips with him at the wheel of the car. I'm sure he is going to make a good conservative driver.

Dear Grandpa and Grandma—zxcvBB?,,,, ,,: ilghHa Aafbgfhnhkyut gdkk0(9Pp @/cc /nnnMNjJ,q 987112345678910 - %5$4#3"2WQq y etc., etc., etc.

Love MNHAS ELI

Hazel just had to write a message to the folks on the Farm before she felt she could go to bed, hence the above.

When Gould was here for the one day over the 4th he asked me please not to open anymore of the barrels until he got home but since he is being so badly delayed I am going ahead with it anyway. It is such fun. A regular treasure hunt. Our new china cabinet looks so pretty holding all our lovely wedding gifts of that sort. It has a solid glass front with sliding glass panels for doors and the glass, silver, pewter and chromium just shines out beautifully.

There are still two more barrels and several cases to be opened. Gould got the lion and tiger velvet cut pictures also the cork picture hung in the few hours he was home. They with stood their sojourn in storage just splendidly and look so well in this house. You just can't imagine what fun it is to have all our own nice things to use again and how good it is to look around in the house and know that everything in it is our very own. I don't think I ever realized what pride of ownership could mean until now.

Oh! I forgot to tell you how interested the kiddies were in the news about Anniebell and Bessie cows. I imagine if you can decode it you will find all that in Hazel's note.

I think the world is about to be repopulated. Roberta in August, Edith in September, a friend here in October, one of the girls on the coast in November, and both Kathie and Lillian in January. I started to make a Weave-It blanket for Roberta but I know mighty well I'll not be able to make one for each one. So many have me scared about Christmas so started shopping for that the other day. Picked up part of Jill's Christmas yesterday. Have six people already cared for and plans for several others already in mind. It really is lots more fun doing it over several months and then you can take your time and get the things you would really like for each one. Then too there are some excellent specials once in a while that are lovely gifts.

We are still wondering whether we are to be favored with a visit in our home from part or all of you. We still have hopes anyway.

What do you hear from Kathie? I do hope she is feeling pretty good.

Much Love to you All from all of us.

Ginny

[This letter, dated July 22, 1937, was written from Steamboat Island, (Lake Winnepesaukee) Lakeport, New Hampshire by Monnie to Kathie and the rest of the family. Monnie hopes to be able to visit Kathleen in Florida someday but does not know when she will be marrying Ralph. She is still with the Tucker family as governess and talks more about it. Monnie will be teaching at the private, high class Low-Heywood school for girls in the fall. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Steamboat Island

Lakeport, N.H.

July 22, 1937.

Dear Kathie, and the rest of the family,

Your letter, Kathie came today. And was it welcome! Yesterday a letter came from Jerry with two enclosed from you. So now I feel quite well posted about your family for the past three months.

Indeed you're not naturally last on the list of my Round Robins. I make up my mind that I would start with you all in turn, so the letters will chase each other round.

First of all, about coming down to see you. I am sorry not to have done it this summer. I feel guilty about it. I think that idea about coming down at Christmas time a grand one. Or would Easter vacation be better. I shall come one or the other times. I can't afford to leave it til next summer, for there's no telling when Ralph will be coming, and tho you will be up for our wedding, whenever that is, while preparing to be married is no time to visit. If Christmas time is too uncertain and you think that at Easter time you will be more in condition to do things I'll come then. I hope Jerry will come, too. Here's hoping that our vacations coincide.

Ralph has been transferred to Hopedale, a couple of day's journey up the coast. He is to go sometime this month. I haven't heard from him yet from there. I'm anxious to hear his comparisons of the two places. You are singularly understanding, Kathie, when it comes to reparations- with reason, tho. Ralph wrote that he could hardly bear to go out walking in N.W.R. because of the memories that all the paths and hilltops brought back- just as you wrote.

The school where I'm teaching next fall is Low-Heywood, a "private, high-class school" for girls from the first grade to thru High School. The academic standard is very high, teachers stay sometimes as long as 20 years, many alumnae mothers send their daughters back from all corners of the globe, the staff is congenial (which means a lot) and the girls seem a likeable group. I went to the Commencement with Rebecca May and Aunt Bet. The grounds are perfectly lovely, right out on a point, two miles out of Stamford, extending into the Sound. We are only half a block from the Sound. It is the wealthy section of town and most of my youngsters will be day pupils from the homes nearby.

I'm teaching Geography in the 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th grades, English in the 4th and 5th, and Arithmetic in the 3rd. Rather a mixture, but all the more interesting. Miss Merrill, the head of the Junior School, with whom I have talked, evidently holds very loose reins over her teachers, so I shall be able to use what little originality I have.

I enjoyed your news of Enid's family. How I wish I could see them all again. We did have such a good time those two weeks I spent with you outside of Reading, doing absolutely nothing.

Our life is peaceful and all our little excitements are very mild ones. You wrote Jerry of going fishing with torches. Well, we took the children out fishing today. It was the first time I had ever fished with a rod. We fished for about an hour and pulled in- among us- five tiny fish, 4 perch and a sun fish, all so small we threw them back. But the children were excited at catching anything. It all seemed frightfully tame after catching 12 and 15 lb. cod in Labrador pulling them in as fast as we could let the hook down. Mr. Tucker is quite a fisherman. He has come to the lake ever since 1910. But today he said the biggest fish he had ever caught here was a 5 ¾ lb. bass. We have had bass chowder twice, of Mr. Tucker's catching. It had to be chowder because there were only 2 small bass for 5 people. One doesn't catch many at a time.

Tonight was Maude and Arthur's day off (they are the butler-Chauffeur, and the cook) so we had a picnic on the little beach where we swim. I love picnics and they are few enough of them so that they are events. The children always eat better outdoors.

It's a riot the way these children don't eat. Carol, 6, is allowed to eat at the big table (and I with her) for the first time this summer. She always is having to be hurried up and she slows up mealtimes considerably, Maude and Arthur say. Stuart, 4, eats by himself, but if his sugar is not on straight or if you cut up his prunes, or if he does not like a particular vegetable, he may not eat anything, just for spite. Mrs. Tucker is sensible enough to let him go hungry. He generally eats pretty well at the next meal. Mr. Tucker once asked if poor children ever were so hard to make eat.

And then both children, but especially Carol, are so slow, in getting up, and going to bed, and coming when you call them. They have no conception of minding at once.

But one of the hardest things about the whole job is the way Mrs. Tucker retains most of the responsibility. That made a very fine nurse that they had last summer leave. And the sympathy of all the people round about was with the nurse. When a nurse is hired to care for children she expects to assume full responsibility- for discipline, health, recreation etc. But Mrs. Tucker doesn't plan that way at all. She comes and supervises the children's meals (I wouldn't mind if she did plan them), she sometimes puts them to bed, she wants to be responsible for their discipline, she's simply there all the time, until you feel- well, why doesn't she do it all then and not have a nurse. What she wants is a high-school girl that she can give orders to, and not an experienced adult with ideas of her own. The discipline is the worst part of it. The nurse last year would tell the children to do certain things on the beach, then their mother would come along and reverse it. They know the nurse has no authority. I'm in the very same paradoxical position as I was at the Peabody's- expected to train the children in the way they should go without any authority. Carol and Stuart always run to "Mommy" at the least hitch, and are encouraged to do it, so I feel very much de trop. Take note, all you mothers who will have children's nurses some day, and have regard for the feelings of the person who is taking care of your children.

During the weekends it's better, tho. Then we have guests and I have the children more to myself. I love it when they all go away and I and the children are alone.

This coming weekend we are having 4 guests- one lady is the President of the Garden Club of America. Some time the new president of Cornell University is coming. He lived in Bronxville and there's where the Tuckers became acquainted with him.

These nights are beautifully moonlight. Tomorrow is full moon and I'm going out to enjoy it. The Tuckers are very good about telling me when they are to be in and letting me go out.

Do write, everybody. Kathie's letter enclosed one from Dot, from whom I hadn't heard for at least a hundred years. Much obliged, Dot, for the indirect information!

Good health to you, Kathie. Love to all the family,

Monnie

Please send in order given, and as soon as possible, or the summer will be over before it gets around.

Kathie and Hugh

Gould and Ginny- 75 N. Park Rd., La Grange, Ill.

Dot and Harold

Farm

Jerry

[This letter dated July 23, 1937 was written from Saginaw, Michigan Dot (Dorothy) and Harold to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy would like to hike more of the Long Trail but she and Harold are working hard to pay off their new car. They are keeping busy with their sports teams and Dorothy with the Eastern Star. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Saginaw, Mich

July, 23, 1937

Dear Jerry:

I'm much chagrined to collect three unanswered letters from you. I'm glad you read my letter to the folks. At least, that gave you the latest important news from this way.

To go way back to your letter of June, 13, - thank you for getting and sending the buttons for Aunt Emma. No, I haven't sent you the piece from my soup dish. A funny thing happened. Not long ago I knocked one of those bowls off from the shelf in the cupboard and- mirabli dictu! [Latin-miraculous or wonderful to say!]- it was the broken one, so now I have two cute little pieces for you. One is the handle and the other has the name on it, so I hope you can match it. All I want is one bowl and I'll send the pieces right along. Please send me the bill for buying and sending both the buttons and the dish. And thank you for the time spent doing it.

Has Monnie had much news from Ralph, since her wire?

How I would like to do some more of the Long Trail but I just can't tell how things are going to work out. Harold's job may last right up until school starts- or up to within a week of it. In that case, we probably shan't get East at all. You see, the new car is the equivalent of our vacation this year, and we are sort of paying double these last few months to get it paid for as fast as we can. That's why Harold is working. After all, you know I've been out East twice and Harold once, since the folks came. I really had hoped that we could entice you westward this summer. Couldn't you really get a car load to come out after your work stops? We could put up five easily.

You do more moving around, with seemingly the least fuss of anybody I know. I dread the day we ever have to move from here, for we've accumulated so many goods and chattels. Then again, it isn't a circumstance to what Mother and Father used to pick up every time we uprooted. I most certainly would love to visit you in your swank apartment. Aren't you lucky!! And isn't that a funny coincidence, that you should be living in the New York City apartment of my Phys. Ed. teacher in Oberlin. Remember me to her when you see her.

I'm glad your nose is O.K. again, and am so glad you're going to get that eye fixed. It always seemed as tho that would be extremely uncomfortable, running all the time. Why is it going to take so long?

I'm sorry I could do nothing to help you rent Pearl's apt. As soon as your card came in June I sat down and called the four girls I knew were going to be in N.Y and they were all going to be in a dormitory. I guess they don't like the idea of taking care of an apartment and getting meals.

We were listening to that program that Polly took you to- at least, while I was reading the Reader's Digest Sun. evening, I remember hearing that particular interpretation of "The Music Goes Round and Round." I don't remember Bonelli tho! I heard him in Bay City some time ago.

This is the week-end you are to be with Percy. Tell her that I love the articles from her father's book that we read in the Reader's Digest. He certainly must have had a keen sense of humor- her grandfather, too. Have you read the book?

While you are having a good time with Percy, and I'm sitting here alone Sunday, while Harold drives a load of Y. boys down to the ball game- guess what's going on at dear old Silver Bay!! A group of old emps are meeting there this Sat. and Sun. to plan a Grand Reunion of all the old emps that can get there for next year. My heart jumped when I saw two envelopes from Silver Bay in the mail box this week. One was a letter from the committee signed by Ken Brooks. He said he'd just got my address from Polly so he was a little late in writing. The other was a very interesting folder telling all about the summer activities there. I decided then and there, that if it's at all possible Harold and I are going to take a real vacation next summer. I'd like to spend two weeks there. We ought to round up our gang again and put Oberlin on the map once more. Wouldn't [it] be great to see the S.B.-ites again. I'll send you the letter and folder just as soon as I answer it. If you have the married names and addresses of any old S.B. emp, I guess they'd be glad to get it. I think it's a grand idea, don't you?

In June, before school was out I drove a load of grade- Y. boys (5th, 6th, 4th) down to Detroit for the ball game. Three truck loads and two car loads made the trip – 106 boys in all. They visited Greenfield Village first, then ate a picnic lunch then went to the ball game- (Philadelphia and Detroit). Harold was still teaching, so he couldn't go. Two weeks ago Sat. we took some of our neighbors down on a Sat. to see a double-header with Cleveland. The very next Thursday the same man that took the first group down took the summer Y. members down and wanted Harold to drive. He got off from work Sat. morning to see the double header, so he didn't dare get off again so soon, and they got stuck for enough cars, so down I went again- this time to see that historic game with N.Y. where Detroit staged that wild sixth inning. N.Y. walked six or seven men in the one inning and Det. made seven runs on one hit. Now- this Sun. Harold finally gets to make one of those Y. trips I'm so glad for him. On those trips the drivers get into the game free and the gas bill is all or nearly all paid by the boys, so it really is a lot of fun. We get in on it every summer we're here, through our friendship with the Secretaries at the Y.

By the way- Francis Gray has resigned as head of the Y. here to head the Y. at Hartford, Conn. It's supposed to be quite a step up for him, because the Hartford Y. is supposed to be one of the best.

I've done quite a bit of canning this summer- strawberries, raspberries, peas, beans, sunshine strawberries, currant jelly, raspberry jam, etc. Mother would adore to go to our public market just now. All kinds of berries right in their prime and very reasonable. I'm just about living on them now.

I'm still swimming. Only three or four of us in the pool every time this summer, so we have lots of fun. It surely cools you off in this hot weather.

Our Eastern Star had their annual ice cream social last Wed. I had charge of soliciting cakes to serve with the ice cream, and for a cake sale. I had to get 26 large flat cakes to eat, and I guess I had about 18 cakes to sell. Some who didn't want to bake gave me money, so I made $11.54 on my cake sale. I guess we made about $30 altogether.

Isn't Kathie's news a surprise! Is Mother planning to go down to be with her when Jr. arrives? I hope the poor girl won't have as hard a time as she did with Jill.

How and when did Monnie get this job that she has now? She's getting to be quite the governess[?] How much does she get for it?

Has anybody heard from Uncle Elbert? I sent him a birthday card. Tomorrow is it.

Say, do you know that Francis Gray borrowed my Long Trail Guide, map, and some of my snaps, to look into a trip for his family last summer- and lost the whole business. I was so provoked. They may find it when they're packing to leave. Here's hoping. If I can't get East, and you girls go- Monnie can use my pants and pack and anything else she wants. You'll have to get me another guide if you go, because I hated to lose that. [The Long Trail is the oldest long distance trail in the U.S. It is in the Green Mountains and begins at the Massachusetts/Vermont boarder and ends at the Canadian border.]

I'm so sleepy I'm going to bed. Will finish this in the morning.

A.M. Have you read the article "Summer People" in the Aug. Reader's Digest? It's good!!

Did you get Gould's new address? It's 75 No. Park Rd., La Grange. Don't forget to send me- sometime- a list of all the S.B. people you know the addresses of.

Do write again soon, and I'll try not to wait so long.

Very much love

Harold and Dot.

Gould's children: Willard and Hazel Beard
 La Grange, Illinois 1937
[Photo from the family of Myron Gould Beard]

[This letter, dated July 25, 1937, was written from Steamboat Island (Lake Winnepesaukee), Lakeport, New Hampshire by Monnie to her mother. Monnie is still working as governess for the Tucker family and encourages her parents to come up and visit her. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Steamboat Island
 Lakeport, N.H.
 July 25, 1937

Dear Mother,

I hope it is as cool with you as it is with us tonight. It was a hot day, but a wind came up at nightfall that has made it delightfully cool.

A weekend party is in progress. There were five guests, but three of them went this afternoon. Two are staying for a few days. The children and I have been eating by ourselves on the back porch, which I like quite as well as eating at the main table. Last night we had a turkey supper with all the fixings, and delicious chocolate ice cream that the cook makes herself. We have a standing order for ice on Wednesdays and Saturdays, which are ice cream days. We have an electric refrigerator but they never use it for ice cream. Maude is the best cook. And Mrs. Tucker's menus are more to my liking than Mrs. Peabody's- a bit more substantial. And plenty of iced drinks on hot days. I doubt if I shall grow any thinner here!

Our groceries are delivered each morning by a motor boat, and the order is taken for the following day. I think running such a boat would be fun. I'd like to try it.

There is a native New Hampshire who has been working more or less steadily here ever since we came- fixing doors, making a stone and cement fireplace for picnic suppers, moving rocks etc. He seems to be a general favorite and looks after the houses on Birch Island and here in the winter time. He's a dear old man- tho he really isn't old, about 50, I suppose, - but he's so genial, round cheeks and pleasant expression, always ready to break into a smile. He lives all alone- a bachelor- and as particular as an old maid, they say. Mr. Abbott is his name- and the children are so fond of him. Stuart especially will follow "Mr. Abbitt" around all day firing questions, simply fascinated at his carpentering and mason work. So am I.

Well, all this to preface information regarding you coming up. I asked Mr. Abbott about getting overnight accommodations near The Weirs, and back he came the next day with complete information- names, places, rates etc. He says a Mr. Davis has a very nice house, and charges only a dollar a night, a person. There are also very nice auto camps with those little cabins. All these are near The Weirs. Mr. Abbott says they are liable to be filled up during August, so the safest thing to do would be to write ahead for reservations. I do hope as many of you will come as possible. You will enjoy talking to Mrs. Canterbury about Union and Mr. Beeding. Mrs. Canterbury also introduced me to some people who live on the next island. The grandfather, Mr. Bartholomew, comes from Mr. and Mrs. Edward Smith's home town, knows their families well, has known both of them since before their marriage! Also knows Union and was telling me of all the great people who originated there.

I'm returning that precious letter from Dot. I'm sorry she can't come east this summer. Father and you are pulled all sorts of ways aren't you? Don't end up by going nowhere, tho.

Will you give me Uncle Elbert's next stopping place? I'll write him a letter.

My love to you and Father, and Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary. Do write me yourself, today please.

Monnie

[This letter, date July 1937, was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dot to her mother and father. She talks about plans to visit Harold's family and then go east to visit her family. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[July 1937]

Tuesday

Dear Mother and Father:-

Your letter that came yesterday sent my mind and heart racing Eastward. Well, just yesterday, Harold heard that his work was to last up until this week Sat. so that gives us a little vacation, anyway. Harold wants to go to his folks for a little while and as we sat down last night to figure things out, there were several reasons why we thought it would be better all around if we went to Galesburg first, then out East. It broke my heart to think of not being there for our anniversary- and it would [be] such fun taking the trip up to Monnie. On the other hand, if we go East last we stand a better chance of seeing all of you- Monnie and Jerry, too, don't we? Aren't they coming to the farm after their work is over?

Our plans now are to leave here sometime Sat., Aug. 14, spend that night with Gould, go on to Galesburg on Sun. We'll stay there till the next Sun- Aug. 22- then start East. It will take us three good days to get there, and we ought to be there for Jerry's birthday. You see, that way we can be there to celebrate that, and maybe your anniversary. Harold has to be back for Sept. 7.

About your trip to Monnie's, couldn't Jerry go along to help you in the driving, or why don't you go right on from your Union speaking engagement and take Uncle Elbert and Aunt Emma with you? I'll write Monnie, telling her that we are not going East until later.

The letter, enclosed, from Monnie came a day or so ago. I must get it on to you so that you can tell her you read it- that it got all around- when you see her.

Thanks for the check Father- but isn't it a little "out of season"? I generally get it in April and Oct. Is this the Oct. one?- in advance?

The enclosed check on my life insurance was addressed to me, and the check is made out to Father, so I'm sending it on. I want to talk to you some more about that policy when I get there.

Thank you, Father, for sending the clippings. They will all help, and I shall hold them to send back.

Myrtle Johnson sent this leaf to me from her mother's home in Wis. and said somebody told her that there were just a few trees like it in this country. They were native trees of China and Japan. I don't remember it, do you? If so, what is it? (Ginkgo- Mother)

Tell Aunt Phebe thanks for her note enclosed in Father's last letter. As I look at my birthday book, I see that her "big day" was Aug. 3. Hope somebody greased her nose for me.

I can't hardly wait to see you all again. Write again soon.

Lots of love-

Dot.

[This letter dated July 25, 1937 was probably written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Hugh does not have a new job yet. Their 2nd baby is due December 9. Kathleen hopes that Ellen can come down to Florida and invites Geraldine to come. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

July 25 [1937]

Dear Jerry:

Wish we could see you in your elegant apartment. How did you happen to meet up with Miss Eldred? I'm also eager to know whether you took the job at the Marot school. Are you all thru at the doctor's now and is your nose all healed up? Every time I get a blocked nose in the middle of the night I wish I could be dug out too. I should think it would hurt quite a bit since the nose is so sensitive anyway. Does it?

Poor Jerry, I can easily imagine how that July 4th drive would set you on edge. Should think Mother would learn how hindering her uneasiness is to the driver. I'm surprised to hear that Father is getting along so well with driving especially with such hills and traffic as you have around there. I'm afraid I would not like driving there much tho I think nothing of it around here where it is quite level and little traffic. Aren't those new Chevies wonderfully easy to handle tho? There is all the difference in driving our Lizzie and Father's 1936 Chevy.

No, Hugh hasn't got a job yet. We learned this week that the express job will not be open at least until late fall or even winter. Very discouraging. And there isn't anything else very likely here in the summer item[?]. Many businesses just shut down altogether for five months and others do half time operation so we may have to wait until things begin stirring again in October.

The doctor sets the birthday of the baby on Dec. 9 but if it is so slow as Jill was in coming it may be a Christmas present. I'm feeling pretty good these days but am getting a very visible protrusion in front. I could have passed with the excuse of poor posture until a few weeks ago but nobody would mistake the evidence now except children. I'm just wondering when Chickie [Kathleen and Hugh's nephew, Rollin McNutt] will begin to ask questions. He is so observing. When Jill came home he was much mystified about my getting her at the hospital and staying so long afterwards. I think he learned the facts when his little sister Sally came but he will surely make some knowing remark about it when he recognizes the symptoms. I can already feel significant twitches which heralds life but s-"he" hasn't begun the boxing matches yet. Jill certainly could punch before she came and I either had to hold my breath and bear it or return the sallies. - But all this must be very boring to you, so just skip it and don't show to any one outside the family.

I hope Mother will be able and willing to come down and help me but she may not want to be away down here for Xmas. Since it will come at the holiday time I do wish all of you who can would jump into Father's car and take your vacation here. Wouldn't that be fun? Of course I couldn't be a proper hostess but should love to have you all here. Please talk it up with the folks.

We are having almost daily rains now which help cool it off immensely. Just now there are showers on all sides of us and a lovely breeze blowing in on me. We are always grateful for clouds to hide the too-constant sun.

Mother wrote a good long letter telling all the news from there and enclosing Dots last letter. And how did Monnie get located way up in N.H.? She just dropped a card saying where she was.

Jill loves to get your card and read it aloud. She says it is from "Aunt Dewy" (with a short e). She knows you all by name now and I wonder how long it will take her to fit names to faces when she sees you.

Loads of love from us all- Kathie

[This letter dated Aug. 1, 1937 was probably written from Clearwater, FL by Kathleen to her Aunt Phebe. Kathleen wishes Aunt Phebe a happy birthday. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Aug. 1, 1937

Dear Aunt Phebe:

In two days you will have a birthday and we hope it will be a very happy one. I wish we were there to celebrate with you and see that you are properly kissed and buttered, but will have to wait until next year, I guess.

Mother wrote that you had been visiting in Nichols and were to go to Putnam later so I take it that you have also been on the go this summer. We have been pretty quiet except for a few picnics and frequent swimming but somehow the time seems to fly by and now the summer is half over. I am looking forward to the cool weather again for it has been pretty hot for the past month. Last week it rained for a half of every day and we even had a miniature hurricane one day. It rained over eight inches in as many hours that day and we were kept busy putting pans under the leaks in our attic. Fortunately the storm subsided before night so we weren't completely flooded out. I hope that isn't the prelude to a real hurricane.

Guavas are getting ripe and I have made a little jelly. Late mangos are coming in too but are rather stringy. Did Jerry tell you of my attempt to send her some? I was hoping that if that experiment worked I would try sending some to the Farm but it seems that they do not stand travelling very well.

Time out- to straighten up a quarrel among the three children. Little Rollin can't find enough to interest him without school and usually leads Molly and Jill a merry chase when they all play together. The two girls alone get along beautifully playing with dolls or dishes. During the rainy days last week I introduced Jill to paper dolls and she adores them. We found the styles in Woman's Home Companion just right to cut out and Jill keeps them very carefully.

News is noticeably lacking down here now but we don't do as much during the summer as you do- it's even hard work writing when you have to stop every line to fan yourself.

We all send out love and a great big Happy Birthday-

Kathleen

This photo was taken in 1939, but shows from R to L: Cynthia Elmer, Sally McNutt, Jill Elmer, Molly McNutt, and Rollin McNutt. Cynthia was born in December of 1937.

[Photo from collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

[This letter dated Aug. 11, 1937 was probably written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen is hoping that Geraldine will come to Florida for Christmas. Kathleen should have her new baby by then. Her 29th birthday was celebrated with Hugh's family on the beach. Kathleen talks about her sister-in-law, Pearl Elmer, and how she has been doing since her treatments (insulin treatments for schizophrenia). Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Aug. 11, [1937]

Dear Jerry:

Thanx loads for the long letter and the bill which fell out of it into my lap. You and Monnie managed very well to size up the situation and we are most thankful for my gift in that form. The knitted dress would be grand but my interest in clothes just now consists mainly in how soon I may get them off.

My! how nice and cool Miss Eldred's letter sounded. It must be lonely up in Maine now, and how I would love to need two blankets at night. For the past three months we have pulled a thin blanket up only twice- both times after a rain storm. Jill usually sleeps with no covering.

I hope the doctor is there probing your eye now. I can imagine how it must hurt in so sensitive a place. I hope too that the result justifies the inconvenience. But you musn't cudgel your thinker about my nose for it has given me pretty good service for 29 years and I guess it can go until we have the wherewithal. We hope not to be as penniless as we are now for very long and I'll have it done some summer when we're up north.

I'm muchly thrilled about all the encouraging remarks about you all coming down here for Christmas. It would be scads of fun for us to have you come- and being family you wouldn't worry me in the least whatever my condition. Tho I greatly hope that Tootsie will make it's appearance well in advance of the 25th. I should hate to be in the hospital all the time you were here. Monnie suggested waiting until Easter vacation; and that is alright with me only that vacation isn't so long, but the weather is apt to be nicer. Father writes that he may be in Carolina in November and he is practically here if he comes that far. I haven't sounded Dot about it but am getting discouraged about their ever coming down. She hasn't written since April so I'm giving her some of her own medicine.

Yesterday we all celebrated [August 10- Kathleen's 29th birthday] with a picnic at Clearwater beach and it is about the nicest picnic we have had down here. Rollins sister was down here for a week with her family visiting her mother who has a home in Clearwater so they all came along too and that made seventeen in all. We roasted wieners and took a freezer of homemade ice cream out there so it was a feast royal, what with birthday cake and potatoe salad too. There were six children and they all went in swimming except Sally who got her exercise kicking around on a blanket. Some of the grown ups went in too and it looked like grand fun. I should have liked to but my suit becomes immodest when two of us try to get into it. The children all sat together for supper and were a picture of bliss. You should have seen Jill after the ice cream- she was a chocolate baby from the lap up. We stayed out there until after sunset and it was so blissfully cool and bugless that I wish we could take our supper out every night. The only trouble is that the beach is ten miles from our house. The day was otherwise commemorated by two telegrams and a bath set from Hugh's family. Pearl is also making me a maternity dress which is nearly finished.

You asked about Pearl. She seems, to all outward appearances, quite normal now and takes an interest in everything that goes on. I don't think she is quite her old self. You would probably see a difference, but she is so much improved over what she has been for the past few years that it seems most remarkable. The Doctor refused to predict as to the permanency of the treatment. It is too new to tell from any of the patients he has used it on. But he thinks that unless the same physical ailments return (anemia and some deficiencies in her system) that she should remain cured. It is too drastic a treatment to repeat often- a sort of kill or cure. In fact we were rather worried for a week or two while she was taking it that she wouldn't survive it. She really should get out now and get some interests of her own, a job etc. but the whole family seems reluctant to have her be on her own. She is some help there now and will be company for Mother if Enid moves out.

As the physical burden becomes greater my mental functioning seems to get duller and duller so if my letters sound plodding don't think that I am growing moronic. I guess it is a fairly normal accompaniment and will pass I hope. I remember Debbie's letter, written before her baby came sounded almost simple, but it is true that concentration at his time becomes very difficult. I simply can't take in any heavy reading and even with ordinary reading I sometimes have to go back to get the sense. I feel more or less like a cow.

Jill saw me writing and said she wanted to write to you too, so I'm enclosing her note. I asked her what it said and she says, "I had a nice picin" (picnic) and "I like Aunt Jerry" and "my name is Jacun Amer". If you can get that out of her scribbling you're doing better than I can, but we'll take her word for it.

Thank you again for the money and lots of love from all three (four) of us.

Kathie

Just when do you leave New York and will you be at the Farm afterwards?

[This letter dated Aug. 12, 1937 was written from Oberlin, Ohio by Aunt Etta (Etta Kinney Hume) to Geraldine. Etta talks about her trip back to Oberlin after visiting Geraldine. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Oberlin Ohio. Aug 12/37

Dear Geraldine:-

Tuesday at 5:15 found me safely in Oberlin. I enjoyed Polly very much. She is all you have told me about her. When she has finished her education and comes to Oberlin to give a concert, I am to have the pleasure of entertaining her!

We reached Albany about 6 o'clock. The trip up the river was delightful. Polly wanted to sit on the upper deck to get a little sunburn. She thought she had not succeeded. When I reached home and looked in the mirror, saw that my chest was quite red, and showed just where my beads had rested. It has not been at all sore.

Your lunch was much enjoyed. Polly bought some orange and grape juice to go with it.

I rested, stretched out on a couch, until 8:30. My train went at 9. I took a day coach which was new and air conditioned. The seats were separate and each one lowered in the back as do those on the busses, so they were quite restful. My train arrived at 6 o'clock and again I stretched out on a couch in the ladies room and rested until 8 o'clock, then went out for breakfast. The stores did not open until 9.30 in the summer. I bought a coat (white) at Taylor's, after looking in three places. At twelve o'clock I went to the Exposition and remained until 3 o'clock and took the bus for Oberlin, arriving in time to prepare dinner which Willis had planned. We have our dinner at night as Willis is not hungry at noon. In Albany the streets were full of water from two heavy showers, which were over before we arrived. They had had rain during the night in Cleveland and weather was cloudy. Rain preceded me also in Oberlin, so I didn't need the umbrella. Willis said Elbert telephoned from Cleveland Sat. evening, about 5 o'clock to see if I was home. Willis advised that we go to Donald's to spend the weekend and come here Tuesday. He said he would think it over and if he did not hear by 8 o'clock he would know that he had decided to continue his journey to Putnam. We rec'd a card Sunday that he had left for Putnam. I was very much disappointed. I arrived home about the date he said he would be in Chicago 10th, so expected to be here in time. He must have been in a hurry to get home when he was on the homeward trip. He'll forget many little interesting details before we see him. The letter I wrote you at your apt. was returned. As Gould was not home (I infer) he did not stop long. Thanks for the very interesting events you provided.

With love- Aunt Etta.

Myron and Lucy ? are at her home and are going to Chautauqua about the 16th.

Donald and family and perhaps Stewart will be here Sunday. Am wondering if Polly's finger is recovering.

The Best Sport

There is no game that is more exciting or pleasurable than the game of finding friends. If you really look for them, they will pop up in the most unexpected places, and If you only know it, you have within yourself a lodestone that will attract friends to you.

The woods are full of friends waiting to be found.

By Chas. Battell Loomis.

I was interested in this as it is so applicable to you and Polly.

[This birthday card dated Aug. 22, 1937 was probably written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Gerry (Geraldine). Kathleen wishes Geraldine a happy birthday on August 25 and thanks Geraldine for sending her a gift of money. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Aug. 22 [1937]

Dear Gerry:

We all hope you have a grand birthday wherever you happen to be on the 25th. Did you decide to stay on in N.Y. for treatments or are you going back to the Farm? I think I'll send this to Shelton and not run the risk of having it come back as one other did. Your gift from us will be late again I fear, for I have not had a chance to get it yet. If there is anything you especially want or need for fall please tell me right away and I'll try to get it.

Your letter and the second five spot came safely and thank you again. I think you and Monnie were both too generous.

Have you heard from Mrs. Marot yet about your job? Things are much the same with us. Nothing much happens and this month has been awful for heat. It takes half a day of rain to cool it down to 75 degrees and then only for the night. I for one will be glad when cool weather comes.

Did you notice that an Oberlin Alumnus was killed by a bomb in Shanghai? His name was Bob Reischauer [see photo below] and he was in Monnie's class I think. Japan is certainly maddening and I wish there was some way to bring her to terms. Mother and Father got out just in time it seems. I can't feature a Japanese-controlled China, can you?

Here are lots more birthday wishes from all of us and some big smacks from Jill.

Love

Kathie

[This letter, dated September 6, 1937, was written from LaGrange, Ill. by Ginny to Dot and Harold. She thanks Dot and Harold for taking Hazel on a trip with them. Willard enjoyed his time while she was away. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

75 N. Park Rd.
La Grange, Ill.
September 6, 1937

Dear Dot and Harold-

I still can't make out which time she was more excited- when she left or when she arrived home at the airport. At any rate Hazel was about the most excited little girl possible both times. The only damper on her arrival was her Daddy's departure. She was able to see him for just about ten minutes before he left.

I'm heart broken that he should have to leave right now for he will miss all that first pent up enthusiasm of hers. I don't think I ever heard words get spilled out so fast nor get messed up as badly as hers did for the first hour or two. Her little mind was going about those times as fast as her tongue and she was so afraid she'd forget something that she simply must remember to tell me.

It certainly seems good to have her home but we can't thank you enough for your generousness in taking her with you and making it possible for her to have such a momentous trip in her young life. She loved every minute of it and will probably remember most of it all her life. Gould and I both thank you a hundred fold and if you had any undue expense because of her we want to know about it and re-emburse you. Oh say; did you have any trouble getting her through the customs?

You mentioned while here that you might come down for that big base ball game here. Do, we'd just love to have you; and we'd so love to hear your side of the story on this trip.

Willard was so funny about Hazel's being away. At first he missed her frightfully but after 3 or 4 days he began to be very nonchalant about it. One day I asked him if he'd be glad when sister got home and he came back with "I wish she'd stay there ten years". Why I asked and he said, "Why Mummie I don't mind sleeping in my room all alone." Since her departure he has played with his toys in his room more than he does in six months ordinarily and has hugely enjoyed building his hangers, bridges, houses etc. to suit himself, without a little voice say "Here brother let me show you how to build a nice one" and after about five minutes he'd loose all interest in it. However regardless of all statements he was one mighty happy little boy when sister appeared and they have chattered their heads off.

Gould has to be in Newark a couple of days than on to Washington for an important conference with the Department of Commerce. He

[Letter ends here and the last page is missing. The following is written in someone else's handwriting:]

The last page was business.

[This letter dated Fall of 1937 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) to Monnie (Marjorie). Dorothy would like to go to Florida to visit Kathleen some day. Her mother, Ellen, is going for Christmas. Dorothy may attend her 15th reunion at Oberlin. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2306 No. Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
Sunday- [Fall] 1937

Dear Monnie:-

I waited a long time for that letter telling about your life there, how you liked it, etc. I'm so glad you really do enjoy it, and are not too awfully tied down. That's the only thing I'm afraid of in Jerry's work- that she will not have enough time to herself to rest up if she gets too tired. She must be powerfully busy, for I haven't even heard from her yet. However a letter from Aunt Emma told quite a bit about her. How did she look to you when you saw her at the farm?

How perfectly thrilling to think that you may soon talk to your beloved so many many miles away! That's just too wonderful. Bet you won't even know what you're saying. I'd like to watch you in the act. Thanks for the snap of you all on the farm. It must have been a grand week-end. Mr. Butt looks real jolly, and Daphne looks cute.

I do so want to get down to see Kathie, too, so when you go, I think I shall go along even if Harold can't go. I don't know why- but he never has seemed the least bit enthusiastic when I suggest a trip to Florida. I'm afraid we have only a short Christmas vacation- 11 or 12 days- altho the school directory hasn't come out yet- so it would hardly be practical for us to go down then. Is it true that Mother is planning to stay down there alone for Christmas, and that Father is coming back? I think it's almost too bad that he doesn't stay with Mother- for Kathie's sake.

I wish you and Jerry would plan to spend your Easter vacation here with us. Maybe you could inveigh Mother and Father to drive you out. Do think about it.

You know, this will be my 15th reunion at Oberlin, so I may go down. How long would you and Jerry plan to stay in Florida? If you went after Commencement? I have a job in the Eastern Star that I'm supposed to take care of in July. Our ice-cream social always comes the third Wed. in July and the Conductress (that's what I am this year) is always chairman of it. If I could have them move that up to the first Wed. in July, then I think I could be free for the rest of the summer.

Aunt Emma forwarded your letter to Jerry and it was most interesting. You seem to have met some very interesting people there. There is a minister here who- I've heard- has spent some time in Labrador. I haven't met him yet. You and he will have to get together for a talk sometime. As usual, your letter was full of your clever and interesting character studies of your new friends there.

I'll write soon again, but must close now.

Much love- Dot.

I spent two very interesting days in Grand Rapids attending the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star. That's our state annual convention. I drove a load down. Had lots of fun.

I'm refereeing all the Junior High girls volley-ball games this year- one every Tues. and every Wed. for six weeks- at $2. per game. "Every little bit helps."

Is the family still planning to get together at the farm for Christmas and what are we doing about the relatives?

[This letter dated Fall of 1937 was written from Saginaw, Mich. by Dot (Dorothy) and Harold to Jerry (Geraldine). Dorothy asks about Christmas presents for the family and is keeping busy with volley ball games. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Saginaw, Mich.

Monday – [Fall] 1937

Dear Jerry:-

You must be powerfully busy. Haven't heard one word from you since you started teaching. Guess I haven't written, either, have I?

We have just decided to go to La Grange and Galesburg for this short vacation; if the weather permits. We'll spend Thurs. and Thurs. night with Gould and go on down Fri. to Galesburg- coming back Sun. We're guessing that you and Monnie will be at the farm. I suppose Father will be back with news about Kathie.

While you and Monnie are together I hope you can settle the Christmas business- whether we are dividing the relatives as usual, and who each of us takes. It doesn't make any difference to me who I have. Ginny wants to know what about the dictionary idea for the Putnam folks. Guess they want to go in on it. They seem to think the mattress will cost too much- for Aunt Phebe. If we could get enough people in on it, it wouldn't. Maybe Uncle Oliver, Father, and all the nieces and nephews could swing it together. However, whatever you decide is O.K.

Would you have time next week-end to send me the article about the 1000 yr. old Chinese bowl. If you don't have time to copy it can you send the whole thing and let me send it back. I'm planning to use it on Dec.7, in a talk.

I've been plenty busy myself, this fall. I've been refereeing all of the Junior High girls volley-ball games this year- one every Tues. and every Wed. afternoons for six weeks. Last year I had only half of them and another lady took the other half. I substituted in my old North gym one day last week, and had lots of fun. It gave me "that o-o-o-o-ld feelin".

It's been snowy here for the last week. We're hoping it will let up for this week end.

Our Eastern Star Installation is held on Wed. night before Thanksgiving, so we're not going to be able to start before early Thurs. morning. I am to be Conductress in the Chapter this year.

Monnie's letters sound as tho she were thoroughly enjoying her work there. I do hope you are enjoying yours too, and that it is not too very confining. Do you get to see much of Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert? What did Bill Taylor [Tayler] finally do?

I'm invited to a luncheon and program at the Reading Club this afternoon as a guest. The speaker is a minister here in town who has spent several years in Labrador. I've never met him.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Love from Harold and Dot.

Please send us yours and Monnie's Christmas wants, and have you any ideas for Father and Mother?

Program notes of Willard's address to the Thirty-Third Annual Meeting of the Southeast Coast Association of Congregational Christian Churches with the Miami Beach Community Church October 26, 1937.

460,000 people in China 1/4 of all world

- Facts:
1. China is a unit
 2. Church influenced all China
 3. Chinese head all
 4. Every progress thru Christianity

43 years ago

1. very few travelers in China
2. closed to converse [conversation?] and religion
3. idols sacred
4. Dr. Sun Yat Syn put[?] out rulers
5. disjointed under many rulers
6. student body only few boys

Now

1. Many visitors and foreigners
2. open to modernization
3. not ?? if used
4. republic
5. Chiang Kai Shek unites China
(traitors no more – why?)
6. everyone- talk to generalissimo girls and boys

Chiang Kai Chek

Married- Madame Koong's sister

Kidnapped by General Chang ???

Asks for bible

Unites last part of China

7. church ????

(13 different types)

8. Gov. against church

9. Gov. injured property

10. Christianity blocked

7. Church of Christ in China

(1/3 of everyone)

8. Gov. and church together and 20,000 per year to church for advancement of science

9. builds it up anew

10. Christianity begged for rickshaw pullers to preachers

once a week to tell people of Christ

Soong family all Christians

And their families

Madame C.K.C. writes speech

April 17- 24- 1937- diary of China's leader

While he was kidnapped

"Sufferings of Jesus means to me"

love of leader or China
1st Jesus – 2nd China

11. work carried on by foreigners

11. in hands of Chinese helped by foreigners

They want us to help and advise
As friends not bosses
Teach forgiving to Chinese people
Teach to get over superstition
10 ? – 112+ lbs.
12 ??- 80 lb.

?? leichie beys- shook from tree (210,000)
picked up and packed or burned

12. floods and drought destroy

12. electric irrigation and drainage system

13. church supported by us

13. self supporting now or in 2 years

14. foot binding

14. only back in country

address by W. L. Beard

[This letter dated early Nov. 1937 was written from Clearwater, FL by Ellen to Geraldine. Ellen gives Geraldine train info to FL as Geraldine and Marjorie may come to Florida for Christmas. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Early Nov. 1937]

Dear Geraldine,

As Kathleen is writing I will put in a brief note.

Marjorie, I think, wrote that you had suggested to her, that you both come down here on Christmas vacation. Thinking you probably intended coming by rail as requiring the least time in travel, I went to the station here in Safety Harbor to get what information I could about trains and fares for your consideration in planning.

The station agent said "The Orange Blossom Special", a very fast train, will be put on Dec. 10 for the whole winter season and into next summer. It has air conditioned cars, individual reclining seats, and is nice, clean and new all thru. Fine wash room, etc. I gave him New Haven as a starting point (he didn't know where it was, but by my directions as to location and distance with respect to Hartford wh. he found in his books, he estimated the fare from New Haven), as $27.40. Then he said later on this "Special" starting at about 1+ p.m. from N. York, you arrive here at about 4:50 p.m. the following day, thus having only one night out.

At first, he said you changed only at Washington. Later he said some thing about changing at N.Y., but I think that meant, if you entrained at N. Haven.

I asked the price of berths in case you felt the necessity of them and he said $9.00,- I suppose that meant from N.Y. in which case you would probably not change at Washington. Your sleeper would probably be attached to the "O.B. Special" at Washington. He said you would probably go to bed at 10 p.m. at Richmond, Va.

I asked the price of a round trip ticket and he said $71.20 good for 15 days stay. I asked why so much more for a round trip ticket than for 2 one way tickets and he said he didn't know but that was what the books said.

71.20

$27.40 X 2 = 54.80

Difference $16.48 - !

However he said he did not have the latest information re. the "O.B. Special" but he would receive new schedules and books in a few days and he asked me to come in again.

I suppose buses are a little cheaper but I am afraid of buses, they travel so fast 60 m.p.h. and they would not be as comfortable and restful as train service.

Hugh contends that buses are safer than R.R. as R.R. trains have jumped the tracks 3 times in recent times hereabouts, to only one bad bus accident on the Tamiami Trail where 14 persons were drowned in a deep ditch beside the road. Florida is so level that there are no high embankments for trains or buses to roll down.

Well this is enough in this line, for you isn't it?!

It makes the decision of the time you come difficult, doesn't it, since the only time you can see Gould's family for a year or more is on Christmas. I suppose he counts on seeing all but Kathleen and me there then.

It is cold here today 40 degrees last night, around 60 degrees outside in the sunshine today.
All are well here.

Kathleen drove the Elmers in their car and me and Jill to Clearwater (7 miles) yesterday a.m.; may do so again the day before Thanksgiving to get the turkey. Mrs. Elmer has invited us all to the Th'ksgv. feast. Love Mother.

[This letter dated Nov. 7, 1937 was written from Portsmouth, VA by Willard to Geraldine. Nancy and Willard drove Ellen to Kathleen's house in Florida and they are now in Virginia. Willard describes Kathleen's house and Hugh's new job. Willard will be doing some speaking in North Carolina. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Portsmouth Va
Sunday, Nov 7- 1937

Dear Geraldine:-

A post card has gone direct to you once and a telegram. I think twice to Putnam asking that it be sent on to you. So you have more or less kept track of us.

Nancy [probably Stanley Beard's daughter-19 years old] and I left Mother with Kathleen- Jill and Hugh last Monday at 7:45 a.m. and drove two and a half days- about 780+ miles to Holland Va. This is near Franklin. We were put into a private home- Mr. and Mr. Joe E. Holland and Martha (16). Mr. H. is a well-to-do farmer sticking to his business- over seeing- not doing much of the real work himself- he has his 52 pigs that he was "finishing off" for the market to see sometime this week- 200 lbs. each. He sold over $500.00 worth a month ago. He buys them 40 or 50 at a time when 8 weeks old. Kept them in a pasture for 6 months or more. Then put in a large pen and feeds them on corn till they weigh 200 lbs. and sells. He has 23 cows- hires a man to feed or milk them- oversees 4 or 5 farms on which cotton, corn and beans are raised. The Association meetings were finished Fri. morn but they asked us to stay on till Sat. morning. We enjoyed Friday evening with the family and Nancy and Martha hitched up together finely. We tried to go thru the peanut candy factory in Suffolk on Friday afternoon and try again. I am to meet with the Woman's Miss'y Society tomorrow evening there so we will try again for the candy fac'y in the afternoon.

We were very quiet while at Kathleens, - drove to Clearwater, or to Tampa or to St. Petersburg about every day, and I drove out from her home to New Port Richey, Tampa and St. Petersburg to speak.

Kathleen's house is very conveniently arranged with large living room opening off the dining room behind which is the kitchen. A hall runs from the living room to the bath room. One bed room is just behind one living room another behind that and one across the hall and behind the kitchen, - all on one floor. The whole family are looking well. Hugh went into partnership with an electrician a month ago. The man wanted capital. Hugh's father gave $1000. Hugh drives 24 miles to his work, receives as salary $20 per week and gets 1/3 of the profits. He said he sold $100.00 worth of equipment from the store last week, and just before we left he announced that they had just contracted for wiring a drug store for $325. They would make $125.00 on the job, and they are practically assured of the job of wiring and lighting the fair next year I believe. This is a $30000.00 job. So I hope he is on the road to better times.

I am in Elon College, N.C. Tuesday nite and at Big Oak church near Biscoe for an Assn Meeting Wed, and Thurs. I do not yet know about next Sunday, Nov 14 or Nov 22. Nov. 16, 17, 18 I am at Riverside, N.C. Mail will reach me here addressed General Delivery.

Your last letter forwarded from the farm I guess read as if you were trying to make the best of your position. I hope your trys are making progress and will attain success in time. In the mean time I hope you are getting rested. I wonder what Thanksgiving will bring forth for the family. Nancy and I shall try to get home for or by that day.

We have seen "right much" of Florida and some of Georgia and Alabama and Virginia. We shall see a lot of northern North Carolina. I have a distinct impression of miles and miles of wasted land in Fla. and of meeting many people past middle life in that state who have moved here from New England or Penn. or Ohio or Michigan. They are not natives. Here the people are Virginians.

With love
Father

[This letter dated Nov. 8, 1937 was written from Portsmouth, VA by Willard to Monnie (Marjorie). He tells Marjorie of the places that he and Nancy have visited. He talks about Hugh's job. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Portsmouth, VA.
Nov. 8th 1937

Dear Monnie:-

Visions of the end of this whirl-of-a-campaign begin to appear. I have been hoping it would be possible for me to stop on the way between Pearl River and Shelton to perhaps take you to Shelton. I am not sure yet just when we shall actually start for home. I can see that the latest date will be sometime before lunch on Tuesday Nov. 23. One conference at a place. Shallow Well Church, near Sanford, N.C. has not written definitely. This is to be our Association Meeting and I intend to stop at the office of the Superintendent for Va and N.C. and tell them I will attend and speak if they will give me a place on the program at the first session Tuesday morning. Then Nancy and I will leave as soon as I finish and take off 200 miles of one home journey that day, and plan to reach Pearl River Wednesday and I will drive home Thursday morning- stopping for you if you are still in Stanford. Could you write me addressing me at Reidsville, N.C. General Delivery. I am at Reidsville Nov. 16, 17, 18.

It may be that you have other plans that do not fit in with this if so do not change them.

We have kept to our schedule thus far.- The speedometer shows 10500+ miles. It registered 5000+ when we left home. The car covered about 2500 to 3000 miles in Florida alone- from the East Coast Daytona Beach to Clearwater about three times, and from Clearwater to Miami Beach once and from Miami Beach to Daytona Beach one day. Then we drove from Daytona Beach to Atlanta, Ga. and stopped three days, then went on to Talladega, Ala. and from Lineville, Ala. to Clearwater. The longest drive since the one coming down to Fla. was from Clearwater to Holland, Va.- Mother was not with us so we could go 50 and 60 miles an hour.-850+ miles in ten days and a half. The roads were good and weather clear.

Kathleen, Jill and Hugh were well. Hugh is in partnership with an electrician Mr. Newsom- Hugh's father put $1000 into the business, and Hugh keeps the store while Mr. Newsom is out on the jobs. Just before I left Hugh said they had the job of wiring a drug store $325.00. They would clear $100 or $125 on it.

Then Mr. Newsom has secured the job of doing the wiring for a fair to be held in 1938 $30000.00. It looks to me as if Hugh was on the way to make good. They have to get up at a little before six. He leaves at 6:40 and drives 24 miles to Tampa and gets home about 6:00 p.m. He receives as salary $20.00 per week and has 1/3 of the profits from the business. Thus far I guess he has not realized much more than his salary. Jill and Nancy struck up great friendship. The last Sunday we were there, Nancy staid at home and took care of her while Hugh, Kathleen, and Mother and I went to Tampa. I spoke in the Tampa church and all but Hugh lunched with the pastor. Nancy and Jill lunched with Father and Mother Elmer. We found them very happy when we got home.

Write so I will get it from General Delivery.
Reidsville, N.C.

Lovingly
Father

[This letter dated Nov. 13, 1937 was written from Elon College, NC by Willard to Elbert and Emma (Kinney). Willard talks about buying pecans on the roadside. He spoke at Elon Chapel and attended a Duke/NC State football game. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Elon College
Of Dr. Atkinson
Nov. 13th 1937

Dear Elbert and Emma:-

Elberts letter re pecans reached me here two days ago. How perfectly things often work out without our planning! I had decided to buy 100 lbs. of pecans if the right opportunity offered- whether you wrote for them or not. So as we came up thru the pecan raising section we watched for the B. Lloyd's advertisement. We thought of coming back the same route as we came or rather went down, but we were driving against time- nearing 400 miles a day- and for novices that's going some- and our shortest route did not take us thru the place where we had bought the sample we sent you. But we passed a station where Lloyd's pecans were in stock on both sides of the street they wanted 28 cents a lb. for Stewarts [a type of pecan]. I did not know one kind from another, but knew the Stewarts had seemed to us good on our way South. Finally they said they had 100 lbs. of Schleys 28 cents. I told them I had bo't Stewart for 25 cents. At last they went across the way and brought over the box. He asked what I wanted. I told him, and said they did not get an order for 100 lbs from a tourist every day. He said all right take a 100 lb bag for $25.00 so we have them in the car. All unknown to us what kind you wanted or whether you wanted any. I thought at that price I could dispose of them. When I get home, I'll get them up to you in some way. Maybe I'll want to come up to see you and Jerry-unless she comes down to Century Farm for Thanksgiving in which case I may bring her back and take the nuts along.

Nancy and I are greatly enjoying a few days here with Pres. and Mrs. L.E. Smith of Elon College. They kindly asked us to come for last Monday evening. Nancy has been here since I was off in the country- where I went to the well and pumped the water with the family wash basin to wash my face both for supper and b-fast- where the men eat first and the women and children at second table- but they are the kind of folk that make the foundation of the nation- financially independent well-to-do, morally straight, solid gold, intellectually rising. 7 children all but one in school. The youngest Mildred 6 yrs. came running to her father just as I arrived, with her face all aglow and showed him her report card- the first one- with all A's.

I have spoken once at Elon chapel and conducted two forums with two student groups- but the acme of pleasure came yesterday afternoon when I went with the Smith family and Nancy to the football game. Duke (at Durham, N.C.) vs. North Carolina State College). The day was perfect. The crowd 45000 in the Duke Stadium. Just to see that crowd was enough to pay for the tickets- $2.50 a seat. The playing was clean,- a little logy and called it on the part of Duke. The Carolina boys put up a good game and won 14-6. After the game the Carolina boys had to have some fun so they tried to pull down the goal post nearest to where we sat. The Duke boys defended them. After perhaps ten minutes 20 or 30 Carolina boys started for the farther goal post and before the Duke boys got onto their game the C. boys had the posts down. The people here called it a "fight" but I did not see much "fight" in it. We drove our car out of the congestion. As we were inching along, we met a car in the ditch. Another car backed up to it to pull it out. The towing chain was the chains they put on the wheels for ice. The chain snapped. The car was in a pickle all right. Up to its axle. I had a tow chain in the trunk of my car. I could not be sure of landing it and waiting got it, so I told the fellow I had it and would sell it to him. He asked how much. I told at cost= 80 cents. He replied "I'll give you $1.00" I took his dollar and had the satisfaction of seeing him safely on the road with his car- but too far away for me to give him the chance to return my chain and me to return his dollar.

We had dinner at a hotel- a fine dinner. ?? ?? and a call on a Dr. Campbell, teacher in Vanderbilt University and his wife and to bed for a nine hour's sleep- and up for a beautiful day on which I could go to church- get in a pew and listen and enjoy a service. This evening I am to speak at Greensboro.

Here at Elon College I have spoken at College chapel once and held two forums with a class or rather two different classes of the students in the college.

I think I'll send this letter to Geraldine and ask her to forward it to you. Nancy and I are having a very interesting time, but I at least, am looking forward to the close of this campaign with pleasure- two months of it is enough for one stretch.

The weather here now is something like our New England weather in November Indian Summer. We all sat thru one game yesterday with our overcoats off. Put them on when the sun went down.

You would have enjoyed this I think, Jerry. At least you would have seen much of the Southland- and much of the people in different walks of life. From the real share-cropper who asked me - if there was not some kind of trouble over in China right now to the cultured College President.

With love Will.

[This letter dated Nov. 16, 1937 was probably written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Kathleen is relaxing and waiting for her 2nd baby to arrive. She gives information to Geraldine on train schedules in hopes that Marjorie and Geraldine will come to Florida for Christmas. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Nov. 16, 1937

Dear Jerry:

Jill and I are out basking in a lovely warm sun and Mother is working - as usual. I am being very lazy these days and letting her do most of it. I am just waiting for the "event" so that I can go back to normal and it can't come too soon for me now.

You must be very busy with your classes for we have heard nothing from you since they started. Uncle Elbert wrote that you had been down there to dinner three times and Monnie wrote of your New York trips so we know you haven't been stationary. I hope you don't have too much studying to do or much extra curricular work. Do the girls seem responsive or are they inclined to be sophisticated and unscholarly?

Have you and Monnie decided whether you are coming down for Christmas? We hope you have made up your minds to come but of course you know best when it will be most convenient for you and any time will suit us so far as we know now. Mother found out some important information about trains down here which she will include in this letter. If you do come by train be sure to get your ticket via the "Seaboard Airline" road for that goes right thru Safety Harbor and we can meet you. However, get your ticket to Clearwater since it is cheaper that way I think, and ask to get off at Safety Harbor. There is another line, "Atlantic Coast line", which goes thru Clearwater but we would find it hard to meet you since Hugh has the car in Tampa all day. Or, you could buy your ticket to Tampa and Hugh could meet you there and drive you home when he comes. Perhaps that would be easiest all around and it might be a little cheaper for you too. Anyway let us know if and when you are coming.

We are wondering where you will spend thanksgiving. Will you go down to the Farm or have dinner in Putnam. I suppose you will have the whole weekend won't you, or don't the girls go home for that Holiday? We have been invited over to the Elmer house for dinner if the children get well enough by that time. Sally and Molly have colds and little Rollin has some kidney trouble resulting from a cold- so Enid has her hands pretty full taking care of them. Also Pearl has been worse for the last two months and is very little help over there. Her case was of such long standing that it has not responded well as they hope it would.

Hugh likes his new job and gets along well with his partner, which helps a lot. It will probably mean an eventual move nearer Tampa for us but I guess we will stay here for the present anyway. Mother seems to like the location of our house and her sunny South room. It is very quiet out here and if you come down you will get a good rest.

Last night was our coldest night so far and we needed heat this morning. We had not frost tho, and I hope we don't have any as long as the poinsettias are in bloom. They are beautiful now and very showy. This is Thursday (Nov. 18) and Jill and I are out sunning ourselves again. It is much warmer out than in today- but I'll never get this finished if Jill continues to demand my attention. She missed Nancy's attention for a few days after they left and was a handful to take care of. She is more contented now but learned to do several taboo things which she hasn't unlearned- like turning on all the lights any time of day or night and filling everything with water at the sink. She is getting some much needed discipline from Grandma and lessons in good behavior. She ought to be a model child when Mother gets thru with her for I have been rather lax recently about making her mind.

I must finish now if I get this into the mail so goodbye for now and write us soon.

Love from all of us

Kathie

[This letter dated Nov. 22, 1937 was written from Clearwater, FL by Ellen to Geraldine. Ellen talks about life in Florida and of some of the people she has met. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Clearwater, Fla.

Monday Nov. 22", 1937.

Dear Geraldine,

I fancy you have been wondering when you were going to hear from us as much as we have been when you would favor us with a communication.

I can realize now how Kathleen feels rather isolated from the whole family, but she adjusts herself to the southern environment very well. There is very little society immediately about here for her; and owing to the coming of Jacqueline and the care of her since, and the approaching arrival of the second, they do not go out much to get into any society. I have met one couple three houses down the road, a former Boston minister and wife who have spent 49 summers at Lake Winnepesaukee; were there last summer; bought this house here on this street about 3 yrs. ago; they dropped in a few minutes yesterday afternoon on their way home from a walk; were much interested to hear we had been to Lake W. last summer and Marjorie's residence with the Tucker family. They did not know where Steamboat Island is [an island in Lake Winnepesaukee]!

Aside from these,- Rev. and Mrs. Bakeman, I have met no other, outside of the Elmer family, except their (K's and H's) grocer who is a relative of the former President Lowell- of Harvard, their ice man who delivers ice a the house daily, and the proprietor of the electric shop where Hugh works. So you see we live very quietly.

Yesterday and today have been cold days; last night so cold that some of the more exposed poinsettias were killed. The lowest temperature at 7 o'clock this morning was 29 degrees. Last evening at about 9:30 and again at 10:30 the forecast of probable temperatures for each of the cities in this part of Florida was given by radio for the benefit of citrus fruit growers and truck gardeners. The announcer must have given about 50 cities ranging from 2 to 34 degrees. Little or no damage was done to citrus fruits I think, in this part of Florida. Ice froze on open tubs of water at Mr. Elmer's house, 1/8 inc. thick. The ice man also reported the same at his home. And wasn't it cold tho!! Saturday night I slept so cold under 7 thicknesses (including the sheet) of cotton and wool covers of varying weight, 2 being the English Duffle from Labrador, that last night I added 2 more thicknesses of cotton bedquilt, and slept in 2 union suits, woolen stockings and heavy winter night gown. So if it's cold up north at Christmas vacation, come down to "Sunny Florida"!!!

But it's moderating and Kathleen says the cold snaps never last more than two or three days.

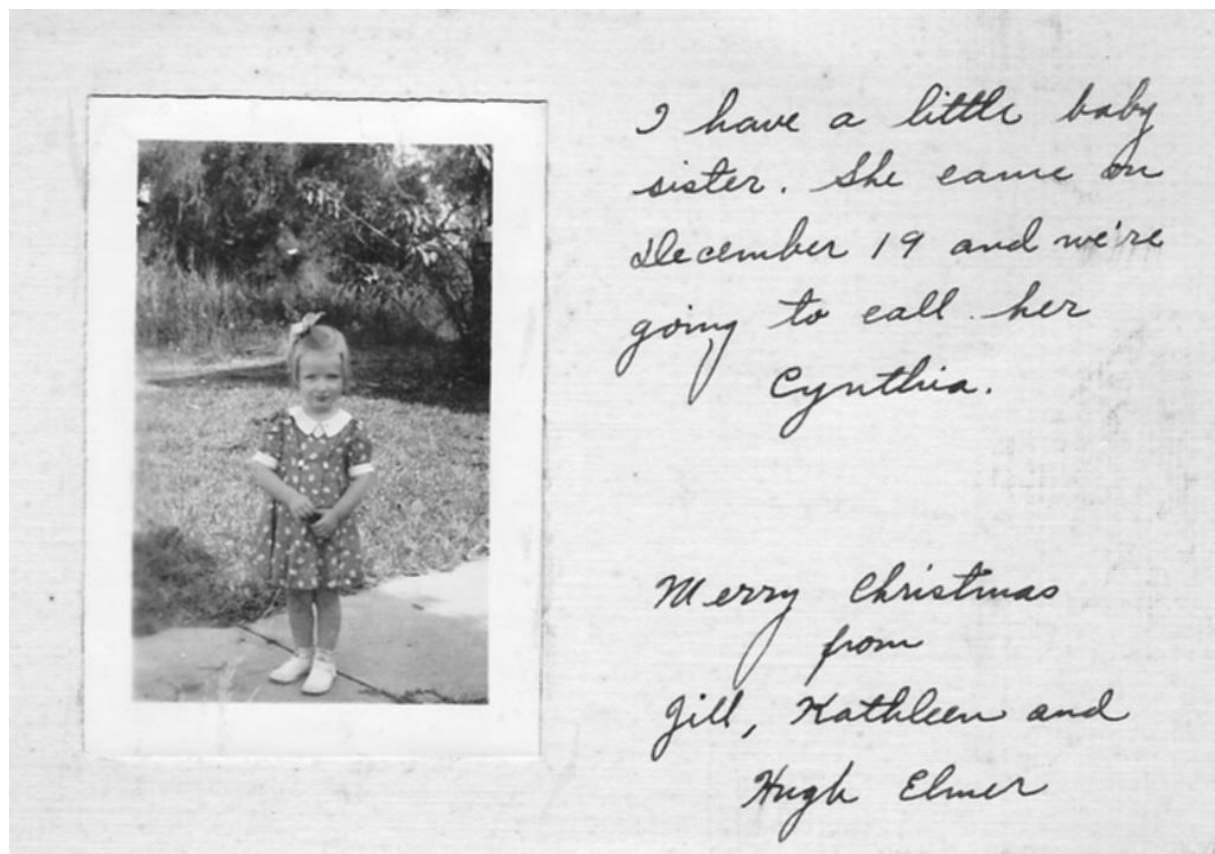

Two weeks ago yesterday we planned to go to Clearwater to church. Mr. Elmer, Hugh and I. Hugh wanted to take Jacqueline. K. was a bit doubtful. But the little girlie sat very still in her father's lap, all thru the service without uttering a word or a sound. She fell asleep for 10 min. toward the last but woke when the organ struck up the final hymn. Her grandfather was evidently quite gratified by her perfect behavior and complimented her and gave her more attention and caresses than I ever saw him bestow before. She took one of her little automobiles in her hand to play with if the sermon was too long and I carried a small picture book for a diversion if necessity required but I simply held it in my lap covered with her coat and she only held her automobile in her hand not playing with it at all nor even looking at it. In one of her grandfather's compliments for her behavior, spoken to Hugh, she transferred the meaning to the church service when he meant it regarding her behavior. What he said was that she behaved better than at the moving picture a few weeks ago when she ran down the aisle and was brought back by an usher who told Hugh to keep her in the seat. When she arrived home her mother asked her if she liked going to church, she answered "Yes, better than the moving picture".

I said I had met only one couple here. There is one other couple who came in one evening last week to play cards. Mr. and Mrs. Dort and their 2 yr. old boy. They live a few miles away.

Mr. Bakeman said he had a brother who was a missionary in Shanghai teaching in S'hai Bapt. College, many years but died 3 yrs. ago. We did not know him.

I walk down to the store in Safety Harbor occasionally and am taking this letter to the P.O. or train there right now. Love Mother.

Kathleen is well and keeping up finely.

Cynthia's birth announcement December 19, 1937
[From the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

Written on back of photo: "Baby Cynthia and Grandma"
Ellen and Cynthia Elmer
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1938

- Hitler invades Austria
- War of the Worlds by Orson Welles is broadcast over the radio
- Willard and Ellen are in the U.S.
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Florida
- Marjorie is living in the U.S. – probably the farm
- Dorothy and Harold are living in Saginaw, Michigan
- Geraldine is living in New England
- Gould and Virginia are living in La Grange, Illinois
- Willard is 73, Ellen- 70, Gould- 42, Geraldine- 40, Dorothy- 37, Marjorie- 32, Kathleen- 30.

[This letter dated Jan. 26, 1938 was written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Ellen is in Florida for a lengthy stay. Kathleen has had baby Cynthia and Ellen realizes how much work babies are, since she had the help of amahs in China. Geraldine did not make it to Florida for Christmas but sent a box of presents. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

R.D. 1 Clearwater
Jan. 26 [1938]

Dear Jerry:

You are probably thinking that I am shamefully slow about writing and the truth is that I am thinking so too. There just doesn't seem to be any time for writing in this business of bringing up babies and I just can't account for the twenty-four hours of each day. Mother said the other day that she had never before realized how much work a baby was, and I think she surely was fortunate to have amahs when her children were young. Cynthia is almost a modle baby and demands very little beside a full tummy, but her feelings do come around with such surprising frequency that we get nothing done between times. And then my pep isn't up to par yet and I can't accomplish as much as when I feel normal. It does seem to take ages to get into the swing again after a baby comes and its no use to try to force it, as I found out with Jill. Mother lets me lie abed until ten some mornings and the added rest does help so much, but it makes the days seem that much shorter.

You have probably forgotten all about Christmas by this time and are engrossed in midyear exams, or are those out of style by now? Your big box came while I was in the hospital and Hugh and Jill opened it! So cards and wrappings got wildly scattered and I am still very much confused about what is from whom and to whom. As I rounded things up later your apt little verses did help a lot to piece information together but if I credit you with the wrong things or leave out some you will know why. Hugh liked his candy as well as anything and had it nearly devoured before I got home. The shoe trees, wash clothes and bowl covers will come in for their share of use, and we think the latter particularly nice. Mother and I were looking at them in the stores in November but came away without any so I'm glad to have them now. Jill's little apron and bib are big hits with her and she loves her blanket. It is a beauty and she needed it on cold nights. Now I won't have to scratch around to find something to put over her. I learned just recently that you got that tip from Mother. I have been wondering how it was that so many of our gifts fitted our real needs so well. Thank you loads for all of it- and have I got it straight?

It is Jan 28. now and I can't seem to make much headway on this letter. We are having another cold spell after having real mild weather for several weeks, and it chills us through. Mother spent a day at the state fair in Tampa yesterday, going over with Hugh, and said she nearly froze. I guess she enjoyed it though and is going again on Monday which is Gaspirilla day, named for the pirate who used to sail the Spanish Main and once took Tampa. They put on a mock storming of the town in very colorful style I've heard and I hope to see it someday. Mother has also been to Tarpon Springs on their festival day and to our county fair in Largo. Perhaps the St. Petersburg festival will be on when you girls are here so you can see it. I am wondering if Gould and Ginny's plan to come East during Hazel's spring vacation will change your minds about coming down here again. If so please say so now. We don't want to have a sudden disappointment just before you are supposed to come. Mother and I have been through your visit several times in imagination and I hope we can do all that we plan to do, or would you rather rest?

We have just got the first pictures of Cynthia so you will get the first peek at them. Here are two of the bed though they show mostly blanket. The one with Mother holding her was taken at three weeks. The other at five weeks. She just barely fits into Hill's doll bed which Dot send last birthday and we let Jill roll her around in it once in awhile. It makes a very nice portable crib for her to lie in if she is fussy during meals. Jill is crazy to touch and hug her and runs to her every time she cries. I think there is a little jealousy too, which comes out when I am preoccupied with feeding or changing her. Jill wants me to play with her all the time too. In fact she is right now at my elbow whining for me to come and play- and baby is yelling with all stops open to be fed long before feeding time- and so it goes. Be glad that your charges can take care of themselves between classes.

Thanks for Gidge's letter. I got one from her a few days later. I guess they are doing pretty well now with their show and we want them to bring it down here next winter. I think it would be very popular with the tourists. [Gidge married a Russian man named Peter who had a marionette show according to Jill Elmer Jackson.] I'll enclose her letter if I can find it- the one you wanted back.

I had better stop if you ever get this, and at my present rate of writing letters you may not get another for months. "Time does forget" as Mother says.

Much love from us all and much thanks too for the Christmas presents.- Kathie

[This letter dated Feb. 18, 1938 was written from Clearwater, FL by Ellen to Geraldine. Ellen and Kathleen have sent citrus fruit to Geraldine and Dorothy. Ellen tells Geraldine what clothing to bring to wear in FL when she comes to visit. She also tells about the different train schedules. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Clearwater, Fla.
Feb. 18", 1938.

Dearest Geraldine,

Night before last after supper, Hugh and I drove down to Coachman's Packing House, where Hugh used to work, and bought some oranges and packing boxes, metal strapping, etc. and bro't them home. Yesterday Kathleen packed two boxes (she knows the art of doing it as it is done in the packing house) nailed and strapped them and last night Hugh took them down to the express office at the R.R. Station at Safety Harbor, where they were entrained, destinationed (my coinage) respectively to Marot Junior College, Thompson, Conn. and to Saginaw, Mich. The one that will be delivered to you is intended for your birthday gift, six months ahead of time, or as a valentine a week late, just as suits you best. It is from the whole family with congratulations and love which will cover either or both.

You would better look them over every two or three days, as soft spots of decay or mould sometimes develop in packed fruit.

There are three Temple oranges in the box which you will find easily as they are wrapped separately in paper. These are considered the best oranges grown. They are skinned and eaten like Tangerines not reamed or dipped with a spoon. You'll notice their appearance is a little different from the Pineapple oranges in the box. They're a little deeper orange color, more wrinkled skin, glossier, and slightly pumped at the stem end. I take a sharp knife, just cut off the inner edge of each section, pull down the white skin toward the thicker outer edge of the section and bite off from the skin of the outer side of the section the pure pulp without getting any of that skin in your mouth; or you can lift it off with the knife. I think this is so much more satisfactory a way to eat them than chewing them, skin and all that I am describing it in detail. And I think the neatest way to eat the other oranges is to ream the juice out, then you do not spatter your clothing and everything else in reach, dipping with a spoon. Get a large size reamer with a deep trough around the spur next time you are in Putnam, at the 5 and 10. Kathleen likes the little Comquats, or Kumquats, that we tucked in here and there. I don't know whether you will like them fresh or not. If you don't, take them down to Emma's and make them into preserve, perhaps adding a little orange and grape fruit pulp. Kathleen eats them fresh, skin and all, - except the seeds. Choose the ripest looking ones to try first or they will be sour.

You asked what clothing to bring when you come a month hence. I am letting Kathleen dictate the answer to this, as she knows the climate better than I. She says, "The weather is unpredictable. But you will need mostly summer things. You should have one warm outfit, but that will be necessary anyway up there for you to start out in, at the season of the year. She says to bring mostly short dresses as that is what they wear much down here. Not much dressy. Something suitable for church wear. A street costume would be suitable for that. K. says Hugh wants to take you to a night club. If you want to go perhaps you would want to bring something suitable for such a place but not necessarily a strictly evening dress. K. says they wear "anything and everything." In general she thinks it will be warm when you get to Florida; I don't know what kind of weather you will start out in. I think you may find a light weight sweater handy even if it is warm weather.

As to R.R. lines there are two lines. The Atlantic Coast Line, and the Seaboard Air Line (not an airplane line). Both come to Clearwater but you should not come to that station. K. says come either to Tampa or to Safety Harbor. And she thinks you'll have to take the Seaboard Air Line (= R.R. Line) to reach Tampa or Safety Harbor as the Atlantic Coastline does not come to Safety Harbor and she thinks not to Tampa. You see Hugh is in Tampa all day, -from 7:45 a.m. to 5:30 or 6 p.m. and he could meet you there and bring you home in his car. It is easy to meet you at Safety Harbor from their home as it is only a half mile away.

But I will get all the information about lines and trains that you need and send it to you in good time. I was just waiting to get the very latest schedule and fares, near to the time you want to come as there are changes, and as it will be late in the season, there might possible be excursion rates as an inducement to the public to travel, when touring to Florida begins to drop off, and most of the traffic is in the other direction, but also dropping off.

We shall be glad to have Aunt Emma come with you and she need not worry about room. I'll write her to that effect, at once.

Don't worry about your invitation to the Beard aunts. I think it will come out all right. If they come it will be quite possible to manage it only I thought with K. that it would be a little pleasanter if it was a sister's party this time.

With much love,
Mother.

P.S. Do you think you are improved decidedly by your nose treatments? And is your Dr. going to finish his job on you – sometime?!!! I am glad you are having some treatments by Dr. Pease- osteopathic.
Mother.

Baby is prospering and is a joy. All family well.

I hope you will not give away all these oranges to your teacher and student friends but will keep some considerable portion for yourself. You are in such an intimate and public position that it will be difficult, with your generosity, to keep such for yourself. The Temple Oranges are a cross between oranges and Tangerines.

[This partial letter dated about Feb. 1938 was written from Clearwater, FL by Ellen probably to Geraldine. Ellen tells about the cotton balls and Spanish moss that she sent to Geraldine. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[About Feb 1938]

I did finally get your box of souvenirs from the cotton fields and Florida off to you day before yesterday and it will probably get there before this does. You may be so near thru this term of school that you will have no chance to show them to your students in class but they'll keep till next semester opens. Have you forgotten all I wrote describing the picking and baling and ginning of cotton? You may have to reread my letter. Or did I write it to Marjorie? I intended it to be passed between you two,- too long to write twice. I sent her the same as to you= souvenirs, yesterday.

In the box are 2 cotton balls just as they grow, and as I picked them in the field; a tiny bale of cotton, exactly like the commercial bales that weigh almost 500 lbs.; a few cotton seeds just as they come out of the gin; a small jar of orange blossom honey which I bought in northern Florida on the way down; be careful when you lift out the moss, as the glass jar is wrapped in the moss; a bunch of Spanish Moss or Florida Moss as it is sometimes called, such as hangs thickly from many, many trees all thru this section of Florida. I picked this from a live-oak tree in Kathleen's back yard. You may like to hang it in your room for a time over a corner of a picture or mirror. They say it will grow anywhere it can get moisture and food from natural air. I don't know that it would grow in a steam heated house or out of doors in N.E. winter zero weather. Also in a tiny package wrapped in white tissue paper is a tiny plant of the moss first started from the spore or seed, to show how it starts growing on the limbs and trunks of trees on the bark.

The cotton pickers pick the cotton out of the calyx of the flower leaving the whole calyx on the plant. I picked the whole on the stem so you could see how it grows. The sepals are now dry and brittle and may be much broken on arrival.

On your way down, or back, you will probably see the negroes in the cotton fields planting the cotton seed or cultivation the young plants for this years crop. Gins will be closed I think.

The orange blossom honey is for you, not your students, as indeed are all the other things, primarily.

Willard and Ellen in cotton fields while on 1937 trip through the south.
 [Photos from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

[This letter dated April 7, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He expects Geraldine, Aunt Emma and Ellen to be coming back from Florida soon. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Shelton, CT]
 April 7th 1938

Dear Geraldine:-

Cards come to us from Florida that tell us you were all coming home- each one by herself. We think of you as back at work and Aunt Emma still in Florida. I hope your rest will last so you will get back into the harness with zest and pleasure.

This morning we woke to find about 4" of white stuff on the ground. At 4:15 p.m. it is not by any means gone. Yesterday we three went to Bethel to a Fairfield Women's Missionary Meeting. I spoke before two of these meetings a year ago- one in Georgetown- one in N. Guilford. A Miss Scott and a Miss Carter and a Mr. Lin were the speakers,- all good. Miss Scott specially so for Imanda Seminary Natal, Africa- where we sent Nettie Walker from Foochow in 1935 and where Dr. James B. McIord is a big man as well as a big doctor. Mr. Lin is doing a real rural community job in Sherman, which is in the N.W. part of Fairfield Co. One of his problems is how to keep the Theological Professors of Yale and Union from leading classes out so "see" his work. He is not doing work to put into a show case. His work is being a friend. He deals in intelligent Sympathy and he is getting results.

My car is to be freed from prison April 15. I plan to take some rabbits down to Uncle Stanley just after Easter. If I do I will look in on Monnie. I wonder if Mother will be home by that time. I also want to drive up to Putnam soon after Easter just for a how-do-you-do, good-bye and stop in Pautucket to see Mrs. Cushman and Bettie Thelin and Mark and Robert- too much gadding about do you say?

I had the garden plowed Tuesday. Mary and I planned to plant lettuce plants today. Too easy putting them in ground.

Last Sunday evening we hear Rablin Wise in the Forum in United M Church B-port and supper with Uncle Oliver and Aunt Annie.- the week before we heard Sherwood Eddy in the same place.

Lovingly

Father

I enclose a letter from Ginnie. Please send it to Monnie

Father

[This letter dated April 12, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He talks about life on the farm. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

April 12-1938

Dear Geraldine:-

Monnie plans to come home next Sat. leaving on the 8:53 or about next and ari'g [arriving] Derby 8:55 a.m. Can you come too? My car will be out of bondage Friday April 15th, and I can come after you or take you back. I plan a trip to Putnam soon anyway and plan to stop in Saybrook and Pawtucket either going or coming. I should like to take you either coming or returning.

Uncle Elbert writes of your good looks. Florida sun, rest and travel were good for you. Aunt Emma was completely captivated by something down there. She tells Elbert he must not mention Florida if he does not want her to go.

Spring gains a little each time it struggles. You must have thought the freeze zone was moving south when that snow came. It has been very chilly every day till today it has been balmy and fine.

Yesterday we set out lettuce and planted spinach and peas. The small garden was plowed before the snow came.

Rabbits are increasing fast. Two litters this week- a dozen in each. Of course I do not allow more than seven to live. So now I have four mothers with young- 1 with 6, 1 with 5, 1 with 8 or 9, 1 with 8 or 9. I do not destroy all at once- take them away gradually. Sold one 7 weeks old to a boy for a pet- $2.00. [Willard is raising rabbits for serum for pneumonia for Lederle Laboratories where brother, Stanley works.]

If you want me to come for you drop a postal at once when you receive this.- That is if you can come at all. Tomorrow I speak to the freshmen of State Teacher's College New Haven, 75 in the class.

Thursday evening I conduct communion for Mr. Strickland.

Lovingly

Father

Willard and one of his rabbits

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

A blurry photo of Ellen with Jill and baby Cynthia.
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

[This letter, dated about April 1938, was written from Florida by Kathleen to her mother. Kathleen is writing her mother shortly after Ellen's departure from visiting Florida. Kathleen is adjusting well to Ellen's absence and she thanks her for all her help with her new infant, Cynthia. There was a big brush fire between their house and Hugh's parent's house. They were able to successfully prevent it from reaching the houses. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[About April 1938]
Monday

Dear Mother:

Letters keep coming for you and are a constant reminder to me that you were here not so long ago, but it seems as though you left months ago. It seems that Aunt Emma wasn't expecting you to get up there so soon for she enclosed this letter to you in with mine. I took the liberty of reading it since it wasn't under separate cover. You have probably seen her 'ere this but you will want to read it anyway.

I have your three postals written en route and am waiting for the one that tells of your arrival. I hope you don't do the way Dot did and wait a week before letting me know that you actually got there. Of course Bridgeport is practically home for you but it isn't the farm and I want to know that you got there. I'm sorry you had so much cloudy weather on the way and that you slept so little. I hope you get a good rest there or in Putnam. You didn't mention Washington. Did you go thru at night or didn't the train stop at all?

My teaspoons from Lux came this morning and they are beauties. If they are real silver plate they are certainly a bargain and the pattern is all they said it would be. Jill's song and Betty Lu paper doll also came last week and supplied play for a whole day. She is really being very good these days and is helping me all she can. Perhaps it is because she feels that I am all hers again now and my attention is undivided. Anyway things have gone very smoothly and if we all keep well I see no reason why they shouldn't continue to.

Yesterday Jill asked to go to church. I had not been planning to go since I wanted some time for the flowers and corn but she insisted and I knew I shouldn't refuse so I dressed us both up and Hugh stayed with baby while we went. There were about thirty there, few of whom I knew. The minister talked some more about his new $5000 church, which is absurd for its membership, and delivered a fair sermon on the forty days after Easter. Hugh trimmed his Mother's double hibiscus and brought seven cuttings over here which we planted and hope will grow. They make more things for me to water every day so I'm praying for rain. Today there is not a sign of it- clear, breezy cool and a grand drying day for my washing. I did a big one this morning starting early, and had it all out by noon. Baby was a perfect angel and required only one feeding during it and nothing else. I marvel at her goodness. She gets a wee bit fussy around supper time but Hugh is usually here to hold her until I can get something ready to fill the little tummy. I have moved her and all her things into your room now so you may think of her occupying your big bed all by herself. I thought it would be more quiet there and we wouldn't disturb her going in and out the side door. Besides I have none of my things in there so have no occasion to go in while she is asleep. Mrs. Codville gave her a pair of soft white doe skin booties trimmed with blue. They look adorable on her but she can't wear them many months.

The Codvilles are back down here now, having sold her farm up North and also their house down here. They plan to build a new house now on their lot in Dunedin. Rollin said they cleared about $1000 on their house in Clearwater. Sally was quite ill yesterday- had a cough and fever Enid said. Father and Mother Elmer want me to drive them to St. Petersburg this week. Don't know how I'll manage but guess baby will go with me anyway, and Jill too if the children over there aren't all well.

Thank you again so very much for all the help and company you were to me last winter. I shall remember it a long time with a lot of pleasure. It was awfully hard to let you go but I'm fast getting used to being alone again. A heartfelt of love to you and Father – Kathleen

Tuesday

P.S. – For I must tell you about last night's excitement. Hugh came home early for a wonder and suggested that we go to the beach before supper. The Lowells have invited us to come to their cottage out there and use it as a dressing room for swimming so we decided to accept. We took suits but found it too cool for a swim so just visited for half an hour. They told us (the younger couple is there now) that they got $100 a month for that tiny cottage all winter!!! and those around them were getting $125 and $150. Imagine! Well, baby got fussy and sleepy so we came home and on approaching the house saw a great smoke rising to the north of it. In the afternoon the woods across the road from the Elmer's place had burned but the North-East wind had swept it way to the West of us and we thought it beyond danger. It seems that a telephone pole or stump had continued burning and had blown sparks across the road, for there was a great blaze up at the corner and the wind was blowing it toward our house and a little to the West. We got right to work immediately and were ever so thankful that Mr. Woodell had disked and burned all around our house. But you know how dry everything was around here and with the stiff breeze that was blowing I feared danger from sparks. I put the children in the house and told Jill to roll baby in the carriage to keep her quiet, and she stuck by her guns and did just as I told her all the time I was helping Hugh start a back fire all along the edge of the woods and draw a lot of water to have ready. It was getting dark by this time and the approaching fire made a great light in the sky, and as it reached each clump of trees with moss in them it made a great flare and a flash of sparks high in the air. It was beautiful but a little terrifying so near us. Mr. Woodell came by and said Hugh had done the right thing in lighting up this and Mr. Hyde came over to see. Father Elmer came over and went right back to start a back fire across the dirt road from his place. Imagine if you can the entire woods between ours and their house ablaze with the reddest fire I ever saw. It was a gorgeous sight for a full half hour or more. Hugh stayed out to watch it until the two fires met and died down somewhat, while I fed baby and got some supper together. It was eight o'clock when we sat down and, nine when I got thru putting both children to bed. By nine thirty when we turned in we could see only embers glowing on the ground here and there and smoke rising from the charred area. This morning it is black everywhere to the North of us and all the trees are badly seared. It is too bad but I'm glad it didn't come while I was alone or away – and I got my wish to have all the grass cleared away along the walk from here to the other house so I won't be afraid of snakes when I wheel baby over there. I rather expected to see some snakes around here this morning driven by the fire but have seen none yet. It is another glorious bright, cool, breezy day today. We are having the best weather of the year right now. Yesterday Hugh brought over some huge tomatoes from his Father's garden, but they say there won't be many unless we get rain soon.

The girls may be interested in reading this note so you may send it around if you like.

Love again

Kathleen

[This letter, dated after April 17, 1938, was written from Putnam, Connecticut by Emma Kinney to her sister, Ellen. Emma thanks Ellen for sending her toiletry articles that she left behind while visiting Kathleen in Florida. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[After April 17, 1938 and before May 1, 1938]

Dear Ellen,

Just as I was finishing Kathleen's the parcel postman left the box containing my toilet articles which you so kindly sent.

Everything came in perfect order. But how could it be otherwise with such wonderful packing? When I saw how much care and time you had put into the packing, I was very much ashamed of my carelessness in forgetting it.

I was very much pleased to get a card with the Jacaranda tree. I intended to get a card after seeing the tree in St. Petersburg but did not have a chance to do so. Please accept my hearty thanks.

Since I hav'nt stamps enough at hand to send the postage now I will bear in mind that I owe you 26 cents for postage.

We have had three very impressive services during the Easter season. On Palm Sunday evening 49 voices from all the Protestant Churches of the city rendered the cantata "The Seven Last Words". The church was filled as we hav'nt seen for years.

On Fast Day the four churches had a three hour service (12-3 o'clock) in the Episcopal church. Ministers from the surrounding churches took part including the new pastor at Woostock Hill and the new pastor at Danielson. Mr. Gaylord whom we met at Harry Bachs about a year ago yesterday left Danielson last Fall for a parish in Maine.

We had a fine service Easter morning at which 15 people joined the church and 4 babies were baptized.

Elbert records 330 as the number of people present. We ought to have two thirds of that number every Sunday. I thought of you rising about 3 o'clock Easter morning and driving to Lake Wales to hear the chimes from the Bok Tower. I hope you were able to go.

Bright and early about 9 o'clock, last Monday morning Harry appeared with 10 gallons of maple syrup which Will had ordered. He reported that he had a long season of syrup making. He thought the season was over about the last of March, but a snow storm early in Apr. started the sap again and he taped the trees again and make more syrup. Harry also reported that Eleanor, Mary's daughter is to be married May 21, at Mt. Ochepetuch. She is marrying an electrical engineer and they will be located at Nyack, N.Y. His people live on Cape Cod. The cousins are to be invited so you better head for Conn. by May 1 to get your wedding garments ready. Don't be alarmed, it is to be a small, simple wedding but you will be invited without doubt. Time for the mail man so I'll have to close.

Much love

Emma

[This letter dated April 19, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Gerry (Geraldine). He delivered rabbits to Stanley's laboratory. Ellen should be back from Florida on April 29th. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

April 19th 1938

Dear Gerry:-

Monnie and I had a pleasant ride home Sunday afternoon. As we drove into the garage we noticed a light in front of the Hudson. The fog light has been on -perhaps all day. The rest of us had decided to stay at home and go to bed. Aunt Mary was going up to the church for the Easter Cantata. She went out and after several minutes I noticed she had not left the garage. The fog light had used so much of the battery's energy it would not start the car. I tried to have her take my car, but she decided to stay at home so we were all in bed by 8:30. At 4:30 I was up and at 5:30 I had loaded the rabbits, the bicycle and some trees for Uncle Stanley. And at 6:00 a.m. we were on the way. As Monnie walked in the school the girls were just coming down to breakfast.

Aunt Mary and I caught the 9:00 o'clock ferry and at 10:30 we were at Aunt Myra's with the rabbits safely ensconced at the Lab'y. I had a good long nap while Aunt Mary and Aunt Myra shopped for eatables for lunch. At 1:00 we left for home- drove over 10 to 15 miles of the new Merritt Highway,- coming out at S. Norwalk- not so good- 4 or 5 miles of rough earth roadbed,- stopped at Uncle Oliver's and Aunt Annie's 10 min. and reached home at 5. Aunt Mary had to go to Shelton in the evening for a "dress rehearsal" of The Old Peabody Pew. It rained some yesterday but was pleasant travelling. Today is very fine.

Mother had planned to reach Shelton April 29. In my letter I mentioned my plan to go to Putnam and she wrote that she could hurry to come home, go to Putnam with me and get back by the 28th - when Aunt Phebe leaves for the South. I have written her to follow her original plan and get here Apr 29, and we will go to Putnam after Aunt Phebe gets home.

I hope you feel much better and that the spring sunshine and balmy atmosphere with lots of rest will help you.
Lovingly Father

[This letter dated April 27, 1938 was written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Geraldine visited Kathleen and Kathleen offers to have her back for a length of time to help with her health. Ellen has left Florida after staying there for six months. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Wednesday
April 27, 1938

Dear Jerry:

Forgive me for being such a rotter as not to answer that good boat letter and your other one. But it seems as if almost every letter I write nowadays must be prefaced by apologies for tardiness- and I think you know how it is.

I hope you really did get a little benefit from your vacation, though Aunt Emma writes that you have been ill again. I'm terribly sorry. I'm afraid we let you do too much work and going while you were here, for you have that enviable ability to appear quite well when you are really feeling rotten, and we thoughtless people let you go right on wearing yourself out. For your own good you ought to be more like me and show it all over when you have any little ache or pain. Now if you don't pick up a whole lot during the summer I want you to take a year off and come down here with me (if you think you can stand me that long.) Seriously, I mean it, for with your kind of trouble I am sure the climate here would be relaxing and you could get the fresh air and sunshine that you need. Of course I'm issuing this invitation with little financial backing but I'm sure that I'll still be here and that I'll have a roof to cover you with. You might have to do a little humble tilling of the soil for nourishment but that might go in on the health program. Do consider it, and feel assured the door is always open.

If you have seen Pearl [cousin Pearle Tayler] recently you probably know that I asked her to come down when you wrote me her state of health. I fear my invitation was a little late for her needs tho, and for the season too. But she said she might come next winter and I hope she does.

You have probably also seen Mother since she got up North. It was hard to see her go after having her for six whole months and has been lonely around here without her, but I am just about readjusted to being alone again and everything is going smoothly. Jill takes a nap almost every day now and that gives me a chance for a rest. Cynthia is as good as ever and as full of smiles. Jill made real progress in her speech while you were here. Her double consonants are very clear now and she sometimes says f correctly too. School- stocking-spring are some of the words she has improved upon- and all by her own effort. I am stiffening up on the discipline, and since I have had her alone she is much better. Only once or twice during the week have I had to punish her for disobedience and I think she understands what I am after.

Have you seen some of the pictures taken down here? Monnie has most of the negatives but one film is going around from my camera for your orders and mother has another taken since you all left. There is a darling one of Jill holding Cynthia. I'm sorry we didn't get more pictures of the whole crowd while you were here but, my goodness, whatever became of the twelve days you were here anyway?

Your red pajamas are getting a good deal of wear now and I doubt if you will ever see them intact again. They are so cool for hot days and are just what I need. Thanks so much for leaving them and the shorts too.

We had a little excitement here the other evening when the woods caught fire down by the corner. You know how dry everything is now. The whole space between us and Father Elmer was ablaze as darkness fell, and made a dazzling sight. I feared for the home but the open lot between us and the fire saved us and now there is a blackened stretch to the North of us.

I would like to hear just how you are but don't take time to write if it taxes your strength for other work. Mother will probably give me the news. Lots of love from all of us- Kathie

[This typewritten letter dated April 29, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard and Gould to members of the family. Willard shares Gould's story of how his daughter, Hazel, was hit by a bus and her resulting injuries. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton, Conn.

April 29th, 1938.

Dear Geraldine, Dorothy and Harold, Marjorie, Kathleen and Hugh, Stanley, Myra, Phebe and Nancy:-

Gould's letter has just come and to facilitate matters I am making copies for you of the main facts in it.

The opening of the letter is so like Gould that I copy it.

"The trees have burst into green verdure and the fruit tree blossoms have blasted wide open in full glory these last three days. It has been like summer. The June bugs are early and fat and have come in hoards and the lake shore residents have been almost driven off the streets in the evening. All the country is exuding the joys of Spring, but our little girl lies badly broken up in a hospital bed.

It happened only yesterday afternoon, yet it seems like a week ago. Hazel [7 years old] was coming home from school, and was crossing Ogden Ave., which is the main thoroughfare thru the town. The policeman who is at the crossing during the hours when the children are around school was busy for the moment talking to an out-of-town car and Hazel didn't see him around. She finally decided on a gap in the cars to cross the street, but the bus that hit her was coming faster than she judged. The little tots just haven't learned to judge the speed of oncoming cars. She was dragged about 55 ft. but the bus did not run over her.

The police took her immediately to Dr. McDugal's office which is very near our home. Virginia was in one of the shops of the lower floor or in the next block at the very time, but did not know about it until I got home just as she got home. Hazel was conscious and told them who she was and where she lived. They called the house and the maid kept her head and called our family doctor and told her to go to Dr. McDugal's office. She got there at once and went to the Berwin hospital in the ambulance with Dr. McDugal and Hazel.

The Police Department called the field (Airport) and Operations sent a man over to me at the flight surgeon's office where I was getting ready for my semi-annual physical exam. I left at once, went to McDugal's office and there was directed home arrived just as Virginia was being told about it.

Dorothy Littlewood was having a big tea party of 70 some ladies that afternoon. The school principal called her when Virginia couldn't be located. Three of our friends left the party in their cars and came over to the house to be there when Virginia arrived and take her to the hospital. I forgot to say that Mrs. Jacobs one of the wives of our company called with her little son at Dr. McDugal's office while Hazel was being examined and recognized Hazel's voice thru the door and on being told that it was an emergency case she walked in and was there and followed the ambulance to the hospital and stayed there till we came. Hazel knew her and she and Dr. Schwartz, our family doctor were the only ones she knew who were with her.

Mrs. Francis who was waiting at our house led us in her car directly to the hospital as we had no idea where it was. Hazel was on the X-ray table when we arrived. She was not crying, but doing a lot of directing and scolding. She lay very still and white, while the last pictures were being taken. The first were just developed and Dr. McDugal took me in to see them. No ribs broken and the spine apparently O.K. But the right arm snapped clean about 2 inches from the socket and the ball out of joint. The right hip joint out of place and the top of the ball joint broken off and down behind the bone. The collarbone snapped. That is only the broken parts of the bones. Her urethra apparently was pulled clear of its outer attachments and completely severed so that the doctors could not find it. Something seemed to have gouged or punched her so severely that the clitoris and all the flesh about her uterus was gone. The doctors were unable to completely stop the hemerage last nite but this morning they operated and found the connection to the bladder and spliced it together and stopped the flow of blood. Immediately after the operation I gave her 400 cc's of blood. They were going to give only 200 in two doses but she had lost so much that they gave the whole dose in one transfusion. She had more color to her lips afterward, and in the afternoon she developed a slight fever 103 degrees which is normal after a transfusion because the new blood does not mix or fit exactly for a few hours. Tonite the temp' was back almost to normal.

This afternoon Dr. McDugal put a brace on Hazel's arm to pull the bones end to end.

There are so many blood vessels near the sharp edges that he doesn't need to force the bones in an operation but will draw them into place by slow constant tension.

Virginia is standing up very bravely. The friends have been wonderful. It has created a wave of motion to put an underpass at that crossing since there are three schools in two blocks.

The maid has two note book pages of names of friends who have called to ask about Hazel while we were out at the hospital. Dotty Littlewood has established an information bureau on the case.

Thursday Morning:- Last nite when we left the hospital we were all very pleased with Hazel's appearance.

We send love to all and deeply appreciate your love and sympathy.

Signed

Lovingly
Gould

Dear Jerry:-

Mother and I took Aunt Phebe to Pearl River to go to White Sulphur Springs, WV with Uncle Stanley, Aunt Myra and Nancy. The will be gone a week(?) according to the business.

We saw Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert Wed. at New London.

Drop us a card- we want just a word from you.

It looks as if we would get up about the last next week May 6 or 7 if Aunt Phebe gets back.

Rest and do not worry- I know- easier written than done but I know also what it is to have cause to worry- and by leaning heavily on God to stop worrying. If we can do anything to help before we come - -call us

Very lovingly Father.

Will you cut this off and send the letter from Gould to Aunt E. and Uncle E.
Father

We are very thankful that news of Hazel is so good- It is still a serious case.
Father

The last telegram says the operation on the hip was to be performed to day, April 29th. Hazel is doing well. If no complications set in she is on the way to recovery.

[This letter, dated May 2, 1938, was written from Alliance, Ohio by Etta Kinney Hume to Ellen and Willard. Her grandchildren have had scarlet fever. She will be traveling to Alaska with Emma and Elbert. Millicent will be visiting Fulton this summer (I think he is in Hawaii and this may be where she meets up with Dick Arimizu – a fellow Oberlin graduate of hers and Fulton's. She marries Dick eventually.) Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[May 2, 1938]
2048 So. Seneca St.
Alliance Ohio

Dear Ellen and Willard:-

I was home three weeks, and because I saw much Spring work to do, and was supposed to rest every afternoon, to keep my blood pressure down, a letter did not get to you.

Millicent and Donnie came for me Sat. with Donald's car. Bobbie has the fever, and Donald and Donnie are boarding out (as did Millicent when Donnie was ill) because Bobbie cannot be confined to one room, he is so lively. Donnie must go to school too. Millicent is helping Donnie with his school work as he has lost a month, and several weeks before while he had the mumps.

We drove to Milan to church this morning, to hear Myron preach. Hurried back and had a hasty dinner, and started for Alliance at 1.30 so Donnie could see his Mitchell grand parents before they left for Pittsburgh. They had been to Youngstown to see their daughter Margaret, and arrived in Alliance after Donnie left. He wanted his grand daddy to see him ride his new wheel which he had as a "balm" for being confined a month in one room. I do not know what Bobbie will get- he doesn't stay in one room.

A letter from Emma which I rec'd just before leaving (Willis has a P.O. Box) said Hazel Ellen had been injured. We are surely sorry to hear it. What a long seize it will be for both little girl and parents.

The apron from you came a day or two ago. I hav'nt seen one like it. Shall use it when I work at the James Brand House. Am sure others will enjoy seeing the unique pattern. Thanks very much.

We did enjoy the oranges you sent for our birthdays. They arrived on the 31st, Donald's birthday, and lasted thru mine. I asked Elbert to let you know they arrived, as I did not want to send a letter to a home where there were children, from a scarlet fever home.

Those that came later to Oberlin from Emma and Elbert were equally fine, and came in good condition. We took some of them to Myron and Lucybelle today. It was an exceptional treat to have two crates of oranges in one season. Many thanks to you all, I wrote to Kathleen before I left home.

You have had a very happy winter with Kathleen and family- and a new baby- and the reunion at Easter and an escape from the New England winter; tho you did not escape all the "Jack Frosting" weather as Myron used to call it.

Fulton wrote of seeing snow on the Mts. on Xmas day. That is more than we saw in Oberlin, which was a green Christmas.

Millicent is planning to visit Fulton this summer. She may drive across the country with a lady going about the time she plans to go. I am quite thrilled about going West with Emma and Elbert. Imagine me in Alaska! Impossible!

I am glad now that Elbert did not take Emma last year. Perhaps he had more in the back of his head than we realized then.

The treatments I am having will fix me up for my trip. Dr. is giving them in two installments. I consulted a Dr. in Oberlin to see if I could not have it finished there. I would need to go to the Hospital for four or five days, which would be much more expensive. Here the Dr. treats with electric needle in his well equipped office. Guess Helen did not realize the time it would need when she wrote "I am coming after you. You can rest better here and our Dr. is especially fine for case like yours." Will be here ten days. Regards to all - Etta

[This postcard dated early May 1938, was written by Monnie to her parents and Aunt Mary. She missed seeing them because of a field trip with her fifth graders. She just found out about Hazel's accident. Postcard from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[Early May 1938]

To Father, Mother and Aunt Mary

I'm sorry that I had to miss you. But I promised to take my Fifth grade to the Stamford Industries Exhibit this afternoon. Your card came this morning, Father. I was horrified to read about Hazel's accident. What more will happen to the poor child! Do keep me posted on news of her.

I'm sorry to miss seeing Mother.

Love to you all,

Monnie

Spending the weekend with the Butts weekend after next.

[This letter dated May 8, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry (Geraldine). He feels that life for Geraldine is going well at the moment and that she is healthy. Willard and Ellen plan to visit various friends. The barns at the farm are being painted. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Sunday afternoon
May 8th 1938

Dear Jerry:-

Three things have come to me within a few days or weeks that have given me pleasure and hope. 1. You made the remark the last time you were here that every time you went to New York it seemed to pull you down- or something to that effect. 2. Uncle Elbert wrote that he had taken you to Worcester and the doctor there had said after examining you that you had no constitutional troubles. 3. Monnie wrote that you had written her in reply to her invitation to come home for Sunday, that you were not going to leave Thompson again this term. You are all set for enjoying life. Under normal conditions I would urge you to jump into the chevy and come along to Oberlin with Mother, Monnie and me, but I guess you'll get farther along on the road to normalcy if you stay quietly some place, - come home and pick the few strawberries that we have if they ripen by that time.

Mother and I have been looking forward to find the best time to go to Putnam- that means at least a call in Pawtucket to see Betty Cushman Thelin, her two boys, Mark and Robert, and her mother, and a call in Saybrook to see Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Reking[?] Woodin.

It may be we will take a meal with Betty and perhaps overnite with the Woodins. Mrs. Woodin asked us to spend the nite with them when we saw her at New London recently.

Last evening Mother and I went to New Haven to listen to the Junior Orchestra- some 70 pieces - with a harpist, a violinist and a chorus of older persons. We enjoyed it immensely.

This is Wed. evening, - -

Farm work has been and is pressing. We are painting the barns. Today I have just done nothing but the chores and this a.m. I took Mother to Derby for the trolley to go to New Haven, then drove to Wh. Hills to meet Oliver and a Real Estate agent to talk over and look at land for sale. We have just sold 125 acres for $16000.00- no money down but he gives a mortgage. He has 50 head of cows and calves 3 horses- a silo- and much farm machinery. He milks with electricity, has already put in a pump and has running water at the barn from a drilled well. We have also just sold 2.7 acres to a young married couple who are building. We gave a mortgage here also. Aunt Annie lends the money.

I am leaving the plans for going to Putnam to Mother and Monnie. I'll go when and how they decide.

Apple blossoms are nearly gone. Lilacs are in full bloom. I did not add about that from Wh. Hills I came back to Shelton, got a hair cut and met Mother at the bus in E. Derby, drive home- ate a hurried lunch, drove her to the dress makers in Shelton, then to Howard and Barbers. Then home to find Mr. and Mrs. Fred Donaldson and Freddie here. They took supper and left to drive to Princeton ?? about 7:30- 132 miles. They all looked fine and Freddie impressed us all as being a fine gentlemanly young man, 19 years old- with one yr. in Oberlin and this year working for money to go on in Oberlin.

Monday Aunt Phebe got home at 1 p.m. At 4:30 we all drove down to Greenfield Hill to see the Dogwoods- almost miles of them- white and pink. Uncle Oliver said there were 14000 cars drive thru Greenfield Hill Sunday to see the Dogwoods.

Rabbits are 44, Lovingly Father

[This letter, dated May 1938, was written from LaGrange, Ill, by Gould to Willard and Ellen. They thank Willard and Ellen for their prayers for Hazel who was hit by a bus. He tells a little of what they have been through. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

75 N. Park Rd.
La Grange, Ill.
[May 1938]

Dear Father and Mother:

Your wire came and we appreciate deeply your prayers and feelings. It has been a trying ordeal for Ginny and me but we do not consider that, when compared to what little Hazel has had to go thru with and will have to endure for months to come.

Yesterday morning Dr. MacDougal set the hip joint and today he is setting the arm permanently. We asked him to call in a specialist on bones to make sure the job was done as well as possible. We feel that we have had the best medical aid available and probably as good as any in the country.

Hazel has been a very brave little girl. She talks to the Drs. and nurses and tells them everything they want to know about her feelings and painful parts and helps them in every way.

Hazel is now in a plaster cast from her ribs to her heels complete except for the necessary opening at the crotch. Her legs are spread about 20 degrees and a broom stick is cast in the plaster across about at the knees so the nurses can lift her to put the bed pan under.

This morning the Dr. set the arm and the Xray shows a perfect set. She is a bit uncomfortable all confined that way and it is getting on her nerves a bit so we will have to find means of diversion for her to keep her mind occupied.

Ginny found her holding the shears in the trussed up left hand and cutting the paper as she rotated it with the left. She managed to do a fairly decent job of cutting out paper dolls. It is hard to know what to get her to do for she can do so little with her left hand free and flat on her back so that she cannot work puzzles that have to lie on a horizontal table.

I have spent all afternoon going around to witnesses of the accident getting written statements. There were only a very few adults. Most of the witnesses were children at the crossing. I am laying plans to get all expenses paid by the Chicago and West ?? B.R. Co. who operate the bus that hit Hazel. I am advised that the case should not be closed for at least two years when it can better be determined what the costs will be. No attorney has been decided upon as yet as it is not necessary to decide that immediately. I have a professional investigator getting in contact with all the outlying witnesses and getting all the statements in order.

We have asked Dotty to take Sonny for a few weeks till we can get squared away on a new mode of living between home and hospital. He will probably go to Detroit Monday or Tuesday and be met there by Dot and Harold. Now he will get his "trip" that he missed out on at Xmas.

Sonny has been a very good boy during it all. Sometimes he feels a little left out when we go down to the hospital most of the day and leave him with the maid, but all told he has helped out wonderfully just as he did when sister had pneumonia.

Luckily I have not had to leave town. I may have to get a trip in to Ft. Worth soon.

Hazel says to give Grandpa and Grandma all her love and Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary all her love and to keep the bunnies nicely.

All the friends have been so very nice and sympathetic. People have called up whom we have never met. Little school mates have brought their mother's around to enquire about Hazel. Her room is overflowing with flowers. I hope they remember two months from now when the sudden shock and fever of excitement has worn off and it is hard to keep Hazel interested and doing something to occupy her time.

Give our love to all the relatives. Pray for little Hazel that we may be able to bring her home all whole and uncrippled so she may walk her way thru life as freely as she ever would before.

Lovingly-
Gould.

[The following was written by Ellen:]

Mrs. Space please send to Marjorie Beard, Low-Hernwood School, Stamford, Conn.

Mrs. Space please use enclosed stamp for forwarding.

Marjorie please send to Geraldine; and Geraldine to Emma and Elbert then to Kathleen.

Thank you- E.L.K.B.

[This letter dated May 20, 1938 was written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Cynthia cut her first tooth. Kathleen expresses concern for her niece, Hazel. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Friday May 20, 1938

Dear Jerry:

Just a note with these snaps. I am sending two from this file that was taken after you left, which Mother has. You have probably seen them all and if you want prints of the other picture just designate which ones and I'll send them.

I suppose you are seeing Mother and Father today as they wrote they were to be in Putnam now. They are taking quite a swing around the state this week aren't they? I wonder if you are going to that wedding of Mother's cousin tomorrow.

Cynthia cut her first tooth today and I wasn't the first to discover it. Mother Elmer was up here and was holding her when she felt it and I was so surprised. She hasn't been eating very well for the last few days and that is probably the reason, but she hasn't been fussy. She weighs 16+ pounds now and can sit up alone for about a minute or more. She can travel too, on a bed, so she'll soon have to be put into Jill's bed.

We have had several helpings of our own corn and it is delicious, tho rather stunted and under-developed. If it would only rain I think we would get a good crop of corn. We are getting lots of tomatoes from Father's garden and their lima beans are good this year.

Poor Hazel- such a siege of misfortune. It will set her back so in development, if it doesn't injure her permanently too. I feel so sorry for Gould and Ginny with all the worry and expense it is causing them. It makes me fear all the more for my own little ones and poor Jill thinks that I keep her too much at home. But how can I encourage independence at such terrible risk? I think I'd rather have her molly-coddle than marred for life.

When does your school close. I'm looking forward to it for then I may get a letter from you once in a while. But I can wait so don't take any of your over-full time now. Jill hasn't forgotten your visit and often speaks of you all. She remembers surprisingly well what each of you gave her.

All of us send our love - Kathie

[This letter dated June 17, 1938 was written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Hugh is working at the packing house again. Kathleen tells about how Hugh's sister, Pearl, is doing since her insulin treatments (for schizophrenia). Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

June 17, 1938

Dear Jerry:

Your letter was like an oasis in the desert. The silence from my family was beginning to be deafening and I was wondering if the mail man would ever bring anything but bills. You sound so happy about your new job- and how fortunate it came when it did. I hope you can find something equally interesting to follow it. I want to know more about Monnie's job too. Is it a private school, and what will she teach? You all seem to be landing such grand work, but I guess you say "it's about time" don't you? I only hope we can have something to make merry about soon but Hugh's still working at the packing house and has had no opportunity to look around. They bought another crop of fruit which kept them running three weeks longer but I think this is really the last week.

Why didn't Stewart write us that he would be in Jacksonville? We just might have been able to drive over and see him for a little while. I thought Uncle E. was going around by Panama. Did he change his mind and is Aunt Emma alone? Do you know Gould's new address? I have never known their Chicago address so haven't written at all, but they wouldn't miss my letters so I guess it doesn't matter.

Mangos are coming in now and we have had a few. I'll send you some when we see some nice ones but I can't promise that they will arrive in perfect shape. Let me know if you suddenly change your address so I won't send them wrong.

Pearl is really much better and it is such a relief to the whole family. They treated her with insulin injection, and that is pretty drastic in large enough doses to produce the necessary shock. I guess it is sort of a "kill or cure" treatment but it has produced such remarkable results in Europe that progressive doctors here are beginning to use it, tho it is not approved by a good many eminent specialists. Pearl herself says that her mind is much clearer than it has been in five or six years and she certainly acts much more normal. She helps with the housework now and takes quite an interest in things. She still rests a good bit and doesn't go out much but, then there isn't anywhere to go easily.

I'm feeling none too ambitious. But much better than at first. I don't think the first months are usually the worst but they were bad this time because of my flu and excessive nausea. That is about over now. This week I had my teeth fixed up and the dentist found them in bad shape. A couple more babies and I'll be ready for my third set. Perish the thought!!

Jill has a puppy now and she loves it when it isn't nibbling her toes or her sun suit. It is pretty hard on her clothes but we keep it outside so it doesn't bother much. It is a tan and white pointer-setter-female. We named her Trixie.

Yesterday was the coachman picnic- a regular southern fish fry. I always wanted to attend one- and this quite satisfied all my anticipation. They fried 200 lbs. of mullet in deep fat over an open fire- and was it good. We also had salad and all the trimmings.

I do so hope you girls can all come down sometime this summer. Now that the summer rains have begun the heat isn't so bad and it would be such fun to show you Florida. I want you to see Jill too before she gets any older. I know she would have the time of her life with you because her old mama is no good to play with any more. Do write again and here's stocks of love from us all- Kathie

[This postcard, dated June 25, 1938, was written from Fresno, California by Emma Kinney to her sister, Ellen. They saw Etta's daughter, Millicent, off on a ship to Honolulu. They are now on their way to Yosemite. Postcard from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Fresno June 25, 1938

Dear Ellen,

We are waiting here at Fresno after an all night ride by train, for the bus to take us to Yosemite. Last night at 5 o'clock Millicent left with flying colors for Honolulu. Since she was taking the boat 2500 miles from her home and friends, she was most fortunate to have four relatives (Etta, Gould, Elbert and I) and five friends to see her off. M. was most happy with the anticipation of the trip. Gould remarked that "she looked like a million dollars". E. said the boat was a very large boat. We think of you starting for Putnam. We hope you find conditions sufficient for your comfort. This is the wedding day in Berkeley. Much love

Emma

P.S. Received Wills postal at Los Angeles. Having fine time. EJK.

According to the bulletin of The Congregational Church, Putnam, Connecticut, Sunday, June 26, 1938, Dr. Willard L. Beard preached the sermon for the 11:00 A.M. service.

"We are also glad that Dr. Beard could come on this day. He is always well received by his old-time friends, and always makes some new ones. May he inspire us all to do our work better and with God's benediction resting on it as on the work of Dr. Beard. God bless you all as you part for the summer, to meet here and there and may we all be rested and recreated during these few weeks of the summer."

[Bulletin from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated July 5, 1938 Chicago, IL by Gould to Jerry (Geraldine). Gould gives Geraldine advice on a Dr. Coltam's treatment to help her health. His daughter, Hazel, is now able to walk since her accident. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

July 5, 1938.

Dear Jerry:

Got to Seattle Wednesday nite and did a day's work Thursday then caught the 9:00 p.m. Northwest Airline plane for Chicago. Arrived today at noon and went into conference. It was very good and got back to the little family and what a reception I got-always get too!

I slept well all the way up to Seattle and slept the rest of the nite at the hotel. I felt fine Thursday except for a little soreness in my throat when Dr. broke the puss sack. Today I feel fine in the head but a little tired from sitting all nite long in the Northwest plane. My throat is draining a lot and probably so because all I could get to eat was meat and potatoes and eggs. If I could have had salads and fruit and vegetable juices the mucus would have been much less. Milk, meat and fish are awful mucus makers as are also eggs in excess.

I just wanted to let you know that the clearest treatment Dr. Coltam gives is not so severe on its after affects as I thought it would be. I believe though you should allow two days to rest of it and take the regular treatments before starting back. Get yourself a sun suit and lie out in the sun a little. Pack[?] out for the sun as it is twice as hot down there as it is in Conn and you will burn in 20 min. the first time. If you are already burned ask Mrs. Coltam where you can get Naturo Day. It takes the acid out of all burns and they heal quickly.

Let Ginny phone when you can come here to begin your work. Give my regards to Ish and her family. Dr. Neal Lewis is near you somewhere.

I asked Mr. H.W. Beals my partner there in the Douglas factory to see that you did not get lonesome. His wife is very pleasant and Ginny and she are real pals. They live in Santa Monica on Montana Ave. and you can call them up by asking information or call him at the Douglas Factory, Santa Monica.

Hazel very proudly showed me how she can walk alone when I got home tonite. She walked once around the room and later at nite the front walk to show the little girls.

Soney [Sonny] had a Snow White paint book given him and they proudly showed me some large blotches of color smeared around the several pages which served for coloring the pictures. I am going to get Ginny and Hazel down to Dr. Coltam sometime during the Fall if possible.

Heres hoping fervently that you find Dr. Coltam's treatment all you expected. I fully believe it is showing some benefits to my mental capacity already. Stick with it and learn all you can about it for it is natures process and I believe it will work if given half a chance.

Those three are the best I have read on the subject and are compact and direct. The rest you can read when you get here.

Lovingly your brother
Gould

[This letter dated Aug. 3, 1938 was written from Clearwater, FL by Kathie (Kathleen) to Jerry (Geraldine). Geraldine flew to California for health treatments. Kathleen's family have had colds and other minor health problems. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Aug. 3, 1938

Dear Jerry:

Well I swan!! So you're out in California! Even tho you are having a rough time with your health you do manage to get around. What a thrill to fly across the country! Do write me about every air bump and beacon light. I do hope you get something besides pleasure out of it tho, and come back feeling fit. Will the doctor really have time to do much in two weeks? Your job sounds alright too and I hope you have it "in the bag", you at least won't have papers to grade and classes to bone for and you may see something of Gould's family if they are still there. How long do you suppose the inventorying takes- as long as Sabin?

Thurs. we have been going thru a few minor health troubles ourselves for the last two weeks and tho none of them are serious it is surprising how the little ones pile up to make quite a mountain of trouble. Cynthia has had her first ill health and I did so hope I could get her thru the summer without a sick day. Diarrhea has appeared off and on for a month now and causes her some discomfort. It's a novelty to have her fussy for any length of time. I think it has cleared up and begin to give her full strength milk when it comes on again and it's so discouraging- boil things as I will I can't seem to eliminate it in this hot weather. Just now she seems to be alright but tomorrow it may begin all over again. It hasn't been really bad yet but enough to keep her uncomfortable. Then too, she caught a bad cold from Jill and has been coughing a lot. All the children had colds and all but Chickie [Rollin] had fever with them. Jill's has cleared up now. She never holds a cough long thank-goodness. On top of all the children's ailments my breast had to begin acting up again with a hard lump, soreness and inflammation. I tried treating it with heat for three weeks and it just went on getting redder and sorer so I finally went to Dr. yesterday. He said "must open" so I swallowed hard and let him hack away. It was an abscess and he said it was at just the right stage to lance. He "froze" it so it didn't really give me any excruciating pain but I always get weak and teary about a thing like that and feel like a fool afterwards. He is a deft surgeon so that was right in his line and didn't take two minutes when all was ready. It's draining now and doesn't pain at all. Mother had the same thing when Gould was a baby and stood lots more pain than I did, I know.

Well, here I go on about my own petty trifles when you have enough trouble of your own- but that is all the news around here just now. Except that Enid and her family are going North for a two weeks visit starting next week. I hope she gets a little rest for she looks awfully tired. It will be a change anyway.

Thank you again for your part in the fiesta ware cups and saucers that you girls gave me for my birthday. I don't use them much- only for company for I don't want to break any before I get a whole set- but I do enjoy looking at them and feel very proud when I can set them before guests.

Are you seeing anything of the country or just concentrating on treatment this visit? Glad you got a taste of mangos but guess you just missed the second box I sent. Sorry. Love- Kathie

[This letter dated Aug. 3, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Monnie (Marjorie) to Jerry (Geraldine). The family at Century farm enjoyed Geraldine's account of flying across the U.S. to California and Willard would like to make the same trip some day. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

A box of mangoes came from Kathie day before yesterday! They would – just after you'd left. But some will keep till you get back. Have some out there if you can buy them.

Century Farm
Aug. 3, 1938.

Dear Jerry,

Your grand log came this morning, and how we all devoured it. You've been prayed for every meal and every night since you left, and I suppose it was partly relief as much as anything else that made our interest so avid. However, your very welcome telegram had already uncorked our tacit tenseness, which could be seen in the over-casual interest in the weather and in where you might be at a given time, or just what time it was with you etc. I myself am guilty. But it is funny, that we should feel such anxiety over your trip while we let Ginny, Gould and the kiddies go without another thought.

Your log was fascinating, and when Father read it he stopped and looked up while reading the description of the odd sunset and said, "I must take that trip sometime."! He won't be satisfied now till he does. I bet you anything if he goes back to China, he'll fly across the country. Mother won't tho, even tho she was much touched by your description of it all.

I do hope you aren't finding it as hot there as we have it here. All reports say today will exceed last Friday and yesterday which were the hottest so far. It is 90 degrees by our thermometer in the shade. You feel it too. Aunt Mary says the West Coast always is cooled at night by the Pacific breeze. It was so hot last night we slept with nothing over us.

A note from Betty Lorimer McLaren today made us decide on the trip there tomorrow. We are going in the morning, taking a shore dinner on the way, and spending the afternoon with them. Everyone is there, I guess, for she said she couldn't have us overnight because they were full to overflowing. They are to be there until Sat. the 13th. I'm so sorry that you aren't here to go, too. We'll take pictures, tho, to show you.

Today is Aunt Phebe's birthday and yesterday was Uncle Ben's. So this evening for supper Uncle Ben's family is coming up. Aunt Mary got some ten cent presents, some jokes and some useful- six for each of the birthday-ites- and she and I did them up. They are surprises to everyone else, too, so it will be fun.

We've asked the Groves's for the 14th and the Jewetts for the weekend of the 21st - no answer from either yet.

I'm so glad Gould is in Los Angeles. Make him take you around and show you the sights. And have a real good time. Don't rest all the time- I know you won't anyway- you couldn't!! And we're all hoping hard that the doctor is all he's cracked up to be. Lots of love from us all, Monnie

We forwarded some letters. Did you get them?

Written on back of photo: "1938"

Left to right: Phebe, Willard and two unidentified women probably eating watermelon.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Aug. 3, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry (Geraldine). He is glad that she arrived safely in Los Angeles and hopes that she comes back healthier. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

Aug 3- 1938

Dear Jerry:- Your postals that came yesterday by mail were most welcome, and your telegram telling us that you had arrived at Los Angeles made us feel that our prayers had been answered as we hoped they would be.

Yesterday and today have been very hot 90 degrees + and at 4 p.m. now 86 degrees in the cool place outside the dining room window.

Last evening we all drove up over White Hills and to Monroe, the sun set was grand, - not as grand as yours last Monday nite when the sun set the side of the horizon. Your letter from Fort Worth is much prized by us all. It should be printed. Your descriptions are vivid and clear. You make me want to take the same trip. Mother says if we go to Foochow I may go by air- she - - - -?

Yesterday was Uncle Ben's birthday, today is Aunt Phebe's. Uncle Ben and Aunt Abbie are coming down for a birthday supper- double.

You have fulfilled one of my wishes expressed on that little piece of paper in the B-port station, now keep in mind the object of your trip- make that primary and all else secondary. Give yourself= your physical self a chance and come back home- not restored (too soon for that) but reconditioned for a renewal of life.

Lovingly
Father

Stamped on back of photo: "September 16, 1938"

L to R: Geraldine Beard, Phebe Maria Beard, Mary Beard, Dorothy Beard Newberg, Harold Newberg, Marjorie Beard, Ellen Kinney Beard, Willard Beard.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Cynthia and Jacqueline Elmer about 1938

[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

Stamped on back of photo: September 1938

Front row L to R: Geraldine Beard, Abbie Hubbell Beard, Mary Beard, Marjorie Beard, Phebe Maria Beard
 Back row L to R: Unidentified older lady, Dorothy Beard Newberg, Harold Newberg, Willard Beard, Ellen Kinney
 Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

In September of 1938, a strong hurricane hit New England killing about 600 people and injuring about 3500. New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island were hit the hardest. Source:
<http://www.geocities.com/hurricane/hurr1938.htm> , March 13, 2007

[This typewritten letter dated Nov. 30, 1938 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to many family members. He names those who were at their Thanksgiving dinner. He tells of the damage in parts of Connecticut from the hurricane. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
 Shelton
 Conn.

November 30th. 1938.

Dear Gould, Virginia, Hazel and Willard; Geraldine; Dorothy and Harold; Marjorie and Emma and Elbert;-

As I write the landscape is all white except where the woods are. About seven inches of snow lies on the level. About the buildings there are banks- some of them three feet deep. This snow fell last Thursday and Friday. Thursday morning was cloudy and rather cold. Stephen came out Wednesday morning, no in the afternoon. Thurs. morning he and I ran out the old truck and I got out my car and towed it until it went on its own. Then we drove over to the woods and got some white birch wood that he and his roommate had cut. They want it for their fire place. I think we had to start that old plug seven times, some of those seven times took a lot of cranking.

There were eighteen here for Thanksgiving dinner. Here are the names; - with no handles Annie, Oliver, Ben, Abbie, Wells, Edith, Seymour, Winfred, Phebe, Mary, Stanley, Myra, Nancy, Stephen, Ruth, Will, Ellen, Monnie.

Just after dinner we sent Thanksgiving messages to Lagrange (including Geraldine), Saginaw, Safety Harbor, Putnam, Berkeley and Pleasantville. Jerry has since written that she was alone and of course she did not get our message that day. It was good to hear that Gould's family were with Dot and Harold. Too bad the deer escaped. Strange you had less snow in Michigan than we did here in Conn. Uncle Stanley's family except Stephen left about 8:30 a.m. Friday. We put his chains on, even then he said he had to creep along about 20 or 25 miles an hour and got to Pearl River about 2:00 p.m. They took Monnie to Westport where she had agreed to meet Mr. Adams' man. When they pulled up to the curb he met them. Just right. The Aunts had chains put on the car Saturday and they are still on. The mercury went to 12 degrees above Sat. morning. It has been warmer since but not much snow has gone.

The trees that blew down in the hurricane are about 2/3 in the woodpile back of the woodhouse, which is now set square on its foundation and painted. When we get all the wood that blew down on the pile it will be a big one. I now have the north part of the old woodhouse made into a nice tool room with cement floor and a partition between it and the woodroom. And Aunt Phebe's ship that tells which way the wind is blowing is on the north peak.

Several letters have asked if the water tank blew down. Aunt Mary had that taken down about a year ago, so it would not fall to hurt anyone. It is very interesting to drive about the country and see so few houses damaged by the falling trees. Some of you have not heard that Mother and Elbert drove us thru the Woostocks and Union to show us the devastation. Words do not express the damage done to forests and buildings. Cousin Harvey Lawson and Bill and Pearl were pretty hard hit. Harvey lost one barn flat on the ground. His auto was in it but the timbers so fell that the car was not damaged at all. The roof of another barn was taken off and carried some five rods or more and set down right in front of the house. The roof paper was taken off the house. About 1/3 of his maple trees were blown over. He said it would be very difficult to get them out of the way so he could get about to collect the sap next year. The beautiful pine grove just south of the Union church where the Old Home week celebration was held, is flat. The trees were mostly pines. Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert wondered where the Old Home Day would now find a place to meet. The East Woodstock church was a sight. The steeple fell thru the roof and half the roof was crushed, repairs were in progress when we were there. Uncle Elbert said if all the equipment in the country were available they could not save all the timber that is flat. In two places we saw logs in piles ready for the mill.

We saw a flock of 600 turkeys. Uncle Elbert engaged one for the Kinney Thanksgiving. They were inviting Bill and Pearl.

We have just been to a Turkey supper at the Shelton Episcopal church. I grabbed four times and am sending the four to the grandchildren. This is not breaking the rule to send no presents, I'm just passing on my grabs.

For a whole week now we have been partly marooned here with not good travelling. It is the longest spell of such weather I have seen since we came home from China.

Several Foochowites have had a furlough recently and returned. Misses Wiley and Ward and the Storrs are planning to return, the sailing date has been set once or twice and is now set for January 27th, 1939. I hear nothing relative to our going back, from this side. One of our graduates wrote last week that he was on the Synod and voted with the others to make the call unanimous for us to come. Boston has not made a whisper.

Laura D. Ward

THIS lady is not really wrapped up in clouds. She is much more wrapped up in Rural Worker's Institutes of her own staging, in practical demonstrations of 'how it can be done' in the country churches as well as in schools.

Charles L. Storrs

RADIATING good-will, "this refugee from Shaowu" has been ready to fill many a needy opening made by cuts and withdrawals. He is now located in Foochow College.

Mrs. C. L. Storrs

MRS. Storrs keeps the compound school with its eight American children up to modern standards. Her home is the center for the activities of Shaowu women who are now in Foochow.

Julia and Charles Storrs

JULIA 11, is a home loving-body who would often rather refuse an invitation than miss a meal with her family. Charles, 8, has a great admiration for knightly strength in books and is sometimes found reading the Readers Digest. In spite of his brother's epithet of 'book worm' he is a real boy.

Mother and I have joined the New Haven Congregational Club. The next meeting comes next Monday. And I have promised to attend a meeting of the Church Committee for China Relief in New Haven a week from Tuesday. I wonder if those of you are giving to this relief would send the money to me and let me forward it. I have sent a little already, - the contribution taken at Putnam two weeks ago when I spoke to the Men and Missionary group and $2000 given me by Mr. Morse to forward.

I took a snap of the cows the other day, thinking Willard would enjoy seeing the looks of the new cow that takes Bessie's place.

Now the children would enjoy seeing the little rabbits now. I have six hutches with the little ones in now. Some are a month old and some only ten days, all are cute. One of the mothers is so careful to keep the little ones warm that she pokes all the hay in the big hutch into the little hutch and fills it so full I can hardly find the youngsters.

This carries a lot of love to you all

[handwritten]

Dear Geraldine:-

Before this I hope you have your share of the message we sent Thanksgiving Day. We rather figured you would be with Gould's family but- in a recent letter you wrote of planning to give $50 to the China Relief- think it over. That amount seems rather steep to both Mother and me. I had thought of giving $25.00 for mother and me. 56 boxes of jasmine tea came the other day. (Do you want more? I sent you 4.) I plan to send them to some of my old friends to whom I have sent for several years, and to write Christmas greetings to all relatives and other friends to whom I do not send tea.

I did not write in the general letter that Mother and I went over to the Riverside Cemetery the other day and chose a lot- next to two that Uncle Stanley owns. Mother wished to buy there rather than use the Beard lot in the Long Hill Cemetery.

It is good to see how Monnie enjoys her work and her charges. It is also good to see how something has put you on the right road. Keep up 8 or more hours in bed every nite and not too much "friend Pigeon" - a quiet life for a time. Mark anxious thoughts taboo. Miss Garretson of Foochow used to talk about letting yourself rest down on the bed- sometimes she said we do not - touch only the shoulders, hips and knees- she said one could not rest in that way. With lots of love Father

[Willard and Ellen purchased a perpetual care lot in the Riverside Cemetery, Shelton, Connecticut for two hundred dollars on February 9, 1939 in Section number I, Block G, Lot number 6 containing 200 superficial feet according to the deed by The Riverside Cemetery Association, Book 2, Deed 73. Copy of the deed is in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

A frozen Century Farm

This photo was in an envelope marked "Snow Storm 1938". Other similar photos were labeled at "Ice Storm 1939". Either the snow/ice caused the damage to the trees or the trees were already damaged from the strong September 1938 hurricane that hit southern Connecticut.

[Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Marjorie, Gould, Virginia and Ellen probably between 1936-1939.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1939

- Germany invades Poland
- New York World's Fair opens
- Gone With the Wind premieres
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Florida
- Geraldine is in Chicago possibly
- Marjorie is in New England
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Gould and Virginia are in La Grange, Illinois
- August – Willard and Ellen leave for China to live in Ing Tai to replace Ned Smith
- Willard is 74, Ellen- 71, Gould- 43, Geraldine- 41, Dorothy- 38, Marjorie- 33, Kathleen- 31.

[This letter, dated January 15, 1939, was written from Florida by Kathleen to her parents. She thanks them for the Christmas presents. Kathleen hopes that Willard and Ellen will come to visit when Uncle Elbert does. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Jan. 15 [1939]

Dear Mother and Father:

At last I have got time to write you the letter I had planned to for so many weeks. Or at least start it. This year I made myself write most of my harder letters first so left my poor family to wonder why on earth I took so long. Well, I'm really not so dreadfully busy but when the children are around it is hard to concentrate and when they're not work presses, while many evenings I have been helping Hugh with his work. Bookkeeping is terribly endless at the first of the year and his boss is one of the driving kind who is never satisfied with the amount of work accomplished.

The letters from Father, Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary were very welcome and I'm glad that Gould did get there for his vacation this year. You must have had a good chance to visit with them since there weren't a dozen others of us hanging around. I am also very glad to hear that Hazel gets around easily and naturally. Do they think that her legs will gradually adjust their length to be perfectly normal again? Thanks for the hurricane pictures. Your trees certainly were tossed around and broken up.

Christmas was so far back that I find it hard to remember any interesting particulars, but I can't forget that exciting box of samples and playthings, Mother. My, what fun I had with that- just like a big surprise grab-bag, and I opened it all alone so that Jill would not see the things before Christmas. The samples are being used right up and those kitchen novelties are awfully nice. I do like the all purpose grater and the lemon extractor works well, too. The top, puzzle and other toys went to fill the stockings along with the cereal samples which Jill loves. She wanted to try a new one each morning and is fond especially of the Weetabix. That is a new one on me. Thankyou for the stick game and baby's rattle. The game we have played several times with friends and they all like it. We even play it by ourselves. Cynthia has completely demolished two of her Christmas rattles, but the one you sent is hardly enough to withstand her hard treatment and she can make plenty of voice with it too. The Florida cards came in perfect condition and thank you for sending them. I didn't use them for Christmas since I already had enough and they have no particular Christmas message on them. They will be good for any greetings during the year tho, and I'm only sorry you didn't use some of them while you were here. But you may have opportunity yet, for I fully expect you both to come down with Uncle Elbert. If the Florida call is not strong enough I am counting on the Cynthia call to bring you. She can stand alone now for several seconds and often does it unwittingly in her pen when absorbed, but she prefers to creep rather than walk on the floor- and she can go like a streak on all fours. She goes all over the house in her kiddy walker) the one that Sally had) and I have to watch her to see that she doesn't get into things. Most of the time she is quite content in her pen however, and I wonder what I should ever do without it.

Christmas day was warm and fairly pleasant. We had dinner with the folks and spent a quiet afternoon at home. We blew ourselves for a tricycle for Jill but it does seem worth it for she (as well as all the neighborhood children) uses it a lot, and that keeps her out of doors more. Jill simply loves the Christmas cards and still asks me to sing them for her, particularly "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear". She learned "Away in a Manger" in Sunday School and sings it a little off tune, but it stimulates her interest in singing. Her piano is progressing too, and in another month she should have a little piece ready to play.

We are having trouble with those little "jiggers" that you found burrowing into you last year. I have found as many as a dozen on Jill at once after she has been playing outdoors and they make awful bites all over her. She even passed a few on to Cynthia but I found them before they got under her skin. They must be particularly abundant this time of year for we can hardly walk around the house without picking up at least one.

I am now settled in front of a cheery fire enjoying a rare gray day indoors. It is Hugh's Sunday to work so I'm alone. Both children are tucked into bed for their naps, tho they aren't asleep, and I have laid aside my household tasks for a little leisure.

Since New Years we have had some glorious "Florida weather" with no need for fires and no rain. But today is plenty cold and my twig fire feels good. On the whole so far our winter has been very mild. No frosts, no long cold spells,- we haven't even heated any bricks to take to bed although the hot water bottle has felt good two or three nights. We still have quite a bit of wood that we bought last year so you see how rarely we have had a fire.

My college roommate's sister and Father are spending the winter in Clearwater. She is Chuck Taylor with whom I worked in the Saginaw YW when we were living with Dot. I do enjoy having them so close and they have been over several times. Last Sunday they went with us and Enid's family on a picnic to the State Park, the other side of Tampa, and we had a grand outing. All the children enjoyed it so much and Cynthia was as good as gold. She still loves to ride.

Just after Christmas I had a call from Helen Belnap and her folks (Jerry's friend). They are in Clearwater again and Helen was here for her vacation. She won Jill's heart by enthusing heartily over all her Christmas toys.

Pearle writes that she and Bill are driving down at the end of this month and I expect them here the first week in Feb. Is she quite recovered from her operation (was it?) last spring. I haven't heard much about her since you left, but I hope she enjoys the trip.

I am trying to find time to put in a few flower beds so they will be in bloom early this year but have doubts of my success. I saved some of the giant zinnia seeds and hope they make as conspicuous a showing as they did last June. Also I want to start some more poinsettia cuttings along the North wall of the garage. Woodell says there used to be some lovely ones there which were killed by the frost. Flame vine is coming out now but may be retarded by this cool weather. Beauganvillia and hibiscus have blossomed continuously all fall and everything but the grass has kept right on growing.

Is Ralph here yet? He was supposed to come before Christmas wasn't he, and here it is mid January. I should think poor Monnie ?? yet very impatient after waiting so long.

The papers say that the North is all blanketed in snow again so I picture you shoveling walks and driving with chains on your tires. I'm afraid I don't envy you, but I would like to have Jill see snow just for a little while.

I guess my leisure is over for I hear complaints from both parties, and no naps have materialized, so with a heartful of love for you both I'll say goodbye for now,

Kathleen

P.S. Would you care enough about a bushel of tangerines to pay $1.25 express on them? They are delicious now and will ?? Sorry I can't manage the express. Perhaps I can get them off this week. My abcess completely healed over last week after slow draining for 5 months. There is still a red mark.

[This letter, dated February 17, 1939, was written from Florida by Kathleen to her parents. Pearle and Bill spent some time visiting with them. Kathleen and the girls will be travelling to Connecticut for Monnie's wedding. They attended the Gasperilla Parade. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Feb. 17 [1939]

Dear Mother and Father:

Both your letters have been so good, and how I do devour letters now. I will try to answer all the items you both wrote about but it may run into too long a letter for one evening. Thank you, Mother, so much for the package. The little dress is perfectly adorable and you probably shall have your wish to see Cynthia in it. I like my house coat too and will find it more convenient to slip on at times. Jill was a little teary when neither of the dresses turned out to be for her but I reminded her of her coming birthday when no one but she would get presents and that dried up the waterfall. She likes the book and is asking me to read her the story every day. Thankyou too for the dollar bills which flutter out of your letters like autumn leaves. You really shouldn't send them but they seem to come in very handy. The fruit was given by the Elmers, packed and picked by me- (and now expressed by you,) so we all had a hand in it. It is much easier to pack and cover a bushel basket than a box so I guess I'll do it that way hereafter. Yes, fruit is plentiful this year, but oranges never seem to drop in price as do tangerines and grapefruit. I guess consumption of oranges is much more steady than of the other kinds of citrus. Pearle and Bill had such fun tying all the different kinds of oranges and they found some that I had never tasted- king and tangelo. Yes, their visit was very pleasant and I enjoyed having them. I haven't seen Pearle in so long that I was a bit fearful about entertaining her but she takes everything so graciously that my mistakes and omissions seemed less evident. We had lovely weather as luck would have it- two days of clear cool weather and two days very warm. Bill introduced each day with "what a beautiful day", and went into raptures over the glorious sky, air etc. Pearle just came out smiling and cheerful but with no exclamations. We went to Clearwater the first day, shopped and saw the beach. Bill tried to arrange to go deep sea fishing but it was too rough and boats weren't going out. We washed the second day since they also had some to do, and they took Jill and me to dinner at Tarpon Springs. Bill had more raptures over the boats and things up there. Then we had supper over at Mother Elmer's and Bill and Pearle went spearing fish with Rollin and Enid. They got one fish which I baked for them next day. Pearle seemed especially interested in the foods down here so we had fish every day, and strawberries, avacado and papayas, besides citrus. We went thru the packing house and Bill and I played one set of tennis (which nearly did me in) but he didn't get in his swim. They wrote lots of cards and letters from here and sent two bushels of fruit up north. I think they brought all the clothes they owned (Pearle had four coats with her) and the car was loaded. I wish you had come down with them, Mother, and stayed until Uncle Elbert came. Pearle said she asked you. It was fun having them but very strenuous. The children were both very good and Pearle said she thought Jill was exceptionally well behaved. (Mother please note) of course she was having a good time so there was no reason for her to be anything but good. She took to Bill and shadowed him the first two days. This paper was some that Pearle left here. Well, I guess that covers their visit.

Aunt Emma hasn't said a word in her letters about coming down although I have written twice asking them to. She did mention to Pearle something about it- to see whether I could take care of them for I don't want to move before they come. I doubt if I can do it before I go north (and it seems for all comments that I am going whether or no) anyway, but I want to know what to plan on. I agree with you that travelling would be easier on the train and would take less time so tell Uncle E. he doesn't need to consider brining me and the children up. And more about the wedding. How can Monnie even get ready for it while she is staying there? I should think she would have to be at the farm for some weeks ahead of time. Is she planning a church wedding and house reception like Dots or all at the house? How many guests? Hugh seems quite willing for me to come but he doesn't want me to stay more than two weeks. Frankly I dread that trip with Cynthia but I guess I can do it somehow. Do you suppose some of you could meet me in New York to help me transfer and get up to Shelton? I was thinking I would come starting Monday or Tuesday (April 3rd or 4th) arriving there Wed. afternoon, and that would give us a chance to get over the effects of the trip before the wedding. What is the weather apt to be then? I suppose I shall have to bring all the children's winter things won't I? They will be all thru with them for the year down here. And I'll bring all my rags and tatters along too. I don't suppose it will be any use to bring summer linen dresses or light silks will it? And I haven't the vaguest notion what to get for the wedding. Any suggestions? Also do you have any idea what Monnie needs or wants for a wedding present? I'm stumped there too. I think, Father, that I have enough (or will have) to get up there thanks. I'll have to see about getting back when the time comes and I may need to accept your offer then.

I'm taking the items as they come in Mother's letter. It's funny how both of you wrote and answered the very questions I was going to ask you. You must be very busy with all those lectures and teas for the Chinese relief. I hope they raise a lot of money. Are you definitely decided to go back this spring? It gives me kind of a lost feeling to think of you leaving the country again and going so far away, but if you are really needed I know that is where you want to be and we must suppress our personal feelings about it. I do hope that it won't be for more than a year or two tho, for I want the children to know you better and they are growing so fast now and forget so quickly. I will be interested to see how Jill remembers you all when she sees you this time. She talks about it a lot more since she has heard Hugh and me discussing it and not the least of the pleasure for her will be the train ride (which I dread). And now you asked about my breast. Yes, it is completely healed over and gives me no more trouble, tho I don't like to have it bumped by Cynthia's head or anything else. There is an ugly read scar where the opening was, but it is gradually getting smaller and I suppose will eventually become white, tho will probably never go entirely away. Did yours leave a scar Mother? It didn't give me any pain for the last two months that it was draining but it was a nuisance to dress it. The breast is noticeably shrunken from it but I suppose that will right itself in time.

I can give you a little more data on Hugh's work now for I have seen him twice since I wrote about it first. His run is from Jacksonville down thru Orlando, Lakeland, Bartow, Punta Gorda to Ft. Myers- about 130 miles south of Tampa. He doesn't come anywhere near here and couldn't see me during his run if he did for at every stop he has to work like mad to put off and take on all Express packages. He has lost a lot of weight doing such strenuous work and is black and blue all over from bruises but he may not be doing that very long. He hopes to be a messenger soon. A messenger on an Express car oversees the loading and tabulates each article. On this run Hugh gets $132. a month which is much more than he was getting in Tampa. His runs are all at night- four nights a week, so he has five days off. He has to sleep some of those days of course. It happens that he gets back to Jacksonville on Sunday morning and doesn't have to work again until Tuesday night so he has been coming down here every weekend to spend two nights and a day with us. Living apart is pretty expensive and as soon as we know whether he will work thru the summer I shall go up there and we will get a furnished apartment, leaving all we can of our belongings here in storage. It looks as though the next few years might find us moving here and there quite a bit so we can't accumulate much furniture I guess, but the out look for promotion is pretty good. Hugh's hopes are high for the future. It isn't so nice right now tho.

Well, I'll be seeing you in about six weeks and am already preparing for the trip. I find there is much sewing to be done for all of us and the time isn't any too much. I get so little done during the day besides caring for the children that I seem to get nowhere. Just how the house-moving will be accomplished I fail to see but I guess I will rise to the occasion somehow. It is getting late now and I must get to bed for the children wake me all too early.

My love to all there

And my special love to you both

Kathleen

Sat. Morning

P.S. I forgot to tell you of our trip to the Tampa Fair on Gasperilla Day. We left Cynthia with her Grandmother Elmer – took her pen and dinner right over there- and drove over with Father Elmer in his car. It came on a Monday so Hugh was here and went too. We got there about noon and the pirate ship was just coming up the river but I couldn't get a very good view of it from the bridge we crossed. We went right to the Fair grounds and got a seat on the grandstand (bleachers) in front of where the parade ended, but we had to sit there in the sun for more than an hour waiting for it. Hugh and Jill got a bad sun burn, having no hats on, and I got a burn on one side of my face. It was hot alright. There was a show going on in the field but it was rather far away for us to see well and Jill kept asking to go on the Merry-go-round. When the parade finally came it lasted almost two hours so it was three o'clock before we got lunch and started on the Fair. The floats were beautiful but there was a sameness in their make up and they all had a bunch of pretty, semi-nude girls draped on them. One man and his wife (in Tampa) design and make most of them up you know, so no wonder they are something alike. Several of them had motor trouble right in front of us and had to be pulled away by a tractor, which slowed up the parade a lot. When it was over we ate at one of the lunch stands and then Father went off by himself and he gave Jill her rides on merry-go-round and little cars that go around on a moving belt. I think she liked those best for she felt that she was really driving them herself. We all three went on the ferris wheel too but she was so scared when we got up high that we got right off. Then we strolled thru some of the buildings but didn't have time to see all the exhibits. The Pan American part was a distinct disappointment for they have advertised it widely as a "Pan American De Soto Exposition" this year and we expected something unusual. I was glad to have seen it once tho, since I may not be in these parts for another one soon.

The children are here for their music lessons now so I'll close again with love. K.

[This typewritten letter dated March 16, 1939 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to folks in various U.S. towns. Willard gave Ellen her first driving lesson orally. He held 2 successful China Benefit tea and suppers to raise funds for China. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton, Conn.

March 16th. 1939.

Dear Folks in La Grange, Chicago (Geraldine), Saginaw, Clearwater and Putnam.

Mother is getting to be a regular gadder. And as she has not yet learned to drive the car I have to go along. On the way to Putnam the other day she took her first lesson in driving. It was an oral lesson. She was the passive driver, not an active driver. She does not want to drive on an open road the first time. A closed road she considers better for then she will know when to stop. Some such road as the path leading into the little house in Putnam. There is an end to that road and she will stop when she comes to the house, - or soon thereafter.

I forget just when I wrote last. Did I tell about the two suppers for China relief? One was on February 27th and held in the Parish parlors of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Episcopalian. It netted $62.00 which is in China by now saving lives. The next was in Ansonia Methodist Church Parlors, on March 3rd. It netted $83.45. The next will be in Seymour. The first meeting of the committee is to [be] held tomorrow.

Did I write of our drive to Winchester, Conn. about 6 or 7 miles beyond Thomaston on Sunday afternoon February 26th. What a drive! The snow and ice increased as we went north and the rain fell all the time and froze. We arrived about 5:00 p.m. and the minister, a young man did not seem overjoyed at our arrival. I asked him how about the evening for a service. He said he could by phoning get out perhaps ten or a dozen. I looked at the clock and suggested that we put coats and rubbers on at once and beat it for home. He fell in with the suggestion quicker. It was rather amusing to me that as we were ready to leave Mrs. VanCleeve wanted us to stay for a cup of tea. I saw 6 or 7 miles of dirt road covered with snow and ice, before we reached the hard roads and we men had our way for once. We reached Thomaston before dark. But then fog came in and it was thick. In Seymour I got on the wrong road and the first familiar object was the corner at the very north end of Main Street Ansonia. I had come down on the East bank of the Naugatuck instead of the West bank. The fog light saved the situation. This is the second time this winter that the fog light has made it go-able. We reached home about 15 minutes to eight. If I wrote this before, well it's worth two writings.

Monday evening- afternoon also- we put on a China Benefit tea and supper. It was held in the Parish Parlors of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Episcopalian. I sent to China $62.00 as the proceeds. I went to New York and bought 200 bowls for rice, the same number of tea cups, spoons and chop sticks. We sold these to as many as wanted them, - doubled our money on them. We fed 124 on Chop Suey or Chow Mein 50 cents. The food I bought in New Haven and Nancy came up to drive in after it and she brought out a Chinese to serve it, and took him back after the supper. Mother and I hung Chinese banners, scrolls, embroideries etc. on the walls and had a real Chinesy atmosphere about the place. On Friday March 3rd we duplicated the supper in Ansonia. I ordered 200 portions. Just as the people got most thru eating the head waitress came to me and said the food was all gone and no waitress had eaten and there were several at the door asking for tickets. I said if they would wait one hour I would go into New Haven and get more. They waited. Uncle Ben drove me in. The pointer touched 60 much of the time. We made it in less than an hour from Ansonia. The proprietor was on the job as I stepped into the door of the restaurant he appeared from the kitchen with the bucket in his own hand and carried it down to the car himself and put it in the car. He let me have the food for ½ price, and sent one man for Shelton and two for Ansonia to serve. I have sent my check for $83.45 as the proceeds of the Ansonia Benefit supper.

As speaker for Shelton I got an old student who graduated from Foochow College in 1923, Ling Meu Seng. But now he is Dr. Mouseng Lin. He holds an important government position in New York. But he delivered the goods all right in Shelton. I came near getting proud of him. Tuesday I took him to Tarrytown where he wanted to stop and then took Nancy home. On my way home I stopped at Uncle Olivers and Aunt Annie got supper for me, - pretty near supper. Then I went and picked up Dr. Day of the United Church and took him to Shelton for a talk at our fist Lenten service.

A week ago last Monday, March 6th. Mother and I went to Putnam and on Tuesday Uncle Elbert took us all to Providence. My, but it was windy and COLD. Wednesday we came home. We went and came by Hartford.

Last Friday Monnie brought her four charges and Mary the Maid up to the farm for a day's outing. They all went over to the woods to look off at the river etc. They played in the hay. They saw the rabbits. They were much interested in farming. The second boy got hold of one of the teats with both hands. But he settled down and really milked well for the first trial. Monnie drove them up in Mrs. Adams' Buick.

Mother and I went down to see Monnie on Monday March 13th and again on Saturday March 18th. Monnie had been to Montreal to see Ralph in the meantime, - went up Monday nite and came back Wednesday nite. Spent Tuesday nite with Betty Lorimer.

We four here went to New Haven to see the moving pictures of the Madras Conference, given by Dr. Roy Houghton, pastor at Milford across the river.

Monday March 20th.

Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert stopped here on their way to New York, Washington and perhaps Southern Pines, N.C. Mother and I are booked to go to Waterbury for an address and the showing of Chinese things this week Friday evening.

Love to all

Father.

[handwritten]

Dear Geraldine-

As far as I have heard people of the Beard tribes are rather glad that Monnie and Ralph have decided it was possible to make the date for the wedding a month later- May 6. I think you will enjoy the prospect of the weather being a bit warmer. As I look out the north windows now it is a very wintry scene that meets my look. The snow is still much in evidence after nine days and altho the thermometer stood at 34 degrees above this morning a keen breeze from the north keeps the bright sun from dispelling the snow and ice too fast. What fine weather we have had [for] the maple syrup makers. Cousin Harvey's maple bush was so broken down by the hurricane that he is not making syrup this year.

We have gotten the apple and other trees that were blown down by the hurricane sawed and split ready to draw to the wood pile- most of the wood is already in the wood poke- but there are several loads yet to bring. I am anxious to have the boys use these mornings when the ground is frozen to bring up the rest. Yesterday I had the old farm truck fixed up so it is usable. We look forward to the gathering of the family in May.

Lovingly Father

The Evening Sentinel, March 1939
Town of Shelton
Chinese Supper, Fund Program, is enjoyed by 350
Dr. Musheng Lin Hopes Chinese Can Wear Japanese Out Over Long Period.

Congregational hall was filled to capacity last night for the Chinese supper and program sponsored by the churches of Seymour for the benefit of Chinese relief. It is estimated that more than 350 attended, the stage as well as the auditorium being filled.

The tables were attractively decorated with forsythia, donated by Mrs. S.B. Rentsch, and Chinese cups, bowls and chopsticks furnished by Dr. Willard L. Beard. The chopsticks, bowls, cups and spoons were on sale after the supper.

The speakers' table was placed on the platform. An American flag hung at the side of the platform, which was attractively decorated with beautiful Chinese hangings and many Chinese curios. The walls of the parish hall were covered with scrolls and hangings donated for the occasion by Dr. and Mrs. S.B. Rentsch, of Derby. The curios were donated by Dr. Willard Beard, of Shelton.

Rev. Joseph Swain acted as master of ceremonies at the speaking program which followed the supper. He opened the program in a humorous vein and said that nobody had leaned on any one's shoulder in arranging the affair, as there had been splendid cooperation. He introduced Dr. Willard Beard, who made introductory remarks and in turn introduced Rev. C.G. Vickert, of New Haven, Chinese missionary who is soon to return to China and who spoke briefly.

Hopeful for China.

In introducing Dr. Musheng Lin, Dr. Beard spoke of having him as a pupil in China. Dr. Lin, of Columbia University and Foochow, China, is in charge of the Chinese Institute of America, in New York. Dr. Lin spoke at length following through the course of the war in China. He thinks the Chinese can hold out for a period of years by attacking small garrisons and retreating when necessary. He hopes they can wear the Japanese out, even though the Japanese are so much better equipped for war. His talk was most interesting and his personality very pleasing.

The hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. E.A. Jones, chairman, Mrs. Harold J. Edwards, Mrs. Joseph Swain, Mrs. Edward Gahan and Mrs. Fred Schuster.

Mrs. J.B. Honey and her assistants were in charge of the sale of Chinese linens.

Mrs. F.G. Space was chairman of the supper. The food was cooked in the Far East restaurant in New Haven and a staff from the restaurant came out and served the supper, which was delicious, consisting of chow mein and chop suey with bowls of rice, hot rolls, coffee and Chinese tea and assorted cakes.

Mrs. Robert Tocher was chairman of the dining room with 30 assistants.

Alton MacHardy acted as treasurer. All of the money after expenses are paid will go for Chinese relief.

The Men's club of the church was in charge of checking in the Sawn Memorial. The money received from this went into the general fund.

[Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

See enlargement next page

Century Farm - Possibly 1939 – is Willard taking the photo?

Back left to right: Harold Newberg, unidentified woman, Gould Beard, Anna Beardsley Beard, Oliver Gould Beard, Jr., Virginia Space Beard, Mary Beard, Unidentified man-possibly Seymour Valentine, possibly Oliver Wells Beard or Dan Beard, Abbie Hubbell Beard, unidentified man, Emma Kinney, Ellen Kinney Beard, possibly Dorothy Beard Newberg, Bennett Nichols Beard, Elbert Kinney.

On ground left to right: Nancy Beard holding baby, Marjorie Beard, 2 unidentified Women-possibly one is Marion Beard, probably Beatrice Beard, Stanley Beard with arms probably around Willard Frederick and Hazel Beard, Edith Beard Valentine possibly holding Winifred, Phebe Maria Beard.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This typewritten letter dated April 15, 1939 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He has received word from the Board that they are to go back to China. Willard would like to marry daughter, Marjorie and then leave for China in August. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

April 15th. 1939

Dear Geraldine,

The important letter from the Board Rooms in Boston came this week. I am quoting the important paragraph.

Voted that Rev. and Mrs. Willard L. Beard of the Foochow Mission, retired, be returned to Foochow for a special three-year term of active service; with $400 of their outward travel expenses to be reckoned as part of the budget provision for new Missionaries, for 1938-39.

This settles the question of our going as far as I can see. The time is not set. But I have written that I have engagements up to May 30th and that Mother wants a little time to pack. I think it will be the latter part of the summer, sometime in August before we get off. I also told them I must stay long enough to marry Monnie.

This week has been pretty full of going and meeting etc. Monday was snowy and drizzly. Monnie came up with her younger protégés. Mother and Monnie went to New Haven, - guess what for. The Aunts and I cared for the children. This was on Tuesday. Then after an early supper the Westons [probably Weston, CT] left. Monnie had them pretty well trained. Coming up we noticed one child was on the front seat and the other, the boy, on the rear seat. But when they were ready to start home both children were on the seat with the driver, and they were to stay there, where the driver could control them.

On Thursday we all four went to Huntington Church to a meeting of the Women's Missionary Ass'n of Fairfield County. The church was full. For lunch they filled both the parish houses of the two churches. A native Indian woman was one of the speakers. And she delivered the goods. That evening we all went to our church supper and the Annual Meeting of the church. Two church meals in succession. Then on Friday Mary and I went to a meeting of the Women of the New Haven County and had another church luncheon.

Monnie came with Ellen from New York on the 7:57 p.m. train. I took Mother up to the 7:26 a.m. train for New York. Today Mother and Marjorie have been in Bridgeport, guess what for.

I am in charge of the service in our church tomorrow but a man from the Salvation Army speaks. Next Sunday I am to have the whole service. Mr. Strickland is in the hospital at Newington. I think he has to have a second operation for appendicitis. He had one three years ago. He was operated on yesterday morning and in the evening was doing well.

Mrs. Bartlett, mother of Dr. (dentist) Bartlett died quite suddenly yesterday morning. The funeral service is to be this evening at the home. She came from Putnam and they are taking her there tomorrow. I came near going for the service at the grave, tomorrow afternoon. But Mr. McGowan a former pastor here whom the Bartletts were very fond of is to have charge of the services this evening and at the cemetery.

Next Wed. evening another of the China Benefit suppers is to be held in Seymour.

We hope to see you all around May 6th.

With love,
Father

[This letter dated April 27, 1939 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Kathleen, Jill and Cynthia have arrived in Connecticut by train to visit. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton, Conn.

April 27th 1939

Dear Geraldine:-

I have not yet made a date with Dr. Bartlett. I'll wait till the wedding date is settled. They are now trying for May 13th.

Uncle Ben, Monnie and I went down to Penn. Station N.Y.C. for Kathleen, Jill and Cynthia. Their train came in at 6:05 p.m. We had parked a little more than a short block from the station. Monnie and I went down to meet the trains and I chanced to see them thru the windows. We took the luggage and all walked to the car and were on the road for home at 6:25. How's that. We reached home at 9:45. Kathleen is thin but both little girls are quite fit. Grandma stayed with them rather than go to the State Annual Meeting of Cong'l Christian Women. Yesterday Uncle Elbert and Aunt Emma were there- Waterbury. Monnie and I took three ladies, the Aunts three and Ruth Tanter[?] Beard three. We had a very interesting and inspiring meeting.

Write again when you are coming. We all wonder if Nancy will stay and fly East with you.

Lovingly
Father

Written on back of photo: "May 1939"
 Cyndy, Kathleen, Geraldine, Ellen, Jill, Gould, Willard, Dorothy, Marjorie
[Photo in the collection of Jill Elmer Beard, and also, John and Nancy Butte.]

This picture was probably taken the same day as the above photo. 1939
 Willard and Ellen in the back
 Front L to R: Dorothy, Kathleen, Geraldine, Gould, Marjorie.
[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Monnie and Ralph were to be married in May, but the Hudson Bay Company required that he finish his apprenticeship before marrying. The wedding had to be postponed.

Cynthia and Geraldine – 1939
 [Photo in the collection of Jill Elmer Beard]

Left to right: Seymour and Edith Valentine, Dan Beard, Unidentified woman- Dan's wife Beatrice? (this lady seems heavier than what I've seen of Beatrice in other photos), Stephen Beard behind her, Stanley Beard standing behind Abbie Hubbell Beard, Phebe Beard, Myra Beard, Kathleen Beard Elmer, Hugh Elmer, possibly Marion Beard, Mary Beard, Possibly Oliver Wells Beard, Anna Beardsley Beard, Oliver Gould Beard Jr., Ellen and Willard Beard. Front row left to right: Bennett Nichols Beard kneeling, Winifred Valentine, Cynthia Elmer, Danny Beard, Jill Elmer, Beverly Beard.

[Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Etta Kinney Hume's husband, Willis Hume, dies April 29, 1939. Etta is Ellen's sister.

Rev. Hume Dies At Oberlin

OBERLIN, May 1—Rev. Willis P. Hume of 263 West College street passed away about 5:15 Saturday afternoon at University Hospital, Cleveland, at the age of 77.

Rev. Hume was born October 23, 1861, in Marion, Ohio. He and his brother, Harry Hume, started the Marion Star which was later owned by the late President Warren G. Harding.

He was a graduate of the Oberlin Theological Seminary and held pastorates for twenty five years in the Meridian, North Bergen and North Tonawanda, N. Y. Since coming to Oberlin fourteen years ago, he has been engaged in stereopticon slide work.

He is survived by his wife, Etta, four sons and one daughter, Dr. Donald Hume, Alliance, O., Rev. Myron Hume, Milan, O., Dr. Fulton Hume, Hawaii, Stewart Hume, Youngstown, and Millicent Hume, Alliance, O.; also one sister, Miss Sadie Hume of Oberlin.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2 P. M. at the Sedgeman Funeral Parlors, with the Rev. J. A. Richards in charge. Interment will be made in Westwood cemetery.

May 1, 1939 from The Chronicle Telegram, Elyria, Ohio
[Ancestry.com]

TIGER, LEOPARD SKINS ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

Handsome Animals Were Killed in Ingtau, Foo Chow,
China.

Much attention is being attracted today by the two tiger and leopard rugs on display in the furniture window of Howard and Barber's store on Main street.

The rugs are owned by Rev. Dr. Willard L. Beard of Century farm, Long Hill avenue, Shelton. Both animals were caught in 1936, about 10 miles from Dr. Beard's home, in Ingtau, Foo Chow, China, and were brought to him by the man who killed them, a few days after their demise. The tiger was of the man eating variety and the leopard would kill a man if cornered.

The skins were brought to this country and mounted here.

[Newspaper article in the collection of Virginia Van Andel. Laura Amend Peugh now owns one of the leopard skins. On a loose piece of cardboard in the back of Willard's 1936 Homeward Bound Journal of 1936 is written Tiger skins 2, Leopard 3. Article dated about Spring or Early Summer 1939 based on article on back of this newspaper clipping.]

[This letter, dated May 16, 1939, was written by Ginny to the family and all at Century Farm. She had to miss a visit to Century Farm because the children had to be quarantined. Gould will be awarded an honorary B.A. degree from the University of Michigan. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Tuesday nite 5/16/39

Dearest Family One and All at Century Farm-

Thank you Dears for your thoughtful telegram on Sunday. I was so glad to get it for I was missing it all with a little bit of an aching heart. We had all looked forward to it with so much joy, but I'm fast finding out that this business of raising two normal children is apt to be decidedly uncertain at times. [Hazel probably had chicken pox or measles, so the children were in quarantine.]

I've just pumped Gould continuously in the little while I have to see him. He didn't get home until 3 A.M. this morning (What an hour when I wanted to fire a million questions at him)

Thursday nite 5/18/39

Now he is gone again. Left on the 8.40 ship yesterday morning. They tried to send him off Tuesday nite but he asked if he please couldn't spend one nite with his family. After he left you Monday A.M. - he went over to the Wright Engine Factory in Patterson N.J. on business, came back for the 5 P.M. non-stop and was informed he couldn't dead-head for they needed his flying time, so he had to wait until the next trip and fly it in which didn't arrive until 1 something A.M. C.S.T. Tuesday, so it was 3 our time before he finally got home.

But we're a mighty happy little family when our Daddy gets home, even if it isn't for very long.

Kathie what glowing accounts of your darling daughters did that brother of yours give. And from their picture I believe every word. I'm just heart broken not to see them and even more so to miss seeing you. It's been just a long time since you and Hugh drove away from our apartment with Dot and Harold there in Cincinnati, and I have never ceased being grateful to you for taking such good care of my family while I was in the hospital. I wish so sincerely that there would be some way of your still being at the Farm till the end of June, for now I'm sorta planning to come East about the 19th of June for a couple of weeks and really do some house-hunting. If Dot will have them: may let Hazel and Willard have their Saginaw visit at that time.

The 17th we both have to be at the University of Michigan for Frecks [nickname for Virginia's brother] Commencement and Gould will be in Cap and Gown also to receive his B.A. degree as of June 1925 which you know he never received because an Engineering drawing which took 25 hours of work during a sudden shower the nite before it was to be turned in at the finals so he never had finished that one three hour course. Now they feel that he has earned it many times over and want him to have it. He has always maintained that it didn't make any difference to him whether he had it or not, but now that he knows he is getting it, he's as tickled as a small boy looking forward to something very extra special.

Monnie I hope that by now everything has shaped up just as you want it and this time you are making plans that will hold to completion. So glad the sheets and cases pleased you.

Our quarantine signs came down yesterday and it looks as if Willard is really not going to get them tho we hoped he would get them out of his system so we wouldn't have to think about them after he got into school.

Hazels spots are all gone and her temperature has been normal since last Saturday A.M. She has been out for the past two days but wears dark glasses until the first of next week. Is fine except for a little throat inflammation. Hope to have her back in school next week. If she hadn't already missed so much of school I'd be tempted to bring them East next week end, but she only has three weeks more of school and I just don't dare.

Monnie I'm wondering if the latter part of June will find you well on your way North and just about to leave. Do let me know as soon as you know yourself. For I do so want to see you before you leave.

Father and Mother if you don't leave until September we should be able to entertain you in our new home before you go. Still don't know whether we'll move August 1st or Sept. 1st.

You've all been so generous with letters that I feel horribly guilty. Mother and Aunt Mary, Hazel has been so delighted with all the stamps you've showered upon her, and has had much fun getting them located in her album. Even Willard is getting interested in that hobby so the other day I bought him a small album from the 10 cent store as a starter and Hazel is being very generous with her duplicates.

Mother I'm just thrilled with those lovely linens you sent by Gould and those napkins tho not a perfect match will go very nicely with my big Chinese cloth. You know I have two great weaknesses, lovely linens and nice nighties. I just can't have too many. My lovely Chinese linens have been admired countless times by so many of our friends and I've always been very proud of them and so thankful that I'm fortunate enough to have them.

Sent the movie films in yesterday to be developed and am so anxious to get them back so I can have a peek at all who gathered for the reunion. If the other lesser halves missed being there as much as the kiddies and I, they were feeling just a bit low too.

How much Hazel and Willard talk about being able to go to the Farm more often when we move to Long Island. They just love it so up there. And they (especially Willard) insist that if we move again after Long Island that we just have to move near Auntie Dot and Uncle Harold. And after we get located on the Island we have to get a dog. We've promised them that we will, trusting that we'll be located there a bit more permanently than any where in the past.

We've been having a few warm days, it's still far from being very summery. Have planted a few seeds. Have radishes 4" high, and carrots just beginning to show. I put out 56 pansy plants ("Giant Maple Leaf") about three weeks ago and they are just beginning to bloom. Am trying the same kind again this year for they were so very successful last year. Even had a few blooms as late as last December and quite the envy of the whole neighborhood. Seems to have more song birds here this Spring than ever before. Everyone is remarking about it. Sonny says they wake him every morning. But that is much nicer than an old alarm clock.

Presume Dot has already returned to Saginaw and Jerry leaving this weekend. I'm so glad they were all able to be there. I wouldn't have had Gould miss it for anything.

Hope the next time we try making some definite plans they aren't all shattered.

Good nite My Dears must lie myself to bed.

Very Much love to each one of you from All of us.

Love - Ginny

Undated photo of Monnie and Ralph probably in Canada.
[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated July 7, 1939 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry (Geraldine). Hugh has joined his family in Shelton and went to Bridgeport to look for a job. Willard and Ellen will be sailing to China on the President Coolidge on August 25. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
 Century Farm
 Shelton, Conn.

July 7th 1939

Dear Jerry:-

This is just to begin a short letter to you and I'll have to finish it later. I wrote the La Grange family and mailed it last evening when Mother, Kathie and Hugh and I went to B-port for Monnie at 10:24 p.m. We got her all right. She returns tomorrow evening.

We have sailing on the Pres. Coolidge Aug. 25th. We plan to leave here Aug. 10 or a day or two earlier, spend 4 or 5 days with Dot and Harold and 2 or 3 with Gould's family and get to the coast so as to spend one day at the S.F. Fair. These dates are very tentative. We are not planning to stop at Oberlin for Aunt Etta is planning to drive to New York with Millicent and Fulton*, starting just about the time we leave home. I have not fully decided whether I will fly or not= to Chicago. Then Dot spoke of coming East in Aug- when? and when will Ginny come to house hunt?

Mother has begun to pack- she read old programs etc that I was to throw away for about 2 hours a few days ago, and she has begun to look over a box of things we brought from China three years ago.

I have a talk before the Meth. S.S. Sunday July 9th and I have been asked by Mr. Strickland to speak at his morning service July 23. This winds up my speaking as far as I know. I had a good time speaking on China for the Pearl River High School at their Commencement- a full house and a very appreciative audience. I was 100% innocent of any financial thought related to the effort. And came home thinking that a talk in such a place and before such an audience would do China as much good as a talk before an audience in a church service. So I was 100% surprised to receive a check for $25.00 with a note of appreciation that was flattering, a few days after I returned home.

Haying is on its last legs. There are about 10 or 12 acres only not cut, and it looks as if Aunt Mary would have to put that into her own barns.

Some of us are planning to take Monnie to Stamford this evening, leaving here about 6:00 p.m. to put her on the 8:00 p.m. boat for Oyster Bay.

This morning Monnie and I took Hugh to B-port to look for a job and do some errands.

To day has been warm- some would say hot. It must have been very hot in cities- but here in the country it has been not bad with a good breeze all day.

I wonder when you are coming East for the other week of your vacation- before or after we leave.

Very lovingly
Father

[*From an article from The Chronicle Telegram (Elyria, OH) dated July 20, 1939: "Dr. Fulton Hume, who has been on the Hawaiian Islands during the past two years, arrived in Oberlin Tuesday and will visit his mother, Mrs. W.P. Hume of West College street for several weeks. Dr. Hume has accepted the appointment as head of the medical department of Beirut University, Syria, and plans to sail some time this Fall for the Near East to take up his duties there in October. The Beirut institution is under the Rockefeller Foundation and is the leading university in Syria."]

[Another article:]

SON GOES TO SYRIA

Mrs. Etta Hume of West College street, left several days ago for New York City to see her son, Dr. W. F. Hume, embark on the Normandie for Beirut, Syria, where he has accepted an appointment in the Surgical Department of the University of Beirut.

Mrs. Hume will also visit in Batavia, N. Y., and in Shelton, Conn., and plans to make a farewell visit at the home of her sister and husband, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Beard, who are sailing from San Francisco August 25 on the President Coolidge for China where they will resume their missionary work.

August 11, 1939 from The Chronicle Telegram, Elyria, Ohio
[From Ancestry.com]

Written on back: "Will and Ellen 1939"
 [Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter, dated Sept. 5, 1939, was written from the S.S. President Coolidge near Honolulu by Ellen to Dorothy. Ellen and Willard are on their way back to China and she tells about touring the ship with the Captain. She tells about some of the new clothing and swimsuit styles on board. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

AMERICAN PRESIDENT LINES
 New York -California- Orient- Round the World

On board
 S. S. President Coolidge
 Six Days Beyond Honolulu,
 Pacific Ocean
 Sept. 5th, 1939.

Dear Dorothy,

I am addressing this letter to you because I am sending a letter to Mr. and Mrs. Wager in your care asking you to add the proper address and mail again as I failed to get their address when we were in Saginaw. I am writing a note of thanks to them for their hospitality to us. But you may circulate this letter among the children as it will save writing for me. I wrote one to Marjorie which I hope she has circulated in the family, and one to Etta describing the wedding in Honolulu which we unexpectedly attended, and which I have asked her to forward to you children after her family have all read it. [Millicent Hume may have married Richard Arimizu at this time.]

I stopped my letter to Marjorie before I had brought it up to date, as Father was also writing and covered all the ground and I tho't best not to repeat.

I may as well begin this letter with the experiences of this date and work backward as far as my memory will go. Do you know what this date is? [Willard and Ellen's 45th wedding anniversary] We are not saying anything about it here on the boat for we don't want any one to feel obliged to celebrate it for us. A boy in his teens going to Korea had a birthday cake candles and all given him at dinner a few nights ago and the orchestra played "Happy Birthday" and then played it again and the players sang the words. We didn't care for any such publicity. But there was a little incidental celebration not especially so designed. The passengers were invited to go up on the bridge at 10 a.m. About 30 went. The Capt. welcomed us in the room, where all the steering apparatus is and the apparatus for electrically closing the doors between the different parts of the ship (in case one compartment is flooded) and the machine for reporting fire in any part of the ship etc. etc. He told us there is a little electric mechanism in the ceiling of each cabin by which he, by opening a switch in the room where we were standing on the bridge, could hear every thing we said, even a whisper. "So be careful what you say!" he warned humorously. "And when it is open, you can hear what we say up there." He was very gracious and answered many of our questions and told us many things about a ship that we did not know before. He is a sea-faring man of long and varied experience, very wise and careful, takes no risks not required by duty, is a religious man and has a very sane view of World Conditions and talked some time on that line. He was on a ship as an officer in the World War for one year and has been on the sea ever since. He said he trained the navigator on the China Clipper and was in radio communication with him whenever he flew over his route so each knew just where the other was. He told us there was a big American flag 25 X 15 ft. spread out on the deck above, of heavy canvas painted red white and blue, stars and stripes, so that bombing planes flying over could distinguish our nationality. We all went up to see it. It was thrilling to be away up on top of everything with the blue dome over us and the calm deep blue sea stretching out over every side so far below us; it seemed like flying. He said the ship was all arranged for our utmost safety and we need not be at all anxious.

(Too sleepy, as you can see, to write or think so will hold up till tomorrow.)

I read in the Sept. Reader's Digest that American seamen were not as well trained as other countries but that government authorities were taking strenuous measures to improve such conditions. The article quoted some one as saying he would never make a voyage on an American boat. I think this invitation to the passengers to visit the bridge was a measure connected with the government's reorganization plan to reassure the traveling public and prove to them the efficiency of the service and equipment on American boats. We have also had three fire drills thus far, one for everybody (except engine room crew required to run the engines) - passengers and crew, when we all had to don our life preservers and go to the life boat to which we were directed by a posted notice in our cabins, (ours was No. 7.) the other two drills were for the crew only. Each time life-boats are unfastened and swung out over the boat's rail on the davits (?) but not lowered into the water. At the same time others of the crew manned half a dozen or more lines of hose throwing as many streams of water over the rail into the sea, at different points of the deck. At a signal whistle all boats and hoses were replaced and every body went back to work.

The Capt. said he used to see the China Clipper go over, but recently he does not see it as they have changed their course; also they fly too high.

Today they conducted a tour to the engine room. I went part way but it got so hot I stopped and waited till they came up. Father took the whole trip away out to the propellers. I probably could have taken it all right but at my age I thought there was some little chance that I might be a burden to some body altho I have never fainted in my whole life. I wanted to be on the safe side however. I have been in a ship's engine room twice before.

I have seen no sea life except half a dozen flying fishes. They fly from 50 to 150 feet, close to the water.

The ladies on this boat use their house-coats as bathrobes to cover themselves when they go thru the halls or public rooms from their cabins to the baths. And it is very interesting to sit in the writing rooms as I often have done at the writing tables and see the procession of house-coats kimono and men's bathrobes, in gayest colors and large figures and various styles as the people go for their baths before dressing for dinner, from all the corridors and aisles opening off the writing room which they have to pass thru to get to the baths on the other side.

It is equally interesting to see the great variety of togs the young men and young women and girls can scare up. The men are wearing a garment I never have seen before, - a kind of shirt blouse with short sleeves worn outside the trousers with a straight hem at the bottom which covers about 9 or 10 inches below the waist. And the figures they have on them and the colors! One had writing or printing all over it. News paper headings and advertising. Another had San Francisco Fair pictures all over it. One couple had blouses just alike in big red figures on white background, and the wife had slacks to match. Miss Buckhout who is going with us to Foochow has the sloppiest outfit of big loose slacks and blouse to match of a sleazy dust-colored or no color at all material, and when she rolled the slacks up to about half way to the knee to play shuffle-board, with socks and tennis shoes on you can picture about how she looked running about when I tell you she weighs about 180 lbs. An officer of the ship asked her if they had roped her in to wash decks! A number of young women wear slacks.

And the shorts that are worn here by so many both men and young women; and grownup sun-suits, - those bible affairs. And the bathing-suits!! They are getting briefer and briefer, both male and female!! All the children wear sun suits below 8 yrs. of age. So it all makes for a great deal of nakedness around here.

The table steward service has not been all that could be desired. Only American men can now be employed by American Boats, - Orientals can no longer be employed. And these men are green at the work. Ours has been changed once on account of inefficiency; a change but not an improvement. They forget what we ordered and then guess at it; and get the orders mixed up delivering to the wrong person; and service is slow; sugar bowl empty, - no pepper on table, - only one menu for four once, etc. Nevertheless we are pretty well taken care of and the food is generally good. Once my baked apple was fermented, once the rhubarb was, once the prunes were and twice the corn on cob was too hard to bite. But our room steward is good and we are pretty well satisfied everything considered.

The "Matsonia" on which Millicent sailed was to leave at 5 o'clock, the same time as our sailing. Hers did sail but ours didn't get loaded in time so sailed at 7 o'clock two hours behind. We overtook the Matsonia the second night out and went along almost parallel for 24 hrs. when we got ahead and she followed us about 3 miles behind all the rest of the way and docked about half an hour after we did not far from us. Her course the first two days was about 3 mi. off to our right. I sent a radiogram "Greetings" at 16 cents per word including address and signature. She responded with a radiogram of 5 words!

Must close to get this into the mail on this boat closing at 6 o'clock tonight. We get into Yokohama at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Can't you hear the children in this room screaming, through this letter? Well you can see the screaming in my writing and composition.

Much love, and thank you all for making our departure so pleasant. Did you get my deaf and dumb message thru the sleeper window? It was "Fine Children"- not Five Children. Love Mother.

Circulate among you five children only- perhaps Emma and Elbert.

[In other handwriting:]

Please send to Jerry. Kathie, Dot and Monnie have read it.

[This letter, dated Sept. 28, 1939, was written from Foochow, China by Ellen to her children and friends. Ellen gives a lengthy description of her trip from Shanghai to Foochow. Because of the Japanese control of the Fukien Province ports they were only able to take a boat part way and had to be carried over the mountains to get to Foochow. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Another chapter of ancient history, but I am going to send it on as I have spent so much time and eyesight writing it. You can read it if of sufficient interest and circulate it if it is worth it. But eventually keep it for me as it is my only record of the arrival here. I may want to review it myself some time.

Tai Bing Ga Compound,
Foochow, China,
Thursday
Sept. 28", 1939.

Read first.

I am putting in these two sheets of another letter as I find to send the other completed I have to add 30 cents anyway and it may as well carry my money's worth. Send on the other but keep these two sheets till the other comes.

Dear Children all, and friends,

I can hardly believe my senses that we are really back in Foochow again! Yet here we are surrounded by the old familiar scenes, and a few of the old friends.

The great city is all about us, yet it is so quiet that hardly a sound breaks the stillness except those made in our own house here. Since the recent bombing of last week, little business is done in day time when the bombers may come, but people keep quiet indoors during the day and open up business after sunset when the danger of bombers is past, continuing to 11 o'clock at night.

Two of the houses in this compound are vacant, and there are no children in the compound. Mr. Topping's family have just gone home on furlo; we met them in Shanghai where they were waiting for the steamer we came out on, (Coolidge), to get back to Shanghai from Hong Kong and Manila. They gave us our first installment of Foochow news.

We received a letter in Shanghai from Mr. Christian inviting us to come right to their home to stay until we go to Ing Tai. So we are here in their home. Miss Buckhout who came out with us for the Wenshan School is with Miss Atwood in the house we used to live in when Marjorie and Kathleen were with us. Miss Walker and Miss Wiley are in the up stairs apartment where we last lived, by the tennis court. Dr. Tucker and Miss Stanbli are in the Hodous-Belcher-St. Clair- Beard-McClure house.

Now where shall I begin? For I have another letter started in my suit-case, but we landed here without a single piece of our luggage,- nothing but what we had on, our steamer rugs, umbrellas and my hand-bag and Will's brief-case. No night clothing; no comb, brush, curlers! safety razor or tooth-brush.

Well I'll start in with leaving Shanghai and fill in the intervening events when I finish the letter I started some days ago.

Regular coast-line boats are not running since the Japanese interfered with our Fukien ports, all of which are supposed to be closed now; but we hear a day or two ago that the ban was lifted on Wenchow. There is one boat, the "Shinhwa", which does run fairly regularly sneaking into whatever small port is thought to be practicable at the time.

Bishop and Mrs. Gowdy, Miss Plumb and Miss Jones of the Meth. Mission took all the available cabins on her first trip after we reached Shanghai, so we had to wait there till her next trip which was last Sunday, Sept. 24th.

The first announcement was that all baggage must go on board at 4 o'clock. Saturday and passengers, Sunday morning, sailing at 7 a.m. Later information gave Sunday at 9 a.m. for baggage, passengers on at 10, and sailing at 11. We actually did get off at 11:30.

I think I have described the boat and voyage in the "started" letter so will begin the land trip now.

We had hoped to go in to the little port of "Sung A" near Diong Loh near Foochow, but this trip it landed at "Sang tuao". Anchored at 7 a.m. we had breakfast on board. Then a customs official came on board with white cap and white suit and brass buttons looking very official whom we recognized as one of our old students. I helped him to get his English. He offered to help us in any way about our baggage and getting boats to get ashore etc. but we told him Mr. Christian had sent a man from Foochow to take all that responsibility. He did pass us thru however without examination of any kind so far as I know, on the merits of our profession. He said his wife and two children were on the boat too, from Shanghai.

You see we were the very first ship-load of passengers to be debarked at that port and we were sort of blazing the trail to Foochow, albeit over long established routes much used locally in short journeys but regular thru traffic trips were in their initial stage.

"Seng seng", Mr. Christian's man hired three boats for us and our baggage, and we packed in and were rowed a short distance to shore where "the Military" had to give us an examination which Will and Mr. Stowe took care of, and had to show their cameras and answer a lot of questions and were passed. Mr. and Mrs. Stowe, he a professor of Fukien Univ. and she a teacher of English and dramatics in the U. were on the journey with us from S'hai to Foochow. Then they had the long 2 day trip up river and overland to Shaowu where the U. has moved.

Then we were rowed farther into this deep harbor for an hour and $\frac{3}{4}$ on those little boats to the place where we were to get chairs and burden-bearers for the long day and a half trip overland to Guang tan, where we could get the launch for the up river trip to Foochow.

The weather had been fine the first day on the boat, somewhat cloudy the next day with a few drops of rain altho the sea was very smooth; but this morning as we left the little boats, and our baggage, forty odd pieces in all, for the company of five was promiscuously stacked up on the shore, a fine gentle rain began to fall and the clouds promised an increase. We had no oil-paper to cover our baggage and none could be bought in that little village. So the luggage would have to take the wetting.

By a stretch of imagination you may perhaps visualize that squad of shouting coolies that came to carry our chairs and baggage; all in bamboo rain-hats and old ragged and patched faded blue clothes, trousers rolled above knees, and straw sandals on their bare feet; gesticulating and vociferously clamouring for a little higher remuneration; and scanning the piles of trunks, suit-cases and parcels, the while, to select an easy, convenient shaped load to carry. Seng Seng is a general and handled the situation with a master hand. The customs officials passed us thru without opening our cases and with only a routine questioning, probably because it was raining. We went into a native restaurant (buong daing) in the village and ordered each a bowl of vermicelli with pork and greens. These native eating places are most unattractive buildings to think of taking a meal in. They are roughly and primitively built, the woodwork, floors and most of the meager furnishings are unpainted, old and dirty looking, the tables once painted, are old and peeling off, and the utensils of doubtful cleanliness. But we ordered a bowl of hot water to wash the spoons and chopsticks in, and the food was hot, right off the fire, so it answered the purpose of nourishment and tasted rather good to those who were hungry. Meanwhile the loads were making up and starting off one by one.

The chairs for most of the party were the regular mountain chairs all made of bamboo, consisting of a simple seat with arms and a folding back, fastened between two bamboo poles that were held together by a cross-piece at each end, which rested on the back of the coolie just below the neck while the poles rest on his shoulders. The poles project about 8 in. beyond these cross pieces and these ends the leading man holds in his hands. A stick of wood 4 in. wide swings by ropes attached to each side of the chair, for a foot rest. Those who rode in these chairs were protected from the weather only by rain-coats, steamer-rugs, umbrellas and over-shoes. I alone had a real sedan chair, with top, side and back curtain, front curtain and side-and-front-guarded foot floor. This special provision, as being the "old lady" of the company! And with my rain-coat, rubbers, and wrapped from neck to feet in my steamer rug, I went very comfortably.

At one o'clock we were off and we had come only about a mile when we began to climb up the side of a mountain range by stone steps in easy lifts. For over an hour we were ascending on this mountain stair-way. Mountains, range upon range, were all about us and the scenery was grand! The precipitation was a light, fine, rain most of the time, but it rendered the road wet and slippery and the atmosphere misty so that much of the beauty of the scenery had to be imagined especially the distant views. The Topping family, Mr. and Mrs. and three daughters,

Muriel, Rena, and Lois had just come over that road from Foochow to take the same boat, up to Shanghai on their way home on furlough, that we had just left and Mr. T. was very enthusiastic about the grand scenery on this route, when we saw him in S'hai.

After an hour and a quarter of climbing we reached the top of the pass and our coolies stopped and set our chairs down under the foot of a tea house, to rest, drink tea and smoke. After a 10 or 12 minute rest, they picked up our chair and started on again and began the descent on the other side of the range, over a similar road of stone steps, which zig-zaged down the slope. The angles were so sharp at the turns, the grade so steep, and the speed of the coolies so great that I feared the head man would go off over the precipice before he could make the turn. It was as bad for me as speeding in an auto. All my muscles were tense till we reached the bottom of the descent.

As we proceeded from this point along the earth road that wound along the uneven terrain, across valleys and over low hills, I noticed excavations in the red earth close beside the road or rather cutting into the road so as to leave only about a foot or 15 in. to walk on. They were about 10 by 15 ft. and 3 ft. deep and several yards apart. At first I thought them wash-outs or slips from heavy rains, yet there were no signs of real erosions. (I am using whatever writing paper I can scare up among my baggage! Please excuse.) They looked more like the work of man-dug with implements. Then, as I passed a pile of this earth, I wondered if all that earth had been removed for making brick. But this red earth was not clay. It took about an hour of observation and thought as I traveled along to arrive at the correct conclusion. This was one of the new roads that China had built but a short time before the Japanese invasion but had never completed. It had not been hard-surfaced and bridges had not been built. The old-time make-shifts for bridges over small streams and gulleys were still being used, and there was a great variety of them. One consisted of two 10 X 10 in. stone stringers 12 ft. long and a foot apart. My coolies used but one. Another longer bridge was of the same size planks laid on cross-pieces supported by rather frail looking trestle. As one looked down on the walking surface it looked like this: -

I sat very still so as not to shake the chair on their shoulders to make them make a misstep, and held my breath (as I did over all the different bridges) but they negotiated it as easily as I would have done on a bridge 4 ft. wide. At another place where there was no bridge at all the coolies waded right thru the stream. At another wider and deeper stream they went thru on stepping stones which was rather shaky uncertain business for me. Had it been high water in the rainy season it would have been almost impassable on foot. The excavated places that I had seen so many of, were the work of the local people under the orders of the government to tear up the roads to make it impossible for the Japanese army to bring in their tanks, trucks, heavy guns etc. over the newly built roads and they cut so nearly across the width of the road that only a narrow foot-path was left for pedestrians. This was a defense measure of the government, but in my opinion, they carried it out a little too far, and unnecessary destruction and inconvenience to the traveling public. But the coolies took it as a necessary evil and uttered not a word of complaint. It was "all in the day's work" to them. This work of "tearing up the roads", varied somewhat in form in different localities. Here, they were all on the same side of the road leaving only a narrow foot path only 12 to 15 inches wide, on the other side, sometimes worn down to 4 inches in places or entirely broken away, in others, so that the coolies had to walk down a steep little slope into the hole then up another on the other side. In three different places on this first day's run, the road had been cut away so close to huge rocks that the chairs could hardly get past them without scraping; and the earth had been dug away from under them so much and they were so poised that it seem as tho a jar or a slight push would start them rolling over upon us, and we were really almost under them as we passed. The fact that it was raining and softening the ground around them made it all the more dangerous. But the coolies did not seem to think anything of it at all, - not even of the inconvenience and difficulty of getting the chair around them. They proceeded in silence with the exception of a few inevitable grunts from the extra strain. But I did considerably more than tense my muscles and hold my breath, and was not at all at ease in my mind until the last chair and the last load were safely in at the next rest house where we all stopped for hot water or tea and rest for the coolies.

Gentle rain continued to fall throughout the day and at about 5:45 we entered the compound of the English ladies at Lo Nguong, Dr. Cooper and Miss Loader both of whom have been in China nearly as long as we have. Dr. Cooper retires next year. Mr. and Mrs. Luder, two children and amah had arrived about a half hour ahead of us and were well settled in their quarters for the night, and were just having tea in the dining-room, where we joined them as soon as we could get washed up. Mrs. Luders and two children had been in Japan for the summer and were returning via S'hai. They were on our boat coming down, and Mr. Luders came overland to escort them home on this unaccustomed route which we were taking. Their house was not a foreign built brick house like the ones in the city compound that Marjorie and Kathleen will remember, but a large wood and plaster house built in semi-Chinese style, painted in dark colors of Chinese paint, and was old; so that just at dusk, on a dark cloudy, rainy day, it looked very dreary and dismal so far as external appearances are concerned. But it offered us a very welcome shelter for the on-coming night with dry, clean beds, hot water for refreshing clean-up after the long day's travel. Boiled drinking water, foreign food, and very generous welcome and hospitality. They knew we were coming for both Mr. Christian's man who was sent to meet us left a letter from Mr. Christian on his way out to Sang Tuao and Mr. Luder had stopped there over night on his way out to meet his wife and children. The ladies did the very best they could to care for us all and we were very comfortable. But, of course, they just didn't have enough of some things to go around and couldn't get more in such a small, inland, entirely Chinese city, - no other foreigners were there. They could set up Chinese beds enough to piece out their ordinary furnishings, because their girl's school (or woman's school I forget which) was either closed or moved to another place. They had blankets enough, for the weather was still mild; but Father and I had no upper sheets on our single beds and I had no pillow and no mosquito net. One or two others didn't either. But I improvised a pillow out of one of our parcels. The food was good foreign-prepared food but was rather limited in quantity for three husky men in the party. But we couldn't find any fault with that for we were a crowd to entertain over night in a small place where the markets are so limited in the goods foreigners use. Nine of us in the house; and the amah and a Chinese woman who was traveling with us were entertained in the school building by the women in charge, with Chinese food.

We planned to get started at 5 o'clock the next morning and were up at 4, by candle light. They have no electricity there so their artificial light is all by kerosene lamps and candles. But it took the coolies so long to argue out their carrying problems that we did not get off until just 6, and daylight, for a long 30 mile trek in the rain which was still falling as it had thru out the night, not at all to the improvement of the torn-up roads. As we traveled along over the hilly scenic, sparsely-settled country, luxuriant with wild growth, and the mountains surrounding, - whenever one's chair got out of sight of the other chairs, and the coolies ceased their talking, and no human abode was near, and we were far from the sound of running water, how deep and impressive was the silence of nature! It was truly amazing that, out there in the wilds, so little frequented by man, ideal for the home of wild life, hardly a bird or an insect was heard. It was so wild and apparently so remote from man's habitat that meeting a traveler on the road came as a surprise. And we did meet a surprising number of people, for that region, - not just the local country folk, but men and some women who were evidently educated, cultured persons riding in chairs; and the reason we met so many was that they were bound for Shanghai and had no other way to get there than the road we were traveling from there. Very unusual.

We did not stop at Lieng Gong where another English lady lives, for the second night as we thought we might, but pushed right thru to make Guang Tan before dark and to catch the up-river launch before it left.

The plain on which Lieng Gong is situated presents an immense stretch of rice-fields, - beautiful to look upon as its luxurious greenness. It was almost full grown and bearing a heavy crop. We rode miles on narrow stone-paved foot roads right thru the center of this fertile plain with acres and acres of standing grain stretching out on every side. The sun was very low when we reached the mountain range that lay between us and the river Min on which Guang Tan (and Foochow) are situated. The clouds were heavy and as we began the ascent up the stone-step road among the trees, dusk seemed to fall very rapidly. Climbing was slower than level travel, the road was such as to necessitate good vision, the region was wild and remote from human habitation, we had no lights at all for six chairs and the on-coming darkness made me a bit anxious as to our safe conveyance over the pass and especially down the decent on the other side.

At the top there were several immense banyan trees near which was a rest house where our coolies stopped for the last rest on the journey. There were some tense moments in more than one chair as we descended on the other side, but at last we were safely down to the plain and the coolies cautiously and wearily picked their way along the two miles or more of winding road to the river, in almost darkness. They set our chairs down in front of the native hotel, and Seng Seng, who had gone ahead to hold the launch and order the supper for us, came out and ushered us up stairs to quieter rooms, to get us away from the confusion of the loud-speaking coolies. Bowls of hot vermicelli were set on the table for us all, but just as we were beginning to eat, Seng Seng came in and said the launch captain said he could not wait any longer and would go on, unless we came aboard at once. So we left our steaming bowls, grabbed our hand luggage and made for the pier where a small boat was waiting to row us out to the launch.

Seated in comfortable places out of the wind near the front of the launch, the ride up river was very pleasant and restful. The river was calm and smooth, the moon was full, and had it not been cloudy, the moonlight ride would have been perfectly beautiful. We were almost four hours making the run to Foochow including a few stops, and we reached the pier on the bund below the long bridge about eleven o'clock. Things were rather quiet and closed up around there but we succeeded in taking up three ricksha men and were soon off for the city. The streets were dark and almost deserted; the street lights were few feeble and far between; the clouded moon however shed a subdued light, that enabled us to see the standing ruins of the bombed buildings along the bund. The old streets had a familiar look; only the three years of wear and weather since we last saw them made them look dowdier and more shambly built than ever. Even in the dim light we noticed some changes that had taken place since we left; and looking for the familiar land-marks, and for the changes in the old scenes, made the mid-night ride interesting.

When we approached the city compound, the grand, new 5 story Union Hospital loomed up before us with all the dignity of a New York City skyscraper. When we left three years ago the walls were just beginning to rise.

We paid off our ricksha men and knocked at the familiar old gate, now decorated with an American flag painted on its face, to let the Japanese know “who’s who”. The gate-keeper was wakened without an undue amount of noise, and we filed up thru the compound without waking the residents. At the Christian’s house, Father called up to Mr. Christian from under his window, he soon heard, rushed down stairs in his pajamas opened the door, switched on the hall light then skipped up stairs three at a time to get out of sight of the ladies. In a remarkably short time Mr. and Mrs. Christian were both down stairs in appearable attire and enthusiastic indeed were the greetings. They said they had no idea we could get thru to Foochow that night, and did not in the least expect us till the next day.

Mrs. Christian’s knowledge of the Mandarin quickly solved the riddle as to who the woman (Chinese) we had brought along with us was and to what hospital she wanted to go. Fortunately for her and us, it was the Union Hosp. right here at our compound. And the people she was going to were her son and his wife who (he) is a technician or something of the sort at the hospital and he and his wife live there. Mr. Christian skipped down there and woke them and they were both up here in a short time and took the lady home with them.

Father was not backward about reporting the disappointment of the “inner man” at having to leave that steaming bowl of food on the table at Guang Tan, so Mr. Christian woke the cook and coolie who built a fire and cooked eggs, coffee and toast for us while Mrs. C helped set table and get out provisions and Mr. C. went up to Miss Atwood’s once to tell her Miss Buckhout was here then a second time to tell her not to get her cook up as Miss B. would have supper with us. Then a third time to escort her up and introduce her when the midnight repast was over. Finally all got to bed again and some slept while others keyed up to super mental activity by the environment and experiences, reviewed in restful comfort the experiences of the days in the near past, and glowed with the consciousness of really being in Foochow.

The next day Helen Smith appeared from Ing Tai and wanted to start with Miss Buckhout the following morning for Ing Tai where Wen Shan school now is in which she is to teach. But Miss B. had some business in the city to do before going up so Helen was persuaded to wait another day.

The next Wednesday the Synod held a “welcome meeting” for us at which we both had to speak and receive welcome speeches. Our reception by missionaries and Chinese alike has been most cordial and enthusiastic and we are heartily glad to see them all again. - The matter of Father’s taking Mr. Topping’s work here instead of going to Ing Tai was put up to him at the outset and he decided to visit Mr. Smith and talk the matter over with him first. If he planned to go home at once we would go up there this fall. If he planned to stay till spring and go home with Eunice we would stay here and live in the Topping house. The latter plan won out.

With much love, Mother.

[This typewritten letter dated October 2, 1939 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to his children and grandchildren. He and Ellen reached Shanghai and he describes travelling on to Foochow. To get a break from all of the visiting they took a relaxing trip to Kuliang and later a trip to Ing Tai where they will be stationed when Ned Smith decides to leave. There have been 63 bombings in Foochow. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Foochow, China, October 2nd. 1939.

Dear Children and Grandchildren, That is Gould and Virginia, Hazel and Willard; Geraldine; Dorothy and Harold; Marjorie; Kathleen and Hugh, and Jacqueline and Cynthia:-

On Oct. 2nd. I wrote the above. A knock at the door held me up. This is October 13th. In the intervening time Mother and I have been to Ing Tai and returned. I hope our “goings” are now at an end. We are now cogitating how we can have our home here and set up housekeeping very soon. But I must go back for my story and outline our trip to Foochow, to Kuliang and to Ing Tai.

We reached Shanghai Sept. 12th and left the 24th. The French Concession and the International Settlement are crowded. Stores are doing a rushing business. Hotels are jambed. It is considered safe to live in these areas. And missionaries and business men are coming and going all the time. It was no trouble to get in or to get out. Freight is a different matter. Rates are high and steamers demand prepayment on all freight. We were out for lunch or dinner with the Mains, Cio Lik Daik, Munsons and with the Ladies (about 12) at the McTier Girls School. Took lunch once at the Navy Y.M.C.A. I preached at the Foochow church once. We went often to the office of the steamer that had promised to take us to Foochow. The Gowdys went on her two days after we arrived. She came back on schedule and sailed with us on schedule,- only they told us that they could not take us to Foochow, only to Sang Du some 60 miles north of Foochow on the coast. I had stopped there twice in my going to Shanghai. I remembered it as a very beautiful harbor.

The ticket cost us $105 each. It was an old boat and not too neat. But we were not too fussy about such things,- after having visions of buying two trucks in Shanghai and transporting them to Ning po, and using them to transport us and our baggage to Yeng ping 100 and more miles above Foochow on the Min river and then after selling them to the Chinese government, coming down to Foochow on a river boat. We had a good captain and a very congenial Radio man and we were good company for each other. We left Shanghai at 11:00 a.m. Sunday. Monday nite we were within 100 miles of Sangdu. And about four Tuesday morning we anchored off the entrance to the harbor. We for once were glad it was foggy and rainy. Airplanes are not apt to fly in such weather.

Just as I was talking about boats and coolies to take our trunks and other baggage up to Hi Luang six miles on up the bay to its head, a man whom I recognized as the brother of Mr. Hseu, principal of Foochow College, appeared and handed me a letter from Mr. Christian. This letter told me to put all our baggage and ourselves in his hands and he would plan all. We did this. It required about 40 coolies. We were told in Shanghai not to plan to bring anything in the line of groceries. So we obeyed. We did not even plan for a lunch on the overland trip of about 50 miles. A lunch at a Chinese restaurant at Hi Luang,- and we were off at 1:00 p.m. We had a climb of some 2000 ft. and then it's descent. At 5:00 p.m. we were at Lo Nguong at the home of Dr. Cooper and Miss Loader, two British ladies. They put us,- Miss Buckhout, Mr. and Mrs. Stowe, Mother and me, and a Chinese whom we were taking down to her son at the Union Hospital, up and fed us supper and breakfast. They also gave shelter to our baggage. With us were also Mr. and Mrs. Luders and two small children. A day or two after reaching Foochow I was talking with Bishop Gowdy and Mr. Williams, of the British mission here. Bishop Gowdy expressed sympathy for the ladies who were so harassed by such large groups of transients dropping in on them. But Williams said "No such thing. It is the very best thing that could happen to them. Lo Nguong has been bombed and these ladies are just there by themselves, the schools have moved off into the country and they have not too much work now and a house full of friends is a bananza for them."

Wednesday morning we were up at 4:30, breakfast at 5:00 and after half an hour of "visiting" by the coolies (that sounds better than "wrangling") we were off at 6:00. It rained and kept it up all day,- just a drizzle,- but good weather for "birds" to fly. We had 5 puo, i.e. 15 miles to go to Ding Iang, another 5 puo to Lieng Gong and another 1 ½ puo to Guang Tau on the Min river. We made Ding Iang by 11 a.m. That was on schedule, for the coolies told us they would get us to Guang Tau that nite by dark. At Ding Iang we went to a Chinese restaurant and I ordered a Chinese meal. Rice, duck's eggs, bean curd, greens. Ellen ate some. Miss Buckhout ate well. By noon we were on our way. The road was a new auto road. All thru the country these new roads have been made during the past four years. But within the year the military had dug them up,- holes four feet deep and 8 or 10 feet square. They have left about 1 or at most 2 feet on one side and not always on the same side, for a path. This is so an army can not march on the road. When it rains you might imagine how muddy and slippery it is. But there was one time one of mother's men fell into a mud hole beside the path. This hole was full of water and the water was mixed up with yellow earth. I chanced to see him just as he came up. He went all under except his head. Mother said that other coolies have been poking fun at him all day for his clumsiness. They just gave him one good laugh and went on with Mother. He went to a nearby tea house and the keeper poured water over him and had to actually scrape the mud off from neck to feet. One of my men fell and in trying to keep the chair right side up another man sank into the mud up to his knees. He had to be helped to pull his foot out. At 5:00 p.m. we were at Lieng Gong and 5 miles to go, we made it. It was dark. But our man Friday was there before us and had held the launch. He also had a supper of Hung Ang i.e. rice vermicelli on the table for us. But the launch already had its anchor up and howling for us to come on board. We had to leave the supper. At a little after 11:00 p.m. we were at the Foochow jety and at 11:55 we were in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christian. Were they surprised? They had not dreamed we could make it before Thursday nite. So we were on the go steadily from 4:30 a.m. until 1:00 a.m. Thursday. 20 ½ hours. The hour after we reached the Christian's home was not a resting hour. It rained steadily all the time. The roads were very slippery. Everyone calls the distance 35 miles. It seems humanly impossible for men to carry 90 pounds each over such a road in one day. The actual carrying time was 6:00 to 11:00 a.m. and 12:00 to 7:30 p.m. or 12 ½ hours.

And yet some people say that rice does not give strength. We had reached the end of our journey. The next morning we woke up at 9:00 o'clock. Miss Buckhout had rather a strenuous introduction to her scene of work for the next three years. But she accepted it like a hardened veteran. I think she rather enjoyed most of it. Helen Smith came down from Ing Tai and took her up with her on Sunday.

Helen H. Smith

BELIEVE it or not, this is the lady who inspired this little account book. She inspires many other things, too, such as her Wen Shan classes, student conferences and her fellow missionaries.

Thursday and Friday were pretty full of business and saying hello to lots of people. It always tires me. I told Mother we had better get out of it for a day so we lit out for dear old Kuliang on Saturday morning. It was a perfect day. Kuliang men met us half way across the plane and the trip up was very restful. After we left the city the road was full of holes to retard progress by an army. But when we struck the mountain road it was all natural. And the hills were beautiful. Just as still and majestic and green as ever. Our cottage that two of you children, - Geraldine and Kathleen were born in was much as we left it. The two kitchens have been thrown together into one large one. In the passage way also thrown into the one large kitchen. The amahs room and the passage way from the kitchen to the dining room all thrown into one large bathroom with a door opening into it from the living room. They also have an aseptic tank and cesspool so there is no more emptying of jars. Otherwise the house is much as Monnie and Kathleen left it. It is the first time I remember to have gone to Kuliang with no business to transact. We just sat on the veranda and talked, for the people came. Deliciously cooked rice, sweet potatoes, eggs and boiled water were brought to us with the lunch Mrs. Christian put we lived on the fat of the land. We did not stay long. At 4 p.m. we were home.

The Topping family left Foochow on the ship that took us down to Foochow, so we saw them in Shanghai. He told me there that the Synod had unanimously elected me as Assistant General Secretary in his place. At the next Synod meeting they put all his committee and board of manager work on to me. They were very considerate and told me that if it turned out that I went to Ing Tai at once I could still do these various jobs by coming down once a month or oftener. Then the president of the Theological School asked me to take two hours a week teaching there and also by the Treasurer. We have been here three weeks tomorrow nite. I have spoken five times thus far and have two more sermons to give next Sunday. Many asked me what we were to do when we got to Foochow. Part of the reply is in the above.

I shall remember that Kuliang trip a long time. When we got back I was relaxed and ready to sleep. But it seemed to me I must get to Ing Tai soon. There was in the air a pull to have us stay in Foochow but we had come because Ned Smith had started the call so he might go on furlough. Mrs. Smith's death had somewhat changed that, and no one seemed to know whether he wanted to go now or next spring. All seem to be looking to me to make the decision. For if he went now we would go to Ing Tai now. If next spring we would stay in Foochow until then. So on Tuesday evening we went over to Mr. and Mrs. Brewster Bingham on South Side and spent the nite and at 5:15 a.m. Wednesday we were on our way in the rain to Ing Tai. The road for three or four miles to the launch was one of the auto roads that had been dug up. It was worse than the road from Sang Du. Both Mother and I had to walk most of the two miles. We got to the launch just as it [was] starting. That nite at 5 o'clock we were in Dai Kau, six miles from Ing Tai. A student from Ing Tai and an old Foochow Colleague, now teacher, of Foochow College were there and helped us to get chairs and a Coolie to carry our belongings. About two miles on the way a man whose life we saved three years ago in Ing Tai met me with fire crackers. Before he had set them all off I told him Mother was coming behind me. He dashed back and soon I heard the crackers again. Then on he came to me again. It is impolite to ride when you are met in that way so we both got down and walked all the rest of the way. That man bare headed and bare footed, with only parts of two garments on, gripped my arm and held it as in a vice, "to keep me from falling." When he had gotten me safely over a precarious place he would run back and grip Mother in the same way. In this way we soon met some 400 students of Foochow College and Wen Shan and the Ing Tai school. What they thought of our saviour we have not yet learned. But such a reception we have never had on this earth. Lanterns and torches and fire crackers and songs, two miles long. This coupled with personal greetings from many old friends made our hearts swell. I wish you could all have peeked down from the sky and seen it. Two lines of students all in uniform, and we (with our saviour) walking between them. Lanterns, flashlights and large lights with mantles (kerosene under pressure). We'll never forget it. Every school had to give us a feast and a play. The Japanese would not have been pleased with the plays. We both spoke twice and I preached once Sunday. They hold two services with two different audiences on order to accommodate all.

We left Monday morning at 6 o'clock. Five miles down river the boat hit a rock and we pulled ashore and repaired. One half hour gone. Just as we got down over the last rapid the first gust of a typhoon struck us and took off two large pieces of the bamboo cover to our boat. Another half hour to recover. The typhoon was against us and we reached the launch landing at 2 p.m. instead of at 11 a.m. The launch had gone. By three I had secured a tow boat to take us down for $5.00. 13 of us. The boatman cooked a meal for us and we started about dark down river. At 8:30 the wind was so strong against us that we told him to tie up. At 5:30 Tuesday a.m. we started and by 10:00 a.m. we entered a customs place and as we had seen the launch coming up the river in spite of the typhoon we said we would wait for it to come down and board it for the rest of the journey. We had had no breakfast. So we went ashore and bought rice, sweet potatoes, eggs and bean curd. Just as they had started a fire on the boat to cook, our boatman announced that he had found a boat with three good oarsmen, just come from the place we wanted to go to, that would take us right over and that he would bear the expense. He would also go with us and cook our meal. We hustled our things over and soon had breakfast and lunch in one meal. My, but it was good. The wind had ceased but rain fell in torrents. But the men worked right thru, and at 2:00 p.m. we were at uang bieng the landing and it was raining suds. The chairmen were in for a harvest. One chair for two miles $1.50, three men. One for our baggage to keep it dry two men $1.00, one with 2 men, I to walk half the time $1.00. Mother got off then the baggage and I went to get into my chair. "Oh but you must have three men and give us $1.50." I started to walk and did not look around. You see I'm economical. I saved $1.50 by walking and got wet to the skin. I had a brand new pair of rubbers, bought in Honolulu, but the rain was so heavy that my feet were wet as if I had soaked them in water. But Mother and the baggage were dry and at 4:00 p.m. we were at home and I was there in time for the Synod meeting as I had told the general secretary I would be. I reported in my wet clothes and then got a bath and dry clothes and something to eat as well as drink.

This is the fourth sheet I have not mentioned the condition of things in Foochow. There have been 63 different bombings. Very few people killed and not so many wounded. The most serious damage was the complete burning of the Union High School building, the land for which I purchased and which I helped erect. The planes first machine gunned the building then dropped one ordinary bomb that struck some ten feet from the structure killing two little girls in a small house near. I saw a piece of the bomb. Then an incendiary bomb was dropped and completely destroyed the large building. The Am. Consul is demanding $30,000.00 U.S. for damages. The report is that the Seventh Day Adventists have demanded reparation and have gotten damages for all their losses. The Consul has hope that he be successful here. There have been no bombings for some months. Mails are coming thru fairly regularly. The second day we were here Aunt Mary's letter arrived, - 28 days from Derby. Geraldine came in 32 days. It had 70 cents in stamps, air mail all the way. Papers are coming somewhat regularly. Our best radio is Treasure Island [During World War II Treasure Island in San Francisco became part of the Treasure Island Naval Base, and served largely as an electronics and radio communications training school, and as the major Navy departure point for sailors in the Pacific.]. But Japanese have intercepted this and it is most impossible to get anything thru it. There are five centers with facilities to feed about 1200 people once a day. Right here in the buildings of Foochow College we are feeding 200 each afternoon. A meal costs 5 cents. In Shanghai we saw one refugee camp with about 4000 living in it. This one was supported by the Salvation army. The camps in Shanghai have been reduced from about 180 to 40 or 50. And the refugees are being taught to work to help pay their way. Business is very quiet. The only inlet and outlet is the way we came. This means over land carrying by men of about 50 miles. We met many many men carrying tea in 50 lb. boxes. And many people on foot and in chairs going to the boat enroute for Shanghai. The coolies along that route are reaping a harvest. We are getting everything we need. Flour is $15.00 instead of $3.00 a bag. But fruit and sweet potatoes and vegetables are only a little if any dearer than three years ago. Wages rickshas etc. not much changed. Rickshas are 20 cents where they were 30 cents. Exchange here is about $12.00 mex. for $1.00 U.S. We are still with the Christians. But have two servants on the string and hope to set up our own mess in a few days. We go into the Toppings house and use their things. We do not hear anything from our two boxes sent to Boston to be shipped here.

I'm sorry this machine does such bum work. I think it my fault in not being able yet to put my finger on the defect.

You are all continually in our minds. We want to hear from you. Has Hugh gone to Florida yet? It has pleased me greatly to hear how fast the barns grew red under his dexterous hands.

I must close this now and promise not to write so much at once again.

With oceans of love and prayers for you all

Father

Mr. Smith it seems to me will prefer to wait till next Spring and go home with Eunice. I left our going to Ing Tai- in this way "When you go home we will come to Ing Tai."

I think you may believe in complete victory for China about Chang Shi. But I feel it useless to write such news for you hear of it before we do and perhaps more accurately.

[This letter, dated Oct. 22, 1939, was written from Pagoda Anchorage, Foochow, China by Ellen to her children. Ellen describes the exciting attempt of a boat trip from Foochow to Pagoda Anchorage so Willard could preach there. They had a nice visit with the Gillettes. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel]

Please preserve for writer.

Ma Moi,
Ma Aing, or Pagoda Anchorage
Oct. 22", '39.

Dear Children all,

I am going to write up this trip while it is fresh in my mind,- before it is completed, in fact; for it is so difficult to remember details when it is a few weeks past.

You see where we are today by the heading above. Mr. Rinden, who has charge of the Diong Loh field, asked Father to preach in the church here today so Father wrote Dr. Gillette that we would be down Saturday (yesterday) to spend the week end with him. A gracious letter of assent, invitation and welcome came back by return mail.

Marjorie and Kathleen will remember Dr. G's place as the home in which they played "tiger" with his two younger sons when they were very small boys, and thereby gained the name "Lau hu cia" by which they were always called by the boys, ever after. The interpretation, (for the benefit of those who are not up in the Foochow dialect) is "the tiger sisters". Humorously but not uncomplimentarily applied of course.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian, with whom we are still boarding, left us to keep house for ourselves and started for Ing Tai on a vacation trip of a week, last Thursday morning. Saturday morning, (yesterday) right after breakfast, at 8:30 we closed the house and left it with the servants, took rickshas at the gate and rode over to the head of the long bridge, walked down the bund a few yards and engaged a small boat to take us down here to Pagoda Anchorage for $1.00 (according to present exchange that would be about 7 cents gold! for three persons in the crew!) But it must be explained that $1.00 here, now, means almost as much purchasing power for the Chinese as it did before exchange slumped. Will had engaged the boat of the woman member of the crew who was out on the bund seeking passengers; and when she led us to the boat, we found it a rather poor apology for a craft. It was small, very old, unpainted, leaked and had a small pung[?], that is, a cover over the seats to protect from sun or rain. I doubted if we could ever make our port in that tub. But they assured us it was entirely sea-worthy, and we started.

We had engaged, the night before, at the "Anti Cob" meeting, to pick up Dr. and Mrs. Skinner at the Fukien Christian University as we passed by, for they were also spending the weekend at Dr. Gillette's, on their way to Futsing or (Hok Ciang). We had not gone far when the wind began to rise, which convinced me that when we neared the Anchorage where the river is wider and the wind has a greater sweep, the waves would be high enough to capsize that little boat. Moreover, adding 300 lbs. more at the University would make it all the more dangerous. So when we arrived at the U. pier, I told Father I would go no further in that boat; we would hire a larger boat or I would walk the rest of the way. Only two boats were in sight and they wouldn't go.

I sat in the little boat while Father walked up to the house where Dr. and Mrs. Skinner were supposed to have staid over night. He returned saying the servants reported that there was not a foreigner anywhere on the campus. So they evidently did not come down from Foochow the night before as they planned. (You know all the schools have moved back into the country and only one foreigner to an institution is staying at the campus of each school to guard the property.) So all we could do was to go on our way and let them come by themselves.

Just then two more boats drove in sight coming down the river and our boatman called to them asking if they would take us down to Pagoda A. They replied that they were a Ma Moi boat and were going right there and would take us there for 50 cents about 4 cents U.S. currency for 4 people in the crew!!! A distance of about 7 miles! This was a much larger, better newer stronger boat, clean and painted outside and three strong women and a burly man to propel it, all of which gave me confidence and peace of mind. They battled sturdily with the wind which was against us, keeping close in the lee of the river bank to avoid the force of the waves in the open river. The clouds were dark and angry and the wind blew like a typhoon, increasing as we proceeded. For over an hour and a half they rowed and poled strenuously, then all declared repeatedly while they continued to work like beavers, that they couldn't possibly make it. Impossible! After seeing them work to the limit, for an hour and a half I agreed with them. We told them if they could land us at a place where we could get ashore without walking ankle-deep in mud, we would walk the rest of the way. A small village at the head of a cove was just ahead. Another passenger, a petty official, was as anxious to get there as we. He had been lying on the bottom of the boat at our feet covered with a Chinese bed= (thick comforter) until things got exciting then he roused, folded his bed and stood up and talked with us a little. The Chinese (men particularly) nearly always take a boat trip on a small row-boat in that way- many women also. Once settled, and the boat started, they lie down in the most comfortable spot at their disposal, and sleep!, - cover or no cover. If they are carrying a bed or a blanket with them they use it, except in the hottest weather. I have even known a man to borrow! (without request, or permission) my blanket when he had none of his own and I was not using the whole of mine. Even on a steam launch those who get there earliest will select the best places for sleeping and hold them, if they can, as the launch fills up, even tho they (the launches) are nearly always crowded to capacity of standing room.

The crew gladly headed into the cove, but it meant crossing a fiercely-wind-swept stretch of water about 500 ft. wide just inside the mouth of the cove. They got out the anchor from the depths of the hold with its length of chain and placed it on the prow of the boat ready to be slipped off in case of emergency. Then they headed the boat into the wind with "full steam ahead." All four pulled mightily at the oars, or strained powerfully at the poles. But the wind blew the boat right back and turned it half around. Again they tried, and it took a lot of yelling orders to the crew from the captain and a lot of shouting and grunting by the women straining at the oars and poles. Again the wind overpowered them and over went the anchor. After a little breathing spell and much talking shifting blame on the women to save his face, the captain attached one end of a rope, thru a hole to the prow of the boat, slipped the loop at the other end over his shoulder and jumped out into the water and walked ahead to pull the boat while the women pulled up the anchor and took to the oars and poles again with might and main. Sometimes it seemed as if the wind would surely tear the boat away from the women's hold and drag the man after it. But they made progress and he waded till the water was up to his armpits, when the worst was over and he climbed back into the boat with nearly every thread of his two garments dripping wet. But that never matters to a boat-man; he went right to work at the pole again and in a few minutes we were in quieter water and soon reached the tumbled-down stone steps to the village. The steps being missing, we had to walk a slanting 1 foot-wide plank laid from an adjoining boat to the top of the sea-wall. One of the crew walked off first (they are entirely used to such makeshifts and think nothing of it, but they were thoughtful enough to know that we were not, and planned nicely for us) and another of the crew extended one end of one of their bamboo poles to the one on the wall, and held the other end herself thus making a fairly steady hand rail for our use.

Our baggage deposited on the stone landing, the boatman helped us bargain for a load-bearer from among the crowd gathered to see the foreigners. An up-teenage boy agreed to go but after we had started his mother came running after us and took the load saying he did not know the way. We didn't, exactly certainly, either so our loadbearer was to be our guide as well, thru the rice-fields till we reached the auto road, now torn up which led straight to Ma Moi. We paid the boat-man the full-bargain price altho he took us less than half way, for we thought they had certainly earned every cash of it.

The wind blew so hard that it was difficult to stay on the narrow paths between the rice-fields. Twice it blew me off with one foot in the rice-field but the fields were being dried out for the harvesting, so I did not get a wet or muddy shoe. Several times when a hard gust came I had to stop walking and hold my grip on the path till the wind abated a bit, to keep from being blown off it. To add to the difficulties I had to keep my hand on the top of my head all the time as did Will, to keep my (and his) hat from blowing off until I finally changed the pin from the back to right thru the top of the crown and my coiffeur. That held it on.

Finally we reached the auto road which had been torn up by digging big holes from the edge of the road in toward the center, about 10 X 8 ft. and from 3 to 5 ft. deep. Most of them were nearly half full of water. The holes alternated between the two sides of the road in such a way as to leave a narrow zig-zag or serpentine path between them. Thus:- [insert sketch]

Imagine walking miles on such a road! The path left was hard and smooth and easy to walk on aside from the constant turning. After we emerged from the rice fields on to this auto road, we met many people in groups from 2 to 10 all going to the theatre in a village up river. When we passed them we had to stand on the wide spaces between the holes and wait for the line to meander over the winding path by us. There were several places where bridges had been blown up and make-shift contrivances had been placed to accommodate the foot traffic, generally a single plank or two or three small timbers bound together, some with no hand rails at all and others with very shaky and unstable ones. Whenever we came to any irregularities in the road of questionable safety, our woman leading would stop and turn around and watch me until I was safely over, the while cautioning me “kiang ho”; “maing maing”, meaning “walk carefully; slowly. But when we came to these make-shift bridges, which were from five to ten feet above the water, she would go across with her load, set it down on the ground, come back and get my bag and umbrella and take them across the Father who had crossed behind her, then come back and lead me across taking my free hand while I used the other on the handrail if there happened to be one. This was all her own idea, - I didn’t ask her to do it, but was very glad of her help in some instances. I did ask her to stop and wait, when an especially hard gust hit us right in the middle of a span, till the wind abated.

And so we arrived safe and sound and quite unwearied, after a most interesting trip throughout. Another interesting little gesture of our woman guide amused me as it showed her sense of responsibility for my safety, and also it demonstrated the Chinese innate sense of obligation on the part of the younger and stronger to care diligently for those who are aged and of gray hairs. I was wearing new rather heavy leather shoes without rubber heels, and their impact on the hard, smooth gravel path enabled our leader to keep track of me. Whenever I paused for a few seconds to take a sweeping glance at the surrounding scenery (and there was plenty of beautiful scenery well worth viewing, to do which however it was absolutely necessary to halt, as walking at all meant “watching your step”) she would stop, turn around and watch me till I started on.

Dr. Gillette did not see us approaching, and when he answered our knock, he was greatly surprised, for he said he did not think we could possibly get down the river against that wind, which he said had been blowing for three days. And of course he was interested to know how we did it.

It was then 2:30 p.m. and we had had no lunch. Father’s “inner man” spoke up and told the truth, but we told Dr. Gillette to make it an afternoon tea and not to make the cook prepare a meal. We did have an egg with our bread, butter, and cakes and Dr. took his tea with us.

Father then wanted his usual nap and I “retired” too to get out of the way so as not to hinder Dr’s hospital work. Oh, it was such a beautiful quiet, restful place overlooking the river with the varied scenery close around and the mountains across the river, and so many big trees and beautiful plants surrounding the house! Do you Marjorie and Kathleen remember it? You’ll recall that this was the missionary house that was bombed and greatly damaged and Dr. sent us photos of the wreck. Well, you would never know now that anything at all had ever happened to the place. Everything, -house, grounds, walks and furniture, has been repaired and restored just as it was before, so that there is not hint of the serious damage remaining, - except the absence of a huge banyan tree far back in the rear of the property, and two or three smaller ones which the occasional visitor would not miss from the luxuriant abundance of verdant growth.

Just before we emerged from our siesta about five o’clock, Dr. and Mrs. Skinner came in and after they had refreshed themselves, we heard the story of their journey. They had reached the bund almost an hour after we had left, and were told by the boat-men around there that we had already gone so they got a boat and started. Before they got down to the place where we started to walk, they had changed boats twice, and the third boat gave it up and landed them at the same village we disembarked at. But Mrs. S. could not walk so they had quite a time getting a chair for her, but finally succeeded and Dr. S. walked. We had a good dinner and an interesting evening of conversation together. Dr. G. gave up his bedroom to them and went down to the hospital to sleep, himself.

Sunday morning, all three men, after breakfast, went their several ways out of the house and Mrs. Skinner and I were left alone to visit together. I learned that their daughter Geraldine is way up in the north-west of China and was teaching in a gov’t. school until the place was invaded by the Japanese. She said the school had a beautiful campus and fine buildings and that Geraldine was the happiest there that she had ever been. She did not mention this but others have told me that her first husband (Chinese) deserted her and that she is now married to another Chinese teacher with whom she seems to be very happy. Lawrence is married and has one child whom I think Mrs. S. said she had not seen, born since they last visited him. Both sons are married and both are Dr’s I think.

Sunday a.m. an old church member whom Father knew called on him and told a pitiful tale of personal loss of a good job, and then everything he had by fire. He was once well to do. Father says he doesn’t see how he and his family live. We are hearing of plenty of similar tales now.

Dr. G. invited a Chinese English-speaking Dr. from the navy hospital at Ma Moi, to dinner with us Sunday noon and we sat long at the table chatting after the dinner was cleared away. After the guest had gone naps were in order- for those who sleep, while I began on this letter.

Dr. Gillette invited me to preside at the tea table for afternoon tea, which gave me something to do, the while, as I never take it. We had an early supper as the people down there have their church service in the evening on account of the bombings in the day-time. All but Mrs. Skinner went to the service. We walked down to the river and took a boat to within a short distance of the church. We found it crowded to the doors. A Bible woman conducted the service and Father preached the sermon. She seems to be doing excellent work there among the women and children. They sing the hymns remarkably well for a country place where there is no large boarding school student body to give trained leadership to the service. They read the responsive readings well and carry out all parts of the service intelligently. The Bible woman also played the organ- not perfectly.

In the midst of the service Dr. G. was called out to a case which kept him at the hospital so far into the night that we did not see him again that night, but when we got home from church we locked up the house ourselves and went to bed, for we knew he was sleeping at the hospital. The next morning we were all up at 4:30, had breakfast at 5:15 and were off for our boat a little before six, on our way home. We left the Skinners in the house still waiting for their boatman to come to take their baggage down to their boat which was to take them in the opposite direction from the way we were going. As we were walking down the hill, we met Dr. G. coming up from the hospital. He had hoped to get up in time to take breakfast with us all but slept too late as his patients kept him up so late into the night. The cases he said were two men shot by bandits and one of them had an abdominal operation and died on the operating table.

Our trip home was a smooth and comfortable and interesting one, all by rowing, as there was no wind. The boat was large and clean and was the home of twelve persons. When we boarded the boat at six o'clock, only the grandmother, father, mother, one son and one daughter and the baby were on deck. Presently a boy of five was pushed up thru the trap door in the deck floor. Then a girl of twelve popped up from the regions below; then another boy of ten, and so on till nearly the whole family was in sight. Each took to an oar as soon as they appeared and at one time there were seven people rowing at once, 4 at one oar,- the lead one,- the "wobble-tail", the sculling oar, but one of the 4 was the five-year-old, just putting his hands on the oar and learning the motion of hands and feet in rowing. Grandmother combed her hair before her mirror, then went to the lead oar but they soon excused her to give the baby his second helping of breakfast. As soon as another appeared to take their place at the oar, the father and mother successively took their breakfast of rice and sweet potatoes; but the rowing at four oars never stopped for a minute.

We passed the fine new paper mill equipped with the best modern Swiss machinery built only five or six years ago, now in partial ruins, bombed by the Japanese. A saw-mill and the old electric light plant, likewise. A new electric plant has been built so we have electric light again.

The one other passenger, a teacher took a small boat and crossed the river as he wished to land on the south side. The two miles of river just below the long bridge that used to be so full of boats of all sizes and so busy and bustling is rather quieter and less crowded now since the port is closed; still there are a good many boats anchored there and not a few small ones moving about.

We landed at the fourth or fifth hill up, not far below the bridge, found rickshas near, and were off for the city, reaching home before ten o'clock.

The whole trip was most delightful. In all the forty years of our co-residence in Fukien as missionaries, we have never had so ample an opportunity to visit with the Skinners as we had on this week-end trip. The journey down the river and the stay at the Gillett home recalled many pleasant memories of experiences and events of the days long past.

The boat trip down, was probably the most eventful and thrilling experience we have ever had on the river in all our forty-three years here, - which is probably the reason I have written it out so fully, - more to my own amusement than to yours, I fear. How old folks do like to reminisce!!

With much love to you all, - Mother.

Nov. 16. We aren't receiving your letters yet, - only two, - but we hope you'll keep on writing and they'll all come in our grand bunch come time.

And another retarded message! But it brings you another of our new stamps, so perhaps you'll welcome it if it brings no news.

[This typewritten letter dated Nov. 12, 1939 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to his children, brothers and sisters. Because of conditions in Foochow, paper is at a premium. Mr. Bishop has experienced three bombings while travelling up the Min River. Willard lists and describes his duties in Foochow. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China,
November 12th. 1939

Dear Children and Brothers and Sisters;-

Paper is at a very large premium in Foochow just now, and will be as long as present conditions prevail. I find some of the old Hospital letter heads left and am using them. Mr. Bishop now in charge of the Christian Herald Industrial work, has gone to Shanghai to buy paper. He was on the steamer which had not weighed anchor, when planes with machine guns and bombs sank about half the freight which was in small boats about the steamer. He seems to be in bombings whenever he starts anywhere. A few months ago when he was taking the boys of the orphanage to Kucheng, 100 miles up the Min River, he was in three bombings. Fortunately I brought out with me quite a supply of paper and carbon paper, so I am all right for a time. I am making three copies of this letter. One for brothers and sisters, and one for Geraldine and Dorothy, and one for Gould, Marjorie and Kathleen.

Mother and I moved into the Toppings house to sleep last Monday Nov. 6th and to eat lunch the next day. We are quite comfortable. One expression is frequently on our lips, - "When our boxes come." For almost everything we are using belongs to the Toppings. We saw them in Shanghai and they told us to do so.

I wonder if people are still asking what we find to do here. It is rather difficult to set down in order just what fills up my time but here is a leader.

1. Associate General Secretary of the Synod. This involves reading and translating all the correspondence from Boston to the synod, translating the minutes of all meetings of the Synod and preparing them to send to Boston and understanding all questions that come up regarding any part of the Evangelistic work, the Educational work the Medical work and Property. These questions are always present.

2. Teaching two periods a week in the Theological Seminary. That means an hour of travel for each period. Preparation also takes time.

3. I am a member of more than a dozen Boards of Managers and Committees, besides I must act as a member of various committees that are transient. Just the other day word came that the Provincial Government had told the Church High Schools that there were too many of them. They must be reduced. A committee of five from each of the three churches in Foochow have already sat twice (three hours each time) on this question.

4. Interviews eat up time as rust eats up iron. Saturday morning I had designs on getting a place fixed up for ten white leghorn pullets that I have engaged. Just as I was ready to go at the job in came a young man, a graduate of mine, with his Ph.D. from the U.S., to talk about his work. Two hours of the very most worth while talk. Before he was away another came to talk about his future, and before he had finished another pastor came to say that he had just come from the death bed of an earnest Christian man, a church member for many years. The present condition of the family was as low as it could be. Not a cent with which to buy the coffin, and hire bearers etc. In a case like this the only thing to do is to fork out $10.00. This is a little less than $1.00 U.S. money. Then in came a woman who said that the village of Sung A, at which the first steamer from Shanghai since the port of Foochow was closed by the Japanese last summer, landed passengers and freight, was bombed and the whole business street burned out clean. Several Church members had lost their all. What could we do to help. When we went down to the Anchorage for the Sunday, an old friend whom I had known for nearly a quarter of a century came to call on me. This is his story in a few words. When the Arsenal was burned with bombs he and his son were thrown out of employment. He had worked in the Arsenal for a long time. Just about that time his ancestral home was burned in a fire accidentally started. All his furniture, bedding etc. went up in smoke. He was in straights. I'll not burden you with more stories of this type. Just as I had this last sentence half written another man appeared with a hard luck story.

5. I have just agreed to meet a class of the refugees at 5:30 p.m. each day for, - I do not know just what to call it, - Helping them to know Christianity, I guess will be a good name for it.

There are about 1200 poor people that are caught in the distress caused by the war here in Foochow. The churches have set up six so-called Soup-Kitchens. Most of these give one good meal a day, about five o'clock. After the meal some pastor or missionary talks to them about Christianity for twenty minutes. Two hundred are fed each evening at Foochow College. I have spoken to them several times. Most of these people (all ages and both sexes) are desperately poor and illiterate. Imagine what you would get from a twenty minute talk each day from a different man each day. There are two hundred of them. I have suggested several times that there should be more intensive teaching, but no one has caught on yet, so I'll see what the power of example will do.

Day after tomorrow, Friday, I am to speak with two others at the Anti-Cobweb meeting. I shall tell some of the most interesting experiences of our trip home in 1936. This is evidently meeting a need here in Foochow for the Anti-Cob is going strong. Business men that did not used to come are now in it and the meetings are well attended.

While I have been writing our former coolie's letter came in telling us that he would be here from Shaowu in a few days, - as soon as possible. So we are now all set with a cook and a coolie. Just as I was looking at his letter another applicant brought a letter of recommendation as coolie.

My mind keeps running back to Century Farm. The last we heard from any of you was Geraldine's letter that came a few days after we arrived. Bessie's calf must be nearly a cow by this time. There must be another nest of kittens. What few apples there were are gathered. No corn to pick, no potatoes to dig. Margaret is "putting the cows ON the barn" every nite now. In the minutes of one of my committees which I gave to my teacher to mimeograph the other day, I spelled Night as above. He was reading the minutes over and pointed to that word, - "That is spelled wrong". Stanley is still driving up for a week end. I wonder if Gould has learned the way yet. There are five or six private autos in Foochow, business men and missionaries own them. Gasoline costs $26.00 a tin of five gallons.

Our two boxes are somewhere. That is all I can say about them except to add that we would like them. It is getting cold weather and the people who own the bedding we are sleeping under may want the blankets. We want to hear where Monnie is this winter. Also what Nancy is doing and how Ruth enjoys Holyoke. Stephen is of course getting as much of a kick out of Yale as he did last year. I have finished the Autobiography of William Lion Phelps. It is astonishing how many men and women of letters he knew. I am now reading Jack London. I hope the mails will get loosened up soon. For I think there must be a jam somewhere.

There is lots of thought and love going out to you all from Foochow,
Father

[This typewritten letter dated Dec. 2, 1939 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to his children, brothers and sisters back in the U.S. They are having many sirens sounding to alert for possible aerial bombers. Willard experiences one while writing the letter. He belongs to a cooperative store for the purpose of obtaining items that are difficult to get at the present time. Willard attended a wedding and the reception was similar to an American one. Prices are high on rice and wood. Letter donated to Yale in 2006 by Cynthia Elmer Amend.]

Foochow, China, December 2nd. 1939.

Dear Gould and Jinny, Hazel, Willard; Geraldine; Dot and Harold and Monnie; Kathleen and Hugh, Jacqueline and Cynthia;-
Oliver and Annie; Ben and Abbie, Wells, Dan and Beatrice, Dannie
And Beverly; Phebe and Mary; Stanley, Myra, Nancy, Stephen and Ruth

You people run around so much I hardly know how to send the five copies. So I will ask that they be thus used;-

- 1 copy for Gould family to be sent to Stanley and family
- 1 coy to Phebe and Mary for Oliver and Annie
- 1 copy to Ben for & family.
- 1 copy to Phebe & Mary to be remailed to Kathleen

If this is not the best or most convenient disposal just let me know and I will follow your suggestions.

The Annual Meeting of the Synod took place Dec. 22 to 29 [He probably meant Nov. 22 to 29 since he was writing the letter on Dec. 2.] It was a small meeting compared with some years previous but it was a good meeting. The spirit was good, and the Chinese, specially the younger men are coming into leadership in a way that is good to see. One hour was given each day to the discussion of "Worship". You would have been interested in hearing the Chinese discuss the church furniture and the shape of the church. Where should the pulpit be placed? They decided that the church should be rectangular and the pulpit at one end. Should there be a cross in the church? Shall we copy the Episcopal church in the furniture? This brought a rather definite No. But there was a decided set toward a more decorative interior for the church. One room was arranged and decorated and reserved for worship ONLY. There is a memorial service for those of the church who have died during the year. The question was asked whether this could be held in the room set apart for worship. This shows how strict were the rules for the use of this room. The last service was a communion service. The two officiating pastors were dressed in gowns and stoles. The service was rather elaborate and was followed or rather closed with a candle light service. This was very elaborate, and it was effective.

The siren has just sounded or groaned, but I hear no plane. Yesterday we saw one plane, the first in a month. It only flew over and off. I bought 5366 lbs of wood yesterday. I paid $1.05 for 100 lbs. How would you girls, Phebe and Mary like to pay that for your wood? We are eating the most delicious persimmons, the winter variety. Ned Smith sends them down from Ing tai. He brought down with him when he came for Annual Synod meeting over 400 lbs. I distributed them for him. He wrote that when he got home he found another 400 lbs. I have written him to send them down. I will put them in our Co-operative store. There are about 80 persons in this Co-opt. Chinese, British, American. We are making money too. Thus far some of the people, both Chinese and Foreign have "kept store" from 4 to 5 p.m. four days in a week but at the last meeting we voted to engage a store keeper. And we look to renting a store soon. The society has been running ten months. Last Monday evening they distributed dividends. They have about $1000.00 to their credit in the bank. The idea is to supply articles that it is difficult to get at present. They have sugar, soap, vinegar (I found a pint bottle the other day after much searching, for $2.50. The Co-opt sells it for 75 Cents) carbon paper, corn starch, candy, quinine, flavors, etc. We pay $1.00 membership and invest as much as we like. (The siren says no trouble this time)

We find that we did not put in any teaspoons and only two serving spoons. It is rather difficult to find these here. I think ours are in the trunk in the room over the kitchen. I think I left the key with Phebe and Mary. Will you please see if you can find teaspoons, send all there are. One gravy ladel, one berry spoon and if you find two soup spoons there, do not send them. If there is only one carving set do not send it. Do not send the steel. Send them by mail. They will be likely to reach us some time. Our two boxes are somewhere, I hope. We do not yet know where.

This evening we attended the 70th birthday b-fast for Bishop Gowdy- we were the only ones not Meth. there.
December 14th.

This date shows my slowness in writing letters. Since the Annual Meeting of the Synod committees have been thick. One day I sat in committee from 9:00 a.m. till dark. Three different ones. Sunday I went to church here, then went up to the northern part of the city to see a poor family. I found the man 70 yrs. old, his wife and a son 11 yrs. They have two sons and a daughter in school, at Ing Tai and Mintsing, in Christian schools. Some one is supporting these three. The man was in government till the Japanese took Mukden in '31 was it? He was then thrown out of work and came back to Foochow his home and being so old he could not find employment and lived off what he had laid up. He got on fairly well till the war came on. He is now down and out. His wife is working on embroidery work and earns about $2.00 a week. This of course will not keep the family alive. I have known of their plight for more than a month. But it is just as well to not rush into such conditions too fast. The same story has come to me from different angles and I am convinced that the need is real. I promised them Sunday that I would see them thru. This is just the conditions that I have been waiting for before spending the money that several persons gave me. This amounts to something over $30.00 U.S. It amounts to over $300.00 mex. This will help the family to help themselves for the next two years.

After this visit I came home and took a nap and went to a church in the suburbs to preach in church that has just called a preacher but he has not yet come. After that I went to a wedding feast. The ceremony was held in the Y.M.C.A. and the bride was the daughter of a man who joined the church twenty years ago but who took a second wife and thus cancelled his church membership. He has not severed his connection with the church. As long as we were in Foochow Mother and I had supper with him once a year. And he wanted me to attend his daughter's wedding feast. 16 tables, 160 people. The bride sat next to her husband. She had changed her dress and wore a red dress at the feast. She had a boy's cut on her hair and talked and laughed as an American bride. At the proper time she took a pitcher of wine her husband a wine cup and they went the round of the tables. She poured wine in his cup and all at the table filled their cups and drank together. When they came to our table I had my cup upside down. I took it up, but he said I must drink wine. At last he accepted my refusal. Soon however they returned with two tea cups. He gave me one and she filled both and I drank. He was satisfied. After they had gone the rounds, 16 tables, 16 cups of wine he could still walk straight, he came over to me and had quite a chat, very pleasantly. I told him my father told his sons they must not use wine or tobacco til they were 21 and then they did not care to. As we left he was at the entrance with his bride and there told me he was sending his best wishes to my country and I was to tell them we had greatly helped China and I must take his thanks with me to America.

This is Sunday morning, Dec. 17th. 1939.

A letter came from Phebe the day I began this and another a few days ago. A letter also from Mr. and Mrs. Topping. They are at home now but I expect in the west. I judge Mary is finding the work as president of the Woman's Missionary Society some job. I'm glad she has it and I know she is making good.

I have just returned from church. I intended to go half an hours trip to Ma Puo. But just as I started the siren sounded and I had to go to Lau Memorial where I could go without going into the streets. Just before pastor Lu (one of the boys whom the King's Daughters helped to educate) began his sermon we heard the planes. When the noise from the planes was so great he could not be heard, he stopped and said, - "If any one wishes to leave feel perfectly free to do so. Only do not go into the open." I saw five persons leave. They soon came back. Pastor Lu stood perfectly still. The planes seemed right over the church and within a few hundred feet above us. When they had receded he went on with the service, and never once referred to the planes. After the service I went to him and told him I was proud of the way he conducted himself, he thanked me and said from the first, when the bombing was severe he had never changed the time or place of the service. You may read this to the King's Daughters if you like.

There is no coal of any kind, except charcoal, to be had in Foochow and those who are dependent on coal to keep warm are wondering. We have never burned coal, - perhaps a ton in all the years so we are not disturbed. I bought more wood this past week and have 12,000 lbs. or 6 tons on hand. I am letting a poor man and his wife saw it and split it so they may keep alive.

At its last meeting the Synod voted to give the pastors and preachers and others who are in church work two extra months help for 1939,- about $2000.00 mex. and $4000.00 extra for 1940. The church members are as hard hit as the pastors, and the only things to do seemed to be to ask the Board to make an extra grant of these sums. The Board has no money and to me it was like asking a hen for an ostrich egg. To save the situation I gave them my check for $100.00 on the Birmingham National Bank. This amounted to $1175.00 mex. I am considering asking the Booth brothers for a few hundred. Rice is now $26.00 a load of 160 lbs. It is normally about $10.00 Wood has more than doubled in price and other necessities have increased some five some six times. The pastors that are in self-supporting churches where they have just about made the ends meet are very hard hit now. One of the pastors lives in the Upper Bridge village. This was bombed since we arrived. One bomb was dropped on the house next to the church and the stone fell on his church and the roof was badly torn. Some of the members were badly destroyed and his income is nearly nil. I gave him $5.00 the other day to tide his family over till something could be done.

The other day I went with a pastor one of our students of years ago to call on a man 76 years old. He says he will not be with us very long, and he wants to talk about plans for the "future". He is a bachelor. His brother's son was given to him as a son. This son is a graduate of Foochow College. He is now in south Fukien in the Post Office. The old man's brother is dead. The wife is an idolater. She declared the old man who has been a Christian and a faithful worker for forty years, must have a heathen funeral. We went to persuade her to allow a Christian funeral. She said the old man has no burial place no coffin. We had talked these affairs all over with the man before we saw her. The pastor promised to see about burial in our Christian cemetery and promised to see about the purchase of a coffin at once. There were four adults before us who belonged to the family and they agreed that there should be a Christian funeral. I never before talked so freely with anyone about their death as with this man. It was as if he was planning to go to America. We left after a prayer with the man carrying light hearts.

I hope you all had a merry Christmas and Happy New Year and that the peace of God will be apparent in your lives all the year.

Lots of love to each,
Father

[The following is handwritten.]

We discussed the style of coffin. Chinese or foreign. The deciding factor was- a foreign coffin requires immediate interment. He said interment must [wait] till his adopted son could be present.

M.B. - The 25 cents ?? there'll be a 5 X on the Messenger soon.

[This letter, dated December 28, 1939, was written from Foochow, China by Willard to David and Stephen Booth. Willard tells them of the dire food conditions in China and is asking American friends to help financially if they would like. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Willard L. Beard

December 28th. 1939.

Messrs. David and Stephen Booth
Stratford Conn., U.S.A.

Dear Messrs. Booth:-

It is quite a change from your Easter Morning Service in 1938, with its quiet and comfort and safety and well ordered program, to the service I attended here a few days ago. I had planned to attend a church half an hour away. But just as I was leaving the house the siren sounded telling all people that an enemy plane had been sighted. This meant no one on the street till the "all's well" sounded, - about an hour. I have been caught on the street in this way. I waited in a shop for an hour.

So I attended the church near my house without going on the street. Just before the sermon began three bombers (so I was told) were heard coming right over the church. The pastor's voice was no match for the noise of three bombers only a few hundred feet over his head. He said calmly, - "Anyone is free to leave, only do not go into the open." One woman with four children left to return soon. He stood perfectly still until the sound of the planes died out, then went on with the service, never mentioning the planes. The audience seemed not in the least perturbed. He was one of my graduates fifteen years ago and I told him I was proud of him. A few months ago this enemy's plane dropped a bomb on a building ten rods from where we sat that morning. That morning no bombs were dropped.

This is the third year of the "undeclared war". Possibly bombs are not its worst feature. They kill few soldiers, and comparatively few civilians. They destroy property and stop business. They make a lot of people hungry and poor and destitute. The military significance of these bombings is almost nil. It is estimated that in a city 30 miles from here, the Japanese spent $75,000.00 to kill five people and destroy five buildings.

The churches in Foochow, with money from the U.S. and contributed locally by both Chinese and foreigners, are giving one square meal a day to about 1200 destitute. Mrs. Beard and I are trying to keep three families from starving. Rice which every Chinese eats three times a day if he can get it, has risen in price from $10 to $30 for 160 lbs. Wood the same. Wheat flour from $3.00 to $18.00 for 48 lbs. Sugar from 23 cents to 85 cents per lb. Two months ago the meals we give to the 1200 cost 5 cents now 7 cents and they are inferior. This high cost of living is falling heavily on the workers in the church. Specially is this true of the pastors in self-supporting churches. Their expenses are more than doubled and the ability of the members to pay their subscriptions is going the other way. Their business is shot and their living expenses are mounting. Imports and exports with Shanghai are nearly at a standstill. Hospitals have to send men to Shanghai to personally buy and convey to Foochow the drugs they need. Fukien province is still free. The Japanese gunboats at the mouth of the Min river. Foochow is forty miles up this river.

The other day the Synod discussed ways and means of helping these Chinese workers. We had been helping the destitute regardless of whether or [not] they were Christians and forgetting that some of those who were doing the actual work of cooking the rice and distributing it to the poor were themselves getting pretty hard up.

We voted to ask some of our friends in America to help in this emergency. We ask for $2000.00 Mexican or $200.00 U.S. currency for 1939 and $4000.00 or $400.00 U.S. for 1940. But people have to live and cannot wait for a letter to go to America and the reply to come, so I have advanced $100.00 U.S. which brought $1140.00 Mex., to tide over.

I was struck on Easter 1938 with your novel method of giving money to those who came to the service. Here people pay to come to church, and then they pay to help the destitute. Money is continually coming to me for buying rice for that 1200. The Chinese send it.

I am not asking my friends at home to give to help these needy church workers, but I am trying to let them know the facts and give them the privilege of giving if they want to do so. I am also telling them that their private check sent to me is just as good as a draft on New York, or that a check sent to my brother Oliver G. Beard, 135 Beechwood Ave., Bridgeport, Conn., or my sister Mary L. Beard, Century Farm, Shelton, Conn. will forward to me at once any money sent to them for this use.

Mrs. Beard and I left Shelton August 11th, 1939. All went as usual til we got to Shanghai. We expected a hard time of it to get over the 500 miles to Foochow and we had no idea how to do it till we disembarked at Shanghai. We found one steamer had made one trip to a place 60 miles north of Foochow and we booked on her.

When we stole into the little port of Sangdu we knew there were nine J. gunboats at the mouth of the river Min. We made the trip, overland in two days, in sedan chairs. Got into Foochow at 11:55 the second nite and have been trying to do a full days work each day since.

We hope you have had a Merry Christmas and are now having a Happy New Year that will last till 1941.

Very sincerely yours

[unsigned copy of original letter]

姜陳淑英平安：
六月廿八号由郵宏傳手寄來面粉壹包 22.7 ^{Kilogram} 公斤生
油壹公斤白米伍公斤于七月十五号由僑貨倉
都已收清請勿念餘言后陳即祝全家健康
林茂德手復
七月十六号

Written on envelope: "This letter and stamp from China acknowledges money and oil and food rec'd".

九龍山林道2号地下
姜陳淑英先生收

福州青圃鄉林寄

Possibly from 1939.
[From the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Written on back of photo: "Orphans at play on the campus. We had 80 here for vacation this winter and San Muoi was "pater". The relief work grows as the poverty and suffering increase. They drift in almost daily – 150 now here. Ned"

Ingtau 1938.

Written on back of photo: "Attacking the Ing Hok hill. "Every mountain shall be laid low.""
[In Ned's handwriting]

Written on back of photo: "We too have rabbits, and orphans. These two were begging."
[In Ned's handwriting about 1937-38- Ing Tai]

FOOCHOW MISSION MISSIONARIES

First row (left to right): Mrs. Christian, Lucy Lanktree, Martha Wiley, Susan Armstrong, Laura Ward, Lois Topping, Mrs. Newell, Mrs. Smith (died July, 1939), Mrs. Topping. Second row: George M. Newell, Hazel Atwood, Mrs. Bingham, Alice Tapley, William H. Topping, Charles L. Gillette, Edward H. Smith, Helen Smith, Albert Faurot. Back row: Brewster Bingham, Arthur O. Rinden, Leonard J. Christian.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Walter Smith, who sail in August (1940) to Foochow, will fill the pastor's chair. The Smiths are to be the missionaries of the First Congregational Church, Worcester, Massachusetts, and Mr. Smith was ordained in this church in June (1940). Miss Mary F. Buckhout's is the third picture. She arrived in Foochow in September 1939, and filled the teacher's chair. Miss Buckhout is the missionary of the church at South Hadley, Massachusetts.

[From the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

We're sending this with our best wishes hoping it will reach you some time.

It will be too late to wish that the Christmas-tide and the New Year will be joyous and happy for you, but most of the year is ahead and this brings our best wishes that success and joy and happiness will be yours thruout the year.

—W. L. and E. L. K. Beard

Undated Christmas Greetings from Willard and Ellen 1940

- Willard's brother, Oliver Gould Beard, Jr. dies in February
- Willard and Ellen move from Foochow to Ing Tai in late April to replace Ned Smith
- Marjorie Beard and Ralph Butt marry August 31, 1940 in St. John's, Newfoundland, Canada and move to Davis Inlet, Canada
- Kathleen and Hugh are living in Savannah, Georgia
- Geraldine is in Chicago, Illinois
- Gould and Virginia are in La Grange, Illinois
- Japan has control of China
- Hitler invades Norway, Denmark, Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and France
- NBC first broadcasts
- Willard is 75, Ellen- 72, Gould- 44, Geraldine- 42, Dorothy- 39, Marjorie- 34, Kathleen- 32.

[This typewritten letter, dated January 4, 1940, was written from Foochow, China by Willard to his relatives. He reviews their activities for the past couple of weeks. They sang carols at the Anti-Cobweb meeting and gave some rice to the rice kitchen as a Christmas gift. He will be going to Diong Loh next week. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Foochow, China.
January, 4th. 1940

Dear Children, Grandchildren, Brothers, Sisters, Nephew and Nieces;-

This is a brief letter to accompany the copy of a letter I have written to the Booth Brothers in Stratford [see letter dated December 28, 1939.]. Do not take this to yourselves. It is for the Booths and I thought there was some news in it that would interest you and save me some time.

The first item of interest to you and to us is that we would like letters. Our "received" letters since Dec. 1st are from Aunt Phebe Dec. 2nd and 10th and from Topping and Alice Emery.

On Dec. 19th Mother and I went down to the university to spend the nite with Dr. (Ph.D.) Sutton. He is the one member of the Faculty delegated to stay at the plant to watch it. He is teaching Ceramics and engrossed in the subject. It was interesting to look at the clays he was experimenting with and to see the different models he was making. I am trying to get Mother to decorate a tile and have him burn it. We saw Miss Eunice Thomas' new house that she built for herself and had to leave because of the war. The poor buildings cry out for inhabitants. The F.C.U. is now in Shaowu.

On Dec. 17th some 20 Anti-cobites sang Carols for our Christmas entertainment. The Carols were interspersed with readings. The stage was prettily decorated with bamboo, large ferns and poinsettias. The conductor was Frances Bingham nee Frances Beach whom I baptized thirty and more years ago here in Foochow.

To be sure of some work to do I have taken on a daily class in the Elements of Christianity. I chose a dozen of the refugees in the rice kitchen nearest us and each afternoon at 5:00 I meet them. They are progressing very satisfactorily. I was afraid some of them would get tired after a time and leave. But the class grows with no urging and the interest keeps up.

My ten pullets are doing very well. One day five eggs, today three.

For a Christmas present to the 200 who eat at the rice kitchen in Foochow College I gave four bags of rice. This made 2 cing or about four lbs. each. The rice cost me $90.00 mex. There were 640 lbs. of the rice.

For more than a month now we have had delightful weather, to make up for the dismal weather in October and November. The sun is big and bright a every day. The ther. drops to about 44 each nite and now at 4:30 p.m. it is 58 warmer than usual. But with no fire the tops of my fingers get cold and I have to stop and rub them occasionally.

Two weeks ago Ned Munson died in Kunmin, Kueichow province. It was sudden and not expected so soon. We all knew he was far from well. High blood pressure and trouble with his stomach. He was on a very strict diet. I knew he was planning an extensive trip over West and Northwest China. He talked of this when I saw him in Shanghai in September. He and Clara had started on this trip. She was to stay in Hong Kong. She received word of his death in Hong Kong, while she was there.

Next week we shall plan to go to Diong Loh for six or seven days. I am to take two hours a day in their tings[?]. Mother has not decided whether she can get away or not. We have to travel by nite. Some river launches are going by day but most are still moving at nite. When we went to F.C.U. we met three launches crowded coming up. One had just begun to go from Foochow to the Anchorage twice a day. In Foochow the streets are beginning to assume normalcy. The stores are opening and business is picking up a bit.

Last Sunday I was at Chong Ha 10 miles in the country. It was cold but I kept warm with a lot of clothing. I found half a dozen retired men with big families (one had 6 children with him and 3 in school away from home. They had lost 7. How is that ? One man had built himself a house for $15,000.00, a beauty. A high wall surrounded his property of 2 acres, which was planted to orange trees. This year is selling them for 25 cents a lb. The wife of the preacher was very ill. I could hear her groan all nite. We'll likely go to Ing Tai for their Annual Meeting about Fe. 12. May God continue his loving care to us all with love Will

[This letter, dated Jan. 22, 1940, was written from Foochow, China by Ellen to her children. The mail service has been extremely slow. She tells them what letters she has received and would like to know the latest news on her children and grandchildren. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Extra. - last.

Foochow, Jan 22", '40.

Dearest Children all,

Can it be that you all are writing occasionally and yet we do not hear anything from you?

We know the mails are held up somewhere unconscionable. The postal service here is in a terrible muddle and apparently nothing is being done about it. We get our Shanghai papers- after a while, Dec. 23" being the last arrival, and letters come thru from these and other points in China slowly. Our American magazines have not come yet with the exception of one Reader's Digest, the Nov. No.

Yesterday a letter came from the Board rooms mailed Oct. 28"- lacking only 7 days of being 3 months on the way. In the same mail I received a letter from the Shelton missionary society mailed Oct. 26". As nearly as I can remember all the letters we have received from our relatives since we arrived are as follows:-

Marjorie's Airplane letter received at Honolulu, Thank you, Marjorie.

Geraldine's letter after we arrived here, Thank you, Geraldine.

Virginia's letter, received five weeks ago, Thank you, Virginia.

Etta wrote answering my letter about our visit at Honolulu.

Mary wrote two letters to Father

Phebe wrote one letter to Father.

Jacqueline sent Grandma a picture scrap book all filled by herself for Christmas. Thank you, Jacqueline.
I think that is all we have received from relatives. I will write you a thank you letter soon.

I don't know how many of our letters you are receiving but think they reach their destination more speedily going that way than coming this way.

Well, keep on writing and we'll get a big bunch of letters some time.

How about Marjorie's affairs.

" " Kathleen's "
" " Dorothy's Eastern Star.
" " Gould's whereabouts.
" " Geraldine's position.
" " Hazel's progress.
" " Willard's snakes!

How about Hugh's position in Jacksonville? How about Jacqueline, and how about my little Cynthia? More in my next to tell you what I'm doing. Much love to all,

Mother.

[This typewritten letter, dated January 25, 1940, was written from Foochow, China by Willard to many members of his family in the U.S. They have a lot of vegetables and fruit. They received a shipment Willard sent from Shelton in 1939- five months later. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Foochow, China, January, 25th. 1940.

Dear Folks;-

This goes in envelopes addressed to;- Mr. & Mrs. M. Gould Beard, Miss Geraldine Beard, Mr. & Mrs. Oliver G. Beard, Misses Phebe & Mary Beard, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Beard, Miss Emma & Mr. Elbert Kinney.

For six weeks we have ideal weather. The mercury has been in the 50's most of the time. It drops to 34 once in a while but the days are bright and occasionally we get a warm one in the upper 50's. The past two nights there was a heavy frost. This morning the roofs were all white, but the air crisp and clear. We are well fixed for the cold. I found an all-Chinese hot-water bottle, metal, with no corner, with the hole in the top, a screw with the handle on it holding about two quarts. It's a dandy. In the morning it is still quite warm. Then I found [a] large brass fire basket. It is nearly a foot in diameter. The boy puts a charcoal fire in it about 8:30 p.m. and it is so hot all nite that I can not put my hand on it. This sits in the bathroom all nite and in the morning the temperature is quite different from that outside. Then we have the bamboo hot water basket with cotton lining that keeps the water so hot we cannot hold our hands in it in the morning. In the dining room we have a cunning little stove that is very economical and keeps one room warm all day.

For food we are living high. This is the season for vegetables and fruit. The Chinese are getting to eat tomatoes and it is evident that the gardeners all about raised a lot of them last year. There are bushels of them in many stores. The gardeners pick them green and put them in glass jars, and they ripen well. If they want to hurry the ripening they put them down in rice. I suppose wheat would do just as well. They are nice and red in about three or 4 days. Celery, carrots, lettuce, beets, kohlrabi, turnips, sweet corn till two weeks ago, green peas, DELICIOUS, spinach, Chinese cabbage, bamboo sprouts, bean sprouts, lima beans, tomatoes, squash. For fruit oranges and tangerines, pumelo, hung gek (like grape fruit), bananas, persimmons. [Ellen adds in handwriting: Cauliflower Delicious!! For 9 cts. Chinese money or 7 mills in American money!!!] One bag of flour lasted from October 8th till now and there is a lot (almost a half of it) left yet. I guess it pays to deal it out. At $18.00 a bag of 48 lbs. we do not feed the servants on it, - not very much.

January 9th. I started for Pagoda with Arthur Rinden in a sail boat. It was after dark when we arrived. Spent the night with Dr. Gillette. The next morning Arthur and I looked at a recent purchase there for a church. The building is of reinforced concrete about 36 by 75 feet. Two stories, cost over $10,000.00 mex. Bombings a year ago spoiled the village and the owners wanted to sell. It was built for a hotel. We paid a little over $3000.00. The old church was too small. I preached there once since returning and every foot of standing room was occupied and people could not crowd into the door. The next day Dr. Gillette took us over to Diong Loh in his launch. The Quarterly Meeting of the station began that night and continued till the next Tuesday night. I had an hour each day of Bible Study and an address in the evening. One day I committed [Ellen clarifies: Performed Ceremony] a wedding off in the country 8 miles. A preacher and I went, starting after breakfast and getting back at dark. It was a perfect day. The host paid for our chairs $11.50. Incidentally the high price of rice is good for the farmers. They can afford to get married. On the way out I counted 200 cattle. It is rich farming region. One day I was walking on the street of Diong Loh and stopped to say hello to a cloth merchant, a member and an earnest one. I saw in his show case some LUX soap. I asked the price, 40 cents a cake. I bought a cake. The next day I told him at church I was coming to get some more. I went and asked if I could buy 6 cakes, telling him I had no change and asked if he could change a $10 bill. "O yes, come out here." We went to the door and he gave me back the bill and said he had not the pleasure of asking me to dinner and he wanted to give me the 6 cakes of soap. I had to take them. Miss Ward went into his shop to buy silk for a dress. She selected the pattern. He told the clerk to cut it off and give it to her. She had to accept it. The meetings were very good. Interest was sustained to the end of the last session. The spirit was very good. I got on the launch for Foochow at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday Jan. 17. I sat till 5 p.m. Then 75 recruits for the army were steered aboard and we sailed. All the launches are burning wood now. Coal is $54.00 per ton. And almost impossible to get. I reached home at 8:30.

My hens have produced 120 eggs thus far since Jan. 1st. 9 is the most in one day. They are worth 8 cents apiece.

The two boxes I started from Shelton of August 8th, 1939 arrived here Jan. 6th. Mother did not glow with pleasure as she unpacked, - not those two boxes but NINE small boxes into which her beautiful packing had been stuffed. But everything was there as far as we could see. And nothing was broken, it was MUSSED. But the charges!! Here's the bill, -

To coolie hire on 9 packages Personal effects Santuao to Foochow	$63.64
“ extra coolie hire on the above for quick delivery !!!	24.30
“ “ “ on one big c/	3.78
“ 5 station charges at 20 cents per case	1.80
“ charges on repacking	4.10
“ Godown rent, coolie hire and literage	7.00
“ Wharfage	.10
“ passing customs fee	5.00
	$109.72

I paid the bill and it is in my possession receipted "Rec'd Pay't with thanks". I'll try to keep it for a relic. Two observations, - 1. the "quick delivery". It took from Dec. 17 to Jan 6. Our three trunks and numerous small packages came down over the very same road last Sept. in four days. I had three times the weight and it cost me about $60.00. 2. The "extra coolie on 1 big c/. $3.78." This case weighed 56 lbs. The "extra coolie" was for the 6 lbs. Well when you put the amount into U.S. at $11.40, it is not so bad.

Another beautiful day, ther. 41 in my study.

Last Sunday I preached in the Stone Church, British Church, now renamed St. John's. The Church Missionary Society has a new Bishop, - a young man unmarried, with new ideas. The audiences have quite increased. Several of the business men are now attending. Bishop Hind was away, Mrs. Hind phoned Friday and asked if she could send her care for us and if we would ride home in it also. We accepted. They have a nice little car the size of an Austin, - a Singer. They also have a fine young Chinese man as chauffeur. Next Sunday I am to preach at the Lau Memorial, the large church near here. This church gave as a thank offering for the poor $530.00 a month ago. They also voted to give the pastor a bonus of two months salary for the increased cost of living. The pastor, one of the boys the Kings Daughters helped to get an education, is a hustler. He came to me the other day and asked for one hour a week when he could come and talk over his plans [plans?] and his problems. I gave it to him altho I do not know what other work it will cut out. They are inducting the new church officers for this year next Sunday and he wants me to preach.

"The poor ye have always with you." This is just as true here today as it was 1940 years ago. I am trying to give rice to six families. It is hard to find it, the government has cornered it and is holding it for a big price. I have just found 1200 lbs of unhulled rice for my chickens, $21.00. I have about 10 lbs of food rice on hand. When the hungry come I do not know what I shall do. I still hope and may find some somewhere. Love to all. [Willard]

[This typewritten letter dated Jan. 30, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Pastor Iu Soi Ling to Friends regarding the finances of the church. Letter donated to Yale in 2006 by Cynthia Elmer Amend.]

But whose hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? I John 3:17

Lau Memorial Church
Church of Christ in China,
Foochow, China
Jan. 30, 1940.

Dear Friends:

I am very glad to send you this brief report about the local charity fund to help the poor in Foochow.

This Church is a self-supporting church of the Church of Christ in China. It is located at Guang Heang near Foochow College. The church compound is quite big and safe, and therefore during every air raid the neighbors and the members take shelter in the compound.

The members of the church committee have felt very much concerned about the hardship of the present community. What can they do for those who need help, and how can they show the christian spirit?

On July 1939 the Church sent out circulars to its members, telling them about the condition here and begging them to send some money to help the poor and the refugees.

In response to the request for help on of the church members gave a donation of one hundred eighty dollars (local currency) to the church. The member did not hold his birthday celebration in order to save this fund for the donation. Within a month the amount of $317.00 came from out local members. Then a sum of $332.00 was received from two members in Java. Last Christmas fund from church members and a few missionaries in our Synod also made a good sum of $563.00. Even the poor members who need our help, were willing to send in ten cents for their contribution. A poor old woman said, "As I am poor, I need help, but I should like to claim a fair share of the church work." Indeed, her conduct reflected the true Christian spirit.

God, our Heavenly Father does take utmost care of us, and gives us the opportunity to do what we can during the serious condition.

Now, let me say a few words again to show you the items in the program and the payment of the church. The items in the program of the church are: To do the sort of work (a) Suggested by the contributor. (b) By the investigation by our pastor. (c) To express deep sympathy with the poor in their hopes. In accordance with the said program the church has afforded its members the following facilities:

(a) Loan fund. Any church member who needs some money may borrow ten or fifteen dollars from the church treasury. The debtors will return one tenth after every ten days.

(b) Rice-kitchen. 37 members have been given one meal per day, since last August. There is one meal every afternoon at 5:30 O'clock. At present rice is very expensive about $35.00 per picul 160 chinese catties. It is three times as expensive as last July. The children will study on hour and the women have a Bible Class.

(c) Miscellaneous Aids. Sums on money have been set apart for medicine, scholarships, clothing, and some other special needs.

Here is the total of the local charity fund in the year of 1939:

Items	Received	Paid	Balance
Loan Fund	$205.00	$102.00	$103.00
Charity Fund	702.00	494.00	208.00
Christmas Fund	563.00	529.00	34.00
Total	$1470.00	$1125.00	$345.00

As you have been earnest in Christian work and have already given much help to make our work possible, I do myself the honor to give you this brief report and to ask your further advice and prayer for the success of the charitable institution so that from this church the light of Christ will continually and increasingly shine forth upon this dark world!

Sincerely Yours,

Iu Soi Ling
[Signature]
Pastor of Lau Memorial Church

[This letter, dated February 25, 1940, was written from Foochow, China by Willard to many family members back in the U.S. He tells about the success of his egg laying chickens. Rice is hard to come by. Willard tells the family that they could send clothing for the children in Ing Tai. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Fukien Christian Council
Treasurer
Church of Christ Office
Foochow, China

February 25th. 1940.

Dear Gould, Virginia, Hazel and Willard;
Geraldine; Dorothy, Harold and Marjorie;
Phebe, Mary; Oliver and Annie;
Stanley and Myra;
Emma, Elbert; Ben, Abbie;-

This makes five copies and I am addressing the letters to the first name in each line, asking that one to forward to the others in the same line.

The last letter from any of our own came of Feb. 6th mailed by Monnie November 7th. We are beginning to think there is a stopping place on the way somewhere. I hope our letters get thru. It is too much work and costs too much to send letters from this side to have them intercepted.

The hens are doing well. I have just been for the eggs and counting the six they produced today they have given us 176 this month. That is a little better than 7 per day. The day that I left for Ing Tai the cook's little boy was here and left for home. The cook was in charge of the hens while I was away. The hens laid THREE that day. I do not remember whether I wrote of my success in breaking up a setter. I put about two inches of water in a big jar and put the hen in the water and shut her in there from about 8:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. for three successive days. As the Chinese say "she woke up."

Feb. 13th. Miss Laura Ward and I started for Ing Tai. It was a very fine, warm day. We got to Dai Kau at 4:45 p.m. About six miles to walk. At seven we were there. It was a good stiff walk for me, specially as I had walked nearly three miles in the morning over a good auto road that had been dug up to make it impossible for a body of men to make progress over it. That nite I ate a very light supper and was in bed by 8:30. I did not stir unless it was in my sleep, till 6:30 the next morning and after turning over I slept another two hours. I felt all right. Both of us took lots of blankets and a hot water bottle, bed socks etc. for cold weather. It was an hour a day and gave two evening addresses and preached Sunday morning. Also helped conduct Communion Sunday afternoon. The Annual Meeting was good all thru. The spirit was all that could be desired. Every one stayed thru.

The people who must buy all their food are up against it. The farmers are reaping a harvest, specially if they have rice or potatoes to sell. Rice is $30 plus, normal there $3 or $4 a load. Ned Smith can buy plenty but he must go in person to guard the farmer against being taken by the soldiers, his rice confiscated and he himself beaten. We staid over a day and walked into the country five miles to see a large house now occupied by the Diong Loh school that moved up there last spring. More than 100 students with the faculty and Principal and his family live quite comfortably in that one house. It is beautifully situated in the mountains, quite out of the path of "birds" that fly over and drop heavy things. One of the teachers asked us to lunch. We had a kind of rice cake, cauliflower beancurd, and pigs liver. No rice. Rice is very scarce anywhere. The schools are beside themselves to get it. Mr. Hendry has gone to Shaowu to see if he can buy 510 bags. He has credentials that should allow him to bring it down the river in boats. The officials sold Bishop Hind 500 bags yesterday for refugees. The soup kitchens have mostly been turned into rice distributing centers. For several days only sweet potatoe rice could be given out. During the past month I have given out one bag 160 lbs. $31.80, and one bag 200 lbs. $36.00 (this was too filthy for description. Rats had lived in it) Also 100 lbs of sweet potato rice. I am entirely out now. Yesterday I went with two Chinese pastors to a place where they promised to sell rice. We wanted one bag a day for the constituencies of our churches. They took our names and request. We do not know whether we will get anything. I have been watching the market for wheat flour. I could buy a few lbs. but not a bag. Last Friday nite I was at a store where they knew me. Yes, they could sell a whole bag. $23.00/ I took it. Yesterday I heard of a place where it could be bought for $18.40 by using a lot of red tape. The government is getting the staples of food, and transportation into its hands. When we landed from the launch from Ing Tai I put all our luggage five loads into the care of coolies and Miss Ward and I went ahead and left two Chinese with us to follow. The coolies stopped at a house some quarter of a mile along the way. A man came out to say you must have five coolies at 40 cents a man. Not so long ago I had come the same route and paid 25 cents a man and they were happy. I said things. Never mind what. I got my four loads carried for $1.40. That man himself took 8 cents from each coolie.

Bishop and Mrs. Gowdy started two weeks ago for the General Conference of the Methodist Church to be held in the U.S. sometime next spring. Bishop and Mrs. Hind leave shortly for England via America, - retiring for good. Sometime in May Ned Smith, Arthur Rinden, Mr. and Mrs. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. Bingham leave on furlough. I shall plan to go up to Ing Tai two weeks or more before Ned leaves to learn a little more about the work there. I was elected as General Executive Secretary for Ing Tai last week. The only part of the work that seems like a mountain is that 260 little orphans. To feed and clothe them will take some thought, rice and cloth. I'm thinking of writing Dr. Burtner as president of the Lower Naugatuck Valley Clergy Club and ask him to let all the churches know our need for clothes. Anything in line of clothes, under or outer will be made use of. There is an old mother up there that is a wizard at cutting over and making, and if she needs help there is a tailor ready to give her a lift. Cast off men's overcoats and women's cloaks are specially useful. I keep thinking of your rummage sales. I do not know what we would do with the shoes but all else would make the eyes of those little fellows stick out.

There are six new buildings in Ing Tai. One is an auditorium to seat 600, one is a dormitory for Foochow College to sleep 90 in one room, second story with class rooms below, one is a smaller building for Wenshan Girl's school classrooms. Miss Susan Armstrong is planning to build her a residence for $1000.00 mex. $90.00 U.S. Ellen has not decided whether she will go up with me in April or the first of May or wait till after Kuliang.

George and Mary Newell were with us for four days the first of Feb. On my birthday Mother invited Misses Armstrong and Houston to supper. We had just finished soup when in walked Ned Smith straight from Ing Tai. I do not remember all that we had for supper (its all gone now so you cannot have any) but there was a fine big cake with 7 candles on one side and 5 on the other. It was good, I did not realize that I was any older on the 6th, than I was on the 4th.

Sat. evening Feb. 10th Mother and I attended what we used to call Preparatory Lecture 60 and 70 years ago. Then on Sunday we went to Holy Communion at the British Church, at 7:00 a.m. and to their breakfast after the Communion. This is a new institution of a new Bishop Sargeant. We found it a pleasing and helpful service. During the next month we will plan to spend one week end at Dr. Gillette's (I'll have my physical Exam then) and one week end at Dr. Sutton's at the F.C.U. plant. He is pretty lonely there all alone just keeping guard over the property.

I hope to send to some of the pastors in Shelton, Derby and other places near, reports of the work, finances and philanthropies of the Lau Memorial Church. I shall watch to see if any of them use the report.

I am still trying to keep alive some twenty families. They come to me about twice a week after rice and Sw. potatoe rice. It is surprising how far a little goes. God is good. When will man learn to be good. May He find a helper in each one of us. Lots of love Will

[This letter dated Mar. 1, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Iu Soi Ling to Friends. He writes to inform of the Financial, Membership and Activities of the Lau Memorial Church. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Lau Memorial Church,
Foochow, China,
Mar. 1, 1940.

Dear Friends:

This is my opportunity to write you this report and to show you the statistics in these five years.

In the following report I have divided of work of the year 1939 into three divisions:

(A) Financial: The church expenses of the year have been met through the generosity of the members of the church and friends.

For church expenses $1147.23 (Chinese currency)

For local charity $1471.00

(B) Membership: The total membership is 485. New members during this year included 24 men and 27 women. 96 people are in preparation for church membership class and 5 members died.

(C) Activities: The church is endeavoring to meet the religious needs of many classes of people by propagating the Gospel and by taking an active part in improving the community program. In trying to carry out its program the church has Religious services, social work, and charity work.

Will you give us suggestions to provided an all round development in the future and to have more activities in the church to glorify our Lord Jesus Christ.

Sincerely yours,
Iu Soi Ling
[Signature]

[This typewritten letter, dated March 3, 1940, was written from Foochow, China by Willard to many members of his family back in the U.S. He talks about receiving a lot of mail and was interested in reading about the Thanksgiving celebration back home. Willard contrasts it with the shortage of food in China. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Foochow, China, March 3rd. 1940.

Dear Gould, Virginia, Hazel & Willard; Emma & Elbert.

1 copy

Geraldine, Dorothy & Harold, Marjorie, Kathleen, Hugh, Jacquilin & Cynthia.

1 copy

Oliver & Annie;

1 copy

Phebe & Mary; Ben & Abbie & Family.

1 copy

Stanley & Myra & Family.

1 copy

Yesterday was a red letter day in this home all right. As my memory serves me we have never in all our years in Foochow had such a grand shower of letters from our own people in one day. Phebe's letter of Jan. 6th came Friday, just a harbinger. Then the next came her letter of Nov. 7th 1939, and each delivery brought more, till we had heard directly or indirectly from all of our own. The picture of the Thanksgiving dinner was very vivid, - with the sketch by the two youngest Beards. We could see you all seated at that table with one standing on her head, and the two big places for "Grandpa" and "Grandma".

I am writing this now so soon after my last, only a week ago, because of the great pleasure we had in reading those long interesting [letters] yesterday afternoon and evening. I think they all came thru with no censorship. Phebe's of Nov. 7th looked as if it had lain in a coal bin for a month or more. It was sealed with P.O. seals because it arrived somewhere in poor condition. It was all there. The high spots were Gould's flight over the mountains in fog, and Seymour's accident. The Thanksgiving dinner overshadowed all so it cannot be called a high spot. The vision of you people lying around so full as to be uncomfortable is quite in contrast with what we see every day all about us here. When will the world learn that the Chinese have to [the?] true ideal in their oft quoted saying "ALL UNDER HEAVEN ARE ONE FAMILY"? Do not take this as any criticism. I simply could not help the comparison. We are doing the same thing here. We have all we want three times a day. The government is gradually controlling all food and transportation. They have taken over wheat flour. I bought three bags the other day at $19.40 a bag. I wrote last week about goods coming overland from the coast to points in Ing Tai. Miss Eunice Thomas, Mrs. Smith's sister arrived last nite from the U.S. She came via Hing Hua. She says there are 5000 colliers carrying salt alone from Hing Hua to various parts of the interior. The road for 25 miles is black with them. Mr. McClure is still somewhere between here and Hing Hua with the baggage. And when any foreigner comes from Shanghai these days he has BAGGAGE. Mac has tons of it, the Coopt has a lot of goods with him. We are waiting for him to get here for our baking powder is gone and none in Foochow that we can buy. I found some yesterday for $16.00 per lb. I did not buy. Mother has cream tartar and soda.

Mr. Handry the hospital superintendent has gone to Shaowu to buy rice. He has found a few hundred bags. But here in Foochow people are restricted to about 1 lb. 11 oz. per family of five a day. And often the people who must get a ticket are pushed away from the window where the rice is dealt out and go home with none.

We get practically no news these days. Very little about conditions in Europe and almost less about conditions in China. Rice is the big conversational topic these days. The government is selling three or four bags a day to the red cross to feed 1200 and more refugees. We are paying about $36.00 a bag of 200 lbs.

I thank the sisters for sending on the book "With the Twelve". I have it nearly half read. This last mail also brought a lot of Christmas cards. The newspaper clippings are interesting. The passing of Mr. Bradley takes away another landmark. It was interesting to get that card from Wilton (?) Tomlinson. Willard [Gould's son, Willard Frederick Beard] comes honestly by his contriving mind. When we were getting ready to go home the first time he [Gould] wanted to take along his goat. I said it was impossible. He had various schemes. One was to tie him by a rope by day and lead him in the water. By nite pull him up to sleep on deck.

Lots of love to all Will

Your pastor may be interested in the enclosed report. I helped Lu Suo ??? for the ministry.

[This typewritten letter dated April 12, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to his family and many relatives. He just spent 17 days from hernia surgery in the a hospital built by one of his committees. Ned Smith has had health problems and Willard will be taking his place at Ing Tai. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China, April 12th. 1940.

Dear Geraldine, Dorothy and Harold, Monnie; (Please send to Gerry)

Gould, Virginia, Hazel and Willard; Kathleen and Hugh, Gill and Cynthia;

Ben and Abbie, Wells, Dan and Beatrice, Dannie, Beverly, Edith, Seymour, Winifred; Phebe and Mary, Oliver and Annie;

Stanley and Myra, Nancy, Stephen, Ruth.

Emma and Elbert and Etta.

A little over a week ago I sent a letter to Geraldine, only one copy in my own handwriting. It will take that letter a long time to go the whole trail, so I had better just repeat the important part of it.

On the 21st of March I entered the Willis F. Pierce Memorial Hospital as a patient to have Dr. Brewster fix a hernia which Dr. Gillette discovered the Saturday before when I went down to Pagoda to let him give me a physical examination. The operation was performed on Thursday, Mar. 21, just after the electricity came on about 5:00 p.m. It was done with a local anesthetic. A dose of morphine was shot into my right arm an hour before I went to the operating room. I talked with doctor during the operation, - felt only what I took to be a few slight pricks. Doctor said I slept much of the time while he was working. I guess he spoke the truth for he said I snored and I could find no one to refute the charge. He said he was at work about an hour. My worst trouble for the next two days was hunger. When they began to feed me I began to recover. I was in the hospital 17 days, came home last Saturday. I have not felt like pounding the typewriter until today. Everyday I can see improvement.

My stay in the hospital was made pleasant by thinking of the hours that would make days that I have sat in committee planning a Union Hospital of which this is the new born child. And a good husky child. One hundred and sixty patients are enjoying its privileges now. For all my requirements nothing was second to the New Haven hospital. The Chinese nurses were efficient, quiet, methodical and thorough. The last three days they gave me a girl from Amoy to bathe me. She could not talk the Foochow Dialect well and was new to the work. But by that time I could roll over and do much for myself. The first morning she was making rather a slow and botchy job of it. The head nurse came in and it was very interesting to see how deftly and quietly she helped the green one. She not once "let her down." I had a host of visitors every day, - never less than six and up to eleven. They came from all over Foochow, Shaowu, Amoy, Diong Loh. The bill has just come in. You may be interested in it,

Hospitalization 17 ½ days at $5.00	$105.00
Lab. Service	2.00
Operation Fee	50.00
Glucose Sol. 5% 1000 c.c.	1.50
	$158.50

PAID (Journal)

Last fall I paid $44.00 for Group Hospitalization and this is the benefit. I'll hold up a bit now. This is a pretty good bit for the benefits at the very beginning.

Saturday a.m. April 13th.

This is just such a morning as I remember in 1883 in May. I was ploughing the school house lot for corn. I was using a Wakelee plow. It was one of the old fashioned plows, cast iron and very light. The oxen were a pair that had grown from a pair of twin calves, that father bought of James Blakeman when his barn burned. It was seven on the clock as I started to work. The sun shone brightly, the air was keen but not cold, it was one of those mornings when every thing seems in harmony with every thing else, perfect coordination in all nature, and I seemed to just fit in with nature and felt like shouting, - "I'm monarch of all I survey. I'm equal to anything." Its like a long door from that day to this day. But each year has brought advance and success- more of success than of failure and each year has been more interesting than the preceeding year. I see at times in print something that makes me think that several people look back on what they call the good old days. Others say their days in school and college were their best days. It has not been so with me. My school days were good days but the days since were better. And they are getting better all the time. This may be because circumstances and my choices have never allowed me to [enter] into a run where I could become stale. During the last year of our first term in Foochow I remember distinctly thinking that when we returned my work was all cut out and I would only have to take up the ends where I left them and go on, - no hustling to learn new work. Then came the call to the Y.M.C.A. and everything was new. With newness came interest. Then came the work in New York on entirely new lines again. Then the call to be President of Foochow College with another set of entirely new duties. And from that time to the present every year has brought a new trail to be blazed thru an unknown forest. And now I am going to Ing Tai to take or try to take a, to me, brand new job. Just what it involves, I do not yet know. I shall have new associates and new problems. I am pretty sure it will be interesting.

Ned Smith has not been at all well for six or more months. Sinus trouble, rheumatism, malaria and sciatica. He plans to go over the mountain from Ing Tai to Hing Hua and take the steamer that goes to Shanghai, the same one that we came down on last September. She stops at Sangtu both coming down and going up. I have written him that I should be in condition to go to Ing Tai about April 25th. I should have some five or more days with him to get acquainted with some of my associates at least. I shall likely come down once during May for business relating to the assistant general secretaries then go back and stay till time to go to Kuliang. I think I have written that Guy Thelin promises us our old house on Kuliang. This will please both Mother and her husband very greatly.

While I was in the hospital the sweet potatoe rice and the rice gave out. I could not get any till yesterday. 100 lbs. came in. It is now 3:30 p.m. and 75 lbs. are gone. This with no telephone where these people live. The situation has eased a little. Three weeks ago it was not possible to buy for love not money. It is now purchasable at about 35 cents per lb. When the people come for good and we have none we give them 50 cents or a $ according to the size of the family and they are happy. They take the money and buy food.

I have read several books since I have been on the shelf and the best one has been MADAME CURIE by her daughter EVE. I do not know when a book has gripped me from beginning to end as this one has; Both she and her husband were unique. They were 100% scientists. Science was their food and their religion. Along with science they both lived a perfectly beautiful family life. For society neither of them cared a fig. She had a wonderful feeling for humanity. During the world wars she wrought miracles with nothing to work with except her hands, her brain and her heart. Science was her god. She would measure up to the Oxford Group's four standards, - absolute honesty, absolute purity, absolute unselfishness, absolute love, - unless it be the last. She did not know love for any superior being. When her own family died she had nothing to bear her up. Her husband's death staggered her and dazed her. She found nothing to sustain her. It was only when she went back to her laboratory and buried herself in experiments that she rallied. It is also interesting that the very thing that she discovered RADIUM was the cause of her death. Meticulously careful to caution and compel her students to use utmost care in handling... [typed over]...the time for three weeks I have had a lot of good long talks with God about each of you. How far is it from here to Long Island? to Chicago? to Saginaw? to Shelton? to Florida? to Pearl River? That depends on what measurement you use, and how you travel, air plane, steamship, train, bus, auto. By spirit in the ether (I guess it is that route is swiftest of all.

Lots of love to all. Father

[This letter, dated April 16, 1940, was written from Foochow, China by Willard to the folks all. He writes about his brother, Oliver's death. Willard is recovering from surgery. He tells them they may sell the cows and buy more productive ones if they want. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Foochow, China
April 16th 1940

Dear Folks All:-

This means chiefly Phebe and Mary. You may let others read it if you want to. I dashed off a few lines just after your three letters came to let you know as soon as possible that the word of Oliver's going home had reached us [Willard's brother, Oliver Gould Beard, Jr. died about February 1, 1940]. I hardly know what I wrote. I suppose I am not yet normal after my operation and it= the news struck me with more force than it would have done if I was stronger. I have reread the letters this evening and I see I did not do a very good job at answering, so I'll try to put down a few things.

First I am glad you got the flowers for the Willard Beard family. But it is not necessary to put us by ourselves- unless you prefer to do so.

Sam Brewster's gift of $5.00 touches me deeply. I'll write him specially soon and put on the envelope one of those double China- U.S. flags,- if I can get one. They are not easy to get.

If you see Ard Blakeman tell him I know how to sympathize with him- but he does not need to think of me with pity because I am way off in China. I had just as good a surgeon as he had and just as good nurses and care in every way.

Emma's letter to Ellen came with yours to us- just after lunch. It told of the death of Evangeline Lawson's husband up in Union or Woodstock, and of the death of one of my Abington friends- Joe Elliott.

I'm proud of Gould's keen appreciation of real personal worth in men, as shown in his telegram. I shall never forget his estimate of Ruth, and of her sisters who were home at the time in a letter to me here in China.

Stanley and family have gone and returned before we knew they were going. They must have had a very interesting trip.

Did I tell you to get rid of Bessie cow whenever you wanted to? If not do not hold on to her for us. I think you could get a cow that would be more profitable for you- that would give more milk in quantity. And I do not feel sure that Anne Belle is taking after her mother in milk production. If she does not come up now it may be best to change her- all of which means do not think of us- do whatever you think is best. Bessie is your cow entirely.

Yes it comes to me you will miss Oliver at many turns. He was a helper and a wise and gracious helper.

The Platt girls had a narrow escape. I do not see how the fire company got that fire out so as to save so much of the house.

Will Mary have to take charge of the White Hills property now? Can you put it into the charge of a real estate agent so as not to be so much bother?

The clock has struck 9- so I must to bed. Good nite. The pecans in my trunk drank deeply of the moth balls in one trunk and the moth balls have not yet eaten one pecan!!

Your envelopes do not stand the long journey nearly every one comes all plastered up. The four edges are worn out. The letters re Oliver are very satisfying. Thank you for sending them. Will

[This letter, dated April 16, 1940, was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Phebe, Mary, Stanley and Myra. Willard talks about his brother, Oliver's death and how he feels about being so far away at these times. He is recuperating from surgery. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Tuesday 12:30 p.m. April 16 – 1940

Dear Phebe and Mary, and Stanley and Myra-

Phebe's letter of Feb. 8 came about an hour ago. The one written about Feb. 1 (I judge) is not here. This sudden news of Oliver's home going strikes me very deeply. I have mailed all the letters to the children just this morning. I wrote a little personal note to each to go with one general letter and had not yet written these notes for your letter and for Stanleys. Oliver will not need it now. I do hope your precious letter will come soon.

Oliver was always very near to me. He has helped me much in his example. He showed me how to be a friendly man- how to live above petty trials and always keep a forgiving and friendly spirit.

After lunch:- Just as we finished lunch your two other letters arrived and one from Emma. I'm glad they are here.

I do not like to think of the tragedy in Oliver's life. But I do like to dwell on the masterful way in which he overcame it and lived above it. He was one of the world's lifters, - always helping. He has had some of his reward in the evening of his life and is now reaping the fullness of his reward.

I am very glad you had the flowers- snap dragons- you were right in taking it from my account. Oh! I cannot tell you how I have been saddened by not being able to be at home at these times. Sometimes it seems as if that had been the only sacrifice I have made in my choice of a life- work. I have realized also that you all have had to sacrifice much because I am so far away.- But I believe all of us realize that the rewards have been great. I am anxious that you shall realize that I appreciate what you all- children, sisters and brothers nieces and nephews have given up. I hope also that you have shared some in the rewards.

I am improving daily. Took a walk on the street yesterday and felt all right. I am planning to go over South Side to Hua Nang College to Anti Cob this week Friday evening (4-6), after meeting my class at the Sem'y at 2:15 and getting a little rest somehow.

I plan to go to Ing Tai next week about Tuesday.

I am putting in a note to Anna [Oliver Gould Jr. 's second wife, Anna Wilson Beardsley Beard] and asking you to address it, seal it stamp it and mail it.

Very lovingly

Will.

Will you let Stanley see this. W.

[This group of letters dated April 15 and 16, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Dot and Harold, Monnie and Jerry. He talks about prices in Foochow. Willard sympathizes with Ralph Butt having to work in Canada alone and compares it to his days in China without his family. He awaits the new diary from Jerry. Letters donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Monday April 15 [1940]

Dear Dot and Harold:

I should have greatly enjoyed your big time. Did you take any photos of the doings? If so I hope you'll try and send us some of them.

I can imagine just how empty that house seemed or really was with 4/7 of the family gone, and by far the most active 4/7 - Cynthia. While she was in Shelton was very near perpetual motion. You, Dot, were favored with a lot of your own people, - the same two sisters to take part as took part in your wedding ceremony. Those young people who asked us over for that delicious dinner when we [were] in Saginaw sent us a Christmas card- Mr. and Mrs. Wager.

Last Saturday was a beautiful Sunny and warm day. Miss Atwood and another nurse went to Kuliang. Yesterday= Sunday was cold and rainy, - not so pleasant on the mountain. Mother said she would not go up for $100. That would not be much in U.S. currency. Two weeks ago $1.00 in U.S. was worth $20.00 in mex. The same for March was $14.50. How shall we ever get used to paying 10- cents a lb. for rice in the U.S. when we pay 60 to 70 cents here. It is down now to 36 cents. That is what I paid today for 100 lbs. to give away. And worse yet how well it seems to pay 50 or 60 cents for a hair cut when I pay 30 cents mex. here or less than 24 cents U.S. A barber came three nites to shave me when I was in the hospital. I gave him 40 cents= 2 ½ cents in U.S. currency. But the poor people all about don't know anything about exchange. They know work is scarce and wages low and all food way up out of sight. Among others one poor young fellow with a wife and little girl about 10 has been living off us for three months or more. Yesterday he saw me at church and followed me home. I had just said good bye to them when Mother appeared and they had to see her and chang-ang her and come into the house again and sit down. Mother had tea and cake served to them. They stayed and stayed. He used to be a student in Foochow College, and I his teacher. Now he says, - "You have saved my life- at least 100 poor starved people have jumped into the river from the big bridge during the past three months. But you have saved us from that."

Love from Father

Monday Evening April 15 [1940]

Dear Monnie:-

Every day and often many days I think of you and Ralph. In the hospital I had time to talk with God about you. I shall wait with a lot of interest to hear how he has wintered way up there in Davis Inlet. How lonely he must have been- more lonely than I was here in Foochow for two periods of 4 years and Phebe the second 4 years. My, what a comfort that dear girl was to me!! But Ralph has had much less company of his own set than I had. Some of the business men and of the missionaries are here now with no families and they are lonely.

I hope you will find time to write soon and fast before long letters will get thru to and from Ralph. I shall want to know.

Gould was the one of our family favored this past holiday season with being with you all in Saginaw and then again in Shelton with the rest.

I hope your work goes better than during the first few weeks.

God keep you and bless you

Very lovingly

Father

Tues. a.m. April 16 [1940]

Dear Jerry:-

This time I'm sending the letter first to Saginaw. I wonder when that little diary will appear. I'll have to take a vacation from other work and write it up. Say go into the ten cent store and buy a 10 cent diary for 1940 and send it on so I'll have something to begin 1941 with when it comes in. I wrote you I was using a 1938 diary that I bo't for 10 cents to keep my auto expenses in. Fortunately I used a pencil for that so I can easily erase the entries.

When you write tell me how you are coming on with your reports to me, and are you increasing that nest egg in the Bridgeport Savings Bank. I have not heard a word of my Birmingham National Bank checking account since I left last Aug. The upset in mail facilities is not at all pleasant. But in most ways we are so much better off now we thought we would be that we are not complaining. We have had strawberries @ 75 cents a qt. for a week, and fresh peas nearly all winter. My garden now has beets, swiss chard, spinach, lettuce, carrots and parsley and Mr. Billing at the ?? ?? has a man with almost everything - vegetables and grain- he comes three times a week.

The thermometer registers 56 degrees in my study this morning- too cold for this time of year.

I like to think of that little flat of yours, and the picture of you children on the platform of the station in Chicago last August is a joy always.

Lovingly

Father.

Ralph Butt at his desk in Davis Inlet.
 [Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated April 20, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. He is still recuperating from his hernia surgery. Many of the missionaries are leaving Foochow as planned. He encloses a letter from the pastor of Lau Memorial Church. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

April 20- 1940

Dear Geraldine:-

Your good letter came this past week, telling of your two weeks in bed and of your feeling all right again and at work. But you chose either the right or the wrong time to be in bed. If you wanted much to be with Dot and Monnie it was the wrong time. If they were company and a help to you it was the right time.

I am getting on as well as I can expect. To day is the 15th since coming home from the hospital. Last Friday= day before yesterday I went S. Side and met my class 2:15- 3:00 p.m. then to the Bingham's and got a straight hour of solid sleep. Then walked a mile to the Anti-Cob. Then walked another mile to Dr. and Mrs. Brewster's and took dinner and talked or listened to their radio till 9 p.m. Then they drove us home in their car. I was none the worse for it.

Mother and I plan to start for Ing Tai day after tomorrow. Up at 3:30, b-fast at 4:00, off at 4:30. We hope to reach Ing Tai that evening. I shall take a chair on 2 stretches. Mother may also. She will come home next Sat. or Mon. I will stay until the last of May, come back for a week, - go up again and come down June 22 for the summer.

Lots of people are leaving Foochow normally. Bishop and Mrs. Hind left a week ago. He has resigned and they are going home for good via the U.S. They plan to go thru Washington D.C. and New York into New England- within about 8 miles of Century Farm. Arthur Rinden of our church left last week. The Christians and the Bingham's and Ned Smith go soon. I or rather we are here to fill up a little space while so many are away. Mr. McClure is the only one who has returned and he has left his family at home. He will be the only man in the compound while I am in Ing Tai, until the Toppings return.

Have I said that the nice little diary came last week THANK YOU. I am well along on copying from the makeshift. I hope you keep well and happy. May God keep you

Lovingly Father

I see I have not mentioned the stamp on the envelope which you did not understand. It is a very pleasing gesture by China to the U.S. for friendly relations and worthy of an area greater than an ordinary stamp. Note the two flags and the map of China with characters on the map. I have turned them around end for end from their positions on the map. = Republic of China. The Japanese do not like this stamp. It cannot be used after May 1. Lovingly Father

The enclosed is a report of Rev. Lu Soi Ling Pastor of the largest church in Foochow City. I found him a poor lad, in 1912, helped him thru school and now he is one of the successful pastors in Foochow- keeps at it thru depression and war and has a growing working church as his report shows. If you can use the report all right, if not send it to Dot.

Lovingly Father

[This typewritten letter dated May 1, 1940 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to Friends. He describes the farewell scene of Ned Smith as he left Ing Tai and talks of the work Ned did. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Ing Tai, Foochow, China.
May 1st, 1940.

Dear Friends:-

Yesterday a man who has spent nearly forty years of his life in and for Ing Tai started for furlough in the United States. The whole city rose to show appreciation for what he has done for the people here in these four decades of unselfish service. Then a mile of street the shopkeepers suspended their business as he passed on his way to the ferry that took him across the Ing Tai river to begin the first lap of his long journey. More than one thousand teachers with their students, boys and girls, dismissed classes and followed him in procession all the way to the ferry. The name of this man is Edward Huntington Smith. Until he came to China his home was in Norwichtown, Connecticut.

In early 1901 it was my privilege to introduce Ned Smith to the people of Ing Tai. We toured the whole field,- nearly as large as the state of Connecticut. Mr. Smith could not say a word of Chinese, but his smile "got" the people. He was the first missionary that they could really call their own. He would live among them and stay for a long time. The Rev. Simeon F. Woodin, then Rev. Dwight Goddard and then I visited the field, living in Foochow. Mr. Goddard had bought the first land and built a residence, school, church and hospital but had stayed only two years or so. Mr. Smith was their own. They took him right into their hearts at first sight. That reception has been going on for nearly forty years. The love which this people have for this man reached its climax when they with one accord escorted him to the ferry with a continuous explosion of firecrackers as he left for the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have changed the mind of Ing Tai. That is possibly the most fundamental change that can take place in any community. Among the different methods he has used, Christian education has probably been the most prominent. At first these boys and girls were hand picked by Mr. Smith himself as he toured the district, one boy from this village and a girl from that hamlet. They received an education in a Christian atmosphere. He has befriended the people in hard and dangerous times. He risked his own life to save them from bandits and inhuman armies. He has made possible for them medical care when they were ill. He has fed and clothed and educated their orphans. In a word he has provided church, school and hospital for them. He has taught them God and his love, and in his own life of love among them he has showed them that God was their loving Father. He was now leaving for a much overdue furlough of a few months. No one regretted it. All were, but they asked,- "When will he come back?" It was a sight never to be forgotten,- 1300 teachers and students standing on the river bank waiving "Good bye" and singing "God be with you till we meet again."

If Christian education was his first concern, "Ned's Orphans" press for a close second. More than two hundred and fifty of them now. If you should ask him how many have gone thru the orphanage school into higher primary schools, college and seminary and are now serving their country in various important positions, he would smile and shake his head and reply,- "I don't know." The relation between Ned Smith and his orphans is unique. I have witnessed two very touching sights in my life. One was Mrs. Sam Higgenbottom and her five hundred lepers in Allahabad, India. She actually – touches them. The other is Ned Smith and his orphans. When he goes into the grounds after class hours, thirty or forty of them come running to him. He takes a little face between his hands and looks into it. One pulls his ear down and whispers, - “I want a piece of soap.” His hand goes into his pocket and out comes a bar of soap and a knife and a piece is cut off and given the boy who runs off as happy as an American boy with a new sled. Another pulls his coat sleeve until he can whisper into the ear of the kind man, - “My pants are all worn out and they need washing.” “Come up to my house and I’ll find a pair for you.” They are likely “manufactured” from some of the cast offs sent by friends in America. Talk about creating. That art did not cease with the CREATION. Ned Smith created with the help of NeMu, an old lady who sort of sees to the clothing of these more than 250 homeless little boys. And they are wonderfully clothed. But they are kept warm. Another little fellow pulls that head down and says, - “The sun is hot, may I have 3 cents to buy a bamboo hat?” Out of another pocket some three coppers. The man who walks out of a staunch Fifth Avenue with a brand new Stetson is not half as happy as our little fellow with his 3 cent bamboo hat.

Coming back to the procession passing thru Ing Tai’s main street, there were men in that procession who had walked twenty miles over rough steep country roads, and who must return over the same roads, to do homage to this man. These men are the corner stone of this Ing Tai enterprise. There are the preachers who all the year live in the mountain villages shepherding the Christians, leading men and women to Jesus and helping people. They are the men who create a desire for knowledge in boys and girls. It is impossible for people in America to imagine a whole state with no desire for education. This was the condition in Ing Tai when Mr. Smith came. These preachers have planted the desire, it has taken root, and has grown to a good sized plant. It is still growing. The boys who have gone from Ing Tai schools have helped foster this desire as they have made good as principals of school, as government officials, as members of chambers of commerce, superintendents of hospitals etc.

You have heard that God called Mrs. Smith to the higher service last summer. During all these years she has been a most gracious homemaker and hostess. I suppose I have visited Ing Tai about one hundred times in the past forty six years. I know what the hospitality of the Smith home is. In addition to making a home, Mrs. Smith spent several hours every day in teaching. For nearly forty years she was the loyal helper in all this work.

It falls to the lot of Mrs. Beard and myself to try to keep this enterprise from slipping while Mr. Smith is on furlough. Retired in 1936 because of age, which we could not well help, we were three years at home when the American Board reappointed us as missionaries to go again to the Foochow mission. It was the condition here in Ing Tai that decided us to come. We are as sure as we ever were sure of anything that we are where God wants us. With your backing we’ll try to carry on.

The last view I had of Ned he was sitting in a sedan chair made by hanging a bamboo seat on two bamboo poles and carried by two men. It took him three days to reach the steamer which was to take him to Shanghai. No one ever before started on that road in such a conveyance for the United States. Via Foochow was the way. War is the reason.

Very sincerely yours,
Willard L. Beard

[This letter, dated May 4th, 1940, was written from Ing Tai, China by Willard to many family members in the U.S. Willard and Ellen have gone to Ing Tai to replace Ned Smith. He tells a little about Ned Smith’s farewell from Ing Tai. Rice is scarce and soldiers are seizing it along transportation routes. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Foochow, China
May 4th. 1940.

1 Gould, Virginia, Hazel and Willard
2 Geraldine
2 Dorothy, Harold and Marjorie
1 Kathleen, Hugh, Jacqueline and Cynthia
3 Annie, Ben, Abbie, Wells, Dan, Beatrice, Dannie and Beverly
3 Phebe and Mary

4 Stanley, Myra, Nancy, Stephen and Ruth.
5 Emma, Etta and Elbert

Say that's a lot of names isn't it? Well here's Dear all of You:-

I had set the week as the time when I was to write another letter to you all. It is Sat. afternoon but it is still this week.

Mother and I came up to Ing Tai Tuesday April 23rd as we had planned. We had a good trip up. It was a beautiful morning. I was awake at 3:30 a.m. and had to call the servants. But we were off by a few minutes after 5:00, caught the launch all right, had a very pleasant sail up the river engaged a boat up to Dai Kau for $10.00. Reached Dai Kau at 4:00. We could not find a coolie, no one to carry a chair or a load. Finally a man was found who would take one load as far as the chapel, - twenty rods. He after a time agreed to take it to Ing Tai, 6 miles. Then another man took one more load. One load stayed in the chapel. We considered spending the nite at Dai Kau. Then a friend suggested that he MIGHT find chairs by going 1 ½ miles up the river. I said I could not bear to think of his walking so far to accommodate us but if he insisted I would allow him to do it. I had helped this man quite much so inwardly I did not feel so bad. He was gone an hour, but he found two chairs right on the road we were to go for $2.20 a chair. We had to walk 1 ½ miles. The chairs were there all ready. It was just 6:00 p.m. It rained a little and it got quite dark half way. Fortunately I had taken my flashlight and by having Mother go ahead I could show the road to all four bearers and we arrived safe and happy at 8:10 p.m. I had sent a note by the load man that we would not come that nite, so Ned and Helen had just finished supper as we got there.

Mother went to Foochow last Monday. She wrote me that the regular passenger boat that goes down every morning to meet the launch at the foot of the rapids struck a rock and every one got wet to the waist and all baggage was soaked. I had hired a special boat to take her. Just as she was to get into the boat we heard that Mr. Nga was going down on the other boat. So we sent over and invited him to go with Mother which he did. He was taking some examination questions to Foochow and they were all in his baggage which would have been wet and the questions spoiled. Perhaps he was not glad he was on Mother's boat!

Mr. Smith left Ing Tai Tuesday April 30th. It was a big send off. More than 1300 teachers and students followed him for a mile from just below the house to the head of the main street to the ferry where he crossed the river. It was a grand sight and sounds from firecrackers were popping all the way. The shopkeepers joined in honoring the man who had lived helpfully here for almost forty years. Ned broke a new road from Ing Tai to the U.S. No one ever before started for America that way. He went some forty miles over the mountains south to Hang Geng near Hing Hua. He wrote back that the scenery was most beautiful and urged Helen to take friends over part of the way for pleasure. We had word that he with Mr. and Mrs. Christian and Mr. and Mrs. Bingham went aboard the steamer for Shanghai Friday afternoon. Always before people have taken the steamer for Shanghai at Foochow. Ned wrote back that Mr. Hendry Superintendent of the Union Hospital was at Hang Geng with over 100 boxes of groceries for the Coopt, in which we share from Shanghai.

It is hard to describe the rice situation here. With 1300 students and fifty or more teachers and their families to feed, the heads of the schools are at their wits ends to know how to get the rice. The soldiers guard the roads in all directions and sieze what rice they see come in. The other day a woman and her son and his wife were bringing in 120 lbs that had been ordered by the head of the primary school. The soldiers seized them, made them carry the rice to the barracks and paid them $15. If they had been able to take to the rice to the school they would have received about $30. Mr. Smith and I went to the captain or whatever his title is, but there was nothing to do. The rice was bought and paid for. The only way is for the farmers to bring the rice in by back roads. A man from Foochow College here took some $30,000 up into the northern part of the province and says he got about 200 bags, of 160 lbs. They are on the way but have not arrived. Two months on the way. I believe Mr. Smith has around $2500 in this venture. The man, one of my former Foochow College students, says he went over into the Kuang si province and had to buy a few bags here and a few there. After it was bought it was very difficult to get it down to Foochow and then up here. They say it is coming "in a few days." Well you will accuse me of going dippy on the rice question and on the poverty problem. If so you're getting a true picture. There are ten blind men here. Two of them are gatekeepers for this compound!! Two of them are musicians. One of them cares for the hens. The others get I judge. But don't worry. I came here for just this. I was conceited enough to think that I could do the job and possibly no one else. I knew the work as no one else and sympathised with Ned as no one else. It's a big work. He has influenced the whole big district of Ing Tai. The boys from his orphanage and school are all over China in important positions. There is a corps of loyal and efficient Chinese at the head of the work in the schools.

There are three parts to the educational system here. Junior Middle, the Primary and the Orphanage. Then as guests there are Foochow College and Wenshan Girls School. I attended a meeting of the Junior Middle Y.P.S.C.E. last evening that would have done your hearts good. It was entirely in the hands of the students. It went.

Then there is the work among the churches scattered all over the big place,- most as large as the state of Connecticut. This I have kept in touch with all these years by visits frequently.

The Foochow Y.M.C.A. school has moved up the Dai Kau, where we land from the boat that brings us up the rapids,- the place from which we walk to Ing Tai. Tomorrow morning at 5:30 I plan to take a boat down to Dai Kau to give four addresses at a Retreat they are holding for the Y boys. I come back by chair over the same road that Mother and I came two weeks ago this afternoon on Wed. p.m. at 5.

It is now 4 p.m. and I will stop and take afternoon tea. I'm a real addict. I am alone but I can drink two cups of babary [barbary] tea.

The other day Helen received a letter from St Petersburg, Fla. In it was a clipping from the Sentinel. It looked to me as if Jane Curtiss cut it out sent it to a Mrs. Holmes in St. Petersburg and she sent it to Helen. Mrs. Holmes summers at Lake Winnepesaukee, N.H. The clipping was from two or three of my letters home.

May God let his face shine upon us in all our ways.

With lots of love to each one.

Will

[This letter dated May 16, 1940 was written from Fenchow, Shansi, China by Louise Meebold to Geraldine. She mentions that Willard and Ellen had a nice welcoming back to Foochow and tells about the problems that exist with the people under military occupation. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

American Board Mission
Fenchow, Shansi, China

Lui lin church
May 16, 1940

Dear Geraldine Beard:

It was very nice to get your Christmas greetings. I know from my sister that your folks had a real welcome in Foochow, and if they could only have been twins or triplets, the mission could have put them to work in more places. I am sure they are glad to be back.

We see an order changing before our eyes, not under the influence of education as before but under the heel of military necessity, and since we know that in the end only character will stand the test, we feel our work more needed, more urgent than in the good old days.

I am out on a country trip, had hoped to go far, but after arriving at this town 60 miles due west of Fenchow the gears gummed or something. I found no one willing to go on further, and was advised to stay put. A few days siege with a cold, gave me time to think, and so here I am, nearly two weeks in one spot. I have had time too to look around a bit and listen to the chat of the town, and it is most enlightening. With the military in occupation, women and narcotic evils are on the ascent. Guerilla warfare outside, but even where there is none, the ceaseless efforts of both sides to line up all available food, wealth and manpower each for his own side, makes country life dangerous, and those who can at all afford it are coming into the town, crowding together in small courtyards and rooms.

Many a man and woman is trying to forget his troubles in narcotics, and so petty thieving and bold banditry are becoming a common matter, the drug habit is so expensive! Both armies try to stop the banditry. One bandit was executed by city soldiers day before yesterday, and buried before he was dead the people said. ?? [Question marks in original letter] I saw the crowd out in the road listening to the reports. Last night we heard a new tale, of two bandits caught by the Chinese troops, who were in turn caught by the Japanese. A village which had put on a one-day dramatic performance (ostensible to worship the gods but really to give an opportunity for a little business and barter) was told that after the last act, a demonstration would be given, and it was the bayoneting of the two bandits. I hardly believe it myself, tho no one else expresses any doubt. "We are supped full with honors," and one more? Is it "The Tale of two Cities" that has that citizeness knitting and counting the heads that fell in the French Revolution? That left a horrid impression on my youthful mind, but I suppose there are people like that.

Our little churches are like little pennants flapping in a gale, but they are fastened to the mast. They signal decency and order in a brotherly world, - now isn't this very nautical of me? But I can't go on with the metaphor. But you, with the breath of two countries in your face, know what my oratory means. I sure believe in this job of reconciliation.

Sincerely
Louise Meebold

[This typewritten letter dated June 1, 1940 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to his family and relatives. He talks about prices, weather and the people of Ing Tai. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Ing Tai
Foochow, China

[Abt. May 23, 1940]

Dear Gould, Virginia, Hazel, Willard: Kathleen, Hugh, Jacquilin and Cynthia;
Geraldine, Dorothy, Harold and Marjorie;
Phebe, Mary, Ben, Abbie, and family, and Annie;
Stanley and Myra;
Emma, Elbert and Etta;-

These five groups, I think, cover the family. I will address the letters to the first name in each group. I am using some paper I found here in Ing Tai, in large sheets, which I cut into this size. Paper is one of the commodities that is difficult to obtain here. I mean foreign paper. Chinese paper money is going down all the time. The last I heard $1.00 U.S. brought $20.50. Kerosine is now $30.00 per tin of five gallons. If my letters seem to you to be much on the line of prices, you need only remember that these days we hear "things are very dear" about 100 times a day. Exchange is creeping up daily.

Ellen's letter that came this morning says that the Germans have got into France and things look very serious.

The schools here will plan to close from June 26th to the first week in July. Each school closes on its own time. It looks now as if I would go down next Mon. May 27th, come back June 5th. and perhaps go down again June 22nd. and I may come back June 27th. and go down about July 3rd. for Kuliang.

It looks as if Ing Tai might be rather full next fall and fuller before the year is finished. We expect the E. Walter Smiths [not to be confused with E. Huntington "Ned" Smith] to come to Ing Tai in September. When they arrive every room in the foreign houses that are in use now will be occupied. There is a foreign house that has been used as a dormitory for the girls that we will likely repair for a residence. Ellen and I may use or it may be best to let the new Smiths have it.

We have had, and are still in it, a long spell of rainy, cold weather. For ten days we have had sun enough to dry the clothes,- once almost dry them. The ther [thermometer], has stood at 62 some of the time. We here have a fire in the fire place and Ellen has written that she has had a fire in her stove. I have worn under clothes and a sweater and an overcoat most of the time. By the time I write again, I expect, I will be in the least clothes possible, and longing for such days as we are now having. It is interesting that the same cold spell seems to have visited all over the world. We had it cold here when you wrote of the severe weather in Conn. Emma wrote that they had four feet of snow on the level. Elbert was sitting by his fire thinking how fortunate for him that he did not have to get out to deliver coal to keep other people warm.

You will remember that I had a stock farm that I was glad to tell about here five years ago. It is with no pleasure that I write about it now. There are about ten of the hen tribe in the hen yard. I turn my head when I pass. I had some teens of fine pigs of all sizes. People came from twenty miles away to buy the little ones at the top market price. Now there are twenty two or three. I cannot bear to look at them. After three weeks of urging I have got one sow transferred to a good clean place. I hoped to have it done before she had small ones. But they came two days ago. TWO. I do not blame her. They give them just enough to eat and if I were her I should not want to produce more than two on what she has had to eat. As for bedding these people do not think it is well to put straw in for a nice bed. When I was here before I used to have to do it at times with my own hands. I guess that's grumbling enough for the time. It does a man good at times to get things out of his system. And you poor people are so far away that no one will get hurt,- unless you feel hurt.

For three weeks the schools here have had a hectic time getting ready for the visit of the educational commissioner. He has not yet arrived. An orphan has just come for the fifth of sixth time to say that he needs a new bed mat. These bed mats are the same as we have for floor mats made of grass. He had an extra lever today. The commissioner was coming and his bed would not look well if there was not mat on it.

We have word that the Leger family, and Miss Bertha Allen are to sail on July 9th. The Legers will go to Shaowu to be in the University. Miss Allen will go to long Kau to be in the Kindergarten Training School. Mrs. Scott is not certain about her health and she may not be able to come this year.

This is one of the seasons that I enjoy at home. The potatoes should be in and almost appearing above ground. There is a fragrance to the earth just turned up that is still in my nostrils. We plowed for corn the first of May and on till the last. We planted when the shagbarks were in bloom. The cows are out in the pasture and the oxen go out the first of June. The dandelions are putting a yellow hue to much of the land. We go to pick greens. The birch beer is already in the stone crock. It was made by boiling a few twigs of almost everything that grew as a bush. Then yeast was added and it is now working. My how we will smack our lips. We have all had our molasses and sulphur a spoonful three days and then wait three days and three more spoonfuls. It was not VERY good. House cleaning well over. How those rag carpets made ones shoulders ache as we shook them! The apple trees are in their most beautiful dress. A year ago the three trees in the south meadow were one mass of the most beautiful pink. I wonder if the bees have swarmed yet. Grandmother Beard used to sit on a box with a long stick to keep the old hens away while the little chicks ate. This is the time of year when Monnie and Kathleen and I sat out south of the house in the grass sunning. We had our pictures taken there.

This is probably the picture that Willard is referring to – from 1910.
[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Thursday morning May 23rd. The sun shines today and it makes smiles on faces. For three or four Monday evenings I have invited the workmen, there are twenty or more, cooks, gardners, pig herd, carpenter, mason etc.- I have invited them to come up for a “meeting” I do not name it. We talk about everything, but I always bring the talk around to Christianity. Last Tuesday the old lady who sort of runs this place, Ne Mu (you had better remember the name) said to me quietly, “The men say you had better not ask them questions, it embarrasses them. You just talk and they will be most happy to come and hear you.” Here are some of the injunctions that I get from her. “You had better give me that cloth for the orphans’ clothes. The tailor will swipe it if you trust him with it.” “2:00 p.m. and you have not taken your nap.” 4:30 p.m. I have not had my afternoon tea. “This man can wait. You take your afternoon tea.” “Some one saw children taking away wood the other day. You had better tell some of the orphans to put it in the cellar and I’ll lock it up.” “Ak-muoi is getting his board for the work he does, his wife is sewing for the orphans. She gets $4.00 a month. She cannot live on that. It would be well to give her a little more.” I have just this morning got back a brace and bit that Ned lent a man two years ago. I wanted it the other day and was told it was three miles in the country, lent. I told two or three men here to get it back. They replied he has no idea of returning it, Mr. Smith has sent for it several times. I asked if there were police in Ing Tai and if their jurisdiction extended as far as this man’s house. O, yes. This was about four or five days ago. NeMu said to me “Mr. Smith is very easy. He lends everything anyone asks for.” She has just come to me for more cloth for the tailor to make coats for the orphans. As I gave it to her I told her there were four coats that he had not put the buttons on, would it not be well to have him finish them before making more? "No, it is not economical to have the tailor put on the buttons. The women can do that." They are paid less.

After reading the above, you will know that I am well taken care of. Afternoon tea, nap shielded from those who would cheat me. Don't worry about me.

I must close this now With lots of love to each of you, Father

[This letter dated June 2, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Jerry. He writes her a quick note sending his love. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow China June 2- 1940

Dear Jerry:-

This is just a little note to you to take my hug and kiss to you. I am much interested [in] your 87 years old-recruit- How does he break in?

Often Periodicals announce- In our next issue will appear the following: - In my next issue will appear the following: The big dinner at our home of all church workers in the Foochow district on May 30th. Lunch with Mrs. Siemssen June 1.

This has been a beautiful day in June, clear, cool, fresh. Lots of flowers. Sweet peas planted late are in full bloom- the damp, cool, rainy weather up to today accounts for it. Mother has the parlor beautiful with bouquets. We both went 2 miles out the north Gate this p.m. to Na Ang for a church service- called on Mr. Nga Geng Guong- on the way home. He has been ill with a carbuncle for a month- is better but can not go back to Ing Tai for 3 weeks. He is still Dean of Foochow College.

We hope the mail due in a day or two will bring letters from our own. You might let Mrs. Christians sister know where you are. The Christians are nearing Honolulu now.

We are watching two couples at the game of "sparking." Is that an ancient word whose meaning you do not know? Mary Francis Buckhout who came out with us, now in Ing Tai receives a letter from Foochow every evening- watches for the mail carrier and meets him every evening and gets the letter so neither Helen or I will see it. Funny isn't it? The other two are here in Foochow. Lots of love father

[This typewritten letter dated July 3, 1940 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to his family and relatives. Willard traveled down to Foochow. He found that the return trip to Ing Tai was challenging because of river conditions from the rain. He tells of his bed mat making enterprise for the blind men of Ing Tai. Rice is expensive and hard to find. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Ing Tai, Foochow, China

July 3rd. 1940.

Dear Gould's and Virginia's family

Geraldine, Dot and Harold and Monnie

Kathleen and Hugh's Family

Ben and Abbie and Family, Phebe and Mary, and Annie

Stanley and Myra and Family

Emma, Etta and Elbert:-

Since writing the last time the first of June a lot of water has run over the dam. I went to Foochow May 27th and was busy every day till the 8th. I tried to get up to the mountain but there was no day free. I left for Ing Tai June 8th. McClure was with me. We had engine trouble and did not get to the end of the launch journey till about 4 p.m. And the water was so high no boat would even talk of moving. So we hired a clean boat and slept on it. We got food in a Chinese restaurant in the village. There were others in the same box. One man with four students said he simply had to get on. He found a boat that would go up river six miles for $12.00. We reached Gak Liang 12 miles from Ing Tai about noon on Sunday. I was able to get a chair and four coolies and two load carriers for Mac but I was stuck there. The next day after half a day of dickering I was off with three coolies for the 12 mile ride at 12:30. The price was to be $9.00 for the three men. The road was BAD, Mud, mud, mud. But I arrived in good season and gave the men a $10.00 bill. If you could see some of these roads you would want as much for carrying a big lubber 12 miles. It continued to rain. Mac went home the next Wednesday. The river was so high that no boat was moving and I got a boat to go with him alone. He went flying down.

I was off again for Foochow the 22nd. I was 2 ½ hours going to the launch stop, - from 5:30 to 8:00 a.m. We waited four hours then some 20 of us decided to take a row boat the rest of the way, lest the launch should fail to come. Just as we were nicely settled in this boat the launch stuck its nose in sight around the bend of the river. It took every day but Thursday was filled with comm's etc. The one day I went to Kuliang. It was a beautiful day. One of my former students, living at Kuliang with a wife and six children got dinner for me. I saw two houses and arranged to have them repaired and got back home at 4:00 p.m. - made the trip as a gentleman. I was to have started for Ing Tai that Saturday. But it rained and the water was over the road and I just stuck until Monday when I had a nice day all the way. Helen and Mary Frances left for Foochow last Thursday. Eunice, Helen's sister is leaving Foochow for furlough yesterday or today. Helen of course wanted to see her before she left. I am making all plans to leave here day after tomorrow. Today is Sunday July 7th. I am leaving with 40 or 50 tins of that delicious preserved ginger. It is made of the tender young sprouts a little larger than your finger and from an inch to two inches long. The cook boils them and soaks them seven times. He pours off the water each time. The hot stuff in the roots is thus tempered so it is delicious. He uses a lot of sugar. When I get to Foochow I will try to send a tin to some of you.

At last the blind men have started on the making of bed mats of a kind of grass that grows here. I had to tell one of them that he got no more help from me till he started. Within half an hour he had material and was at work. One of them got sick while I was in Foochow. I had left money for him and told him not to bother Helen. He had been to her and got her to write three notes to two doctors for medicine and had got her to give him three dollars. To cap his stubbornness he walked up to beg of her in the rain with a fever of 103. I looked him up when I got back. He married two years ago against the wishes of all his helpers. No one had seen his wife. I arranged for him to go to the hospital. That nite he was at my door again for money. None came and I told he would get no more from me. He must send his wife for it. The next day he was here again, and the next. Then three days went by and as I was leaving the house a little girl stood on the steps and said she had come for Teacher Diong's pay. I could not think who it was. At last after several questions it came to me that this was Mrs. Diong. And some money came. The last time I was in Foochow I came back to find that he had sold a cornet that Mr. Smith had given him for use in services in Ing Tai. He had sold it for $35.00. Some one had it back in my house. The end of this is not yet.

It is evident that the people here got well wrought up over the rice situation at the beginning of the year. Four men went into the northern part of the province to buy for all the schools in this district. They were gone four months. They got rice all right and much cheaper than local rice could be gotten. But the cost of the expedition was about $800.00. And one teacher, - of athletics- did not meet a class during the other than buying rice all right. The principal of Dung Ing school helped him straighten out his accounts. When it was proposed to send men again now to buy rice he refused to go. The government sent a man down to a place near Foochow to investigate one consignment of the rice. He charged $72.00 for the trip. I go down for $3.00 ordinary, or for $13.00 in luxury, which means I take a chair and do no walking.

Just before going down the last time Helen bought 100 lbs. of plums. I took half of them. A little boy came begging for money to start in business. This means money to buy some fruit to sell. I gave him 100 plums. He returned in two days said the plums were sold for 60 cents. I said all right take some more and give 10 cents for each hundred. He sold 300. He gave me 30 cents and said he made $1.50. How is that for business? My guardian angel Ne Mu laughed at me. But she agreed it was better than giving the boy money outright.

Mother had had a girl about 20 years old to do mending half a day a week. Last Saturday evening she came to see Mother. I was in my study. Mother called me in to help understand the girls story. She had come to bid Mother good bye. The day before a man in the government here in Ing Tai had called on her and asked her to be his wife. His first wife had died not long ago and left him with three boys the eldest twelve years old. She told him she was a Christian and could not have any idolatry in wedding ceremony or the home. He said he had not used idols for a long time. She accepted him. That morning he had taken her out and bought one dress that cost $60.00 and other clothes that in all cost over $100.00. He said that his position made it best for his wife to have good clothes. This girl was getting one good meal a day from a rice kitchen, and Mother used to give her dinner when she worked for her. It is a sudden and big change for her. But it makes one less for the rice kitchen.

My big problem the past few days has been to know what to do for ten graduates of the Junior High School here. Positions for such there are none. These boys have been orphans all their life and have had all things prepared for them. They have now reached the stage where they are prepared for nothing except further study. They are above working with their hands. Four of them are going to Foochow tomorrow. We will see that they have money to carry them for two months. This morning they came for one months money. They asked me to add enough for their transportation to Foochow. It was higher than I expected and I asked them. They said each would have baggage to be carried. I was cruel perhaps, but I told them that when I graduated from college I transported my own baggage from my room to the R.R. station to save a quarter. I finally told them the transportation money I had given them was theirs to do with as they pleased.

What did you do the Fourth? Hay is falling in the meadows. Is the air port in use already? How is Mr. Strickland? I had a very fine letter from Mr. Morse a few days ago. Eight pages of good clear reading.

I have had no news for three or more days of the condition in Europe. Did I write that the letter to the Boothe Brothers was worth to me $110.00? With lots of love Father

The mats shown here being made by the Foochow Boy's Blind School may be similar to the ones Willard had his Blind School in Ing Tai making.

[Photo purchased from ebay by Jana L. Jackson and donated to Yale in 2007.]

[This letter dated about July 7, 1940 was written from Savannah, Georgia by Kathleen to Jerry. Jerry is getting Jill a doll. Kathleen has not heard from Willard and Ellen and wonders if it is because of the Japanese takeover in China. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2230 E. Gwinnett
Savannah Ga.
July 7 [About 1940]

Dear Jerry:

The news on your card made Jill quite ecstatic. I was bolted over by the price tho, for I had no idea they ran so high. This must be something extra special de lux. Jill's only standard of evaluation is Molly's big doll which her Aunt sent her from the store where she is buyer in Ohio and it answers approximately the description I gave you. I'm sending you five dollars for it and will let you go the two if you want to make that your Christmas present to Jill. Thank you muchly for doing it for us. I thought after I asked you that I might have ordered it from Sears Roebuck but they might have been out of them at this season too. It's funny how little you can get in the toy line outside the Christmas season.

Well, are you actually out of your job now so that your shoulders are free from their heavy burden? How soon are you leaving on your trip and will it really be Mexico? I haven't heard whether Pearl and Bill have come back from there but suppose they are in Woodstock for the summer ne ce pas?

Say what do all these notices from a Bridgeport lawyer about Uncle Oliver's estate mean? I thought it was not to be administered until Aunt Annie went. I guess whatever the notices mean they don't require any action on our part.

Do you have any letters from China? I haven't seen a letter from either Mother or Father since I came to Savannah. Don't their letters get thru any more since the Japanese took over? We saw an interesting "March of Time" picture on the Chinese war the other day and some of the scenes look very natural. The show we took in was the only celebration we had for July 4, not even a fire-cracker or a sparkler. Fireworks are against the law here as they are in most cities I guess. It is plenty warm here these days and it rains almost every day, so you can imagine we don't do any more than we have to.

If you haven't already sent the doll you can send it express collect which will be less bother to you. I am almost as excited about seeing it as Jill is for I never had a really lovely doll and so I'll renew my childhood with Jill's prize. Thanks again. It was very good of you to do it.

Love from all
Kathie

Photos of a picnic at Century Farm 1940- Willard and Ellen were in China at the time.

Written on photo: "1940"
Picnic at Century Farm
[Photos from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated about July 14, 1940 was written from Savannah, GA by Kathleen to Jerry. Jill received her doll, Patsy, from Geraldine. Hugh is working for the Express Co. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2230 E. Gwinnett
Savannah
July 14 [About 1940]

Dear Jerry:

Dolly arrived today and was unwrapped amid the greatest excitement and squeals of glee. She came up to our highest and wildest dreams and we are all delighted with her. I guess this is one of the happiest days Jill has known and she hardly left her prize for a minute. Of course all her clothes have been off and on again several times but I put my foot down on touching the lovely coiffeur. Cynthia had a broad smile on when she first saw the doll but when she found out that she could only hold it for a minute the tears flowed freely for some time. But with a promise of a new doll of her own soon and the handing over of Roberta to her she soon was cheerful again and has been very good about it the rest of the day.

I'm so glad you got a braided wig instead of a curled one for I remember Molly's doll's hair (a la Shirley Temple's curls) was in a wild mat inside two weeks, and I think this should keep for a long time with care. She has a very pretty face I think and isn't the hat cute? Did you pay the postage or did the store stand that? Jill has been proudly showing her around to everybody and has decided to call her Patsy. She may change her mind about that but for now she goes by Patricia. I am trying to have Jill take very good care of her so she will last a life time. I certainly never had such a lovely doll and I'm getting almost so much pleasure out of it as Jill is. It will be fun to make clothes for her.

Jill is writing you a letter of her own to thank you for getting the doll but I'll put in my echo again in thanks for your financial help in getting such a grand "edition".

The other day one of those travelling photographers came by and asked to take a picture of the children so I let him and this enclosed picture is the result. I was rather disappointed in it but got half a dozen of them anyway. Jill had not been feeling well for two days which is perhaps the reason for her pinched expression but I was sorry I had it taken at all.

It is so hot tonight I have to stop and fan myself every few lines. The past few days have been muggy, rainy and hot. It makes me feel very loggy and I don't get much done. People say this section has not had such a rainy spell in sixty years, but I guess it is making up for the very dry spring.

The Express wife's club had its monthly meeting out at the beach last Thursday so the children and I had a picnic but poor Daddy had to get dinner downtown and get off to work. It was refreshing to get out by the water in the evening for I'm always shut up in the house at night. We rode out with the Agent's wife who seems like the most cultured woman I have met in the club, but they are all very nice to me. The beach isn't as nice as Clearwater or St. Pete beaches and the surf is so high that one can't really swim.

Hugh's parents may come up the last of this month bringing Molly [Mary McNutt] and Chickie [Rollin McNutt] for a few days. Our little picket sized apartment will be bulging it's walls but the cousins will have a great time together. Jill is bereft of playmates this summer so the doll comes in especially well and she will love showing it to Molly.

Are you still in Chicago and what are the plans for summer and winter by now? We want you here next year if you don't go to Cal. You know. Love 'n more too

Kathie

[written by 5 year old Jill]

Dear Aunt Jerry

Thank you for getting my doll. I think she is the best doll I ever saw. I call her Patsy.

Love

Jill

[Also, a letter written by Cynthia is all scribbles.]

[This letter dated July 17, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. He tells of his trip to Foochow from Ing Tai and the difficulty of finding a boat because of a flood. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow July 17 -1940

Dear Geraldine:-

Two whole weeks is a long time to hold up a letter just to put in a few lines of personal thoughts isn't it? But it's just what I have done.

We are still in Foochow. I came down from Ing Tai a week ago yesterday hoping to go to Kuliang in a day or two, but the Principal of Wenshan Girl's School has created a situation that makes me stay on until Saturday July 20 at the earliest.

Miss Tapley a lady who is teaching in Foochow College- not an appointee of the Board- was coming down with me. We had set July 9 as the date to come. But on the 8th a big flood was swirling down river and I could not find a boat that would go. So I wrote Miss Tapley and went to bed with no early rising on my mind. At 6 a.m. July 9th I opened my eyes to a clear sky, sent the cook to the river to see if a boat would go. Before I was clothed a boatman was at my door to say he would go. At 8 I was on his boat, and in 15 min, down river a mile watching for Miss. T. and her Chinese companions. An hour passed. Every few minutes a passenger whom we could or would not refuse got on. An hour we waited. The last real passenger was on and we were off at 9:20. The boatmen said he was trying to reach Nang Bieng that nite. Miss Tapley does not speak the language and asked where we would all (13) sleep? The boat was full of baggage 50+ pieces, 5 or 6 orphans, a cook his wife and baby etc. I answered vaguely. We were going down river almost 10 mi. an hour. As we turned the bend that brought in view the place where the launch should be. It was there and a glad shout sent the air. But above that shout was changed to another quite different. The launch 40 rods away was pulling out and leaving us. They saw us and headed toward us. I talked a minute with the launch man and we tied securely to his launch and flew down to Nang Bieng arr'd at 2 p.m. 5 hours from Ing Tai- a very quick trip. Miss T. was happy.

Aunt Mary writes that she has $90 in your B-port Bank acc't and before this it must be over $100. Keep up the good work. It is very hot here- 90-94 in the house. The spring and all June and July ?? 12th were cool.

What a state Europe is in. If I did not believe in an all wise, all loving God I should have very little interest in living longer. But He sees the end of man's madness, and to us there is much very much to live for. Much love Father

Monnie and Ralph's wedding day- August 31, 1940- St. John's, Newfoundland, Canada

Monnie is wearing a blue dress with a black velvet hat according to Nancy Butte.

L to R: Phebe M. Beard, Ralph and Marjorie Beard Butt, Reverend Ross, Winnifred Butt (sister), Donald Hambling (Ralph's cousin) [Names written on back of photo]

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

In an email to Jana, Nancy Butte wrote: "Ralph was an apprentice with the Hudson's Bay Co. when Monnie met him. It was a long engagement because apprentices were not allowed to marry. Later, they lived in Labrador and then in far northern British Columbia near the Yukon border, managing Hudson's Bay Posts!! That means trading sugar and coffee and blankets with trappers--mostly natives--for furs!! Amazing. I have Indian moccasins for baby John [born in 1943], and a photo of the chief who offered a stack of furs for the blond blue-eyed baby boy!! "

[This letter dated Sept 8, 1940 was written from Clearwater, Florida by Kathleen to Jerry. Dorothy may come south for Christmas. Hugh is currently not working. She refers to the latest news and Hitler. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

R.D. 1 Clearwater Fla
Sept 8 [1940]

Dear Jerry:

Actually I have an hour all to myself and by myself which I have been waiting for to begin this letter. You have been grand about writing and keeping me posted about family proceedings up there. Monnie is married by now and probably on her way to Davis Inlet for which I am thankful.

Hugh has been away for three days driving his father to Jacksonville, ostensibly to look at roofing for his house, but I think more than half the reason was so that father could get away for a jaunt. He can stand it at home about so long and then he has to go somewhere and do something to break the monotony. Mother is so sweet about it, understanding his need of a change perfectly and not seeming to mind at all. She dislikes travel, in fact anything which upsets her very routine life, but urges him to go when he needs it. Perhaps she finds relief in his absence from his irritability and domination. The men are due back today and I am glad I won't have to spend any more nights alone, tho I didn't mind it much this time. The children are now at Sunday School which explains my unusual solitude.

I was delighted when Dot suggested coming down for Xmas and of course you must come too. Save up your vacations so that you can have the time off (can you?) and if you have any of your old trouble I wish you would come prepared to stay until you feel fit again. Chances are that we won't be here for Hugh should be working by then (heaven knows where) but wherever we are there will certainly be room for you all, and what a jolly Christmas it will be.

Much thanks for the pretty necklace. It will fit alright with a link or two out and it goes beautifully with the dress. I'm glad the mangos hit the spot with you. They really weren't above average in flavor and size but were the best I could do to them. They are long past now, also!

We are entertaining the Shaws from Haines City this week. There are four of them coming so I won't get much sewing or anything else done. They are lovely people so we should have a good time. Lois goes to Maryville college next week.

What a surprise that Bill and Pearl are to be in Berea this year. Have they ever met Gertrude or Chili, and to you think they will like it there?

War news grows worse and poor Mother is agonized. Why won't that awful Hitler stop? If only bad weather would set in.

How goes it in the new department? Hope it doesn't detract from your needed rest to be with others. Love
Kathie

Cynthia calls her stomach her "tummyache" so when it does ache she says her "tommyache hurts." Her most recent game is to find the "cockroach in your mouf". I don't know where she got the idea but she penetrates to the tonsils for investigation.

[This typewritten letter dated September 15, 1940 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to his family and relatives. Postage is increasing and mail from the U.S. comes slowly. He refers to all of the activities of the family members. He tells of having to choose who to help in Ing Tai and tells more about the straw mat making business. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson and a copy also is in the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Ing Tai, Foochow, China.
Sunday, September 15th, 1940.

Dear Gould & Virginia, Hazel & Willard; Kathleen & Hugh, Jacquilin, Cynthia Geraldine, Dorothy & Harold; Marjorie;
Phebe & Mary; Ben & Abbie; Annie;
Stanley & Myra;

Emma, Etta & Elbert,-

This is the last 50 cent letter I can write they say. After the first of October the rate of foreign postage will be $1.00 per letter. I am not surprised for the last I heard exchange was 18 to 1.

Your letters came regularly but it takes them a long time. Here are some dates. Geraldine's mailed Chicago July 1, delivered Sept. 9. Emma's mailed Putnam, June 16th. delivered Sept. 9, Century Farm, mailed Bridgeport, 17th. delivered Sept. 9. One from Alice Emery the same. As far as I can be certain we have received all letters, and I do not know of any of ours that have not been received. The letters from home come slowly but they get here, some with the censor's stamp on them but intact.

Your letters are most interesting. Jerry's rising to be the director of the whole shebang, both Gould and Virginia crossing and recrossing the continent, parking one child here another there,- we do not pretend to follow you very closely but we feel you are on the job, whether it's chasing a plane or a husband then Jerry dashing one week to Cincinnati, the next to Minneapolis, between making home runs in the organization of her kennel, Myra in the hospital one week and rushing to a party the next. But his time we do not hear from Stanley. He must be staying on the job. Monnie has had her week with Jerry and now what? Vinnie convalescing. With the ther. at 83 in my room, I have just gotten a towel to wipe my arms to keep the salty water from my arms dripping on the machine. This is the hottest I've seen since the first of July. It has been delightful until today. This last sentence was an interpolation. To start again. Phebe and Mary doing a rushing business in hay,- not so good on the garden. The same was true here, tomatoes were ruined by too much rain and they have not recovered. My package of garden seeds came all right from Burpee. I have the soil ready for putting in lettuce and a few other seeds. Ard is a great old sport, I'll have a talk with him when I get back. Say what was the sequel to that midnite auto race between Dr. Booe [Boone?] and his midnite guests? You left them in the middle of the road somewhere in Bridgeport. Elbert and Emma and Etta wearing out the good roads of the country, incidentally calling on a lot of relatives. I am frequently wondering if I'll get another car when I get back. Your reference to the E. Walter Smiths was the first we have heard of that in months. The last I knew there were five or six people in Shanghai waiting to get to Foochow. People are going and coming,- not exactly on pleasure trips,- heard last week that 400 were waiting to get to Shanghai from Foochow.

I left Kuliang Sept. 2 just at the end of a baby typhoon. Mother got up late and she stayed til Sept. 7th. I had planned to come to Ing Tai with Susan Armstrong on the ????. But there was a big flood on and I had one experience last spring coming to Ing Tai in a flood and I did not care to repeat it. So we waited til the 6th and had a nice trip up. I found NeMu had ordered milk for two days already and she had eggs and rice for me I was sumptuously fed and cared for. I found some sheets and a pillow case of Helen's and the room had been closed so long the mosquitoes had not found their way in. My baggage stayed on the boat and came up the next day. I have been up this stretch of the river for $3.00 lots of times and since coming back for $8.00. Now the transportation Co. has charge and the price was $29.70. Rather than spend the nite on the boat Susan and I came on the last six miles, she by foot I by chair. It's a bit humiliating to ride while a lady walks but,- you know why. Ellen is full of her embroidery business with some twelve women. She will likely stay in Foochow till Mrs. Topping gets back about Christmas.

I plan to go to Foochow next Weds, Sept. 18 and return the 25th. for the retreat under the auspices of the Fukien Christian Council. About 9 or 10 of us go from here. There are to be 150 delegates, some 200 in all at the Retreat. It takes in all the northern part of the province.

Foochow College and Wen Shan plan to open the last of the month. All the Ing Tai schools are in full swing. This morning the church was so full some could not find seats. We shall likely put in another service.

The last week has been rather full and what shall I say? harrowing. Rice hangs at 2 lbs. for $1.00. The poor are hard put to it to get,- not enough, but food to keep alive. They know,- some of them so,- that orphans are given food and bed here and schooling. Women with their young, men with their young, business men with the children of friends and neighbors, old NeMu with those who prevail on her to plead for them. This is the first experience I have had of picking out those whom we can help. I have asked a man of experience, a Chinese preacher-teacher, whom I baptized when he was 4 years old up on one of these beautiful mountains,- a true and faithful man, to sit with me and help in the selection. I may be getting a bad name but I know I'm getting a good name in some minds. They tell me Ned Smith used to have to dash out of one room into another across the hall and lock the door to keep them from tramping on him. Before I knew this I had closed and locked the door and let them in one by one. One woman tried to force her way in as I was letting in a little boy. I tried to close the door, telling her to wait. She grabbed the edge of the door and was forcing herself in. I took her hand and had to use about all my strength to unclasp her hold of the door. I think it had a good effect on the rest for there were no more of that kind of acting. One noon as I was at lunch with Miss Armstrong a little boy of about ten came up the walk and walked right in the door and grabbed my arm with both hands. "I have no father, no mother, you must help me." I looked at him and told him plainly to let go of my arm. After telling him three or four times he obeyed. Then I told him to go to the door. He did, I did not know what he would do when I went home but he followed me only a short distance and I lost him.

I have written about a plan to get the blind men to make straw matting. I had everything all set just as I left for the summer. When I came up ten days ago I found 25 mats, and there are two more now. But a greater innovation is that there are only part of the blind men who do the work. The others do not know how. I told one of them a troublesome fellow that I wanted him to learn. He demurred, then I went to three of the leaders in the work here and asked what they thought of the proposal. They all agreed it should be done. But they all wanted me to do it. I told them plainly that it was more to them than to me. If they would stand behind me I would do it. Yesterday I took him down to the shop and introduced him to the workers. I think he will do it. If not he will find his own living. These mats are a superior article and will sell for 25% more than ordinary mats, - if we ever get our own students, - orphans supplied. Incidentally I am learning a lot from this business. A grass has been found near here (thus far all grass has come from Foochow) that makes a superior mat but not as strong for boys to play on. Grown ups prefer it. We now have the grass, the frame and all for using it to make mats.

I have credited the King's Daughters of the Shelton Cong'l ch. with $10.00, and I'll write them soon. I am sorry for Mr. Strickland and for the family. When he gets better he must learn how to conserve his strength. It always seemed to me he was doing a lot of things that were not of the greatest importance. I have always maintained that the successful man was the one who knew and did what was of prime importance and who has the sagacity and will power to leave undone secondary things. And I have found this a very difficult program to carry out.

The government is calling for all graduates of Junior High schools and above. All the graduates of our Ing Tai schools have positions as far as I know. This is a great help to me for formally it was very difficult to find jobs for boys with only that amount of schooling. The magistrate here has practically promised to use all the graduates we can turn out.

With love to all Father

[This letter, dated September 20, 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Catherine Hsueh, wife of the principal of Foochow College to her friends. She has just been in American and tells about her trip back and the challenge of getting from Shanghai to Foochow. Letter from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Foochow, Fukien, China
September 20, 1940

Dear Friends:-

How happy we are to be at home in Foochow this morning after almost two months of travel, some of which was dangerous and trying especially from Shanghai to Foochow; but yesterday morning we reached our home at Fairy Bridge.

After leaving San Francisco on August 9th, we had a very pleasant trip until after we left Kobe, Japan, where we met a strong typhoon. On August 26th, instead of reaching Shanghai in the morning we got there at about ten o'clock P.M. on account of the typhoon. We had to go ashore that night because the boat had to leave there for Hongkong the next day. My heart and mind were very tense because I had no idea where to go. During that time I just prayed God to lead me. When the launch came to the dock, I heard a voice calling me, "Mrs. Hsueh" from far away. You cannot imagine how happy I was to see two of my husband's former students coming to meet me and they took us to a hotel in the British concession. For twenty days we lived in that hotel. Because of the improper food, my youngest daughter, Elizabeth had a digestive upset. I had a very hard time then. On one hand, we thought that we could not dare to come back to Foochow because no boat was safe. A week before we reached Shanghai a boat for Foochow was pirated and all the passengers were sent back to Shanghai except nine who were kidnapped. The day we reached Shanghai from America, another boat tried to come to Foochow but was stopped and all the passengers were disembarked at a wild place on the coast and had to walk overland for more than twenty days. On the other hand, we could not live in Shanghai longer because living in the hotel was very expensive - - $15.00 a day for lodging, $15.00 a day for board. It is very crowded in Shanghai - - not a single room could we rent outside the hotel. It was a very trying time. There was no way to stay in Shanghai and no way to come back to Foochow.

While I was thinking and worrying, a person came to tell me that another boat would go to Foochow soon. Immediately I decided to take my children home. Many people thought that I was very foolish to attempt this. It would be dangerous for the children and there was no way to take any baggage. For nights I could not sleep well. I prayed earnestly to the Lord asking Him what I should do.

One morning when I got up I said to myself that I should go to buy tickets. On September 12th, we took a boat which had not definite destination. On the 17th, the boat could not go further so it anchored in the open sea outside a small, unfrequented harbor. While I was standing on deck wondering how to get my children and baggage suddenly we all saw Donald in a small boat with both hands raised in welcome. Then the burden dropped from my shoulders. He explained that he had no certain word of our coming to that harbor, but he determined to go on a chance to that particular port himself and sent a friend to another place to meet us in case we got through the blockade. Then we took a boat to the shore and from there we took sedan chairs across the mountains toward the Min River. Another day by sail-boat and on September 19th, at 3:30 in the morning we reached our home. It was all right for grown up people to travel day and night but it was very hard for the children. We thank the Lord that we reached home safe; and we were doubly grateful to have reached home in safety that when we learned that the next two boats that followed us were turned back to Shanghai by bombing planes. Only this one boat could have brought us to our destination without terrible fear and danger.

The first day that our children were at home they ran about the compound to see everything that they remembered. Elizabeth asked why there was no fruit on a tree that Mabelle had planted. When we answered that it had to be gathered, she said, "Blow me down! Didn't they leave me one?"

On the American steamer to Shanghai there were fifteen vicious criminals on board who were being deported, but who were allowed to be free in the boat. It was hot but I had to keep the children in the cabin, but this annoyance did not compare with the difficulty from Shanghai to Foochow.

The day after we arrived at Foochow the siren blew twice. All the people have got used to it, but our children got scared. Fortunately the bombing planes did not come to the city. Poor people are everywhere around. Many are starving. They are enduring unspeakable suffering.

The children and I are indebted to so many American friends for love, sympathy, help and prayers that we are sending you word at once of our safe arrival in Foochow.

I hasten to send this letter as our family will go to Ingtai, an interior town where my husband has moved Foochow College. There our work will be at least for the coming year.

Please do not hesitate to send letters for all first class mail is sure to reach me.

With much love and deep appreciation from all of us.

Affectionately yours,

Catherine Lin Hsueh

Mrs. Donald Hsueh
Foochow College
Ingtai, Fukien,
China

This is a photo of Catherine Lin and Donald Hsueh (Principal of Foochow College) taken on their wedding day, January 24, 1922 in Foochow

[Photo from Phebe Kinney Beard's scrapbook in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This note dated about Fall of 1940 was written possibly from Savannah, GA by Jill to her Aunt Jerry (Geraldine). She thanks her for the books Geraldine gave her. Donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[About Fall of 1940]

Dear Aunt Jerry

I am learning to read the books that you gave me. Can you come to see me for Christmas? I want to climb trees with you.

Love
Jill

[This letter dated Fall of 1940 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Jerry. He requests that Geraldine send another diary for 1941. A group of missionaries arrived in Foochow just one month after leaving San Francisco. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Fall of 1940]

Dear Jerry-

If I am not mistaken the two last mails have brought each a letter from you. When this reaches you it will be most time to think about another Diary= one for 1941. How far away that used to seem.

Last nite or rather this a.m. at 2:30 the following people arrived for our mission from the U.S.- They made the trip from San Francisco in a month,- just happened to make good connections in Shanghai.

Dr. and Mrs. Sam Leger, Eva Asher, Leona Burr, - Mrs. Donald Sieh or Hseuh- Miss Uong Sieu ding, Mr. Tang Ng Bue.

One telegram from Monnie came just a day or two ago. I came down from Ing Tai yesterday, - ostensibly to attend a Retreat. But I had 3 blind boys to look after all the way over to their school up at the north gate- and a woman who is coming to the hospital for an operation. There were some 15 in the party. We made the first lap of the journey in good time, got to launch at 10. Waited until 2 p.m. It got stuck on a sand bar and had to wait for tide. Then we towed 2 sam pans down and got to land at Uong Bing at 5:45. I had the 3 blind boys and a sick woman to look after and got home about 9:30.

How we shall look for the next letter from Monnie and for the comments of you all.

With much love

Father

Conserve your strength.

[on a separate smaller piece of paper]

I should like a Diary a little wider than the one you sent last year- about the size of these lines. But this is not at all essential. A diary is the need.

[This letter, dated November 15, 1940, was written from Ingtai, China by Catherine Hsueh, wife of the principal of Foochow College to her friends. She tells about the difficulty of traveling from Foochow to Ingtai by river. Conditions are difficult in China and the teachers and students are trying to continue on despite malaria, shortages of rice and overall problems. The school needs to now build sanitary bathrooms for their 800 boys. Letter from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Foochow College,
Ingtai, Fukien, China.
Nov. 15, 1940

Dear Friends:-

By this time perhaps you have received my last letter telling about our safe arrival in Foochow. Now we are at Ingtai, an interior place where Foochow College is, about thirty-five miles from Foochow City. The trip from Foochow to Ingtai was harder than the one from America to Shanghai.

After staying in our home in the city for two weeks we began to re-pack our things for Ingtai. On Sept. 8th we left Foochow at midnight on a sampan towed by a small launch. The next morning early we came to a rapid where we had to change to a "rat boat" which is still smaller than a sampan.

Ingtai river is very narrow and has more than twenty rapids on the way between Ingtai and Foochow. When the boat came to a rapid the four boatmen jumped into the water, one man at each end of the boat to push it up and the other two men to pull on a long bamboo rope tied to the mast. It required a skilful man to handle the long oar at the end of the boat. One of the boats in which we had put some baggage crashed against the rocks in the rapids and was wrecked and all the games which our American friends gave to our children were lost and some of our clothes spoiled. Fortunately we had put most of our baggage in the boat on which we were.

After two nights on the way we arrived at our destination. The children were very happy to get on shore. We went to live in a Chinese house which is not as good as most of the barns in America. We cleaned it and repaired it and made some stools out of some old boards and made partitions of some pieces of cloth and the children picked some wild flowers for the first decoration. Now since we are used to it we realize that it is better than thousands of other people's homes.

The children go to school while I keep house and teach five hours a week and help Donald with his school work so as to make contacts with the students. This year we have about 1400 students in Foochow College, 800 in the High School at Ingtai and 600 in the Primary in the city. The 800 students up here have a very hard time for they have no proper place to live. Many are still sleeping on the floor until beds can be made. There is no place to buy nourishing food. Sometimes we see some carried on the street but the price is terribly high. The students are hungry most of the time, because all they have to eat is old rice and a little bit of vegetable to make it palatable. My children always come from school hungry and, after searching the cupboard, exclaim that our cupboard is emptier than "Old Mother Hubbard's."

Even though the students have a very hard time, they have never complained. They are very ambitious to prepare themselves for future usefulness.

Not only the students have been patient during the transition from the City campus to this barren hillside, but the teachers have borne all these discomforts bravely. Not one teacher or his family has been free from malaria. Rice has been so scarce and so expensive that the teachers have suffered great hardship. Still they remained faithful to the school. Sometimes it breaks my heart to see these educated men suffering for enough food. Because the price of food is so high, and salaries in mission schools are so low, these loyal teachers have partly starved, and their families never have really enough food. We ought to do better by these educated, trained workers. If not, at the close of this war these people will be exhausted. How I long for just a share of the good things of America to pour into my suffering country! You can imagine how hard my husband has tried in every way to better the condition of his teachers and their families. His responsibility is truly very heavy. Will you remember him in your prayers and in your planning for the new year, that his health and courage may continue? There are marvelous opportunities in our work right now and we want to meet them bravely in a Christian spirit.

How glad we are that friends provided so much quinine! Every day the school nurse gives it out to many patients. It is like part of our food now. Every week we have to take some in order to prevent our getting malaria.

The living conditions are really very hard for everybody but there are some compensations. In the thirteen years that my husband and I have been connected with Foochow College we have never before seen such great spiritual longing on the part of the students. Because the church is small, the student body is divided into four groups for Sunday services, besides Sunday School and Bible Classes. At Christmas time twenty more of our boys will be received into church membership.

Since my husband came back from America in 1939 he has been struggling to make the hillside more comfortable for the students. Because of limited finances our development is very slow. We have a proverb in China, "Even a skillful woman cannot cook a meal without rice". No matter how good the plans are we cannot carry them out without financial help. Now we are still in need of funds to build sanitary bathrooms for 800 boys. When the school fled to Ing tai the health conditions were unspeakable. During this year my husband has made all the improvements that we had money for and has engaged a trained nurse and a graduate doctor, for there is not other medical help nearer than Foochow City. In spite of this, we are finding it impossible to fight against skin diseases which the students get from lack of bathing facilities.

A contractor has estimated that $250.00 U.S. will be sufficient to build enough bathrooms to keep the boys in health and cleanliness. May God open some way for us!

My family and I are keeping well for which I am very thankful. I love to hear from you. Please write to me when you have time. I am very lonesome for America and the good friends there. This letter may reach you around Christmas time. Last year at this time we were near you. This year we are far away from each other. All that I can give you this year for a Christmas present is heaps of love and our deep appreciation. May our dear Lord bless you and take good care of you all. "The Lord of peace himself give you peace always by all means."

Affectionately yours,

Catherine Lin Hsueh

[This typewritten letter dated Nov. 29, 1940 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. He sends a report of the work in Ing Tai. He heard from his sister, Phebe, about Monnie and Ralph's wedding. He requests that she send ½ pounds of Royal Baking Powder to Ellen. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Ing Tai, Foochow, China
Nov. 29- 1940

Dear Geraldine:-

This is a trial letter. I wanted to write sort of a report of the work in Ing Tai since I came up. Paper and print ink are so high, it would cost me over $50.00 to have the letter printed, so I borrowed the copying apparatus from Dung Ing and tried my luck. The stencil paper is a bit different from what I used to write with nearly 50 years ago, and 50 years of disuse has shown its effect. I hope you will have patience to read it. I will send a copy to each of our own so you may [have] this to work on at odd moments, if you know what that means. I have no such things.

Aunt Phebes two letters written after she had been to St. Johns and seen Monnie married are most interesting. How I have devoured them. And how I long for a letter from Mrs. Ralph Butt herself. Mother and I have read Aunt Phebe's letter separately now we'll have to read them again when we are together. I hope your new location is proving satisfactory. Since reading your last letter, I told mother it was good not to read anything about your health. It ought to mean that you had forgotten it. I hope so.

I trust you received my check all right. I should have sent Christmas greetings in the last letter, but I did not so they are reinforced by a delay of two weeks. I did not get Gould's birthday greetings in either.

Last nite we had our Ing Tai Thanksgiving. The six Americans, Helen Smith, Mary Frances Buckhout, Alice Tapley, Susan Armstrong, Lucy Lanktree, and Mrs. Donald Hsueh, Mr. and Mrs. Iong Ming Sung and Miss Uong Sieu Ding, - English speaking. We had a rooster and a hen and lots of good things and pumpkin pie that was GOOD to top off. The E. Walter Smiths have written that they are on the way to Foochow. The Board sent them to Peiping in spite of the wish expressed by practically all the missionaries here and at home and the vote of the Synod and the telegram to the Board from the Synod. Now the question is where will they go first? They say in the letter that they wish to come straight to Ing Tai.

Say do you want to see if you can mail Mother a ½ lb. tin of Royal Baking Powder? We can get practically everything we need except that.

I am mailing this now and will have it printed for the others, so you will get it in advance of the others, altho in a sort of hodge podge.

The ther. this morning is at 55 degrees.

Lovingly yours,
Father

Since I wrote this the E. Walter Smiths write that they are leaving Peiping hoping to come straight to Ing Tai starting "before Thanksgiving."

I. Living conditions

These have eased up a little. Rice has gone down from 2 lbs to 3 lbs for one dollar. Hemp from $1.70 to 70 cents for 10 lbs. The government has decided on the price of some commodities. Pork and chicken are fixed at $1.44 per lb. Transportation for a sedan chair with 2 men $1.20 per puo = 3 ½ miles. 70 cents per puo to a ?? road.

II. Education

Ing Tai has become an educational center. Our own school, Dung Ing, has nearly 800 pupils in kindergarten, lower primary, high primary and junior high. In the refugee schools from 700 Foochow are, - Foochow College 800. Wenshan Girls 400, Baoi Ching from Diong Loh, 200. Y.M.C.A. 6 miles down river 400. A government school 12 miles down 400. It is difficult to find suitable leaders for all the Bible classes the students ask for. They conduct Endeavor societies themselves that are alive. A class of 38 students and 4 workmen is preparing for church membership at the next communion. Attendance at church services is voluntary, and it is necessary to hold four services each Sunday to accommodate the students and others who attend. Pastor Ling invites some of the teachers and myself to help in preaching.

III. Conferences

In July we held a very satisfying two days meeting with the Christian workers of the district. All leaders were from Ing Tai. The meetings proved very helpful, specially the Bible study periods, in which all were asked to quietly study John 3/ one day, and Rom. 12/ the next day and then each gave one thought from his study. The verdict at the close of the meeting was, - "fully satisfying." In Sept. 10 of us attended a conference in Foochow sponsored by the Fukien Christian Council. 200 men met for a week of Christian fellowship. Travel conditions delayed 2 leaders from outside Foochow. Sometimes it is good to be thrust on your own resources.

IV. Annual Meeting of Synod

The Annual Meeting of the Mid-Fukien Synod of the Church of Christ in China was held in Foochow in the beautiful, quiet, convenient buildings of the Union kindergarten, now meeting in Yang Kau, nearly 200 miles up the Min River. It was purposely short and small, - 47 members with as many more attending. A spirit of unity, comradeship and helpfulness was present from beginning to end. Some revision of the constitution was made. The voting members of the Synod are: - the General Secretary and Associate, 2. 10 members from each Diong Loh and Ing Tai and 15 from Foochow. 17, 10, 10, 15 = 52 in all. I think it is possible to co'opt a few. The Executive Secretaries of the synod are ex officer members of all executive committees and Boards of Managers with vote. An attempt was made to limit the time of office of the general sec'y of the synod to two terms. It failed. Rev. Ling Iu Au was elected Gen'l Sec'y. Hung Seng Huang was elected Gen'l Sec'y of the Foochow district and Educational Sec'y of the synod. A comm. was elected to work out a system for salaries of workers.

Two men were ordained. Ling Kung Ek and Ling Ching Ing both of Ing Tai. This service had not been planned by the agenda committee.

Please turn to page 2

It seemed necessary to hold it on the last evening, which had been reserved for the Holy Communion. The suggestion was made that we omit the Holy Communion. A layman said he considered the Holy Communion the most important and helpful service of the Annual Meeting. He saved the day and the Holy Communion was held Friday morning at 6:30 o'clock with a full attendance, and all with whom I talked agreed that it was the most helpful service of the Annual Meeting.

The new industry of mat-weaving with straw is moving nicely. To date the blind men have made 59 mats. The orphans are supplied and we have sold $16.00 worth. These mats that we make are better than any that can be purchased in this region. Ours sell for $3.00, while others bring $2.00. We are negotiating for a loom on which to make wash cloths for the orphans. We need 300. Those for sale here are thin and very dear.

We are living off the country. Practically nothing comes from farther away than the port of Foochow. From there we get fish, fresh and salt. No Irish potatoes, but the Chinese sweet potatoes are good. We have had only taste of beef since Sept. that came from Foochow two lbs. We grind our own Ing Tai wheat for cereal and buy flour from Foochow. The only commodity that we must get from home is baking powder. That our friends send in ½ lb. tins thru the mail from the U.S. The Chinese fruits are delicious. Bananas are plentiful and very good. Persimmons and pumelo are also plentiful and very good. Soon we shall have the winter persimmons that will last till February. We will have our first lettuce tomorrow, OUR THANKSGIVING. Our gardens promise carrots, beets, cabbage, cauliflower, kohlrabi, parsnips, strawberries. Most of the seeds came from Burpee's.

I came near forgetting another industry that is saving us about $75.00 a term. The barber was charging 2 cents a head for cutting the orphan's hair when I came here last spring. In June he doubled the price. In Sept. he wanted 8 cents. I suggested that some of the boys learn the trade. Two of the teachers said at once, "O one of the boys knows how in my department, that made two barbers. I said go quick and buy the clippers and shears etc. "But" said one of the teachers "perhaps some of the larger boys will not take kindly to a little boy barber. I told them I would see to that. I went for a hair cut. "It would be better for the boy to come to your house", said one of the teachers. I told him that would defeat my purpose. Many pairs of eyes watched the orphan cut my hair. Thus far no complaint from the older boys has reached me. Two fastidious young American ladies pronounced my hair cut a good one.

We plan to stay here in Ing Tai on the job, altho we know all about the call to come home. No one in Ing Tai or Foochow as far as I know is asking for a sailing.

Your help in helping Ing Tai orphan boys develop into helpful Chinese citizens with Christian attitudes toward world problems.

Willard L. Beard

[This typewritten letter dated November 30, 1940 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to friends. He talks about the cost of food and the difficulty in obtaining it for 800 students. Ing Tai has become a great educational center. His mat-weaving business is working out well and they now have student barbers cutting the boys hair to save the school money. Ships arrive from the U.S. to take Americans back because of the political situation, but from past experience, Willard feels that they are not in danger for the time being and prefers to stay with the work. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson. A copy of the letter was donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Ing Tai, Foochow, China.
November 30th, 1940

Dear Friends:-

Below I have tried to give a few of the most important doings connected with the Christian Movement in Ing Tai during the past few months. The cost of food and the difficulty of getting it at any price, is the subject of nearly half the conversation of every one. As I write this, the heads of the Dung Ing schools do not know where to get rice for supper for the 800 students to day. It is engaged from farmers but the officials will not allow it to come in. But in some way or other the Lord will provide.” The treasury for this work is empty. But again “in some way or other the Lord will provide.”

Living conditions are easing up a little. Rice has gone down from 2 lbs. for $1.00 to 3 lbs. 3 oz. for $1.00. Hemp from $1.70 for 100 lbs. to $70.00. The government has fixed the prices of some articles. Pork and chicken at $1.44 per lb. transportation, 1 sedan chair, 1 puo (3 1/3 miles) $1.20, with 2 men. A load of 70 lbs. 70 cents a puo.

Ing Tai has become a great educational center in the last two years. Our own school, Dung Ing, has nearly 800 pupils in kindergarten, lower primary, higher primary and junior high. In the refugee schools from Foochow are:- Foochow College with 800 plus, Wenshan Girl's School 400, Buoi Ching from Diong Loh 200, Y.M.C.A. six miles down river 400. It is difficult to find suitable leaders for all the Bible classes the students ask for. They conduct Endeavor societies themselves that are very interesting. A class of 38 students and 4 workmen is preparing for church membership. Attendance at church service is voluntary, and it is necessary to hold four services on Sunday to accommodate the students who attend. The one pastor cannot preach four times in one day (he walks five miles to conduct a service for Buoi Ching school Saturday afternoon) so other teachers and I help in the preaching.

In July we held a very satisfying 2 days meeting of the Christian workers of the whole district. The leaders were all from Ing Tai. The meetings were very helpful, specially the Bible Study periods, in which all were asked to quietly study John 3 on one day and Rom. 12 on the other day and each person then gave one thought from his study. The verdict at the close of the meetings was “fully satisfied”. In Sept., ten of us attended a conference in Foochow sponsored by the Fukien Christian Council. Two hundred men and women from the northern part of the province met for a week of Christian fellowship. We had the promise of help from Shanghai, but travel conditions made this impossible, so all leaders were Foochowites. Sometimes it is good to be thrust on your own resources.

The Annual Meeting of the Fukien Synod of the Church of Christ in China was this year held in Foochow in the beautiful, quiet, convenient buildings of the Union Kindergarten Training School, now refugeeing. The meeting was purposely small and short. There were 47 members present from beginning to end. Some revision of the constitution was made. Two men were ordained. Ling Kung Ek and Ling Chiong Ing, both from Ing Tai. This ordination service had not been planned by the agenda committee. It seemed necessary to hold it on the last evening, which had been reserved for the Holy Communion. The suggestion was made that we omit the communion. A layman spoke and said, he considered the Communion the most important and helpful service of the Annual Meeting. He saved the day and the Holy Communion was held Friday morning at 6:30 o'clock. There was a full attendance, and all with whom I have spoken agree that it was the most helpful service of the Annual Meeting.

The new industry of mat-weaving with straw is moving nicely. To date the blind men have made 61 mats. The orphans are supplied and we have sold $16 worth. A shop on the street has agreed to take all we can produce at $3.20 a mat. This is $1.00 more than ordinary mats are selling for. There is no mat-weaving industry in Ing Tai. A young man, a former student here has become partially blind. He has asked to learn the trade. He has been at work for a month, and I am now helping him to get the loom and start the business for himself. There is possibility that he may take the business off our hands and the support of these blind men also. This will give the blind men self respect and be a great relief to us. We are negotiating for a loom on which to make the wash cloths that are a necessity to every Chinese and the orphans must have them.

We are now living off the country. Practically nothing that we eat or use comes from farther away than Foochow. From there we get at intervals, fish, salt and fresh. We have had no Irish potatoes since Sept. The Chinese sweet potato is good. We have had one taste of beef since Sept. that was sent from Foochow,- 2 lbs. We grind our own Ing Tai wheat for cereal and for course flour, grown in Ing Tai. The finer flour comes from Foochow. It is made there from wheat grown nearby. We can not get Baking Powder. This must come from the U.S. Some of our friends are sending it by post. It comes thru all right. The Chinese fruits and vegetables are delicious. Persimmons and pumelo just now are plentiful and GOOD. The hung gek will be here in two weeks and they are as good as oranges. The oranges are already here and there are the two kinds, the so called Florida and the loose skinned. We are all right for fruit till next March. From Burpee's seeds we have already had lettuce and radishes and turnip (one). Carrots, beets, cabbage, kohlrabi, parsnips, kale, peas, corn (if the frost holds off another month,) and strawberries, to come next April. Most of the seeds that you will plant next spring we have already planted and lettuce we are now eating and continue to eat till the weather gets too hot next year.

I came near forgetting another industry that is saving us about $75.00 a term. The barber was charging 2 cents a head for cutting the orphans hair last spring. In June he doubled the price. In Sept. he wanted 8 cents. I suggested that some of the boys learn the trade. At once two of the teachers said "One of the boys in my department know how." This made two barbers, ready made. I said go quick and buy the clippers and shears etc. "But" said one of the teachers "the older boys may not take kindly to a little boy barber." "Leave that to me" I said. I went for a hair cut. "You had better have the boy come to your house. It will be quieter." "Yes, but it would defeat my purpose." So I was barbered with many eyes looking on. Thus far I have heard no objection from the older boys. Two fastidious American ladies pronounced my hair cut a good one.

We know all about the special ships coming to Shanghai to take away Americans. We know all about the efforts to get Americans to go home. We plan to stay here on the job. As far as I know no one has asked for a reservation on a Pacific steamer for the U.S. Mrs. Beard and I have seen several tense situations here in Foochow during the past 46 years. We are pretty sure that if God wants us to leave he will make it clearer than we have yet seen this time.

Your help in helping Ing Tai Orphan boys develop into helpful Chinese citizens with Christian attitudes toward world problems.

Willard L. Beard

The next five photos were probably taken in 1940 when Willard and Ellen were stationed in Ing Tai.

Written on back of photo: "Large farm house Ing Tai"

Written on back of photo: "Bridge Ing Tai Country"

Written on back of photo: "Inside front door of large farm house Ing Tai"
Note farm implements

Written on back of photo: "Students working.
Basket Ball court and garden."

Written on back of photo: "Gardens Ing Tai "

The Ingtai Station. The whole aspect of the Ingtai station has been very greatly changed as a result of the war. This town has suddenly become an educational center of first importance, and a visitor is as conscious of the student life as when visiting New Haven or Cambridge. Ingtai has been very hospitable in the manner in which it has provided for the many guests from Foochow, but it has not been easily done. I believe that the Ingtai Academy itself now has more than eight hundred students, so it is making full use of its regular equipment. However, there has been a good deal of "doubling up" and room has been found for everyone. Nearby houses have been rented, a number of new buildings have been constructed - mostly of the famous Ingtai tamped earth, and a Buddhist [Buddhist?] Nunnery was purchased! The town has suffered only one bombing raid, and at that time no student was injured, so the move into the country has seemed to be justified. About five miles above Ingtai, further into the mountains, at a large family estate, the P'ei Ching Middle School from Diongloh is housed. This is a school for boys and girls. Here in the solitude of the mountains is such a place for study as the ancient sages of China found so stimulation and there have been few thoughts of the bombers that have so often threatened the Foochow region. – Arthur O. Rinden

The Foochow Station. The work of the Foochow station has probably been affected more than that either Diongloh or Ing tai as a result of the war. By the end of April (1940) there had already been sixty-five bomb raids on the city, which destroyed a large amount of property, and were the cause of large numbers of people leaving the city; a great deal of government pressure has also been exerted to this end, as a safety measure. Some bombs have exploded so near to our churches that a considerable amount of property damage was suffered, but I believe that no one of our workers has been killed. – Arthur O. Rinden

Diongloh Station. Diongloh has been affected by the war in much the same way as Foochow. Many people have moved away - - about all those who were financially able, but not a few refugees from occupied regions have moved home again. Various places in the district have been bombed, and two of the churches have been damaged - - one on the coast where it was shelled by war boats, and the other at Pagoda Anchorage, located all too near the Navy work shops. There has been a good deal of work by the women of the churches in preparing clothes for refugees in other regions; this same work is done in the churches of Foochow largely under the direction of Miss Martha Wiley. – Arthur O. Rinden

Industrial Work. A certain amount of industrial work - - sewing, embroidery etc. was started by Miss Josephine Walker for the women who came as refugees from Shaowu to Foochow; this was later carried on by Mrs. Topping, when Miss Walker returned to Shaowu, and is now being cared for by Mrs. Beard. It makes it possible for a group of Christian women to earn their own living. – Arthur O. Rinden

From: Getting Acquainted with the Foochow Mission, China by the ABCFM, 1940-41 [From the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Willard (standing by the pillar) and students from Ing Tai Academy (see flag). About 1940.
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Willard L. Beard

FAMILIARLY called the "Bishop of the American Board," he carries a heavy load of activities with a vigor that belies his forty years in China.

Mrs. W. L. Beard

PAST mistress in the art of pleasing the inner man, but never lets this interfere with teaching at Foochow College and other missionary duties.

["Pleasing the inner man" means Ellen is a good cook.]

The envelope and cardboard covering or sleeve that holds the directory. The directory is in a fan folded fashion.
Other missionary photos from this directory have been inserted throughout these letters. Dated before July 1936.

[Directory in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

Da 190 Siu. Many are Our Enemies.

1. Hô-sék ngô cã iu siu-dik,
Cung dô hung-ak gik chok lik,
Siang-nôi siang gung sông lải ương,
Gaukchey hiông chông ik cã cık.
Hô dẽ ẽ hiông iu nguông mỉnh,
Ik ciông giẽ ngiẽ iing lải lỉnh,
Ik ciông giẽ ngiẽ iing lải lỉnh.
2. Ê-duãng siã-gâu buông bók kék,
Hung cũi sủk sỏ giêng siã pék,
Ciũ hong, ẽ-piêng, bẻng đũ-baũk,
Hũng-hũng bẻi-sủk huai iông-sék.
Hô mủ bók Chĩng, cũ bók kểu,
Bẻng-iũ bók sẻng cã sông ấu,
Bẻng-iũ bók sẻng cã sông ấu.
3. Giêng iu siu-dik siók bók cẻng,
Pỏ hiẽ ciẻng-cải hẻi sẻng-nẻng,
Lỏk lủng lỉnh-hũng gẻng chẻi-chẻik,
Siông dỏ sẻng đong kủ i-sẻng,
Siỏn ói Gẻu-Ciỏ cẻu đong sẻng,
Giũ i gẻng-gẻng gẻu hủa mỉnh,
Giũ i gẻng-gẻng gẻu hủa mỉnh.
4. Gẻ-Dỏk cẻu sẻ iẻng-sẻng nguỏn,
Đũ cẻ gẻng ửi Gẻu-sẻi-bẻng,
Tẻ-nẻng sủk-cỏi mủ Gẻu-Ciỏ,
Cẻi-nẻng Ông-Hẻi đũ sẻk cẻng.
Kỏng-giũ Tiẻng-Hỏ Gẻng Sẻng-sẻng,
Sẻi nẻng sẻng Ciỏ cẻng hủng-lẻng,
Sẻi nẻng sẻng Ciỏ cẻng hủng-lẻng.

Please return to

WYND WOLFERS
WYND WOLFERS
WYND WOLFERS

When you have finished with it

1941

- Foochow invaded by Japan in April 1941
- Willard and Ellen arrive back at Century Farm on September 19, 1941 after returning from China via the Pacific Ocean on the S.S. President Coolidge
- Japan attacks Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941
- US and Britain declare war on Japan
- Atomic Bomb research begins
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Florida
- Marjorie and Ralph are in Davis Inlet, Canada
- Geraldine is in Chicago then moves to Seattle, Washington
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Gould and Virginia may have moved to Great Neck, NY
- Willard is 76, Ellen- 73, Gould- 45, Geraldine- 43, Dorothy- 40, Marjorie- 35, and Kathleen- 33.

[This letter dated Jan. 5, 1941 was written from Ing Tai, China by Willard to Dot and Harold. The uncles helped send Aunt Phebe to St. John's in Canada to accompany Monnie for her wedding on August 31, 1940. He tells of the E. Walter Smith's difficulty in getting to Foochow because of a Japanese gun boat. He tells about the poor boys they care for and ways in which they help them. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Ing Tai
Jan. 5 – 1941

Dear Dot and Harold-

This is a very quiet, kind of lonely, warm Sunday evening. Sundays are rather full for me with two Bible classes and two church services. I lead the classes but attend the services preaching only two or three times a term.

Your last letter about ten days ago. I will plan to write the giver of the $5.00. In Foochow I left to be printed a letter to the donors to this Ing Tai work and I will plan to put one of these letters into her letter.

Your letter with it's account of Monnie's last days with you and Aunt Phebe's letters- 3 I believe-have been most interesting. I do not know what to do to express thanks to the uncles for sending Aunt Phebe up to St. John's with Monnie. Monnie's letter has come at last and what a good letter. I have had very little misgivings all the year, but her letter on top of Aunt Phebe's allayed any doubts that may have been lurking about.

The E. Walter Smith's have been in Foochow for over a week. They left Shanghai on a steamer that planned to go to Hang Geng 40 miles south of Foochow on the coast. When they reached Hang Geng a Japanese gun boat told the captain to turn about and to back to Shanghai. The captain obeyed, steamed north beyond Sharp Peak at the mouth of the Min and on past Sang Du where Mother and I landed a year and more ago. Then he moved over into the Shanghai-Hong Kong path and headed South. After he had left Hang Geng a few hours a Japanese flew over to see if he was obeying orders. He was and they let him alone. When he got opposite Sang Du he turned and rushed into that harbor and unloaded. There were about 17 foreigners, 3 children. They had three days travel to get to Foochow. Mrs. Smith carried a 50 lb. child in her lap in the chair all the way.

We do not know when they will come to Ing Tai.

I plan to go down to Foochow to lead the International Week of Prayer meeting next Saturday in Chinese and to preach in St. John's church = the stone church Sunday evening at six. I hope to stay a few days just to visit with Mother and rest.

You might say to the giver of that $5.00 that her gift was very much appreciated for it takes between $3000 and $4000 a month to provide for these 300 orphans. You see every thing must be provided for these boys, some of whom were found pawing our garbage heaps for something to eat and sleeping in some old tumble down shanty. I must talk every day with one or more who want a warm garment- or a pair of shoes or something. A little fellow came the other day - cold- he had on three cotton coats. One was worn thin and full of holes. I received some weeks ago four bags of old clothing. I gave the tailor a womans coat that came in one of the bags. He made a nice lined sort of vest, and I found a shirt for him and now he's warm, and so grateful. Yesterday Helen when she left in the morning said she would like some bamboo for decorations in the chapel that evening at a concert. I was very busy til about 11:45. I went out and found this little boy now 14 years old and small for his age. I told him what I wanted. He nodded and started away, back in 5 minutes. I must have a knife to cut the bamboo. I found one, "too large." Another with no handle "All right". Half an hour later, "Come and see if there are enough." "All right, now will you take them ½ mile down to Wenshan School and give them to Mrs. Smith." O.K that was all there was to it. Six years ago I landed here from Foochow just at dark with a lot of things. Among them a hen and brood of newly hatched chickens in a basket. Eight year old Cu Chung - our bamboo lad - spotted the basket of chicks, grabbed it and dragged it up 125 steps to the house. He was so short to lift it off the ground.

I read your success and that of Gould in the Masons and Eastern Star with interest and pride. I know a little of the satisfaction you feel, next year, or was it this? you will have leisure. Keep your face forward. Find something more to do and keep going forward.

Love to you
Father

Ralph and Monnie in Canada
 [Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated February 11, 1941 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to Dorothy and Harold. He tells her about a Chinese orphan child who they helped and his success as an adult. E. Walter Smith has arrived in Foochow and visited his new field, Ing Tai. Willard is going to have another hernia operation. Letter from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Ing Tai
February 11th. 1941.

Dear Dorothy and Harold;-

I am sending you four sets of stamps,- Chinese. The enclosed printed sheet will tell you the object. Robert Wang was an orphan here in Ing Tai in 1898. I saw him after Dr. Emily D. Smith had picked him out of a dump heap and took him under her care. I used to see him come to her house on Saturday afternoons and get his bath, a change of clothes and go back to his school. He has graduated from the Ing Tai school, Foochow College and has studied in Fukien Christian University. He has taught in Foochow College and other High Schools. Now for about seven or eight years he has been head accountant in the Union Hospital here, in Foochow. He has made good in all places where he has been. I told him I would send these collections of stamps to some of my friends. Can you sell these four collections and send the money to Aunt Mary or to me direct. If the buyers give only the asked price i.e. ten cents a set it will be only 40 cents. I'll tell you,- buy me a half pound of Royal Baking Powder and send it thru the mail and I'll call it square. You may lose in the deal. I think I wrote you some time since to send me a private check,- (your private check on your Saginaw bank and it be as good as anything you can send.

I was in Foochow in January for a time and came up here February 3rd. for our Ing Tai Annual Meeting. Rev. E. Walter Smith just arrived from Peiping with his wife,- sent out for Ing Tai came up a few days later with Dr. Harry Worley of the Meth. Mission to help in the meetings. Walter came to see his new field. Lucia his wife is pregnant and the doctor does not want her to go about much, so she did not come. He had a good time here. Staid until this morning, I sent him down with my coolie. They will stop five miles down the river and take on the boat 853 Hung Gek, a citrous fruit some larger than the Mandarin orange and tighter put together. The Chinese say they are too sour to eat so they use them as decoration in their homes at this time of year. The foreigners like them to eat as we eat grape fruit.

I am in this house alone, and have been since the first of February. I plan to go to Foochow day after tomorrow, Feb 13th. I have one or two committee meetings etc. then I plan to go to the hospital to have another hernia fixed. It will take me at least one month from Ing Tai. Helen Smith and Mrs. Bill McVay nee Mary Frances Buckhout will be here tomorrow or the next day.

Yesterday I put on a dinner for ten. Walter and myself, and eight Chinese. Principal and Mrs. Iong Ming Sing, Rev. and Mrs. Ling King Ek, Mr. and Mrs. U Nga Kauk, and Mr. and Mrs. Tang Ga Dieng. I had only our Coolie whom I stole from Mother for ten days to bring Walter up, and take him back and get something for Walter, Harry Worley and Pastor Ling to eat during the meetings. Mother writes that she is having the time of her life with no servant to bother her. I shall hope for mail from home when I get home.

My garden is a joy. We have been eating turnips, carrots, lettuce, radishes, turnip tops as greens every day.

My love to you both,

Father

[This letter, dated Feb. 13, 1941, was written from Great Neck, NY by Ginny and Gould to Willard and Ellen. They tell what they did for Christmas. Gould feels that Japan is going to make trouble soon. He feels the U.S. is more knowledgeable about war now from the experience in WWI. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Feb 13, 1941
255-25 Iowa Rd.
Great Neck, L.I., N.Y.

Dear Father and Mother:

Virginia has the dates on all letters written from this place and it shows I hav'nt written you a letter in a long time. Aunt Mary gave me the $100 check for you for Xmas and I must say I was hugely surprised. I had'nt expected anything at all from you in China. The whole family joins with me in thanking you for that very generous gift.

We spent Xmas at Seymour with Grandpa Space's. Dot and Harold were in Florida with Kathleen and Jerry was alone in Chicago. So with Monnie in Labrador, the Beard's were again pretty well split up this Xmas.

The Aerotague[?] Co. gave me an electric band saw and my boss Bill Littlewood gave me a grinder for Xmas which started my home work shop. I really have the start of a nice shop now.

During the last two weeks of January, Ginny, Sonny and I went thru the mild flu that went over the country. We fed Hazel enough homeopathic medicine and she didn't get it. I was hardly well over the flu when I had to take a trip and I have been trying to clear up my sinus condition ever since.

Virginia and I are taking a whole week's elimination diet of fruit and water and celery and carrots all raw, nothing else. We started Monday and I believe my nose and throat are getting a little better already.

Hazel is growing fast and actually putting on a little weight. Sonny is having a hard time keeping up in school. I haven't got on to what the matter really is. He is smart as a whip at home and far from dumb, but either his teacher doesn't know how to get the most out of him or he sits in a group of kids who are fooling most of the day. We will find out soon.

We are in the midst of all the discussion about the Land Lease Bill won in Congress. I believe the country is about 80% for the bill, some mildly and some rather uncertain about this stand. I believe it is the only course we can take if we hope to survive as a Democracy.

Tonight's news indicates that Japan is really going to make trouble. I believe we will be at war with Japan before we get in with Germany. I sometimes wonder what you could do to get out if Japan bottles up the entire Japanese coast and we go to war with her. It would then be the Chinese who will have to reciprocate and take care of you. There has been a lot of interest in China here in American and almost every large periodical has some article about the new order in China's fight for liberty in each issue.

The draft is taking a few men. I am a Reserve officer and will do my bit if called. At my age, my work would be mostly at home or administration. I have plenty that the country can use. Being married and having two children, I believe I will be one of the last called.

I believe this time the country knows a little more about what they are doing than prior to entering the last war. The country as a whole is wiser and more intelligent and better informed on the European and Asiatic situation than they were in 1916 and 1917.

I sometimes wonder whether I will ever get out to see my old Foochow again. If times ever get settled so free movement between countries is possible I would like to take the whole family out to see Foochow where I spent my boyhood days. It will be much changed, but they can't remove the rivers or the mountains and the ?? piles[?] will still be there. The Buffalow cows may be gone but the dogs should still be in packs around each village and the goats and ducks shall still be in flocks on the hills and in the rice fields.

The whole family is now well. The kids send their love and Ginny wants a little space for a few linens. We hope to see you back here before too long.

Lovingly your son,
Gould.

[The following is in Ginny's handwriting:]

Father and Mother Dear-

I'm going to save most of mine for a later letter, but I do want to say a big Thank You for your generousness at Christmas. It left us both quite speechless.

How very good it has seemed to the kiddies, and myself to have Gould home nearly all the time for a change. He seems to be much better this winter. More relaxed and at last feels at home in this house.

He is beginning to develop a bit of a work shop down cellar so spends quite a bit of time down there. I'm so very glad because it is a definite relaxation for him and maybe he'll get made some badly needed book cases, etc, also do a few odd jobs that will be a big help.

We think of you so often, and so glad you both seem to be completely happy in your work. May God guide and keep you always

Ever so much love
Ginny

[This letter dated Feb. 18, 1941 was written from Foochow, China by Willard to Geraldine. He has heard from Monnie since she moved and married in Canada and is glad that they are happy and that things were cleared for them to finally be married. He advises Geraldine to get plenty of rest. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Foochow, China.
Feb 18- 1941

Dear Geraldine:

Yesterday was Monnie's birthday and to celebrate it, we received the first letter from her from her new home written Sept 30th 3 ½ months. It was filled with good news. She is very happy. My own joy is great. After what she and Ralph and all of her family have been thru during the past two years, our happiness is only greater and deeper at the outcome thus far. But I had no positive proof and here I could only listen and keep still as I heard people express doubt about her ever marrying Ralph. So I expect I feel a deeper satisfaction over the consummation and her marriage and over her happiness as expressed in her letters. I wrote them that they had earned a big lot of happy times together from the months of enduring the thwarting of their plans. And what she writes of the uncles who opposed Ralph's marrying a missionary's daughter, and the one who refused to allow them to be married until he had proved his ability to run a station as manager throws a whole flood of light on what looked to some to be very ominous. She writes that both these uncles met her most cordially and tried in all ways to make up for all their seemingly unkind decisions. She writes that Ralph brought Davis Inlets Hudson's Bay Company's business out of 5 or 6 year old red into a paying investment. He did this in one year. Also that he has the confidence, respect and cooperation of the man who represents the workers there. These facts to me spell success. The sentence that touched me deepest in her letter was that Ralph suggested that they start the family altar in their home. From all I know now they are on the right track.

Your letter made me want to write at once cautioning you. But I did not and shall not for two reasons. 1. You are of age and you know yourself much better than I know you. 2. It would be so long before you received it that any mischief would have been done. But yet remember, that there are 24 hours in each day and it is wise to spend at least 8 of these in bed. (I spend 9 each nite and usually 1 in each afternoon there) and one or two more doing something not work for thirty or more years I have made it a rule to make up as soon as possible any loss of rest at nite. Lyman Abbott wrote in his life's story that if he had a spell of hard work ahead of him, he rested up ahead of it. By this means he did better work and did not get all fagged out by the extra work. I have tried this with satisfying results.

I enclose some reading matter for your edification and help, referring to the stamp. The $100.00 check I wrote Oct. 12-1940 and it was No. 12. If you have not received it better write Aunt Mary the number, date and amount and ask her to intervene the Bank.

May God find up all profitable
Lots of love Father

Newsletter from Oberlin College titled "Ninety -One After Fifty Years"

China Contingent

Letters of unusual interest came for '91's noted China Contingent. "Order two plates for me at the 1942 Commencement Banquet" writes Willard L. Beard from Foochow. Mrs. Beard oversees a dozen women making embroidery on grass linen and has several new designs on the market. In 1939 Willard was made Associate Executive Secretary of the synod in a district the size of Connecticut, with seven boards of managers and executive committees. "I do a little of everything, even feeding pigs; he writes. He speaks three times a week, preaches now and then, and in February wrote checks for $12,000. Perhaps these were Chinese dollars. In Chinese currency here are a few prices cited: kerosene $8 a gallon; wheat flour $125 for a 50 lb. bag.

"It is all right" says Willard, "for those who receive salaries in U.S. currency, but the Chinese on salaries and wages are paid in local currency. For a year many are jumping into the river."

When this letter was read, Alice asked couldn't we do something to help out the Chinese friends of Willard and Ellen and also of the Wilders; we all agreed, and began turning money over to her. Differences of exchange - 17 to 1- make an American dollar go far in China. The class is sending the two families $300, which looks just like $5100 to the Chinese.

[1891 Class newsletter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Jill, Etta Kinney Hume, Emma Kinney, Kathleen, Cynthia and Hugh Elmer taken about March of 1941 in Florida
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Beard]

Excerpt from an "Account of invasion of Foochow", 20 Apr 1941, by Ellen Kinney Beard (Box 2, folder 17) Yale University Divinity School Library Archives:

"At least four bombers have just gone over my head but I couldn't see them and here go three more down river that I can see. You wonder at my heading. Well, yesterday at 2.45 pm the consul telephoned Mr. McClure that all women who had not a job that compelled them to stay had better go over to South Side, for the night, at least, for it is reported on good authority that troops have landed at Lieng Gong and Diong Loh and an invasion of Foochow is expected soon, perhaps tonight. He wanted a return call from Mr. McC in half an hour telling him how many and who would come over. Mr. McC called the Compound all together at Miss Houston's, explained the situation and asked how many would go. Nobody volunteered so he called the rolls as it were by saying, "Well, we'll begin with the Smiths' now they can go and Mrs. Beard can go and Miss Wiley...." Then he asked if we would go and we all said we would, it being the Consul's wish and advice. Then he asked the rest separately and they all said they would stay as they were all doctors and nurses of the Hospital and couldn't leave their patients – Dyer, Atwood, Jacobs, Saubli, Wilcox, the Jewish doctor and masseur. Miss Houston also said she would stay. McC responded, "Independent woman! The next time I marry I'm going to marry a man!"

Well, I had much to do to prepare to leave for an indefinite period (another single plane is just going over. They seem to be rumbling around in the distance much of the time). One thing – I had all my finished linen spread out on our two long tables in the process of pricing them. I wanted to take it all with me but finally could not conveniently do it, so gathered it all up and left it on the shelves of our closet. I hope it will not be looted.

Lyda S. Houston

SHE is finding expression for her Y. W. C. A. thinking in the school at Diong-loh, newly co-ed. She adds modernity to our mission groups.

I left the hens in Hok Uong's care allowing him to appropriate one egg a day and take the rest to Miss Houston. I also gave him all the cooked food I had left. Also I had to put bricks under all our wooden boxes (three of potatoes) and two of other things and my trunk; this is to guard against white ants of which I have already found one nest in the bedroom. I tried to trace their tunnel in the basement wall, but could not. I left the house locked and windows all shut and hope it will be all right until I get back – I hope soon (another plane going over).

Yesterday was a hectic day. The siren blew at 5 o'clock but I was asleep and did not hear it. Just before 7 I heard planes coming and decided I had better get dressed and be ready for business. A few minutes later, two guns were fired indicating there were more than 20 planes on the wing. Somewhat later they boomed over us but I could not see them (there goes a bomb away down the river! and another! and another!) There were 11 in all and the Toppings from their veranda saw 7 of them (another bomb!) They were going over by 2's and 3's and singly at intervals all day until mid-pm. I heard 6 bombs go off up river; the Toppings heard 8 (another plane roars over low). Dr Dyer from her back veranda thought they fell above Upper Bridge somewhere. Yesterday was the longest time between the Ging-Bo and the Gai-Du – the siren and the all-off – there has ever been since the war began. The Consul says the Lieng Gong and Diong Loh have definitely been taken and the Government offices of those places have fled. But the invading force is not all Japanese; about 40 in each place are J and the rest are bandits, a hundred or two in each place that the J's have picked up to help them. We wonder about Miss Ward. I suspect she would feel obliged to stay and guard the property as she is the only foreigner there (another plane and others roaring in the distance).

I was assigned to Mrs. Wesley's and arrived there about 9 o'clock last evening. I found her and Clara Jean at Mrs. Lacy's for dinner so went there to report my arrival. Had an awfully slow man who did not run at all and couldn't pull me up the hills while ricksha pullers that passed us ran up (another plane just swooped over low, going down river, north-east) I had to walk the last half mile. I had 8 oranges left and over a dozen eggs, so I thought I would take the oranges and 8 of the eggs to my Nantai hostess-to-be, in part payment for my board. I packed them in a small fruit basket in which I bought the oranges and put them in the hood of the ricksha."

[This typewritten diary, dated April 22, 1941, was written from Ing Tai, China by Willard. He tells of the events of the invasion of Foochow by the Japanese through May 15th, 1941. Ellen is in Foochow while he is in Ing Tai. Diary from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[Handwritten] Sunday Apr. 20- first report that Foochow was bombed.
Mon. Apr. 21 Students agitated.
Tues. Bert's radio says Foochow fallen.

[The following was typed:]

Ing Tai
DIARY

April 22nd, 1941.

April 22nd. Rumors have come here that Diong Loh has fallen to the Japanese. Day before yesterday there were rumors that Foochow had been heavily bombed. A class of eight Foochow students who were planning to unite with the church next Sunday, were planning a meeting this evening. I was to speak on Baptism. They did not meet. This was owing to rumors of invasion.

The last three lines are for Wednesday April 23.

Wed. More F.C. and Wenshan left.

April 24. Thursday

No mail since Sunday. Susan and Albert left this p.m. 2:00 o'clock for Foochow. I engaged their boat to Dai Chiong for $24.80. They go to learn what the conditions are and to get money. No checks are cashed here on the street. 2 men arr'd to take boys and girls home.

April 25 Friday,

Rumors continue. It seems that we must believe Foochow has fallen. Diong Loh also. We are quiet, - except for rumors and fear. Yesterday two men came from Foochow, as said above.

April 26, Saturday.

Two men came about 4 p.m. with letters from Ellen and Mac to learn of our condition. Foochow is taken, Ellen went over S side, returned Tues. Just at dusk Mr. Pearson of the Salt Gabelle came here. He had left Foochow Apr. 18th to visit places on the coast toward Futsing to try and excellerate the production of salt. Hearing that Futsing was taken he turned back for Foochow. Near Siong Ang (the birth place of Lin Sen China's President) he was attacked by bandits and everything taken from. He offered $500.00 to boatmen to take him to Foochow in vain. His helper in the salt office had all the money for the crowd of 25 or more. He was taken by the bandits and it looked as if he bought off the bandits with about $350.00 to which had and escaped to Foochow. Mr. Pearson turned back and came over to the Ing Tia river via Ek Du and Dai Chiong. And up to Ing Tai. He put up at the salt office here. He was roughly handled by the bandits but allowed to go.

April 27th, Sunday

Mr. Pearson took breakfast with us, also Lucy and Alice. After breakfast we all went to Susans for word had come to us that she and Albert arrived from Foochow Saturday at 10 p.m. We found them with money and news. It took them from 2:00 p.m. Thurs. until 10:00 p.m. Saturday to make the round trip, 56 hours. Quick trip. They reported Foochow in the control of the Japanese but conditions not too bad. Estimates as high as 30,000 Japanese or Formosans in the city The Japanese flag everywhere, and out as far Uang Bieng. They came back from Foochow, starting at 4:30 a.m. in rickshas to Gung Muo. It rained and they were stopped once or twice but told to go on. They walked to Uang Bieng. A launch was lying off shore. They took a small boat out to it. After floating about for an hour the launchmen thought it safe to start for Duo Kau. The journey was made with no trouble. From Duo Kau they walked to Ing Tai arriving at 10:00 p.m. No they took a boat from a little above Duo Kau to Dai Kau. They had on their persons $16,000.00

Mr. Pearson went up with us all to Susans house after breakfast, about 10:30. There we heard again his story, and their report. The Magisthare [Magistrate there?] was arranging a boat to take him to Uang Bieng. He left us about 11:00 a.m. A rumor came about 7 p.m. that two boats had been seen at Uang Bieng with Japanese soldiers on them and then IT SEEMED AS IF THEY WERE COMING UP THE ING TAI RIVER. This caused some excitement among the Dung Ing Teachers. A meeting was called and it was decided to allow any students to go home who wished to go. We did not tell any one else of this rumor.

April 28th Monday

This morning another meeting of the teachers. No confirmations of the rumor about the boats coming up river. Most of the Dung Ing students have gone home, - perhaps 75 left, - no homes to go to.

How can I make the condition of this people at this time vivid? Just as I was sitting down to lunch today two men came to see me. One of them was a student of mine almost thirty years ago. The other I have known for twenty five years. He has been connected with the Foochow Y.M.C.A. for twenty five years. He has considered his own interests before those of the Y.M.C.A. But he is still a Y. secretary. The Y. school has moved up to Dai Kau six miles down the river from here. It has used a building built by Mr. Smith. The Principal went with thirty students up thru here last Friday. He is going away for his own safety and that of his students. These two men came to me today and said; - We must leave here and go far into the interior to go away from the Japanese. They will kill us if they can catch us. We have wives and children at Dai Kau. We want to find a place for them to stay in safety. Have you a house or a room for them? And will you take them to Foochow when you of? We must leave them. This is to save our lives. One of them left a small package in which he said were $600.00. But this shows only one side of the picture. The other is that these men must think not only of the Japanese, they must think also of the bandits among their own nationals. And one enemy is as bad as the other. I suggested that several people living in Ing Tai had moved their families to the country, - off into the mountains. The reply was, - yes but they are going among relatives. We have no relatives in the mountains. We do not even have friends there. We must depend on you. There is no one else we can trust.

The sun rose beautiful this morning. About 9:00 a.m. it was cloudy. At 1:00 p.m. it began to rain. It has rained much for many weeks. This just now keeps the air planes away and it is good for tense nerves.

TUESDAY, April 29th.

Students from Foochow College and from Wenshan returned from Ming Chiang this morning. They had heard firing at Ming Chiang. Some of them, at least one girl had been robbed by bandits. Her dress was taken off and all the things they carried were taken. One day they got wet thru and their heavy winter coats were so burdensome they threw them away and when the weather turned cold they got cold. These few have had enough of such experience. An order from the Educational Bureau has come telling all schools to go to a place Sa Gaing. Perhaps it is ten days journey from here over very mountainous roads. My guess is that the order will not be obeyed by Foochow and Wenshan students. They have had their lark, and are pretty well satisfied. The Principals of Dun Ing, Wenshan and Foochow College are very steady. With the lesser number of students and with these steady heads the mental weather is much steadier. This morning we read at the breakfast table from TO DAY the reading meant for March 29th. The line at top of page is "Live one day at a time" other sentences are. - "Worry is not work, it is merely frictions." Bishop Quayle said that once, when he was alone in his study late at night, tortured with anxiety over many problems, it seemed as God said to him,- "Quayle, you go to bed; I'll sit up the rest of the night." Tuesday is my day to speak at prayers at the Junior High. I used the page in TO DAY.

Wednesday April 30th.

To day Wenshan is loading two boats with effects to take to Sing Kau. The plan is to send these on ahead and the teachers and students will wait for an indefinite period hoping that it will not be necessary to go. The Principal and Dean of the Diong Loh school at Cha Ding Gio came to talk about the order from the Educational bureau, ordering all schools to move west. They are in a box. To obey means uncertainty, - all along the way and as to where the journey will end and as to what they will be able to do when they get there. On other hand if they do not obey the Bureau may refuse to allow them to open again. ?ing Maiu Daik from Gak Liang came in about 9 o'clock and said he saw 30 horses from Futsing at Dai Kau on their way here. The soldiers had not yet arrived. They were fleeing Futsing. At a faculty meeting last nite Dung Ing decided to tell the graduating class they must all decide either to attend classes for a month and then receive certificates or go home now, with certificates of what they had finished of the term. To day is a beautiful day.

May 1st. Thursday.

Another beautiful day. Calm, serene with the everlasting hills all about us just as God has been sustaining them for thousands of years. The sun in all his glory looking down on this distracted world. The roads from Ing Tai in a westernly direction full of boys and girls going somewhere, west. One girl came back from Mintsing yesterday walking all the way from Lek Du about 20 miles alone with feet covered with blisters from walking over from Ing Tai four or five days ago. Mr. Humphry of the Meth. Mission, Lek Du, Mintsing wrote and sent the letter by this girl. He tried to go to Foochow a few days ago. He went to the river and the Magistrate stopped him,- said the ?? was unsafe. He intimated he might come over here and go to Foochow from here, so we may have a guest some day. ?ung Ing is feasting the Magistrate this evening,- the one who is just leaving. In such beautiful and peaceful surroundings, one has to try hard to realize that the world is in such a mess, "and only man is-." Yesterday I sent a postal to Foochow for Mother by boatman who promised to put it in a post box in the suburb. He would not go into the city. The firing heard at Mintsing may be a fight between Chinese factions, not between Chinese and Japanese. Now here comes a man who said he met a girl that answers to the description of the poor little thing mentioned above with her feet covered with blisters, riding in a chair between here and Lek Du. Question, Did she make up the story of her walking all the way? If so some head she has.

To day more people came from Foochow to take students home to Foochow. Wenshan has loaded two boats with beds etc. to take to Ngu Deng Muoi preparatory to girls and teachers walking up. When will they go? When it seems necessary. In the mean time I have to keep after pig herder to give them pigs enough food. Today I bought 164 lbs. of very small potatoes for them at 10 cents per lb.

Friday May 2nd.

Last nite about 6:30 Humphrey of Mintsing arrived, having walked from Lek Du. Mintsing since 6:30 a.m. No trouble. Dung Ing gave a farewell feast for the retiring Magistrate ?? Uong and his wife. She is an earnest Christian and he is favorable. He is quite outspoken that if the Ing Tai soldiers were any good 200 of them could easily hold Ing Tai against the invaders. This morning Ming Sing Humphrey and I walked to see the new Magistrate about a boat for Humphrey and I walked to see the new Magistrate about a boat for Humphrey to go down river. He had gone to Dong Seng and was on his way back. We will need to wait til he comes before anything can be done about a boat or a pass. In case he does not get a boat or a pass one thing is left for him to go that is go on his own foot and run the risk.

Saturday May 3rd.

Yesterday the magistrate issued a "privilege" for Humphrey to hire a special boat down river. He also issued a pass for him. But he decided to wait until this morning and go on the regular passenger boat. We went down to see him off. There were two boats, both full. They were off a few minutes after 6:00 o'clock. Now at seven it is raining. The east was beautiful at 5:30, such an early rain may bring a nice day. Students are trickling back from all parts to Dung Ing and they are on the move all about. There was one boat load from Mintsing, from a school in Foochow. That made three boats down this morning.

Rumor;- The Willis F. Pierce Hospital was entered and some nurses taken by Japanese soldiers.

Sunday May 4th.

This morning I was told that Chai Buo Tieng had sent word that it would be better for the Wenshan school NOT to come to Sing Kau. It is a beautiful morning, Calm, clear as a bell cool. "Every prospect pleases and only man is vile". When will men realize that by getting afraid of each other and fighting each other and using all manner of inventions to maim and kill other men, he only brings all manner of evil on himself and all others. The little boy who came in last evening from Pagoda saying that his father and mother had both left home and he had gone to Foochow and from there was advised to go to Yeng Bing where he said he had an uncle, and to go by way of Ing

Tai, that he was held up by bandits at Geng Kau and all his money, about $3.00 taken from him, and that he was living in the refugee camp here for a few days, wanted to go on to Mintsing, and from there to Yang Ping, came again this morning. I told him last nite that I would give him $3.00 when we was ready to start. I gave him $3.00, this morning. It was refreshing to go into a Bible class of six boys who sat with eager faces as we studied about the events that led up to the birth of Moses. Stories of bandits on the lower river are many. There is a stretch not under the Ing Tai government, but technically under Foochow which is now in Japanese controlled territory, therefore each man is a law unto himself. I have not heard of a person being injured but the bandits take all personal effects. At 3:00 p.m. a man appeared with a letter to Mrs. McVay and one for Ferot. He was a messenger from Mr. Pearson in Foochow to the Salt office here. He said that Mr. Pearson arrived last week without incident in Foochow from here. He had no difficulty in coming up. He will come again this evening at six for letters to take down tomorrow.

Monday May 5th

Students of Dung Ing coming back all the time. Yesterday a man from Mr. Pearson came from Foochow with a letter from Mr. McVay to Mary Frances, and one from Pearson to Albert. No news of Foochow. We did get a little from the messenger. He said only 1000 or 2000 Japanese in Foochow. Not much trouble. We all wrote letters and sent by him to Foochow. He was to start this morning. Today the military general for all of Fukien arrived in Ing Tai, Uong Ding Ngu, he is an American returned student and reported to be a strong man. A Foochow College student came from Foochow this morning and said the Union Hospital was not invaded.

Tuesday May 6th.

The military have moved into Ne Mu's house, the house which Wen Shan had just fixed up for the smaller girls. They all had to move out and let the soldiers in. The Diong Loh school is in trouble. Yesterday seven boys went home with men who had come from their homes. The others wanted to go. The Principal said not until their parents sent for them. His faculty did not stand with him. Some of them sided with the students and it makes an awkward position for him. Iong, U Tang and I told him to stand by his decision. It has been a sultry day with a shower at 4:00 p.m. We dressed another pig this afternoon.

Wednesday May 7th.

Nothing new this morning as far as I can learn. Ming Sing spent the whole day with the Commander in Chief of the Fukien forces.

Thursday May 8th.

Last nite all the foreigners and Mrs. Uong and Siek and Miss Uong had dinner with Susan and Albert. The soldiers are in the Siek house. This was used by Wenshan. They are in a house used by Foochow College and in the house used by the Higher Primary. They tried last nite to get the orphanage but men did not open the gate and they went away. The Commander is in this dialect Uong Ding Ngu. He spent a year in the U.S.A. studying munitions and war in general. A man came from George Newell this morning asking about Humphrey and asking us to get a request to Boston for $500 ½ from A.B.C.F.M. ½ from Meth. This is to be used for moving. They are beginning to realize that it costs to move a school.

May 14th.

Yesterday was the first news since May 9th. That day I called on Commander Uong, -a pleasant man, looks as if he knew his business. He has an Aide that inspires confidence.

May 10th Saturday

Lorin Humphrey with the wives of Jimmy Ding, Principal of Anglo Chinese College and of Ling Guang Bing Principal of Union High, and some students and a refugee, Mrs. Guok a widow and her five children aged from 4 months to 8 years, arrived from Foochow incident.

May 11th Sunday

A hot day. Humphrey had an order given by the Salt Office in Foochow on their office here for $8000.00. I found here only $6400.00. I made up the $1600.00 and the office will give it to me on the 17th of May.

May 12th Monday

The Humphrey party (without Mrs. Guok and her progeny) left for Mintsing. A little cooler today. Foochow College coolies left today for Foochow. I sent letter to Ellen. No news.

May 13th Tuesday

No news today. Much cooler this afternoon.

May 14th Wednesday

Cold. I went into my trunk for warmer clothes. This afternoon we heard that the Chinese had taken Futsing. Commander Uong went to Dong Seng last Saturday. This evening Alberts radio said the Second in Command in Germany had flown along and unarmed to Scotland and given himself up. He said the government in Germany was in a mess. The rulers of the world do not know what to make of it. This is all we know now at 9:30 a.m. May 15th.

May 15th 9:30 a.m.

The Mrs. Guok who came with Humphrey last Saturday is here on the veranda with all her baggage and one of her children. This morning we hear the phone between here and Dong Seng acted queerly at 1:30 a.m. Then the news came thru that there was fighting between Dong Seng and Futsing. This morning an order came from the Magistrate to move the School to Ngu Deng Muoi. The students got the news before the Principal. All soldiers have left Ing Tai for Dong Seng. This is at 9:45. It is raining hard. Principal Iong has been to several officials and thinks the facts are;- Last nite sometime two launches with men in them came up to Dong Seng. The soldiers there drove them back. They came in the very early morning again and were again driven back. Magistrate U has gone to Gak Liang. He asked the 75th division to help him and they refused. All officials are packed up ready to leave. Foochow students are ready to start for Shaowu when the rain ceases.

[This typewritten letter dated May 15, 1941 was written from Ing Tai, Foochow, China by Willard to his family and relatives. Bandits are in control of land and river routes between Foochow and Ing Tai. He includes excerpts from his diary entries from April 20 – May 20 after hearing that Foochow had fallen. Ellen is still in Foochow and he hopes to bring her to Ing Tai. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Ing Tai, Foochow, China.
May 15th. 1941.

Dear Gould and Virginia, Geraldine, Dorothy and Harold, Marjorie and Ralph, Kathleen and Hugh, Phebe and Mary, Ben and Abbie, Annie, Stanley and Myra, Emma, Elbert and Etta.

Will Geraldine please send to Gould, Dorothy to Kathleen and she to Marjorie, Emma to Etta. Stanley and family one letter.

The last letter I sent in installments, on different dates and from different places. I hope some of them reach you. Mother is still in Foochow and I am still in Ing Tai. Both are well as far as I know. About twice week we get letters each way. This is by special messenger or by some one close to us that is going. One man who had many letters was relieved of them all. Fortunately he had a companion. He himself returned to Foochow and reported. Duplicate letters were written and he got thru with these. It has not seemed wise for me to try to go down yet. Bandits are in the lower part of the Ing Tai river. The visitors from East control on land over to the point where we take the boat. From there to the place where we get the small boat to come up the rapids is a no man's land or water and the bandits have it to themselves.

We have had no trouble here. Rumors have been as numerous and as far from the truth as usual. It takes more self-control on my part to stay here and keep sweet and level headed, than it does to keep calm in the midst of rumors, and the running to and fro of many frenzied ones. I have kept a diary from the day we heard of the "fall" of Foochow. It will not be very exciting but I'll try to condense it so as not to take too much of your time.

April 20, Sunday. First report that Foochow has been bombed.

- " 21 Report of yesterday seems true. Students, 2000 much agitated.
- " 22 Monday, Bert Farot's radio says Ning Po falls.
- " 22 Monday Rumors that Diong Loh has fallen. Some students leaving.
- " 23 Wednesday. No new news, students not attending classes, Excited.
- " 24 Thursday. No mail since last Sunday. Susan Armstrong and Albert Faurot left this afternoon at 2:00 for Foochow. No checks are cashed on the street here. They went for 1. to get news, 2. to get money. Two men arrived from Foochow to take students home.
- " 25 Friday. It seems we must believe Foochow and Diong Loh are gone.
- " 26th Sat. Two men came from Mother and McClure to learn of our condition. Foochow is taken. Mother went South Side at request of Consul. Miss Wiley also went. Just at dusk Mr. Pearson, British, head of Salt Office in Foochow appeared at our house. He left Foochow Apr. 17th. To visit places on the coast hoping to increase the amount of salt made. Near Futsing he heard the city was taken and turned back. Near Siong Ang (the birthplace of China's President, Bin Seng) bandits took everything from him except the clothes he had on. He offered $500.00 to the boatman to take him to Foochow, in vain. His helper had all the money $350.00 for the use of the company, about 25. The bandits got him but he bought himself off and got to Foochow. Mr. Pearson turned about and rather wandered. He brought up here, after walking 250 miles. He was in another hospital in Foochow for hernia at the same time with me. When he started the doctor told him not do much walking. He put up at the salt office here.

“ 27th. Sunday. Pearson came to us for breakfast at 9:00 a.m. All the foreigners met at Susan's after breakfast for we heard that she and Albert got home at 10 p.m. last nite. They had brought back $16,000.00 in cash!! Had no trouble either way. Foochow is in the control of Japanese. Conditions not too bad. Mr. Pearson left for Foochow a little after noon. We decided to allow Dung Ing students to [go] home if they wished to.

April 28, Monday. A rumor that the two boats with Japanese in them were coming up the Ing Tai river set a lot of students and some teachers to spinning. More than half of our Dung Ing students are gone.

“ 29, Tuesday. Students returned from Mintsing this morning. They reported a hard trip. Hot, rain tired. Bandits were reported. (This was later refuted) Some of the girls started with winter coats. When too hot they simply threw them away. An order from the Educational Bureau tells all schools to go to the interior. Our Principal says they are a set of kids. They take a map and point to a place and say that is a good place for this school, and then so order. The order is not practicable. So the school sits tight. The Principals of Wenshan, Foochow College and Dung Ing are steady and calm. They can think. With them here the mental weather is steadying. This morning we read from TO DAY, the reading for March 29th. “Live one day at a time”. “Worry is not work it is merely friction.” Bishop Quale said one evening he was alone in his study late worrying over many problems. It seemed as if God said to him,- “Quale, you go to bed. I'll sit up the rest of the night.”

“ 30, Wednesday. Today Wenshan is loading two boats with baggage to start for Sing Kau. The boats will go only to Ngu Deng Muoi, half way. The Principal of Diong Loh school came to talk with me. He is up against it. The government orders him to move. He is as safe where he is as in any place. He has no money to go. If he does not move, will the government close his school? Ling Maiu Daik came this morning from Gak Liang. He teaches a school there. He saw 30 horses from Futsing at Dai Kau. The soldiers are fleeing!! Dung Ing this evening at a faculty meeting decided to tell the graduating class they must as a whole either attend classes for a month, receive certificates and call themselves graduates, or as a whole take some kind of a certificate and go home now. To day is a beautiful day.

May 1st. Thursday. Another beautiful day, - calm peaceful, serene with the everlasting hills all about us just as God made them, - and just as he has been sustaining them for thousands of years. The sun in all his glory looks down on this distracted world. The roads in all directions from Ing Tai full of boys and girls “going west”, some of them do not know where. One girl 15, came covered with blisters, from walking over a few days ago. She came all alone. She is a heroine. Mr. Humphrey sent a letter by her saying he tried to get to Foochow down the river from Mintsing. The river was closed. He may try via Ing Tai. The next day a friend was in my study and chanced to mention that he saw a girl in a chair alone who had just come from Mintsing. Our little heroine was rejoicing in a short lived notoriety. She at least had imagination and could carry off a bluff. People are coming from Foochow every day to take students, boys and girls to Foochow. Wenshan has loaded two boats to go up river to Ngu Deng Mui to wait for students and teachers. No date is set for them to start. It is really sort of a bluff. The teachers do not want to go.

May 2nd. Friday. About 6:30 last nite Humphrey arrived from Mintsing. Dung Ing gave a feast to the retiring magistrate this evening. His wife was with him. He was a student of mine one term long ago. She is an earnest Christian. He is favorable. He is quite outspoken that 200 soldiers in Ing Tai if of the right stuff could hold off any invaders. Spent the day negotiating for a boat to take Humphrey down the river.

Humphrey left this morning for Foochow on the regular passenger boat. There were three boats full. Students are trickling back to Dung Ing. Rumor says, Union Hospital entered by the visitors and some of the nurses taken.

Sunday May 4th.

A 14 year old boy came from Pagoda, on his way to Yeng Ping, -robbed by bandits, staying in a refugee camp here. Wants to go to Yeng Ping today. I gave him $3.00. A man came from Mr. Pearson with letters for Mary Frances and Albert. He came up on business for the Salt Office, no trouble. He will take letters to Foochow. This is our only means of communication with Foochow.

Monday May 5th.

Students coming back to Dung Ing all the time. Yesterday a man from Mr. Pearson arrived. The messenger said there were only 2 or 3 thousand in Foochow. It was the first that we knew Pearson got home all right. Uong Ding Ngu the general in charge of all Fukien troops arrived here today. A F.C. student arrived to say the hospital was not invaded.

Tuesday May 6th.

The military has moved into Ne Mu's house. They helped the Wenshan girls carry out their furniture. Some men came to conduct home 7 boys from Diong Loh. Forty other boys wanted to follow. The principal refused to let them go. We here advised him to stand by his decision. We dressed another pig this afternoon.

Wednesday May 7th.

Nothing new. Ming Sing spent the whole day with Commander Uong. He showed him the town.

Thursday, May 8th.

Last nite all foreigners and Mrs. Iong and Mrs. Sick and Principal Uong of Wenshan dined with Susan and Bert. Soldiers tried to get into the orphanage but the men did not open the door and the men, soldiers, left. I had a very pleasant call on the Commander Uong. He spent a year in the U.S. about 1935.

Friday May 9th. No news

Saturday May 10th.

Lorin Humphrey with the wives of Jimmy Bing, Principal Anglo Chinese College, and Ing Guang Bing Principal Union High, some students and a widow Guok with five children arrived from Foochow. The children are from 4 months to 8 years old. She was all right comfortably situated in Foochow. But she disregarded all advice and attached herself to Humphrey. She has $500 with her. She tried to attach herself to me, in vain. She is in to make trouble for herself and for others.

Sunday May 11th.

Humphrey has an order from the Salt Office in Foochow for $8000 on the Salt Office here. The Fukien Bank and the Salt Office had only $6400 on hand. I fortunately could make up the $1600. and took a promissory note from the Salt Office.

Monday May 12th

Humphrey and party left this a.m. A chair cost $54 to Mintsing, about 30 miles, a load $36. They had four chairs and six carriers. This is one days expenses. Foochow College coolies left for Foochow, I sent letter by them to Mother.

Tuesday May 13th All quiet no news.

May 14th. Wednesday

Cold, we all went into trunks for warmer clothing. Rumor says Chinese have taken back Futsing. Commander Uong went to Dong Seng to day to fight any one trying to go to Futsing. Albert's radio said Hess had landed in Scotland from Berlin. You know all that has been conjectured.

Thursday May 15th.

Mrs. Guok and one child and the two coolie loads are on my veranda. I have told her she must leave. If she brings more of her children here I shall call the police. She has left. All soldiers have left Ing Tai. The magistrate has gone to Cak Liang. It seems certain that the enemy came up to near Dong Seng, and went inland. There was a battle with casualties on both sides. Magistrate U went down to Gak Liang. He asked the 75th division to help him. They refused. They have now gone to a safe place in the mountains to "rest". Our radio told us of the landing of Hess in Scotland.

Friday May 16th.

The last of Foochow Coll. students left for Shaowu.

Saturday May 17th.

University coolies passed thru on way to Shaowu. We are a metropolis, - right on the direct(?) route from one place to other places. Gave a man $50 to buy charcoal 26 miles up the river. Two girl refugees met me as I came out on the veranda for breakfast. They are fine looking girls from Futsing, hospital. They are orphans with no where to go. Futsing is in "occupied" territory now. I found breakfast for them.

Sunday no news

Monday May 19

Henry Lacy arrived just before dusk. He is one of about 40 Methodists who went to Shanghai the last of March to elect 2 bishops. He has been a month on the way via Amoy in a Butterfield and Swire, British boat, fare $300 sent to Chuang Chow, Ing Ang, Yeng Ping, Mintsing, Ing Tai in boats, on foot and in busses. Travel expenses to Ing Tai $900.

Tuesday May 20

Spent the morning helping Lacy get his pass, boat etc. for Foochow. He thought he had a boat too small for the widow and her children to get in. But when we went to the boat there she was and all hers, she was profuse in her fears lest she was too late but it was all right. She really was his protégé. He rather coerced her husband to go to study in Shanghai where he died last year. He had promised to see her and her husband thru. Now we want to know how the party got thru. Mary Francis and I want to send a messenger down tomorrow morning with letters to our own with instructions to bring back replies.

This is the end of this epistle.

No letter has come to us since April 20th. No paper either. We have a fairly good battery radio, from which we hear Manila and Treasure Island, transcribed. [Treasure Island is an manmade island between San Francisco and Oakland. It was built in 1939 for the Golden Gate International Exposition. During World War II Treasure Island became part of the Treasure Island Naval Base, where it served largely as an electronics and radio communications training school, and as the major Navy departure point for sailors active in the Pacific theatre of the war.

"Treasure Island California". Wikipedia. September 7, 2009

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Treasure_Island_\(California\)>>).] But I am telling you it would be good to get a home letter. If any one of you to who we sent this ever get it and conditions are as they are now, you could send a message to "The Mail Bag," Treasure Island, San Francisco, California and it will be read Sunday evening. We listened last Sunday evening for 10 to 11 and heard a lot of news that concerned Foochow people.

I have hopes of getting to Foochow next week and I hope to bring Mother up. It is quiet and pleasant here. And I think it is easier to get food here than in Foochow.

God is just the same as ever, thoughtful of his children and caring for them now as ever. Some of them are pretty ungrateful and willful, and block his efforts. Pray for peace.

Very lovingly,

Father.

[This note dated May 24, 1941 was written from Ing Tai, China by Willard. He talks about a bombing in Ing Tai. Donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Ing Tai May 24- 1941

We were bombed this a.m. at 10 o'clock. About 6 bombs dropped. Perhaps 10 killed and 20 wounded. No great damage to property. 2 planes. They went directly over me. I have 3 pieces of a bomb.

WLB

[The following photos were probably taken in 1941 or earlier showing the destruction from the bombings. Original photos donated to Yale by family in 2007.]

[This letter dated June 8, 1941 was probably written from Century Farm in Shelton, CT by Phebe to Gerry, Dot and Harold. They have been busy with China Relief activities and family events. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

June 8, 1941

Dear Gerry and Dot and Harold

See the date of this "good intention". Now it is June 22 and these two weeks have been full of picnics, meetings and China Relief activities and now on Tuesday we are giving a home luncheon for Marian Mills, Well's fiancée [Wells is Oliver Wells Beard, son of Bennett Nichols Beard – Willard's brother] and wish that you could all be here. The wedding is planned for next Sat. evening in the chapel of the Presb. Church in B-port where she goes. They are having no wedding but we are all asked to come if we wish. Leolyn Jr. and little Nancy [Griffith] are at Seaver's [Seaver Smith] in N. Haven and are to be here all of July. They will be with us the first two weeks of July. Fred's [Griffith] planning to come on for 5 days- buy a car and take them back. We haven't seen them yet for Seaver's son graduated from Yale and was married yesterday and in their immediate family there were 5 weddings and 4 commencements so Leolyn is being kept busy in these at present, but she is going to run away Tuesday and come out here for the day. To go back to China Relief- we spent on a week of inclusive work. Mary was chairman and with the Mayor and Pres. of the bank, 8 back her, also the ministers and a lot of people to help. They made nearly $800.00 and money is still coming in bits. We had hoped to make $1000.00 and may sure do it yet. We had a display of Chinese things in the large lobby of the Commercial Building with tea served afternoon and evening. Three large garden parties and a float with loud speaker which went all thro Shelton and Derby during the afternoon.

Left to right: Fred Griffith, Nancy and Leolyn Beard Griffith – July 1941
 This is probably the new car that Phebe refers to in the previous paragraph.
[Letter from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

On the 10th of June we had Stanley's family- Nancy and Fred [Stanley Beard's daughter Nancy and her husband Fred Forbes] came for about 4 days- here for luncheon to celebrate Myra's and Stanley's 25th Anniversary. M. Palmer was very sick at the hospital so we didn't try to do much. Mr. P. is at last getting better and ?? life is coming back from ?? heart attack. Edith's [Bennett Nichols Beard's daughter, Edith Beard Valentine] baby is a darling- growing like a weed. Win is going to be hospital soon for another operation on the roof of his mouth and help his speech. We do hope that this time will be the last for that. We heard last night that Stephen may drive to Cal. with some other boys- starting Wed. Ruth is studying at Jouliards and take a course at Columbia- ??each busy.

If any or all of you can come on while Leolyn is here do come. It would be fine. I wish that we could hear just when and how your parents are. We had Fulton's wedding announcement. He is in the thick of things too, and now it is Russian and ?? ?

Dan bought Danny [Bennett Nichols Beard's son, Dan and grandson, Danny] a black pony for his birthday. He doesn't go out on the roads much yet. He rode down here Memorial Day but Dan came along just to be sure he was all right.

This is probably the black pony (Bucky) that Phebe refers to in the previous paragraph seen here with Danny and Beverly Beard about 1941 at Century Farm.

[Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

We may go down to Stanley's the last of the week to pick cherries. They have a tree full of lovely big red ones. Don Frazier and his wife (our pastor) have gone to Storrs [Storrs, CT] for the Smith conference this week and Grandma Frazier is coming for 7 mos. old Bonnie Ann.

Will you please forward this letter. If Gerry wasn't to send it to Kathleen too OK for I do not seem to get at letter writing as often as I should.

We were out Thursday and ?? ?? get back ?? Gould's card stuck in the door saying that he and Jinny and Willard were on their way home from Putnam where he had been making speeches at Alumni meetings ?? the Heyte[High?] Sch. Jinny can't come Tuesday for Dot Littlewood is giving a luncheon for Jinny, her mother and Lillian on that day. Jinny was at her mothers the day Stanley's family were here so she drove down just long enough to see Nancy and Fred, who are still as happy as can be and have begun their new house.

With love-

Phebe

Dot please send to Gerry.

July of 1941

L to R standing: Oliver Wells Beard and Marion, Seymour Valentine behind his mother, Harriet Valentine, Edith Beard Valentine, Edith's friend Dorothy Ziegler holding Jay Valentine, Phebe M. Beard, Abbie Beard, Frederick Ziegler (Seymour Valentine's boyhood friend). [Win Valentine helped identify Harriet, Dorothy and Frederick.]

Front row of children L to R: Danny Beard, Win Valentine, Nancy Griffith, Beverly Beard.

[Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This typewritten letter dated July 26, 1941 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Mary to Gould, Dot, Jerry and Kathleen. Mr. Wynn Fairfield has written that Willard and Ellen and other missionaries are waiting to get passage to return to the U.S. because of problems in China. She talks about visits with other family members. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

July 26, 1941
Century Farm

Dear Gould, Dot, Jerry, Kathleen and all the family of each;

My reply to the letter to Wynn Fairfield came today. This is it:

"We have received a message from McClure through the State Department including: "BEARDS NEWELLS, HELEN SUSAN HAZEL AWAITING PASSAGE." This was sent July 9. Usually this means that they are awaiting trans-Pacific passage, which we authorized back in May for any who felt they should leave. It may also mean that they have problems getting out of Foochow, altho an earlier letter spoke if they hoped that after a few weeks more they might be able to get passage out on one of the numerous Japanese boats which were passing in and out of the Min River freely then.

"Since almost all of the American boats have ceased taking east bound passengers, and now Japanese boats will not come to American harbors, the problem of trans-Pacific transportation is a serious one. If the "freezing" regulations are applied to occupied China, it may be even more serious. I am planning on Monday, when I cable about other matters, to include a sentence authorizing them to come by Dutch boat via Manilla. This is more expensive, but they may have thought of it anyway." End of quote.

Mr. Fairfield adds a personal line that his daughter Margaret who I knew when I visited them at Taiku as a two year old, has a little daughter 2 ½ now.

Shelton has raised $510.15 for the United China Relief. Derby, Seymour and Ansonia have added enough so our full amount sent to New York is $826.89. I have just typed a letter for the Sentinel and hope this one brings forth a few more checks. It has been so each time before.

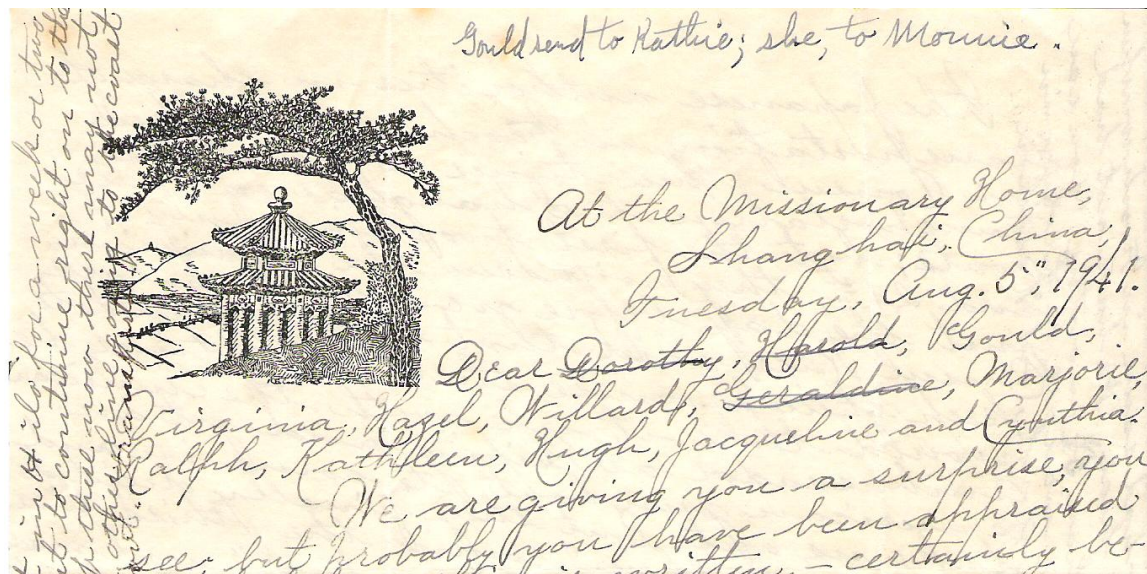

Yesterday we had Stanley, Myra and Stephen for dinner. Gould, Jinny and the children called. Both children are better from the whooping cough and we hope to feel free to ask them to stay next time they come. In the afternoon, Stanley, Stephen and I called on Ben and Abbie. After supper, Stanley, Myra, Stephen and Phebe went to Woodmont to see Leolyn and Nancy. Stanley had his pictures of their western trips in which are several with Leolyn, Nancy, Leolyn Sr. and William. Seaver Jr. and his bride were there and they had just been to the Yellowstone so were most interested.

I stayed home with a College friend who made a mistake Sunday morning about 3.30 and stepped off the top stairs instead of turning left and fell to the first floor. We had her thoroughly ex-rayed and there are no broken or cracked bones. So it is a case of getting over innumerable bumps and bruises. Stanley and Myra returned home this afternoon. Stephen stayed up to see "Johnathan" a "boy-friend" coming to see Esther from Princeton where Esther has been working this summer.

Had cards from Jerry and Kathleen today, a letter from Nancy also. So this counts a GOOD day.

With much love

Aunt Mary.

[This letter dated Aug. 5, 1941 was written from Shanghai, China by Ellen Kinney Beard to her children and grandchildren back in the states. It announces their early departure from China because of Japanese occupation. She talks of the difficulties getting passage to Shanghai and how they were fumigated on the way. She tells of their stay in the Missionary Home in Shanghai and the activities there. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

At the Missionary Home,
Shanghai, China,
Tuesday, Aug. 5, 1941.

Dear Dorothy, Herald, Gould, Virginia, Hazel, Willard, Geraldine, Marjorie, Ralph, Kathleen, Hugh, Jacqueline and Cynthia,

We are giving you a surprise, you see; but probably you have been appraised of it before this is written, - certainly before this reaches you.

Yes, we are coming home before the expiration of our intended term of service, and are thus far on our way, waiting for reservations on a Dollar Line boat to take us across the Pacific.

You, of course, knew that the State Department long ago requested all Americans who could to leave the Orient and come to the States, especially women and children and men who were not absolutely needed. Our Consul Rice forwarded the message from Washington to us, and a repetition of it a few weeks later, and has ever since been strongly urging that just as many as could possibly be spared prepare to leave and he would do his utmost to get transportation to take us out; for Foochow is now a closed port and no ships come in or go out except Japanese boats on their own business.

Our mission had two meetings to decide who should go, and they put us on the list because of our age! Helen Smith and Miss Armstrong, because their furlos were due, Mr. and Mrs. Newell on account of her health, and Miss Atwood since her furlo is due next year. A Methodist lady is in our party, Miss Elizabeth Richey, who has been packed up and waiting for a chance to get out for four months.

The Japanese authorities in charge of transportation in Foochow, promised our Consul three times to grant us transportation to Shanghai on their boats; but the first two times, July 17 and 21st, they withdrew the permission just the day before we were to embark. Consul Rice said that if they failed to keep their promise the third time, he would take it up with the American Ambassador at Peiking and get an American gunboat to come in and take us out. But they finally decided to stand by their promise the third time and so, after much "red tape" and much waiting we finally embarked on July 26.

After we were on the boat at Pagoda Anchorage, "the Tianan Maru", we learned that she was going first to Keelung, Formosa and from there to Shanghai. But alas, we could not go ashore at Keelung as our passports had no Japanese visa. The Japanese government has recently made a ruling that no foreigners (Westerners) may visit Japan or any of her occupied territory.

However, when we reached Keelung they took us ashore as prisoners, to fumigate us and all our baggage, and fumigated the ship while we were gone, because we came from an infected port. There were a very few cases of cholera and of bubonic plague, but there was no epidemic. We were closely guarded every minute we were ashore and were never out of sight of one or more guards. The details of that fumigation are easier told than written, so more of that later when we see you. After they had finished their troublesome proceedings with us, however, they compensated us in some measure for the humiliation they had inflicted upon us by giving us the best lunch we had on the whole trip on the Japanese boat. It consisted of rice, a thick slice of salt salmon, a thick slice of egg preparation, apparently scrambled eggs baked in a loaf and sliced, some sweet pickled green vegetable stems (good) another sliced preparation of rice flour or vegetable (we couldn't name it) and chrystalized seaweed which Will liked much. We sat or lay around on the floor in kimonas till our clothes had gone thru the sterilizer (no chairs to sit in), some slept and some read, till our clothes were given back to us and we were clothed and in our right minds. About 5 o'clock the tender came back for us and we were taken back to the boat. A July 28th '41 that none of our party will ever forget!

Every mile of the way and every hour of the days since we left Foochow the sea has been very smooth, the sky clear, the winds fair and gentle, the night skies moon-lit till the young moon set, and brilliantly star-lit for the rest of the night. The sunsets and sun-rises have been gorgeous and glorious. We could not have asked of nature greater favor.

A radiograph message announcing our coming brought the Chinese English-speaking of the Missionary House to the boat to meet us and take all responsibility for getting us thru customs and arranging transportation for us and our baggage to the home. The latter was accomplished in a manner we have never tried before we and all our baggage excepting trunks and freight boxes were all bundled into a covered truck, fifteen persons in all and their hand luggage, some standing, others sitting on baggage for the long ride thru the congested Shanghai streets. Our truck hit another truck because our driver drove so awfully fast and recklessly and we had to stop ten minutes for police investigation. We left the boat at about one o'clock but the boat served us no lunch that day. So when we reached the Home we found that in half an hour (just time for us to get washed up) they served their regular 3:30 tea, which Miss Spurling made rather abundant in view of the fact that we had had no lunch. My! but most of our party were hungry! And the toast and cakes and tea tasted good.

We have a delightful front corner room on the second floor opening onto an opened, uncovered porch that is almost as large as the room itself and is used by no other room. It is a fine place to hang our washing and sun our clothes by day, and to sit and cool off in the breeze and enjoy the moon-light at night.

There are about 20 guests at the home just now. Our party has a table all to ourselves. Miss Armstrong went to a friend's house to stay; and Helen Smith went to the Y.W. where one of her friends lives. Miss Atwood went to the 7th Day Adventist Hospital here in Shanghai yesterday, for treatment of neuritis in her right shoulder which had given her severe pain for two days and nights. She expects to be back in a day or two more.

The "Coolidge" on which we had hoped to get sailing (Smith, Atwood, and Armstrong have had theirs definitely for a month) was scheduled to sail Aug. 15th, but changed its date first to the 14th, and now to the 13th. We are no. 11 on the waiting list. We could get on in 3rd class if the boat opens up its 3rd class and eat at 2nd or tourist class table. But some Foochow Meth. Missionaries who have been 3rd class say that is simply impossible. So we may have to wait for the next boat the "Harrison" or go 1st class on the "Coolidge".

A number of Cheifoo school children have reservations on the Coolidge, but being in occupied territory, can't get out for the same reason we were kept so long in Foochow. But the S.S. Co. says that if no news comes from them in 2 or 3 days they will open their reservations to others. So we may get on the "Coolidge".

It has been very hot ever since we arrived in S'hai,- 95 degrees most days. Board is good here; ice cream and fruit every day.

We are just across the street from a public garden where the foreign community are just now having a ten days series of entertainments to raise money for war aid. They call them "Moon-light Follies". Each nationality puts on one night's performance. Friday the open night was Czechoslovakia; Sat. U.S.; None Sunday. They began at 9:30 p.m. and end up between 3 and 4 a.m. We can plainly hear their music and auctions. The grounds are all lighted with Chinese lanterns over electric lights. Tickets for entrance $10.00 a night. Includes everything.

Here we have the world radio news three times each day. Also had same in Foochow when static or Japanese interference did not make it impossible to hear. We have not had one letter, magazine or newspaper from home for more than 5 months. You can imagine how hungry we are for news. Write us either in care of Leolyn in Berkeley or of Dollar Line. Passenger on Coolidge probably or if not on Harrison.

We wanted to stop in Hawaii and go out to see Millicent in Hilo for a week or two but the S.S. Co. Agent here advised us not to stop there but to continue right on to the coast because the boats are so full now that if we stop there now there may not be a chance to get to San Francisco for a long time as the other line going to the coast the Matson Line has taken off some of its boats for gov't. transport.

We'll be seeing you all soon,
With much love to you all,
Mother

Leolyn's address:- Mrs. Wm. S. Morgan,
1683 LaLoma Ave.
Berkeley, Cal.

[Donald MacInnis sent Jana Jackson the following account of the evacuation via email. I believe the journal is now in the archives of Yale Divinity School Library.]

Missionaries Flee Foochow on a Japanese Troopship, July 1941
--from the journal of Donald MacInnis

This is an excerpt from the journal of Donald MacInnis, summer of 1941. Don had been stuck for six weeks in Foochow, trying to get out of Foochow to Shanghai where he could get a ship back to his home in Los Angeles. The port of Foochow had been closed due to the Japanese occupation of Foochow in April 1941. Finally, thanks to help from the American consul, the Japanese military authorities gave passage on an empty Japanese troopship to a group of about 20 missionaries and European business people, including Helen Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Willard Beard, Mr. and Mrs. George Newell, Beth Richie and others. The ship went first to Keelung, Formosa (then part of the Japanese Empire), then to Shanghai.

Don was 20 years old. He had been teaching English to high school boys at Anglo-Chinese College in its wartime location, Yangkow, which was upriver from Nanping. In Shanghai he secured a job on the crew of an American merchant ship, "The City of Dalhart", which stopped at Hong Kong, Manila, Luzon, San Pedro (Los Angeles), and through the Panama Canal to New York. Don finished his last year at UCLA and joined the Air Force in the summer of 1942. He returned to China and served as a coastwatcher for the 14th Air Force on the south China coast.

Don's Journal, Foochow, summer of 1941 (excerpts)

Sat. July 26

We prepared to board the Japanese troopship, Tainan Maru, at Pagoda Anchorage. As we prepare to board a launch at the jetty in Foochow, the Japanese soldiers spray us with insecticide "to kill the fleas that carry bubonic plague." (Bubonic plague was prevalent in Foochow.) There are about 20 of us, mostly older people including 3 Catholic priests and 2 French Catholic sisters.

We board the Tainan Maru, an empty Japanese troopship, amid hostile stares and no helping hand. Our luggage was loaded aboard by Chinese coolies. Most of the Japanese crew speak some English it seems, even the grizzled old boatswain. We had supper and so to be about 8:00. It was hot! Not much sleep, cockroaches, mosquitoes, Pop Newell and Dr. Beard snoring. Pop Newell got seasick.

Next day Helen Smith said she went on deck to sleep and got her feet tickled in the middle of the night by a Japanese sailor. She quickly came back down.

The ship's staff provides service, but grudgingly it seems. Why did they ever take us out at a time like this? Japan has invaded French Indo-China and FDR is threatening reprisal. I am uneasy about our first stop at Keelung, Formosa.

Monday a.m. July 28th

Last night on deck we talked, we sang, we ate some snacks (we supplement our Japanese-style meals with toast, cookies, peaches). I slept out on deck until midnight, then came in when it began to rain. Good sleep. The morning dawned beautiful in Keelung harbor- deep green sea, blue fluffy sky, serene. The chug-chug of tugs and barges. Brightly painted little sampans. Breeze ruffling the water. Mist around the breakwater and beyond.

The Quarantine launch pulls up. Green hills with three tapering steel towers. A well developed harbor. Quarantine inspection: stool sample, cameras and glasses, forms to fill in. Will be a hot day.

Tuesday:

Moved into the inner harbor last night. Jammed with vessels, big and small. Tremendous busyness. Yesterday in mid-morning we all piled onto a massive, splintered old barge towed by a steam launch- Americans, Spanish, French, Chinese, passengers and Japanese crew. It was HOT! We marched past a quarry into a decaying building, an old army barracks, for de-lousing. After much stalling around, we were lined up and went into the building in groups. The crew and Japanese first, our ladies last. We put our gold rings, watches, etc. into bags. Put our clothing in other bags. Stripped, we soaked in a 4-minute hot bath of disinfectant. Great stuff! Then walked out a passage and into a second room and a hot bath- with only a little rag towel not much bigger than a washcloth for cover. Finally, a dousing with a basin of water and out, where two stolid Japanese women (starchly clean) put on and tied our kimonos- we still with no covering. Dr. Beard didn't flicker an eyelash. I said, "If she doesn't mind, then I don't."

Then we walked up into the barracks to a room with tatami mats on the floor and waited for our clothing to come through the big "vacuum sterilizer" (made in Japan), and a good one, well polished in this broken-down, moss-grown building. We went out to get our clothing, then back to the tatami room for a long wait. Finally got a good box lunch at 1:30 after everyone had been cross-questioned one-on-one (Why were you in Foochow? Were you ordered out? How many Americans left? etc.) Then a long afternoon and finally, after another thorough spraying, back to the ship on a steam launch.

Everybody was tired. We had been in a fortified area, couldn't look around. Poor Pop Newell's leg...climbing in and out of barges, onto the dock, up steps, through the de-lousing procedure, etc. Everybody complained, considered themselves insulted, etc., especially the Catholic priests and sisters. But I got a kick out of it. Youth! Adventure!

I slept on deck again that night on a bench with a hard pillow. It was swell, cool. Got up early. Breakfast was the same as other meals. Fried cellophane (seaweed), pickled turnips, mushy eggplant, chopped squids, gooey soft dough slices, soup with a hunk of dough in it, soupy rice. We eat our own peaches, and today had fresh pineapple, bananas, papaya, and apples purchased from local people in small boats. I've been living only for this fruit.

We sit around reading, talking, gawking, sleeping. Everyone thought yesterday's big adventure an onerous task. Today the constant banging of steam winches loading powdery coal jarring the ship. Our luggage is banged up from shifting it around. It's very hard for anyone to change our money for us. Local women brought toothbrushes, soap, cotton shirts and pants, hair grease, candy, straw hats on board to sell, carrying their goods in big kerchiefs (furoshikis). I bought pineapples and bananas from a sampan, tried on a straw hat, too small.

We can't go ashore, the ladder is closely watched. I wear shorts, -T-shirt, cloth shoes. The ship's servants are slightly smirky, unattentive, unwilling. Officers are mostly nice, some merely tolerant of us.

As for our bunch, Helen Smith and Susan Armstrong are fine. Hazel Atwood is class of '12, Ripon College, graying, dowdy, good-humored but naïve (like me!). Mrs. Beard had a fit once in a Japanese hotel at removing her shoes. You can imagine her yesterday going through these baths stripped. And walking in front of this gathering of men who had come to see the foreign women, with only this tiny rag towel! And the two French Catholic Sisters, wearing black robes and cowl, threw a fit! Helen Smith went out first, past these men, but couldn't take it and dashed back. Then they all screwed up their courage and dashed across into the next room. "I don't know how we did it!" said Helen. The women attendants couldn't figure out all this nonsense. Just isn't in their field of experience or culture.

[According to Edith Beard Valentine in a conversation in 2007, Ellen refused to walk out naked in front of the Japanese so they told her that she could just stay there then. She finally gave in.]

The French Sisters are quite a pair, silent like wraiths they steal about, reading their Bibles and prayer books. One has asthma, is going to Baguio, the other is being transferred. The German priest, young and blond, is changing posts. Father Manning, the American Dominican priest with his Bronx Irish brogue, is genuine American. Ten years out here, going on furlough. Dr. Beard is swell, 76 year old and full of tales of his 45 years in China. Has a blood-clot in his foot. Mrs. Newell has goiter, astigmatic, hyper-thyroid, and sprue. She is good-souled. Beth Richey always has a headache; she's been "going home" since May. Mr. Jackson (businessman) with his 45 big pieces including piano, Chinese bed, Chinese living room furniture etc., had to leave his hairy Pekinese dog (Thank the Lord!) And the Russian lady who has been eyeing me and isn't married to the fat guy she pals with. And Gomez, a Portugee, 38 years working for Jardines in Foochow. Speaks Japanese.

Later: I'm standing on the second deck, great dark grey cloud masses pour up from the west, lit by unseen flames from China, from Chungking, "City of the dead," from Nanking and the countless battlefields of the Celestial Kingdom... My body is jarred by the incessant chugging of the steam loading cranes swinging dripping baskets of powdered coal out of barges into the ship, baskets shoveled full by Formosan coolies working for their masters, their exploiters, some just boys in ragged shorts, coated from head to foot with coal dust. Coolies squatting on the coal, shoveling rice through grime coated faces with unwashed hands- taking on fuel to drive that engine, their own bodies, to shovel on by floodlights. Loading coal for the Japanese, for the hungry furnaces of munitions factories turning American scrap steel into bombs and bullets to turn Chungking into a City of the Dead. And the hills around this beautiful and busy harbor are green with trees- banana, papaya, coconut, valleys filled with pineapples and rice. Yet these subject people starve, are excluded from the high schools and are discriminated against in favor of the imperial immigrants. A world of plenty for those who are on top.

Thursday, July 31st

Well, yesterday after finishing loading coal and then piling in our freight and luggage, the steward banged a gong, the captain blew a deep whistle blast, and we slowly moved out. We were all herded into the saloon and forbidden to go outside. Fr. Manning said that yesterday he picked up his Bible after leaving it in the saloon all night, and found some papers missing- a Latin translation, bookmarks, etc. Later a gendarme returned them without a word of explanation. Dr. Beard lost a fine zipper suitcase. To be copied in Japan, no doubt.

As usual, I am scavenger No. 1. I eat soups and stuff that the other folks "can't". And this morning the stewards got mad when the crowd removed all the plates with dry salt herrings, complaining of the smell. I got mad because I was outside, and missed out, but I got some anyway, and they all poked fun at me, but I like the food. Our papaya and bananas and pineapples are sure a useful addition to the meals, especially for Manning and Jackson, who eat little else...Our passports haven't been returned yet. At the shore inspection the inspector said, "Say, I brought my official seal but forgot the ink. I guess I'll have to return these passports later."

Sunday, August 3: Shanghai

We are staying in the International Settlement, guarded by American, French, British soldiers and their gunboats. Sitting in Shanghai heat at the Missionary Home (Miss Spurling, "40 years in Shanghai" – motto on the wall). Cheap board and room. Went to church this morning. Inspiring sermon by a young, earnest fan-waving chap from Soochow, "Dreams Come True."...

We landed Friday noon and I was sick all morning with bowel trouble, I guess I chilled my midsection the day before lying on deck, plus all that fruit we bought in Formosa for 18 cents. I took some medication and am OK now. We had a big jam unloading but finally got here and afternoon tea was my first food in 24 hours.

Saturday went downtown on a bus. Shanghai "city of contrasts," constantly runs through my mind. Beggars everywhere. A trembling woman in the gutter, unable to stand even when lifted by a policeman. Babies and sun-blackened filthy mother whining and crying all day long. "No momma, no poppa, no whiskey soda" – my friend Jim Worley says they're organized, a beggars union, can't beg without a permit. Their labor leader drives a big car. A little kid burns up a handful of spirit money, mechanically kow-towing, watching us. Saw a bloated body float by the big dirty coal barges. Crab meat is said to be very good this year. The crabs are well-fed. Some folks won't eat it. 200 froze to death in one night recently.

I trotted up to the Associated Mission Treasurers with Pop Newell and Dr. Beard, picked up a letter from Mom to Mr. Fuller, "Send my boy home at any expense." I got semi-assurance from American President Lines of a 3rd class passage. Went to a baseball game, U.S. Marines vs. U.S. Navy, met Ted and Johnny [friends from the 7th Japan-American Student Conference the previous summer]- both going to hell out here. Then I went to the radio studio and met Carroll Alcott, the famous announcer know up and down the China coast, told him the names of our group and to announce it so that the folks in Foochow could hear it. [They did hear it.] I went to the YMCA with Jim for a huge T-bone steak followed by bowling and a swim and ice cream sundae. Then back to my lodgings. A big day, at first I felt suppressed, inhibited, like a hick from the sticks, but after a day of socializing I felt capable of re-entering society.

Postscript:

I spent two weeks in Shanghai, summer 1941, waiting to get a job working on an American ship. I went to the American consulate each morning and waited for a ship's captain to come in looking for a crew replacement. Finally got a job on the U.S. Lines "City of Dalhart," a freighter. My predecessor got banged up, drunk, fell off the gangplank and ended up in the hospital. We took on cargo in Hong Kong, Manila, Lingayen Gulf (coconut in big bags), stopped at L.A. for eight hours (I saw my family), then through the Panama Canal to New York, November 1941, one month before Pearl Harbor. I went back to school and graduated from UCLA in summer 1942. I joined the Air Force and ended up back in China where I wanted to be.

Donald MacInnis

Transcribed March 22, 1999

In the book, The Hills of T'Ang author Muriel Caldwell Pilley (daughter of the tiger hunter missionary, John Caldwell) mentions the fumigation of the evacuees:

"Helen and ten others at last got a chance to leave China. But first they suffered the humiliation of having all baggage fumigated and each passenger being sprayed before getting on the launch that would take them to Pagoda Anchorage to board a Japanese ship. A letter came in the middle of August telling how Helen and the rest were fumigated in Formosa and forced to walk naked before men from one building to another to get their clothes!"
Pilley, Muriel C. The Hills of Tang. United States: Xlibris Corporation, 2001.

From the book, Family Letters from China 1901-1950 by Eunice Smith Bishop, sister of Helen Smith, Eunice includes one of Helen's diary entries from July 24 and 25th, 1941:

“Everyone and his family were there to see us off, with many gifts and fond farewells. I hated to leave. As we got on the launch, the Japanese guard sprayed us with Lysol, lest we carry a germ.

What a day. We anchored at dawn at Keeling, a port in Formosa. After inspection, we were piled into a quarantine station where we were to be fumigated. After much confusion, we were told to take off all our clothes and put them in a small bag and prepare for a disinfecting bath.

After the men were through, we were called in to a large open vestibule where we had to disrobe. The poor Catholic nuns held back and insisted they couldn't. Mrs. Beard (the most reserved proper New England lady) took one look at the public bath and let out a horrified cry. The large room was open at both ends and no attempt was made for any privacy. Hiding behind a slight partition, Mrs. Beard, the nuns and I undressed and jumped in. The tank was deep and the water hot. We had to stay in five minutes. We tried to crouch into the corners and were all overcome with embarrassment. The worst was yet to come. On getting out, we were herded out around the house into another room, passed all the men. I was so mad and disgusted that I was incoherent and failed to notice the men who were walking back and forth.”

Bishop, Eunice Smith. Family Letters from China 1901-1950. Brookfield, CT: DTP&M Services, 1991.

[This letter dated August 22, 1941 was written on the S.S. President Coolidge nearing Honolulu by Willard to Geraldine. Willard hopes that their niece, Millicent, will meet them when they pull into Honolulu the next day. He tells of some of their travel plans once they arrive in the U.S. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Nearing Honolulu, S. S. Pres. “Coolidge” August 22, 1941

Dear Geraldine:-

This I am writing for the Air Mail tomorrow from Honolulu. It may work and it may not. We tried it from Shanghai to Millicent. Then we radioed her from the ship and she replied that no letter had come. I tried a radio “Honolulu Saturday” and they refused to send it. She knows we are on the Coolidge and I hope she will meet us in Honolulu tomorrow.

We hope to spend Friday and Sat. - until we take the train for Chicago with Leolyn and family, and then go to Chicago. I will wire you our train and time [of] arrival in Chicago as soon as I know. We plan to stay about 2 days, if convenient, with you. Then go up to Dorothys for two or three days and then on to Conn. This is presumptuous for we have not had a word from anyone in the U.S. since way back in Feb. You may be in Timbuktu for all we know. But I hope this will find you at your former address and that you can wire us at Leolyns= Mrs. Wm. Morgan 1683 La Loma Ave. Berkeley, Calif. If we may stop with you a day or two. - If the Morgan's are not at home we may be able to get away from San Francisco Friday. My wire to you will tell you.

Honolulu Aug. 23 Sat. 11 a.m.

We docked while at breakfast this a.m. We have talked with Millicent $.22 for 3 min. Learned that Aunt Etta was leaving Oct. 1 for a visit to Millicent and that Fulton was married to a widow!!! with 3 !!! children and that he was visiting Millicent at the same time as his mother's in Australia.

Love

Father and Mother

[This typewritten letter, dated September 13, 1941, was written from Foochow, China by Dr. Gene Dyer to her Foochow friends. The Japanese have suddenly left Foochow and things are getting back to normal. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Foochow, Fu., China.
Sept. 13, 1941.

Dear Foochow Friends:-

Believe it or not, the Japanese have left Foochow, every last mother's son (and daughter) of them, with all their horses and other belongings, plus considerable more! They began to move out a couple of weeks ago, inconspicuously at first, then in larger groups but closing the doors of their empty quarters, and finally in a hurry, with doors all left open, with an army of Chinese carriers to rush their loot to the river in time for the last boats. The Bund, from the Big Bridge to the farthest jetty, was stacked to high heaven, with guards on all sides to prevent any sabotage while the stuff was dumped on boats at top speed.

The Japanese had notified the city that they were leaving on Sept. 2 at 6 p.m., that the firemen had been paid to act as interim police, and that the Chinese national troops, under the ChungKing gov't. would take back the city at 9 p.m. Did we dare believe it? Japanese observation planes wheeled over the city all day on the 2nd, probably to be sure that no Chinese troops sneaked in ahead of time, but the Chinese were being very careful to do nothing that might bring reprisals or delay the Japanese in keeping their promise to get out. During the day the Japanese collected their troops- and courage- outside of North Gate and finally at midnight, about 2000 strong, they dashed for the river, evidently jittery lest Chinese troops arrive and step on their heels.

Next morning, Sept. 3rd, the last boat pulled out from Pagoda, after they had fired all the buildings connected with the Naval Station and School. Planes flew over us all that morning, scattering a few bombs and bullets, perhaps trying to help a "lost unit" to escape, caught up river. Merlin Bishop's little red bug of a car, spinning up South St., caught the eye of a pilot who brought his plane down and spat machine-gun bullets at it, sixteen going through the car. Merlin and the American Consul, Rice, were in the car and miraculously dodged them all. The only vicious bullet was deflected by the backs of two seats and a bunch of keys, in Merlin's hip-pocket.

Foochow feared a period of lawlessness Sept. 3rd, but thanks to the well-laid plans of the Japanese and the new Chinese government there was no disturbance here at all. The rumor circulated up river that the city burned for three days after the Japanese left, as wild as a lot of other rumors we have had! Diongloh did not fare so well, as the Chinese control was left in the hands of mere youth and guerillas who did come reprisal looting and swarmed into the mission school buildings, more intent on exterminating "traitors" than on keeping order.

We all, even Chungking, are wondering why the Japanese left Foochow. When they came in there was a report that they would leave after four months, but that seemed like propaganda. They seemed to have come in through the connivance of disgruntled people who felt they couldn't stand any longer the prices that the governments was allowing its business monopolies to charge for rice and other staples, and possibly there was some agreement about time, but certainly no compulsion to keep it. In the four months the Japanese cleaned out all the lumber that had accumulated here waiting for the blockage to be lifted, and all the government-held tea-recently became a monopoly- plus whatever could be looted from the city in general. Shaw estimates they took out about $15,000,000 worth but thinks the expedition cost them more than that. They are reported to have been surprised that the city was so empty, so poor that people stood around and begged for left-over bits of cooked rice.

The Japanese commandeered private residences, especially the semi-foreign type, and asked for some of our churches and schools, the Y.M.C.A. and even our nurses' dormitory, but were dissuaded and did not actually enter any British or American property. They used the new provincial hospital as a military hospital, brought in window glass, or paper, for the windows, built a Japanese bath(?), etc. but their civilian (and venereal!) cases came to us. We politely declined the honor of their presence as in-patients but saw all who came to the out-patient dept. At first two or three sword-wearing officials clanked into the office daily, asking questions or statistics, by pencil, later by interpreter, and my heart went pit-a-pat, but in the last two months only their polite Board of Health doctor came to get information about each plague case we took in,- a reportable disease. They supplied us with plague vaccine for the anti-plague campaign. As a matter of fact those who came to the hospital were always polite and gave us no trouble, except through red-tape.

The occupation actually was not as bad, here in Foochow, as we had feared, there was less violence and torture, and a better control of the food supply than we had imagined. However, many people lost all their valuable possessions and all were much bruised in spirit,- all who had any. No one, rich or poor, knew when he might be subjected to humiliating discipline or when, by day or night, his house might be searched and looted. The troops seemed to be well disciplined but were given privileges on the side. Each soldier, we heard, was allowed the space of four small trunks in his out-bound baggage, and most of them were quite discriminating about Chinese curios or what-have-you.

For a few days we rubbed our eyes and wondered if we were dreaming but the river is alive with up-river launches, mail from the interior comes promptly, there is no martial law at night and no soldiers shout "hehr-r-r-r" at us when we go on the street, so it seems really true that we are once more a part of free China. It's a world that is still far from perfect but it shows hopeful sparks of ambition, some of which we hope may blaze up into good government, that will clear out the weeds and let some good seed have a chance. The problems now facing the schools and churches in this half-starved territory, facing all who work here, are new and difficult and will call for patience and courage, but at least we are free from enemy domination. The return of Foochow to free China automatically "defrosted" our bank accounts, which solved one big problem. The problem of the crippling poverty of the rank and file will not be solved till the price of foodstuffs is remedied.

[The following is handwritten:]

Dear Helen:

Some of these items will be new to you, so I'll send you a copy. Laura went up to Wenshan, probably arrived 9/16. Lyda at the time went to Y.K.T.S. Bertha and Josephine Walker started for USA via Ku Kong and plane to Hong King. J.W. seems to be losing her vision. Mac has been having typhoid, modified by inoculations annually. Is beginning to sit up now. M. Wiley started for Goik De a few days ago. E.W. Smith III arrived on E.W.S. II's birthday, Aug. 20, a nice big boy. Hope you have a good rest and interesting study. With love, Gene Dyer
My love to Peggy.

[This letter dated October 2, 1941 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. Willard and Ellen arrived in Connecticut and there were 24 relatives at lunch the following Sunday. Aunt Mary keeps busy as chairman of the Woman's Missionary Society. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

October 2nd. 1941.

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

Dear Jerry:-

Your good letter came yesterday. We all but Aunt Phebe went to New Canaan to attend the Fall Meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of which Aunt Mary is Chairman. She had a GOOD meeting with 180 present. They filled the church and overflowed the dining room into the Methodist church and the tea rooms of the town. The program was interesting and held the audience to the "last drop".

Today she has gone to Norwalk to a committee meeting and she also has to give a talk. Mother went with her to Bridgeport to "look at dresses and hats". No buy.

I enclose a clipping that Aunt Phebe cut out of the Tribune and thought you would find interest in.

Dot writes that Ralph and family arrived the Saturday after we left. She taught all day the Friday after we left and got the house cleaned up and also took some rest altho I do not see where she found the rest time.

We had a pleasant ride from Saginaw to New York. When we came out of the depths in Grand Central Station, there stood Gould and Jinny, and just around the corner was their new Pontiac snorting to start for Century Farm. We arrived about 11 a.m. They left about 5:00 p.m. to come back the next day with Hazel and Willard. There were 24 at lunch that Sunday. Gould 4, Aunt Annie 1, Aunts Phebe and Mary 2, Uncle Ben 2, Wells 2, Dan 4, Edith 4, Uncle Stanley 3, Mother and me 2.

I am addressing this as per the corner of your letter.

Lovingly Father

I hope you are enjoying your study.

Written on back of photo: "1941 – M. Gould Beard and son Willard F. Beard and 'Ruff' on board the 'Frolic' off Port Washington L.I., N.Y."

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Oct. 14, 1941 was written from Clearwater, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. Geraldine is now living in Seattle. Kathleen wonders what Willard and Ellen's plans are. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

R.D. 1 Box 126
Clearwater Fla.
Oct. 14 [1941]

Dear Jerry:

At last I know where you are. I had been wondering whether you really went to Seattle or maybe eloped or something as mysterious. But now I know for sure that you are about as far from us as you could be and be in the same country- and you have to go off there all by yourself and get sick! I hope now that the pressure and irritation are lifted you can relax and forget that goading drive for accomplishment that always seems to do you in whatever the task. You ought to have a bit more of my lazy-bones that permits me to drop everything as I did this afternoon and take a two hour nap with Cynthia.

That trip of yours and Happy's did sound like grand fun and you certainly covered plenty of territory. How I should love to take to the road again and do some large scale travelling, but we seem to be getting tied down with ever more numerous strings of one kind or another. (Now Jill is in school and we have a little piano of our own to pay for.) Does your work require lots of reading or is it mostly a study of how to make books accessible to others? Do you have any idea what this year of study will lead to? I mean, do you have any special job in view or will the University help to place you after you get your degree?

Mother and Father are silent on their plans for the immediate future- in fact they're just silent. But I hope they will come down sometime during the winter. I think Mother would like to for she seemed to enjoy Florida when she was here before but I suppose Father hates the thought of the long trip.

Just before Jill's school started we had to get out of the Bakeman's house because they came down early this year, so we found a little cottage way down near the water and the sanatorium. We just have to cross the shore road to get to the little pier where the boats are kept- remember? We like it down here even tho we are smack up against our neighbors on both sides, but it is a whole mile from the Elmer's and we each have to walk it every day for the car to take Hugh to Tampa. I asked Dot to send us the boy's bicycle that you had in the East. Is that alright? You can have it again when you want it, but it will help us a lot in getting back and forth this winter.

The bowl you sent is lovely and I was wondering what spot on your long trail it came from. But you mustn't go giving Christmas presents for past year. Remember you gave me that suit which should cover at least four Christmases and is still giving good service. Thanks muchly for the souvenir and I'll enjoy using it.

I sent your long letter right on to Monnie so it should make the last boat up the coast. I have a letter to you and me from Monnie but it is the same as the one Dot sent down and you must have seen it in Saginaw so I'll not send it.

Cynthia came out with the statement that something "irritated" her the other day. I forget what it was but the big word rolled out most amusingly. We all send love and hope your cold is gone by now- Kathie

[This letter dated October 18, 1941 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He and Ellen have kept busy attending meetings and visiting. He has had some problem with his foot and now takes medication for high blood pressure. Elbert has been renovating his house. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton, Conn.

October 18th 1941

Dear Geraldine:-

This is christening the very nice box of stationery I found on our dresser in our new room at the farm when we arrived a month ago tomorrow the 19th, - with a gift card fr. Aunt Phebe and Aunt Mary.

To day the bill for your life insurance came. I have written the check $179.88 and am mailing it to them asking them to send the receipt to me. I will forward it to you at once. You will likely be able to understand all these figures. The bill due was $179.88. What this Premium deposit fund Annual Statement is you will know. I have sent the check and bill to Chicago in the addressed envelope.

Since reaching Century Farm we have not had much time to loaf. Aunt Mary as Chairman of ¼ of the Congregational Christian Women of Connecticut is called here and there often. Mother and I went with her to New Canaan one day and we went to Meriden Oct. 7th and 8th - driving up and back both days. The second day Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert were there and we arranged to go to Putnam with them when they came down Friday Oct. 14th. That nite Mother and Aunt Emma attended a group meeting of the women of the church and the next evening we all went to a church supper prepared by the men. Then on Thursday we all went to Boston. Mother and I spent two hours with Harold Belcher, Wynn Fairfield and Ned Smith. Then Ned, Mother and I lunched together, and then Mother shopped with Aunt Emma, and Uncle Elbert businesssed and I talked half an hour with Ned and an hour with Wynn Fairfield, napped 20 min. and went to the car. The other three came very soon. We dined about half way home arriving at 9:30. Yesterday mother and Aunt Emma went to a women's meeting in the p.m.

I have seen Dr. Curtis - osteopath and Dr. Edson Alafoth[?] during the time we have been at Shelton- both told me not to work for a month. Dr. Edson found a blood pressure of 200 and perhaps more. I am taking his medicine for this. My foot is almost normal. I am still wearing a large shoe- have worn my best shoes once. The foot does not give me the least trouble [Willard has a blood clot as Donald MacInnis referred to in his account of their evacuation from China.]. Both Mother and I are sleeping like babies. I sleep right thru the nite with out knowing a thing six nights out of seven- this on top of an hour's nap in the afternoon.

Your letter with your permanent address is here. I sent one letter to your temporary address in Seattle. I hope your work goes nicely and that you are getting what you want.

Monnie writes of a 5 or 6 weeks visit to North West River and a hunting trip with Ralph on which she did all the shooting six or seven ducks. Davis Inlet got near starvation- due to the lateness of the season that kept the boat from getting up. She and Ralph seem to be more in love with each other with each month. It is two o'clock. I have helped "do" the dishes and am sleepy- so I'll take a nap and resume this later. Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert appear very well- both of them.

Good ??- good nap- 2 hrs.

Now we're going to the Methodist church to a bean supper. Uncle Elbert has a very fine breakfast room and toilet nearly finished. He has extended the whole house to the East about ten feet. The old kitchen outside door remains and opens into the bath room. It is a glass door!! Behind one toilet is a shallow closet where Uncle Elbert will keep his garden clothes. The doors into the sun parlor open from the kitchen and from the dining room and there to our outside door. The East and South sides are all windows, and it will be a delightful breakfast and lunch room from Sept. to May. Then he fixed up the East most garage for a workshop, - with tools and bench and heat. He is not planning to rust out. He dug out the foundation and air space himself- 250 wheel barrow loads. The earth is in a heap on his garden now. He will with it fill in the low places in the garden and lawn.

Mother and I are getting filled out and are feeling well. God has given us good things too numerous to recount- among them five successful children who honor and are an honor to us. We pray they may be an honor and honor God. Lots of love

Father and Mother.

The Putnam Patriot, October 23, 1941

Missionaries, Returning To America After 47 Years In Orient, Tell Of Dire Conditions In War-Torn China
Dr. and Mrs. Willard Beard Declare Chinese People Were Never Subjected to Worse Suffering, - Shortage of Food
Evident Everywhere.- Prices of Commodities Rising Constantly.- Doctor Relates Story of Return Trip to Foochow
Three Years Ago and Difficulty in Leaving This Summer.- He Did Much During Life in Far East to Raise Educational Standards of China's Illiterate Heathen Masses.

Dr. and Mrs. Willard L. Beard, who left Putnam for the Orient forty-seven years ago to begin a life dedicated to the teaching of Christian education among China's illiterate and heathen masses, have now turned to America to spend the remainder of their lives in retirement at their home in Shelton, Conn. Mrs. Beard, who was a bride of only a few days when she and her husband put aside family ties and friendships and set out for the Far East where they were destined to spend the greater part of their lives, was Miss Ellen Kinney of this city, sister of Miss Emma Kinney and Elbert Kinney of Center street.

Although the couple arrived in San Francisco on August 28th, they did not reach Putnam until last week and are now visiting the Kinneys for a short time before returning to their Shelton home. In an interview with the Patriot reporter, Dr. Beard told vividly of the devastating condition which now exists in the country to which his life's labors have been devoted. He declared that neither he nor any of the others in China with whom he has talked can see any possibility of a Japanese victory in the present war, adding, however, that never was the plight of the Chinese so serious. A definite shortage of necessary food stuffs, such as rice, and the prohibitive price which is being placed on the available food supply, has caused wide-spread suffering and death unparalleled in the long history of China, the doctor said.

As for the conflict itself Dr. Beard stated that under the able and farsighted Chiang Kai-Shek, China is now far better prepared to defend itself against Nipponese aggression than at any time since the undeclared war started four years ago. This has been brought about by China's will to survive and now is being helped by the United States' aid that is arriving in China at a crucial time in the country's history. The weakest part of the nation's entire defense, he went on, lies in its air corps.

From the time that Dr. and Mrs. Beard first went to China, they have made only seven visits home and in 1936, when Dr. Beard was 71 years old the American Board of Missions, in his own words, "said retire, and retire we did." The couple came back to the United States and it was believed, ended their long careers as missionaries. However, in 1939, three years after their retirement, Dr. and Mrs. Beard received a letter from a former associate in China, Rev. Edward H. Smith, who said that his furlough was a year over due and that there was no one to take over his work if he returned home. The result was that soon afterwards the Beards agreed to return to China for another three years of work in Ing Tai, about 40 miles up in the country from Foochow.

Dr. Beard's account of their trip back to the scene of their foreign labors is most interesting. Upon reaching Shanghai from San Francisco, they learned that the Japanese, who had been at war with the Chinese for two years, were in control of the port of Foochow. "It was a serious question: How could we get from Shanghai to Foochow?" Dr. Beard stated. The distance was 50 miles. However, they heard that a ship, owned by a single man, was running down the coast and would pass near to Foochow. The rest of the journey could be made in sedan chairs or on foot.

"Although the ship was nothing but an old tub (with heavy shoe you could almost put your foot through her plates), it served our purpose admirably", the doctor said. The couple landed at Santu, about 70 miles north of Foochow. On the morning that they disembarked, they found themselves enveloped in a thick fog. A drizzling rain was falling. "It was the first time in my life that I was ever glad to see fog and rain on the sea," the doctor stated.

“After leaving the ship,” Dr. Beard went on, “we found a sedan chair and men to carry ourselves and our luggage.” It took us a day and a half to make the 50 mile trip to a point on the Min River where we found a launch to take us to Foochow. The second day we were up at 4:30 o’clock in the morning and ‘on the go.’ Except for an hour for lunch we continued until 11:55 o’clock at night and covered 35 miles. This is certainly an argument for the physical endurance of the Chinese.”

When Dr. and Mrs. Beard arrived at their destination, they found Foochow city and the hinterland “unoccupied territory” so they were free to live and travel as they pleased. Being the only man of the mission in Foochow, Dr. Beard said that he was “placed on about nine different committees and boards of managers and was also named general secretary of the synod. Mrs. Beard was given the position of overseer for a class of women who were embroidering grass linen which was bought by the mission and sold in America. This was the women’s only means of making a livelihood. Both Dr. and Mrs. Beard continued to live in Foochow.

In the spring of 1940, Mr. Smith, the man whom Dr. Beard returned to China to relieve, came back to the United States for his long-overdue furlough and Dr. Beard moved 40 miles west to Ing Tai, but Mrs. Beard continued with her work in Foochow. The doctor’s duties as general secretary of the Synod and a member of various committees brought him back to Foochow and his wife about once a month. Although the distance between the two cities was not great and the trip would only mean travelling an hour or more in this country, for Dr. Beard the journey required arising at 3:30 in the morning, riding two hours in a rickshaw, three hours in a crowded launch and from seven to ten hours in a small boat that was towed by three men. The trip included ascents up rapids and over a most difficult course. The craft arrived at Ing Tai at any time from 5:00 o’clock until 11:00 O’clock at night.

Although Dr. Beard’s work at Ing Tai was technically general secretary, his activities there were varied. When he arrived to take over his new work he found about 300 orphans and 40 or 50 other dependants, including the blind, who became his responsibility. The Ing Tai school was divided into four departments; kindergarten with 70 students; lower primary with 300 (mostly orphans); higher primary with 120; middle school (juniors) with 250. The principal of these combined schools was graduated from Foochow college while Dr. Beard was president of that institution and several of the teachers are his former students.

There are nine centers of Christian work in the Ing Tai field, which is about the size of the State of Connecticut. Besides these, Dr. Beard found upon arriving in Ing Tai that Foochow College with 800 students, all boys, Wenshan Girls School with 300, Diong Loh Boys School with 800 and the Y.M.C.A. school with 300 had removed there from Foochow. This made a student population of well over 2000 pupils which suddenly arriving in a little city of 7000 people when conditions in Foochow became such that further activity there was not advisable. Every Chinese house was rented and four new buildings were erected to accommodate the army of student refugees.

Dr. Beard stated that just when things became well regulated and running smoothly, the Japanese came into Foochow, despite the fact that three years before the Chinese had fought off the invaders and strongly fortified the city. But since that time all soldiers had been withdrawn and the Chinese officials in Foochow had become avaricious. In the district bordering the sea one magistrate so oppressed his people that the population really invited the Japanese to enter. The magistrate, Dr. Beard stated, fled out of the back window of his home as the Japanese came in the front door. He later came to live in Ing Tai. Foochow itself was taken by the enemy without the firing of a single shot, although previously they had dropped bombs and caused some damage. But when the Japanese arrived in the city, had been stripped by the fleeing population and all provisions for men and horses had to be brought in by ships.

Soon after the occupation of Foochow the native, population began to vacate the place and many of them came through the city where Dr. Beard was stationed. In one day, he said, 350 refugees from Foochow registered at Ing Tai. From there they trekked on into the west. Dr. Beard’s description of the refugees as they passed through the city was heart rendering. “I saw one father, with a few cooking utensils, a blanket and a few sweet potatoes stretched across his shoulders, trudging along the road. He was followed by his wife with a baby strapped on her back. She was leading a child by one hand and two or three others were plodding along behind. They had walked 25 miles and had 50 miles more to go before they reached their destination.

Some of the refugees had money in Foochow but they dared not bring it with them for fear of Chinese bandits along the road, Dr. Beard stated. In many cases, he went on, these refugees paid over their money to the mission treasurer and merely carried a receipt. When they arrived in Ing Tai, they contacted Dr. Beard and he reimbursed them to the amount that they had deposited in Foochow. “Cash was plentiful in Ing Tai,” the doctor stated, adding that in one month he cashed $12,000 in checks on a bank in Foochow. Twice, he said, men came to him with $15,000 in cash and asked only for a receipt which they took to Foochow to be redeemed there.

Two days after the occupation of Foochow by the Japanese, money was frozen in Ing Tai and two Americans had to go to Foochow and bring back $16,000 in cash through the Japanese lines, the Chinese bandit regions and the Chinese defenses. Dr. Beard told of having taken $5300 to Foochow in the face of the same dangers although he added that he followed seldom-used by-paths with which he had become familiar during his many years in that section and therefore the danger was minimized.

After the Foochow occupation, the Putnam man said, food in Ing Tai was restricted to that which could be raised at home. "I had purchased seed from Burpee in 1940," he stated, "and I had a good garden. The only products that we had that were not home-grown were baking powder, cocoa and coffee. Fortunately, I had been raising pigs and at the time three were ready for consumption and were converted into hams, bacon, sausage and head cheese. Pork and chicken was then selling at $2.00 a pound.

The food shortage in Foochow was just as acute as in Ing Tai and the American Embassy in China began urging the Foochow consul to send home all Americans whose presence there was not absolutely essential. "In May," Dr. Beard said, "the consul met with me and said that although there was no one there that he would rather see stay in Ing Tai he thought that it was best that Mrs. Beard and I leave because of our age. The mission met twice later and on both occasions our names were placed on the retired list."

With 16 other Americans, the Putnam couple prepared to leave China. The consul immediately began negotiations with the Japanese for passage from Foochow to Shanghai. They agreed to provide accommodations on July 17th but failed to keep their promise. The date was set ahead to July 21st and again the arrangements failed to materialize. It was not until after the consul had hinted that he might ask American gunboats to transport Japanese provided passage for the group. They arrived in Shanghai on August 1st. The trip lasted six days, rather than the ordinary two days.

Reaching Shanghai, Dr. and Mrs. Beard learned that all accommodations of the "Coolidge" were engaged but after two weeks' delay they were both provided berths and set sail on August 14th, direct to Honolulu. 100 other Americans in Japan who sought passage on the "Coolidge" were left behind. The couple landed in San Francisco on August 28th.

Dr. and Mrs. Beard began their service in China through the doctor's association with the American Board of Foreign Missions. As president of Foochow College, a post he held for many years, he did much to raise the standards of education among the Chinese and in leaving the wartorn country and its people whom they have loved and labored for during the best years of their life, Dr. and Mrs. Beard have left behind a heritage that doubtless will inspire the younger missionaries to take up and carry on the huge task that is their lot.

[Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Oct. 31, 1941 was written from Putnam, CT by Willard to Geraldine. They are currently in Putnam and have been busy attending meetings. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

32 Center St. [Putnam]
Shelton, Conn.
Oct. 31st 1941

Dear Geraldine:-

Your letter of Oct. 19, reached me a day or two ago. I have sent my check for $173.72 to my New England Mutual Life Insurance Co. H.G. Swanson, Gen'l Agent, 3300 Board of Trade Building Chicago, Ill. I wrote you Oct. 18 about sending my check to the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co. 2086 S. LaSalle St. Chicago, Ill, for $179.88, on Oct. 18th. This amount does not agree with the amount you mention in this letter of Oct. 19th. You had better take this matter up direct with the Phoenix Mutual. Their receipt has not yet come to me. I have asked the New England Mutual to send the receipt to you direct. The notice came to me too late to get my check to them Oct. 28, the date it was due.

You see we are still in Putnam. We plan to attend the Annual Meeting of the Board in Springfield from here. I go tomorrow Saturday Nov. 1 to stay Sunday with Rev. Ronald J. Tamblyn, Pastor of First Cong'l Church Holyoke, Mass. and to speak in his church Sunday Nov. 2. Then come to Springfield Nov. 3. Mother will come to Springfield that day and we will both be present at a dinner and evening session of the Am. Board and the New England Regional Meeting. This is something new to us. Aunt Mary will come to this meeting Tues. Nov. 3 and stay till Nov. 6. Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert will come up one day- I shall stay over in Putnam for Sunday Nov. 9 to speak in the Putnam Church, and go to Shelton so as to speak in Newtown Nov. 13- 2:30 p.m. Mother speaks in Woostock Hill 2:30 p.m. the day before= Wed. It looks as if we would have to go to Shelton by train-separately.

We have been on the go much of the time here in Putnam. On each Wed. evening we have taken supper at the Cong'l Church and devotional meeting and social afterward. Each Saturday evening we go to the Meth. Ch. to a bean supper. They are helping pay off one debt on their church, - built after the fire, - in this way. One day we spent in Providence. - One p.m. we attended the funeral of the daughter of cousin Bertha Webster- Marguerite Hylse. It was sad. She and her husband have not lived together for some time. They had three children a boy and a girl- about 12 and 14. The daughter and children have lived with Bertha for a year or more. Now the father must take them. Bertha has had two shocks- and some one must stay with her or she must find a home.

Mother has a new dress- a new hat and I have a new suit and a new top coat. We left all our warm clothes in Foochow to help keep the poor warm this winter. We have no direct news from Foochow since we left July 26. A card came from Josephine Walker yesterday written in San Francisco. She and Berth Allen came out via Hong Kong- flew part of the way from Shaowu to Hong Kong. No one seems to know just where Mr. McClure is. Just here the mail came and 15 letters returned from Foochow!!- and a card- a pen sketch of a baby on hands and knees looking at a toy dog on a pedestal. Inside in fine script are the lines-

My name is Edward Walter 3rd
I arrived August 20, 1941 at 7:00 a.m.
My home is in Foochow, China.
I weigh 8 ¾ pounds
My daddy and mother are
Rev. and Mrs. E. Walter Smith Jr.

Josephine Walker

SHE claims four native tongues and uses them all in her work with women.

We are very happy to hear this news. As soon as they reached Foochow last Jan(?) Dr. Dyer kept Lucie=Mrs. Smith= very quiet. She was about all the time but did not get out of the compound often. So it is very good news to know that all went well.

In this lot of 15 letters are two from you written March 16 and May 23, one from Aunt Mollie, two from Aunt Emma etc. - one from Monnie. We have not yet read all of them.

We have two or three days of cold, ice 3/8 of an inch yesterday morning here. Day before that Harvey and Dedie were here for lunch. She said ice was 1 in. thick on her mountain. Today is quite warm. I have taken off my coat for comfort.

Uncle Elbert is attending a meeting of Bank Directors and Mother and Aunt Emma are at a Miss'y Meeting so I am alone in the house.

I'll look up the Insurance dividend as soon as I get home. I've only half taken over my business from Aunt Mary. But I think there are $5 or $6 to your credit and Dot or Monnie the same. The Bolosiks paid up the Mortgage so that will be closed out. I will also see if Aunt Mary has given you your share of the primatol[?].

Lots of love
Father

[This letter dated Oct. 1941 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. Dorothy refers to Geraldine as being a co-ed again. They have had visitors and some unusual happenings in the neighborhood. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dorothy Newberg

Saginaw, Mich.
Sunday –
[Oct. 1941]

Dear Jerry:-

Well, how goes the school work? – and how does it feel to be a co-ed, once again? You didn't say on your last card whether or not you took the hostess job. I rather hope you didn't, for I should think it would keep you rather tied down and up late nights- and you ought to get your rest!

Was so sorry to hear that you had been sick again. I hope that climate will be better for you than Chicago was.

I taught school over on the East Side Friday- the day after you folks left, and Harold's mother, Ralph, Relda and Donnie came Sat, evening. They stayed ten days too. They seemed to have fishing on the brain, for I took them up to Tawas for the day once, they went up again by themselves, and up to the Bay once, and Harold and Ralph and Donnie went to the Bay once. Fishing wasn't extra good any one of those times, but it was the first time Mother Newberg has ever been fishing and she caught two or three in all.

We've had excitement of all kinds in our neighborhood lately. A lady three doors from us (north) shot herself bout a week ago. She has not been right mentally for almost two years. Right back of us a house was entered by two young burglars a few days ago. The owner of the house caught one of the fellows and held him at the point of a butcher knife until the police came. Yesterday we had a wedding and all afternoon reception right across the street. Then, too, Hazel Patterson- were you here when she and her husband called?- went to the hospital rather suddenly and had an operation- a ruptured tumor I think, and is very sick now. Another of my friends just lost her second baby within a year and a half. All that within the last ten days- is too much!!!

Day after tomorrow (Tues.) I go to Grand Chapter at Grand Rapids, and on Thurs. afternoon I will be installed as Grand Ruth- and there with starts a busy year.

Myrtle Johnson was very sorry not to have seen you while you were here. She almost bawled me out for not dropping around there with you. Guess I should have. She just heard yesterday that she had a 6-weeks substitute job in 1st grade, starting tomorrow. She is President of the Culture Club and is thinking of resigning because right after that she'll be working at Worley's.

Say Hello to Gwin for me when you see her. Very much love, and take care of yourself. Dot.

[This letter dated about Nov. 3, 1941 was written from Clearwater, FL by Kathleen to her parents. She thanks them for some money they sent and tells how Jill and Cynthia were on a radio show where they sang a Chinese song. Jill has started school. Original letter in Jill Elmer Jackson's collection.]

R.D. 1 Clearwater
Nov. 3

Dear Mother and Father:

According to your letter, Father, you are now in Springfield at the American Board Annual meeting. Are you doing any of the speaking for it? Thank you many times over for the check. We used some of it for long needed dentistry and the rest is in our reserve fund. Hugh just had a weeks vacation so we made use of the time for our visits to the dentist and I have to go again tomorrow. During the week we also played a lot of tennis and got a good rest. This is the first year with the Express that Hugh had worked all the time so a vacation meant a lot to him.

Two weeks ago I took the children over to St. Petersburg to appear on a children's radio program. They had listened to it for several Saturday mornings and Jill always said she wished she could be on the radio, so I wrote in and asked if they could be on. They sang "Jesu tiang nguai" which I taught them and Cynthia was the youngest one on the program that day. It was really lots of fun and I'm so glad we did it for it gave us all a chance to see just how a thing like that was carried off. We were there half an hour early and the girl in charge checked all the children in. The whole thing was very informal, even on the air, and the children were called up to the "mike" as their turns came, interviewed by the announcer and went thru their pieces. I played for my children so was right beside them to see that they spoke into the mike. They did well and several friends here and in Haines City said they heard them. It was a strictly local broadcast so I knew it would do no good to tell you to tune in. They have sung the Chinese version quite a bit here in town, at school and church and people seem quite interested. You can hear them when you come down.

Jill likes school and is doing her work alright as far as I can tell. I haven't seen a report card yet, but she comes home with extravagant tales of her achievements. Of course she has been reading and writing for over a year now so she should know her letters and words better than some of the younger ones. The school put on a big Halloween carnival last Friday night so I dressed both children up and took them. It was a bedlam of whistles and shouting but the youngsters seemed to enjoy it.

Last night was our first real cool night for we have had an exceptionally warm fall so I'm getting out blankets and woollens today and we are thinking of fires for the house soon. Persimmons are about gone and we had only half a bushel of them this year. They were scarce and high for some reason.

Keep us informed as to your whereabouts as you move around and come down here when it gets too cold. Give our love to Uncle Elbert and Aunt Emma and tell them Cynthia sends them a big hug and kiss. She is saving yours to give in person.

My love to you all- Kathleen

[This letter dated Nov. 21, 1941 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. She updates Jerry on her activities. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Thursday
Nov. 21, 1941

Dear Jerry:-

I wonder how you are celebrating Thanksgiving. Is yours today, or next week?

They called me to work at Worleys last Fri. I went on at noon Fri. and all day Sat., and have been working mornings this week. Because of working, and a rehearsal for our installation and an installation tomorrow night that I wanted to attend, I didn't go to Galesburg with Harold. He left yesterday after school, picked up his nephew, Dick, at Lansing and I don't know whether they drove straight through, or stopped over night somewhere.

I didn't feel like asking Harold to drive into Chicago for your things, but, we'll get them sometime.

I'm plenty busy today getting caught up on a million odds and ends that have been put off because of working. I'm eating Thanksgiving dinner with the Johnsons.

The chapter sent out these invitations, but had some left, so turned them over to me to use as I pleased. Wish you could be here. I really haven't begun to be busy yet, altho the Grand Officers did take a five-day trip over on the west side of the state in Oct.

A card from Kathie says that Jill broke her arm and will be out of school, and in a cast for some time. Poor kid!

I would love to go East for Christmas, but don't know how things will work out yet.

If there's anything you want for Christmas that I can get at Worley's, let me know- soon!

How is school going? Have you had any interesting dates yet?

Very much love

Dot.

[This letter dated Dec. 15, 1941 was written from Century Farm, Shelton CT by Willard to Jerry. He writes a brief note telling Jerry that he has bought a defense bond in her name. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Conn

Dec 15- 1941

Dear Jerry:-

Your letter to Mother via Dot just arrived. I cannot write a letter only a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you from us both.

And to say. I have just bought a Defense Bond in your name for $100- i.e. you will be able to get this from the Gov't in 1951, Dec.

Mother and I spent 12 days with Gould and family and got home a week ago last Tues.

I am enclosing my check for $25.00 as our Christmas greeting- use it any way you like to bring a bit of cheer into life.

With much love
Father

[This letter dated December 19, 1941 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. He has heard that the Storrs' house in Shaowu was burned down. The University, Foochow College and Wenshan are all crowded together in one place. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

December 19th. 1941.

Dear Jerry:-

Your letter about the black out came last week. Mother and I have been at home for a week and a half. Uncle Stanley and Aunt Myra were up Sunday and spent the nite. They wanted us to go home with them but we both wanted to stay put a little longer at least so told them to wait till next year.

Monday morning Aunt Mary and I went into New Haven with them. Stanley wanted to see a man, the ladies shopped and I did business! We all four met for lunch. Mother also went in with us and she shopped all day and came home on the bus. Saturday evening Stanley and Myra went in and gathered Stephen and Esther was it? and the four had supper together.

Last week one day the Aunts, Mother and I went to Bridgeport. I wanted to get the Bank books posted up to date. The others did shopping (what a multitude of ideas that word "shopping" covers. When I had finished my BUSINESS, I went out and visited with Aunt Annie. She seemed well. The others came out when they had shopped their fill and we visited a little while and went home. Somewhere on their shopping they picked up Aunt Abbie and brought her out to Aunt Annie's. We came home via Huntington, for the Bridgeport-Shelton pike is under repair.

Yesterday Cousin Edythe Fairchild called. Only Mother and I were home. The Aunts were at King's Daughters. This is the second time she has called when the Aunts were not in and we were. And both times she caught me napping and woke me up.

I am enclosing my check for $200.00. This will meet your next Insurance payment. The balance is a Christmas present from Mother and me. If you go to Berkeley it will come in handy. If the insurance bill comes to me I will send it to you. So I will put on my books under your account $100.00.

We do not know much about what is going on in Foochow and Ing Tai and Shaowu. We heard last week that the Storrs house in Shaowu was burned. Only that bare fact came thru. They are much crowded now there for the University, Foochow College and Wenshan are all there. It creates many problems for so many institutions with so many students to huddle in one place. The University could get along nicely with only a bit over two hundred, students and faculty. But the other two institutions would augment the number to eight hundred at least. They will have to tackle the problem of housing and food and books and worse yet of living together in peace in crowded quarters. As far as I know they have not been bombed and are not likely to be. And now I hope the river is open to communication. While the Japanese were in Foochow, practically all intercourse was via Ing Tai. Down the Min river to Ming Chiang, then across land to Ing Tai, 50 miles, and down the Ing Tai river to Foochow.

Just what the Christmas plans are I do not know. Mother and I, and I suppose the Aunts are to go to Dan and Beatrice's. Gould's family are to take dinner with the Spaces. Then they will stop here just to say Hello-Good bye.

I am not writing much on the situation in the Pacific. Time will tell and the papers give guesses enough for any one to read.

We both send out best wishes for a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Very lovingly,
Father

[The following was handwritten.]

In the Birmingham National Bank is a Defense Bond for $100.00 in your name. Aunt Mary bought it last fall with my money. Last week I bought another for each of our children. So you have now two Defense Bonds for $100.00 each= $200.00 due in 1951. Don't forget them. I will put the one I bought last week in our storage box in the Birmingham National Bank to keep the other company.

Love
Father

[On a separate note.]

December 19 I sent you a check $200.00

Use what is necessary for Life Insurance. The rest for whatever you like. I mentioned travel to Berkeley but that is off- so use it as you see best.

Father

[This letter dated December 23, 1941 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. They are preparing for Christmas and Willard's sisters have the house decorated and have jars of fruit ready to give to relatives. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Conn. December 23rd. 1941.

Dear Jerry:-

Aunt Phebe and I went to town this afternoon to mail letters and Christmas parcels. We stopped at the end of the drive and took the mail from the box. A letter that I wrote to you several days ago was among the huge bundle of letters. I neglected to put on N.E. and it was returned to me. I took it right back and remailed it.

Your letter was there also but I did not find it till we got home. Also there was a letter to you. I have a very bad custom, when there are a lot of letters, of cutting them all open and then reading them. This gets me into trouble. For once in a while a mistake is made and I open a letter that is not mine. That occurred today. For I opened your letter. No one has read it. I am enclosing it with this.

It is unfortunate that your anticipated visit to Berkeley has to be postponed. I am glad you have the promise of congenial company-ions during the holidays. And I am glad you have in mind to take some of the time for rest. Mother and I are taking time in great gobs for that commodity. We put in about nine hours each nite and I get an hour often during the day. If Mother sits down a few minutes she also does some "Just resting my eyes".

The house is so full of Christmas things that it is difficult to find ones way around. It is interesting to see how the Aunts get things off for all their near relatives and cards or some Christmas reminder to many others. Just this evening the kitchen table is groaning under the weight of numerous glass cans of fruit, to go out tomorrow to near relatives. This afternoon I saw two mince pies and other things go on the cross road and to others who had been helping them in some capacity. The last few days I have been trying my strength with a sythe, mowing the pear orchard. This was not mowed this year and the grass was heavy. Now it is very dry. Aunt Mary wanted something to bank the house for winter. Usually we have gone to the woods for leaves, put them into bags and thus did the job. But the truck is out of commission and it is far to back them from the woods to the house. I suggested that I mow this grass. The job is now done and we are ready for Jack Frost. He came last Saturday nite and ran the mercury down to 18 above. It has warmed up now and it is raining.

We may have written you that we are to eat Christmas dinner with Dan and Bee. We were going down to Stanley's Saturday to meet Nancy and her husband, but Myra phoned two days that Nancy had to go to the hospital suddenly. It looks as if she would keep very quiet till baby is born. Myra's phone was unsatisfactory for it was so incomplete. She could not get the news herself. Nancy has no phone and I think her father in law has none. We have heard nothing since.

Here is another MERRY CHRISTMAS and A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

From a loving
Father-

[The following was handwritten by Ellen.]

No news has come from Fulton or Etta since Dec. 7.

Dear Geraldine,

You asked what I was giving Dorothy for Christmas. I think my letter to you said we would better let her decide whether she wanted the steam electric flatiron or not and so we would not plan to give it this Christmas. So I plan to give her linen from China as I sent you. Father sent her $5.00 suggesting she spend it in a bathroom scale.

We ordered the Dictionary and table for Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert and I wrote a lengthy presentation note telling them it was the gift from all the nieces and nephews, sisters and brother (that is father). I will send a copy of the note to each one after Christmas. We ordered it sent direct from the publisher's to their house and I wrote them that two mysterious parcels would be delivered to their house addressed to W.L. Beard Care of E.C. Kinney. And would they please house them for us till I wrote them further as to the disposal of them. Also asked them to drop me a postal as soon as they arrived informing me of their delivery. That has not come and I am wondering if it is going to get there in time. My presentation note said on the outside "To be opened Dec. 25. In ordering the dictionary and table father asked that it be delivered before Christmas if possible. With love Mother Get lots of rest this vacation and give us another good letter.

[This letter dated Dec. 24, 1941 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. Ellen has been busy with Christmas cards and wrapping. They will have Christmas dinner at Dan and Bee's home. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm, Shelton, Conn.
Wed. Dec. 24th 1941.
Christmas Eve.

Dear Jerry:-

The habit of writing you has become daily. These two cards came to you today. No one here knows the senders of the card from Chattanooga[Chattanooga?].

We are just about ready for supper, and Gould's family phoned they would be here at 8 p.m. It may be a bit later. Mother has been confined to her room all the week with Christmas cards, Christmas wrappers and tapes and stickers and markers, sheers etc. etc. If I am patient she lays them off the bed so we can get in a few hours of sleep. Then in the morning after breakfast she is at it again. I feel quite honored for she has- under pressure of business, - allowed me to address one or two. They were censored by her before mailing.

This afternoon Aunts and I went to town. I am trusted to mail cards and parcels. We found everybody else in town too. As we drove onto the bridge we had to go in line and poke along with the line. But most of our way was with the crowds. We called at Seymour's Mother's, at the parsonage- Mr. and Mrs. Frazier are young, - here in Shelton to act as pastor and raise a family- both Oberlinites. We called on Marion= Mrs. Wells. She is all alone today- Uncle Ben and Aunt Abbie spent last nite with Seymour and Edith in New London. This is rather a venture for Uncle Ben. He shows a preference for his own bed. But he is enamored of his youngest grandson, Jay.

We all go to Christmas dinner with Dan and Bee [Dan Nichols Beard and Beatrice]. Gould and family dine in Seymour. Harold and Helen are at Theodore and Ruth's for the nite- they all drove with Vinnie and Anna.

Last nite rain fell all nite with the wind south and the thermometer at 50 degrees.

The world is lined up:-

Those who believe in God our Father=

The fatherhood of God on one side.

Those who do not believe in God on the other side

Those who believe in man as brother,-

The Brotherhood of man on one side,-

Those who believe in man as one the plundered

-destroyed, if it seems for one's personal profit, good, on the other side.

This is Sunday a.m. - a beautiful day.

We all enjoyed a good dinner and good fellowship at Dan and Bee's Christmas day. Uncle Ben and Aunt Abbie, Bee's father and mother, we four and Dan's four. After dinner Dan tied Bucky= Dannie's pony in the new pony wagon he just bought. All, specially the children had a great time. Friday we did a lot of business and chores. Yesterday we four drove to Uncle Stanleys for another delicious turkey dinner. - The weather continues warm and pleasant.

Love Father

[This letter dated Dec. 31, 1941 was written from Florida by Kathleen to Mother and Father. She thanks them for their Christmas gifts. Hugh is working and will not be home for New Years. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Dec. 31, 1941

Dear Mother and Father:

This may be my last letter of the year and I am celebrating New Year's Eve all by myself. However I think I'll let other people usher in 1942 for I intend to be fast asleep. This is one of Hugh's nights in Jacksonville.

Those defense bonds were a grand surprise (do I understand correctly that there are two?) and I was really thrilled to hear about them. And on top of that your check quite flabbergasted me, in fact with all your spending on us this fall I am beginning to wonder if you have kept enough for your own needs. We are very grateful for all your generous gifts, and will be for years to come.) The airplane puzzles are providing Jill with many hours of fun. I think she has done more than half of them already and the rest of us like to put in a piece now and then too. Cynthia liked your letter, Mother, and the animal book which she has in bed with her tonight. (But you are a year behind on her age.) She is (four now and) growing to be quite a tall girl. She was sick with the flu the weekend before Christmas and ate nothing but grapefruit juice for three days so she is still a bit thin from it, but she was up and dressed on Christmas day and able to eat a bit of Christmas dinner up at Grandma Elmer's.

We have a small tree trimmed with trimmings you got the year you were down here. It couldn't hold all the red paper rope we had so I draped that from the tops of the windows to the center light and hung a red bell from the center. It makes our living room look very festive. I spent Christmas eve all alone too doing up last presents and filling stockings which had no mantle to hang from this year. The children got some lovely things- mostly clothes and books and lots of candy which I have to ration. Hugh and I opened our gifts after he got home and the children were in bed. Hugh gave me the pen I am writing with and it is a relief after the one I had.

I hope the fruit came thru alright and please let me know how the flavor is, for I didn't get a chance to sample it, and I want to know whether that is a good grove to buy from again. The displays looked good but that isn't always a reliable sample. (The Elmer's grove has very little fruit this year and their tangerine trees seem to be dying rapidly. I guess the trees have not had proper care since the original owner left the place.) Father Elmer hasn't been able to plant any garden this winter since his illness. He seems to be over his cough but I guess he isn't really strong even yet. He confines his activity to reading and walking.

We don't yet know about moving but should hear by next week. Even if Hugh stays on this run we may move to Tampa since we are driving Father's care back and forth every day and it seems unwise to wear out his tires since new ones are so scarce. I will let you know what we decide to do.

(Have you heard anything from Monnie this month? She sent a Christmas telegram last year. Have you heard what stations are broadcasting to the North this winter?) Poor Jerry was stranded all by herself this Christmas and she must miss not being with any of the family. She was in the same fix last year but she had a lot of work to keep her busy then. I suppose Gould's family came up to be with you for part of the day and I guess you were the only members of our family who were together.

Happy New Year, goodnight, and much much love from me.

Kathleen

"To know her, is to love her"

Dorothy's Eastern Star Photo

[Photo and following invitation donated to Yale by family in 2006]

Bethlehem Chapter No. 105 O. E. S.

cordially invites you to attend a Dinner and Reception honoring

Dorothy B. Newberg

Grand Ruth

Grand Chapter of Michigan

Order of Eastern Star

Wednesday, December 17, 1941

Masonic Temple, West Side

Saginaw, Michigan

RESERVATIONS
BY DECEMBER 13, 1941
MRS. WILLIAM MUNDY
141 LOCKWOOD ST.
SAGINAW, MICH.

DINNER 6:30 P. M.
$1.00 PER PLATE

1942

- Ellen and Willard are living at Century Farm
- Gould and Virginia are in Great Neck, New York
- Geraldine is in Seattle, Washington then Berkeley, California
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie is in Canada and then Century Farm
- Kathleen and Hugh are in St. Petersburg, Florida
- Willard is 77, Ellen- 74, Gould- 46, Geraldine- 44, Dorothy- 41, Marjorie- 36, Kathleen- 34.

[This letter dated Jan. 9, 1942 was written from Putnam, CT by Emma to Ellen. Emma thanks her sister Ellen for the Christmas gifts. Their nephew, Fulton, a doctor, was called to the scene of the Pearl Harbor attack to assist with the wounded and he was shocked at what he saw. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Putnam, Conn.
Jan. 9 1942.

Dear Ellen,

Another surprise parcel was delivered at my door recently which contained a beautiful bureau scarf, which I think must be the most beautiful design you brought from China.

It is the choicest linen article in design and workmanship that I possess. I value it highly. The napkin ring is also very pretty and I assume was intended for Elbert.

We thank you for both gifts. I think we received much more this Christmas than we deserve. I wonder how you enjoy? the weather conditions this morning. You will remember that we have two thermometers hanging outside our south window which do not agree as to temperature. This morning the temperature by one was 20 degrees below zero and the other 24 below. Take your choice.

We are hibernating in the kitchen this morning since it is the only room in the house which is warm enough to sit in with comfort.

We have wondered this morning how Marjorie could endure the low temperature in Labrador. We heard from Stewart a few days ago, as possibly you did, that a cablegram had been received from Fulton that all our relatives in Hilo and Honolulu were safe. A few lines since from Myron states that in a letter from Fulton and Helen, Fulton said that when he was called to the scene of the attack at Pearl Harbor to assist in caring for the wounded, he was "shocked" at what he saw.* Fulton's note was short and added to a letter written by Helen.

I am enclosing two letters received from Etta on Monday and Tuesday of this week. Both are censored but nothing crossed out except the street and number in one letter.

Mr. Robinson has recovered from the mumps so that he was able to occupy the pulpit last Sunday.

Our annual church day exercises next Thursday evening, with supper and church reports. No speaker this year.

I called on Mrs. Robinson recently and saw the new baby.

He is a sturdy little fellow and is the idol of the Parsonage.

Elbert is nearly ready to go down to the Bank meeting and will take my letter so it must be brief.

With love

Emma

[The following written in Ellen's handwriting]

Am sending these two letters as there are one or two things in them that you will be interested in. Forward to Dorothy and Kathleen when you are writing either of them. Do not return to me when they have made the rounds. Destroy them.

I am enclosing a receipt from your Insurance Co. which came here in care of father so he opened it to see what it was as he said you had told him of your connection with this Co. and we are forwarding the contents of the envelope in this letter, - just the receipt only.

Love
Mother.

*[In an article dated July 27, 1939 from The Chronicle Telegram (Elyria, OH), "Dr. Fulton Hume has been physician and surgeon in the Hospital at one of the large sugar plantations on the Hawaiian Islands, and is enroute to Beirut, Syria, where he will be head of the Medical Department of the American College there, under the Rockefeller Foundation." Since this was 1939, Fulton must have eventually gone back to Hawaii to have been there for the attack on Pearl Harbor.]

[This letter dated January 10, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Aunt Mary to Jerry. Mary talks about her Christmas gifts. She mentions the scouting planes that fly over the farm and the Red Cross work for the war. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

January 10 [1942]

Dear Jerry-

Too bad you had to forego the visit in Berkeley! But as you write perhaps a less strenuous vacation was more useful and a better ?? for the new term. How do you like your College work? It must be rather fun to be a student once again. It sounds like a more carefree life without the responsibilities of a job.

We started to burn your pretty candle New Year's Eve but could not sit up long enough for it to burn out. It is a good candle and a slow burning one so we will save the rest for next Holiday season. Thanks a lot.

Santa was very good to us. Phebe probably has told of her gifts and so have Will and Ellen. I got an umbrella (Mine broke a rib in October so I needed it.); a summer night gown; a box of Corn Products (all kinds); a outdoor letter and note box which is now by the south door; a wooden case for my pelicans; one ?? ??; several handkerchiefs with my name ?? . Together we have an engagement calendar, a set of bath towels, a bath mat (badly needed as ours are getting old) a ?? jar, a snap shot album, the Reader's Digest, an electric clock, a ??? etc. Yes I had a work basket made in China and some nice envelopes for protection of delicate underwear etc.

We had parsley from my garden for decoration of a New Year's salad that I picked that morning. But now the last parsnips and parsley are under a cover of snow and ice. Winter came with a vengeance last Saturday and has stayed. Our lowest temperature was zero Wednesday morning. Tonight it is low and somewhat windy so we feel it.

We have scouting planes in 3's or 4's going over frequently in clear weather. With the Sikorsky plant so near we hear most of the testing of planes from there. Also at Lordship and in New Haven are schools of Aviation. Last year the New Haven students often ??ted over us but with the 10 mile limit they stay closer home. The Bridgeport ones are over us though.

We have all the Defense workers all over? town to but neither Phebe nor I are signed up. We have been sewing for Red Cross about one day a week and bringing unfinished garments home to finish. Our Missionary Society made about a dozen new garments for the Congregational Children of England and collected second hand clothing that weighed about 150 pounds for the same.

Our campaign for United China Relief started last May with about $650, but gifts keep coming in so it is at or near $1000.00. There were $100 gifts and many of $1.00 or less to make this up.

Will and Ellen are gaining ground every day in endurance and vitality. Both say the winter has not seemed as hard to bear as they had feared. This week has been the first real test for it is our first real cold. Zero is cold enough.

How grand it was that you could greet them in San Francisco! Kits [Leolyn Jr. or 2nd] has been urging Phebe and me to come west until this war broke. But we did not feel that Will and Ellen were equal to carrying things here yet. Both can fall asleep if they sit still too long, too easily.

Write us a line one day. I hope you do not have to have too many black outs. They sound not too good. The refugee from Spain in town has dug himself a bomb shelter just off Canter Street.

May 1942 bring you some measure of pay and happiness.

With love

Aunt Mary.

[This letter dated Jan. 1942 was written from Tampa, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. Kathleen is now living in Tampa to be closer to Hugh's work. She urges Geraldine to come back east once she's earned her librarian degree. She expresses hope that Ellen will come to FL for a while in the winter. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2403 Azeele St.
Tampa Fla.
Jan. 1942

Dear Jerry:

By the heading of this letter you can guess what we have been up to lately. Our move wasn't as far as we expected it to be for Hugh was not transferred, but since we don't want to wear Father's tires out we are going to eliminate the drive to Tampa by living over there. We have a nice five-room apartment out on the edge of town and a very nice landlady and landlord. I am not sorry at leaving Safety Harbor for the house there was dark and cold and I didn't like using Father's car so much.

Your Christmas box came at a very good time, after the excitement of Christmas day had worn off and the children were wondering what to do with themselves. Jill washed her little mat all by herself and uses it for Patsy's table cloth. Cynthia likes to take her book to bed and look at the "pichures". Those candle holders are lovely and how clearly the grain of the wood stands out. They will be lovely for our mantel when I get some candles to go in them. I got Hugh some leather slippers with your check (the soft travelling kind) and he likes them a lot. Thankyou, and much, from us all.

I hope my five spot reached you safely. Hugh thought me very foolish to send it in that form but I have done it so many times without it being lost that I guess I have grown careless. Tell me if you didn't receive it. I was sorry afterwards that I hadn't put it into fruit, for you would probably have enjoyed that more even tho two-thirds of the value would go to the Express Co. But seeing as you are studying instead of getting paid I figured you might have use for a little spondelux (if that's the way you spell it.) I suppose by now you are hard at the books again and I do hope you got a real rest during your vacation. Perhaps it is just as well you didn't take that long trip to Berkeley even tho no bombs have dropped. As for that I guess Seattle is just as dangerous as San Francisco. I read that all sorts of key businesses were owned and operated by Japs there and the 5th column was well organized. Well, get back East as soon as you can, and South too. We have some lovely Libraries down here you know. Just what type of work are you going to head for when you finish there?

Mother intimated that she would probably be down sometime this winter (she had better hurry up for spring hats are already in) even if Father hugged the Farm, and I'm glad we have a place where we can entertain her. I think she will love browsing around the stores here and the Tampa Fair will be on next month.

I haven't told you anything about Christmas here but it is so far in the background and was so hectic that I would just as soon forget it until it speeds around again. Hugh had to work awfully hard and his train was late every trip, Cynthia was sick the week before so I couldn't do any shopping and I was all alone Christmas eve- so enough said. We did get loads of gifts "an embarrassing wealth" of them as Mother puts it, but things just get so rushed that I don't get the feeling of it the way I used to in the days when we trekked to Saginaw in your Ford. Oh to be a child- no life begins at forty doesn't it?, but Christmas is for children at any rate. I'm getting so sleepy that this sounds muddle-brained so love till next time- Kathie

[This letter dated Jan. 12, 1942 was written from Tampa, FL by Kathleen to Dot and Harold. She and Hugh have moved to Tampa. Jill broke her arm and it has been in a cast but it is alright now. Kathleen tells about her Christmas and remembers last year when they visited her. They have had to practice black-outs because of the war. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2403 Azeele St.
Tampa Fla.
Jan. 12, 1942

Dear Dot and Harold:

Here it is Jan. 12 and I am still not finished with my post-Christmas letters. I must confess that I got the difficult ones out of the way first this year and then we have been busy finding the above new address- but more of that later.

That Raggedy Ann book you sent Jill while her arm was in a cast made a big hit and has been read and reread. Both the children love those stories and I believe it was about the first book that Cynthia really listened to with interest. Jill's arm is alright now and she can straighten it out all the way. For weeks she has been exercising it daily and carrying my heavy iron around to get it back to normal and she has done most of the treatment by herself showing us her progress proudly every few days. It still does not bend up as close as the other arm but that will come. Cynthia loved those little snow men and played with them all the rest of the day. I have put them away for Christmas tree decorations now. They had lots of fun with those balloons for a couple of days too and I think they get just as much pleasure out of things like that as they do out of expensive toys. For C's birthday I had Molly and Sally down here for supper and the night. The four of them had such a good time and the next morning we all went to the school Christmas party. But I guess it was too much for C. That night she had such a high fever I got scared and called the local Doctor thinking it might be pneumonia. It turned out to be the flu but she was delirious most of the night and spent the next three days in bed. It rather messed up my Christmas shopping but I finally got it done the day before Christmas and she could be up for Christmas day. Hugh had to work so I spent Christmas eve alone doing up last presents and fixing stockings. I remembered a year ago when Christmas eve brought you two in and what fun we had over the tree next morning. Well, this Christmas I was tired and slept late, awaking to find the children already at the tree all by themselves and jubilantly bringing in things for me to see (I having no idea where they were from). Off to a bad start- but I finally got them straightened (I hope). We had dinner with the Elmers and McNutts and spent the afternoon there until it was time to go to Tampa for Hugh. He had his dinner heated over and when the children were tucked in we had our tree late at night. I was very thankful that yours, Jerry's and Mother's packages came the week before New Years for they helped to fill that awful vacant let down after Christmas and for a while we were getting something every day. Jill would ask "what present is there today?" It was like having Christmas extended for a week and I think the children really enjoy having them come that way. From the shouts of joy when Jill opened the box of dollie clothes I take it she liked that the best of her presents. Anyway she made the most noise over it and Patsy had to try on everything right away. She is a bit stout for one dress but I think I can fix it and everything else is just right. Cynthia got a little vanity set (from Sally) in pink just like Jills so they were both pleased. And those little China dolls are darling. C liked them and took them every where with her. I am not familiar with the story they represent but they certainly are cute.

Where did you find that nice measurement chart? I used to keep Jill's height on the door casing but C. has "just grewd". Now we will keep a record of their progress upward. Thanks so much for all the things. I was interested in your banquet program and it must have been quite an honor. I would like to have seen it. Cynthia immediately appropriated the "little book" and took long looks at Auntie Dot kissing the picture and talking to it in the car going to Tampa for Daddy. She still has it among her treasures which she wraps up and puts carefully away. I find things in the funniest places, things I had long given up as lost. Once I picked up a missed newspaper and before throwing it away looked at a picture only to have a nickel fall out. Upon further shaking I got three more pennies from the folds of it. When she put them there I have no idea. Was she singing songs last year? She knows quite a few now. Besides "Jesus loves me" in Chinese and English she sings "My Country tis-a-dee, Sweet land-a-livatee" so that you can recognize it and "God Bless America" with variations. But the one that slays me is "HELP-Somebody today" which she got at Sunday School I guess. The help comes out like an SOS. She also knows Hut Sut.

Hugh did not get transferred as we thought he might but we have got to move anyway because we are wearing out Father's tires too fast driving to Tampa every day and spending too much money on gas to get us there. Yesterday Hugh and I looked around Tampa for a house or apartment. We found one that suited in every respect in four hours so we felt pretty lucky. It is a five room apartment on the ground floor of a four-apartment house just being redecorated inside and is on the edge of the city where there are a few open spaces. There is a pretty little school four or five blocks away and stores and bus service near. We move in next Sunday Jan. 18, so from then on our address will be as I have written at the head. There is enough room so that Mother and Father can stay with us if they come down. Mother said in her letters that she would come anyway even if Father didn't. I think she will enjoy being so near the city where she can browse around the stores and do what she likes. I am not sorry to be leaving Safety Harbor for there isn't much going on here and as any schedule was arranged I spent almost half of every day going to Tampa and back. Now perhaps I can get some reading and sewing done and even knitting for the Red Cross.

Mother wrote that she sent a letter to you about the family presents which you were to send on. Of course I had already decided to send the fruit so probably could not have gone in on them anyway but if you still have they letter I'd like to see it. What did you go in on for Mother?

(I'm getting so sleepy I can't write clearly. Good night!)

Jan. 13 Is Saginaw doing anything for civilian defense? You are located in quite a central position so shouldn't have much to fear at present. We had a practice blackout all along the West coast area a week or so ago for half an hour, but it was moonlight outside so it really wasn't so dark. I guess Jerry is in the most dangerous spot (of our family) just now, but she leaves Seattle in the spring doesn't she? I guess Aunt Etta may see some action. I heard over the radio that Hilo was bombarded by a lone submarine not long ago. Fulton must be pretty busy since Dec. 7.

Was it thrilling to hear about our defense bonds from Father, and he gave the children each an addition to their bank account. Mother gave us each some Chinese linens. Her sewing women did lovely work didn't they? I especially like the water lily pattern in appliqué.

We have just had a cold spell with a light frost which spoiled most of the poinsettias and papayas. Until now we have hardly needed fires or winter clothes but we surely are glad of them these days, and Cynthia wears the blue leggings you sent Jill all day long. And can you imagine it? - Cynthia is now wearing those all wool socks you left with us. If they keep on shrinking we'll have to give them to Gidge's baby. I am very glad of that green dress of yours too. It serves as my best now. I got lots of compliments on the play suit last summer, and you might be surprised to see some of your dresses still walking around on me.

The Saws were over from Haines City just after Christmas and Lois was with them. She drove clear down from Minneapolis with some relatives. Winnie Soll Webb (my chum in Logan whom you saw play basket-ball in Saginaw) just had a baby boy. She is married and lives in Tuscon Arizona.

Have you received one of those defense stamp chain letters yet? Hugh got one from a friend of his. Lots of love and don't let "Ruth" keep you too busy to write once in awhile. Kathie

[This letter dated Jan. 18, 1942 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. She sends thanks for the Christmas gifts. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

I've forgotten whether or not I sent you one of these programs and clippings. I had just enough for my family and I have one left and I think I sent all the others but yours.

Dorothy Newberg

Saginaw, Mich.
Sunday-
Jan. 18, 1942

Dear Jerry:-

Such a time as you and I have over Christmas gifts! I'm just plain ashamed of myself- I haven't sent Gould's family's gift yet, nor yours, nor Hugh's and Kathie's. I did get something off to the youngsters.

I don't get any discount at Worely's after I stop working there. I priced skates there yesterday. They don't carry Johnson's, but have another $7.50 skate. However, it will cost about .75 to send them, so I am enclosing a check for $2.50 from Harold and me toward your skates or whatever else you want for your Christmas present.

Harold very much appreciated your gift to him. He needed a new shirt, and used that to get it. Please don't send me anything this year. I know you need it very much more than I do right now. I feel as tho' I had lots more than my share this year with the many congratulatory gifts. Just how are you fixed for finances, now? Are you having to skimp terribly?

All this week I have been spending all possible time on contacting some 30 chapters for dates to give them their School of Instruction. My schools are all up in the thumb of Michigan, so I ought to know that part of my state after this year is over, anyway. I just finished my last letter today. Now I'm waiting for answers confirming dates. I start on my Schools Feb. 2.

Next week the Grand Officers are in Detroit for five or six days. We are all going to the Ford Hour, in a body, next Sunday, so if you listen, think of me there.

I'm sorry the enclosed card from Eleanor got lost for awhile among my other cards. It came before Christmas.

We had a solid week of sub-zero weather and were all nearly congealed. We have put in gas heat, and the gas furnace seemed to be going all the time- the way the ice box does in 90 degree weather.

Am enclosing my last letter from Kathie. Harold and I had a good laugh over the new repertoire of songs, especially the "Help"- one.

Congratulations on your good marks! You're doing finely.

We did just about as near nothing as was possible to celebrate the holidays. During the vacation we started remodeling our bathroom. Put down new linoleum and put in a new lavatory.

Do you have any idea where you'll be next year?

Love from
Dot.

[This letter dated Jan. 20, 1942 was written by Ginny (Virginia Beard) to Willard and Ellen. She will be taking Hazel to Chicago for a check up regarding her accident. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

VSB

Tues. Jan. 20, 1942

Dearest Father and Mother-

As far as I know now my plans to take Hazel to Chicago will carry through. I'm just waiting word from her Docs saying they will be available at that time.

The present plan is that we leave Wed. afternoon the 11th and hope to get back by Sun evening the 15th.
Mother Dear I suspect you would prefer to be here a few days in advance of my departure to get the feel of our routine.

As far as Gould can see now, he expects to be here while I'm away but he won't be able to guarantee it.

Thurs. Jan 22, 1942

This came this A.M.

"Thanks a million for Christmas gifts, they fit perfectly. Please tell Father and Mother we were overjoyed to receive their message Jan. 16th. Glad they got ours. Had grand Christmas. Ralph went North after New Years.

Love to All
Monnie Butt
Davis Inlet"

It's so good to hear from her.

Gould says if it is convenient for you to come back with us and the travelling is not too bad, we will come up Sat Feb 7th and bring you back Sun. nite the 8th.

I hope to hear from the Chicago Doctors by this Monday at the latest and then you'll hear again from me.

Your lovely Christmas presents to all of us made us so happy. We're all delighted with them. And we still haven't quite recovered from the generousness of the extra special gifts. Words of mere Thank you no matter how sincere are quite inadequate to express our appreciation.

The last couple of days here have been almost like the beginning of Spring so that it seemed almost foolish to continue hunting for a ski suit for myself. However there is much snow ahead of us I'm sure.

The youngsters had such good fun coasting in this last snow for it stayed good several days.

I got some good color pictures of it the 1st morning also my pictures of our Christmas tree turned out well.

Father since I have a lovely new slide projector, you'll have to let us peek at your slides. It is such a joy to be able to get a good look at them anytime we want to without planning to borrow a projector first.

Gould is very busy taking a course in celestial navigation which means much studying at home.

Love from us all
Ginny

[This letter dated Jan. 31, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Ellen to Geraldine. She asks Geraldine if they have to practice blackouts because of the war and inquires about the general feel on the U.S. West Coast. She talks about the call for citizens to volunteer for defense service. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Since writing the major part of this letter, your letter to us has arrived which answers some of the questions I have asked here.

Mrs. Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

Jan. 31", 1942.

Dear Geraldine,

It seems a long time since we last heard from you, but we suppose that implies that other members of the family and other deserving friends are getting their share of your interesting letters.

We wonder what the war conditions out in your section are; whether you have the practice blackouts occasionally and the warning signals for practice, and the wardens on duty in the streets thru the whole 24 hrs. each in his own appointed beat and for certain hours each day, as a defense measure against incendiary bombs, as they are doing in N.Y. City.

What is the attitude of the people out there, toward the war in general, toward the Japanese who are resident on the Pacific Coast and particularly in your immediate vicinity; and toward the military group in Japan who are perpetrating this aggression; and toward the rationing of food, especially sugar, but now any and everything that is sold in stores if it is in any way needed in defense measures?

How have you been as to health these past weeks since we have heard from you? And are you enjoying your work as much as you anticipated? Do you feel that you are getting out of it all that you hoped and will this one year of study there give you the highest library degree?

Is your work very strenuous or do you have time for sufficient rest, relaxation, recreation, and social activities and contacts? Have you found a church home where you are meeting pleasant and friendly people?

Has your rainy season come to its conclusion yet, or have you still some weeks to go?

I suppose you are having all the California fruits, - oranges, tangerines, grape-fruit, grapes, persimmons, dates, papaya, avocado, bananas, as well as those wonderful apples and pears grown right there in Washington State, and perhaps other local fruits.

How has the temperature been thru January in Washington? I suppose it never snows there except on the mountains.

We have had a very mild winter here, our only really cold weather being the week of Jan. 11-17. There were several days of zero weather in that week, but most of the winter thus far has ranged from 28 degrees to 56 degrees. We have had snow only three times, two of those falls being very light, and the heaviest one only three inches. Traveling in autos on the roads has not been interfered with at all by the snow, or ice, down here, but they have had much more snow in northern N.E. and some more even in Putnam. The aunts had some trouble starting their car during that cold spell and we all missed going to church one Sunday because they couldn't start it. Two other times we four had to push it all the way down the lane to the road before it would start.

But neither father nor I have felt the cold as keenly as we thought we should coming home after two years in a milder climate, - at our age. But I think they have really kept the house warmer this winter than they did the three years we were here before. And we have a warmer room this time, for they insisted on our taking the room over the living room, which Phebe used to have. I didn't feel that we ought to take it but they insisted and so we did. We really have been more comfortable.

Have you received an announcement of the arrival of Nancy's and Fred's little son Stanley Owen Forbes? I suppose you have. Nancy was supposed to have come home to Holland from the hospital in Holland Virginia, last Sunday when the baby was only ten days old. Seems rather rushing things to me. Stanley and Myra went down to see her. They also went down about two weeks before the baby came. The aunts say Nancy wanted a girl.

Wells and Marian are soon to become parents. They were invited here for dinner last Sunday. Father thinks they are destined to welcome a son. I am guessing, a daughter. We'll see who is the better judge, - or guesser.

People out this way are doing quite a bit of organizing and preparing for defense; and we hear a great deal about it over the radio, especially addressed to New York people, as of course that city is the most likely point of attack on this side of the continent. Buy defense bonds and stamps, and give to the Red Cross are almost hourly calls over the radio. Also calls for young men to sign up for airplane training as pilots, volunteers for the navy, for technical service, engineering service, radio service, nursing service (women) dieticians etc. etc. Everybody must sign up for some form of defense service. Father and I signed a blank specifying what we were fitted to do, but we have not been regimented yet.

Some people are buying cloth for black-out curtains and are planning the proper lights to use in such and emergency. At the King's Daughter's meeting last week, we were told that every women's organization or society was asked to send two of its members to a class which is to be put on hereabouts, to train leaders in preparing for large quantities of food for refugees in case of an emergency.

These things show how the war is touching us here and I suppose it is very much the same the country over.

Well, we presented the dictionary to Emma and Elbert with its table, and they were evidently much pleased and surprised. I am going to circulate a copy of my presentation note, and a copy of their notes of thanks to Etta's family and to you all. Em. and Elb. just couldn't guess what was in those two mysterious packages which they were not permitted to open till Christmas Day.

Virginia is taking Hazel to Chicago to have a checkup by her Dr's on Feb. 11 and has asked Father and me to come down and keep house while she is away about 4 days. They will drive up here the Saturday before, and take us back with them Sunday evening.

When Wells and Marian took dinner here last Sunday the 26th, Marian said that Edith and Seymour's older boy Wynn who has had to have so much surgery done to his face also has imperfect hearing. I understood her that he heard very little in one ear and that the other was not very good. That is an added tragedy. She said the Dr. said perhaps if he could be taken up in an airplane it would help his hearing. And Seymour spoke of getting Gould to take him up. I think he has not yet contacted Gould on the subject.

Tonight, Jan. 31", we are having a thunder shower, two claps of thunder came in the midst of a rain storm that has been falling since noon today. The springs that feed wells need the water but not much of it will soak in as the ground is frozen. The snow from our last 2 inch snow fall, is going fast in this rain. The radio tonight over all stations warned drivers that roads all over the state are slippery, icy, but are being sanded. Motorists were warned to exercise extreme care.

We were glad to get your letter and hope you'll write again soon. With much love from us both,
Mother

[This letter dated Jan. 31, 1942 was written from Great Neck, NY by Virginia to Jerry. Virginia is expressing thanks to Geraldine for the Christmas gifts. Gould is taking a course in celestial navigation. Virginia updates Geraldine on how her children are doing. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Mrs. M. Gould Beard

255-25 Iowa Road Great Neck, New York

Sat. P.M. Jan 31, 1942

Dear Jerry-

I'm determined that all my Christmas Thank yous shall be on Jan. dates so now I'm working overtime.

On your slim budget we think you were mighty generous with this branch of your family. Willard loves his little deer and Hazel completely delighted with your H. pin and the lapel pin knitting. The latter I was more intrigued with than she for I was more than able to appreciate the work involved in making one of those little things. Her initial pin she has worn a great deal.

Our Indian mat exactly matches our Indian blanket so I'm putting it away with that. When we have a cellar game room we are going to use them there if Willard doesn't demand them before that. We're really pleased [to] no end and we all say a great big Thank you.

We had a grand Christmas in Seymour, having stopped at Farm on [the] way up Christmas Eve. You knew of course that we spent Thanksgiving at the Farm. The kiddies and I stayed up home a couple of extra days but Gould came back with Fred Christmas night, since we had taken our vacation last summer and had no extra days coming during the holiday season.

Hazel picked up a mean little cold during Christmas due to too much pre Christmas activity and not enough sleep and it went right through family catching up with me last (New Years Eve). Gould and I found it hardest to shed. Probably because we couldn't give up to it so completely and give ourselves the necessary rest.

Gould especially for he has been so very busy since Christmas. He's still home and has not been called to colors yet, but never can tell- I'm just very grateful for each new day he is still here with us. Of course he is in the Army Reserve Pool but can be taken out of it if conditions deem and tho he is pretty important right where he is. He has been to Washington several times.

Right now he is very busy taking a concentrated course in celestial navigation along with his regular work.

I plan now to take Hazel to Chicago Feb. 11th for a complete check up by her various Doctors out there. Mother and Father are coming down to look after their son and his son while sister and I run away. So if Hazel is O.K., the weather good, and two empty seats available on the non-stop we will be all set.

It was so good to have Father and Mother with us after Thanksgiving. I don't think I have ever seen Mother so consistently happy nor laugh anywhere near as much.

Isn't it grand about Nancy's young son. Hazel is so excited about it. We haven't heard a single detail as yet though. But trust that everything is fine.

My it is hard to believe that the month of January is gone already. The youngsters have had several days of good coasting this month. Thought we adults might get in a good evening of it tonite but it has poured whole water all day and removed almost every sign of snow.

Hazel played in her music teachers recital this afternoon. She still doesn't like taking lessons tho. She's been taking them since last May. We are storing Roberta's baby grand for her. Aren't we fortunate.

This year is proving to be very much Hazel's best year scholastically. She has at last come too and realizes that you have to buckle down and pay attention and work, if you expect to make the grade. So with the new attitude she is completely happy in school for the 1st time.

Willard hasn't come too yet. I think we'll have to let him repeat a year much as it would hurt his parents pride. He is just too much of a dreamer. His mind is a million miles away and nothing Gould and I, and his teacher and principal have tried have managed to help materially as yet.

They are both growing so fast. Hazel stands as tall as my collar bone and Willard about 5 inches shorter. In another year or so Hazel and I will be able to wear the same clothes in just different sizes.

I hope your winter work is coming along O.K., but that your not over doing for it just isn't worth it. Let us hear from you when you have a moment.

Love from us all-

Ginny

The Evening Sentinel, City of Ansonia, February 12, 1942

Rotarians Learn Much About China From Missionary

Dr. Willard Beard of Shelton Gave Highly Informative Talk at "China Day" Luncheon.

Members of the Ansonia Rotary club were given an interesting picture of the tremendous strides taken by an awakened China during the past 50 years in an address by the Rev. Dr. Willard Beard of Shelton, a retired missionary, at the "China day" luncheon of the club at the First Methodist church yesterday noon. Dr. Beard was presented by the Rev. Robert L. Weaver, pastor of the First Baptist church, and after his talk answered many questions concerning the Far East. A tasty luncheon was served by the ladies of the church. Ralph Van Arman presided at the meeting at which Frank Getlein and Dr. Irving Yale were inducted into Rotary membership by John J.F. Ruddy.

Dr. Beard spoke in part as follows:

"Circumstances have forced the United States to be the leading world power. Until two months ago China, Japan, the Philippines, Hawaii, Malaya, Burma, Australia, were of secondary importance to most of us. Our primary interest was in Russia and before that in Europe. Today Singapore, Rangoon, Macassar, Borneo, stare at us in large letters from the front page of most every paper. The radio shouts 'Singapore' with the first breath. We are studying geography as never before. All of us are trying to say Chiang Kai-shek. And we know who he is. Every school boy and girl knows who MacArthur and Wavell are.

"What has caused this great change in our attitude toward the Far east? A very easy reply is: Pearl Harbor on December 7th. But that is a lazy answer. The events that occurred at Pearl Harbor last December were only logical results, (I do not say conclusion) of the history of the past century. The story of our relations with China and Japan began 100 years ago when the British took Hongkong. Admiral Perry steamed into the harbor of Nagasaki in 1852 and fired a gun and Japan opened up, and agreed to do business with Uncle Sam. She was to allow her people to go to the United States and our people to go to Japan and do business. In her own mind she made another decision- if gunboats and cannon made one nation powerful over another, she would have these. Japan's one aim since the morning when Perry said: "we would do business with you" to Japan, she has steadily pushed forward to becoming a first rate world power. How well she has succeeded is told in Pearl Harbor and in all of her steady advance in the southern Pacific since that day. In prosecuting this ideal of becoming a first rate world power she has used her business, her eugenics, her education and her treaty making. Look up the story of her treaties with other nations. She today signs any treaty that will be to her advantage. Tomorrow she tears up the same treaty if she thinks it will be to her advantage.

"In the treatment and rule of her colonies, Korea, Formosa, Manchukuo, she has made many promises that today seem to her advantage. The papers are weary of printing her promises that she did not want and would not take any Chinese territory. She would guard the open door policy for China and for Manchukuo. But look up the records and see that all other nations have been pushed out of Korea, Formosa and Manchukuo.

Things to Make War.

"Another part of the question of why we are interested in the Far East is that we have done a big business with Japan in selling to her all kinds of material with which she has been killing the civilians in China for more than four years, high test gasoline, scrap iron, airplanes and parts, and we have sent over mechanics to help use these and to teach the Japanese how to use them. You may have seen the account of a man who found the plate from one of the bombers downed at Pearl Harbor. The name on the plate was '_____ Co., N.J., U.S.A.' Doctors in China have found on pieces of bombs which they dug out of wounded Chinese, marks that indicated that they come from the U.S.A. When we went to China in August, 1939, we saw scrap iron loaded on our steamer marked for Japan. Yes, we made a lot of money selling materials that were used in killing Chinese. What we did not see was that those materials would soon be used to kill Americans.

"China reacted differently from Japan when the west forced her to open up and do business and give of her territory for concessions and even turn it over to the foreign nations as Hongkong. She was rather lethargic for years. China followed her, bent as a literary nation. It took her a long time to wake up, but when she did awake she made swift progress."

Great Changes.

Rev. Mr. Beard said there was no great change in China until 50 years ago. In China there is no department in the life of the people clear back to the backwoods farmers whose life was not changed. "Forty seven years ago," he said, "I first walked down the main streets of Foochow, and it was 12 feet wide. Not a wheel turned in all Foochow, nor was there a pane of glass in the entire city.

"I have seen that street widened to 35 feet and to 50 feet with five foot sidewalks on each side. The same is true of all China. Roads were built all through the country. Building went higher. Education in China started from scratch. There was no public school. Today her public schools are as well organized as those of the U.S.A. and they have their own normal schools. Woman, 50 years ago, was a plaything and a slave. A Chinese told me of selling a lazy wife for $90 and buying a new one for $120 as casually as if he had bought a cow. Today that is changed. Today the little Chinese girl sits beside her brother in kindergarten, school and college. You have no idea what United States diplomats, business men, missionaries and Chinese students have done. Woman has taken her place in the life of China and perhaps the most outstanding woman of them all is Madame Chiang Kai-Shek.

"In forestry tremendous progress has been made with acres once utterly unproductive. The bubonic plague and cholera have been practically eliminated. Even the language of the country has changed as I learned when I returned in September, 1939, after being absent since 1936. China formerly had a written language and a spoken language, which were distinct. Today she has a national language that is read as it is written, and the people are proud of their national tongue which has done much to dispense with the need for interpreters among people of far distant provinces.

"Japanese aggression has affected China in many ways. Before it the Chinese were so many grains of sand. Today they are a united people.

"Taking the advice of Horace Greeley, China has moved west, she moved back. Chiang Kai-Shek foresaw that Japan would take the coastal cities, and so people moved back, hundreds and thousands of tons of machinery moved back. Education followed them.

"The church in China is feeling the effects of the war, but is still holding on."

[Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated February 19, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He has given many talks since the beginning of the year. He tells Geraldine what some of the family members are doing. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

February 19th 1942

Dear Geraldine:-

Your last letter brought good news- of time used to rest, and of feeling good over it. After the fall term of my sophomore year in Oberlin, I slept all the time when I was not at meals. I had worked very hard all the term- getting only 5 or 6 hours a nite in bed. I believe that as long as one can sleep in this way he is safe= he is able to revive himself.

Since the beginning of the year giving talks all about has been my business, - a bit too much some of the time. It pleased me to receive an invitation from the Woman's League of the Flatbush Church in Brooklyn to speak for them last Tuesday February 17. And in reply to my request that they write me directions to go from Grand Central Terminal to Flatbush, they replied, "Two ladies- one of who you know will meet you at G.C.T." I left Derby at 9:54 a.m. arrive G.C.T. at 11:58 and there was Miss Belle Preston who I have known since 1912 and Mrs. Burn who corresponded with me. She was born in Sendai Japan. It took a big load of nervous strain off me to have them show the way to Flatbush. We three had lunch at Miss Preston's home then I had 15 min. to rest before going 5 min. to the church. I became their missionary with Mother in September 1912. Dr. Lewis T. Reed was pastor and he and the whole church were always most cordial and after he left Dr. Wm. Dudley was pastor. He always asked us to come when we were home. In 1936 we took our letters from Flatbush to Shelton church. I expected they would forget us. But they have not. A lady teacher in the primary department of the S.S. got her youngsters to give money to buy me an eversharp, - stiner, monogrammed. I carried it for about 22 years. I forget the exact date but not less than 22 years, and took it with me day before yesterday. The lady who gave me the pencil is dead but others remembered her.

Mother and I spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bassett and Miss Preston, Mrs. Bassett's sister in 1936 soon after coming home that year. Mrs. Bassett died recently- in January.

After the meeting Dr. Dudley came in and greeted me very cordially and said he was going on business by way of the subway station that I should take to get to G.C.T. with only one change and that just across the platform. I reached Derby at 7:57 p.m. walked over to Shelton got a light lunch, walked to the parsonage where Aunt Phebe and Mary were and came home with them,- after a very satisfying day.

Mother went by train to Great Neck Monday, Feb. 9th to be with Gould and Willard while Ginny took Hazel to the Chicago doctors for a check up. They left Wed. Hazel came home Sunday alone. Ginny could not get on the plane- which came to La Guardia field non-stop- Gould, Willard and Mother met her. Ginny came Monday morning- had to change planes at Detroit. The doctors do not want to see Hazel again for two years. They have written New York doctors. The bone in the hip is not growing satisfactorily. That is all I could get from Mother's report. Mother and her son and grandson drove down to see the Normandy Sunday.

We= Mother and I saw "One Foot in Heaven" and enjoyed it. Some time we will see How Green is my Valley. I read the book a year ago in Ing Tai.

The Aunts are planning to start for Holland Virginia day after tomorrow February 21st. They will stop for a nite with Uncle Stanley and Aunt Myra- and stop in Baltimore and see friends. And they go to see of course Stanley Owen Forbes. Aunt Myra was down for two weeks after Nancy came from the hospital and I judge she had to work, - to care for the baby and kept house. Uncle Stanley has been down two or three times already. They drove up here Sunday for lunch and left about 3:30 to go to New Haven to see Stephen.

The month of February has been cold but both Mother and I have not felt the cold. I am still wearing fall underwear.

Monday Feb. 23.-

The Aunts left about 10:30 a.m. last Saturday as planned and we have heard nothing yet. Today's a holiday and no delivery. Saturday was a very disagreeable day. A strong, keen west wind that went right thru the house and thru all the clothes I could put on. The furnace did valiantly but the wind took the heat out of the rooms and to the East. It froze most of the day. Yesterday was much pleasanter. Uncle Ben took Aunt Abbie to church and then came down for us. He first took Aunt Abbie home and then brought us home. In the evening at 6 there was a reception for Dr. and Mrs. Russell McGown, a former pastor and after that at 7:45 a Union George Washington's Birthday service in which the four Protestant churches united. The four pastors and Dr. McGown made an imposing sight as they, gowned, mounted the pulpit. Dr. McGown preached a sermon appropriate for the birthday of the "Father of our country".

I wish I could get you some of the delicious Florida oranges and grape fruit Kathleen has sent us- two bushels and another bushel came from Uncle Elbert and Aunt Emma sent by a M. Yates whom they became friends with last year when they were down there.

Last Dec. early I ordered 100 lb. of pecans from B. Llogats[?], Barnesville, Georgia. I received a post card saying they were shipping C.O.D. But nothing came. I wrote again. They replied with several questions that showed they had lost the correspondence- but last week they came and they are good- real paper shells= Schleys.

I believe there is no business to write about this time.

I hope you keep up skiing= just enough to put a blush on your cheeks- and that your study continues to be pleasant.

Tomorrow evening we have a Black Out,

Lots of love

Father

[This postcard dated March 1, 1942 was written from Seattle, Washington by Aunt Etta to Jerry. Etta had to leave Hawaii six months earlier than planned because of the war. Post card donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Postcard of a Hawaiian fish postmarked San Francisco, Mar. 1, 1942.]

Miss Geraldine Beard
5035- 18th Av. N.E.
Seattle, Washington.

Convoy of 8 boats. Going to Alliance.

March 1st/42

Dear Jerry-

Am on my way to Ohio. The Hilo paper, in an editorial, asked all people who did not live in Hawaii and could be cared for elsewhere to evacuate. Fulton and family came also. They had their tickets to the Mainland. Helen will be in Wisconsin with relatives until Fulton locates. The voyage has been smooth, but felt miserable. Was sorry to lose 6 mos. of my visit.

Aunt Etta

[This letter dated March 9, 1942 was written from Tamp, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. Kathleen's family has adjusted to their new location. Kathleen is recovering from a case of Bell's palsy. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2403 Azeele St.
Tampa Fla.
March 9, 1942

Dear Jerry:

We have been here over a month now and feel quite at home in Tampa. We are glad we moved for many reasons and altho we miss the use of a car we wouldn't want to take on the responsibility of another one now if we could. The other people in the apartments are very nice and now that I am acquainted with some of them I have all the sociability that I need. Jill didn't think she liked her new school at first but now she is fully adjusted I think and is getting along nicely. The school is higher in its standards than the Safety Harbor school which had one teacher for every two grades, and we have heard that the one Jill is now going to is the best grade school in town. I have talked with her teacher, who retires next year, and am convinced that she knows her children tho seems a bit of a crank in some ways. Jill was scared of her at first but now seems to feel that she is in Mrs. Harter's good graces.

Hugh had his vacation last week. We were much surprised to get it so early this year since he had one only last October, but they are very arbitrary about such things so we must take them when they are assigned and be thankful that we have one at all. It (the vacation) came in most opportunely just then for I was under the weather in a peculiar way and was glad of his help and comfort. The Sunday before, we had entertained Hugh's whole family for Sunday dinner and the anticipation of feeding twelve in this little dining room with my limited facilities set me in somewhat of a dither, so I worked pretty hard the day before and got nervously tired, and it was cold. So on the day of the dinner I awoke to find I couldn't move the right half of my face. The family told me it was a cold settled there and would be alright in a few days. But it persisted and I had pains in my head so finally went to a Dr. who called it Bell's Palsy and said I should take Vitamin B, concentrate by hypo. And that's where Hugh helped so much for he gave me one every day. Other wise I would have had to do it myself and from my one try at it I didn't relish the idea. But now activity is coming back in my cheek and I can blink my eyelid again. The pains are gone too and I feel fine after taking it easy for two weeks. Hugh went back to work today and is in Jax now. The Dr. said today when I went to see him that it was the quickest recovery of that trouble that he had known of so I feel that the money spent was worth while and the discomfort of the hypodermics isn't so bad.

We are daily expecting some word from Mother saying that she is coming. I thought she would be here long before this but I guess something has held her up. Maybe the recent railroad accidents have made her loathe to step aboard a train for such a long journey, but we are still hoping she will get here before hot weather does. This winter, especially February, has been particularly cold and rainy, and it is still cool.

I hope the long silences that greet us from your direction mean that you are busy having a good time and not that you are working yourself ragged. Remember we all love you very much and enjoy even a postcard occasionally. Love- Kathie

[This letter dated March 10, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He and Mary are Air Raid wardens and must see that houses are blacked out and all are safe in an air raid. He has had no correspondence with Foochow lately. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

March 10th 1942
Tuesday

Dear Geraldine:-

Your good letter came Saturday- I guess. I enclose my check for $100.00.

The Aunts got home from their visit to Stanley Owen last Tuesday about 4 p.m. We all went up to the Lenten Supper at the church at 6:30 and Aunt Phebe was one of the hostesses for the supper. A full house was there and staid for the talk by Eilsen[?] Daniels= Assistant Superintendent for the Cong'l- Christian churches of Conn. Friday Mother, Aunt Mary and I went to town. Aunt Mary to deliver eggs, and do errands for the household, Mother to see Dr. Curtiss and have a treatment. While the Aunts were away she ran into an iron peg that stuck out from the clothes pole and hurt her chest bone. It was causing her pain. Dr. Curtiss seems to have fixed her up. I went with mother and to get my hair cut. Saturday we sort of staid at home and entertained our pastor and his wife and daughter Bonnie Ann. They walked down- or the parents did – and were here for lunch.

Sunday we all attended church. In the afternoon Aunt Mary took me over to Coram to attend a meeting of Air Raid Wardens for Long Hill Ave from Vigianas to Pine Rock Park [near the intersection of Long Hill and River Road] and Coram. We got home about 5:30 = 2:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Sunday nite I phoned Dr. Hodous that Mother and I would call on them in Hartford 2:30 -3:30. Aunt Mary was driving up to attend a meeting and we would go with her. But yesterday morning it rained. There was fog and the wind blew. Mother decided not to go. Aunt Mary and I went and had a pleasant call. Hodous is still teaching altho he retired last June. He is now staying on a year at a time. Defense has made teachers scarce. On the way up we had one shower. Then no more rain. We came home in sunshine.

In the evening Aunt Mary and I attended an Air Raid Warden's meeting in Shelton. There were about 70 there. I am to look after the school house, Mike's house and our house. See that they are blacked out in the signal and see that they have a proper refuge room and render any assistance in case of raid in which bombs are dropped.

Aunt Mary has the key to the Beacon light so she can shut that off if necessary. I did the past week while she was away.

Two letters that I mailed to Foochow and to a place up in the country have come back to me marked "Service Suspended". We have heard nothing from Foochow since the beginning of the year.

It is amazing the way the Japanese are forging ahead in all the Pacific- except the Philippines.

Mother plans to go to see Kathleen soon. I am booked here for March 21 to marry Eunice Beard of Milford in the Milford Church that day. Also I have promised two dates for talks which are as yet not definite. You know Kathleen has moved over to Tampa.

This morning a letter came from Miss Elizabeth Chase, Larchmont N.Y. She had lost your Seattle address and asked me to put it on her envelope. I hope it reaches you all right.

Yesterday Dan came down and pumped the water out of the cistern, 23 ½ inches. It bothers while the frost is coming out with a hard rain.

May God keep you and giveth you

With love Father.

[This letter dated March 28, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Ellen left for FL to visit Kathleen. He has kept busy with baptisms and weddings. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

March 28th.1942

Dear Geraldine:-

I have written a check for you for $100.00. I will not now take the time to look up the account. It is all in my checkbook. I think you may cross off one check for $100.00. I think it was before January 1942 that I sent you a check for $200.00. I thought I wrote that one hundred of it was a gift, not to go on the account.

Mother started for Tampa March 28th; One letter has come from her saying that she arrived all right. She did not mention Kathleen's trouble,- like yours in 1916. So I took it that she was better.

I talked to the Rotarians in Waterbury last Tuesday. Mr. Frazier was in bed day before yesterday and after the Lenten service in the evening Mrs. Frazier asked me to come over to see him. He told me the doctor said he should not plan to preach on Sunday. So I am to take his place tomorrow and have two babies to baptize.

A week ago last Saturday I married Eunice Beard of Milford to Edward G. Bailey of Meriden. Rain began about 2:00 p.m. and rained all the time till after dinner Sunday. Gould and his family were here when we got back from the wedding, and stayed till after dinner Sunday. They then went to Seymour and stopped in Derby to see the doctor just for a check up on the children. Marion, Well's wife went to the Hospital in New Haven yesterday, -no it was Thursday. We have not heard since. Edith came Wed. to take Winn to New Haven for another operation- this time on his nose. His doctor is soon to go to the war, and wants to finish up on Winn before he goes.

I am about decided not to go to Tampa. It will mean $100 and with conditions as they are. I have not yet decided that it would be right.

Give my love to all the people in Berkeley, Leolyn and Fred and Nancy, Elaine and her family, Gwendolyn and her family and to Leolyn and William, Polly and Billy and the baby.

With love

Father

[According to his Biographical Sketch, Gould was in the crew as pilot and flight engineer of the first four-engine survey flight flown across the North Atlantic with a C-87 cargo plane in April of 1942.]

[This letter dated April 29, 1942 was written from Tampa, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. Geraldine is in Berkeley doing some practice work. Ellen has been visiting Kathleen in Florida. Fulton's family and Aunt Etta are back from Hawaii. Willard has a new car. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

2403 Azeele St.

Tampa Fla

April 29, 1942

Dear Jerry:

We were glad of the condensed information about you packed onto the postcard that came this morning. Father wrote some weeks ago that you were in San Francisco but we did not know for how long so were awaiting some word from you. Just what did your practice work consist of and how did it happen that you were sent so conveniently to Berkeley? When you get settled in Seattle again let us know all the interesting details.

You probably know that Mother has been down here with us for the past two months and is now planning to go back to Conn. next week. Father didn't come at all this winter but says he may come next winter. We haven't done a great deal while Mother has been here for we are handicapped without a car and rather confined by Jill being in school. But we have managed to get Mother to church every Sunday but one, and we took in the Easter Sunrise service here in the Park. Did you go to the Berkeley one? We heard it being broadcast as we were eating breakfast that morning. We also went out to the air base (largest in the southeast) on army day to view the flying fortresses and air field. Mother took in the St. Petersburg festival of States parade by herself the week after that but doesn't try to go down town here by herself at all. Of course we have been shopping several times and went to a school entertainment at which Jill and Cynthia sang "Jasu tiang nguai." Cynthia had a great time that night and loved every minute of it. This past week we have been rather tied at home by Jill's measles. Half of her class has been out with them for the past ten days and she blossomed out a week ago tonight. They were the regular measles this time (she had three day measles in Savannah last spring) and she was a pretty sick girl for four days, and was she red!! By now the spots are fading and she is wanting to be up as much as I will let her. I only hope that Cynthia doesn't follow suit.

You heard of course that Fulton's family and Aunt Etta came back from Hawaii in March. Fulton, Helen, and two children drove across the country and left the children in Wisconsin coming on to Bradenton, Fla. where her parents live. They had an accident in Georgia which demolished their car, and it's a wonder the same didn't happen to them. They came up here last week and had lunch with us one day. They looked alright but Helen's back has been bothering her and it may have to be in a cast for several months. Fulton says he wasn't hurt at all but maybe he is just modest. I liked Helen a lot. She seems very capable and has lively, dark eyes. She looks about the same age as Fulton but of course looks can be deceiving. We are hoping they may come up again if he gets his new car here. He talks of getting a job as physician in some big defense plant or naval station but their plans seem to be very uncertain. Fulton was his same reticent self and didn't tell nearly all we wanted to hear about their exciting trip home.

Hugh has been transferred again, this time to St. Petersburg but since it may not be for more than a few weeks we are not moving for awhile. We want Jill to finish out her term here anyway, and by that time we should be able to tell how permanent it is likely to be. Meanwhile he is going back and forth by bus across Gandy bridge and he has much more time at home than he did on the Jacksonville run.

Did Father write you about his new car? I do hope he doesn't smash it up and himself with it. Mother is glad he is practicing up on driving before she rides with him. Love from us all- Kathie

[This letter, dated May 4, 1942, was written from Naugatuck, Conn. by H.M. Billings to Dr. Willard Beard. He requests that Willard come and talk to the Naugatuck Rotary Club about China. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

PETER PAUL, INC.
Naugatuck, Conn.

May 4, 1942.

Dr. Willard Beard,
Shelton,
Connecticut.

Dear Doctor Beard:-

We have heard do many good reports concerning your talk on China that the Naugatuck Rotary Club would like very much to have you come and talk to them.

We meet each Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon and we set aside about one-half hour for our speaker.

We have June 3rd and all of July open at the present time and, if convenient, we would like to have you with us on any one of those days.

Very truly yours,
PETER PAUL, INC.
H.M. Billings
Program Committee

[This letter dated May 26, 1942 was written from Florida by Kathleen to Jerry. They are moving to St. Petersburg because of Hugh's job. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[postal addressed to:

Miss Geraldine Beard
5035- 18th Ave. N.E.
Seattle Wash.

Postmarked May 26, 1942

Dear Jerry: We have to imagine what you are doing these days. Your letter to Mother had to follow her North unopened so we didn't get the benefit of it. How about a card? You can well imagine what we are doing when I say we move this Friday to St. Petersburg. Our address there will be 2551-15th Ave. N. Jill's school ends this week and Cynthia for one will be glad to have her home all day. She has done very well this year and her teacher would promote her to third grade if she were staying here, she said. She loves spelling and reading and often spells instead of saying words in conversation. Hope she keeps up her good work. Any lines leads or contacts on a new job yet? Love- K

[This letter dated May 28, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Because Willard is a clergyman, he gets an "X card" and can buy any amount of gas. Ellen enjoyed her stay in Florida. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

May 28th. 1942.

Dear Geraldine:-

Time has rushed by so fast that I was surprised to find it had been two months since I wrote the last check to you. I have not heard that you received it but it has come back to the Bank so I judge you got it all right.

Your letter to Mother and the one to us both are here. If you do not find a ranch to your mind, perhaps the Aunts would consider hiring you on the farm for the summer. I see by the papers that many girls are on farms. I wonder how much real work of a producing kind they will do. Or will they do as Monnie and Kathie did in 1928. They got their farm hats, overalls and had their pictures taken with each a fork of hay holding it as no farmer could possibly hold it and THEY WERE FARMERS.

I am inclosing the Oberlin Commencement program, for you to look back onto, and a card for you to vote for an Alumnus Trustee, this must get to Oberlin before June 30.

I have been so full of things to do that I have not written saying I was not coming to the Commencement. Mother and I did go up to Hartford last Tuesday May 26th, Aunt Mary's birthday. She had to go for a State Committee meeting and we took two other ladies from Shelton and New Haven so I thought I was justified in driving up. I am a "Clergyman". I have an X card, which means I can buy any amount of gas. Aunt Mary has been talking of this meeting in Hartford for months. And Mother and I went to the Hodouses at once. We drove into Hartford by the Seminary and I gave the wheel to Aunt Mary. She drove down to the chapel of the Center Church, put the car into a parking place and attended her meetings with the other ladies and drove back to the Hodouses and we drove home. Mrs. Hodous had fallen several days ago in her pantry and bruised herself badly. She was still in bed but sitting up seven or eight minutes a day. She had just taken a course in First Aid and directed Dr. Hodous as he strapped her up and then got her on to a blanket and on to the bed. He brought the bed from upstairs into the dining room where she is now.

Aunt Mary and I have been driving about between Hartford and South Norwalk quite a bit the last month.

There does not seem to be much I can do to help you in deciding what to do for the summer. I would like to suggest that you might be as likely to find what you are looking for here in the east as in the west. If so and you want to come, drop me a line at once and I will forward you the money to come. If you want to come here and just rest for the summer come on.

Mother had a great time in Tampa and has seemed very glad that she went.

I am enclosing a little piece of paper with the amounts that my check book shows I have forwarded to you since last September. If it is not correct let [me] know and I will rectify it.

Next week I speak in Naugatuck to the Rotary Club and Mother speaks in Madison the next day I believe. Let us hear from you soon.

Very lovingly
Father

[This letter dated July 15, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He is glad to hear that Geraldine is located near her work. Ellen is visiting her siblings in Putnam. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm, Shelton, Conn. 15/7/42 [July 15, 1942]

Dear Geraldine:-

Your letter is just here. I congratulate you on the way all things have worked together for your good. I'm glad you are so pleasantly located - so near your work- yet far enough to give you a little exercise walking to and from. I trust your companion will be congenial. The fact that she was William's Secretary argues well. Your view during the day is all right. And you have an incentive to walk to get the view at other times. I'm glad your room has three windows.

Mother is still in Putnam. I have a hunch that she will stay there until Aunt Etta comes to Putnam. The three sisters and their brother will have a good time together.

Uncle Stanley and Aunt Myra, Nancy and Stephen [Stanley] Owen, Stephen and Ruth and Mack were at Mr. Palmer's and here two nites. Most of them spent nites at Mr. Palmers. They were there for dinners both Sunday and Monday. Nancy's baby is a fine boy. - She is justly proud of him. It looks as if Stephen was going to marry a Catholic girl- but not until he is out of college. She seems to be doing most of the courting.

Aunt Mary has not sold much of her hay- only what is north of the house and about 4 acres south. But Mike Stobursky rented 7 or 8 acres to plant corn and potatoes on. I mowed by hand the pear orchard and got it in well made.

You will recognize an old friend in this paper and envelope. I found quite a bunch in your desk.

I enclose my check for $25. Your letter sounds as if you were quite sure this would be enough to carry you thru. How would it do to send me a check for a certain amount per month? Then both of us could know how to plan. If it had not been for payment on some of the Wh. Hills property I should have been hard pressed some of the time the past year. But, with these I have made ends meet. I saved $100. by not going to Fla. Love Father.

Abbie and Bennett Nichols Beard's family- 1942. Oliver Wells Beard, Dan Beard and Edith Beard Valentine are the children of Ben and Abbie.

Left to right standing in back: Marion and Oliver Wells Beard holding baby Marion, Beatrice and Dan Beard, Edith and Seymour Valentine.

Front left to right: Abbie sitting next to (from top to bottom) Danny Beard Jr., Winifred Valentine, Beverly Beard. Bennett Nichols Beard is sitting holding Jay Valentine.

[Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

This photo was probably taken within a month or so of the previous photo.

Back row left to right: Unknown woman, Stephen Beard, Wells Beard holding baby Marion, wife Marion Beard, Beatrice Beard, Dan Beard, Winifred Valentine on pony, Danny Beard in the shade at far right holding Bucky the pony..

Middle row left to right: Unidentified older woman, Mary Beard, Willard Beard, Ellen Kinney Beard, Phebe M. Beard, Abbie Hubbell Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard.

Seated on the ground left to right: Edith Valentine with Jay Valentine in her lap, Seymour Valentine, Beverly Beard.
[Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated July 19, 1942 was written from St. Petersburg, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. She asks about Geraldine's work at Berkeley. She wonders if the Express Company will transfer Hugh yet again now that they are in St. Petersburg. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

These pictures were taken mostly in Tampa while Mother was here.

St. Petersburg
2551-15th Ave. N.
July 19 '42

Dear Jerry:

How is the new work going in San Francisco, or rather Berkeley? After you get on to the ropes I hope the work won't be too confining or nerve straining. I read your interesting account of the background of the library and just where does your work fit into the picture? Is it further research among old material or is that part of it all done? How I wish we could visit Cal. I have become very curious in recent years to tour that part of the country and see it with my own eyes. However we seem to be touring anyway- in Florida- and just now we are busy learning the beauties and intricacies of St. Petersburg. We like it so far very much but I suppose just because we do some fellow from Jacksonville will take a notion to roll Hugh and we will be on the move again. We are enjoying it while we may, going to the Gulfport beach and playing Badminton in our back yard during Hugh's evenings off. Cynthia stirred things up a bit by coming down with cough about a month ago but is nearly over it by now. Her two-way meals left her thinner than she ever has been before but she is as lively as ever. We found some friends from Safety Harbor living here and we are next door to a middle-aged couple who grew up in Oberlin. The man also works for the Exp. Co. in the office here so they are a great help as our information bureau. They have two sons in the army and a third nearly of age.

Hugh's family has been down twice and Molly and Chickie have each had their turn visiting us for awhile. I don't remember having as much fun with any of my cousins as Jill and C. seem to have with Enid's children. They are simply on top of the world when any or all of the three come to visit. Of course you had Uncle Oliver's girls when you were small and they were the right ages for you three, so maybe you can share the feeling of my two.

By chance I happened to run into the Christians downtown several weeks ago and had a nice little chat with them. They were leaving next morning so that I couldn't have them out to our house, much as I would like to have seen more of them. They both looked grand! They are speaking at conferences all over the South and middle West this summer.

Last month during one of Hugh's days off we went up to Safety Harbor by train for a visit and came back next day. The children were thrilled with the train ride and I must admit I wanted to stay right on the train all day and enjoy the cool air conditioning. We found the family as well as usual but Rollin Sr. was away doing defense work. He couldn't get anything around here after private construction came to a halt so he found work up in Mobile Ala. I guess he may be back here in the winter.

Monnie's last letter to me was written in April and said nothing about coming out. Have you heard anything more recent? I wonder if the war will cause any change in company transfers up there. At any rate I guess you and I are doomed to miss seeing them if they do come down. Hugh has had his vacation this year (in March) and there isn't a chance of my leaving with travelling conditions so uncertain. Many people are staying down here for the summer who never stayed before.

Lets hear from you soon.

Love from all- Kathie

[This letter dated August 12, 1942 was written from Florida by Kathleen to Jerry. She relays a message from Monnie that she will be coming home from Canada later in the month. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Postal addressed to:

Miss Geraldine Beard
c/o Dr. Wim S. Morgan
1683 La Loma Ave.
Berekely Calif.

[marked and forwarded to:

2508 Parker Street.

Postmarked Aug 12, 1942

Dear Jerry: Thanks for your Birthday telegram. My birthday does me some good anyway for I got a good haul of mail- among it a telegram from Monnie which you will be glad to hear. I quote- "Am leaving from Hopedale about Aug. 24. Will wire again from Bay Roberts. Please notify family pronto. Ralph following later. Many guests and packing have made last few weeks very busy. Both send love."

I wonder why Ralph can't come out with her. I take it that she will wait in Bay Roberts for him, don't you? I'm glad she is coming down. Love Kathie

[This letter dated August 26, 1942 was written from Florida by Kathleen to Jerry. Kathleen tells Geraldine that she is once again moving, this time to Ft. Meyers, FL. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Postal addressed to:

Miss Geraldine Beard
2508 Parker St.
Berkeley Calif

[postmarked:

Aug 26, 1942

Dear Jerry: Last week I notified you of Monnie's moving and more of our own. Hugh was displaced on this run by a man with more seniority who wanted it so we will be going to Ft. Myers – heading south for a change. It is a better paid job so I guess we should be thankful but I hate to move when we were so nicely settled and we can take only half our things. I'll be going early in Sept. so don't address me here after Sept. 1. A cousin of Mother Elmer's works in a Berkeley library but is now out with a sprained ankle I think. Her name is Olive Burrows. Have you heard of her? What do you think of Monnie's surprise? Will you be able to get East? Don't think I can. Love
- K

Willard and Ellen probably in the 1940s
[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated Sept. 16, 1942 was written from Derby (Putnam), CT by Ellen to Geraldine. Ellen relays Monnie's message that she will be in Boston within a few days and Ralph's message that he will be coming soon afterwards. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Postcard addressed to:

Miss Geraldine Beard,
2508 Parker St.
Berkeley, Cal.

Postmarked: Derby Conn. Sept. 16, 1942.

Sept. 16th. 1942

Dear Geraldine,
News! News!

A Night letter today from Marjorie, for Truro, Nova Scotia said "Arrive Boston Thurs. Visiting Putnam couple of days. Will notify you from there when coming to Shelton. Enjoying trip immensely. Grand getting back to civilization. Can't wait to see you all."

An hour later a night-letter to her from Ralph came saying "Expect leave end this week. Will wire upon arrival. Please give my love Mother, Father, aunts and Family." And very tender personal message to her.

Father is in Hartford attending Conn. minister's meeting Mon, Tues, and Wed. this week. And Mary and I go to Hartford Thurs. and Fri. to attend Women's retreat.

We have been looking long for Marjorie's radiogram telling us of her starting from Davis Inlet last of Aug. But infer military reasons prevented her sending any message over wire. Love from Mother

[This letter dated Sept. 27, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Monnie to Jerry. Monnie is back at Century Farm and expects Ralph to arrive soon. Monnie is pregnant and will have the baby in the U.S. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Got your letter in Bay Roberts. You were the only member of the family who wrote. Thank you.

Century Farm
Sept. 27, 1942

Dear Jerry,

Just a note this time because there are so many folks to write and it's so hard to find time to write around here.

Mother said she wrote you when she got my message from Truro. I got to Putnam on the 17th. Mother and Father drove up on the 19th and we stayed until the 22nd, when they drove me down here. That drive was such a treat because I'd made up my mind to expect no car rides at all. Besides, it was a perfect day.

Any day now I expect a message from Ralph saying he has reached Bay Roberts. He will take the first half of his furlough there- 3 weeks- then come on here for about 3 weeks. Then he goes to Winnipeg to be assigned to a new post. Some people say he might be sent to Montreal for a six- month course in fur grading. I hope he is, for then I can go and live with him there and have the baby there. But if he is sent straight to a post, we'll wait to find out what sort of a place it is before I decide whether to join him immediately or not. If it's isolated I shall stay here to have the baby, then go to Ralph in March. It's so inconvenient not to be told your future plans so you can make arrangements ahead of time. But that's the way of the Company.

I'm glad you've got such a good job, and in such an interesting and lovely place. But it's a darn nuisance to have you so far away. I'll tell you- plan to come and stay with us for your vacation- we'll probably be somewhere in Western Canada, probably a rather nice post. Ralph has done so extraordinarily well at Davis Inlet that he has made a name for himself in Winnipeg and both uncles say that the big shots there have something really good in store for him. Uncle Ralph and Uncle Hayward were very much pleased with his work too, and also with the way we had fixed up our Davis Inlet house. So I guess both of them approve of me now.

I had a lovely time at Bay Roberts during my ten-day's stay. They all asked about you and wanted to be remembered to you. Uncle Jack Hambling especially. Their hospitality was lavish as usual and they all seemed to take me right in as one of the family. I got to know them all better visiting alone as I did than as if I had been with Ralph.

There won't be any family reunions I guess. Kathie can't get up- you can't get here; Dot hasn't written whether she's coming or not. If she doesn't, Ralph will stop there on his way to Winnipeg. Gould will be the only one who's near enough to come. I'd sent Kathie the money to come myself if it weren't that I shall have to live and have my baby on my $500. because Ralph is paid in Canada and Canada allows none of her currency to be sent out of the country. I was allowed to by only $25.00 in U.S. money to get home on. Had to leave all the rest of my money in Nfld. Of course I bought my ticket to Boston, there.

Thanks so much for those books. Had no time to get them but will send for them or Ralph will pick them up. The bed-jacket will be just the thing for when I'm in the hospital. More later.

Love, Monnie

[This letter, dated Oct. 4, 1942, was written by Gould to Willard. He discusses buying a new house and borrowing money from Willard as an investment for him. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Oct. 4, 1942

Dear Father:

We were so very glad to have you and Mother with us again and to have Monnie down was a thrill. We hope we can be all settled in 6 Martin Place when Ralph comes with Monnie and when you and Mother come again.

As to the finance on the house, I was going to borrow about $2250.00. Some of this sum was to have been as a second mortgage and the rest on one of my insurance policies. If you want to take a second mortgage on the house for $2250 at 3% per annum, I think I can pay it back within four years in semi annual installments without skimping the families activities beyond a healthy amount that will give them an appreciation of the home they are helping to earn.

We had planned to take title to the house on or about Oct 15th and will need the money then. If this is ok, please drop me a note rite away as if it is ?at I will write out a loan on my Mutual Benefit Annuity which will take about 6 days to complete. You can mail the check anytime and reach us by the 15th of this month.

I want to thank you with great appreciation for this offer. I remembered that you had said you had some money you would like to invest, but I did not know how you were fixed at present. And as my credit is good for several times the amount necessary and as Cullen[?], the ??, would take a second mortgage for more than half the balance of the sum necessary I decided to do it that way and not embarrass you in case you had already planned for the use of the money. The house will be good for the sum I am paying for it $14,350.00 for some years to come as it is the last house available in any development around there and there will be no more building until after the war. Several houses around here and around that development have sold for a thousand dollars over that price without half the property around them. If I fix the place up as I hope to is should be worth $15,500 anytime within the next two years. I think your money will be safe in a second mortgage if anything ever happens to me and Virginia has to disperse of the house. The total carrying charges will amount to about $95.00 a month which is $15 a month more than the rent we are now paying. I can deduct all the interest on indebtedness out of my income tax unless that is changed next year and that will help. I feel that I am getting nothing for the rent I will be paying on the house as a good proportion will be going into an equity in the property.

I am going on a military mission Wednesday to be gone about 10 days and hope to be able to move into the new house when I get back.

The little sickle pears are delicious and the grapes don't keep around this house. I hope Virginia will have an apple pie with the apples before Wednesday.

Guess I will have to put the boat away without another sail. I had to work all yesterday and today on plans and could'nt get a sail in the afternoon. The club, shore boat stop runs to the fleet very soon and I will not be able to sail the next two weeks.

With love to all from all here.

Your son,

Gould

[This letter dated Oct. 12, 1942 was written from Fort Meyers, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. She thanks Jerry for a sweater. They are now living in Fort Meyers and she talks about their place and living there. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

c/o Railway Express Agency

Fort Myers, Fla.

Oct. 12, '42

Dear Jerry:

What a surprise your package was- and its contents even more so. I do like the sweater and it is a shade that I haven't worn much so it will add variety to my wardrobe (if my heterogeneous assemblage could be called that). It is still too warm to wear wool but in another month I should be able to strut downtown in it, and considering how far south we are I may not feel the need of anything heavier most of the time. Thank you loads for sending it. I am just wearing out that blue print dress that you and Monnie gave me two birthdays ago and am so sorry to see it go. It is such a good style for my "maturing figger" and comparatively cool for summer. However the relentless sun down here had already robbed it of its azure and left it a misty gray so I couldn't wear it for good anymore. You might laugh too, to see your red striped beach P.J.s still flopping around. The top disintegrated last year so I cut it off and made them into full slacks with the belt as band. Now I am considering hacking off more, for strangely enough the pockets are the next to shred. The lower legs are full enough for a skirt so it may yet last the duration. Anyway I always liked the gay stripe.

Well, we are now in the city which Edison claimed ninety million people would discover, as he did. His winter home is still here, next to Ford's, and Mrs. Edison comes down every winter we are told. There are many luxurious estates here but most of them are quite far from town and we only saw them because our landlady was kind enough to take us for a ride one Sunday. We are nearly a mile out ourselves (in another direction from the wealthy) and we get plenty of walking just to keep us fed. Our house is very much like a summer shack up north but it does have an electric ice box, gas stove and water heater so we can be fairly comfortable despite no closets and other features which keep it from seeming like home. We fight ants constantly in addition to roaches and have to walk two blocks in deep sand before we can walk on a hard road. Our landlady seems nice tho and had taken the children to Sunday school every Sunday and me once to her class in the Methodist church. She is also an ardent Eastern star and Red cross worker.

Jill takes the school bus to school and I put her in third grade at the suggestion of her Tampa teacher. She seems to be keeping up alright but her teacher tells me she can see the lack of familiarity with words in her work. I think I can help her overcome that handicap. She loves spelling and goes around spelling out her conversation at home. Cynthia, not to be outdone tries to do the same with amusing results. She will say "Mamma, give me a m-i-o-t—drink!" She plays pretty well by herself and rides her tricycle when we go shopping. Hugh's work is awfully heavy with the town so full of soldiers and he has to sleep all the day after he gets in- works every other night.

It is good to think of Monnie back in the States again and I hope she doesn't have to go out into the sticks again right away. We won't be able to see her this time, I guess, or Ralph either, but maybe next time she gets down this way we can go up for a visit. I know you must feel very far removed out there too, and I don't suppose you can get a vacation so soon. By the way, when do you get one and how long is it? Have you met Olive Burrows, Mother Elmer's cousin, yet?

I want to mail this uptown today so more next time.

We all send our love

Kathie

[This letter dated Oct. 19, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT. by Monnie to Jerry. She is waiting for Ralph to arrive from Canada. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Postal addressed to:

Miss Geraldine Beard
2508 Parker St.
Berkeley Calif.

[postmarked:

Oct. 19, 1942

Sunday

Dear Jerry,

I had planned to go to Putnam yesterday to be there when Ralph was to have arrived tomorrow. But yesterday morning a message came from him saying he had been unavoidable delayed and would start today, probably reaching Putnam Thursday. We think it was the sinking of the Caribou last wed. in Cabot Strait that made it impossible for him to come. For altho that might not have been the boat he would have taken, it will have to be replaced quickly to take care of the greatly increased passenger traffic across there nowadays. That happened only 2 nights before he was to have crossed! How thankful I am! But I shan't rest easy until he's here. More later, when he arrives. Love, Monnie

[This letter dated Oct. 29, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Ellen to Geraldine. Marjorie and Ralph are now out of Canada and visiting . A baby shower was held for Marjorie. Ellen comments how times have changed since she had her children. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Altho most of this sheet is rather old news I will send it along for some possible side-lights which you may not have gotten from other sources.

Mrs. Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

Shelton, Conn.
Thurs. Oct. 29th, 1942.

Dear Geraldine,

How we all wish you could be here the next few weeks while Marjorie and Ralph are here. You and Kathleen are in unfortunate corners of the continent, viewed from the scene of home activities. This is one of the times when we wish we were worth half a million so that we could transport all the family home for a reunion.

It is still uncertain how long Marjorie will be with us as we have not seen Ralph yet to hear his report of the location of his next post. Marjorie went to Putnam last Wednesday night to be there to welcome Ralph coming down thru Truro to Boston, as she did, expecting him to arrive in Putnam Thursday p.m. at 2:30. This is still true as Ralph will not know till he goes to Winnipeg. She hadn't rec'd the telegram from him which she expected all day Tues. and Wed. and was very uneasy and anxious, - so much so that she called Putnam by phone to ask if it had come there. It had not. Nov. 8- This letter has rested over a week so I'll try to take up the thread and finish it. Much has happened in the ten days that have intervened.

Marjorie went by train via Waterbury to Putnam to meet Ralph who eventually came via Montreal buying a round trip ticket from Montreal to Boston so as to use all the Canadian money he could before leaving Canada as when money is exchanged to U.S. money one always loses considerable by exchange; moreover the Canadian Gov't. won't let any more Canadian money go out of the country than what is absolutely necessary to the person traveling there. They asked Marjorie what she estimated were her absolute needs then granted her $25.00 and she had to send the rest of her Canadian money back to Ralph to be deposited in his Bank acct. there.

Ralph arrived in Putnam either Thurs. or Fri. (I forget which now) and they staid over Sunday there then went to Long Meadow just out of Springfield to see Fulton and Helen, staid over one night there then came to Shelton. Ralph spent two days, after arriving here, visiting his father alone.

On Saturday, Oct. 31st, Dorothy arrived in New Haven. Stephen had secured tickets to the Yale-Brown Football game for Father, Ralph, Marjorie, Dorothy and me, and he offered to meet Dorothy at the N.H. station, take her to lunch and take her to the ball field where we were to meet them at 2 p.m. at gate 15. So that is where Ralph and Dorothy first met. As for the game it was mostly tumbling down and getting up so far as I could see. Yale won 6 to 0; and I heard over the radio yesterday when the Yale-Harvard game finished that Yale had won every game it had played this season. Harvard 3, Yale 7; but Yale didn't score at all till the 4th quarter.

Sunday, Nov. 1st was the big family party which included all of Ben's family thru 3 generations, Annie, Edythe Fairchild, Theodore and Ruth. Dinner was served on the long picnic tables bro't into the living room, and on the dining room table full length.

After dinner they gave Marjorie a baby shower, at which Ralph and all the men were inveigled to be present. Ralph went thru it bravely. Every lady brought something so you know about how many gifts she received. And Dorothy bro't on all the baby things I had given her 15 yrs. or so ago. Just as Theodore and Ruth were getting into their car to go home Ruth announced that it was his (T's) birthday. They presented, at the shower, money, a bill $5.00 in one of those presentation cards for cash gifts, - for "baby's first bank account." Marjorie now has 3 beautiful blankets, one full crib size, all pink from Mother Butt, and one small size pink on one side and blue on the other from bassinette size. Phebe and Mary; and another same size and same colors I guess. She has plenty of socks and stockings for the first year, plenty of hoods and several jackets or sweaters; one complete layette from Montgomery Ward's and a part of another she bought before she went up to Davis Inlet (she has given away some pieces of it to friends up there). Virginia gave her the baby sleeping bag she used for Willard; and she has one wrapper.

I have never seen any prospective mother so enthusiastic and so overjoyed as she is, or one that anticipated her prospect with more real deep pleasure than she does. When she was looking over the Montgomery Ward catalog making out her order, she would chuckle "My! it's such fun!" After "quickening" began she has been tremendously interested in the movements of the little one. For three weeks after she arrived here she talked a great deal about the coming event and asked information of all her young friends who had had babies recently, Edith Valentine, and our pastor's wife, and a whole group of young married women who meet at the pastor's house weekly and Marjorie has met with them for one supper. I guess she has about all the necessary information now, about hospital regime etc. - more than I could give her as they do things so differently in these days from what they did when my babies were arriving. We never went to the hospital then but had the delivery in our own house.

Times certainly have changed! People talk much more freely about this matter than they used to when I was young. Then it was more or less of a secret between husband and wife and the wife's mother and sisters, and the Dr. If a woman was "expecting" it was spoken of in whispers just between two women. Now it is common talk in the family "when the baby comes" unless there are young children present, - before the men relatives too. Marjorie said her relatives in Bay Roberts while she was there visiting on her way home, talked very freely about it and told her all their experiences, giving her quite an education.

Her size astounds her and almost alarmed her at first, it increased so rapidly the first two weeks she was here. She has kept perfectly well, and exercises freely in house work, walking, etc. and only has a little back ache, occasionally and a little "heart burn" when her food does not agree with her. She has visited her Dr. three times and had free talks with him and the second time had an examination after which he told her he tho't she was one month farther along than she had estimated, bringing delivery the last of Jan. instead of Feb. as she had tho't. Now she does not know when to write Ralph to come down. He said he would come for Christmas anyway.

She tho't some of going to Montreal with him and have it born there but apartments were not to be had. Dr. Edson always takes her blood-pressure, her weight, and examines a sample of her urine, all of which is well so far.

She hopes it is twins! And tried to have the Dr. discover in his examination the confirmation of her hopes, but he reported only one little heart beat.

She has reached the stage where the weight is somewhat burdensome but her carriage is very well-balanced, athletic, and as graceful as possible. However, she is beginning to wish the time would hurry along to the event. She will go to the Griffin Hospital and Dr. Edson will attend her.

With much love
Mother

W.P.A. activities are stopped now. Where would you be now if you had not resigned a year and a half ago?

We all appreciated your good long letter about your defense work, and the photos. They are very good of you. Isn't Dr. Morgan much thinner? I am glad your work and your responsibilities are not quite so heavy as in Chicago.

[This letter dated October 29, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Monnie and Ralph are now in the U.S. Gould has a new house. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

October 29- 1942

Dear Geraldine

Your letter asking for another $100.00 came yesterday. It decreases my favorable balance in the bank more than I enjoy, but I can stand it if you are not calling for more. The only factor that enabled us to finance you this year was that Aunt Mary sold some of the White Hills property and got cash for it. I put that to your help. That source is now exhausted and I have only our normal income.

Monnie has made us all glad by arriving safe, sound and happy. Ralph came Tuesday of this week with us from Putnam via Springfield, Mass. where they spent one nite with Fulton and Helen. Fulton is leaving now for work as doctor for the Standard Oil Co. down near Venezuela- a hot country. Helen goes to see him off - in Florida I believe. Aunt Etta goes to Springfield = Long Meadow to care for Helen's two small children- 12+. Today Ralph took the 9:54 a.m. train for N.Y. He plans to come back tomorrow on the 3:44 p.m. at Derby. Mother, Monnie and Ralph and I want to attend a football game at Yale Sat. p.m. Yale vs. Brown- if the weather is good and we talk of going to a "shore dinner" tomorrow evening I believe- somewhere.

Plans are maturing for the Beard clan to gather here for Thanksgiving. There is also to be a party of those who can come this Sunday- specially to see Ralph.

It is most too bad to write this to you, for you can't possibly be present. We will think of you.

Mother and I plan to drive to Putnam next Tues. after rationing here - to speak in the p.m.- Women's Miss'y Meeting and come home Wed. or Thurs. The gas rationing Board gave me a special 16 gas to go.

Have we written you that we saw Gould's new house- about 3 miles from their Great Neck home? It is a new house- just finished- 3 bathrooms- on a corner. Ginny had the pleasure of choosing her own paper for the walls. Shrubs are planted, grass is green on the lawn. This is the last house of a "Development". The company used it for a year as an office.

The frost held off till three nites ago- Cosmos is still all right and Chresanthemums are not yet in bloom. The garden is all cleared- except celery and parsnips.

Ralph does not yet know where he is to be located. But somewhere in Canada- not in Labrador.

Did Berkeley deposit any of the Japanese? What is the reaction in this action of the government, that you hear?

Gould seems to be on the go much of the time. He was off for a week or ten days two weeks ago. We have not heard where he went. Ginny wrote that he was home-very tired. They should be in their new house. But we have not heard from any of them for ten days.

Lovingly
Father

Fri morning-

Dot has just wired that she is leaving this afternoon for N.Y. Takes trains tomorrow morning for New Haven to attend Ball Game- Brown-Yale tomorrow afternoon with us.

Father

[This letter dated Oct. 30, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Monnie to Jerry. Ralph is now in the states and they have been visiting. Her cousin Fulton, is now working in a hospital for Standard Oil in Aruba. Monnie is excited to have her baby due in January or February. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Oct. 30 [1942]

Dear Jerry,

Just a note to put in with Father's letter.

Ralph arrived last Friday via Montreal and Boston. I met him in Putnam and we stayed there until Monday. It was so good to see him and it is so good to have him here. Funny- but after you are married, even home isn't the same satisfying place any more unless your husband is there with you. Ralph is heavier than ever before in his life- 170 lbs. - but he can carry it and he's not fat. Ralph took the folks out to dinner Sunday- we went to the Gen. Lyon Inn in Eastford. There we saw Miss Chapdelaine now Mrs. Benoit- and her brother, - Chapdelaine, who was in yours and Gould's class. Both wanted to be remembered to you. Mrs. Benoit is still very attractive and vivacious.

Monday night we spent with Fulton and Helen in Longmeadow, just outside of Springfield, Mass. Day before yesterday Fulton started for his new job- as one of seven doctors in the Standard Oil co. hospital on the tiny island of Aruba off the coast of Venezuela. The largest oil refinery in the world is there with 7000 employees. It's a grand job and Fulton is looking forward to it except that Helen and the children can't go with him and are staying in Longmeadow in their newly-bought house. Did you meet them? Isn't Helen a dear and so charming. It is the family's gain that Fulton married her.

Tuesday we came to the farm. Dot telegraphed that she was arriving in New Haven tomorrow in time to go to the Yale-Brown game with Stephen, Mother, Father, Ralph and me. The aunts are getting together as many of the relatives as possible Sunday. How we shall miss you and Kathie!! We shall go to Gould's sometime next week, also Ralph's father's in Cedarhurst. Ralph has to leave Thursday the 12th. Ralph sends much love as do I and we both wish so much we could see you.

Dr. says I'm 6 months along instead of 5 1/2 so baby may arrive in Jan. He could hear the baby's heart beating yesterday! It's all so exciting.

Love, Monnie

[This letter dated Nov. 4, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Ellen to Geraldine. Ellen starts this letter in November and finishes it 8 months later in June. She, Dorothy, Willard and Etta were all in Putnam at Emma and Elbert's home. Dorothy got to meet Ralph. Ellen sends a No. 17 ration stamp for shoes to Geraldine. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Mrs. Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

Putnam, Conn.
Nov. 4", 1942.

Dear Geraldine,

You will naturally infer that I am visiting Emma and Elbert, which is correct. Father and Dorothy are with me too. Aunt Etta is here for the winter and so we make quite a party.

It all came about this way.

I was asked months ago to speak at the Thank Offering meeting here on Nov. 3" and promised that I would, or would get Father to take my place which he did yesterday afternoon. It rained, - and it was voting day, so there was not a large audience out.

Dorothy came east last Friday leaving Saginaw about 2:30 p.m. by train and arriving in N.Y. about 7 a.m. Saturday. She came on to New Haven about 10:30, and telephoned the farm. Stephen had telephoned out a few minutes before, about tickets for the Yale-Brown game in the Yale bowl which Marjorie had asked him to secure for us, as she wanted Ralph to see a big game while he is here. Hearing that Dorothy was arriving soon he offered to meet her and take care of her till we came in for the game. So he took her up to his room and to lunch and we met them at portal 15 at the bowl at 2 o'clock. And Dorothy met Ralph for the first time, and Marjorie and Father and me.

Hunting for a piece of paper to write to you on, (from my suit case) I came across this, written 8 months ago. And as the first sentence is true now, I thought I would use this to write my brief message today on, also to prove to you that I have had some good correspondence intentions toward you altho you have never received my letter.

June 12", '43

Dear Geraldine,

Your letter to Father and me was forwarded to me from the farm, but Father did not write whether he sent you the ration point "No 17" or not.

I suppose he did, unless he had already given away to Ben's family both his and my No. 17. He knows that I have all the shoes I shall probably need for the rest of my life (7 prs.)

But in case he did not send you a "No 17", Uncle Elbert is sending you his, as he and Emma both have a good supply of shoes and after June 15th will have a new point, No. 18 on which they can buy shoes if they need any. If this does not arrive in time to use by the 16th and if you received no other, just drop us a card and we will send you a no.18 to use after the 15th of June.

Father and I attended a Foochow reunion at Geo. Newell's in Oxbridge on June 5", - came down here that night and I have been here since; Father went home Monday and I shall have to go Wednesday of this week.

Write us again, - we enjoy your letters.

With love, Mother.

Will send you Marjorie's letter soon and Johnny's picture. I think you received 6 or 8 photos of him and others some time ago.

[This letter dated Dec. 5, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Monnie to Jerry. She discusses Christmas gifts and talks about niece and nephew, Hazel and Willard, and their accomplishments. Ralph will return from Montreal, Canada for the baby's birth. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

I'll send you some silver spoons etc. after Christmas. Remember you lent them to me when I went to Labrador?

Century Farm
Dec. 5, 1942.

Dear Jerry,

Your letter of the 29th came this week. You really have done nobly on correspondence lately. Keep it up. And it's good to hear news of the Morgan family. I've not even been sure of all their names before.

About the lamp: I'm going to look around here an N. Haven first. We are going to N. Haven Monday Christmas shopping, so I'll look then. Meanwhile, just hang on to your dollars until I find out whether it is as much as $3. Thanks you for the $1.

Everyone is going slow on gifts this year I guess. I know we are going to have to budget. You have already given us our Christmas gifts for this year and next. That gift of books was very generous and we shall enjoy them for years to come. Thank you again ever and ever so much for them. You have already given me a baby shower gift, too. That pink wooly bed jacket, which I am planning to wear in the hospital. Winnie gave me a blue silk one, so I'm all fitted out.

I can't give you any suggestions for the aunts. You always have such good ideas anyway. No idea for Dot, either. Which Edith did you mean- Edith Valentine? I wasn't planning to go outside the family. We have all Ralph's family to buy for, too,- and more than $100 to pay for a brand-new baby about a month after Christmas.

For Thanksgiving we had 20 - 5 of us, 4 of Gould's family, Uncle Ben's, Well's and Edith's families, Stephen, Aunt Annie and Cousin Edith. Gould had to leave that night for Long Island, but the children and Ginny stayed till Sunday. Ralph sent me a dozen roses that morning. I've never received so many flowers in my life as within the last month. It's very thrilling to get them from one's husband.

Written on back: "Thanksgiving 1943" although it is probably 1942 judging from the age of Oliver Wells Beard's daughter, Marion, and, in 1943, Stephen was in California.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Previous photo magnified

Standing left to right: Willard Beard, Seymour Valentine, Ellen Kinney Beard, Oliver Wells Beard holding baby Marion, Beatrice Beard, probably Stephen Beard, Marion Beard, Virginia Space Beard, Phebe M. Beard, Gould Beard, Abbie Hubbell Beard, Mary Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard, Dan Beard.

Sitting left to right: Hazel Beard, probably Winifred Valentine, probably Beverly Beard, Edith Beard Valentine holding Jay Beard – Willard Frederick Beard and Danny Beard, Jr. are probably the boys.

The elderly lady seated in the middle may be Anna Beardsley Beard, 2nd wife of Oliver Gould Beard, Jr.

Hazel took quite a walk all by herself one morning when Ginny took Willard to the dentist's. She went down thru the back pastures to Coram Lane, and down that almost to the river road! I never would have taken such a walk alone when I was her age. Neither child made any comment on my size even tho I'm quite big now. Neither seemed to even notice anything. Ginny said she had told them about it, so they evidently take it quite as a matter of course, which is very wise, I think. While we were down at Gould's, Willard read us a story he had written and was to hand in at school Monday. It was some story- about 8 or ten pages long, and written with all the sound effects and more exclamation than you could shake a stick at. The spelling nearly convulsed Ralph who looked over Willard's shoulder as he read. It was all about the adventures of a little crocodile who finally ended up at their school. Evidently both children loved camp last summer and Willard is very proud of the fact that he was awarded a prize as best all-around boy or something like that. They both did well, especially in handcrafts and nature, and from their accounts and enthusiasm over the trophies and samples of work they brought home, they got a great deal out of it.

Hazel says her favorite reading is a sort of Child's Book of Knowledge she has, and Ginny says both of them love the National Geographic and Life Magazine. They certainly are alert and wide-awake children with much wider interests than we ever had at their ages. You wouldn't guess from the way Hazel handles herself that there was anything wrong with her leg. She still wears a half-inch lift on that heel.

Winifred isn't having anything more done for a year. But then he will have to have his mouth sewed up until it can grow together (isn't that horrible?!) and then it will be cut apart again, evidently to try to make his upper lip, which is all drawn tight, the same width as his lower lip. He still talks as if without a palate and I can hardly understand him. Jay is a little darling and just as cute as Cynthia. I guess everyone got fed up with Edith's and Seymour's staying so long. Father used to take Winifred's discipline into his own hands sometimes. And E. and S. used to go out more than the older people here thought they should. Uncle Elbert first told me a few of the complaints against E. and S., but very little has been said since I got here. Mother always shuts Father up when he begins.

Ralph is coming down both for Christmas and when the baby is born. I'm so glad he was kept in Montreal first instead of being sent right to Winnipeg. I'll give him your address so he can write you. Lots of love from us all,

Monnie

That note of Trudie's was most interesting. Thanks.

November 1942

Gould's children: Hazel Ellen (11 years old) and Willard F. Beard (almost 9)

[Photo from the family of Myron Gould Beard]

[This letter dated Dec. 10, 1942 was written from Florida by Kathleen to Jerry. Kathleen is doing some Christmas work for the Express Company. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dec. 10, 1942

Dear Jerry:

We enjoyed your letters about picking fruit and taking trips so much. Now we joke about passing "Jerry's prunes" and getting some of your walnuts. The groves will be short on pickers here too but women could hardly climb ladders with heavy canvas bags on their backs and wield clippers too, so I have turned to lighter work for the Christmas rush.

The Exp. Agent is very short of help and my! what a business they are doing with the army posts and the added Christmas rush. Hugh offered my services so I'm a working girl, and when Hugh is away the landlady's daughter cares for the children. It has worked out fairly well for a week but the housework is piling up on me and everything is dirty. Hugh has to do his own cooking and he does wonderfully keeping things straight despite his own heavy work. He is gone from 5 P.M. until 10 or 11 A.M. every other night. The agent's daughter and I are sent by the company to a packing house across the river in a taxi every day and we bill out about 1000 pieces a day. Maybe I can hold out until Christmas but I don't envy the working "gal" at all.

The enclosed money order is not all a gift so don't think I am blowing you to anything. I owe you $5.00 (is that satisfying to you?) for that boy's bicycle that was at Dot's. That's what she said she paid you for the girl's. Sorry it's so late but we are just beginning to feel flush for the first time since we lived in Savannah. Moving always sets us back. The remainder is for your gift if you can find anything these days for so little. We are letting most of our folks get their own presents this year both to save mailing and because I can't do any shopping while working. But we are thinking of all of you wherever you are and our love is not rationed or diminished by war or distance. Thank you for the socks (to be) and stamps. I'll get them when I can. The sweater is most useful and I get lots of compliments on it when I take it. Most of the time it is still too warm to wear it.

Hugh was interested to know that Miss Burrows was in your library. Father E. stopped to see her a few years ago when he took his bus trip around the country. Please give her our regards.

I will write again and more when this hectic rush is over. I fear my cards will not get off this year.

Merry Christmas and heartfuls of love from us all- Kathie

[This typewritten letter dated December 25, 1942 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He tells of what has been going on at the farm. Ralph came down from Canada for Christmas. He tells about Christmas and gives an update on some of the relatives. He feels there is hope in the news of an end to the war. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

This is a hodge podge letter but it has some news and bears love and best wishes for a whole year of usefulness.

Father

Shelton, Conn.

December 25th. 1942.

Dear Geraldine:-

Your good letters to Mother and myself with the cards came a few days ago. I know I have not been a good father during the past two or more months. I leaned somewhat on the letters that I knew Mother and Dot and Monnie were writing. I was busy with many things, - some meeting Dot and Ralph and Monnie and taking them to trains and elsewhere. Uncle Ben has two heifers here and they require some attention. He bought them last May because he had an idea that beef might be hard to get this winter. One is nearly ready to convert into beef now. The other is due to freshen next February, and he plans to see what kind of a cow she will make. Then the problem of getting wood for the kitchen stove is some problem. It is not possible to hire a full grown man. Aunt Mary has thus far been able to find a high school boy who will come in the afternoon and help some. But it is necessary for me to be with him to haul up wood and to saw it up in the woods. Well beside this I have preached or spoken on China once or four times a week until recently. You know how that eats up time. This is enough to prove that I have been on some job if not the job.

Ralph came to New Haven last Wednesday morning. Mother, Monnie and I got up at 5:15 and drove in for him. His train was due at 6:28. It arrived at 8:10 a.m. I had phoned the Y.W. to see if they served breakfast. Yes until 8:30. We got there just five minutes early and had a good feed. Ralph did not sleep at all the night on the train. Everything was full, - only a seat with a woman and two small children. I guess he helped her more than he rested. Sunday was a very cold day, below zero most all day. Uncle Stanley and Aunt Myra came here Friday afternoon to attend Stephen's graduation Sat. a.m. It was pretty cold then. And Sunday morning not one of our three cars would budge. Marion was to be baptized at our church that day, so we all wanted to go. Monnie was to play her saw also; I called Steller the service man in Shelton. He came right down but could not stir any one of the cars.

Sunday Dec. 27th.

Monnie got into his car and went to church. Stephen did the same but he went to meet Wells after the service and go to New Haven to get Stephen's couch for his new home. Seymour and Edith came down Sat. evening to see Stephen about a stuffed chair he had and which he had brought home from his room that day. Seymour and Edith have moved into the second storey of the house next to Uncle Ben's, he also owns this house, - a double house. Wells and Marion are to move into the ground floor as soon as it finished. The whole family will then be living next door to each other. Ben and Abbie and their three children with their families within a stone's throw of each other. It was a hard job to get the furnace into this house but it was a bigger job for uncle Ben to get the furnace and the new floors and the water system and other things into the double house for Edith and for Wells. Our furnace did fairly well last week then it was so cold. Last Monday when it was coldest the carpenters came down and patched the floors where the registers were, for the old furnace. This should make quite a difference with the warmth of the house. A week ago Friday Aunt Mary and I went over to the woods and got all the laurel we could back home. The snow was nearly a foot deep and it was cold. The wind was blowing hard from the north. We counted on having an easy time coming home in the path we had made on the way over. But the wind had covered our tracks. Last Thursday we went again to the pastures to get a Christmas tree. The snow was pretty deep then, but we found a very pretty one and it is in the corner of the living room, with tinsel and the string of electric bulbs. The packages of presents were piled at the foot of the tree. I could not tell of all the presents. We undressed the tree and picked its roots just after breakfast Friday morning. Your big carton was unpacked then. The cups and saucers brought a big laugh from all. Mother has used them on every possible occasion since. We ate our crackers and milk from them this evening. This was written with Dot in mind. She saw Mothers big cup and saucer and found two even larger and sent to mother and me. Whether she intended it as a joke or not, it was a huge joke.

Today has been warmer. To conserve oil we met in the Sunday School room this morning for worship. It was cosy, the room was nearly full. After service we six all went to Ruth and Theodore's for a turkey dinner. We were surprised to find Joanna and her daughter there. Joanna is the adopted daughter of Ed Beard. Ed was the brother of Theodore's father. They live in New Jersey. Ed and his wife May nearly adopted Joanna when her mother died. She was 2 years + old. I think Ed died before the papers were completed. But she continued to live with May, and in time married, secretly I think. Her husband left her when Rita her daughter was young. I do not know what became of him. She teaches school. She teaches and her daughter works on a paper, - an advertising paper. She arranges all the advertisements for the paper. She is a very interesting girl of twenty. I have seldom talked with a girl that knew more about China than she did. She asked very intelligent questions. We sat next each other at dinner and had very interesting converse.

Ralph plans to go to Long Island tomorrow to see his father, and will return Wednesday. He was leaving for Montreal next Sunday morning but he says on looking up trains, there is no Sunday train. So he must go Saturday. We plan to take him to New Haven. Thus far the rationing of gas has not seriously inconvenienced us. The Aunts have a B card and have thus far gone when they wanted to. I have only an A card which gives me 16 units, 3 gallons for unit. Until Nov. 22 each unit was good for 4 gallons. The papers say they may be for 2 months worth only two gallons soon.

Marjorie is well and happy. She gets about with agility and out for a good long walk when the weather permits. She and I have been several times over to the east woods and once we went clear down to the old Coram road east of the farm and came back up the road all the way. I doubt if you ever went that way. I had not been over this way for 50 years. We explored Rocky Rest, which I had not seen for years. Tonite she and Ralph have gone to Edith and Seymour's for the evening. Seymour came down for them and will bring them back. He left the Southern New England Ice Co. last June and was working for the Crucible Co. but went back to the Southern New England the first of December. He seems much happier there.

I did not tell you all about our troubles last Sunday. As I came into the kitchen that morning Margaret blew in with, "Come out Mr. Beard. The cows are mixed up, stanchions [stanchions] all broke. Annie will not let me milk. Come out." So I donned my working toggs and went out and found a mess. Annie and the large heifer were loose and their stanchions broken. Annie was excited, I at last got a rope on her and quieted her and Margaret milked her. It took me all the morning to get the stanchions righted, with some help from Uncle Stanley. Dan brought Monnie home from Church. And he brought Stephen home after lunch when he came down to plow the snow out of the lane.

Dot and Monnie made the home here a very pleasant place while they were here, and Monnie and Ralph have helped to keep it so. Ralph came again as I wrote above and this morning Monnie and I took him to the 11:14 a.m. train to go down to see his father. He plans to return Wednesday p.m. and his boss says he may come again when the baby comes. I judge he has made good and then some at Davis Inlet, and he is reaping some reward. Monnie is very well and very cheerful. She looks forward to becoming a mother with much pleasure.

Your $25.00 check came all right. There should be some rule by which a debt of this kind could be paid off before the income tax was levied. But, - we are so slightly inconvenienced, compared with the life and death struggle that so many of the people of the world have to endure that it is not right to complain.

The news of the past two weeks has been such as to give hopes of an end to the struggle some time. I am afraid the militarists of Japan must be exterminated. It looks as if they were of the same mind and had decided to die rather than become prisoners of war. The Christian constituency is the one hope of Japan, as it is of Germany.

Monday morning Dec. 21 Uncle Stanley left his home for the New York bus. He stopped and fell on the steps on the side walk. Aunt Myra saw him and rushed to help. She also fell and both lay there. After a brief time they got up. Uncle Stanley went into N.Y. Aunt Myra said he broke a rib it was later found. Aunt Myra was only bruised. Uncle Stanley cannot endure adhesive plaster so he was only strapped. But he has kept going. Went to Bessie Havalind's for Christmas dinner.

With much love

Father

[This typewritten letter dated December 31, 1942 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He reminisces over the past year. Ralph is due to go back to Canada for work but will return when Monnie's baby is due to arrive. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

December 31st. 1942.

Dear Geraldine:-

That date looks as if I should not write many more with those figures. The old year is just passing over the top to go out of sight, but not out of memory. There is the full year of war effort. There is your settling in a new work and I judge with quite some degree of satisfaction. Mother and I both started the year rather "seedy" as the British would say. We both have decidedly pulled up. Personally I shall remember it as the year in which I purchased another car and drove it from Putnam to Pearl River and to Great Neck with pleasure. Thus far I have gone when and where necessity, and pleasure sometimes, called. And I have been able to work about on the farm with increasing ease and pleasure. I judge you have been pretty well during the year. I have had all the invitations to speak that I wanted. I must expect these to stop soon, due to my age and to the longer time since I came from China. Monnie's coming home will always be a bright spot in 1942, especially as she is looking forward to becoming a mother. Gould purchased a house 6 Martin Pl., Manhasset.

Until today I have not opened an account with you in my account book. I have just gone thru my check book and I am sending you what I copied. Will you check with your account and see if they agree. I'll put this on a separate sheet.

Monnie has gone with Aunt Mary and Mother to call on the doctor now. I'll try and send you any news she may bring. Ralph came back yesterday from a visit of a day with his Father and the family. He went Monday morning. He plans to leave for Montreal day after tomorrow, Sat. His boss promises him he may come down again when the baby comes. Marjorie is planning to leave here for wherever Ralph is stationed sometime in March.

Nancy and Fred and Stanley Owen are at Uncle Stanley's. He phoned last nite and asked mother and me to come down Saturday and spend Sunday. It is not yet decided whether we go. Neither of us have seen Fred or the baby.

Last Sunday we held service in the Sunday School room to conserve oil. This is getting more scarce all the time. Mother and I and Monnie took dinner with Mrs. Space [Gould's mother-in-law] a few weeks ago. She said she kept the thermostat at 65 during the day and put it up to 68 in the evening. We do not yet run the new furnace as close as that.

It has rained steadily since Monday morning. And some of the time hard. The snow is nearly gone, - only where it banked is there any left. I took the chains off my car the day after going after Ralph. The sun came out brightly this morning. And it is not cold.

There were 20 in. of water in the cistern under the kitchen last nite at 8:00. We put in the hose to siphon it out and at 10 it was down 2 in. It is running out fast now. I hope your Christmas brought satisfaction and that the new year will be full of it.

Lots of love
Father

1943

- Income tax withholding introduced
- John Charles Butt was born February 8, 1943 to Marjorie and Ralph
- Gould takes a leave of absence from American Airlines to go to Brazil as a member of the Defense Supply Corporation mission to Americanize the Brazilian airlines which previously had been part of the German aerial network of South America. [Information from the Smithsonian Institute]
- Willard and Ellen are at Century Farm
- Gould and Virginia are in Manhasset, New York
- Geraldine is in Berkeley, California
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie and Ralph are at Century Farm and then Nelson Forks, British Columbia, Canada
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Ft. Myers, Florida
- Willard is 78, Ellen- 75, Gould- 47, Geraldine- 45, Dorothy- 42, Marjorie- 37 and Kathleen- 35.

[This letter dated Jan. 9, 1943 was written from Fort Meyers, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. Kathleen thanks Geraldine for the books sent for the children. Uncle Elbert ran for State Representative but lost. She expects to receive a baby announcement from Monnie soon. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Fort Myers

Jan. 9, 1942 [should be 1943]

Dear Jerry:

Thanks for sending on those letters for Dot's answered many questions in my mind too. But I was disappointed in the length of your letter. I know you have been busy writing those dozens of letters to friends and will get around to me in time- but don't let the time be too long will you? And please when you write let me in on all this hush hush about Polly and Billy [Leolyn's children] which you promised to tell me long since. Everyone seems to know but me.

The books you sent the children are choice. They got lots of books this year (and plenty of other things too) but yours seem to be something special in the reading line. Hugh and I thought "Millions of cats" very beguiling and the children enjoyed it too. I can't say tho, that Cynthia is really keen about stories the way Jill is. She likes her books and looks at the pictures a great deal but seldom asks us to read to her and becomes distracted while I read to Jill- so I'm afraid she wouldn't be a good subject to judge child interest in a story by. Jill loves her little Suzanne book and hates to have me stop reading. Several of her books she reads alone now and she may grow into a regular book worm. I'm glad she loves reading so for I certainly missed out terribly by being a lazy reader. Trying to make up for it now by reading at least a book a month.

It's funny how the folks out East completely forget to mention things that we would like to know- like Uncle Elbert running for state Rep. - and losing. And not one of the family has ever mentioned much about Wells' wife beyond her presence. Dot's comment is the first I've heard. I had been wondering how Dot and Monnie felt when they got together again but evidently the strained feeling is still there. Hugh and I were saying tonight how terribly sad it is that such a situation ever came about for I'm afraid it is going to color every family gathering from now on, where they are both present, and hang over us like an unseen presence. Monnie said so little about Dot in her letter about Ralph's visit and Dot says nothing about either Monnie or Ralph to amount to much. I can't write about it to anyone but you for I guess it has become sort of our family skeleton. Mother has no inkling of it for she remarked to me last spring that she strongly felt that Dot should have gone to Monnie's wedding instead of Aunt Phebe. I nearly exploded but rejoined that Dot was far too busy being worthy matron to get away. I think Gould read the tension when he visited us all in Saginaw. Did he say anything to you about it subsequently? I can't help but wonder how Monnie feels about it now. She never would discuss the subject with me in Saginaw and apparently she ignores it all now. Poor Dot, it isn't fair that she should have that to plague her for all her life on top of not having any children. (There are plenty she could adopt here- illegitimate children of soldiers by local misfortunates.)

Well, I'm a lady of leisure again, or so it seems to me. I was so relieved to get back to being my own boss and doing my own work. There are several jobs I could have if I wanted to work, but we think it is better for me to concentrate on the home while we still have it. If Hugh is called there will be time for me to work outside. We do enjoy being together and the children are getting old enough to be fine as well as companionable. Jill has quite surprised us by her development and sweetening of disposition. Cynthia, reversely, is going thru a touchy period when she feels left out- of school, of Jill's play and of adult knowledge in general- but I think next fall will cure that- school!

We shall be getting Monnie's announcement in a few weeks now. I'm still waiting to learn what she lacks for the baby - if anything. I hope you really are taking an easier pace and feeling fit. Those pictures of you looked good. I do believe you look the youngest of us all now in face and figure.- Love from us all- Kathie

Did you hear from Gertrude this season? Eloise wrote that her Mother and Gertrude had been sick and she (Eloise) had to put her son in boarding school and turn nurse for most of the year. I should think the war would ruin their business.

[This letter dated Jan. 10, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Monnie to Jerry. Ralph has gone back to Canada. Monnie tells about the Christmas holidays and their visits with other people. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

I'm enclosing all the snaps taken during Ralph's stay- and Thanksgiving. Not many.

Century Farm
Jan. 10, 1943.

Dear Jerry,

Ralph has been gone a day over a week and I'm just finishing my Christmas correspondence. Your gift to Ralph came last Tuesday and to declare it in order to send it on to him, I had to open it. But I did it up again just as you had it. You've done well to keep that change purse so long! I know Ralph will like it. I hope he'll write you himself. He has your address. I know he'll feel "Thank you" anyway.

The card you sent me was so cute, and the wish on it certainly came true- we did have a very merry Christmas and more gifts than ever before. Everyone seemed to try to make up for the two Christmases we were in Labrador! Ralph got here the Wed. morning before Christmas. His train was supposed to get into New Haven at 6:30 a.m., but all trains are late so Father, Mother and I started from here at 6:30. It was a bit icy, having just started to freeze after a thaw, but the sand trucks had been around, so we didn't skid once, tho Father went 15 m.p.h. all the way. We got there about 7:15 and Ralph's train didn't get in until after 8. We had breakfast at the Y.W. cafeteria, then came home. Ralph hadn't been able to get a berth because of the congestion, and had set up all night in the same seat with a woman with two babies. So he got no sleep at all, and I guess the poor mother didn't either. He was dead tired, having had only a few hours sleep the night before because of working early and late at the Company's trying to finish up. So he went straight to bed when he got here, slept right thru dinner and got up only in time for supper- and slept well that night to boot! We trimmed the tree that evening - a cedar that Father and Aunt Mary got in the back pastures that afternoon- one of the most symmetrical ones they've ever had.

We had our celebration all by ourselves, for Uncle Ben's family all had their own plans. We six did well by a 12 -pound turkey. Saturday afternoon, all but Aunt Phebe, who had a bad cold and didn't want to go out, went to see Bette Davis in "Now, Voyager". I liked it, but I don't think Father and Mother thought much of it. They didn't think of it as the problem play it was but were impressed mostly by the fact that the hero was married and there was too much kissing. I was surprised that they consented to go, but it was sort of a party, and they were good sports and didn't spoil the gay spirit of it at all. It was the only picture I cared anything about seeing, of all the ones which were going to be here while Ralph was here. And I did want to get out at least once while he was here, and it's so hard to with gas rationing and being so far from town, and with everyone here old enough to have lost interest in going out much. I'm afraid Ralph sometimes finds it dull.

Sunday was a full day. Ruth and Theodore invited all six of us to dinner. She had wanted to take us out to a seafood place for a lobster dinner, but no one felt equal to spending all that gas to get out to the eating place. So she compromised on raw oysters- which Ralph loves- and a 24- pound turkey at home. Joanna and her 19-year-old daughter were also there, having come up for Christmas at the Mill. They looked like sisters rather than mother and daughter, because Joanna is still a vivacious little fairy of a person. Her daughter, Rita Mae, sat beside Father at the table and he was impressed by her intelligent and well-informed questions about China. The two kept up an earnest conversation all during the meal. The aunts say she has a very good position as arranger of ads in some business magazine.

Sunday night Edith and Seymour had Ralph and me up with the two other young couples, one of whom was our minister and his pretty wife, both Oberlinites, of the classes of '34 and '36 I think. The men had a grand time with the $150.00 electric train outfit Seymour has gradually been accumulating for Win (and himself! He said he always wanted an electric train as a youngster and never had one.) I was fascinated by it too. When the system of tracks is large enough and there are two or three trains all running independently, running them is very complicated. We had a grand time all evening.

Ralph was at his father's on Long Island from Monday to Wed. The Butts have just moved again, to Lawrence, into the nicest house they've ever had. Ralph was quite impressed by it. He said he'd like it himself.

Wed. afternoon he got back here with a bad cold which made his nose bleed- a kind of cold he'd never had before. So since some of the rest of us had colds too in different stages of "wellness", we spent New Years rather quietly. My cold just took my voice almost away for several days and that was all. The aunts, Ralph and I played bridge, and the Butts beat thanks to Ralph. He's really good, and likes to play.

He left Saturday morning on the day train, for he thought since he'd probably have to sit up anyway he'd rather do it by day. His trip was 23 hours long, for they had a ten hour wait at White River Junction Vt. while a wreck was cleared off the tracks. So he had a night on the train after all!

Father and Mother also left on the same train from Derby as Ralph took. They had been invited to Pearl River for the weekend, we thought to baptize Stanley Owen. Nancy, Fred and little Stanley spent Christmas and New Years at Pearl River. But Father and Mother came home with the baby unbaptized, so we had all somehow got the wrong impression or else they changed their minds at the last minute.

Life goes on rather quietly here, with much resting on the part of Father, Aunt Phebe and me. I'm so big now that I don't crave to go out any more than is necessary. I got tired sitting, in church this morning, for the first time. I hope it won't be much longer. Ralph said tonight when he called from Montreal that the tension of waiting to be summoned was getting him down!

We've enjoyed your letters so much. I've never known the Morgan family so well before. I'm glad you're going out with nice people like that church group and making friends outside the library circle. I hope 1943 is your best year yet!

Ralph would join me in sending loads of love, were he here. Monnie

[This letter dated Jan. 14, 1943 was written from Fort Meyers, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. Kathleen is still recovering from Bell's palsy. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Fort Myers

Jan. 14, '43

Dear Jerry:

You will be surprised at another full length letter from me right on the heels of my first, but I'm afraid I'll forget some of the items I want to tell you so now is the time to do it- or "take time by the forelock" as Mother was always telling us to do and didn't manage to do herself.

First about the check- thankyou for your most generous impulse- and the gift of the bicycle- but you see we really want to pay you for it, especially since we can't give the bike back to you- so I tore your check up and you may adjust your balance accordingly. (It was no. 132) I didn't want to tell you about the loss of the bike until it was paid for -it was stolen from our garage in Tampa. But we got much use and joy out of it before it slipped away and we keep kicking ourselves for not watching it better, for we could surely use it here. I'm afraid you paid more than five for it and certainly could get three times that on the market now so we should really pay you more. It only cost us five to get it here and get a new tire for it. Don't feel that it is any hardship for us to send it either for we made out very well during Dec. and still have enough to meet our income tax. I made $97.50 in those two weeks of work and Hugh made three times as much for the month so we well might clear up some of our outstanding debts. I am all rested up from the work now and feel fine. In fact we have all been unusually well since coming here and I only hope the children don't come home with mumps or any other diseases that are going around. How is your poison oak? I well remember my siege of Ivy at the farm in 1931. There's nothing like it. I hope yours has run its course by now and it is clearing up.

My Bell's palsy seems to have left the facial nerves on my right side a bit unsteady. The actual paralysis cleared up within two months, the eyelid being the last part of my face to get back its normal muscular impulse, but I can see a definite sag to that side of my face (altho a stranger might not notice it) and if I get over tired or excited there is twitching in the eyelid and mouth corner. But it does not bother me and I don't think of it most of the time. However I have learned my lesson and limitations. I shall never try to serve dinner to twelve people again single handed as I did in Tampa a year ago- or let myself in for any comparable strain. It can recur and I think I know the conditions to avoid. My work at Christmas was not that type of strain- more plain fatigue.

I didn't see Gould's Christmas card. Was it a picture of the new house? Haven't even heard from them in many months. Your Christmas and New Y. sounded very jolly. I'm glad you had some kin (almost) to celebrate with. This is the first Christmas that we have been entirely by ourselves and it seemed peculiar.

Last night I went with one of my neighbors to hear a Mrs. Beahr from China speak. She is about my age, with two small children and was, with her husband, a missionary in western China. They were not members of any board but arranged for their own maintenance and were the only foreigners in their city. She was a fascinating speaker and I certainly hand it to her for courage and spirit. They had to leave when the Japs bombed the whole area.

I'm returning Mother's letters that you said you wanted back. I'm still in a quandary after reading it, as to what to get Monnie's baby. She must have stacks of things for it.

Have you read Marjorie Rawling's "Cross Creek"? It is such a good portrayal of rural Florida and a lovely book to saunter through.

Love
Kathie

[This letter dated Jan. 14, 1943 was written from Lincoln, Nebraska by Stewart Hume to his cousin Jerry. He thanks her for her Christmas gift of candlesticks. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Pvt. HS Hume

781. Tech School
Barracks 218
Lincoln Air Base
Lincoln, Neb.

Jan 14 - 43

Dear Jerry:

Elizabeth and I thank you so much for the unique California candle sticks you sent us. While we were in house keeping- we burned many candles above our fire place mantle and on the table during the dinner hour so your gift is the type that we will always use. They are exceptionally beautiful and unfamiliar to the east. They were used to brighten up this Christmas season in Elizabeth's room.

I did a very foolish thing in accidentally loosing your address so I wrote to Dorothy first, which answered today. I knew it was Berkeley Calif- but did not have knowledge of the street. Consequently the delay in acknowledging the receipt for same. Please pardon me for this will you not?

I'll not pardon you unless you write us of the past ?? about yourself. I have told Elizabeth that you exist-, but she would not believe it until your communication came.

Elizabeth is the type of girl you will like and I hope you people meet not afar off. I am scheduled for a change the latter part of this month to be moved to an aircraft plant for further study. It could be California- in which case we could visit you. However I have requested to be sent east, but the Army does not follow personal requests in every instance.

We are well and happy as could be- and lets hear from your long over due letter. Love
Stewart

[This typewritten letter dated January 16, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Aunt Mary to Jerry. To conserve gas, they save up all their errands and do them in one trip. There are some shortages in town but nothing serious. She and Will are doing less speaking engagements as few people ask when fuel is rationed. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Mary L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton, Conn.

January 16, 1943

Dear Jerry,

When Little Miss Sun arrived we took turns sitting down to read it. It is delightfully written and illustrated. I love the Chinese style in which it is gotten up. And the note on the front prevents readers from spoiling it to make it like our books. Many thanks. It was well worth waiting for.

Your letters with news of Leolyn and her family tell us much more than Leolyn's with the guarded attempt to conceal the whole truth. I sometimes wonder what the effect would be for one of us to write openly and let it be known that there is no secret. It might make it hard for you who are there and might not release her from the tensions of trying to live in a blind alley. There for I shall not do it.

It was good to know that you had such a pleasant Christmas. We had no Santa to kiss us with the gifts. But there was a pile of packages under our tree that left no unoccupied space. The seventh member, not yet in evidence, was well remembered also. Monnie has had several packages from New Foundland since Ralph went back and has sent on his gifts. She keeps remarkably well and went to Bridgeport with us to shop last Wednesday. We all save up errands until the accumulation warrants a trip. The last was before Nov 17th. I did not realize it until we went into the new store. Franklin and Simons opened up in Bridgeport since we were there last. I mentioned that fact to the clerk and she remarked, "That was November 17th." It is mostly for dresses, but they were having a sale of toilet articles and we bought some for the house.

A letter from Myra says that Stephen spent the week end at Kits'. His letter was mailed before he had a room. It was air mail but took all week to get east. Ruth and H.M. [Ruth Beard Taylor and Henry M. Taylor] were in South Miami last we heard. We sent a package to them at Columbus before Christmas. It missed them. Yesterday I had word about it and hope it catches up with them before the next move. They seem very happy although life is so uncertain beyond a very limited time. Fortunately the couple who stood up with them are still with them so Ruth has someone to be with during the long days when H.M. has to be on his job.

Ruth Beard (daughter of Stanley and Myra Beard) and husband H.M. Taylor (as identified by Stanley Forbes, nephew of Ruth Beard)

[Photo from negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

We all had letters from Dot this week. She had a very busy time over the holiday season. I am glad for her sake that she would not stay on at the store. She evidently got tired enough.

Ben bought two head of cattle last summer. One was a promising heifer and the other not so promising. He kept them on some property they own on White Hills until feed got short and it took too much time to hunt them up and restore them to the pasture. Then he brought them down here. They have been here all these months for Will to care for. But it was only to feed and water, so not too much. On Wednesday Mike Behuniak, who lives across the street bought the good one. On Thursday Block took the other up to butcher it. We have a forward quarter. And some of the liver. We had liver today and start on some steak tomorrow. We will not have to buy our 1 ½ pounds of meat for some weeks.

So far in Shelton we have not had any serious shortage. One has learned to take what is available and hope for better luck next time. Phebe has made two pounds of butter but will hardly have cream for more until Annie freshens in February.

Weather seems to be unusual everywhere. We have had extreme cold and today the thermometer went nearly up to 50. We had two weeks without a clear day and next two almost all clear and cold. The extreme (15 below) cold before Christmas caught me with celery and turnips still in the garden. I went out New Years day and pulled or broke off turnips for dinner. They had been frozen but were good.

The gas situation is giving Will and me more time because no one has the face to ask a speaker to travel any distance. I gave four talks in October and November and have none even scheduled. Will preaches for Mr. Stone in Huntington tomorrow; his first talk in many weeks. Our ration board has given me another B book which I asked for for Council and Church work. I have never used all the coupons and they are most glad to get them back.

We are enjoying the furnace and the even heat all over the house. Now there is more complaint about too much heat at night. I bank it and open the top draft but it is some time before it cools off. I am burning more coal than with the pipeless and have not yet gotten in the extra. I ordered it in April (The bin was filled in early March to finish out the year) and promised it in the fall. When I called, I was told it would be brought down in November. Frequent reminders failed to bring it and it is not here yet.

Will takes my helper boy (Freshman High) and goes to the woods to cut up the hurricane wood for the kitchen stove. Last week I had a second boy come three days and asked him to do it again this coming week. So far Will has been able to get Mike's horses to bring the wood up and another neighbor has been able to come and saw it into stove length.

Edith and Seymour moved into their new apartment next to Ben and Abbie Dec. 24th. They had a Terrill[?] party Christmas Night and three couples in for supper the following Sunday. It is the house Ben and Abbie went to housekeeping in. They are upstairs and Wells and Marion expect to move in down stairs this coming week. Marion says it will be nice to begin using her things they have had stored so long. They got stove, refrigerator, etc. very soon after the wedding so are all set to start. Ben has had to do much of the work himself. The two apartments look fine, new paint and paper everywhere and new electric wiring and fixtures. In the spring, if help is available, the outside will be painted.

Our church has an oil burner so we have stopped all use except Sunday School, Church and the Fellowship group on Sunday. Thus we hope to conserve our supply so if there is any important occasion we can open up for it. It is really quite cozy in the S.S. room for church and it is always nice and warm.

Jinny writes that Gould is away again. This time for two months. She has had a telegram that he reached his destination. Frick is staying with her while Gould is away for company. She writes, she has two dogs, Rough and Ready. This family has a habit of each taking part of an apple just before going to bed. Phebe came in just now with the donation. That means it is near retiring time. If you were here you could have your share. But it is good you are in a warmer country. Good for all who could be there.

Many thanks again for the book. I read today of a boy in the bombed areas who wished his friends "a gallant New Year". May it have much of happiness for you too.

With much love

Aunt Mary.

[This letter dated Jan. 21, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. He discusses her financial account with him. According to the doctor, Monnie's baby will be born in February. Willard is keeping the car ready to take her to the hospital. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

Jan. 21st 1943

Dear Jerry:-

Your letter re the financial statement came a few days ago. When I turned to my account book, I found there was an old account. I had not looked at this. In fact I had not put any items in the book since coming home in Sept 1941. I am sending you a copy of what my book says from Sept 1937. I am not sending this to hold you to it at all. Some items are not clear in 1939 and 1940. You see I left it with Aunt Mary when I went to China in 1939. I found one mistake in addition, so I am not too certain about the whole. But my balance is greater than yours. Look this over. Do not let it bother you. When you have looked it over write me if you can shed any light on the account and I will reply. We may have to agree on some sum to start out anew. I wonder if you kept an account of what you received and of the refunds. I have just looked at your Bridgeport Savings Bank acct. and find a little over $90.00 in your account there. I had it written up last year.

We are all sorry about Kit. Your letter to Aunt Mary received this morning gives a cheering account of her condition. I hope she recovers completely and quickly. I am sorry that their plan for an addition to the family circle must be postponed and I hope it will still be possible.

Those who hoped for cold and snow this winter hoped in the right direction. On Dec. 20 it was about 10 degrees below zero with 10 in. of snow and a very keen wind. Last week Sat and last Sunday it did not freeze. Clouds and rain. Then on Tues it rained and froze. Streets were icy. Tues. nite it got cold again. Yesterday morning and this morning 10 degrees above and staid cold all day. The new furnace does well. But when the ther. is zero or below with a strong west wind, the house is not too warm. The furnace is not [to] blame. More storm windows on the west will help.

Last May Uncle Ben bought two young heifers. They have been around here most of the time. Last week Mike Behuniak across the way bought one to keep as a cow. Uncle Ben made beef of the other. The beef is super fine. He gave one quarter 80 lb to us. Aunt Phebe and I have cut it up. She has carved some- put some in the refrigerator and we have been eating it for nearly a week. I took about 20 lbs up to Elmdens and he put it in the brine for us.

Ruth writes that another bride and she must bid husbands good bye shortly. They are in Florida. Each has a car and another knows what to do with her car or with herself.

Did I write you that Mother and I went to Pearl River and met Nancy, Fred and Stanley Owen two weeks ago. The baby is a hum dinger and Fred is all right. Nancy did well to find him - I say this after seeing some of the nuts she was hanging on to a few years ago. Fred will bear well.

Monnie says- after seeing the doctor a week ago, "It will be another Beard- born in Feb." This because so many of our birthdays are in Feb.

My goal these days is to keep my car ready for Monnie when she wants it to go to Griffin Hospital and to direct and help the high school boys out and saw trees over in the east woods for the kitchen stove. We are still working on the trees blown down in the 1938 typhoon. The work is a bit strenuous for a 78 year old, but I am learning to loaf. The boys got here about 2:20 p.m. and leave a little after 5,- so it is not too strenuous.

Last Sunday I preached in Huntington for Mr. Stone. Mother and Monnie went with me.

I must close this - "business" with

With much love

Father

[This letter dated January 27, 1943 was written from Lincoln, Nebraska by Mrs. Elizabeth Hume (wife of Geraldine's cousin, Stewart Hume) to Geraldine. She sends a thank you for the candlesticks. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Army Air Forces Technical School
Lincoln, Nebraska

January 27, 1943

Dear Geraldine:

Stewart has told me so much about you, that I feel as though I knew you.

The beautiful candlesticks reached Stewart at camp. I was so interested in the type of wood from which they were fashioned. The high polish the wood takes adds so much to them. Thank you so very much. I hope that when this war is over, and we have out house once more, that you will come to see us and see your gift in use.

Stewart finishes his course here tomorrow. Just where he will be then is not certain. But I hope I can be with him for a while longer. We will let you know where we go. In the meantime if you have time to drop us a note, you had better use my parents address 1702 Ohio Ave. Youngstown, Ohio.

Thank you again so much. Sincerely

Elizabeth Hume

(Mrs. Stewart) [Mrs. Stewart Hume]

[This letter dated Jan. 29, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Monnie to Jerry. They have heard from Gould's wife Ginny, that he is gone on a secret mission somewhere for two months. Willard was concerned that the blizzard would keep them from getting to the hospital if Monnie were to go into labor. Predictions are that she will have a boy. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Yes, “sia-sia” was right. Father was quite tickled that you remembered.

Has Ginny written you that Gould is gone again for 2 months, several thousand miles this time on a very important and secret mission which is “quite a feather in his cap.” She has heard by cable of his safe arrival. He should be home in March. Ginny usually doesn’t worry, but this time she is quite anxious about him.

Century Farm
Jan. 29, 1943.

Dear Jerry,

I had sat myself down to write you and Dot last night, and got Dot’s letter written, in between radio programs, and it was bedtime by that time, for we got to bed early here, generally before 10:30. And today your grand letter came, so I’m glad I didn’t get yours written, for now I can answer it. We all enjoyed that letter ever so much. I’m glad you liked the pictures- they weren’t particularly good. Didn’t you get that Christmas photograph of Hazel and Willard? That certainly shows how they have changed.

Those silk stockings I would have been ashamed to send as Christmas gifts before the war, but when I was buying those, the irregulars were the only silk ones I could get. The saleslady looked thru several pairs before she selected these as the pair with the least wrong with them. The only fault I found with them was that they weren’t the same length. I hope there was nothing else. I don’t know what make they were, but I think I could find the little lingerie shop in New Haven where I bought them. However, we don’t go to New Haven very often now, since the ban on “pleasure driving”. But if you’d like some more pairs perhaps we can try again next time some one has to go. Aunt Mary sometimes has to go for state church board meetings.

Your accounts of Count Sforza’s [Italian Diplomat who refused to serve under Mussolini] lecture and of Dorris Tinney’s mixed lineage were both most interesting. Sometime you’ll have to give us some of the main points of the lecture, which changed your attitude toward the Italians.

How nice that Kits got on so well. We’ll remember your warning about telling the Morgans about Polly. I hope she doesn’t have to stay at the sanatorium too long. Evidently Bill’s all right?

We all laughed when we came to that line about it being exciting during the last days. For last night and all day yesterday we had a regular blizzard. Father got more and more concerned as the day wore on, with no let-up. Just before dark he went out and started to shovel out paths thru the drifts outside the garage and at the bend in the lane. But that did about as much good as dipping out the sea with a teaspoon, for it was still snowing and blowing a gale. The night passed peacefully with no excitement, tho it had been decided that if the call came, Dan was to be called with his snowplow to shovel a path to the road. This morning dawned bright and clear and it has been a beautiful day all day, and not too cold. There was an undercurrent of excitement last night, tho no one was really worried except perhaps Father, and he didn’t show it much. But he is careful to keep his car all pinned and ready at all times. This is being a real winter with more than usual of cold weather, slippery roads, and snow. They sort of blame me for bringing it from Labrador!

Century Farm – probably 1943
[Photo from a negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

My last visit to the doctor last Wednesday produced nothing definite in the way of a birth date. Dr. Edson said only that there were no indications that it would come very soon- might be about two weeks. He advised against calling Ralph down from Montreal within the next week. Meanwhile I'm on pins and needles for fear it will come before we call him. And if we did get him here, then I'd be on tenterhooks for fear it wouldn't come for weeks, and would keep him waiting too long! So there I am!!

Did I write you about the other H.B. Co. [Hudson's Bay Co.] couple who are duplicates of ourselves in many ways? Pete Nichols is a Newfoundlander, his wife Marion, is an American, from Rochester. They are also on furlough- he is also taking the fur course in Montreal- and lives in the same boarding house with Ralph- and his wife is also (or was) expecting a baby. Pete went to Rochester the week before Christmas, for the baby was expected then. But it was three weeks late and only arrived last week. Ralph telegraphed me the news and he and I were almost as thrilled as Pete and Marion must have been. They named the baby Peter Royall Nichols- isn't that pretty? I haven't met either of them and Ralph knows only Pete. But I have written Marion and it seems as if we knew them well. Pete and Ralph seem to be like David and Jonathan already. Pete's and Marion's wedding picture was in the Beaver two years ago- they were married on the "Nascopie" just a week before we were. I got interested in them then. And then last year some excerpts from Marion's letters home were printed in the Beaver and I read them with interest. They were in an isolated Eskimo post on Hudson's Baby, and Marion loves the life and wants to go back. Their meeting and marriage was more fascinating than fiction. On her graduation from Duke Univ. her father gave her the trip north on the Nascopie. Coming south, Pete was on the boat, coming out on furlough. They separated at Halifax just good friends. She and her best friend went to Montréal during the following winter, and Pete was there. He and a friend of his made a foursome with the girls while they were there. The two friends became enamored of one another but Pete and Marion still didn't get serious. Pete and his friend went north again the next summer, and sometime the following winter, the friend wrote Pete that he was to be married the next summer and if Pete was thinking of the same thing why not get together and make it a double wedding. Pete immediately began "thinking" with the result that he sent a long telegram at a fabulous price, proposing! So the two girls went north again on the Nascopie and the double wedding took place- on ship-board, I think! Isn't that a lovely true story? And Ralph says they are as happy as they can be. Pete seems to be awfully nice and Ralph says he's a model husband. He's the son of a St. Johns clergyman. Pete wrote the sweetest letter to Ralph after the baby was born, and Ralph sent it on to me. It said it was one of the most wonderful moments in the world when you looked down at a tiny being and realized it was your very own. He said Ralph would soon know the feeling. Marion's last weeks, he said, were very trying (don't I know it!) and that a husband on hand was very comforting.

Thanks for the good wishes. Everything points to a normal and comparatively easy birth. Any fears that I might have had at the beginning (and I'll admit I did have a few when I realized that I was embarked on an undertaking, sometimes fatal, but from which there was no turning back) have been dissolved in the intense longing now to be relieved of this burden, sometimes very uncomfortable always in the way, and it makes me slow, clumsy, ugly, and quickly tired. I yearn to be thin again, to be able to sleep on my back and stomach, to be able to run!! And to see my feet once in awhile!! I'm now 43 inches around, and it all sticks straight out in front! Beautiful!! Mother says that's a good sign of a boy! Since Ralph wants a boy, I hope Mother's prediction is right. I do wish, too, that you could be here. But we'll take lots of snaps and when the baby gets old enough we'll have a "family photograph" taken!

I must close and get to bed. I'll try to write you from the hospital. Lots of love from us all, Monnie

The Sentinel, February 4, 1943.
Letters From the People

Century Farm,
Shelton, Conn.

Editor of the Evening Sentinel:
Dear Mr. Editor-

The question, what are we fighting for? Becomes more insistent as time moves on. I note that the answer- or attempts at the answer- changes as we get farther away from Pearl Harbor. The Japanese certainly knew how to unite nations against them. This they did in China and again at Pearl Harbor. When we declared war against Japan we did so in defense of our national existence. And we did it unitedly. We were of one mind. We were fighting to save our country, and our freedom.

There was no time to think far into the future. The immediate problem was self preservation. Then came the swift advance of the Japanese over the southern Pacific, Hongkong and Singapore, the Malaya peninsula. The war became global before we fully realized it. Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill met somewhere and agreed on the "four freedoms," freedom from fear, from want, for the press and for religion. This was taken as an ideal for which we were fighting. But it is not yet certain how far these extend. Did Mr. Churchill afterward say that these freedoms did not apply to India and Hongkong? Others declare we must kill "every last Jap." They grow eloquent over what should be done to Hitler and the Germans. But we are not fighting to destroy any nation. In Germany there are Germans who are the salt of the earth. In Japan there are Japanese who will become the foundation of the new Japan. Our contacts with Japanese for one hundred years, through our diplomats, business men, missionaries and Japanese students who have come to this country for education and have returned- these have gradually raised up Japanese men and women who are true. They are as much against the ideals and tactics of the Japanese militarists as are we. At present these Japanese cannot express themselves, any more than can the true Germans express themselves. But many of these are all for the freedom of which we talk.

At times it sounds almost as if these freedoms were the result of the two men who met somewhere on the ocean last Year. But Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek five years ago said that China was not fighting to keep Japan out of China merely for the sake of China. He was leading China to resist Japan because Japan's attack on China was a threat to the whole world. Although the world did not then realize it, it would become known in time. I am not sure that the nations of Europe realize this even yet, but we in the United States realize it. We are thinking in terms of a world today, at least beginning to do so. The leaders of China were thinking in these terms five years ago. And they included Japan, Germany and Italy.

China is leading us in another line of thought. The generalissimo expressed this in a prayer not so long ago as reported. He prayed for the United States, England and China. And then he prayed for Japan – not that God would destroy Japan, but that she would be changed, saved. During the two years that I lived in China after Japan began her destruction there, I did not once hear from a Chinese an expression of hatred to the Japanese. I associated with all classes – officials, students, farmers, merchants and coolies. They distinguished the militarists from the Japanese people: I could detect no spirit of revenge or of retaliation.

In his report to the nation after his world trip to view the allies fighting on the fronts in the west and in the west, Wendell Willkie said: "Besides giving our allies in Asia and eastern Europe something to fight with, we have got to give them assurance of what we are fighting for. The 200,000,000 people of Russia and the 450,000,000 people of China – people like you and me- are bewildered and anxious. They know what they are fighting for. They are not so sure of us. Many of them read the Atlantic charter. Rightly or wrongly, they are not satisfied. They ask: What about a Pacific charter? What about a world charter?"

We have just abrogated our treaty of extraterritoriality with China. For a century we have not allowed a Chinese to arrest or judge an American for any crime he may have committed in China. We established our United States courts in China and sent our judges over there to judge citizens of the United States until the Japanese took Shanghai. (Personally I refused to avail myself of this privilege some 25 years ago). For more than 40 years we have maintained an armed guard in Peking (Peiping) and Shanghai and Tientsin. We have never held a concession. But a large part of Shanghai was "The British Concession." This was ruled by Great Britain. The French and the Japanese held concessions. And there was the International Settlement. Since Pearl Harbor these are in the control of Japan. There were concessions in Hankow and Amoy. Hongkong was Chinese territory until Great Britain took the island 100 years ago in war over the importation of opium. Since then it has been a part of the British Empire until the Japanese took it a year ago. Will the generalissimo ask that it be restored to China as he asks that Manchuria be restored? What will be the verdict?

What are we fighting for? Not merely to save our own freedom. I am in this war for freedom for every country. And for every individual. That means the untouchables in India, the enslaved inhabitants in Korea, and the alien races in our own land. It means that Orientals may enter the United States on the same conditions as Europeans.

William Temple, the archbishop of Canterbury, puts this idea concisely in these words: We have to find a way of ordering life which -

- (a) Expresses the fellowship of all men in one family.
- (b) Gives sufficient outlet to the self-interest acquisitive tendency in men to harness it to the common interest, and
- (c) Provides adequate checks and balances to prevent it from seriously injuring the common interest.

To attain this freedom will be the most gigantic task that man has ever faced. Men and women are already working on it. Groups are discussing it, a clergy man has written the president asking him to appoint a committee of the clergy to work on a post-war order. The president very wisely replied that: "Clergymen do not need formally to be commissioned to do this. Indeed, there is advantage in your not being commissioned except by your duty and your God." . . . The government through the office of war information, the office of civilian defense, the department of agriculture and the office of education, is trying to facilitate a program of discussion of war issues. Prominent among these is the problem of the world beyond the war. We are counting on the leadership of our clergymen in making this effective.

From an isolationist nation we were suddenly and savagely roused and pushed into a global war. We are now the leading nation in that war and without willing it we are faced with the problem of the peace after the war. These two problems are separate problems, but they are linked together. We have won one war and then lost the peace. There must be some kind of a new world order if the world is to gain anything from the expenditure in life and money and material. There are already several authorized groups working on the problem. This will not detract from the effort we are putting into winning the war. It will rather give point to it. There are very few thinking people among us who are giving thought to what kind of a world we shall have when this holocaust is over. This is somewhat like a committee of the whole. The ideal committee is one where each member puts in something, not with the idea of dominating the committee but of contributing something to a whole which will be different from any one idea, and better than any one idea. When all have contributed, the result will not be recognized by any one as his, but be better than any one's individual idea.

We are in this war to preserve our freedom. We are also in this war, whether we will or not to help make a new world. What that world is to be depends very largely on us. There can be no reverting to the status quo before the war. There must be advance, and we must guide that advance.

WILLARD L. BEARD.

[Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This postcard dated Feb. 10, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT probably by Phebe Maria Beard to Geraldine. Monnie is a new mother and Phebe comments briefly about the new baby boy. Postcard donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[Postcard addressed to and written in Phebe Maria Beard's handwriting:

Miss Geraldine Beard
2508 Parker St.
Berkeley
California

Postmarked Feb 10, 1943 Derby Conn.

Feb. 10 [1943]

Hi!!!! We know why you are sending us such a saucy valentine- but we'll be your valentine with pleasure. We showed it to the new mother and told her to tell her son about it. He's terribly exclusive – doesn't really turn up his nose at his relatives but keeps himself in a sort of glass house and dares us to throw stones as it were, sleeps, or pretends to, when we dare to gaze thru the glass at home. But he's so adorable that we forgive all this upishness and hope to gain his favor when he gets a little better acquainted with the ways of this world.

Love from
"Century Farm"

[This letter dated Feb. 16, 1943 was written from Fort Myers, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. She thanks Geraldine for a magazine subscription and comments on the condition of her husband's sister, Pearl. Monnie's new son's name is John Charles. Hugh may have to go into the army. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

I mailed you Monnie's Labrador snaps today. She wants them sent back to her after you look at them.

Fort Myers
Feb. 16, '43

Dear Jerry,

Before I forget it again I'll start by thanking you for Arizona Highways. We are enjoying the second issue now and tho we haven't read all there is in them we have become well enough acquainted with the magazine to like it very much. The Christmas issue was full of lovely photography. How did you find it?- there in the Library? I had never heard of it before but it is giving me new light on that section of the country.

That explanatory letter of yours was most enlightening, and it all does sound very sad. I had no idea that the situation was that bad- in fact I had very little idea of what the family was like at all I'm afraid. I would like to see them all sometime but the prospects don't look very promising. It must make visiting there a bit strained but I hope you don't let it worry you too much. [Kathleen is probably referring to Leolyn and William Morgan's family] I think Enid let Pearl wear her down and now that Pearl has gone to Chattahoochee I hope Enid will pick up. Pearl got to roaming around the town so much that people were afraid of her, and she went into an empty house where she used to stay for hours doing heaven-knows-what. Enid finally summoned all the help she could and got red tape broken so that they could get Pearl into the state hospital where she seems to be doing as well as could be expected.

What do you think of your new nephew John Charles [John Charles Butt]? We got our telegram Tues. morning and I am now impatiently waiting Mother's detailed account of the episode. I am relieved that Monnie is safely thru her ordeal and that everything seems to be O.K.

The children liked their Valentines and are still playing with them. Cynthia loves the ones that "wobble."

I wonder how long our suspense is going to last- about Hugh's going into the army. One day we are sure he will have to go in the spring and the next day the news sounds more encouraging. But I may be looking for a job yet, tho I'd rather go into production work again- Baby production. Hugh is ready to go into the army if called but he has no desire to do any killing.

I'm dying to know where Gould is. Ginny wrote that he met the Chinese Minister "there" whose wife was Mary Whang of Oberlin. Monnie and I knew her well. We are having a little winter now for a change. Is it as rainy as predicted there? Must be miserable.

Do keep well- Love- Kathie

[This letter dated Feb. 17, 1943 was written from Hilo Hawaii by Millicent Hume Arimizu to Jerry. She updated Jerry on her sibling's whereabouts and doings. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Millicent Arimizu

Feb. 17, 1943
Halai Tract, Hilo, Hawaii, T.H.

Dear Jerry,

It was a delightful treat to hear from you during the Christmas Season. I had often wondered whether or not you were still in Seattle, and twas your letters that informed me of the change.

Stewart asked me in one of his recent letters, if I knew your address, so as soon as I know where he is, I'll send it to him. He has just left Nebraska for another post, and I'm hoping it isn't overseas, yet. Elizabeth has been with him, and she will be, just as long as that is possible. How I would like to see him in Hawaii! It would be one chance in a million.

You, and Kathleen and I share similar regrets in missing out on so many family get togethers. I met Bish [her brother, Fulton] and Helen (and family) when they landed in Honolulu, and was so thankful that I had, for they never did get to Hilo after the blitz. We were so disappointed. There seemed to be many family gatherings we had to miss when they returned to the Mainland. Someday tho, this war will end, and Dick and I shall take a trip over, as soon as it is possible.

You probably know that Bish is on the Island of Aruba (off S.A.) under a 2 yr. contract with Standard Oil. He preferred it to the Army as Helen would always know just where he was, and in comparative safety. She remained in Long Meadow, Mass. to be near the children. Mother, Aunt Emma and U. Elbert have visited there several times.

Mother misses Hawaii very much. She agrees with us, that our weather is just about all one could ask for the year round, and this past winter which has been so cold, has made her yearn for the climate we have. She seems to dread the winters.

I am teaching this year as teachers were needed so desperately. I felt it my duty to help out. Have signed up for another year since an emergency still exists. I've really enjoyed it too, and feel that I am doing something worthwhile since it is so necessary. Have a 3rd grade, much to my liking.

Dick has worked so strenuously since his start in Hilo that it is beginning to tell on him. He needs a vacation- and a long one, but he just doesn't seem to get around to it. I'm trying now to get him to take a week off with me at Easter, but I'll never know until it is upon us. He is so thoroughly content in his own home, that he doesn't enjoy himself when he's away from it- yet the phone keeps ringing when he stays around. If we stay home- I shall refuse to let him answer it!! I'd love to hear from you again, Jerry. Love, Millicent

Millicent Hume's husband
Dick Arimizu's 1928 senior photo at Oberlin College

[This typewritten letter dated February 24, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Willard talks about the events surrounding Monnie's baby. Willard had a blood vessel break in his eye. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton Conn.

February 24th, 1943.

Dear Geraldine

A week ago I decided that I would write my own history of the events of the past two weeks as they center around Century Farm and Johnny. That means John Charles Butt.

All winter I have kept a shovel handy and have tried to keep a road out to the main road so at anytime I could get the car out and up to the hospital. I have slept with one eye open and one ear open. But Monnie was very considerate and called us about 5:00 a.m. Monday February 8th. There was no hurry, so we got off, - Monnie, Ralph and Mother. I went along. The morning was clear and mild. We got to the hospital, about 10:30 a.m. Mother and I came home for lunch and went back. Ralph and I walked down to Clark's Hotel in the evening for a bite of something to eat. We waited until 9:55 p.m. when the doctor came in to tell us that Monnie had a 9 lb. boy. In fact he did not come in till 10:30. Quite soon we were invited to go in and see Monnie and then to see the baby. He was a very mature looking young man. Not as green as some I have seen. My, but wasn't Monnie happy! As we stood by the bed she raised her hands and brought them down on the bed and exclaimed, "It's a boy". Everything moved according to Hoyle for ten days and Mother and I brought the two home on Thursday the 18th. It was a fine warm day. Ralph had to leave Saturday the 13th. It snowed but was not cold. Stanley, Mother and I took him to Bridgeport. His train was 50 min. late. Then we three went out to see Aunt Annie. The car pushed thru the snow until we got most up to Ard Blakeman's. Then it stopped. Stanley and I put on the chains and we came home. Sunday was not bad. All went to church, except Monnie and Johnny and Mother.

But Monday morning was a different proposition. The mercury stood at 18 below. Neither car would budge. Stanley and Myra wanted to get to Bridgeport. I had an engagement with the oculist at 9:00 a.m. We tried three garages in Shelton. No one could come. Aunt Phebe phoned Dan and he came right down. But my car would not start. He towed me and Stanley up to his house. Wells was just starting for Bridgeport and took Stanley and me home and Aunt Myra took my place and Wells drove them to their train for New York. Dan and Uncle Ben got my car started in the afternoon and I got it the next day.

That evening, Tuesday, Mother and I were invited to attend a farewell reception for Dr. and Mrs. Burtner in Ansonia. He has resigned and is leaving May 1st. The members of the Lower Naugatuck Valley Clergy Club gave him a reception. It was cold but we went and so did most everyone else. It was a very pleasant affair. Everyone enjoyed it. Cake, sandwiches, tea and coffee were served. They gave Mrs. Burtner a bouquet and a sewing basket, and Dr. Burtner a wood basket. This was for the fireplace.

The Clark Hotel in Derby made something out of the new baby, - at least fourteen meals. It has recently changed hands and they certainly serve good meals, at fair prices and are courteous. Two or three days I let Ralph take my car to drive up, and some days we made two trips.

I went to Bridgeport this morning to see Dr. Havey an oculist. He found that a small blood vessel had spread or burst in my right eye. I saw Dr. Edson this afternoon and he thought with Dr. Havey that it would clear up. Dr. Edson gave me something that he hoped would hasten the absorption. It obstructs the vision somewhat but I read and do everything much as usual.

From what I have written above you will get the idea that we have had and are having a real winter. The new furnace has kept us warm and we have all been well. Gould has been away on his third trip about 6 or 7 weeks- he was to be gone 60 days. 1st trip to Greenland, 2nd to England, 3rd ? With love Father

[This letter dated Feb. 25, 1943 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Mary is going to see Madame Chiang Kai Shek at Madison Square Garden. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Feb 25-1943

Dear Geraldine:-

I have made a new balance in our account with $1200 due me on Feb 20- 1943. Your check for $83.85 arrived all right,- not yet in the bank.

Aunt Mary is running about a bit these days. This week she has been in Hartford two days on Miss'y business- Women's Miss'y Society of Conn. Next week she plans to go to the reception given to Madame Chiang Kai Shek= Tuesday. This means two days- the reception is in the evening at Madison Square Garden. Both she and I received individual invitations- but it will be a hard job, and cost about $15= It does not appeal to me- altho it would be very interesting to see the lady and the crowd. Crowds never appealed to me- Both the generalissimo and the Madame do appeal to me tho. Months ago I agreed to address the D.A.R. in Derby that very day. Mother will sing a solo in Chinese. Mek Le Kua. The music as well as words are Chinese.

Johnnie is a very good baby,- cries perhaps enough to satisfy us and sleeps well at night- does his fussing in the day. Monnie complains that he will not eat when she wants him to. He begins to nurse and forgets what he is doing and goes to sleep,- wakes up shortly and cries to eat.

Have you investigated to find if you would not be allowed to deduct from your income tax something for paying your debt. I heard here the other day something to that effect.

I'm glad you enjoy your work, your room mate, your home and that you feel well.

Lovingly Father

[This letter dated March 21, 1943 was written from Shelton, CT by Aunt Phebe to Gerry. She talks about Monnie's baby. Gould is expected back from his trip. She updates Gerry on the other relatives. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Hope you are well over that Grippe bug-

Shelton, Conn.
March 21, 1943

Dear Gerry,

You see I am a harbinger of spring and this morning was beautiful and one expected to see bluebirds and every farmer everywhere. Tonight is rain. Chill and cloudy- so goes our New Eng. weather. On the whole, tho, spring is surely in the air, and most of the spring birds have made their appearance- peepers are not in our pond yet but I suspect that some protected places have heard them. Mary was calling on the Platt girls up at the end of Long Hill and they had had their maple trees tapped and had a 40 qt. can of sap which they couldn't use because they had no way but by oil burner to boil it down and so they offered it to us as we have the "old-fashioned" wood stove. So we took 30 qts. of it and soon we will have in another 24 hrs. (after 4 days of evaporation) about a qt. of lovely syrup, which in these rationing days is quite a gold mine.

What do you suppose Aunt Mary is doing at this moment. She is giving your newest nephew a bath. I gave him one yesterday and its lots of fun. I must confess that it is the first time I can remember in bathing so small an infant and strange to say he didn't cry a cry- but he was in a good mood for his bath came midway between meals- today he is almost to the end of a starvation period and I hear a few crys. It does make a difference if our stomach is clear empty I fear. He is adorable tho whether he cries or not. He really cries so little that one forgets that he can. He is getting to be a big boy- 11 lbs. Monnie is worrying lest he is gaining too fast. He has so many dresses-sweaters etc that he'd have to kick hard and fast to get the good of them before he outgrows them. Every day brings something new. Today, Sunday, began with a gift from Margaret at milking time, of a lovely silk romper suit pure white but big enough for him at 6 mos. and possibly a little older. Then Ruth Hall ?field sent him by Monnie some lovely oiled silk bibs at church - one of which he is using at this very moment for his bath is over and he is happy with his bottle. He is the greatest little grunter- and stretches even in his sleep sometimes he ? grunts and murmurs and he is a very sociable little boy and loves even at this early day- he has you stand beside his blanket and talk to him. He really follows you with his eyes if you move about near him. If at first ?? ?? that you can't see him at this darling stage- but then all stages is just as fascinating. Edith's little joy is at a most interesting stage- just beginning to talk and always ready with a smile and Well's Marian is grinning all over when?? in there because she has learned to walk alone this last week. You see we have them at all ages now so are quite co?miscuous along this line. We are wondering if Gould is home for a letter from Jinny a few days ago said that she was daring to hope that he would come any time now.

Ruth's husband has been gone over a month and she had had 6 letters from him last we heard- each from a different place- India- Egypt- S. A. ? she has with his people at High Point N.C. until last Friday, when she was driving to Nancy's. (Ruth and her parents left for Nancy's Friday and will drive home with her sometime this week we expect.

Did you know that Uncle Ben has remodeled the house next to his for a two family home- and Wells has downstairs and Edith upstairs? This is the house that Ben and Abbie went to housekeeping in. It has made two lovely rents. Of course they are all much concerned lest Wells-Dan and Seymour be drafted. Dan is planning to do some farming on our farm if he is still here. Ben plans to fence our apple orchard and raise some pigs. If we have a big harvest of fruit perhaps we'll send for you to help harvest it. We got some giant prunes from a farm down in Tenn. and every time we have them your father asks if we think those are some you picked. (Johnny has just gone downstairs all dressed in a yellow sweater and cap that his Aunt Winefred made him).

We are wondering if Monnie and Ralph will be anywhere in Canada near enough for you to get them in case you could get away that long. I do hope that they can go by way of Dorothy. Monnie has her belongings here all sorted ready to pack. She is very methodical about it. We are going to miss her terribly. She said the other day that she had been here six months- and it doesn't seem more than six weeks. The baby has been so quiet and asleep so much of the time and upstairs in her room that we hardly realize that he has been in the house. We run in and peep at him whenever we are upstairs.

Elizabeth Frazier (our pastor's wife) is awaiting the arrival of her second child any minute now. She and Don have enjoyed Marjorie so much and have invited her and Ralph there and been down here, that Marjorie is hoping that her baby comes before she (Marjorie) has to leave for Canada.

Hazel Space [Gould's mother-in-law] has just telephoned that Gould has just talked to Virginia from Miami and expects to be home either tomorrow or Tuesday so they can probably arrange to go on to Father Butts when, Marjorie and Ralph go there, if they can't get up here. Won't Gould have a good story to tell sometime after all this turmoil is over. What a mess this world has gotten itself into!

Donald Blessing has just gone with they navy and his brother Charley- who married about two years ago going the last of May or after their first baby is born. Louise is working in the shop again. Marjorie is in High School and gets home in the afternoon to look after the old grandfather, who now lives with them because he cannot care for himself and gets the dinner with the help of her little sister Lillian almost 9 yrs. old.

Your father has just started an adult Sunday Sch. Class at church, and the members are very much interested and quite enthusiastic about it. He has to get there at 9:45 so it means that he has to miss a part of his Sunday morning nap. I'm a real back slider for I don't hustle off and go too. Perhaps sometime I'll get up enough energy to go. But with a possibility that going Danny may be here some this summer to help with his pony and the garden work and the extra duties of Victory gardens I'm afraid my courage about taking on any extra work – even at church- will not be up to such a mark.

Now that gas rationing is cut in half I'm afraid that we won't now be able to keep in touch with the family. I don't mind walking but it takes more time than I have to give sometimes. We now drive to Shelton- and walk to Derby for most of our errands.

It is nice to get your letters and learn the ? about Leolyn's family. It looks as tho Polly [probably Leolyn's daughter, Pauline] were really too far off mentally to get back- does it not? Is Billy [probably Leolyn's son, William] still able to keep at work? I feel so sad for Mother Leolyn and I hope that she is getting interested in outside activities enough to ease the tension somewhat. Leolyn Griffith [Leolyn Jr. or 2nd] writes us quite often. I think it was a good thing for her mental state to get away from Berkeley for a time at least. Stephen has seemed to enjoy her nearness to him as he ?? of running on these fairly often. The friend of Nancy's from Holland, Martha Holland, is married and lives near Stephen too and he has seen her often too. Then there is a Pearl R. boy in his factory so he isn't so isolated after all. He's working days and studying evenings and thus keeping busy-

With love-

Aunt Phebe

[This letter dated March 21, 1943 was written from Shelton, CT by Monnie to Jerry. Monnie writes a letter to go with some photos of Johnny. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

March 21 [1943]

Dear Jerry,

Just a note to go in with Aunt Phebe's letter, and to bring you the latest photos of Johnny. Aren't they good! One day week before last Aunt Mary fixed up a regular studio with reflecting sheets and every thing. And all the trouble was not in vain because the pictures are perfect- every detail comes out beautifully. And Johnny is so good in both of them. Just forget about me- I'm terrible. Too bad I spoiled the picture. Having me hold him was a last minute idea and I hadn't fixed up at all. Just notice Johnny's lovely little round head- it's a beautiful shape- and his tiny fists up on his chest (he holds them that way when he eats – so cute). He gets wider awake and more observant and intelligent-looking every week. When you talk to him now he looks as if he understood every word and looks at you too. He's just beginning to coo, very occasionally. It's such fun and so fascinating to watch that tiny being develop. I do wish you could all be here too, to see him and live with him. The aunts do enjoy him so, and Grandma and Grandpa simply dote on him- Grandpa in a very quiet and not very expressive way, but doting all the same. I can understand now how proud parents simply hit the ceiling when Jr. gets a tooth or can sit up alone. You do feel like telling the world. But it is boring to others!

Father is going to baptize Johnny next Sunday. Don Frazier, the young Oberlin graduate who is pastor here, offered to let father do it. Wasn't that nice?

We leave Shelton about a week from Tuesday and reach Winnipeg on Saturday, after spending a night at Ralph's father's to show him his first grandchild.

Your letter of the 14th was grand. The clipping about the creed of the modern baby was so cute. We all hope you are strong again after that bout with intestinal flu. I had that in Labrador and can fully sympathize. I'll have to wait to answer your letter till I get to Winnipeg- I'll have more time. Loads of love from us all, Monnie

[This letter dated March 21, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. He tells about Johnny. His eye is better since the blood vessel broke. Aunt Flora's estate is being settled. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

March 21st 1943

Dear Jerry:-

That tie was a beauty. I put it on the very day it arrived. Mother laughed at me for being like a little boy, - had to use it right off. When I was 15 years old my Mother gave me for a Christmas present a nickel watch chain. I had been using a shoe string to tie my watch to me. I wore the new present to church. But Monday morning I put on the old shoe string and ticked the new chain away in the dresser drawer. When Mother saw the she string she asked, - "Where is your watch chain?" "Why I'm saving that for best." "Well you had better wear it and get the pleasure from wearing it. When it is worn out some one will give you another." I have remembered and usually lived up to her advice. I did wear that chain until it fell to pieces. For every day I am wearing a string tie that I tie in a bow. The tailor boy in Ing Tai made it lame- not much good- but he could do my mending and make over my clothes for the orphans- from the bags of old clothes sent by various people from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

I note you are changing your address. But I'll mail this to Parker Street.

Marjorie seems to have overcome all the inconveniences incidental to "borning" a baby and stopping the manufacturing of milk. Both Johnny and she are benefiting by the change from natural to artificial feeding. She was much disappointed but it was necessary. Johnny is a perfect child, sleeps and eats and evacuates normally and cries enough to exercise his lungs and let us know he is normal. He is growing rapidly- weighs 11 lbs I believe now at 6 weeks. I have not known of his crying - except for food and when he was wet or soiled. The Aunts are captivated by him. Monnie allows them to bathe him which both of them consider a rare, greatly to be desired privilege. Yesterday Monnie was packing in her room and put him in his basket on my bed in my room. I lay down for a nap on the other side of the bed. Pretty soon the basket began to shake and the bed to shake. I looked over and he was awake. His hands were clawing the air and everything else that came in their way. Then he began to make a noise. I went round and uncovered him and found him wet. As soon as I began to unpin his clothes he stopped crying and looked at me as if he understood that in a moment he would be comfortable. But soon he had another thought that seemed to come from his stomach and Grandma came and when he got food he was all right. He is a very proper child. I believe Ralph plans to come the last of this week and be here for next Sunday- Mar 28th, when John Charles is to be baptized by his maternal grandfather. I think they plan to take him to Long Island to show him to Ralph's father and to Gould's family. Then Monnie hopes to go to Winnipeg via Saginaw. This is not all worked out yet but that is as far as we all know now.

Winter is evidently giving up. But it is still rainy and damp, frost is out of the ground in some places but not all. People who don Victory Gardens are looking for flowers.

Dan may work the farm this year. Uncle Ben bought two heifers last May and parked them both here until the middle of Jan- he made so much off them that he has bought three more- one a bull- and has parked two here so I am a cattle herder. Annabelle freshened March 3. I could not dry her and she is not doing so well in milk production- we got about 11 gal a day instead of 18. Aunt Phebe does not moan, for it makes less work in caring for butter and cheese. We do not have to look out for butter rationing tho.

This morning I began leading a Bible class in our Shelton Church School. I think I shall enjoy it and I hope help people.

The ration for gasoline is only 1 ½ gallons for a coupon. That means No. 5 card must last until July 21= 12 gallons. I will try for more. Next week I drive to Stratford to speak at a Lenten service and it is almost necessary for me to use about 3 gallons of the coupon to do all my work.

I hope you are entirely well from your pull down. We here have been very free from any ailments all winter, - unless I could call a burst blood vessel in my right eye about 5 weeks ago. I perceived an obstruction to my vision- I thought at first it was my glasses. I made an appointment with Dr. Havey in B-port. But the morning I was to see him the mercury was way below zero and no car here would start. He found a tiny blood vessel burst, and told me to see Dr. Edson here. I have seen Dr. Havey once since and the vision is much improved. I am taking something to help absorb and it or nature seems to be on the job.

I do not know if you knew I received from Aunt Flora's estate a mortgage deed for $500 with interest it amounted to 540. Mr. Fratcher was the mortgagee. (if that is the right term). Louise Blessing got him to sign the property with the mortgage to her. She sold 4 acres to a Mr. Swallen. He paid down enough so she paid me all last Wed. So that is one item cleared up.

May God guide and keep us all
Lovingly Father

[This typewritten letter dated March 31, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Mary to Jerry. Monnie, Ralph and baby John have all left for Canada. Gould was in Brazil training pilots in American planes. She fills Geraldine on the relatives and the farm. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

March 31, 1943

Dear Jerry,

We are feeling much like the morning after the night before today. Only it is after the six months before. Yesterday there was a big exodus here - - baby Johnnie and his parents left for Canada. They took a 3:50 train to New York so they might have a three hour visit with Mr. and Mrs. Butt senior and Daphne. The later came from Long Island and they were to meet at the hotel Penn. Mr. Butt is on a job that demands his presence within the borders of Greater New York unless released for a short time by a special permit. Hence the place and time of meeting.

Your father took Ralph and the trunks up in the morning and checked them to Montreal via Bridgeport so he could check the personal baggage down. We gave them a lunch of sandwiches and cake which they planned to supplement with hot drinks at the hotel.

I had the fun of giving Johnnie his bath and bottle in the morning as Ellen was busy washing and Monnie was packing. Abbie had given Monnie a two handled basket to carry baby in. Monnie had been unable to get a regular baby basket but this is really handier than the one she could not get. It was lined with blue and babies bunting had blue trimmings, so he was very cunning in it.

Edith had loaned her bathinette and Mrs. Pease her baby scales. Also Edith had left her baby carriage which Johnnie did not get big enough to use. But now soon I shall have a returning day. The only article that will go into immediate use is the scales. Baby Pease will still use them.

On Sunday Monnie had invited a group of the young couples with whom she had mingled several times for tea from 4.30 to 9.00. Also on that date she and Ralph joined our church. Ralph joined on confession of faith and Monnie by letter from Oberlin. And Baby's grandfather baptized him at the morning service. He was wide awake and cooed and talked all the time while up front. He also stayed through the service and slept most of the time.

Jinny wrote that Gould was due back soon. Then the first of the week she called her mother and she relayed the message that he had talked from Miami. He did get in Tuesday but we had not heard. So Monnie called Manhasset Friday evening. Gould was there and when they learned that Monnie could not get down they said they would come up Saturday and stay until Sunday afternoon. They were able to get the 4.10 and Ralph and I had gone into town for errands. When we telephoned they had not yet called so I gave the list of calls I had yet to make. At Mrs. Bartlett's where I had to get two Angel cakes for the tea I was told to return to the station. Sunday afternoon all Ben's family came and had a nice visit with us all. The friends purposely waited until evening as they knew we were to be together. We served egg and chicken, sandwiches and peanut bread ones with just butter. Ellen made that bread. For drinks we had either coffee or cocoa. What a time we had getting the latter. Finally it was Hershey Chocolate we used. Coffee is no trick for us as neither of your parents drink it except on special occasions. We have furnished two pounds and a half pound for church group parties. We were also O.K. on sugar as Johnnie had a ration card, and shared his with his mother's guests.

Your mother feels the shortage of sugar very much. So on Saturday I got the 5 pound package of sugar due on Johnnie's book and did it up as from "Johnnie and The House" for the 29th.

Baby had gotten well over 11 pounds and was so good we hardly knew he was here. The only thing that upset his calm and happiness was a late delivery of his bottle. His bath he loved and during the last two weeks especially, he often lay wide awake and cooed to himself.

Gould has been in Brazil since just after Christmas. Among other things he trained several pilots to handle American planes. He was brown as a berry and showed the outdoor life he had been leading. [The following article regarding Gould is from the Encyclopedia of American Biography, New Series, Volume XXIX, a Publication of The American Historical Company, Inc. New York, 1959: "Mr. Beard was attached to a special mission for the Defense Supplies Corporation as pilot on a DC-3 to indoctrinate the Brazilians with the excellence of the American flight equipment to replace the German airplanes which were taken over when the Brazilian Government nationalized the German Condor Airline System into a Brazilian Airline System. This mission was conducted from January 1st, 1943 to March 22nd, 1943".]

Hazel has passed the five foot height and is very proud of the fact. Just in fun I told her she could have her choice of the cot, the baby basket and the baby carriage to sleep in. But "could Five feet" get into either of those, she asked most seriously. Both children looked fine and acted fine. Willard, Hazel, Danny, Beverly and Win had a grand time playing outside together. But they kept an eye on the indoors as they had spotted the table set for refreshments. The numerous errands were quite amusing.

Left to right: Willard F. Beard, Winifred Valentine, Daniel Beard Jr., Beverly Beard, Hazel Beard, Jay Valentine
[Photo from the collection of Edith Beard Valentine.]

Jay has at last gotten to talking something besides his one word "Ah". Marion walks alone but is not very steady. She will be a year old tomorrow and Ruth will be 21.

Ruth drove H.M.'s car to High Point and stayed with his people for several weeks. Two weeks ago she drove to Nancy's. Stanley and Myra took the train down and have been there 10 days. The three are driving to Pearl River. Started Tuesday if they kept their plan. They will take two days for the trip.

Stephen is on your shore. At first he did not sound interested in his job, but now he does. He sees Kits and Fred occasionally. But working 6 days a week and studying nights leaves little time for social life.

Dan [Bennett Nichols Beard's son, Daniel N. Beard] is planning to work the farm this summer. He has a starter of ten cows already. Little Dan is anticipating being his father's right hand man. When they brought down a calf, a heifer, a young bull, Danny was along and begged to take the calf back. His father let him and they say he takes entire care of it as well as of Bucky.

The weather has been such that it was hard to burn the refuse about until this last week. We had so many extras with getting Monnie off and all that we did little, until Saturday morning. Today I did a little then it rained and nothing would burn.

So far I have gotten the feed for my hens and the cows. The last delivery was Saturday instead of Monday when it was due. If I can keep ahead enough, it will be O.K.

Our church is having Lenten Suppers with the Methodist church. The first three were in their church, these last in ours. That was to make it warmer for us as we have oil heat and they have coal.

I shall not send this off until I get the snaps Monnie and I took of Johnnie last week. They should be back soon now. If they are good, I can enclose one for you.

It was good to have you feeling so well that a Christmas celebration was all to the good. We are glad that you keep us informed about the Berkeley Morgans. Leolyn writes occasionally. More often than I do, I fear. Give my love to all and keep a big share for yourself.

[not signed- letter written by Mary]

[This letter dated April 4, 1943 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. She and a friend have started a victory garden on a rented lot. She is substitute teaching a lot lately. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Saginaw, Mich.
April 4, 1943

Dear Jerry:-

Forgive me for waiting so long to thank you for my birthday gift. It's a very pretty blouse and I so like it! I have nothing like it. Thanks heaps! It was quite a coincidence that yours and Kathie's gift- a white slip- came on the same day. Thank you also for the cute valentine.

Your last letter told of spring coming your way, and we rather envied you. We've had a long, cold winter and will be awfully glad when spring comes to stay. Tulip plants are up three or four inches, and shrubs and trees are in tiny bud- and that's all we can boast of.

We were rather expecting Monnie, Ralph and Johnny last Thurs. They planned to come this way and stop over one day, but something must have gone wrong for last Sun a wire came saying that they couldn't make it. We were terribly disappointed. I haven't heard from them since.

Myrtle Johnson and I are planning to rent a lot not far from here, for a Victory garden this summer.

(Mercy on us! I thought I'd finished and sent this, and I came across it in my writing box today. Well I'll hurry up and get it on its way.) Yes, Myrtle and I have a garden out at the end of our street here. It is all plowed and harrowed and ready to plant, and we are waiting for warm weather now. Probably next week-end we'll put in our first seeds. Harold has out potatoes, corn and several other seeds already to go in. How about coming on here for your vacation this summer and help us enjoy the fruits of our labors.

I've been doing lots of substitute teaching lately- everything from soup to nuts (pedagogically). No kidding the other day I taught kindergarten and had lots of fun. I've had H.S. biology and cooking, Junior High Sewing and arithmetic and about everything but gym. However, the girl who took my place when I stopped teaching, has joined the Marines and may be called anytime. Mr. Case asked me if I'd be ready anytime, in case she went. So- I may be right back where I started from soon. I'd finish up the year, but don't know whether they'd ask me back next year, if there were a single girl available for the position.

We had two letters from Monnie- one explaining why they couldn't come here, and the other a duplicate of one you got. It seems that the Co. had bought their tickets right through from New York- through Montreal, so they had no choice. They're certainly getting a big kick out of little Johnny, aren't they?

Are you planning to stay over there next year? When are we going to see you again? I do wish you could come on this summer.

Believe it or not, I've been out of town just once since I came back from the East last fall, and that was way over to Bay City!

I am chairman of my church division now, so that with everything else keeps me busy. We made $55. on a rummage sale lately.

Hope you have a Happy Easter. Thanks again for the blouse.

Love - Dot.

I've been listening to the radio as I wrote this letter, so it sounds simple- that's why.

[This typewritten letter dated April 6, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to some of his children. Gould was in Brazil establishing airports and training pilots. The family members enjoyed having Marjorie and baby Johnny at Century Farm for awhile. Willard refers to all the wood from trees downed by the 1938 New England hurricane. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

April 6th. 1943.

Dear Geraldine, Dorothy and Harold, Kathleen, Hugh, Jacqueline and Cynthia;-

It takes a whole line to address you all. And "you" are not the all. Gould and his family were up last Saturday and spent the nite and so saw Monnie and her family. They were all looking very well. Gould had some to say about Brazil. He spent his time there for more than two months. He established several airports there and spent much time training pilots. It looks as if the U.S. was planning more business if not friendly relations with South America. One of the air ports was in Juruena way in the west of Brazil. And along the sea coast there were perhaps fifteen that he mentioned. There were others. He let fall one remark. "The next trip may be China." I imagine he would not be averse to going there and I also imagine he would try to make Foochow one place that he would see.

The visit of Dorothy last fall and the long stay of Marjorie were a very great pleasure. The Aunts enjoyed the visits also. How they did enjoy Johnnie! Monnie let them bathe him once or twice. Aunt Mary had the job the morning they left, and she is bragging about it still. If Monnie was busy all she had to do was to ask if one of them wanted to feed him and she would drop anything she was doing and sit down with his bottle in her hand. His personality certainly permeated this household. He was a very good baby. I think he never cried unless for a good reason. If he was hungry he let people know it. And if he was wet or soiled he told about it. One day he was put on my bed while Monnie was packing in her room. I was lying down asleep. Pretty soon he woke me. He was not crying but kicking and throwing his arms about and so uncomfortable. I began to unpin his diapers and he stopped crying and looked at me interested. He did not say another word until some time had passed then he began to fuss, and did not stop until he had something to eat. Two or three times I had the same experience.

Monnie wanted very much to nurse him and tried for perhaps two weeks to do it. But she had to give it up. He could not negotiate her nipples. When he got on a regular schedule of the "formula" he began to grow and to sleep and be contented. It made it much more complicated to plan for the journey from here to Montreal and then to Winnipeg, - prepare and take all the paraphernalia for his food but they made it. We had just a note from her mailed at Winnipeg. Mother and I took them to Bridgeport to a 3:50 p.m. train. Johnnie slept all the time after leaving here until I handed him up to his father in the train. Monnie wrote he was a very proper baby all the way to Montreal. On the way to Winnipeg, she went into the diner for supper, leaving the baby with Ralph. The service was slow and she was gone an hour. Johnnie got wet and his father tried to change him. He got all protection off and then was Johnnie's chance. A nice little stream shot right into the father's face. The last diaper was used and he reached for the bundle of paper substitutes. The whole thing tumbled on the floor and sprawled. Johnnie did not like that and he thought it was eating time. When Monnie came back she found a squalling baby and an irate husband. But she soon restored order and calm reigned.

This is Sunday the 11th, 5:30 p.m. After I began this letter I had meetings and went to Hartford and to a farm auction one day with Wells and Ben and to Bridgeport with Mother yesterday and to a forest fire yesterday afternoon with Mary. More than a month ago I burst a small blood vessel in my right eye, according to Dr. Havey in B-port. I have been down three times, it is almost absorbed, and I will not go again. A new road has been built from Wells Hollow right to B-port, that shortens the distance one mile. Mother and I called on Aunt Annie. She has a peck of trouble about getting her ration books and with sciatica and lumbago and with loneliness. She still has three roomers. She says she does not see them for they leave in the morning before she is up and she does not see them at night. They all leave the house Friday morning and do not come back until Monday nite. All the neighbors are Jews or Catholic she says. And her former pastor who is in Old Greenwich, do not come often due to gas and tires, and another congenial minister who often called has been ill himself. I hope our call cheered her a bit.

All winter I have been trying to get up wood from the east woods. A high school boy 15 years old has helped me. We have sawed down some 15 or more trees from ten to 20 inches in diameter. And some half dozen that were blown down in the 1938 hurricane and one big oak over 20 in. in diam. we have sawed up. This all lies on the ground and is to be carted up to the woodpile. It is getting to [be] real work for me to walk over and do two hours work and then walk back. Uncle Ben has three head of stock here so I have four of the bovine species to feed and water. He has three cows up at his house. He found an old truck body that he drew down back of his house and has covered with something. Dan milks in the morning and Dannie in the evening. Dannie says he gets about seven or eight quarts and his father about six or seven. Bee Dan's wife, [Beatrice], Dannie and Beverly [Dan and Bee's children], Seymour, Edith, Win and Jay [Edith and Seymour's children]. That's quite a milk route in itself. Ben came down the other day looking for a small churn, which Aunt Phebe produced, - a two-quart churn so they will now have butter.

Written on back: "Daniel and Beatrice Beard and Beverly and Danny Beard 1942"

Daniel Beard is one of Bennett Nichols Beard's sons

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Spring is trying hard to beat old man winter. But this morning ice formed on the cows trough an inch thick. The grass is a little green. Vigiana has plowed and planted lettuce. But Aunt Mary stopped two days for small lettuce plants and he said "no wait. I set out some last week and they are mostly dead." I have bought two hundred pounds of seed potatoes to plant next winter. I want also to sow some soy beans. If you could get some seed of the edible variety I would like two quarts or say three or four pounds. I owe you money for pictures. If you sent the beans I will send you a check for all.

Yesterday afternoon the woods across the road from Vigianna's were on fire. We all thought it was farther to the west over in what we call Nell's Rocks, west of the Bridgeport turnpike to Henry Wells and home by the cross road by Blessings. We could not see the fire from the B-port road. It was on this side. Neither could we see it from the cross road. But later it was found to [be] about opposite Vigianna's. The fire trucks from Shelton, Pine Rock and Huntington came. The Shelton truck was for city work and not of great use but the other two had chemicals and water buckets for men's backs. They soon had it out.

This morning I was up at 6:05 a.m. and went to a men's breakfast at the Meth. church in Shelton. 49 were present. Several remarked that so many young men were in the service that it decreased the number who would have been there. The Meth. Baptist and our churches united in the service. It was an impressive service and after the service we all had breakfast together in the parish house of that church. Then I drove over to our church and led a Bible class which I took on three weeks ago and then attended our church service. I WENT TO CHURCH THIS MORNING.

We have one note from Monnie and that's all. We are looking daily for one from her mailed in Winnipeg telling where they go from there.

Don Frazier our pastor is taking the high school girls who sing in the choir to New York for a sight seeing trip soon. They plan to see Fisdick's church, Broadway Tabernacle, the Offices of our church 287, 4th Ave and perhaps a Museum in Central Park.

We remember you every night as we talk with God and family prayers.
Lovingly Father

[This letter dated April 13, 1943 was written from Florida by Kathleen to Jerry. Kathleen is curious as to where Gould's secret trip took him (Brazil). She is teaching Sunday School at the Methodist church they just joined. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Railway Express Agency
April 13, '43

Dear Jerry:

What have the past few weeks brought your way? Have you gone into one of your busy spells again or are you doing some more volunteer agricultural work? I don't hear much from any of the family these days but at least we know that Gould is home from his secret flight safely. If only they could tell us where it took him. We are eager to know where Monnie will be located for the next few years too, and I bet she is having a time travelling with young John. Don't you wish you could see him tho!

There isn't much to write about here just now but we have plenty to do. Measles are going around (the short kind) so I expect the children will both catch them. They had the long measles last spring about this time while Mother was with us in Tampa but these will not be so bad. Hugh and I are joining the Methodist Church on Easter by letter, and no sooner had we voiced our intentions to the Pastor than I was pulled into the Sunday school as a teacher. I will be in Jill's department teaching the class under hers. I already belong to the missionary society and am acquainted with several of the church ladies. It is a friendly church and about the largest in town I think. Mrs. Edison [Thomas Edison's wife] goes to it when she is in town but she didn't come down this winter.

What kind of weather are you having there now? Is this what you called the lovely green time of the year? We can tell more or less how it is by listening to the program "One man's Family" which comes from San Francisco but they don't always mention the elements. I think you have lived in more different sections of this country than any of our family but I bet I have lived in more towns. We went to see the motion picture Air Force not long ago. Most of the action was taken at Drew Field in Tampa and we wanted to see if any of the scenery looked familiar. There was very little ground scenery but I thought I did recognize the highway to Davis causeway in one scene. The picture was very exciting and tied right in with the story "Queens Die Proudly now running in Reader's Digest. Another picture is now being filmed at the same field.

I must make a lunch for Hugh to take to work now and Jill will soon be home from school. Do write soon and remember we all love you-

Kathie

[This letter, dated April 18, 1943, was written from Marrakech, Africa by Gould to Willard and Ellen. Gould writes a brief note comparing Marrakech to the mountains near Denver, Colorado. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Hotel De
La Mamounia
Marrakech

April 18, 1943

Dear Father and Mother:

This is Africa. Now I have only Australia and Antarctica to visit and I will have been on every continent of this globe. Believe I will have to take a year off and visit a lot of the out of the way places with the kids and Ginny when the kids get into or thru High School. This Marrakech is beautiful. It reminds me of flying up to Denver or Colorado Springs from the east. There is a range of snow covered mts. 13,000 ft high to the east just the same as at Denver only there the mts are to the West. The natives here are very poor and ragged. The people are either wealthy or poor. There are very few of the middle class.

Have only a few minutes to get a few letters off.

Love to all,
Gould.

[According to Gould's Biographical Sketch, he was the first engineer and pilot on the first C-54 cargo survey over the Atlantic. This flight was non-stop from Gander, Newfoundland to Marrakech, Morocco for which the entire crew received Air Medals.]

[This postal card dated April 20, 1943 was written from Shelton, CT by Ellen to Geraldine. Marjorie and her family arrived safely in Winnipeg, Canada. Phebe will have breast cancer surgery. Postal card donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

[April 20 1943]

Miss Geraldine Beard
2008 Parker Road
Berkeley, Cal.

Dear Geraldine,

Have you received a copy of Marjorie's very detailed letter, her first after arriving in Winnipeg? It begins, "Our Butt luck is still holding"- and ends, "We have got no mail at all, - quite naturally, of course." I did not know whether she sent carbon copies to all the sisters or not. If you haven't received a copy of this one or a similar one giving a full account of their experiences after they left here,- 5 pages long, type written on large sheets,- just write me a postal and I will mail ours to you.

Your good letter came today. Let's have the second one "written on the train." Phebe had a lump taken out of her breast a week ago. Examination showed malignant tissue and she is having the whole breast removed tomorrow at Griffin Hospital. All the rest are well. Love Mother

I wrote this postal intending to mail it as is, but later thought best not to send so open a message about Phebe. So as I had these photos to send you of Marjorie's baby, I decided to enclose this with them and send it along. Phebe discovered a small lump in her left breast about 2 weeks ago and went to Dr. Edson at once about it and he thought it best to remove it. So she went to Griffin Hospital the next morning at 7 o cl. and had it out with only local anesthetics. Dr. Edson sent it away for analysis. Phebe staid in the hospital only the rest of that day and came home to supper. Next morning she was up as usual and prepared breakfast and has been doing her usual work ever since. Yesterday, Monday, she went to Dr. to get the report of the analysis and he told her they found a little malignant tissue and that she must have the whole breast removed. So she goes to the Hospital at 4 p.m. today, Tuesday, for 2 weeks at least. I suppose they will prepare her for the operation today and operate tomorrow perhaps.

Thank you very much for your share in my gift of a floor lamp. I am using it daily and enjoy it much. Also thank you for your fine Birthday card and slippers.

[This typewritten letter dated April 20, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Willard's sister, Phebe, has breast cancer and just left for the hospital for surgery. Geraldine heard Madam Chiang (Kai Shek) speak. Willard talks about some of the Foochow missionaries. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton
Conn.

April 20th. 1943.

Dear Geraldine,

This is to tell you specially that ten days ago Aunt Phebe discovered a lump in her left breast. She saw Dr. Edson about it and he told her to have it out. He took it out with local anesthetic on Monday April 12th. She got to the hospital, Griffin, at 7:00 a.m. In the afternoon she came home. She was about the house and only rested more seriously and did no lifting. She went to see the doctor last week but he was in bed with the gripe or flu that is quite prevalent about here. Wells, Dan and Seymour were all in bed with it last week for most of the week. They are up now. Yesterday, Monday April 19th, she went and found him up. He had phoned the evening before and asked her to come. He told her that at first nothing serious was found but later as they examined more carefully unmistakable tissues of a serious nature were found. The sooner she had the whole breast taken off the better, for such growths sometimes progressed rapidly. It is now 4:00 p.m. Tuesday April 20th and she and Aunt Mary have just left for the hospital. She expects Dr. Russell of New Haven will perform the operation. Dr. Edson will be there and possibly give the anesthetic.

Yesterday when the Aunts stopped for me at the service station where I took my car to be serviced, I opened the door as they drove up on Aunt Phebe's side of the car and I felt the second I looked at her that the news was not good. She is bearing up well, and slept well last night. The doctor said she had taken it in the very early state and there should be no trouble. At the same time it is not a condition that any of us would voluntarily chose. The doctor says she will probably be in the hospital about two weeks.

Yesterday was a sour cold drizzly day. Last night the mercury went down to 38 degrees. This afternoon it is brighter and warmer. The grass is beginning to show green but there is not much of it yet. I have written to some of you that I hope to do something toward raising food this year. I have two hundred lbs. of seed potatoes, and two hundred lbs. of fertilizer promised. Uncle Ben is chairman of vegetable gardening in Shelton. He has called a meeting of those interested for this evening at 8 o'clock. I hope to go. But Aunt Mary has taken Aunt Phebe to Derby and my car is being brightened up and I may not get there. Mike Stobiersky is plowing and this afternoon is disking the east end of the long meadow south of the house for potatoes. He is putting in nice acres of potatoes, he says.

Geraldine's letter received yesterday was very interesting. Specially the part about her hearing Madame Chiang. No one has in my memory made such a deep and favorable impression on the American people. I have been asked several times how she does it. I say because she asks nothing for herself and very little for Chiang alone. What she asks is for others as well as for herself. She is selfless. She is urging people to be good. Her text is really the Golden Rule. AND she lives her preachments. In their comments on her influence on her talks and on her character, I do not find any buts and ifs. She is real.

Guy Thelin is home after a long trip. Charlie and Peggy Storrs are also home. And several are starting for China this summer. Helen Smith, Merlin and Eunice Bishop (Eunice Smith, Helen's sister) Susan Armstrong and Hazel Atwood. Others are going too. I had a letter from Cong Li Gong (Robert G. Uong) last week. He has sent me 30 small packages of Chinese stamps, to sell. He will use the proceeds to help educate his five fine children. He was an Ing Tai orphan. I had a hand in his education and I married him and our Phebe was bridesmaid.

Lots of love to each of you,

Father

[This postal card dated April 27, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. Aunt Phebe is doing well after her breast cancer surgery. Aunt Mary also got to hear Madame Chiang talk, but in New York. Postal card donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton, Conn.

April 27- 1943

Dear Jerry:-

This is specially to say that Aunt Phebe is doing very well indeed- Sat up over an hour yesterday. Stanley and Myra plan to arrive on the evening train today. We 3 plan to dine at the Clarke Hotel in Derby and go see Phebe. They go to N.Y. on a morning train tomorrow.

Dan came down and plowed and harrowed the gardens yesterday. He has bought farm machinery and has rented the aunts farm- except the pasture in front. He is also putting in 20 acres of corn on the island in the river which they own. They have had 2 or 3 head of cattle here all winter and 3 head in a converted big truck near Uncle Ben's house in Shelton. These are giving milk. He also has 3 or 4 head in another place. I have set out 26 lettuce plants and Aunt Mary has planted peas that have not yet come up. We did not have a sunny warm day till last Sat. Apr. 24. It was rain, rain and snow almost every day.

You will write of your visit to Los Angeles and of Stephen etc. Aunt Mary heard Madame Chiang talk in N.Y. No one has ever had the respect, honor and approval of all U.S. people as she has. She was positive, selfless, altruistic, asked for herself and China only what she asked for all. Love Father

[This postal card dated May 1, 1943 was written from Derby, CT by Aunt Phebe to Gerry. Phebe writes that she is doing well after breast surgery. Postcard donated to Yale in 2006.]

[Postcard addressed to:
Miss Geraldine Beard
2508 Parker St.
Berkeley
California

Dated May 2, 1943, Derby, Conn.]

May 1 [1943]

Dear Gerry,

The top of May Day morning to you and the rest of the day to me self if you please. It was a nicest kind of surprise to get your letter and to know that you still love your old aunt even if the doctors are taking turns carving her up. I'm in fine shape now and walking about the hospital at will and taking care of myself in every way possible. As soon as a bit more healing is done and a bit of draining I can go home- about Tuesday they say. Want to hear all about your visit to Leolyn. How is Stephen? Stanley called on me the other evening. Your mother and father come often too. Then we miss that adorable baby and he is just as wonderful as all the stories tell. Wish you could have seen him. With love Aunt Phebe

[This letter dated May 13, 1943 was written from Putnam, CT by Emma to Ellen with an addition by Ellen. Ellen forwards Emma's letter to someone (probably Geraldine) and comments on how well Emma writes with her failing eyesight. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Putnam, Conn.
May 13 1943

Dear Ellen,

I am writing just a few lines to thank you for the "Handy Helper" which you sent me some time ago. It is just what it's name implies, very handy to do very many things. I have it constantly at hand. You seem to find all the helpful kitchen gadgets. Thank you.

We have heard glowing accounts of Elbert's trip to N.Y. and Shelton. We are glad to hear that Phebe is recovering nicely from her recent operation. [According to Jill Elmer Jackson and Edith Beard Valentine, Ellen's brother, Elbert Kinney was interested in Willard's sister, Phebe Beard.]

Miss Thayer has been in the Day Kimball Hospital eight days with Pneumonia. She has been in an oxygen tent for 4 or 5 days, and her recovery seems rather doubtful. Charles had a hard cold and gave it to his wife and mother. Gertrude had the gripe and was unable to attend Martha's wedding which took place May 7 at Suffield. A chaplain she met at the veterans hospital officiated at the wedding. Martha has a furnished home in N.Y. Etta is leaving Saturday for Long Meadow to visit Helen a few days before going to Towanda and Oberlin for the Summer.

She has been mending and sewing for several weeks and has us all fixed as far as clothing is concerned. Today is warm and sunny after three days of rain. It has been so wet that we have not even ploughed the garden, consequently no seeds planted yet.

On Tuesday we attended a meeting of the Windham County Association at Abington. In the evening we heard a very interesting lecture on Australia by Rev. Walker of Waterbury. The lecture was illustrated by colored moving pictures.

Elbert is not here to blue pencil my letter. Hope you can read it but I can not correct mistakes. Hope we are to see you in P [Putnam] this Summer.

With love
Emma

[Added by Ellen]

I am sending you this rather old letter from Emma, not so much for the news in it as to let you see how well she does at letter writing even with her defective eye-sight. The early training of her hand in penmanship stands her in good stead when vision fails.

Mrs. Thayer has been moved from the Putnam Hospital to the institution in Mansfield, Ct. for the mentally diseased patients. She went quite wild at times and it took 4 people to control her. Other times she was quite sane and normal. But a letter since this one says she is failing and has lost her sight.

[This typewritten letter dated May 24, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to some of his children. Monnie and her family are to live in Nelson Forks, British Columbia, Canada. He updates them on some of the Foochow missionaries. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm, Shelton, Conn. U.S.A., May 24th. 1943

Dear Gould and Virginia, Hazel and Willard; Geraldine; Dorothy and Harold; Marjorie and Ralph, Johnnie; Kathleen and Hugh, Jacqueline and Cynthia;

We think of Monnie and Ralph and Johnnie as settled or at least in their home in Nelson Forks, British Columbia, Canada. So all our children and grandchildren are located. We have followed the family of three with great interest as two letters have come from Monnie telling of the route and mode of travel. We still are baited with the query of how they will get from Edmonton to Nelson Forks.

Thursday May 27th.

Helen Smith came to Derby on the 11:05 a.m. I took Monnie's two boxes up to the freight depot and met her. We came home and had lunch and then Mother and I took her to the 2:05 p.m. train to meet an engagement at Fairfield this afternoon. More about the freight. They refused to accept it to be paid for at the destination. Household goods going out of the country must be paid in advance, -that is the freight. I did not have money enough in my pocket to pay, so told them I would bring the money in the afternoon. I went after putting Helen on the train. But they met me with the news that I must make out a "manifest" for the goods. They had no manifests. But after a time a man from one of the manufacturing plants volunteered to get one and leave it there by tomorrow. So I hope to get the boxes ready to start tomorrow.

Helen had quite a bit of news from Foochow and Foochowites. She has met for an hour Mary Frances Buckhout and her husband. You will remember Mary Frances was the lady who lived with Helen and me in Ing Tai in 1940 and '41. [Willard refers to this romance in his letter dated June 2, 1940- they were "sparking".] I married her to Bill McVay. After we left they were sent to Chungking. He was in the Navy as radio man. He was stationed in Foochow, then in Chung King then they came home and he is now appointed to work in Louisiana. They were months on the way home. Guy Thelin got home about five weeks ago. E. Walter and Lucia Smith of Ing Tai with their son E. Walter III are doing well, -so well that they have planned for a brother to keep E. Walter company this summer. Living is very high. It costs most of the missionaries $5.00 a day to live most anywhere in China. Mrs. Bankhardt is dead. The $5.00 above is U.S. currency. Helen, Susan Armstrong, Merlin Bishop and Eunice Smith Bishop are told to be ready to start for Foochow in July.

My potatoes are up nicely. I have hoed most of them before cultivating, - just close to the plants. If all goes well, Dannie will come down with Bucky tomorrow and we will make the grass and weeds look sick. I have transplanted 71 red raspberries and got from May Palmer 13 ever bearing plants and put them in. I have seed for rutabagas and carrots. My hope is to have these for next winter. Salsify and Brussels sprouts are a trial. We have not had them before. The Aunts bought 2000 spruce trees 6 cents each and Uncle Ben is putting them in the ground. I guess it is some job. He has put in a row along the Coram Lane, north of the house. Dan has ten head of cattle in the Spring lot. Annie Belle finds all she can eat of grass in the lane leading to the back pasture and about the yard and north of the house.

The pictures of the newest family came the other day and they are FINE. Johnnie looks like a New York Alderman, and a happy one too. They are very good. They are good of Ralph and of Monnie and of Johnnie. He looks as if he would be a load to carry about. My enlargements came in the same mail. I like them and am sending one to each of you children. I would have them framed and send them, but it will be a bother to pack them so they will not break. I will put a dollar bill in with each and you may get them framed. I cannot guarantee the dollar will pay for the frame you choose but it will help.

Aunt Phebe is getting on very nicely. She is not yet fully in the harness as to work but is fast getting there. Keep writing. Your letters are most interesting.

Love to all

Father

This is the photo that Willard is probably referring to in the above letter.
[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated June 1, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. Marjorie writes that she and her family are on the way to Nelson Forks to settle. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

June 1- 1943

Dear Geraldine:-

Enclosed is a letter to all the children and a letter come from Marjorie in this morning's mail. She wrote it en route to Nelson Forks and writes to have this one sent round. I will make carbon copies and send at once. It will [be] a long time before the last one receives this one if I do not. Their new post is in some ways more isolated than Davis Inlet, - a much more interesting trip to get there judged from this letter from the trip to Davis Inlet.

I am sending this to your old address hoping it will be forwarded if you have moved.

With love

Father

[This letter dated June 7, 1943 was written from Ft. Meyers, FL by Kathleen, to Jerry. The heat and humidity have set in. They expect Hugh will be deferred from military service for at least a half of a year. She updates about Jill and Cynthia. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Ft. Myers
June 7, 1943

Dear Jerry:

At long last I get my lazy pen to moving. The adjective actually applies to me and not the pen but there are lazy days and one is prone to think that things as well as people are lazy. We have settled into a humid summer much earlier than usual this year and it is difficult to keep from sticking to everything we touch. Almost daily showers do help briefly but they also make for perpetual static on the radio so that we feel cheated of our news and entertainment.

So you have moved again! Do you do that sort of thing just for a change or was there some urgent reason? I so hate the sight of a suit case that it takes a war or a transfer order to make me pack one, but maybe you don't have so much junk as we do. I have got so that I don't write your addresses in the book anymore for I have to cross them off too often. I just keep your current one on a loose card in the book. Do you do that with mine too? As a matter of fact we have been half expecting a transfer this month and the possibility of it is not over yet, but we have to keep swallowing those little eruptions of impatience to know, that well up in us, to keep a peaceful spirit. We are almost sure that Hugh will be deferred from the services on account of his work for at least another half year so we only have one worry at a time.

Thanks for the three dresses you sent. I think I can use them with some remodeling. The red one fits alright but I must be a lot bigger than you in the arms and have a longer waist. The blue linen I bisected and will use the skirt with blouses. The dotted one I can't wear till cooler weather anyway so it awaits decision. I find it increasingly hard to get any sewing done for it is too slow by hand and I always have to bother my neighbors to use machines so things just pile up until a move comes, when I get rash and give everything away. Isn't that awful? Last fall I gave away really good things that I could have used for the children but simply had no room to pack. I think they are doing somebody some good tho for the Salvation Army took them.

Jill has been out of school for a week now. I gave her that week for a complete vacation and she was begging for an assignment before it was over. This week we have begun a not-to-rigid program of school work and housework on alternate days to keep her from getting rusty and to help me a bit. She and C. do a little cleaning, keep their room straight, help with dishes and washing and Jill is going to learn to sew some too. There is talk of a community vacation program but it is slow in getting started and it would all be so far away from us the J. may not be able to participate. Our own recreation is rather cramped here for there is no way of getting to the beach, as in St. Pete, and the long walk to town is too hot to make when unnecessary so I guess we will be sitting at home trying to keep cool most of the time. (It saves money anyway.) Jill has changed noticeably this year and mostly for the better. She has developed from practically a baby to a reasoning and sensible girl and we are pleased that she seems so much more responsible and personable. Of course she still has her rough edges and is still awkward and lanky but if she keeps on growing as likeable as she has this year and doesn't get silly adolescent ideas in her head she will be very much alright. Cynthia, poor child, is going thru rather a trying period, coming out of her baby ways and trying to be big like Jill when she can't. She feels terribly hurt, too, when Jill refuses to play with her and from my own childhood experience I tend to sympathize with her. She is still her lovable self most of the time and needs loads of affection. There is one little girl whom they play with two doors away and they divide it about 50-50 between the two houses. Most of the time it woks pretty well but there are fights and squabbles every day or so. Just now my children are over there and the house is very quiet and peaceful, but they may decide to migrate over here at any moment.

Have you read "Last Train from Berlin" by Howard K. Smith? I am almost thru it and am finding it most interesting. It sort of begins where Berlin Diary left off and is especially elucidating about conditions in Germany since the Russian war started. Smith is a smart young fellow and gives a brilliant analysis from his six years in Germany. Simultaneously I'm reading The Secret Garden to Jill so my eyes get plenty of exercise. Cynthia has a sudden flare for Millions of Cats just now and begs Jill to read it nearly every day. Our only family mail for weeks was a letter from Father saying the Monnie is already at Nelsons Forks. Also said he was sending us his picture. Mother's tinted photo is on our piano so natural it almost speaks. Don't you like it ever so much?

The ever present need for nourishment impels me to stir my lazy self toward kitchen. Much love from all-Kathie

Stamped on back: "Vanart Studio, 501 ½ Franklin St., Tampa, Fla."

This photo is probably the one Kathleen refers to in the above letter taken during Ellen's 1942 visit to Tampa, FL.
[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This typewritten letter dated June 7, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He and Ellen visited with fourteen other "Foochowites" at the Newell's home. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
 Century Farm
 Shelton
 Connecticut

June 7th 1943

Dear Geraldine:

Last Friday Mother and I went to spend the nite in Putnam and go to Uxbridge the next day to a get-together at the Newell's of 14 Foochowites. I have just returned home and had a nap. I have an engagement in Seymour tomorrow so I came back early. Mother is staying for a week or more. Your letter was waiting for me. I have the "shoe" coupon, have stuck it onto this sheet and am getting just a word off to you in air mail envelope to make sure you do not go limping about the streets of Berkeley and Oakland on bare sore feet.

We found Aunt Emma, Uncle Elbert well. Aunt Etta had been gone for a week. She went to Helen's first then to Donald's then to Myron's then to Oberlin. I think that was the order. She is likely to stay at Oberlin for some time. But she plans to return to Putnam for next winter.

At Uxbridge we met Mr. and Mrs. Newell and Dwight. Mrs. Cushman (Betty Cushman Thelin's mother) Guy and Betty Thelin with their two sons Mark and Robert, 7 & 9. Ned and Helen Smith, Susan Armstrong, Mrs. Rinden. We had a good dinner together at the Newell's and had a picture taken and had a lot of good conversation. The day was perfect and all thoroughly enjoyed it. Helen and Susan are told by the Board to be ready to start for Foochow any time after July 1st. They go by boat to India then either by plane or Camel to Chung King. Then by plane or some other way to Foochow.

It is Aunt Abbie's birthday and she and Uncle Ben have just come so I must stop now. I also found a letter from Monnie, - just arrived in Nelson Forks. I will copy this tomorrow and mail a copy to you. So this is all for this time.

Lots of love.
Father.

Fri. ther. stood at 90 degrees
?? " at 50 degrees

[This letter dated about June 1943 was written from Shelton, CT by Ellen to Geraldine. She sends photos of grandson, Johnnie, and updates Geraldine on other missionaries from Foochow. Letter donated by Yale to family in 2006.]

[About June 1943]

Dear Geraldine,

I am sending you some photos that we had taken of Johnnie while he was here.

There were earlier ones taken which Marjorie may have sent you, but these I ordered specially for you and I am sending the other sisters and Gould the same.

Father thinks, - or rather we heard thru Mrs. Frazier our pastor's wife who was in the Griffin Hospital to have a baby boy (their second); and thru Rev. Mr. Graham the Seymour Cong'l Ch. minister who called on her there, and thru Mrs. Space his parishioner, that Gould is away again, - somewhere. And Father thinks he may be in China. For Father remembers that when he was here last, he dropped a remark whose implication was that he might go to China some time. Father thinks he would certainly want much [to] visit Foochow in case he went to China, but whether that would be possible for him in his capacity, is doubtful.

We shall be interested to hear about your visit to Los Angeles. I wish I could have let you know, before you went, that Ray Gardner, formerly of Shaowu mission lives there, with his wife and two sons, - or he did live there 12 years ago. He was teaching in a high school in the suburbs. Do you remember him as a boy, on Kuliang, summers?

A letter from Mr. Smith formerly of Ing Hok, this week told us that Helen, the eldest daughter, and Eunice and her husband Mr. Bishop, were intending to return to Foochow this summer to be ready for the fall opening of the work. Miss Armstrong and Miss Atwood were going with them. That must mean that they are flying by Pacific Clipper for the A. Board would hardly take the risk of sending them at this time. What a trip they'll have! The Storrs and Mr. Wiant of Meth. Mission came home that way a few weeks ago. They flew from Chungking to India and from there home. I wish I could see them and talk with them.

[not signed]

[This letter dated June 18, 1943 was written from Putnam, CT by Emma to Geraldine. She updates Geraldine on the various relatives. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Putnam, Conn.
June 18 '43

Dear Geraldine,

Since my failing eyesight allows almost no reading or writing, I have been asking Uncle Elbert for several months to write you how much we have enjoyed the nuts you sent some time ago. We find nuts a good substitute for meat especially since meat is so short.

These nuts you sent are very good and we thank you. Regarding letter writing Elbert says his middle name is "Procrastination".. and I am convinced.

We had a nice visit from your Father and Mother recently. They went to Uxbridge Mass to attend a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo Newell.

16 people were present.

How we would liked to have seen John Charles Butt before he went to his far away home at Nelson Forks B.C.!

He will be quite a boy when we see him three years hence. Elbert spent several days in N.Y. in April and had a fine visit with Gould and Virginia over a weekend. From the little that Gould can tell of his trips he has made in the last 6 months we judge he is having some worth while experiences. I think he should make a record of these trips. They will be valuable to future generations.

Aunt Etta left about the middle of May to visit her children and to spend a part of the Summer in Oberlin. You know that Fulton is in Aruba, and island north of Venezuela, S.A. and that Stewart and Elizabeth are in Lincoln, Neb. He has been instructing classes in air-plane mechanics. His last letter stated that he might be transferred soon, but did not know his destination. Pearl and Bill were in Woodstock about May 1, and took dinner with us one day. Planting is about one half done. The season is very late. When you try to read this scra[scribble?] remember that I cannot see a word I have written. Let us hear from you once in a while. With best wishes. Love

Emma J. K-

[This letter dated July 11, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Ellen to Geraldine. Ellen talks about a photo of her grandson, Johnnie. She updates Geraldine on various relatives and gives advice on the maple sugar that she sent. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Mrs. Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

July 11", 1943.

Dear Geraldine,

My pen has at last heard the signal "Go", so we are off on the epistolary track, and it was Kathleen who counted the "One, two, three ---!"

In a recent letter from her, she mentioned writing you something about my photograph taken while I was in Florida last year, and that you had not seen it. And I suspect you wondered why I had not sent you one. And I wonder why too, for I had one finished for you as for each of the other children and it should have reached you long ago. But it is one of the things that I have inadvertently let slip. None of the others had to be sent. Kathleen took hers out when she got them from the photographer after I came home. I took Gould's down when we visited there. Dorothy took hers when she came East last fall. And Marjorie took hers when she was here with us so long. But now I will send you yours at once and with it your copy of Marjorie's family picture which they had taken in Winnipeg. They had two or three sittings but all were so poor that the photographer would not even let them see them but said he would take the best one of each of them, from the negatives, and put them together in a composite picture, which he did; that is the reason, Marjorie writes, that her right shoulder fades out. And I think it also accounts for the baby's position. But Johnny's picture looks much as he did when he left us here.

Ralph, John and Marjorie Butt
[Photo from the family of Myron Gould Beard]

She sent a picture of Johnny alone which she asked to have circulated among you children as the expense was too great to have one finished for each of you; but each gets one of the family picture. The two pictures of Johnny alone are now making the rounds starting with Gould who was to send them to Kathleen and she to Dorothy and Dorothy to you, after which they are to be returned to father and me. These two pictures of Johnny alone, I think look fully two months older than his in the family picture. It shows him as so much bigger and fatter than when he left here, as of course he was. But the one in the family picture looks so much as he did when we last saw him that it is hard to see how they could look so different, taken the same day. But we all think they are all very good likenesses of the family.

I took the picture to Putnam to show to Emma and Elbert before starting them round and Elbert was much taken with Johnny's picture,- they did not see him before he left, much as Marjorie wanted to take him to Putnam; for it seemed rather unwise to take him on a train journey just on the eve of their leaving on the long journey as he might catch some germ that would hinder their starting to Winnipeg when they planned to, as the trains were so crowded with soldiers and measles were also around then.

I am glad their journey to Nelson Forks turned out so well; Marjorie had her misgivings about traveling to such a distant place in such uncertain conveyances with a baby, as she had had no experience in that line,- with a baby, I mean.

Perhaps you knew that Aunt Etta rented her house in Oberlin last year, reserving two back rooms for herself which she hoped to remodel a bit to make a home for herself whenever she wanted to be in a home of her own. She has been much with Donald's and Myron's families since she returned from Hilo, and spent last winter in Putnam with Emma and Elbert. It was fine for Emma to have her there, as Emma cannot read or sew at all. She left Putnam, as the enclosed letter from Emmas says, visiting Fulton's wife in Longmeadow and Myron's family on her way to Oberlin, to fix up her house. But she found it so badly out of repair and the cost of putting it in condition to rust or to live in herself was so great that she was discouraged and wrote details to Elbert, very evidently eliciting from him the advice to sell the house. I was there when her letter came and we all thought it wise for her to sell, particularly as she said frankly in her letter that she was somewhat weaned from Oberlin now. Elbert wrote advising her to sell and giving her some helpful directions as to how to proceed. He advised writing the three sons here in the U.S. for their opinion. Donald wrote Elbert he approved and would go up to Oberlin and help his mother dispose of her remaining belongings there, and sell the house. Last week Elbert wrote me he had received a letter from Stewart detailing his opposition to her selling (what Elbert did not state except to say that S. thought he might want some of her remaining furniture after the war was over). So she decided not to sell now and has gone to Donald's for July at least, perhaps for the summer, where, Elbert writes, she has found plenty of sewing. Elbert thinks her daughters-in-law, particularly D's and M's wives are perfectly willing she shall work when she is at their homes. She has trouble with her feet and it was hard for her when Judith, and Myron's baby were little.

Hazel and Willard have gone to camp again this summer for two months, in Maine, Lake Sebago.

By the way, we must all write Marjorie right away, if not sooner, to reach her in the July 27th mail, as she will not get another until fall.

Do write her a good long letter.

Dan has rented the farm for the duration and has put (or Ben has) 14 or 15 cows in one of the back pastures (cows that they are not milking) and two that they are milking have calves. He drives up every night and morning to milk them. He has plowed with a tractor and planted potatoes. He has mowed the grass and loaded the hay by tractor. Last week was a pretty busy haying week, with some wet days too. It means lots of people milling around, for Ben, Dan, Seymour, and two of Dan's hired men; and almost every day Dannie and Beverly and a friend of Dannie's and Wynn ride up and spend the day and sometimes one of the hired men's children. They all bring their lunches but the aunts furnish milk and punch etc. Dannie's pony is up here most of the days. Dan has bought a horse to pull the rake for haying.

Dan and Wells are still doing jobs of building roads, and airports and excavating work with their bull-dozer and other heavy machines, but are taking on the farming so as to be exempt from going to war. Wells doesn't figure in the farm work however; he prefers to office work and riding around supervising their operations and looking up jobs. He is greatly devoted to his year-and-a-half old daughter Marian, who closely resembles her father.

Fulton likes Aruba, has a bungalow all to himself but would like to have his family with him. They have bought a house in Long Meadow near Springfield [Massachusetts], and the entire furniture of another house to furnish it with. His wife Helen and her 4 children are living there.

Emma thinks her quite an able woman doing her own work for a big house, into church work and war work and Woman's Club etc. The children are spoken of as being very fine, well trained children.

Tell us about your new residence and your associate there. Do you like it better than your former arrangement and companion?

Don't let Gwen interest you in any of her Italian men friends.

I hope you'll find the right man sometime, but don't let it be an Italian or a Jew or a foreigner or a Catholic. He may be a Christian Scientist, or a Quaker or a Methodist or a Baptist or a Presbyterian or any kind of a protestant Christian but not the above mentioned.

A recent letter from Mr. Ide said he had retired and now living in Pasadena near some of our Foochow Missionary retired friends.

I hope you are keeping well and not working too hard. With much love Mother

Do write us again soon. Your letters are most interesting.

P.S. - I have thought of another thing that had slipped my mind that I should have written about, so I'll begin all over again.

I ordered sent to you about six weeks ago from Vt. two pounds of maple sugar, as a gift from father and me. It was intended to be an Easter gift but didn't quite make the date. I ordered it thru an old friend of mine in Lyme, N.H. and know that it is the genuine article every grain of it all the way thru. I was ordering maple syrup for all the children who are nearer, but was not quite sure that syrup would travel so well going so far, so ordered sugar for you, from which you can make the syrup by breaking off pieces, put in a small stew pan, add a little water and boiled slowly. I think the tendency is to add too much water and make the syrup too thick; but it must have enough water to prevent its getting too thick and burn before it is all dissolved. A few trials will get the right consistency. But always cook it rather slowly, and watch it carefully as it boils over so easily and you lose some of it. It is always thicker when it gets cold so you allow for that. Let it cool before pouring into a table receptacle as it is so much hotter, than boiling water that is might crack the container. Be careful not to get the hot syrup on your hands for it does burn frightfully. The sugar goes well as candy if broken in pieces. I hope it reached you in good condition. And were you somewhat mystified by the arrival of the parcel? I think it should have bourn the dealer's name so you need have had no doubt of its wholesomeness and quality.

Let me know if you did not receive it and in what condition it arrived if you did receive it.

There! Have I left anything "to the imagination" this time? Ha! Ha!

Please give our regards to all the Morgans when you see them and give us the news from their families. We are having lots of fine large raspberries now from bushes we have planted when we first retired and came home 6 yrs. ago.

Aunt Phebe seems to be as well as ever and does almost as much work as she always has; but Mary now takes the lead in the weekly washing and somewhat about the meals. I think she cannot use her left arm as well as before, i.e. cannot lift it as high, and freely, for when she was buying a dress, the other day I think I heard her give that as a reason (to the sales lady) why she wanted one opening down the front.

Yesterday, Saturday the 10th after lunch we all drove to Munroe 6 or 7 miles away and picked high huckleberries. I never saw berries hang so thick. We pulled them off by handfuls and didn't have to bend over or squat at all as the bushes were all 2 or 3 ft. higher than our heads. We could stand and pick all the time. And the bushes were so thick that I didn't move 20 ft. from the place we stepped over the wall to enter the field. We were gone from the house 2 ½ hrs. and bro't home about 14 qts. of berries. It was the greatest picking any of us ever saw. There were plenty of them left when we came away too.

[This typewritten letter dated July 25, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He is sending Geraldine an extra #18 ration coupon for shoes. He updates her on the farm and the relatives. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

Sunday, July 25th, 1943.

Dear Geraldine:-

Some one got an extra #18 coupon for shoes and I am sending it to you. I think this one is good for some weeks if not months, so I hope you will be able to keep your bare feet off the side walks for the rest of the year. You must be able to get hold of these for yourself some time.

Dan is finished with the haying. That is I expect he calls it finished. I call it a sloppy finish. This is a lot of hay left in the corners of the meadows, - a small load. It has been out to the weather so long that it is good only for bedding. Yesterday he put on an exhibition. There were three plies of cow manure in the barnyard and back of the barn. It has been there for two years. Instead of using a manure fork and pitching it onto a wagon or a truck he took his power shovel and dug it up and emptied it onto the truck. What would Grandfather Beard have said to see his manure subjected to such indignities? It did the job fairly well but there is still a good load in the corners and places where the machine could not get. Dan awfully hates to do anything by hand. He bought an old horse for $50 and either [he] or Dannie have done all the raking. If he had had to do any of it he certainly would have had two men, one on the rake and one on the tractor or pick up.

They have four small calves in the barn here and one in Shelton. Three are heifers and they plan to raise them. The other two are bulls and the various members of the family are already wheting their teeth for veal.

We four went up to Monroe for dry ground bilberries a week ago. We were gone from the house less than two hours and brought home over ten quarts. Did I write this in my last letter?

Nancy and Stanley Owen were here one night last week. Aunt Phebe went to Mr. Palmer's with them and from there she went to Pearl River Saturday afternoon. She plans to stay until Uncle Stanley comes up here with Aunt Myra for a week.

July 18th. I preached in Seymour for the Meth. minister. Yesterday I preached for Mr. Maylott in East Derby. Every Tuesday evening I go down to Pine Rock Park to attend the meeting of the Sea Scouts. Last Tuesday evening Mother and the Aunts went with me and stopped at a Mrs. Patouski or something like that, and I picked them up on my way home. She her husband, three children live in the old Seth Hurd place, the last house on the right as we go down to Mr. Palmer's, the place is owned by a Miss Peale. She took the Russian man and his Vermont wife and their children in for a few weeks until they found a place of their own. The two parties liked each other so well that they have lived together for some three years. The family have bought a house in Stratford and will move out shortly.

Blackberries are ripe in the east pasture and I have been twice and plan to go again when I finish this letter.

With love

Father

[This letter dated August 21, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Jerry. He reminisces on the day Geraldine was born (August 25) on Kuliang in China. He talks about the farm, relatives and acquaintances. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

August 21st 1943

Dear Jerry:-

Here are congratulations for next Thursday. I hope this reaches you in time. Forty five years ago on Kuliang we routed Dr. Goddard out about daylight and Dwight, her husband, was leaving about 8 o'clock to go to Ing Hok. She was in a great hurry to get away from our house. I guess she made it. I may have had to do more things than otherwise but it all came out all right. I hope you have a pleasant day all round.

Things are humming here on the farm these days. Dan or the B.N. Beard Co. have 7 small sucking calves in the barn and six cows to feed them. For the first months Uncle Ben came down each morning about 8:30 and let the calves eat. But for the last three weeks Dan has been getting here about 7:15 with Dannie. Dan feeds the calves and milks what they leave and goes to work leaving Dannie to lead the calves out and ties them to logs of wood out in the meadow. In the evening Dan comes down or from his work about 7. Dannie spends the day here taking lunch with us. Seymour also comes down nearly every evening and helps.

Bucky, Dannies pony, is here all the time- has been since May. In June they bought a cheap old mare to rake hay. Dannie did nearly all the raking with her. She was a very gentle old flug[?] and Dannie and Beverly and Win could do as they pleased with her. Two weeks ago Seymour traded her for a swanky riding horse and Dannie has frozen to him. Seymour rides him nearly every night. Dannie rides very well indeed. He and Dusty- the saddle horse- are just as one piece when he is on him.

The six milch cows are in the meadow north of the barn and they have ten young stock in the big pasture. Also they are pasturing seven for other people. And they have 2 cows and a 3 months calf in Shelton. Uncle Ben cares for them and makes butter. You see there are thirteen in his family to take milk and butter and one calf up there takes the skimmed milk. Dan has ten acres of corn on an island in the river off Coram and 2 acres of potatoes beside many vegetables. They have bought $3000 or $4000 worth of farm equipment since April. Dan said two days ago he had bought a milking machine, separator- cooler and 6 40 qt. cans. So they now have to take care of - feed etc 25 head of cattle and 2 horses.

Gould said over the phone a week ago that he and the family planned to come up for a few days Aug 28. Hazel and Willard will enjoy the horseback riding.

Mother went to Putnam last Wed.- she plans to return before Gould comes. He has been home most of the time this summer.

I dug 4 rows of my 9 rows of potatoes last week. They produced 4 bushels of good potatoes @ $1.75 per bu. They just ?? for all the seed. The other 5 rows are later- still growing. I have a row of soy beans = edible 100 ft long that look fine. The Japanese beetles are trying to eat them up but by picking the bugs off twice a day I keep them down. My rutabagas (turnips) and carrots that I sowed for winter use do not look too good- not enough rain. The raspberries did very well, gave us from one to three qts. a day for five weeks. Blackberries in the East pasture were very thin. I have picked perhaps ten ??- 1 ½ qts. last Friday. The pasture is getting quite dry.

Helen and Eunice Smith- Mr. Bishop were to have sailed for China two weeks or more ago. I sent them an ounce of cabbage seed to take along to Foochow and Ing Tai. But I have not heard a word from it.

You are lately seeing Leolyn, Fred and Nancy by now according to Leolyn's letter last week.

A week ago Uncle Stanley, Aunt Myra and Ruth were here for nearly a week. Aunt Myra was in bed with flu most of the time but seemed all right when they left a week ago Thurs.

Letters from Monnie are less frequent than formerly. They were all well and Johnnie was thriving when they wrote. I judge summers are hot there and insects thick. Kathleen tried working in the Express office but it proved too much for her,-produced a miss carriage- I perhaps ought not to write that, but if you do not write it no harm will be done.

With love
Father

[This letter dated Aug. 22, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Aunt Phebe to Geraldine. Phebe sends Geraldine birthday congratulations. She talks about the various relatives and the farm. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm
Shelton, Conn.

Aug. 22, 1943

Dear Gerry,

Aren't you glad that you have a birthday so that we Augustites at least will be reminded that you are due a letter of congratulations. When you get to be 70 as I did this month you really wish that you could forget several years.

If you were here now you might think yourself set back to the old days for Dan, with his young Danny (and sometimes several of his boy friends and Beverly with her's) and Seymour and Win- 20 head of cows, more or less, a bull, 7 calves- a horse (for riding or driving) the pony and all the activities which these demand almost puts us in a whirl. A well has been dug at the further barn to furnish the truck with water as they considered this easier than to lay pipes, put in a deep well perhaps and bigger motor in order to use our present well. The riding horse is a beauty and gentle as a kitten and all the men enjoy riding it. Danny is devoted to it and rides very well.

I have just had a two weeks visit with Uncle Stanley's family. Nancy and little Stanley Oliver [Owen] came up here for two nights so that we all could see the baby and I went back to Pearl R. with them. Then after Nancy went home, Stanley, Ruth, and Myra brought me home on a vacation permit given Ruth to use her car. I am well over the effects of my operation but for some reason I had two days in bed at Stanley's because of an extreme dizziness which the doctor thinks may have come from some ear disorder for it took nearly two weeks for it to disappear after I got home. It seems entirely gone now I'm glad to say. Poor Aunt Myra went to bed the day after she got here and stayed there until the day before she went home- nearly 6 days. Hers was the grip. She is all right now they write. So our vacations weren't all that we could have wished. I wish you could see Stanley Owen before he gets too grown up. He makes me think a bit of Willard- He is that same Petite little figure- rather solemn on the whole but a delightful little chuckle when amused. He is of course very active and very bright is talking some- puts two or three words together. One day he said, "Me ride me- mule Bye". His father puts him on their old mule in everything like a horse is "Me Mule". When he saw the calves ?? he said "Me Mule". We think because they had no horns for he calls a cow a "cov". He loved to watch the squirrels at Stanley's and will say "Quirl, quirl". Everything he's generally said twice like that. He's a marvelous little traveler. On our way home that day he was as cute as could be- just sat on one lap and looked at pictures and didn't even ask for a drink. They met us in N.Y. in the car so that made it easier. Does Stanley D. love to hold him and is Myra his ?? ??- even Aunt Ruth thinks him a dear and plays with him by the ??.. Nancy is doing a grand job at bringing him up. He has to mind. She is anxious to have him have a little sister- but the doctor tells her to wait at least 3 years. She had to be cut so much that he wants her to have time to be well healed. She is working very hard and looks ?? but seems well and is just as handy as ever with her fingers. She tried on five or six dresses that Ruth, Esther and Becky [see photo of Esther and Becky at end of letter] didn't want so that she could wear them. Much to the dismay of the clerk at Stearns she bought a silk jersey dress- a 42 I believe because she liked the style and color- the clerk said "You never can fix that to wear and almost refused to sell it to her- but Nancy persisted and she made a lovely dress without any apparent trouble. When she went home, unknown to her mother she bought material for a silk jersey ?? and old dress of her mothers in her bag. (She left Sat. night on a midnight train) and are next Thursday. Myra got the new dress all finished as a surprise. With the help question her dress all her own work with an occasional day of help from some ?? woman.

We heard thru Leolyn that Stephen has bought himself a Ford car and has driven it over to see her once and is very proud of it. He has at last finished his "studies" at the plant and has a metallurgistic job which makes him travel all over the plant so he really needed a car for that. Ruth gets letters sometime from 6511 at a time from H.M. who is flying a transport plane for India to China. He gets her letters but not so well as his came thro.

Your mother went to Putnam last Wed. but is coming back at the end of this week for Gould's family are coming for a week's vacation. ?? ?? first part ?? in Seymour the rest- that she's keeping her fingers crossed. The children come home from camp so they can come too. Won't Willard be overjoyed when he sees Danny's riding horse? He knows about the pony. The other day Danny and a friend rode the two up ?? for dinner. Danny has been coming down in the morning with his father to do the chores and playing all day to work of ?? after things. Dan is still doing a full days work at his construction jobs and the farm work is put in before and after and at any stray time he happens to have. When school begins he'll miss Danny who much of the time has done a man's job, especially during haying. Seymour coming in every night about 7 and helps feed the calves and helped with haying too.

Aren't the letters from Kathleen interesting. We all offered a prayer of Thanksgiving when we read of Hugh's narrow escape. She sent a very cute picture of Cynthia in the pretty dress that was bought for Jill when Monnie expected to be married here. We do look forward to Monnie's letters ?? and ??? ?? about that darling baby is news to our ears. He has the most interesting little smile and we missed him so when they went.

I hope that your new house and companion is proving pleasant. We wish that you were not so far away. It seems a long time since we have seen you. You probably are not changing so much as Johnny is but nevertheless we do like a peep at you.

We are canning- canning and then canning these days. I made elderberry jelly the other day and no day goes by but some garden product is added to the closets in the cellar nearly 300 jars already. It is my dry line and the things like corn which like dry weather are fine, never finer I think, but tomatoes ?? my first quality are not too numerous. Wish we could get some of our surplus to you. Your father is raising potatoes for our l??der and they are good.

The family have all taken naps this afternoon and are now coming alive again. ?? to ?? ? – We can get no help in the house- so cleaning has to take a back seat. I can do just about so much and then I have to stop. I give my advanced age as the reason.

Hoping that your birthday will be a happy one and that there will be many more of them. I am,

Yours with much love,

Aunt Phebe

Left to right as identified by Stanley Forbes (son of Nancy Beard Forbes): Esther Haviland, Nancy Beard Forbes, Becky Haviland Zurner

[Photo from negative in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated about October 1943 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Dorothy to Jerry. Willard and Ellen are planning on going to Florida for the winter. Dorothy would like to go to Florida for Christmas but feels it would be unpatriotic. She is having success with her Victory Garden. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Saginaw, Mich
Sunday
[Early 1943]

Dear Jerry:-

I just don't know where time goes to! Don't the week-ends just whiz by when you're working. There is so much piled up to do on Saturdays and Sundays that I never seem to get it all done.

Last weekend we had company-friends from Royal Oak, who came up to go Pheasant hunting with Harold. The men went out early in the morning (Sun.), came back to dinner and went out all afternoon again. Jane and I stayed at home and got dinner and visited. They got six or seven birds and said it was the best hunting they had ever had. Harold didn't get any, so they left one for us, and we did enjoy it.

Mother sent me letters from Monnie and Aunt Emma. I should have sent them on long before this. I also have two photos of Johnny that I must send on to you this week. Mother wants those back.

I do want you to know how delighted I am with that striped blouse you sent for my birthday. I bought a brown winter suit and wear that blouse with it a lot. I have looked high and low for a jumper to wear it with, but have found none to suit me, so am going to have it made. I've received many compliments on it.

We have enjoyed the magazine "Arizona Highways". When Harold does get time to read it, he really enjoys it, but we don't always get the time to read the latest issue clear through and before long reading material piles up and magazines go down stairs unread. We always look at the pictures and enjoy them. I have saved every one of the magazines and thought I'd take them down to school. Some class ought to be able to make good use of them. I'm afraid our "trip west" is only in the long distant future, now. When are you coming East again?

What do you do with your food rationing stamps? - give them to your land-lady, or are you cooking for yourself, now? If you ever have any extra sugar stamps, we'll trade you for anything you need. That seems to be the only rationed article that bothers us.

How did your "picking" vacation turn out? Did you get rested or all tired out? Do you get those A-1 large prunes out there? We did until they went on ration, and now all I've seen are the smaller ones, that aren't quite so sweet. Those were delicious!

It was good to hear about all those Tankites again- Jippy, Dottie and Ish. Yesterday was Ish's Dottie's birthday. I hope my card got to her on time.

I'm well into our Volleyball season now. A game a week. We won our first game and lost the second. I do hope my girls can take this week's game. I have good material and they are a dandy bunch of girls to work with.

Mother writes that she and Father are going to Florida for the winter. They are trying to get a room or apt. near Kathie, for she hasn't room enough for them. Father probably won't stay as long as Mother wants to. I am trying to persuade them to come out here for Thanksgiving, and go direct to Florida from here. Would I ever love to go down there for Christmas, but again it couldn't be patriotic, I suppose, nor very pleasant travelling.

From Monnie's letter it seems as tho they were more isolated and alone up there, than they were in Labrador. It is too bad that all of Johnny's babyhood days and years will be spent way off up there. I suppose the silver lining to that cloud would be that there will be no interference in his early training by fond and doting Aunts, Uncles and Grandparents.

I'm so anxious to know how Cynthia likes school, and I haven't heard a peep from that part of the country for a long time.

We really did reap quite a harvest from our Victory garden. Still haven't dug our carrots and beets. The corn was the only big disappointment. The potatoes didn't do too well, but we got almost 2 bu. I canned more this summer than I ever have before. During the summer when we were eating fresh vegetables, I used my vegetable ration points to do a little hoarding for canned things for the winter like fruit juices and things that I didn't can much of, so, all in all, we have quite a supply in our cellar.

Would you send me a list of things that you would like for Christmas. It would help a lot - and soon, please, for I'm determined to get my shopping done early this year. We hear that they are going to ask people to mail their Christmas packages in Nov. this year. Can you keep a package that long without peeking?

Now that I am working again, I am also determined to send you money for your bicycle, that I've been using so long now. How much would you have sold it for. Please tell me.

I have only your summer address, so if you've moved again, this will have to chase you.

Very much love,

Dot.

[This letter dated Oct. 3, 1943 was written from Ft. Meyers, FL by Kathleen to Jerry. She talks about her family and hopes that Willard and Ellen will come down to Florida for the winter. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Ft. Myers
Florida

Oct. 3, 1943

Dear Jerry:

Today I was thinning out my accumulated letters and suddenly had the urge to write you. It must be nearing the time for your next move but maybe this can be forwarded to you. I was just reading your letter telling about your prowler scare and hope you haven't been bothered again. But how do you sleep without air? I can sympathize with your feelings, for Hugh is gone every other night and this cottage is a mere shell. I had felt quite safe until a month ago when some neighbors said they had seen a prowler and then Mrs. Logan (landlady) began telling me some things that happened before we came. Hugh got to work and "burgler proofed" the house, as he called it, by putting a bolt on the back door (previously unlockable) and securing my window screens from inside, but for several nights I heard house-breakers all night and even slept with the hammer handy. Now the fear has worn off some, but don't know what I should do if a real occasion arose. I hope you get situated where you feel quite safe for it is bad to have your sleep wrecked.

Are you going out picking any nuts or fruits this fall, or is the danger of poison oak too great? I do hope somebody picks prunes soon for I haven't been able to lay my hands on a dried prune in months, and they are a must for Jill's regularity. Right now local fruits and vegetables are at their lowest, and apples and grapes are almost prohibitive in price. The crazy grocers would rather let them rot in the store than bring down prices. Persimmons are beginning to come in and we all love them. Citrus will be ripe in another month.

Cynthia is a school girl now and Jill is a fourth-grader. C. loves school but is impatient for some "hard work". She comes home chanting the cutest little rhymes such as

1-2-3

1-2-3

I don't drink coffee, I don't drink tea
Milk and water are better for me.

And she jabbles on and on about her little friends and all that she does. Poor child had to miss all last week on account of a bad cold and fever but will go back tomorrow. She also had to miss promotion day at Sunday School last week, and the department party. Jill graduated out of my class and department and C. came into my department. I would feel lonely without one of my children in there.

I have had two good letters from Monnie since she got to Nelson Forks and have been so busy that I simply haven't written. My curtains are all dirty and sewing piles up in mountains before me, but even having the children away all day doesn't leave me much time. I have been making more speeches on China, and another one next Tuesday. Also had some P.T.A. work put on me so it will be a wonder if I even get my dishes done. It's too bad I'm not one of these energetic efficiency hounds so that I could make every minute count, but I'm slow geared like Mother, and simply have to take my time about things or nothing goes right.

Mother wrote one letter during the summer that sounded as if she and Father are really planning to come down for the winter, but her subsequent letters have said nothing more about it. I know they will like Fort Myers but I only wish we could put them up. This shack has no extra beds and we are a mile from anything of interest in town so I don't know how it is going to work out if they can't bring their car down. I do think, tho, that it will be best all around if Mother leaves the Farm for awhile and gets away from the Aunts. Their accounts of Dan's farming up there this summer have been very interesting and amusing. They must have been much engrossed with the activity it created for every letter from there had much to say about it.

The local Exp. Agent and his wife and daughter (whose place I filled at the office in August) went to California for their vacation. If I had known they were going there I would have sent something by them for you, at least a message, but they never breathed a word about where they were headed for, on account of possible criticism I suppose. Lucille said they went to Los Angeles and Santa Monica so they weren't anywhere near you, but I was a bit breathless when I heard about it anyway. Having been here a whole year without moving has almost roused my gypsy blood again. Anyway I'd like to go somewhere on something besides my feet. We are prodigious walkers by now- all four of us. Even Cynthia can take a two-miler in stride.

Read "The Story of Dr. Wassell" by Hilton if you haven't already. It is so vividly written. "This is the Enemy" is very good on Germany too. I guess every correspondent in Europe has written his book- and so many of them are real good.

Well, how about a few words in your handwriting some day, and if you have moved- your new address.

Love Kathie

Am enjoying the slippers you sent so much. Wish they didn't have to get dirty.

[This letter dated October 24, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He talks extensively about life on the farm. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

October 24th, 1943.

Dear Geraldine

For a month I have been looking for this hour. Life is interesting here and now. The farm is humming. Ten cows go into the barn morning and evening to feed six calves and to give milk for Uncle Ben and Aunt Abbie and their three children and their families. In the pasture are still ten more young stock to become cows in a few months. Four more are about which they are feeding for other people. In the orchard (when they are not on other parts of the farm) are six big (500 lbs.) cows, three [pigs] with seventeen small pigs between them. These are living on Frizbie's pie dough [Bridgeport pie bakery].

[An ad from The Bridgeport Telegram]

Dan brought about a ton or more of this stuff in barrels and boxes and tin containers. He dumped it in the orchard as he brought it up and the pigs go and eat as they feel like it. The only care they get is the water Dannie takes out to them once in two or three days in forty qt. cans and pours into the concrete trough, which is an old sink that Uncle Ben picked up someplace. The little pigs are getting to be some pigs. They run all over – even up to the house. The sows produced nearly twice as many but they had no suitable place for birthing (find that in the dictionary) them and the sows are very large and fat and altogether too logy and the little pigs got the worst of it. But the seventeen are doing all right. The plan is to sell the old ones as soon as the small ones are weaned, for pork. The pigs are plowing up the orchard and the meadow back of the house in fine shape. Then there are Dusty and Bucky. Dusty a fine saddle horse and Bucky a nice little pony that Dannie has had for three years or more. Seymour bought Dusty. But Dannie has adopted him. He is a very pretty riding horse, dark bay and rather fancy looking and knows several gaits. He is very honest and gentle. Dannie goes up to him anywhere and leads him to some stump or elevation, jumps on his back and with only the halter, which is always on him, rides him after the cows or anywhere he wishes. Bucky is supposed to be Win's pony now. He carries Beverly or Jack Butler, Dannie's friend or any of the other children. The two horses are very close friends. Uncle Ben has dressed two calves. Each weighed about 150 lbs. meat alone. So the whole family have had all the good meat we needed for the past two or more months. Another is ready to be converted into food as soon as he is needed. They plan to raise all the heifer calves.

This farm work keeps Dan on the jump. Uncle Ben comes down in the morning and feeds the calves and milks three cows. The milk of one, an Ayreshire, he saves separately for a small child for one of his neighbors. Since last May he has furnished the whole family in Shelton with milk and butter. In the evening Dan comes after work on his bulldozer or shovel, and does the chores. It makes a long day for him, but he seems to enjoy it. Wells comes down once or twice a week and looks on. He seems to enjoy this also.

Dan got the job of furnishing 15,000 yards of loam for the shoulders of a new road running from near Bridgeport to near Shelton. They bought 20 acres of rough land over on the Bridgeport road opposite Platts, and have skimmed off the top of practically the whole piece. They do the skimming with the bulldozer and they also shovel it on the trucks, State owned. Their income on the job is around $600.00 a day. When I tell them something on the farm needs attention the answer is "Will it bring in $600.00 a day?"

My garden has been a pleasure this summer. I got Dannie to lead Bucky and we did a good job at cultivating the potatoes and the empty ground until I had planted the carrots and ruta begas for winter. I dug and sold eleven bushels of potatoes @1.75 a bu., dug them one day and sold them the next. So there was no shrinkage and no bother. I have sold about two dollars worth of summer pumpkins. We picked nearly one hundred qts. of red raspberries. The ruta begas and carrots are still growing. I think they should be very fine, for they were planted late and have grown quickly.

The cattle and horses and pigs make work. Hardly a day passes but they need some attention. Two Hereford steers got so nothing in the line of fence would deter them.

We've not been places much during the past six months. I have an "A" gas ration card and have stuck to it. It has taken us where we had to go. Aunt Mary has an extra allowance for her work with the Missionary society so she has been to Hartford a few times and we have been with her sometimes. I have [been] saving gas hoping to go to see Gould and Ginnie and then to Mt. Vernon and then to Pearl River. If all are agreed Mother and I will start next Saturday and be gone perhaps over two Sundays.

Perhaps I should add a word about the farm. With all the stock, some one has to be about practically all the time if all is to go well. Two of the white headed steers ate some of the garden. One day they got into it three times and no fence seemed to stop them. I told Ben they would have to do something. He put them into the stantions and there they have stood for nearly a month. The pits. Dan or rather Uncle Ben put a wire this side of the orchard and electrified it. That kept them in the orchard, until the battery ran down. Now those pigs go anywhere. But they do no damage. Then with Ben here for an hour or more in the morning and Dan here for two hours in the evening, I am apt to get out to the barn more then as if they were not here. This eats up time, AND interests me.

I wrote to most of you I think that I accepted an invitation to be one of the directors of a Sea Scout Ship at Pine Rock Park last summer. Since it started I have been down to the weekly meetings except three times. The number of scouts is now about twelve. They have a man for skipper that is right onto the job.

This last week I helped Aunt Mary canvass for the United War and Community Fund. I am sending today my report with $43.00. This does not include our own contribution. I plan to put into this envelope (1) a dollar bill that I should have sent for the frame for my photo. (2) a set of five or six photos of machinery and buildings and stock that you have not seen. My Sunday School work is still going on. There were seven present last Sunday.

We have had only two damaging frosts. But these were hard enough to kill all garden plants except such as ruta begas and carrots. I pulled my soy beans to get them from the animals.

Thursday morning, Oct. 28th. It is still raining. Not hard but a drizzle. The weather is not cold, about 50 degrees each morning rising to sixty during the day. This morning I have just been up to Derby to have the car serviced and greased and anti-freeze put in to start for Uncle Stanley's tomorrow. We plan to leave Pearl River next Tuesday and stop just to say hello to Raymond and Mollie then get to Gould's by 5 o'clock. We will plan to spend the Sunday Nov. 7th. with Gould and family.

Letters have just arrived from Kathleen and Dot and one from Jerry only a few days ago. I had a phone call from Gould last nite. Monnie wrote three weeks ago (about) they were all well and Johnnie growing fast, 24 lbs. at that time, and becoming intelligent. I promised Gould I would speak at his Kiwanis next Wednesday and I told Stanley I would speak for his pastor in his Lutheran church in Pearl River if he was insistent, but not to seek the invitation.

The rats are in my soy beans and I want to get them picked off the stalks and hung up before starting for Pearl River. So here's love and all good wishes for you all. Every night and often between times I talk with God about each of you.

With love.

Father

Your letter came a day or two ago. Looks as if you should get to be adept at moving. It clutters up my address book.

I have readdressed two covers from the Life Insurance Co. to you written or ?? from a copy.

[faded words] all right

Love

Father

Written on back of photo: "Dusty (horse) and Bucky (pony)"

Written on back of photo: "1 of 6 big sows. 17 young ones. Sows too big and fat and lazy. Lost nearly half young pigs. They live on Frisby's pie dough and water."

Written on back of photo: "7 calves 3 months"

Written on back of photo: "Taken fr. E. of cow barn

Note

1. New milk house
2. Lean-to for calves next to big barn
3. Electricity for milking machine, pumping water, lights, separator, refrigerator"

Written on back of photo: "Water wagon 1000 gallons No rain since July 15 Water pumped into wagon from old well just S. of house"

Written on back of photo: "Dan using the power shovel to put loam into a truck"

[This typewritten letter dated December 2, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. The hogs and pigs keep escaping their pens at the farm. Willard teaches Sunday School and attends Sea Scout meetings. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

December 2nd. 1943.

Dear Geraldine:-

The other day I sent you a few picked out pecans. I put them in a cellophane or a waxed bag and I hope they will not be too dried out.

For months I have tried to write you about a fur coat that I gave Mother perhaps twenty five years ago. Her attempts to get it made up were so discouraging that she has given it up. Can you use it? I am pretty sure that it is possible to get it lined reasonably cheap. I do not know if you may have seen it sometime. It is the lining to a Chinese coat. There is plenty to make a good coat. And the fur is fine quality. Mother has renounced all claim on it and I have cared for it for years. I am tired of looking after it. If you can use it drop me a line and I will mail it to you for a Christmas present.

It was good to see Stanley and Myra last week and hear the good accounts of you which they gave. It was next best to seeing you yourself. Gould and Ginny and the children were up the week before. They drove up Thanksgiving day morning and went back that evening. We sat up Wed. evening until about 11:00 when Ginny phoned that Gould had not got home and they would not come that evening.

Mother and I were at Uncle Stanley's the last Sunday in Sept. and at Gould's the first Sun. in Dec. We were away eleven days. It was a good rest for me.

The weather has been ideal for two weeks. The stock is increasing all the time. Uncle Ben has just driven in with a new cow bought yesterday at an auction in Milford. This is the list of stock

Cows and heifers	21	Horses	2
Bull	1	Hogs 5, pigs 15	21
Calves	11
	33

With fences very poor and with good weather so the stock has the run of the farm with not much to eat, it means there is much "getting out". Until two weeks ago the hogs and pigs stayed fairly quiet. But the last two weeks, perhaps more, they have taken to wandering far. And when a 500 lb. old sow decides to go places she usually goes. One day I went to Fred Bennet's after three and three small ones. The next day I went down to Mrs. Frenches. Today I have looked the farm over and found her at last down in the Goose lot. Uncle Ben is now at work on a fence to keep them in the orchard.

Monday evening I attended a teachers meeting for the Sunday School. I "teach" the Bible class. Tues. evening I attended the regular Sea Scouts weekly meeting at Pine Rock Park. Last evening Mother and I attended a meeting of the Scout and Cub leaders of the vicinity at the Veteran's Home in Derby. That's three evenings in succession.

This afternoon we all go up to the church to a sale. I have made some Boston Brown Bread for the sale. I have sold a loaf to Phebe already.

With Lots of love and the best of Merry Christmasses to you.

Father

[This note dated about Dec. 1943 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He asks if Geraldine would like an old fur coat that Ellen does not want to keep. Note donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

About Dec 1943

Dear Geraldine:

For months I've had it in mind to write you about a fur that I bought and gave to mother years ago. She looked in New Haven for a man to line it and makes fur coats for herself- that was her intention when I gave it to her. But the place she consulted wanted over $100- she gave up the idea. I have taken care of it for years and some time ago she told me to do whatever I liked with it. Would you care for it? From all inquiries I have made it could be lined and made into a fine coat for 30 or 40 dollars. If you can use it I will be glad to mail it to you.

With love
Father

You may have seen this fur. I bought it in Foochow. It is a lining from a Chinese coat.

[This letter dated Dec. 4, 1943 was written from Pearl River, NY by Myra Beard to Jerry. She talks about various family members and mentions a hurricane that hit California where Jerry lives. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Mrs. Stanley D. Beard
88 North Main Street
Pearl River, New York

Dec. 4, 1943

Dear Jerry,-

This came back a week ago but I thought you would not need it. How do you like "your" writing?

We hope the reports of the hurricane around Oakland and Berkeley were exaggerated in our papers.

Nancy and baby arrive Thursday morning in N.Y. The train is due before 7 AM. so Stanley, Ruth and I will stay in over night to be there to meet them.

We will go to Pleasant Hill for Christmas day and Phebe, Mary and your father will be there too. Your mother will be in Florida with Kathleen.

We wanted the Long Hill folks down here but then Betsey asked them there to meet with us. It made it much easier for them to drive only that far in bad weather. So far it has been nearly zero and the reports are for still colder weather tonight. I surely envy you the nice warm weather. Have your rains started yet?

Fred (Nancy's husband) will be up too but does not come until just before Christmas. We have found them a second hand Ford, two door sedan and they will drive back in it.

If you find smudges in this letter, blame it on a very playful black kitten which we brought back from Shelton. I was so lonesome without Ginger that we got it and it is lots of company and we all love it already.

Here's hoping that you have a very nice Christmas. Will you try to go to Kits?

Love

Aunt Myra

How do you like the suit? Was it as satisfactory as you hoped?

[This letter dated Dec. 14, 1943 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Willard and Ellen to Geraldine. They drove up to Putnam, CT. Willard's brother, Ben, keeps them well supplied with meat. Ellen plans on spending Christmas with Kathleen and Willard will go to Florida later. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton
Connecticut

Dec. 14- 1943

Dear Geraldine:-

This is to ask you to open that package I sent you- a round package and use it at once or begin to. It will last over Christmas if used wisely.

Mother and I drove up to Putnam last Friday and back home Sat. Found all well and comfortable. We went and returned over the charter Old Bridge- cut the mileage to 97 miles. It used to be 105. We went Thursday to come back the same day. But I- knowing all the persons- suggested that we throw in our nightgowns. Sat. morning the ther. stood at 8 degrees above zero and there were 1 in. + of snow on the ground and the wind 50 miles an hour. The car started the first try and we left at 10 o'clock. We picked up a Storrs student at Mansfield. He and Mother had a good talk fest all the way near New Haven. We drove to Derby for lunch. The next morning my starter refused to make a sound. But Aunts car took me to S.S. Dan, Elizabeth, Bonnie and Billie Frazier were at lunch Sunday.

Week before last I was out three evenings. Last week four and drove to Putnam the fifth morning.

Uncle Ben keeps the Beards in meat- veal- beef and pork. The meat of a 400 lb. hog is hanging up in the old ice house now- frozen solid. He finds some of the family rather particular.

We enjoyed Stanley and Myra's account of their visit in Berkeley and you.

Here's a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to you.

and lots of love

Father

[Following written by Ellen]

Dear Geraldine,

To answer your question where I will be on the 25th, if all goes well I'll be with Kathleen. I start the 21st. Father does not plan to go so early but I hope will come later.

Did you receive the carton of bayberries? I hope so. It was mailed about 10 days ago. The carton was larger than you indicated but I couldn't get one that was just right. Most of them were too small. The gov't has commandeered them all, so store keepers can't give them away. I hope you'll keep the good lot of string around the carton, as it is good string and may be useful to you. I hope it held the carton together. Please let me know how the contents arrived. Any berries left on the branches? With love,

Mother.

[This letter dated Dec. 20, 1943 was written from Putnam, Ct by Elbert Kinney to Geraldine. Etta is staying with Emma and Elbert for the winter. He feels that Ellen does not enjoy living at Century Farm with Mary as the boss. Elbert keeps busy helping the 10 widows and 10 "old maids" on his street. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

E.C. Kinney
32 Center St.
Putnam, Conn.

Dec 20/43

Dear Geraldine,

You know that it has been our custom for many years to send pecan nuts as Xmas gifts to our nieces and nephews.

This year, I guess the real paper shells (Schley's) have gone to war for where I have usually got them, I could get only the ordinary ones, and rather than send them, we have sent English Walnuts, which I purchased here thru a friend of mine, a manager of a chain store.

As you are right in the country where they came from it seemed foolish to send them right back from where they came, - So- as we do not know what you would like we are sending the enclosed money order and let you get your own gift. Aunt Etta came the day before Thanksgiving and will spend the winter with us. I think she rather enjoys being with us. We certainly enjoy having her for she is so much company for Aunt Emma. While she likes to be with Myron and Donald, I can read between the lines that the children rather get on her nerves for a continuous stay.

Aunt Emma is just fine with the exception of her eyes. She cannot read or sew, but gets about O.K. to do her work.

Your mother and father made us a flying visit a week ago Friday returning Sat. We wanted to see your mother before she left for Florida. She leaves tomorrow the 21st. I hope she has selected a train that stays in the track for you have seen in the papers of the terrible train wreck of two Florida trains in No. Carolina a week ago where 50 or 60 were killed. Your mother has aged a great deal in the last year I think and does not look too good to me. She has lost weight although she says she feels well. She does not enjoy living on the farm you know. Your Aunt Mary is boss and what she says goes, and living under those conditions does not make for good health. I doubt that any of your Aunts on your father's side would care to live there for any length of time.

I hope that she will stay a long time in Florida and with its sunshine and congenial surroundings she can put on some weight. Of course you need not broadcast what I think of the above statements. Of course you have heard that Stewart has a little girl, Millicent Stearns Hume. Stewart said in his last letter that he would like to come East when he has his furlough in Feb I believe if he is not sent over before, he wants to take advantage of the half fares and has not been East for some time, but it seems to me quite a trip for that young lady, of course. Grandma and all the rest of us want to see her.

You know of course Pearl has been very sick last reports state she is improving slowly. We have not heard from them in several weeks. Dr. Pease has been in bed for 10 weeks with a heart ailment, improvement very slow. I doubt that he will ever practice again. Mrs. P- fell and broke her hip a year ago, gets around with cane, is blind in one eye, and hears with one ear.

Bruce, Edith's boy 9 years old has been sick a great deal, so Edith is having a hard time with caring for the house and teaching school. I have helped them out where they need a man; I seem to be about the only man in our neighborhood available. So with 10 widows and 10 old maids on our street I have plenty to do to keep them all going.

Now of course we are only one of your many relatives and I know you are very busy, but we should like to hear from you, or shall I have to send you one of my booster letters. I thank you for whatever is in your Xmas gift which came several days ago. My sisters would not let me open it, which I think is a dirty shame. We all wish you a very Merry Xmas and a Happy New Year.

Sincerely E.C.K.

[This letter dated Dec. 28, 1943 was written from Putnam, CT by Etta Kinney Hume to Geraldine. Her son, Stewart, is the father of a baby girl. She updates Geraldine on the rest of her family. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

32 Center St.

Putnam, Conn

Dec. 28- 1943

Dear Geraldine

You were so helpful to the P.O. by sending your gift early, that we waited many days wondering what the mysterious package contained.

It was a timely suggestion for us all, for you do not receive as many letters from us as you should, being so far from your family. Thank you.

We envy you your climate now, as we are having around zero. The day I arrived, Nov. 23rd, we were having a small blizzard, so Elbert and Emma did not meet me in Springfield as they planned. Since then we have had only flurries, and a green Christmas.

Am glad your mother is enjoying the Florida sunshine. Your parents spent one night with us just before she left.

No doubt you heard of the R.R. accident in the South, just before your mother went, I think. Some cars were derailed and were across the track on which a north bound train was due; no effort was made by the train crew to flag the coming train. It ran into the cars across the track with great loss of life. Our 2nd cousin Mary Porter of Woodstock, was on the derailed train, but her car remained on the track and was not injured.

You have heard of the arrival of Millicent Stearns Hume in Lincoln, Neb. I almost went out there, but Grandma Stearns had the priority I thought. They say the baby looks like Stewart. I hope he may be allowed to remain with the family. It is doubtful tho. He took a course in airplane mechanics, and was retained as one of the 50 instructors as Sgt. Now they are sending fewer students to that Base, and are shipping the instructors some where else, so his tenure of service there is uncertain. They have a little apartment, and are as happy as one could be in war time.

He sent us nice photos of himself in uniform. I can note that the out side work has been beneficial to him physically.

Helen has been in Aruba with Fulton two months, and only yesterday did we hear that she had arrived, and it took her only 8 hours by plane from Miami! She has so many to whom to write, she probably left it to Fulton to write his family; and his superior and 2 officials of the Company have had the flu, so he has had to put in extra hours. They also had a house to furnish, and Jan 1st are moving into a larger home. John and Helen Jr. are with them. Ann is in Smith College, and Marjorie is at the Russell Sage College of Nursing in Troy N.Y. It is fortunate that the University of Beirut helps largely with their education, as their father was a Prof. there.

Millicent writes nearly every week, and I write to her the same, so she does not seem so far away. Dick has been ill and probably will not fully recover unless he takes a vacation. He has never taken much time off, only week ends. As soon as travel is resumed I think they will fly over to the Mainland. Millicent is on her second year of teaching, because teachers are so scarce. She has a maid, so can conveniently do it. She has a car of her own now, and is sorry she did not have it when I was there. I took only one long trip, as Dick always wanted his car on call. We went to the volcano and National Park.

Aunt Emma's eye sight is about the same tho she thinks the far sight slightly improved, as she can see movies a little better. She cannot read or sew and there is when I can be of help. She seems to be proficient with her general work.

Dr. Pease has been in bed two months with a heart trouble for which there is no help. His pulse is very low=37. I do not know how they would get along without Edith. Mrs. Pease was afflicted with a broken hip last winter, but is able to get up- down stairs now without the aid of a cane.

During the summer I was with Myron's family 14 weeks, (on two visits) helping Janice do some canning. She had never done any before, but attended classes in Victory canning. They had a small garden, and with Myron's and my help she canned 412 pints.

I was in Alliance 9 weeks on two visits but escaped the canning there as Helen has a woman two days a week. They had a garden and canned about 25 qts. I enjoyed my grandchildren, especially the youngest was Elliott (Myron's 2 ½ yrs) and Judith (Donald's very active 3 year old.) Elliott is a handsome child- looks like his daddy they say, but handsomer than his daddy at the same age. He has an adorable smile, is slow about talking. Judith looks like Millicent, is very bright and active. Talked very young and sings many, many songs. I also spent a few days in Youngstown with Dr. and Mrs. Stearns, Eliz parents. He is head of the Conservatory of Youngstown College. I also spent a month in Oberlin with Mrs. Winkler while her husband went to the Pacific Coast to see his mother and sister who were ill.

It gave me an opportunity to look over the things which remain in my store room (which was Willis' study). The children have taken some furniture. The house is rented. I tho't some of selling it, but Stewart didn't want it sold.

I wonder when you are planning a vacation. Janice's sister is in Los Angeles- a Secretary. You may find her some time at 922 W. 30th St. Alice Ruth, she is coming to her home in Elyria and to visit Janice about this time- after Christmas. Happy New Year.

Aunt Etta.

Aunt Emma- Uncle Elbert say thanks for your Xmas gift- Happy New Year.

Kathleen sent us a picture of her family. They all look fine. The girls have grown since I saw them. Beautiful hair Cynthia has.

The Elmers 1943

L to R: Jill (Jacqueline), Kathleen, Hugh and Cynthia

Written on back: "Taken by our landlady's home. Dot says it is good of all but me and (tactfully) that I look tired.

The truth is that I'm simply showing my age."

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated Dec. 29, 1943 was written from Shelton, CT by Phebe to Geraldine. Phebe thanks Geraldine for the Christmas gift of towels. She updates her on various family members. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Dec. 29, 1943

Dear Gerry,

The package with the pretty rose set of towels was among my gifts at the foot of our little cedar Christmas tree and I surely thank you for this most useful and attractive gift. You had the cutest card, too. I shall be humbled to save this set to dress up a guests towel rack and here is a very hearty "Thank you" for the gift and the ?? that that sent it.

We have pictured you in your home as presented by Stanley and Myra and Elaine's note told how glad they are to have gone there. We feel our mouths water when we hear about steak ?? ?? some out of door fire place. We can have steak anytime here for Ben is furnishing all the family with beef-pork and veal but I fear we would not enjoy it out of doors if the thermometer has been flirting with zero and ?? now for nearly a month. We had a lovely sunny day for Christmas but it was cold and we drove to Pleasantville to spend it with the Palmers and Stanley's family also came over there. Nancy and her family were there too. We had the heater going both ways and got out the old buffalo robe to augment the two wool robes and so did not get a bit chilled. Stanley, Myra, Mary [or May] Palmer and little Stanley were just on the trip so didn't feel any too peppy. Betsey had been working for a month at the Reader's Digest office and loves it but now that the Christmas rush is over she is hard off. She is hoping to get in again. Becky came back with us for she had to play for a little drama that was given at church Sun. night. You will enjoy having Ruth out I think. She had a very sweet voice and Prof. or Dr. or whatever his title Halasz has helped her to a great degree. She sang "Oh Holy Night" with the choir and organ Sunday before Christmas here- to help Becky and my one who heard her spoke of how much they enjoyed her. She says that H.M. is writing that they are promising that he may come home in Feb. and she is quite excited of course and is ?? to plan for it.

Seymour is enjoying his new work I think more ?? he ?? did his ice company work. He feels that there is more opportunity for him to really advance. He is in the Ansonia part of the Iron Foundry.

I hope that your mother is going to have a real Florida winter with sunshine and warm weather. The awful railroad accident just before she went made her apprehensive but she went off with good courage. One of our church ladies was on that train but did not get hurt so far as we can learn.

I hope that you are fine and we'll be glad to hear how you spent Christmas and about Leolyn's family. ?? ?? ?? about Billy and Polly!

With all good wishes for this New Years- with – love

From

Aunt Phebe

1944

- June 6 “D Day” Allies invade Normandy
- Battle of the Bulge
- Willard and Ellen celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary
September 1944
- Ellen and Willard are living at Century Farm
- Gould and Virginia are in Manhasset, New York
- Geraldine is in Berkeley, California
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie and Ralph are in Nelson Forks, Canada then
Saginaw, Michigan
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Florida
- Willard is 79, Ellen- 76, Gould- 48, Geraldine- 46,
Dorothy-43, Marjorie- 38 and Kathleen- 36.

[This letter dated Jan. 25, 1944 was written from Manhasset, NY by Gould's wife, Ginny, to Geraldine. She thanks Gerry for the Christmas gifts. She discusses the accomplishments of her children and husband. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Mrs. M. Gould Beard

6 Martin Place
Manhasset, N.Y.
Jan. 25, 1944

Dearest Jerry-

What a real treat your letters have been, for they were so newsy, and are so rare.

Your Christmas pkgs. arrived in fine shape, we had to try out the Thumb-it Forks almost immediately on marshmallows in the fireplace and they certainly work beautifully. We can't wait to have our own barbecue in the yard so we can make good use of such things.

With all your talk of steaks and barbecues, we wonder if there is no rationing on such things out your way. For up until just this last week it took every meat point for the four of us to get a really nice sized sirloin steak.

The kiddies games will see many hours of joyful use. With yours, they each received a Flinch pack so we could have a party now. The dominoes are always fun. I remember playing Numerica at Dot's in Saginaw and loved it. All those things are so much more fun now for we can all four enjoy them together.

Jerry you won't believe it. Hazel is 5'2" and weighs 102 lbs and looks simply wonderful and is maturing into a rather pretty girl, when she remembers not to let her appearance slip. Willard is about 4'9" and weighs about 70 lbs. and has been even transformed since he came home from Camp at the end of August. He and Gould have a grand time working together now, when previously Willard just wouldn't be gotten to work with him, he'd just rather play. But not now and he is so much better natured. It is a joy to each of us to see the change.

I think you did know that they both went back to Lake Sebago in Maine this past summer for the second time. It was money so well spent. It did them worlds of good and did any one tell you that Hazel swam a half mile before she came home. The doctors were thrilled for they have been so insistent that she get in every minute of swimming she possibly good [could].

Willard passed his beginners then Intermediate and then Swimmers Red Cross tests and also came home with his Junior Pro-Marksman's badge of which he was justly proud. Also had a ribbon won in their horse show.

Anytime you come they'll gladly take you on in archery. Both are achieving a measurable degree of proficiency in it and Hazel really hits the bulls eye surprisingly often.

It is so grand, having room enough in our own yard for such things without endangering the neighbors scalps and windows. They shoot at about 80 feet with room for about 60 feet of over shooting the target which takes care of them quite nicely. We gave them their big 36" target and tip of this year plus a quiver apiece and new arrows. Gould and I are definitely going to have to look to our laurels or be out-ranked.

So far we have done nothing about our badminton court except to play on the grass but hope to put in a permanent paved court after the war is over.

We managed a grand garden this past summer and I filled over 250 jars of 19 different kinds of foods and do they ever taste mighty good now.

This Christmas we had most of the Spaces in Manhasset for Christmas and it was such fun. Mother and Dad and Lillian and her family (2 boys) came Friday P.M. and left Sunday and then 5 more came for Christmas day only- Roberta and her daughter, were two of those- We sat down 15 to Christmas dinner. Freck [Virginia's brother] had just gotten back from a sojourn in Scotland for Am. Air so it was very very special in many ways. We felt nearly very humbly grateful for so much in so many ways.

Aren't Monnie's letters fascinating? Willard is sure they are in paradise. Gould and I are sure that little Johnny is the most perfect thing they could ever have asked for in this world right now. For it is he that is going to make life interesting in the isolation up there. Can't say I'd enjoy wolves prowling around my front door, can you?

Tonite Gould is delivering a paper before the Institute of Aeronautical Services in N.Y.C.

Did you hear about his receiving the Air Medal along with 4 others for their chartering trip from Newfoundland direct to North Africa non-stop, last April. So that we'd be already to open up just as soon as the Azores were open for the use of the Allies.

Perhaps you haven't heard that Gould- no longer Chief Test Pilot for Amer. Airl. but is now Director of Flight Engineering and has the Chief Test Pilot plus quite a department under him. Of course he still does the very most important tests himself, but he doesn't have time for too much of it, altho he works 7 days a week most of the time, with seemingly absolutely no end to the hours.

We were so glad to get your note to the effect, that the congested breast had all cleared up. We know you must have put in a few bad hours of worry.

Tell Elaine that she simply must look us up should she get to N.Y.

Write when you can and give out love to the folks out there.

Much love from us all

Ginny

Monnie with Johnnie helping to push the wheelbarrow probably in early 1944 –Nelson Forks, British Columbia.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[These two letters dated June 6 and 9, 1944 were written from Florida by Jill and Cynthia Elmer to their parents. They are staying with their Aunt Enid and cousins and tell about their adventures. Letters in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

[written in cursive]

June 6, 1944

Dear Mama and Daddy,

Saturday evening we went to the bay. Margaret has a little car and was going to take Joann to the bay. We were going to the store Aunt Enid, Molly, and I when Margaret pulled up and asked if we could go swimming. Aunt Enid said we could so she rode us back to the house so we could get on our bathing suits. We had a lot of fun.

On Sunday we were planning a picnic with Grammy, Molly, Sally, Cynthia, and I but it turned out to be a bad day so we didn't. But the next day we did. On the way home we saw the biggest and widest snake I have ever seen. It was as big as Aunt Enid.

Last night Cynthia was homesick but isn't now. I do not need ennamus (do not know how to spell).

I think this leaf I'm sending you is pretty so I'm sending it to you.

Love,

Jill

[printed]

June 9,

Dear Mother,

I am having a good time with Sally. I paly balls often, some times she is hurt. Mother can I skate squatting bown [down], because, I know how. Sally and I get nito [into] fighbtts some tines. For you and Daddy, love Cynthia
XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

[This typewritten letter, dated July 24, 1944, was written by Gould to Uncle Elbert. Gould discusses the possibility of arranging a reception in Putnam for Willard and Ellen's 50th wedding anniversary. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

July 24, 1944

Mr. E.C. Kinney
36 Center Street
Putnam, Connecticut

Dear Uncle Elbert,

Pardon this typewritten letter but I seem to have been unable to get to it at home and I want to send Father and Mother a copy, so I have taken the easier way and asked my secretary to write the letter from dictation.

I believe Father spoke to you when you were with him at Grand Rapids concerning a reception for their Golden Wedding Anniversary which occurs on the fourth or fifth of September. I have not, as yet, contacted Dot or any of the other sisters about their wishes in the matter but time is getting short and I believe it is up to us here in the east to make arrangements. Father suggested that the reception could be given in Putnam at the First Congregational Church and that one of the ladies' societies might like to put on the refreshments and decorations, charging enough to make a little extra cash for their benevolent funds. If this is possible, I would be very glad to plan it that way.

I think Father and Mother would very much enjoy a reception where all of their old friends around Putnam would be invited. You probably talked with them more about that than I have and if so, could it be arranged by putting a notice in the local papers to that effect or do you think special invitations should be sent out. Again, I have not talked to the sisters about it but a reception could be given by their children or by the family, whichever you think appropriate. I will plan to be there with Virginia and the kids, although we should plan to have the kids back at school on Tuesday. Perhaps it will not be too bad if they miss the first day of school. Father and Mother spoke of having receptions both in Putnam and Shelton and in that event, it would be very much better if the reception were given in Putnam on the fourth and in Shelton on the fifth.

Could you get an estimate as to how many people might be there and what such a reception might cost if given in that manner? I see I have gone ahead and written the letter as if you had already agreed that this was the right way to give the reception. In my talks with Father, I gathered that you and Aunt Emma thought this was perfectly proper and were in accord with it. However, please let me know your sentiments in the matter as, after all, the reception is being given for Father and Mother and your own people there in Putnam.

The kids went to camp in high spirits and we hope they will return at the end of the summer in high spirits. Virginia and I took a few days in Vermont at Lake Hortonia during one week of my vacation and I am planning to spend another week at Shelton and Putnam when the kids return from camp. Father tells me that Aunt Emma is looking better than she has for years, which is very pleasing to Virginia and myself. The house and grounds are keeping me busy- especially the garden- so that I would have no time to go sailing even if I had not sold the boat. The weather has been very dry here and we are running up the water bill, trying to keep the lawn and garden from drying up.

Let me know your thoughts concerning the reception for Father and Mother as soon as you can.

With love to all,

Gould

Father:

Just a copy to let you in on the arrangements.

Love Gould

[This letter dated Aug. 10, 1944 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Ellen to Kathleen. Ellen would like Kathleen, Jacqueline and Cynthia to come north for the celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary. She includes a page of a letter that she wrote to Willard about a drowning that occurred while she was in Saginaw. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

I'm sending you a part of a letter I wrote to Father while in Saginaw as it gives an account of an incident which happened while I was there and I'll not have to write it again. [See excerpt after letter.]

Century Farm,
Shelton, Conn.
Aug. 10th, '44.

Dear Kathleen,

I'm just home from Saginaw at 10:30 today, after a good trip. My suitcases are not here yet but the aunts are going to town this afternoon and I hope they will bring them home.

Your letter came this noon and of course we are all sorry it does not sound quite so certain that you will come as [we] wish it did. I don't want to urge you too much beyond your own inclination or your judgment of what you ought to do. If you feel it will be too much exertion physically for you to endure, I do not want you to get all tired out, or get no pleasure out of it, because of the effort it requires and the conditions under which it must be made. I know the other three children will be greatly disappointed not to have you present as well as Father and I. We will certainly help you financially if you will come. And when shall we ever all, - or so many of us, ever get together again while Father and I live? Yet we don't want any of you to get sick or wear yourselves completely out doing it.

If you come, each of you will need to bring a spring coat and a sweater for possible cool weather. If baggage would be eased up by leaving yours at home, I could lend you my white wool coat and the aunts could lend you a sweater. But the children's would need to be brought.

You asked if we met many China friends at the Grand Rapids meetings. Yes, we did, quite a number. Mrs. Belcher, Geo. Shepard and Mrs. Shepard, Mr. Smith, Mr. Neff, Mr. and Mrs. Christian, Mrs. Hinman, Dr. Ward of the Am. Board, Dr. Judd, Mrs. Rawlinson of Shanghai, Mr. and Mrs. Gold.

I greatly enjoyed all the meetings but it is so impossible to remember much that I heard at my age.

The meetings, and the visit at Dot's and at Gowanda on their way home, considering the great heat, were all together a little too much for Emma; she was quite tired out, and has done nothing since she returned home. She is having a slight touch of her old trouble but I do not believe it will last as long. She asked that Etta come back as soon as she got home and she came two days later. I am glad it is so she can be with Emma.

Because of her condition we shall not have any celebration in Putnam, and, very fortunately, nothing had been said to any one up there about the anniversary, except Emma and Elbert. So now, nothing will be said about it until it is all over down here.

L to R: Elbert Kinney, Emma Kinney, Ellen Kinney Beard, Etta Kinney Hume

Dorothy suggested before I ease away, that Sept. 1st Friday, will be a better day to have the celebration than the 5th so that those in schools can get back in time for the opening of school as Labor day is Monday the 4th and schools begin the fifth. We all think that is the best for the school-connected families and it makes little difference to us. So I think that will be the date.

I have not been home long enough to talk over plans much; but Father says Mr. Frazier, our pastor is favorable to having it at the church and he has asked the Golden Guild and organization of young married women to take charge of refreshments;- I don't know whether decorations too.

I don't know what we will do about any program, but Father wanted you to play the wedding march. And, I had thought Jacqueline and Cynthia could sing the Chinese song. "Jesus loves me" and perhaps the little song we used to sing when I was there, "Sometimes I say a little prayer besides the one for which I kneel" or the one "Every little flower that grows", "God is love". The first is better, - if not both. Could they learn the words and you the music so you wouldn't have to bring the book? Could you suggest any thing else for a little program? A reading - or a solo? You might read your original poem. This is presuming that you are coming you see. Well, I'll write again soon and tell you about my visit to Ann Arbor while I was in Saginaw. We do hope you can come. Glad to hear about your new house and furnishings. Hope I shall see them all some time.

My heart has been doing well ever since I left Fort Myers and has given me no trouble at all. I have checked up with a Dr. occasionally, here, and in Saginaw once. Am taking only 5 drops of Digitalis a day now. Love to all the family. Mother.

[on a separate sheet originally written to Willard...]

...Today was rather a sad day at the municipal swimming pool where Dorothy sells tickets. A little six year old girl was drowned this afternoon with two life-guards on duty and only 7 people in the pool at the time. Nobody can imagine how it happened. Her two older sisters were with her; she lived just a little way up N. Bond St. The pool was not opened this evening. Two fire companies were summoned and the manager of the pool gave first aid artificial respiration for 20 minutes before they arrived. The firemen used oxygen but she did not respond. They called a Dr. who pronounced her dead. The police came; the news reporters came and many other people came. Her parents were sent for. Life guards, manager and every body connected with the pool felt pretty bad. Dorothy did not even tell me and Harold when she came home to supper, - not until she surprised me by coming home about half an hour after she had left for her evening work, saying they had decided not to open the pool that evening at all. Then she told me why. It will decrease the attendance at the pool quite considerably for some days, perhaps weeks to come.

That was an interesting letter from the Board rooms regarding the location of its missionaries. Your letter was interestingly newsy too. With love, Ellen.

Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary

Ellen Lucy Kinney Willard Livingstone Beard

Married September 5th, 1894

Anniversary Reception

Shelton Congregational Church

Shelton, Connecticut

September 1st, 1944, at 7:30 p. m.

You are cordially invited to be present

No gifts please

MYRON GOULD BEARD DOROTHY BEARD NEWBERG

GERALDINE BEARD MARJORY BEARD BUTT

KATHLEEN CYNTHIA BEARD ELMER

Note spelling of Marjorie – “Marjory”

Willard and Ellen's 50th Wedding Anniversary

L to R: Dorothy Beard Newberg, Harold Newberg, Etta Kinney, Ellen Kinney Beard, Willard Beard, Virginia Space Beard, Myron Gould Beard

The Chinese letters on the banner mean "longevity" according to Willard and Ellen's write-up of the anniversary festivities.

[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson, and also, John and Nancy Butte.]

Willard and Ellen Beard
 [Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

[This letter dated September 26, 1944 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard and Ellen to their children. They relate the details of their 50th Wedding Anniversary celebration. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Century Farm, Shelton, Conn., September 26th, 1944.

To Our Children and All Who Contributed to the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Wedding that took place in Putnam, Connecticut at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Kinney, September fifth, 1894.

Greetings:-

It has been suggested that many of us who have derived so much pleasure and profit from the anniversary held in Shelton on September first, 1944, would appreciate a brief account of the anniversary which they might keep to refresh their memories from time to time, and that others who wanted to be present but were unable to do so would appreciate such an account.

It is difficult to say just when and where the idea was born. But one day the last week in May, Aunt Emma, Uncle Elbert, Mother, and I were together in Willimantic and we talked of the project and each approved. That was about as far as we got. Then the last week in June we four were at Dorothy's and Harold's, with Aunt Mary added, for a few days and we talked more. Just before, Mother and I were at Gould and Virginia's and he suggested that "We children give you a Golden Wedding Anniversary." That seemed to clinch the idea.

The Celebration really began with the arrival of Dorothy, Saturday, August 26th at 11: a.m. She sort of "took over" for the children the arrangements for the celebration. She with Gould's family helped to decide on the change of date to September first. Neither of these families could be here for the fifth, owing to the opening of schools. Geraldine could not change her dates, altho the change of the date made it impossible for her to be present for the celebration. Dot was here to help in getting invitations printed in the Sentinel. We had two hundred invitations printed and about one hundred sent to relatives and friends beyond the reach of the Sentinel.

Harold arrived Thursday, August 31st, about 10:00 a.m. and [was] here to help in decorating the church parlors. Aunt Etta arrived early that afternoon, and Gould and Ginny and family about the same time. Geraldine got here during church service on Sunday, September 3rd. Marjorie and Kathleen were unable to make it.

The decorations consisted of a bouquet of fifty very rare and beautiful yellow roses from the Putnam Congregational Church, gladioli from the Shelton Church, the Huntington Church and several friends. At the wedding in Putnam in 1894 the decorations were golden rod and purple asters gathered from the road sides of Putnam suburbs. We planned to use these flowers at the golden wedding anniversary, but we could not find an aster (they have [or haven't?] blossomed since the hurricane), golden rod was scarce but enough was gathered to make the figures "5" and "0" about 1 ½ ft. high. These were hung on the curtains each side of a large red silk banner which hung behind the receiving line and on which was embroidered with gold thread the Chinese character for "longevity". Chinese gold embroidery hung on the walls, and in the center of the room hung the three Chinese flags under which we have lived and worked for nearly fifty years; the flag of the Old Manchu Dynasty, the dragon in red, blue and green on a yellow background; the flag of the early Republic, five horizontal stripes, from the top red for Chinese, yellow for Manchu, blue for Mongol, black for Mohammedan, white for Tibet; and the present flag of the Kuomintang, red flag in upper left corner of a blue field with white 12-pointed star. A large bouquet of asters adorned the piano. On a table were placed many portraits of the family with a key to them.

On Friday afternoon about an hour before we were to start for the reception, Mother and I and some of the others had the pleasant surprise of our lives. Stanley arrived with his projector and assembled us in the living room of the home here and began a movie. He made no explanation, - just began the reel. It was of a small boy toddling about on a board walk. He was in a sun suit, running here and there, picking up a stick, then a hoe for a grown man, then an iron wrench trying to break a tree stand, then he was sitting in his high chair eating, then on the walk again and putting his hand to his head, then shaking bye-bye with both hands. I wish some kind of a recording instrument could have been attached to the mind of Mother and me. It would have had a time of it. Our reactions were much the same. "It must be Johnnie. No, it cannot be. They could not have possibly have gotten the film, and by no stretch of the imagination could they have sent the film down here and had it developed in time for this, but it surely is Johnnie. No other. Yes, a miracle has been performed. But how he had grown and developed!"

It is still a bit hazy; in my mind just how the picture was gotten. But I think an aviator and a priest had part of a film, just how much Monnie and Ralph did not know. But these two visitors left or I guess sold the part of the film and gave them instructions as how to take the picture and they set Johnnie to going and the camera at the same time and what we saw was the result. They sent the film to the States and it was developed and sent to Gould. His projector was not the right size. He phoned Stanley. Stanley had the right projector so the whole was fitted together and the result was a 100% surprise for us. And it was a perfect setting for the Anniversary, which followed in about an hour.

Kathleen had sent us a song and music which she had composed, and which was to be sung at the reception. So altho neither she nor Marjorie could be present at the reception, they were both represented there in our minds. And the disappointment due to their absence was much tempered.

The bridal party consisted of the bride and groom, Aunt Etta Hume, the maid of honor at the wedding in 1894, Gould and Virginia, Dorothy and Harold, Rev. and Mrs. Donald Frazier. We gathered on the stage, which was curtained, and were led down to the receiving line by Rev. and Mrs. Frazier. The reception began at once. As soon as it was well under way, the ladies of the Golden Guild and their efficient helpers, the Pilgrim Fellowship, began serving cake, punch, coffee and ice cream. At the proper time Mr. Frazier opened the program by calling on Mr. George Wakefield to sing. He sang-"Through the Years", and for a second selection, by request, he sang his inimicable, "The Old Bassoon." Miss Becky Haviland pleased the company with a piano solo. Kathleen's original (both words and music) song, "The Golden Wedding" was rendered by Miss Anna D. Pullem of Huntington. Miss Margueretta Cox of Shelton was her accompanist. This song was very well received. Mr. Frazier then asked Dorothy and Gould to tell what kind of parents they had, after which he called on the Bride and Groom to speak. A final word of appreciation came from Mrs. Etta Hume, sister of the bride. Dorothy incorporated in her remarks the following poem:-

“Toast for a Golden Wedding Anniversary” Leviticus 25:10

“Hallow the fiftieth year! – So Moses said:
For they for half a century have been led
By God’s good hand along life’s upward slope,
Reaching at length this golden crest of hope,
Full well may pause and glance a moment back
Then, thankful, take again the upward track.

“Hallow the fiftieth year! – the year of gold,
By bards and prophets heralded of old!
Life’s rosary of half a hundred years
Told, One by one, with joys and prayers – and tears
Meet now in this, which clasps the holy chain,
And in this hour you live them all again!

“Hallow the fiftieth year! – Servants of God
Who life’s long road together thus have trod,
Your children rise and honor you today;
Friends with this golden milestone mark your way,
So long a path for two to walk as one;
And yet but yesterday these years begun!

“Hallow the fiftieth year! – God grant you still Years with us yet to work his Holy Will,
And countless centuries in the land of bliss
When God has given you all the joys of this!
There, fifty years shall seem a moments play-
For there a thousand years count but a day.”

William E. Barton

Three letters were read; one from the church at Putnam, one from its pastor, Rev. Henry Robinson, and one from Mrs. Robinson, president of the woman’s organization, and one from Dr. Philips, clerk of the church. Mr. C.Z. Morse, oldest member of the Shelton church, volunteered a few appropriate remarks.

Before leaving several people expressed their great pleasure at being present. More than one said it was the finest gathering of its kind they had ever attended. They mentioned specially the remarks by the Bride and her son and daughter. The last person left at about 11:00 p.m. One hundred and ten persons signed the guest book and nearly one hundred regrets for not being able to attend were received. People came from New Haven, Mt. Carmel (near New Haven), Milford, Nichols, Seymour, and Huntington. The spirit of the whole evening was all that we could wish for.

Very Sincerely Yours,

Willard L. Beard

The Words to Kathleen’s Song

“Golden Wedding”

Fifty years together
Is just a memory
A treasure sweet to cherish
On this anniversary.

Life may have its sadness,
Friendships pass away,
But only joys are counted
On the Golden Wedding Day.

Kathleen Cynthia Beard Elmer.

[This letter dated Oct. 15, 1944 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Monnie to Kathie and Hugh. In it she tells of her trip back from Canada and Ralph's release from his job at Hudson's Bay Store and his search for a new job. She talks about her 20 month old son Johnny. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Century Farm
Oct. 15, 1944.

Dear Kathie and Hugh,

This is the first time since we entered the country that I've had a chance to sit down and write a real letter. There has been so much travelling, visiting, laundry (yes, I even had to do some ironing at night because Ralph was coming and going so fast that I have had no evening to myself. And writing during the day is out of the question.

To begin at the beginning; we spent a week at Fort Nelson waiting for a plane. After three weeks of perfect weather, of course it had to begin to rain and be cold after we got to Nelson. But finally, on Sunday Sept. 17th, we were suddenly notified that we were to be ready to leave in five minutes. Fortunately we had kept pretty well packed for we had had two such calls that were false alarms. It turned out that we had to wait half an hour, but we got out on that plane anyway. It was a queerly arranged interior with seats running lengthwise of the plane like the subway cars in New York. And there was no heat so we were each given a blanket to put over our knees. It was noisy too and we had to shout to each other. The weather was still very cloudy, so we flew almost all the way to Edmonton in a fog, and saw nothing. I was disgusted – as well as nervous. I had hoped to see the Alaska Highway from the air. It was bumpy and rough in the lower strata of air when we started up or came down, but we cruised along in a high and smooth layer. We stopped to have lunch on the ground and tho Johnny wasn't eager to eat I managed to get some bread, milk and orange down him. But the poor little thing lost it all when we next landed. I was sorry I'd fed it to him.

We got into Edmonton at five o'clock in the evening. It had taken us five hours from Fort Nelson- and the same trip by train and car a year and a half ago had taken us two and a half days. We stayed in Edmonton until Wednesday night. Ralph did his business with the district manager and I got a permanent in one of the most modern beauty parlors I've ever seen. It was in the large Hudson's Bay Store there.

Ralph went down to see Mr. Milne, our district manager, Monday morning. When he came back I asked him what had happened and he said "We're out of the Company!" I was floored for a minute and felt as if we were terribly on our own, suddenly. It was what we had half hoped for, but when it actually happened, it scared us. Mr. Milne had told him as soon as he reached the office, that he (Mr. M.) had got a letter from the head office in Winnipeg saying that, as Ralph had said he would not take a post where medical aid was not available, and as there was no such post available, Ralph was automatically released from his contract with the Company, because by contract a man must go where he is sent. [According to Nancy Butte, wife of John, John had a convulsion at age 2+ (actually less than 20 months according to this letter) and they decided it was not safe to be so far from medical assistance. That was when they moved to Saginaw to be near Dot.] Everything was "automatic" and very friendly on both sides. Ralph, tho bowled over by the suddenness of it, calmly said – yes, that was satisfactory. Ralph was given an extra month's pay, and our hotel bill was paid in Winnipeg for two days so he could talk it over with the head office, whether they pay our way east is yet to be decided.

We took the train Wed. night for Winnipeg arriving there next morning. Ralph spent the next two days getting permission from the U.S. immigration authorities to enter the U.S. (they were satisfied he was an American citizen on his father's papers), getting our Canadian money changed into American (possible only because we were U.S. citizens) and seeing people we knew at the office. We thought for awhile that we wouldn't be able to get out of Winnipeg in time to reach Detroit by Saturday night. We had wired Dot for $100.00 to use in case we couldn't change our Canadian money. She wired back that Jerry was to be in Detroit Sat. night and they were meeting her. We finally got on a plane leaving Winnipeg at 2:40 Saturday morning and arriving in Toronto at 9:00 a.m. That trip was lovely- northern lights, sunrise above the clouds, and the layer of cloud looking like fluffy cotton, coming down thru the clouds to darkness again for a landing, breakfast on the plane and finally the clearing away of the clouds so that we could see the earth at 6000 feet below. Even tho we hadn't slept before we started, neither of us slept a wink on the plane – I because, as usual, I was nervous. Johnny, tho, slept as peacefully as usual even tho he had to sleep on our laps,- we took turns holding him. The seats in that plane were like bus seats, comfortable, deep, plush seats with backs that let down.

The last hour Ralph was in the Winnipeg office building, he was called in to the office of one of the four highest executives. This man asked him if he was leaving and why. When he learned all the details he was very much disturbed and said that he hadn't understood the facts of the matter. He said they didn't want to lose Ralph and would he consider returning. When Ralph said no, he asked if Ralph would keep in touch with them and if they had something good to offer him in a year, would he consider coming back. Ralph said that would depend on circumstances. And that's where matters stand now. It made us feel much better to be wanted.

Many men are leaving for similar reasons to ours. Just the day before we arrived in Edmonton, a man in the Company for 15 years, left (in the Edmonton office) for the same reason Ralph did. Ralph was advised by two or three men in the Company, who don't agree with the present administration (vastly changed since Ralph's Uncle Ralph Parson's was retired as head of the Canadian branch) he was advised to leave, mainly because they felt that his relationship to Uncle Ralph would count against him in promotion because of jealousy on the part of the men who had not liked Uncle Ralph. So we feel it was as well to get out when we did. But we shall both miss the north and its freedom. We will even miss Nelson Forks sometimes. [According to Nancy Butte, a Native American Chief offered a load of furs to Ralph and Monnie in exchange for baby John.]

We took a two p.m. o'clock train for Detroit, from Toronto, reaching Detroit 20 minutes late at 9:50 p.m. Because Jerry was expected in at another station at 10 o'clock and Dot and Harold would be there, and wouldn't know where we were coming in, I took Johnny and got a taxi across town, while Ralph got our bags out of check. Jerry's train was 20 minutes late, so that we didn't get back to Ralph for an hour. Poor boy, he thought we had deserted him.

Johnny had played nicely with Dot while we were waiting for Harold to bring Jerry, but he went to sleep very soon after the car started for Saginaw. Harold told Jerry at the train that there was a surprise for her. She exclaimed "I bet it's Monnie!" She didn't know we were coming. Our tongues wagged at both ends all the way to Saginaw. We all slept till almost noon the next morning. Even Johnny didn't wake up too early.

It took Johnny two or three days to really become friends with the new relatives. In our own home he made friends with strangers quickly, but in strange surroundings it took longer. Harold might have been the president of the Chamber of Commerce the way he boosted Saginaw to Ralph. Ralph was much impressed, and was all for settling down there pronto. Jerry left Wednesday night and we, Thursday noon. Gould had phoned us in Saginaw telling Ralph that he would give him letters of introduction but that things were closing down in the east. That made Ralph terribly restless. Gould told us to wire him when we were leaving. We did and he and Ginny met us Friday morning in Grand Central, had breakfast with us and put us on the train for Bridgeport. We saw them only about 45 minutes.

Mother and Father met us in Bridgeport and drove us home and at long last our travels were over! I was glad for a 20 months old baby is a nuisance to travel with, toilet-wise.

Ralph went to see his father on Long Island next day and came back Sunday because Seymour had said he would have someone from Shelton Sponge Rubber to see Ralph. Ralph had two interviews there and they tried hard to get him. But neither of us want to live in Shelton. During the following week Ralph had two interviews in New York. One was thru Uncle Stanley at American Cyanamid. They have jobs in S. America, but none were open at the time. We got excited about S.A. for while. The other was at Am. Airlines thru Gould. It was in a new department created to order and distribute stock- Ralph has had plenty of experience in that- but paid only $195 a month for the first six months. Ralph's father told us we couldn't possibly live on that on Long Island. He and Ralph figured that after rent, taxes, insurance etc. had been paid we'd have about $3.50 a day from which to get food, clothing and incidentals!

Ralph was discouraged. A week ago Thursday we went down to Ralph's father's and spent two days, then on to Ginny's for two days. Gould was in California.

When we got home last Monday, Ralph was determined to go to Saginaw to look the situation over again. I had told him I didn't want to live there and why, but it did look like the most promising place and Ralph's father had told him he was a fool if he didn't go out there. Ralph registered with the Selective Service Monday and started for Saginaw last Wednesday. He arrived Thursday and Thursday night he called me. He had got a splendid offer with General Motors, in the personnel department of the Chemical Branch at $240 a month but with the present overtime it will be $300. According to Harold, F.H.A. hours are available at $32.50 a month. Living expenses are less there than the east. Ralph was simply on top of the world and said personnel work seemed just what he wanted. He is good at dealing comfortably with people. I simply hadn't the heart to say no. Saturday morning a night letter arrived saying he was starting work that day. So it's in Saginaw we will be. Johnny and I will stay here until about the end of next week, then we will join Ralph.

Jerry is getting up a real family reunion next summer as you have probably heard, mainly to divide evenly Mother's Chinese things, now that we are all in the country. It looks now as if we shall have to wait till then to see you all, tho it just seems as if I couldn't wait that long. Couldn't you come up just after Christmas, when the trains are a little less crowded and stay as long as the children's vacations will permit? I do want Ralph to meet all four of you, and you to see Johnny, and me to see Jill and Cynthia – and you.

By the way, has anyone you know a 16 mm. movie projector? We took a film of Johnny and it got home in time for the anniversary celebration – intentional on our part – and if you have any way of seeing it we'll send it down to you. We haven't seen it yet, but everyone says it was good.

I've only struck the high spots, but it brings you up to date. I must close and get to bed. Johnny wakes at 6:30 these mornings and it leaves me yawning most of the day. Ralph would join me, if he were here, in sending our best love to you all. Mother, Father and the Aunts do too.

Monnie

Your new house sounds lovely – and doesn't it make you sort of proud to own your own home?

Monnie and Ralph's son, John Charles Butt
[Photo slide from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

John and Monnie Butt

Century Farm
Shelton, CT

[Previous photos from slides in the collection of Jill Jackson.]

The Evening Sentinel, page 3, Saturday Evening, September 2, 1944

Observe Golden Wedding

Dr. and Mrs. Beard Are Honored at Golden Wedding Reception

Dr. and Mrs. Willard L. Beard, of Century farm, Long Hill avenue, last night observed their golden wedding anniversary. Dr. and Mrs. Beard were married Sept. 5, 1894, in Putnam, Conn., then the home of Mrs. Beard, who is the former Ellen Lucy Kinney. The late Rev. Frank D. Sergeant, former pastor of the Putnam Congregational church, officiated.

Oliver G. Beard, Jr., was best man at the wedding ceremony, and Mrs. Etta J. Kinney Hume, sister of Mrs. Beard, was maid of honor.

Soon after the wedding, Dr. and Mrs. Beard left for China, where Dr. Beard was a missionary for nearly 50 years. The happy couple returned from China in 1936, and he was recalled and reappointed by the missionary board to go to China again in 1939. Because of the Japanese invasion of China, they were forced to return in 1941.

Dr. Beard is a graduate of Oberlin College, Oberlin, O., class of 1891. His wife also attended the same college. In 1894, he was graduated from the Hartford Theological Seminary, and in the same year, he was ordained.

The couple, who are held in high esteem and respect by their many friends in the local churches, have five children. They are: Myron Gould Beard, of Manhasset, L.I.; Miss Geraldine Beard, of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Beard Newberg, of Saginaw, Mich.; Mrs. Marjorie Beard Butt, of Nelson Forks, British Columbia, Canada, and Mrs. Kathleen Beard Elmer, of Jacksonville, Fla., also five grandchildren, Hazel Ellen Beard, Willard Frederick Bear; John Charles Butt, Jacqueline Elmer and Cynthia Elmer.

Choosing last night to celebrate their anniversary, because it was most convenient to their children, Dr. and Mrs. Beard were honored at a reception in the Shelton Congregational church, during which they were congratulated by hundreds of members of the Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist and Congregational churches in this city.

In addition to Dr. and Mrs. Beard, the only other member of the wedding party, Mrs. Hume, the maid of honor was present at the reception last night. Miss Geraldine Beard, oldest of the children, who makes her home in Berkeley, Calif., was unable to attend last night's reception and she will arrive on Sunday.

[Newspaper article from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Waterbury Republican, page 8, Sunday Morning, October 29, 1944

Founder of Foochow College Has High Hopes for China

Dr. Willard Livingston[e] Beard of Shelton, and Mrs. Beard Spent Nearly Half a Century as Missionaries in Fuchien Province – Saw Rise of Sun Yat Sen and the Republic – Recalled After Japs Landed in 1941.

Guests attending the wedding of Ellen Lucy Kinney at the home of her parents in Putnam on Sept. 5, 1894, found themselves in a paradoxical mood. It was a feeling described as a sort of heavy-hearted happiness that overtook them when the first strains of the traditional nuptial music filled the gayly decorated room. Their happiness stemmed from the fact that the pretty, popular and serious-minded bride was being given in marriage to a promising young man of Connecticut stock. His name was Willard Livingston[e] Beard of Shelton. He was tall, handsome, nervous and devoted.

Paradoxically, the guests' foreboding sprung from the news that the bride-groom, ordained to the Congregationalist ministry only a few months before, had just been commissioned a missionary to the Far East. [He was actually ordained on September 11, 1894, after they were married.]

This meant that Ellen Kinney's honeymoon would be a distant journey far beyond the famous road Kipling wrote about in the enchanting country where the dawn comes up like thunder "outer China 'crost the bay."

Some of the more pessimistic of Miss Kinney's well-wishers speculated that she might never see her loved ones again.

The soon-to-be Mrs. Beard, however, shared none of her friends' qualms about this possibility.

Of course, the assignment which had just come to her future husband meant sacrifice, but it also contained the opportunity for which he had long awaited – that of spreading the gospel of his Creator among those who had never heard it.

More than a half-century has passed since Willard Beard and Ellen Kinney exchanged their vows and today in lovely old Century farmhouse in the outskirts of Shelton, these venerable missionaries look back with affection on 47 of those 50 memorable years spent among the people who now are giving their blood and resources to defeat Japanese aggression in the Orient.

Time is the only thing that has weighed upon this devoted couple. Were it not for the war and the fact that missionaries, like judges, have to contend with an age limit, both would be back in their beloved Foochow directing the work that needs to be done.

As matters stand, Dr. and Mrs. Beard really have two careers merged in one. They came home to Connecticut in 1936, retired with the appreciation of a grateful American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions for a task well done. Behind them in big and busy Foochow they had left the University of Fuchien, an institution that had grown out of Foochow college which Dr. Beard founded in 1912 with a gift of $3,000.

The war was on in the North, but things were running smoothly in Foochow when this couple took what they thought was their farewell sabbatical leave. Their retirement became only a holiday that was terminated in 1939 when conditions developed abroad that prompted the American Board to urge Dr. and Mrs. Beard to return to China.

Foochow was in the war headlines when the Shelton couple got back to their adopted land. Their return to harness was short. On April 20, 1941, the Japs landed from nearby Formosa and took the city without firing a shot. No harm came to residents of the American compound but the cauldron was boiling, was imminent and the missionaries were recalled. Dr. and Mrs. Beard got back before Pearl Harbor and have watched developments with anxiety ever since.

Foochow, a teeming city of 300,000, is on the China coast just back of the northern tip of Formosa, now a center of the American Far Eastern attack.

When Dr. and Mrs. Beard went there in 1894, it was a large city of north-central China and the capital of Fuchien province. American missionaries had preceded them but a vast amount of work remained to be done in the vineyard.

The Connecticut couple were young and devoted, enthusiastic for their work and were determined to succeed. Mrs. Beard says that the only time she remembers being gripped by a sinking feeling was when their ship sailed out of the Golden Gate in San Francisco [this was before the bridge was built]. "Only then did I wonder about the future," she remarked as she sat before the fireside opposite her husband. Only occasionally did she interrupt the story of their labors when she felt that an interesting point had been overlooked.

It was Dr. Beard who remembered that their association began in the little Tolland county village of Staffordville one Sunday in 1893 [actually 1892, since they were writing letters to each other and were engaged October 1, 1892], perhaps when the young divinity student went there to supply the pulpit. During his sermon he cast an inquiring eye toward the organ loft. He hesitated a moment as he caught sight of an attractive soloist in the choir. After the service they were introduced. Miss Kinney was the teacher at Staffordville school. It developed that she had been graduated from Oberlin college where Dr. Beard had taken his degree [In reality, the already engaged Ellen did not attend until the Fall of 1893, probably in preparation for her upcoming foreign mission work with Willard.]. Both were born in Connecticut, Dr. Beard in the ancestral home on Century farm when that part of Shelton was in the town of Huntington. Mrs. Beard is a native of Union in Tolland county.

Whether it was love at first sight neither said, but Mrs. Beard's smile seemed to indicate that it was.

After their marriage the members of the Congregational church in Putnam honored them at a service of recognition that symbolized the dedication of their lives to the foreign mission fields. "People didn't appear to know just what they should do for a bride whose life was to be spent in China," Mrs. Beard said. "Presents I received were largely gifts of money. I recall that one of my friends decided against sending silverware because she felt that missionaries to China would have no use for such a remembrance."

Their Six Children Born in Foochow

China is close to the Beards. In addition to their extensive work in education and religion, Foochow is the birthplace of their six children. All were reared there until it came time for their advanced education when they came to the United States to study at Oberlin, the alma mater of their parents. Their son, Myron Gould Beard, chief engineer and test pilot of the American Air Lines, is an outstanding aviation authority. Their first child, Phebe Kinney Beard, who followed in her parents footsteps, is dead. The other children are Geraldine of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. Dorothy Beard Newberg, Saginaw, Mich.; Mrs. Marjorie Beard Butt, Nelson Forks, British Columbia and Mrs. Kathleen Beard Elmer, Jacksonville, Fla.

Dr. and Mrs. Beard speak Chinese as do all of their children.

Becoming fluent in the language of the Orient is one of the most difficult tasks the average American can imagine. When the Beards reached the scene of their labors in 1894 and started work the first obstacle to be cleared was the problem of understanding and making themselves understood. The only companions the couple had in the city knew no more of the tongue than they. So Dr. Beard set out to master this task.

"What is this?" is the first sentence he learned to speak. It's a strange combination of sounds, but it was the key to a new world for the inquisitive and ambitious young as America[?]. When the missionaries arrived in China, the revolution was fermenting, but the Manchu dynasty ruled the vast nation and with it the poverty, illiteracy, suffering and superstitions that had held back progress through the centuries.

Dr. Beard's own version of the McGuffey reader in Chinese next taught him how to say "God is light" and "The Light shined in the darkness." For the missionary it did precisely this. It wasn't long before he had grasped the fundamentals and continued study increased his proficiency until he was working in Foochow preaching and teaching in the spoken work of the land. From this time on, his Christian Endeavor began to return dividends.

Dr. Beard says he and his bride took easily to the customs of China, and eventually their life in the American compound was a compromise between that of their native America and the land of their adoption. The good will of the Chinese pleased them tremendously and was a great aid to the success of their work.

Hard Struggle with Chinese Dialects

During their first years, the couple found their greatest challenge in the conflict of dialects. "Many Chinese could never speak the language of their brethren from other parts of the nation," the minister said. He explained that it was the rise of Dr. Sun Yat Sen and the Republic of China that he helped establish, which did more to end this confusion of tongues than any other single factor.

After the revolution and the breaking of the Manchu dynasty China made rapid strides in various sections although that which could have been accomplished was hobbled by the divided leadership that gave rise to dominions of the war lords who ravaged and plundered for their individual gains.

Out of this collection of warriors came Chiang Kai-Shek, China's generalissimo in the struggle against Japan. Dr. and Mrs. Beard have great faith in China's future on the leadership of Chiang and the influence of his American-educated wife.

The missionaries are convinced that China will emerge from the war more united than ever and will lean heavily on Western civilization to bring their standards of living, work and education to the levels of America. The average Chinese, they say, is sold on the United States.

Had First Bicycle in Foochow

Dr. Beard's contributions to the Chinese educational system have been many. He likewise is responsible for other changes. One of the first was the introduction of the bicycle to Foochow. The first of the two-wheel vehicles to be seen in Fuchien province was a Columbia wheel which he brought with him from Connecticut in 1903 following his return from his first furlough. He purchased the bicycle from the manufacturer, in Hartford and got it for half price, $52.50. When he uncrated it in Foochow the wheel posed a new problem for the astonished and admiring Chinese Christians. There wasn't any name in the Chinese vocabulary for bicycle and consequently characters had to be invented in the language that would express it. This task came up with every development in the intervening years which changed the thought light of China and had a bearing on its abstract terms.

How vast these changes have been is seen in Dr. Beard's recollections that 47 years ago one out of every 10 persons could read. Now the ratio is eight in every nine.

Dr. Beard says the transition that has been brought about is so widespread as to be incomprehensible to most Americans. The education of the Manchus was strictly one of committing lessons to memory without regard to the adaptability of the information to practical purposes. The degree system then in vogue meant to the handful of learned who mastered its obligations the privilege of going to Peking to visit the emperor. With the rise to the Republic the days of the queue or pigtail were numbered and out with this went many other forms of ancient Chinese life, many of them predicated upon superstition.

Dr. Beard Founded Foochow College in 1912

The adoption of the national language gave a lift to Dr. Beard's ambitions to found a college. Foochow college held its first classes within 10 days after the Shelton missionary got his first check in a $3,000 gift from his friend, Dr. Goucher of Baltimore Women's seminary in 1912. The missionary continued as president until 1927. He could have been installed as president of Fuchien university but declined the honor in favor of a Chinese gentleman, who was schooled under him. When the Beards were evacuated from China in 1941, Dr. C.J. Lund, who was president of the provincial government, was chairman of the university's board.

Like all missionaries the Beards had to be proficient in many fields of endeavor. Foochow was one of 13 Christian seats of higher learning in China and its courses ranged from the liberal arts, through animal husbandry, other agricultural subjects and science.

When the clergyman found need for his service in the sections outside heavily populated Foochow, he became sort of a Chinese TVA. This was when he went "up country" in Fuchien to teach the advantages of rural electrification. Besides introducing a new agent to lighten the burden of Chinese farmers, the city utility company made concessions to the missionary that supplemented his income for the sponsorship of other forms of education. There were 450 students at the university when Dr. and Mrs. Beard last saw it. It was located in a beautiful part of the city. Its campus contained a number of buildings which, while definitely Chinese in character, reflected the American influence of those who fostered it.

Dr. and Mrs. Beard know the Chinese as the "Most wonderfully cooperative people." They are eager to learn and their devotion transcends all depths of loyalty. They recognize the United States as the "No. 1 good country". Britain is also their neighbor, but in the province of Fuchien the missionary said he was compelled by local spirit to declare a holiday for students once each year. This was China's way of letting England know that it remembered Hongkong was taken by British sea power in 1842 and that the nation is expected one day to return the great base and seaport to China, Dr. Beard said.

Japs Entered Foochow as Inhuman Conquerors

Clouds of war descended over Foochow on April 20, 1941 when the Japanese came into the city unresisted. Although the conquerors from the land of the Rising Sun did not molest the Americans they made life miserable for the native inhabitants. Food was confiscated for their garrisons and, as usual, with the inhumanity of the invader, the women of Foochow suffered intolerably. Before the outbreak of war, with American, the Japs withdrew.

Twice Dr. and Mrs. Beard received the plaudits of their Foochow neighbors. The first time when they thought they were going home for good in 1936. At that time a big reception was held near the harbor as the couple said their farewells. The one in 1941 was sad because most people knew that withdrawal of the American missionaries bespoke evil for the country.

Here Mrs. Beard interrupted to say that it is now that the Chinese need the help of their American friends more than ever and that she would rather be there than any place in the world and she has visited most of its inhabited places.

Her husband shares this feeling. For a man who will be 80 on his next birthday, he hardly looks 65. Tall and rawboned, he has a sharp mind. He assists in the management of his 100-acre farm and was off to bring home and milk a cow when this interview was terminated.

Mrs. Beard, pleasant and retiring, is fully as active as her husband and superintends the household which temporarily includes one of their daughters and her grandson, a yellow-haired lad of 18 months.

The complex political picture is something Dr. Beard refused to attempt to interpret. "You've got to understand Chinese to do and obviously you don't," he said good naturedly. "Suffice it to say that the Chinese understand it and know what they are doing and where they are going," he added. He said this brought him to transportation.

"Our friends in China love the challenge of transportation. They are great road builders even with the limited means at their command. Imagine the progress that will come to the nation when it is possible for our American-made equipment to be taken into the country to open up vast sections. With the war on the Chinese manage to keep buses and trucks operating whenever they can get them. Then they even run vehicles by alcohol and charcoal when gasoline is not available, and very often it can't be had."

Dr. Beard agrees with other leaders that the first objective of Chinese rehabilitation after the war is the development of a stabilized internal economy. This may take some time but when it has been accomplished the prosperity born of it will spread to all the world and to American in particular, he feels.

Dr. and Mrs. Willard Livingston[e] Beard who spent almost half a century in China where Dr. Beard founded Foochow college in Foochow. Here they are pictured at their home in Shelton with their young grandson, John Charles Butt.

When the Beards left Foochow with regret a crowd of Chinese friends gathered on the shore to wave them goodbye.

The Beards were in Foochow in 1927 when mission buildings in the city were entered during anti-foreign riots. This is a typical group of American Mission buildings, a women's college, which was entered by the rioters.

[News article with photos from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1947

- Chuck Yeager breaks the sound barrier
- Dead Sea Scrolls discovered
- Anne Frank's Diary of a Young Girl is published
- Willard and Ellen live at Century farm and Willard dies while visiting the home of Kathleen Beard Elmer in Jacksonville, FL on April 15, 1947 at the age of 82.
- Gould and Virginia are in Manhasset, New York
- Geraldine is in Berkeley, California
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie and Ralph are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Jacksonville, Florida
- Ellen is 79, Gould- 51, Geraldine- 49, Dorothy- 46, Marjorie- 41, Kathleen- 39.

Willard's headstone – Riverside Cemetery, Shelton, CT

Willard L. Beard

February 5, 1865

April 15, 1947

[Photo from James Smith, Shelton, CT researcher.]

Willard's death certificate issued in the state of Florida states that Willard had been in Florida for 4 months and died at 6:10 a.m. of Myocarditis due to Arterio Sclerosis which he had had for a duration of about 3 to 4 years.

From the Evening Sentinel, Shelton, CT

Death notice: April 17 1947

Beard - Jacksonville, Fla. April 15, Dr. Willard L. Beard of Century Farm, Long Hill Ave. Shelton. Funeral services are in charge of the Lewis funeral home. 148 Elizabeth St. Derby and will be held in the Shelton Congregational church at a time to be announced. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, Shelton.

Rites arranged Saturday at 2 for Dr. Beard April 17

Funeral service for Dr. Willard L. Beard, 82 of Century Farm Long Hill Ave., who died Tuesday in Jacksonville, Fla , will be held Saturday at 2 pm in the Shelton Congregational church. The Rev. Howard C. Champe, pastor of the Shelton Congregational church , assisted by a representative of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, of Boston, will officiate. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, this city.

Dr. Beard was a Congregational church missionary in China for nearly a half century, and was retired president of Foochow College, Foochow, China. A native of Shelton, Dr. Beard's life work was with the Chinese of Fukien Province. China, where he was assigned in 1894, with his wife of two weeks, the former Ellen L. Kinney. He returned to this country in 1936, supposedly to retire, but was recalled soon after, and it was not until 1941, and the outbreak of the war, that he returned again to the United States.

Evening Sentinel April 16, 1947

Dr. Willard L. Beard, former Missionary to China, is dead

Dr. Willard Livingstone Beard, a missionary in China for nearly a half a century, and native of Shelton, died yesterday in the home of his daughter Mrs. Hugh Elmer, Jacksonville, Fla., after a brief illness. Dr. Beard had been spending the winter months in Florida, when he was stricken.

Born Here

He was born at Century Farm, this city, Feb 5, 1865, the son of the late Oliver G. and Nancy Nichols Beard. Dr. Beard married Lucy Ellen Kinney, of Putnam, in the Congregational Church there, in 1894 and within two weeks the couple left for Foochow China where they spent more than 40 years. In September of 1944, they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Dr. Beard served as a missionary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in China from 1894-1936. During that period he was released to start a Y.W.C.A. for Fukien province in China and to act as the first secretary for a five year term. For three years he was secretary in this country of the middle district of the A.B.C.F.M. After returning to this country in 1936, Dr. Beard went back to China for two years at the request of the American Board to serve on the missionary staff at FooChow. At the outbreak of the war, he was advised by the consul at Foochow to return to this country. He was a graduate of Oberlin College and the Hartford Theological Seminary. He received his Doctor of Divinity degree at Oberlin College. Dr. Beard was a member of the Shelton Congregational church and served on the executive board and board of deacons of the local church. At the recent annual meeting of the church, he was named honorary deacon. Survivors.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Ellen Lucy Kinney Beard, of this city; one son, Myron G. Beard, of Manhasset, Long Island; four daughters, Miss Geraldine Beard, of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. Harold Newburg, and Mrs. Ralph Butt, of Saginaw, Mich; and Mrs. Hugh Elmer, of Jacksonville, Fla; two sisters, the Misses Phoebe M. and Mary L. Beard, of Shelton; two brothers Stanley E. Beard, of Pearl River, N.Y., and former Mayor Bennett N. Beard, of Shelton; also five grandchildren, Hazel Ellen Beard, Willard Frederick Beard, Jacqueline Elmer, Cynthia Elmer and John Charles Butt.

Dr. Beard was well known and respected and appeared often as a public speaker at the Kiwanis club and other organizations in the valley. His passing ends a notable career during which he was the founder of Foochow College, in China and its first president.

Funeral services will be held in the Shelton Congregational church at a time to be announced. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery. Arrangements are in charge of the Lewis funeral home, of 148 Elizabeth Street, Derby.

[This letter dated May 15, 1947 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Ellen to Kathleen. It has been a month since Willard died and Ellen directs Kathleen on what to do with some of their possessions that they left at Kathleen's home in Florida. She tells about some of the activities on the farm. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Century Farm,
Shelton, Conn.
May 15", '47.

Dearest Kathleen,

It is just a month ago today that Father left us. Altho I miss him keenly at times, it really does not seem so long ago. I am receiving letters of sympathy almost every day and the work of writing acknowledgments is nearly wearing my eyes out.

Marjorie staid with me a week and helped get a lot of them answered but there were many that required a personal response that only I could write and those are the ones that take most time, thought and eye-sight.

So I shall have to be brief and much abbreviated in my letters to my family.

I was to write you what to send up here of the stuff I left. And now I just can't remember what I left.

So I shall have to tell you in general terms and let you use your judgement for the rest.

1. Don't send any sheets.- Keep any that were left. Also pillowcase (if any) and towels.
 2. Look over all that was left in Father's leather suit case and anything in it that Hugh can use let him keep. Anything he does not want you may give to the collection of used clothing for overseas distribution, or local Salvation Army collection, or destroy it if too much worn.
 3. I think there is nothing in his airplane suit case. If you find any thing there, apply the same direction to it as I gave you in No. 2.
 4. In Father's black satchel:- I don't know what is there, but as he kept his important papers there I guess all that is now there would better stay there. When it is sent up, except the following:
 - a) the old bank reports, on yellow cards in tan envelopes, which are of no value now I think and may be destroyed.
 - b) A package of safety razor blades, new, from the "New Process" Co. which Father bought a short time before we went south. Hugh may keep these for his own use. Also Father's safety razor if he cares for it. I think I left Father's barber shears, somewhere, which I do not want and you may keep them if you care for them.
 5. The blue pajamas that the undertaker sent back Hugh may keep. (Harold and Ralph when they were here, each took a new set that had never been worn and which came in the same shipment as the blue ones which Father had worn little.) (The pajama I cut off from Father goes into the rag bag or into the bonfire. So also does my old union suit and my old nightgown.)
 6. If there are more suspenders than Hugh cares for you may send any surplus to Ralph. But let Hugh keep all he can use.
 7. I am not quite clear in my mind as to what suits were left there; but think there was I. a blue suit, and II. a black suit, and an extra III. pair of trousers that belonged to the suit Father was laid out in, that came back from the undertaker's, and IV. the coat and vest Father wore so much and that needed cleaning so badly; V. and the palm beach black trousers I washed so many times and the coat that went with them.
- Let Hugh take his choice of any of these that he can use. And let him exercise the right of priority to the full extent since both he and you are due abundant consideration for opening your home to us and giving us much appreciated help during Father's declining days.

Ralph had Father's winter overcoat. Gould cannot use any of the suits Father left in Jacksonville. I fear they are all too small for Harold. After Hugh has chosen write me what is left. I will send you money to have the coat and vest Father wore so much and the black Palm Beach trousers I washed so much cleaned at a cleaners.

VI. I think Gould, Harold and Ralph all have traveling toilet cases. I don't know whether Hugh has or not; or whether he would care for Father's. It sadly needs cleaning up as I remember. The last time I cleaned it was when he went into Saginaw Hospital. If Hugh cares for it I would be glad to have him take it. Some of the fittings may need replacing. I don't know whether Gould wants those white backed military hair brushes or not. Will find out.

VII. I think Father left a pair of new shoes that he had worn only once or twice. Also a pair of black shoes that he wore every time he went to church or to town. Now does Hugh wear that size or are they anything he cares for? If so, he may as well have them for they are expensive to mail.

The pair of red felt slippers that Father wore so much Hugh may as well use if they fit him and he likes them.

VIII. I think there was a white shirt in the little cabinet drawer made of cloth checked in quarter inch squares, all white. Hugh may as well use that. If there were any good hdkfs. with embroidered initials B in corner, put them in the black satchel before you send it. If any socks were left there Hugh may have them except the green pr. and the blue pr. of wool socks that Gould and Virginia gave Father for his last Christmas gift. Those should go to Gould and may be sent up in the black satchel.

Gould took Father's watch, for he said his watch had gone bad and he was using a small watch that he had given to Virginia. Gould took the ring Father was wearing, which Leolyn and the Morgan family sent to Father for his 50th wedding anniversary gift. It was a gift to James from Aunt Louise when he graduated from high school. When he died, Leolyn kept it for her possible son. But as she can have no more children she gave it to Father. Now Gould says he will take it out to the Coast when he goes and talk with Leolyn about it and see what she wants done with it.

Now what else did I leave? I guess I will have Father's Pullman robe sent up in the black satchel. I don't know yet what will be done with it.

Mrs. Willard L. Beard
Century Farm
Shelton, Connecticut

Dear Kathleen

I am enclosing $5.00 to pay for the cleaning of Father's clothes, and for the postage on the parcel post pkg. to send up the small black satchel and its contents, which will be, what you found in it after I left, minus the old bank reports the razor blades which Hugh is to keep, and minus anything else which you know is worthless. If there are letters in there which you know are worthless destroy them; if you think I might want to see them, the envelopes may be taken off and destroyed if the writer's address is inside.

To fill up the satchel, the Pulman robe may be put in, and the green and blue wool stockings of Father's and any large hdkfs. with the initial B in the corner. I don't know of any thing else that I want sent up now for I can't think what I left. Please send up my Ration Book. Father's Ration Book, of course, may be destroyed, - should be.

If you can find good clean heavy wrapping paper large enough to cover the satchel, I would like to have it covered for mailing parcel post, as it is quite new and wrapping will save a lot of wear on the outside, and the corners and ends of the bag. Buy a ball of heavy wrapping cord if you have to. Parcel post the satchel to me at the farm, for I can give no other permanent address. I shall probably be in Putnam when it arrives.

Our Yale Divinity School student assistant pastor was at dinner with us Sunday (19th) last. He has been for 2 yrs. a member of the Prudential Committee of the A.B.C.F.M. in Boston, representing the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Cong'l Christian National Organization, which holds its meetings once a month at 14 Beacon St. Boston, the Cong'l. House.

This student assistant pastor had just returned from attending the May meeting in Boston and told us that one matter of business the Prudential Com. transacted at this session, was to elect a Capt. for the sixth "Morning Star," a new ship to fly between the Missions of the Micronesian Islands in the Pacific and owned by the A.B.C.F.M.

When I was 10 yrs. old, I used to give my pennies in S.S. to buy and support the first or second "Morning Star? I don't know which. Capt. Garland, of Tank Home was formerly the Capt. of the third or fourth "Morning Star: I forget which. Did I tell you that last time when we were in Oberlin for Father's 55th Class reunion of '91, that after Commencement was over Stewart Hume drove up to Oberlin from Youngstown to meet us with wife and small daughter, and took us to dinner at Oberlin Inn, then drove us around town to call on any of our friends we wanted to see. I wanted to call one Miss Alice Little who was our neighbor when we lived in Mr. Dart's house. As I entered, Miss Little said "Capt. Garland lives here; wouldn't you like to see him?" I was so pleased and surprised that I went right back to the car and brought Father and Stewart and family in and we had a very pleasant call of almost a half hour.

Well, now here is the point of my writing you all this. This student assistant pastor, Mr. Vorba, by name, told us that while they were in session at the Prudential Com. Meeting in A.B.C.F.M. in Boston last Tuesday, electing the Capt. of the new Morning Star, an officer of the Board came in to the meeting to announce that a telephone message had just been received announcing the passing of Capt. Garland of Oberlin! He was 94 yrs. old, I think. Wasn't that an interesting coincidence?! With love to all, Affectionately Mother.

May 19"

I am not using this stationary outside the family.

When Marjorie was here we packed a carton of Father's clothes etc. that we thought possibly Hugh could use. I hope you received it all right. Now if there was anything in it that Hugh or you (I forget just what was in it) cannot use, just give it to the overseas collection or to the Salvation Army.

I hope to send another small carton of things before I leave for Putnam which will probably be a week from tomorrow. Mary drives up to Hartford for a meeting on that day and I can ride up with her and Elbert will meet me there.

Last evening, Sunday, Becky Haviland and her mother's college mate gave an organ-piano recital in the church and we all attended. It was very good. The solos by Robert Johnson, a member of our choir were especially good. I'll send you a program.

The aunts are having the bath room all done over, i.e. the walls and ceiling; new paper and paint and white wash. The paper is very pretty and a great improvement over the old paper. The man who lives in Uncle Dan's house on White Hills is doing the work,- in two days at $10.00 a day. They buy the paper, paint and whitewash.

Tonight Becky Haviland, her mother, her aunt May Palmer and Mrs. Churchill, the pianist all are coming up to call.

Next Friday, Stanley, Myra, Nancy, Stanley Owen all come up to stay over Sunday, their time divided between the two houses, Beards and Palmers. Stanley and Myra are going to Europe soon by air, on business, to be gone about two weeks. Stanley had a physical check-up two weeks ago to see if he was all fit to take the trip, and found he had diabetes. He is taking treatments and hopes to be able to go soon. He has lost 20 lbs. but still weighs 200+.

The men who are keeping horses in the barns and pastures here on the farm have one horse that had a colt two weeks ago. They let it out in the corral one day and when they wanted to put it in it wouldn't go in but kept running everywhere else. So when they got it cornered two men picked it right up and put it in the barn; and how the little thing kicked with all fours. It has proved a great attraction.

Dan, you know, rented the farm from the aunts to run a dairy, when the war was on, as a measure to keep Dan and Wells both out of the army. Then as soon as the war was over, Dan re-rented the farm to another dairyman, or hired other men to run it, and now the third set of men are running the dairy, and the aunts have had lots of trouble with broken fences, and cows all over the door yard, and neighbors telephoning that their cows are walking all over their newly seeded lawns and newly planted gardens, and last Monday, Phebe had to leave her washing and go down the street to drive 30 cows home for not a man was on the place. She got hot, inside and out, and talked to the dairyman and things have staid in place since,- fences and cows.

A store was selling out in Shelton and I bought some socks for the girls. I hope they are not too large. Perhaps you can sew a half inch seam around the toe if they are too large.

With much love to you all and will write soon again. I hope Marjorie and Dorothy have written you all about the funeral and their trip East. I will write more if I can ever get caught up on the acknowledgements. Affectionately, Mother.

[This letter, dated May 20, 1947, was written from Manhasset, NY by Gould to Ellen. Willard has died and Gould briefly discusses some financial matters with Ellen. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

M. Gould Beard

6 Martin Place
Manhasset, N.Y.
May 20, 1947

Dear Mother:

I got home late Sat. night to find a lot of work at the office and plenty to take care of at home. Ginny bumped her head on the garage door and has'nt felt much like doing anything since.

Now to quickly answer your questions. You took your Chelsea Bank book upstairs the last evening we were there. The bank books are all in the safe deposit boxes and I will look at them as soon as either Ginny or I can get to the bank. We still bank on Great Neck when we first lived on L.I. I hav'nt looked at the old check books yet, but will do so before we come up next time and if we have it I will destroy the signed checks.

I am enclosing a letter from Mr. Belcher giving the details of the scholarship Memorial fund. If this is satisfactory to you, let Mr. Champe read it and announce it as he sees fit. I will wait until we see you next time before replying to Mr. Belcher. It is all agreeable to me.

I was to have seen the Mutual Benefit Ins. Agent before I left for the west but we did'nt make connections so I will try to see him sometime this week to arrange method of payment of the insurance on father- I believe you would rather have regular installments rather than one lump sum since installments will give you checks coming at regular intervals which you can depend upon. If you are traveling from child to child you can have them send to my address and we will forward them to you wherever you are.

Please have Kathleen send you all of father's papers etc which he left there. The check book might be with his things left in Jacksonville.

If everything works out well we will be up Friday night, but must return Sat. night.

Lovingly- Gould.

[This letter dated June 1, 1947 was written from Putnam, Conn. by Ellen to Dorothy and Marjorie. She is staying with her siblings, Elbert and Emma. She talks about establishing a memorial fund with the A.B.C.F.M. in memory of Willard. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Putnam, Conn.

June 1", '47

Dearest Dorothy and Marjorie,

You see I have at last got to Putnam. Came last Tuesday with Mary as far as Hartford where Elbert and Emma met me and drove me to their home.

Am writing this brief note to send Gould's letter to Mr. Belcher of the A.B.C.F.M. regarding establishing a memorial fund in memory of Father. If Gould hasn't sent you a copy, I am sending the one he sent me for you to read; then send it on to Geraldine. Need not return it.

Mr. Belcher's reply, I loaned to Mr. Champe, our pastor in Shelton, and he has not yet returned it to me. Will send it as soon as I get it back.

About $100.00 already in hand without any from the family yet except $4.00 from Marjorie. I plan to put in quite a sum when I can make up my mind how much I ought to lay down as a foundation,- a sum of at least three figures.

Elbert and Emma get along very well without much help from me. They think I am tired out and try to make me lie in bed till noon to rest,- even offering to bring up my breakfast to eat in bed! Not done that yet but have not got up to get breakfast for them yet either! Have rested several mornings till 10.

Decoration Day, Friday, we drove to Union to decorate my father's, mother's, sister Mary's [b. Mar. 3, 1865, d. Mar. 6, 1865] and grand parent's graves. Elbert found one corner of their monument settled 6 inches, and on investigating found a big hole under it which will have to be filled with a quantity of earth and stones. He hired a man to do the job and will go up again to see that it is done. We decorated with lilacs and iris.

We went to Mt. Ochepetuck to see the new gov't television structure that has been just built there on land the Gov't bo't. from Dedie Lawson (1/2 acre) for $500.00. It is about 30 ft. X 30 ft. square and 35 to 40 ft. high, all finished, closed and locked, so we only looked in the windows from the ground.

By the way, did you hear that Dedie Lawson died about two months ago and was cremated so that a part of her ashes might be buried beside her husband and children and the other part buried on Ochepetuck, her beloved Mt. We also called on Harvey, her husband [Ellen's cousin, Harvey Lawson], and on Pearl and Bill [Taylor], and took lunch at the Gen. Lyon Inn in Eastford. Pearl and Bill were just up at their farm for two days to plant their garden, (at which they were just then busy). Bill is teaching in Dickinson College in Carlisle, Penn. He is at the head of the dept. of International Relations and has four Profs. under him. They like their present location and set-up pretty well. Their college closes in about two weeks, where they will be up in Woodstock again. Dorothy and Marjorie will you two write all you can think of about Father's passing and funeral, to Geraldine, for she hoped to have a long letter from me which I cannot write now because my eyes are tired out writing responses to notes of sympathy. And enclose this half sheet with Gould's letter and yours to Geraldine so she can get a little something from me. Thank you all for your Mother's day greetings. All were in Shelton on time. And thank you Dorothy and Marjorie for the gardenia corsage.

Geraldine, you remember the Marot School,- it has been bought by a Dr. or a hospital for a "Convalescing House" and renovated and equipped, and last week they had their opening day inviting the public in for inspection.

The lovely fragrant gardenia of the corsage lasted till I came away on Tuesday the 27th refrigerated and taken out at meal times. Love to all six Affectionately Mother.

A. Word-by-Word Translation:

嗚呼 先生，美洲之英，早年 梯海，秉鐸 榕城，
Alas! master, able man of America, early years cross ocean, proclaim truth in Banian City

手 辦 庠序，廣 煦 春風。清 苦 刻 勵，愷 悌 hand establish schools, widely blow spring breeze. self-denial, enthusiasm, brotherliness

圓 融，願 予 小 子，化 雨 親 承，遠 聞 噩 耗， amicability, wish I your inferior, refreshing rain personally absorb, afar hear of grievous news,

悲 痛 莫 名，海 山 萬 里，執 紼 無 從， sorrow pain indescribable, seas mountains thousands of miles, presence in funeral impossible

短 歌 當 哭，用 寫 愚 忱 short poems for wailing, to express my heart

益 知 院 長 千 古
Beard President Thousand of years ("Thousands of years" means to depart forever)

受 業 陳 調 農 敬 輓
Instruction Receiver Ding Diên Nung respectfully submit

B. Explanation:

"Refreshing rain" means valuable instructions

Mr. Ding Diên Nung is now the acting chairman of Foochow College Board of managers.

"Instruction receiver" means student. Mr. Ding Diên Nung left Foochow College long before Dr. Beard became its President. He calls himself "instruction receiver" to show his politeness.

C. Literary Translation:

To President Beard

Alas! you were a man of talent from America. Long ago, you crossed the ocean and came to the Banian City (Foochow otherwise designated) to proclaim truth by opening schools and teaching students with a heart as warm as the spring breeze. Because of your self-denial, enthusiasm, brotherliness and amicability, I wish I had personally receive your instructions. I cannot tell how sad I was when I heard of your death. As I am separated from you by miles of seas and mountains, it is impossible for me to be present in your funeral procession. Instead of wailing, I write this little piece of poetry to express myself.

From Ding Diên Nung, a former student.

[This letter dated Oct. 5, 1947 was written from Shelton, Conn. by Ellen to Kathleen and her family. Ellen attended the American Board meeting in Burlington, VT and tells about the trip and the many people she saw. She spent time with Elbert and went visiting. Ellen explains that in her time women did not announce their pregnancies as openly as now and gives Kathleen her blessings to announce her pregnancy to the relatives. Ellen is planning a trip to Saginaw. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Century Farm,
Shelton, Conn.
Oct. 5", '47

Dearest Kathleen, and all the family,

It seems so long since I have written you that I hardly know where to begin.

You see I'm still here, tho I ought to be in Saginaw, - I'm way behind schedule.

One thing that intervened to put me behind was the American Board Annual meeting which was held in Burlington, Bt., way up on Lake Champlain, which I wanted much to attend, and for which a way opened invitingly.

Mary was to attend officially, by virtue of her position as state president of Women's organizations of which her term of office has expired, but has left her a member of some committees. She planned to drive up and offered me a seat in her car, with two other ladies (one did not go eventually), so after much consideration I decided to go, and I enjoyed the trip and the meeting and seeing old friends very much. At the meeting I met Mr. Belcher, Dr. Ward of the A.B.C.F.M. and two ladies I know in the Board Rooms, but can't think of their names now, Helen Smith, Miss Houston, Miss Lanktree from Foochow, Mr. Shrader, formerly of Foochow and now of the Board Rooms in Boston, and Mrs. Shrader's mother, Mrs. Hand, who was out in Foochow with them for about two years I think. Also I met Mrs. Donald Sick who has brought her eldest daughter to America to enter Oberlin. You know Donald Sick is Pres. of Foochow College. Mrs. Sick was Phebe's pupil in Wenshan Girl's School I think. Her daughter is going to study music in the Conservatory. I don't know where she gets the money for all this travel and study in America.

The scenery of Vermont is beautiful, - the Mts. are rightly named "Green Mts." for they are very thickly wooded and so green to their very tops.

Along the roads we saw many places where Maple Products were advertised. I stopped and bought a little maple sugar for souvenirs of my trip, to my friends. You will receive your little gift of a part of a box soon. It was so expensive that I had to divide boxes to make it go around. So when you are eating it as candy, cut up in chinks, enjoy its sweetness and flavor to the full capacity of your olfactory and gustatory powers!!

It pains me to realize how little of the addresses I heard there, and enjoyed so much, I can now remember, to report. The impressions left by the meeting on my mind and soul are more lasting. Two thoughts were indelibly imprinted on my mind by the addresses, and the report from the mission fields! More missionaries are needed and locally wanted by the natives of all mission fields. And 2. More money is needed from our churches to finance this additional force and their work.

Elbert wanted me to stop on my way back from Vt. in Putnam for a visit. So, coming home, Mary and Mrs. Humphrey, her passenger, from New Haven, left me in Springfield, Mass. at 9 o'clock Thursday night Sept. 25, at the greyhound Bus station and I long-distanced Putnam that I would take a bus for Putnam in about ten minutes. I reached Putnam at 11 p.m., to find Elbert there to meet me, having just arrived home from a business meeting at the parsonage. So I didn't have to get him out of bed. I staid there till Oct. 1st when Elbert brot me down here, Emma and Etta riding as far as Hartford to do a little shopping, and Elbert picked them up on his way back.

Elbert's grapes were almost in the prime, not perfectly ripe, but eatable, so you can imagine I enjoyed my stay there. A frost came the night after I arrived and Elbert had to spray cold water on the grapes with his lawn hose before the sun shone on them the next morning to take the frost out of the grapes so they would not be injured by the slight freeze.

That day, Saturday he wanted to go to Stafford Springs to a fair and have a little vacation and rest from being tied down to home duties, and a day away all by himself alone to do just what he wanted to. He said he would be home in time to pick the grapes, for the radio said there would be a hard, killing frost that Saturday night. I told him before he went away that I would pick some of the grapes while he was gone, I picked two bushels heaped up. He picked a few more just before dark when he got home, but had to spray the rest Sunday morning to save them. I never saw so white and heavy a frost as there was Sunday morning. He covered the Worden grapes on the arbor, with old blankets and quilts over the top and saved them. He let Mr. Robinson, the minister pick some for grape juice and a neighbor above pick some and gave some to three other parties. His pears are all gathered but not his apples. So I had a feast of pears. He has bushels in a freezing unit he rents.

While in Putnam Elbert took us all to Uxbridge, Mass. to see Mr. and Mrs. Newell, formerly of Foochow. She had written me that they expected to be at Penny Farms, Fla. after Oct 1". But as it was my only day left to go, we took a chance of finding them still there and went to Uxbridge Tuesday p.m. Sept. 30". To my surprise, they were still there and we had a very pleasant call. Mrs. Newell has been in the hospital to have her spleen removed. You know Jean their daughter is a registered nurse. Dwight married a nurse and they three got their heads together and declared that their parents should not go south without a physical examination and check up so the children sent them to the Boston Lay Clinic (is that correct) where Mr. N. passed 100% but Mrs. N. should have her spleen removed, - which she did and staid two weeks in the Hospital, deferring their trip south to accomplish that. Mrs. M. is now convalescing at home and getting along well. They go to Penny Farms on Oct. 9". They have engaged the cottage next to the Chapel, I don't remember which side.

Edith Pease came in and made a long call the last night I was in Putnam. Eleanor Carpenter's older sister Marian died of cancer in Falmouth, Mass. just before I reached there and Elbert had taken Eleanor and Mrs. Ballard, Marian's mother-in-law, and Mrs. Ballard's sister down to Falmouth for the funeral.

You remember Gertrude Perry and her brother Gilbert? Their father, George Perry who was in high school when I was there, died just the day I went to Burlington, Vt. and his funeral kept Mr. Robinson (Elbert's minister) from attending as he would much have liked to do, i.e. the Burlington meeting.

Mrs. Bowen, who has lived upstairs on the north side of Elbert's big home for many years since her mother and her husband died (you remember she lived just below us when we lived in the big house and used to like to hear you girls talk and frolic in the little upstairs bed room, - thru the open windows?), she, Mrs. Bowen fell on her back veranda, on a wet spot, and broke her hip and has been in the hospital for 2 or 3 months but is really getting better, at 88 years. We called on her in the hospital while I was in Putnam and she had just that day put her foot to the floor and rested her weight on it for a minute or two, supported by a strong man. A speck of encouragement on a very discouraging case. But she is cheerful and thankful. We also called on another similar case in the same hospital and also one of our Cong'l. church members and financial supporters. And I stepped in to call on an old high school boy who came to the hospital with a toe infected with gangrene. They took off the toe but the wound would not heal. So they took off the foot and a part of the leg below the knee, but still it would not heal. So they took off the rest of the leg way up to the body, and hope he may recover. I know he appreciated my call.

When I was in Putnam, Elbert wanted me to go up into his garage attic and look over some of my things stored there, which I did; and destroyed some things and packed some in a carton to send to Saginaw and some in a carton to send to you, - some things I thought the children might appreciate. If they don't care for them they may give them away.

From here, I am sending a parcel containing some books and a set of grill plates for your electric stove to place between the heat unit and the bottom of the pot so that the contents will not burn. They can be used inside the pot under the food to keep it off the bottom of the pot to insure against burning with an inch or so of liquid under it. They can be used either way, in the pot under the food, as meat, vegetables, or under the pot. I think you will find them a help.

Dorothy and Marjorie keep writing, "When are you coming to Saginaw". And, Gould telephoned Saturday to know when I was coming down to visit them. He said he is going to the Coast to be away at least two weeks. I told him I thought it would be about that length of time before I would be ready to come to Manhasset. I shall stay there only about ten days then have Gould arrange for my transportation straight thru from Grand Central to Saginaw, if possible. Dorothy wrote that they would meet me at Detroit if I could not get conveyance clear thru to Saginaw, if I would plan to arrive in Detroit on Saturday or Sunday when they would be free to meet me. But I hope to get a straight thru passage to Saginaw.

I want to answer a question you asked in your last letter, as to why I wanted to keep your good news a secret up here for a surprise. There is no reason only my natural inclination to wish to make it my own personal matter, when I was going thru the days of young mother hood. And I realize you should act your choice in the matter which is so distinctly your own. So I wholly withdraw my wish to keep it a secret and I want you to write the relatives just as you have wished and planned. I want you to have that pleasure and the way is entirely open for you as I have not said one word about it to any one but Marjorie and Dorothy to whom I showed your letter. [Kathleen is pregnant with Allen.]

Have I given you my congratulations? If not here they are, one thousand strong; if I have, they will bear repeating at the same strength. So do go ahead at once and announce it, as you wish. The ban is entirely removed cheerfully.

Are you keeping well? Do you find your work too heavy for comfort? Is it going easier than the first two? Do be careful about falling or over exertion. If you need my help at any time just let me know for I can come direct to Jacksonville without going to Saginaw at all this fall, if necessary, since I have seen both Dorothy and Marjorie and Harold and Ralph since I have seen you and Hugh and the girls.

Did either of the hurricanes injure your property in Jacksonville at all, or did the wind make you uncomfortably nervous? I thought of and prayed for you all much during the progress of those storms. Give up another letter soon.

Are those winter union suits of Father's still there at your house? Or is there any other good clothing of Father's that Hugh does not want? I want him to take anything he wants and can use, but would like to know what is left there now, that is good, that he does not want.

I am going with the Aunts, to the D.A.R. tonight as a quest to hear a speaker and see pictures of the Atomic Bomb. (Wednesday a.m.) I went last night and saw the picture of the explosions at Bikini, and the lecture by one of the key men of that experiment, a brother of the famous Mrs. Jones of White Hills, and Regent of the Derby D.A.R.

Wednesday- Today p.m. - I am going to New Haven to the Annual State Meeting of Congo. Chr. Churches, with Banquet this evening. Tomorrow we go for all day with the women's banquet at noon. If I keep going to meetings, I shall not get packed up to leave for Saginaw very soon, shall I? Much love to you all and much solicitous prayer for you. Affectionately, Mother

[This is probably an addition to the previous letter written by Ellen Kinney Beard judging from the hand writing. It tells of a church auction held on the farm. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Why! after all, I haven't told you anything about our Church Auction except the statistics of my personal connection with it, on these tiny scraps of paper!!!

Many churches around here have been holding auctions to raise money for the church. Every one in the parish is asked to bring something to sell, which he does not want or can spare, like a rummage sale you know. Only in these events, they have a professional auctioneer come with his secretary and his helper and conduct the sale. He wanted at least 500 articles contributed.

Phebe and Mary offered the farm as a place to hold it, - out in the open of course, - in the back yard between the cow barn and the house. They wanted it in May or June but couldn't get this particular auctioneer whom Mr. Champe, our minister wanted, so it was put off and put off till I feared it would get so cold and windy up here on the hill that people would be so uncomfortable that it wouldn't go very well or be very successful.

But fortunately it was a perfect Oct. day warm and sunny and almost no wind. People came out well, about 200+ here, a very orderly quiet crowd and no noisy boys or prowling curiosity folks. Ladies had to use in door toilet but that was not too disturbing.

Women of the church made piles of sandwiches of several kinds, good big ones, 2 slices and thick filling for men, and some made pies, apple, prune, pumpkin and sold lunches to the crowd; Sandwiches 20 cents, Pie 10 cents Coffee 10 cents. The sale began at 10:30 a.m. and went thru till sunset. Almost every thing was sold. Cars lined the street and the lane and the back fence from barn to gate and then some way in back. They made $349. total. The lunch table in the back yard made $88.00 as all food was contributed by church members. 4 boys tended an iced cold drink in bottles stand and turned in $8.00

Huntington Church had one a year ago and made $700.00. Another Church some distance away made $1000.00. They had antiques and very good things to sell. But the auctioneer told me that he couldn't get big prices in such a community as this for the people didn't have money.

Every body enjoyed the day especially the ladies who managed the refreshments. Folding chairs were brought from the church S.S. rooms so a large part of the crowd could sit. Also chairs brought to be sold of which there were many, as well as trunks and other pieces of furniture afforded seats till they had to be sold toward the last. They had hoped to realize $500.00 but all were pleased with the result.

AUCTION PLANNED BY CHURCH GROUP

SHELTON

Plans have been completed for the auction sale to be conducted by the Church Workers of the Congregational church tomorrow at the Century farm on Long Hill avenue.

Among the articles to be offered for sale are an ice box, vacuum cleaners, dining room suite, radio, bedroom furniture, tables, chairs, glass and chinaware, fruit jars, chests, lamps, antiques, farm implements, freshly canned fruits and vegetables, foodstuffs and other articles.

The ladies of the church will serve a hot luncheon at noon. Roy Gilbert, of Monroe, will be auctioneer.

.

Cars parked along Century Farm driveway for auction

Church Auction at Century Farm

This is probably the table full of pie slices for sale at the Century Farm church auction.
 [Photos printed from negatives in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Oct. 12, 1947 was written from Jacksonville, FL by Kathleen to Mother. She talks about past Foochow missionary families and Hugh's tiring work schedule. Hurricanes have threatened but they had no damage. Kathleen entertained her PEO group and used many of her Chinese items as decorations. She is pregnant (with Allen) and asks Mother about her later pregnancies and how she felt. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

1038 Bunker Hill Blvd.
 Jax 8 Fla.
 Oct 12 '47

Dearest Mother

If you are leaving the farm next week this letter will have to be on its way soon to reach you there. I'm very glad you went up to the Burlington meeting and enjoyed it so much. You certainly saw a lot of friends (is Helen Smith home on furlough?) and a lot of beautiful scenery too. Last week some Express friends of Hugh's called on us and the man said his father was a Congregational minister in Vermont and was at that same meeting. Sorry I didn't know it before the meeting. His name is Rev. Hale and we will have the son and his wife over when you are here this winter. Didn't you write that Uncle Elbert was going to Vermont too? But evidently he didn't. The maple sugar sounds great and we shall enjoy every crumb of it to the full.

The Newells were fortunate to get into Penny Farms so soon don't you think? I was glad to know that they are down here and we shall drive down to see them as soon Hugh's work permits. He is on a rather tiring run now down to Tampa, working two nights out of three and having only two consecutive days at home most of which he has to spend sleeping. He is tired all the time and will try to change for the winter but this way he gets over to see his folks quite often so it is nice in that respect. Do you think the Newells plan to stay in Florida now or will they go North for the summer?

The suitcase of Father's clothes has been stored in the attic so I can't tell you everything that is here but there were several union suits and odd pairs of pajama pants, and summer underwear besides the two black suits and his English hat. Hugh took the blue suit, overcoat, shoes and slippers and can use perhaps two of the union suits, but I think there were five or six of the latter. (you did much more hand washing last winter than you needed to) Do you want me to mail any of those to you or will you wait until you get here?

None of the storms (and there have been plenty of them this fall) have done any damage to us, for which we are thankful. The first one, and worst one, was headed right for us and we were really alarmed for a day or two, then it suddenly veered due west and struck south Florida instead of us. We were glad not to be living in that little Ft. Myers house, for, as you may remember, it was not too firm on its foundation. We felt just a little of the edge winds here and had a few rain squalls but not enough to close schools. The storm that followed right after that one swept up thru the center of the state and passed 30 miles West of Jax. It was not called a hurricane but it brought such bad rains that transportation was held up and schools closed for a day. Low parts of the city were flooded for days and roads badly washed out. After that followed strong North East winds which made extremely high tides at the beach and washed away the concrete sea walls in places. One house fell into the ocean and other houses were in such danger that they sent out radio calls for workers to fill sand bags and help reinforce the walls. The latest storm cut across south Florida from West to East and is now out in the Atlantic but is giving us some rainy weather today. A couple of "twisters", as they call them, have been thru the city lately and have taken off a few roofs and messed up a trailer camp. We didn't feel them but they were a bit to close for comfort. But- "it is an ill wind that blow nobody good" you know, and ever since the first hurricane we have had lovely cool weather – even cold at times – which is a grand contrast after the terrible heat. It has made us feel so much better and everybody feels more like doing things. Last week I entertained my P.E.O. chapter and the Adult Church class. Hugh helped me clean up the house and it looked so nice I wanted everyone to see it. I simply let it go all summer and the job was a tremendous one –but I seem none the worse for doing it. I got out all the Chinese things I could use – bureau scarfs, finger towels table cloths dishes etc. and trimmed up for the P.E.O. Lots of remarks passed on them and I was glad of the opportunity to use them. However as usual, none of the towels were used. I have yet to have my first Chinese towel used by a guest. I served pineapple upside-down cake with ice cream and coffee for the desert lunch to ten members present. It was the first meeting of the year and rather a small one but I'm glad I have my entertaining over for this year both for that and the Church group, for soon I won't feel up to it. I'm glad you don't mind my telling the relatives about our prospects for I'm sure they like to know and such things aren't guarded secrets any more as they used to be. I shall write them when I get around to it. My nausea has just about passed now and I feel so much better that my activity is almost normal but I'm sure that I am larger now than I was before at four months and much of the time I feel terribly distended and stretched. Probably the baby is growing fast just now, but I have not felt "life" yet. You asked if it seemed easier this time. (Were your later pregnancies easier than the earlier ones?)- No, I think it is a little harder – after all I'm ten years older and suppose my muscles are more set. My sick period was longer – 2 months instead of one, and more violent. Sometimes it seems as if I just couldn't stretch any more, but I guess nature will take care of that. Thank goodness my period of constipation is over for it was really bad this time. I had to use water almost every day. Monnie sent me four of her maternity dresses so I'm very well fixed for clothes after I let them down. She is shorter than I and the style is longer now.

My! all that fruit you mentioned at Uncle Elbert's sounded so good. How I wished I was near enough to taste some of it. We have had bartlett pears this season but they are 6 to 8 cents apiece and I found some little seekle pears one day that tasted good. Persimmons are in market now and grapefruit is coming in early because of the early cold spell but citrus will be high this year because so much fruit was damaged by winds and rain.

Well, come down just when you feel like it. Your room is ready and waiting for you, but don't feel that you must rush down to help me for I am getting along beautifully, and I want you to do all the visiting that you like. We all send warmest love and hope you have good travelling everywhere – lovingly - Kathleen

1945

- Franklin D. Roosevelt dies
- Hitler commits suicide and Germany surrenders
- Two atomic bombs are dropped on Japan in April and Japan surrenders
- First electronic computer built
- Willard and Ellen are at Century Farm
- Gould and Virginia are in Manhasset, New York
- Geraldine is in Berkeley, California
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie and Ralph are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Florida
- Willard is 80, Ellen- 77, Gould- 49, Geraldine- 47, Dorothy- 44, Marjorie- 39, and Kathleen- 37.

[This letter dated Jan. 3, 1945 was written from Shelton, CT by Ellen and Willard to Geraldine. The letter was written prior to Christmas of 1944 but it was dated Jan 3, 1944. Geraldine is not able to make it to Shelton for Christmas and neither are her sisters. Willard talks about their plans for the holidays. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

Jan 3 1944 [Should be 1945]
Shelton

Dearest Geraldine,

Warmest Christmas Greetings to you from Mother and all of us. We are all sorry you cannot be with us over the holidays but you have lots of company in your deprivations, for Kathleen, Marjorie, and Dorothy are all feeling about as you do over their inability to be with us. Marjorie thinks at least that she cannot leave as two children are ill. She is coming up tonight to see Gould and family and stay over night returning in the morning, -if this snow that has just begun falling does not make the roads too slippery. We had a snow here Wednesday but they had none in Putnam. Emma and Elbert are coming down Saturday just for the day if weather permits.

Gould and Virginia went to New York yesterday morning and are returning tonight. We have had the pleasure of caring for the children in their absence. The six cats are having the time of their lives??!! or the children are playing with them. They have my sympathy, much as I am averse to feline pets. But how the kiddies enjoy toting them around and playing with them.

I think we're having a turkey for Saturday, our Christmas dinner day, if Emma and Elbert come. If not we may have it Sunday. G's family go to the Spaces Sunday p.m.

I hope you go to the party this p.m. and have a little of the Christmas celebration with others.

I fear you have contributed more than you should to the China relief. Better keep the rest of your money for your own needs for I think this generous enough for you. There are many calls for help.

A really Happy Christmas to you

Love. - Mother.

[written on Willard's calling card by him]

A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to Jerry. - Gould and family arr'd Tues. evn'g. Ginnie's father and mother drove to B-port and bro't them here about 9:30. We plan to see Monnie this evening and Aunt Emma and Uncle Elbert plan to drive down tomorrow.

We would like to feast eyes on you Christmas but your decision to lie low and safely is best. Your $10.00 China Relief came yesterday, more than $120.00 thus far thru me- most of it from the idea you started to give to Chi. Rather than to ourselves. Mother and I have sent $30.00 this time. In all $50.00 +.

Gould and Ginnie are in N.Y. returning today -the children. Aunt Mary and I got a Christmas tree this a.m. I am not yet used to seeing Hazel go everywhere without difficulty.

Much love

Father

[This letter dated Feb. 18, 1945 was written by Ellen Kinney Beard to Kathleen. She has heard that Kathleen has had the flu and is wondering if she should come down to help. Father, Willard L. Beard, is in New Haven at Yale Divinity School to see about getting a new pastor to replace the current one who is moving to Vermont. Kathleen's sisters are talking of a reunion and at the reunion they will go through unpacked boxes to divide the contents. Ellen feels the reunion should wait until summer of 1946. Original letter is in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Century Farm,
Shelton, Conn.
Feb. 18", 1945.

Dearest Kathleen,

Thru Dorothy's valentine to me I learned that you have been ill of flu. Are you recovered from it now? Did any one else in the family have it? Did you have a severe case of it? How many days were you confined to your bed? Did you have any one to care for you beside the family, or any one to help care for the family?

Dorothy wrote me, "Why don't you go down now and take over and give Kathleen a chance to recuperate and convalesce without taxing her strength too much."

Well, - why don't I? To answer that I must first ask, Do you really want my help? Will it be a real help to have me there; or will I make you more work than I relieve you of? Would I be crowding you too much? Do you think I could get a reservation on the ground of going to assist a daughter who is ill?

Some people say it may be difficult to get passage home in the spring when people want to come north. Do you think there is any danger of that, in my case? Are they having more R.R. accidents now, that we don't hear about, due to worn-out rolling stock? Do you think there is enough danger of that to deter one from going south where there is a good reason for such a move?

I wrote you a letter in Putnam which probably reached you while you were ill. Your answer to that, if on the way will tell me some things I want to know.

It is still quite cold here and considerable snow still remains. The road beds are clear of it for the most part, around here, but along the sides of the road and on fields, cultivated land and wood land there are several inches of snow on the level, and drifts from one to 4 feet still remain in many places.

Monday- This morning at 7:30 Phebe drove Mary to the Derby just to go to Hartford for a committee meeting, and from there she goes to Boston for another meeting of two days duration, - all in connection with her work as pres. of the Conn. Council of Country Christian Women. She expects to be home Wednesday night.

Father drove to New Haven today to see some man in Yale Divinity School about recommending a student to be our pastor for the next year beginning Mar. 1st. Our present pastor has resigned to take effect Mar. 1st. He has accepted a call to a church in Proctor, Vt. where they wish him to found a small college as well as be the pastor of the church. Both Mr. and Mrs. Frazier seem happy to go there. They will have a number of university graduates in the church who can act as members of the faculty of the college-to-be. Proctor is the city where the great Vermont Marble quarries are and many of the buildings are of marble. He said the basement of their parsonage is built of marble, - floor, walls, etc. smooth finished. The church is built of marble too. They move there a week from tomorrow, Tuesday.

Wednesday of this week our second Lecture service and supper is held and the speaker is to be the man whom Father interviewed today regarding a new pastor for our church, Mr. Woodward of New Haven. Following the supper and the service, the church will give Mr. and Mrs. Frazier a farewell reception in the same room where the supper and service have been held. They are planning a purse of money as a gift, of $50.00 or more, not definitely decided how much the last I heard. But it was suggested that each organization in the church contribute $10.00 viz. The Church, the church workers = (women's organization) the missionary society, the S.S., the Pivorim Fellowship = (young people's organization), The Golden Guild, = (the young married women's society.) The King's Daughters, and the choir.

We have had a real winter this year, with lots of snow and cold weather. Up at Elbert's of course, I was warm for his house is so well insulated and he has coal and likes to keep warm himself. And they had plenty of hot water always. I came home last week Thursday by train. Elbert thinks they can get along very well alone till Etta comes back about Easter time.

I fear I have never thanked you for that gift of a bottle of astringent you sent me so long ago. But I do thank you very much for it. I didn't realize I should be away so long when I went to Putnam and as I could not very well get it into my suitcase (which I had to check- I did not have it to use for three months, so I still have most of it left now; but I need to get busy using it steadily for I am getting very wrinkled. Thank you again for it.

I first saw your family photo at Emma's but now have seen the one you sent us at the farm. It is fairly [good] of all, but could be better of you and the girls. Hugh's is very good I think. Thank you very much for it. [See letter dated Dec. 28, 1943 - this may be the photo Ellen is referring to unless there is one more recent.]

Today a broadcast says we may expect more snow tomorrow, perhaps turning to rain late in the day. That will mean bad traveling I fear.

I suppose Marjorie keeps you up-to-date on her family affairs, - that they are now in their own hired furnished house with garden, and trees, strawberry bed and flower garden, and that Johnny's baby hair is now cut boy style "very cute" and that it changes him in appearance definitely, - that Harold and Dorothy gave him as a birthday gift a little sailor suit with long pants. I'm waiting impatiently to see the first photo of him with shorn locks and sailor-suited.

Do you ever hear from Dorothy?!! She must be very busy. We get a good long letter once in a long while.

Marjorie told me when she came east after the three girls met at Dorothy's that they talked over plans for a family reunion next summer here at the farm and when all were here together, go thru the boxes we haven't opened and divide the Chinese things. But I am beginning to wonder if there is really much to divide; for it has been so long since they were packed that I have entirely forgotten what is in them. Some of them were packed fifteen years ago and may contain used clothing and bedding and be linen and bath-room linen and table linen and books and letters we wanted to keep and photographs and such things that you children would not care for, - as well as a few Chinese curios. Two of the boxes we have opened, have contained some used clothing which now, after all these years, and after being packed so long in the leaky school-house, not even we ourselves care anything about, nor will ever use. Some few curios too of course. And the contents of other unopened boxes may be similar; we just can't tell, after all these years, what is there.

I am writing you all this to guard against you children getting too high an estimate of what there is that came from China to be divided. Certainly there are no large or costly curios among them. And probably you children will not care to fill your houses up with such ordinary things as we shall find there.

As Harold and Dorothy and Geraldine and Marjorie and Ralph have all made the expensive trip out here so recently, only a few months ago, they will hardly want to incur that expense for the same trip so soon again. Of course, I know, the important thing in the girl's minds was the getting the whole family together to get acquainted with each other again and for all to meet new members of it. But I wondered if it would not be better to wait the reunion until the summer of '46. I know you all want to see Johnny before he outgrows his baby attractiveness; and they all want to see your girlies before they get quite grown up. Elbert regrets that he is missing seeing them during these tender years of early childhood. Well we cannot tell that Geraldine may be putting on as a feature to change the whole picture; so we will hold our decision in abeyance for future developments.

Do write me how you are and to answer my inquiries in this and my previous letter. With much love to all the family, Affectionately Mother.

[In the margin of the first page she explains a random pen marking across the page.]

These oblique marks mean nothing. My undirected pen did that while I was asleep!!

[This letter dated April 14, 1945 was written from Shelton, CT by Ellen to Marjorie. She includes excerpts from a letter written by Eunice Smith Bishop who is now living in Chungking, China. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Shelton,
Apr. 14", [1945]

Dear Marjorie,

Just today we received a circulating letter from Eunice Smith Bishop who is now living in Chungking.

She and her husband and Helen Smith went back last year to China and had to fly part way, - from Calcutta to Chungking. They were so limited in baggage that they could hardly take what they really needed.

This letter is to circulate among 17 people so I can't send it to you, but have copied some of the most interesting parts, as I thought you would be interested in how she is living and what she is doing, - you knew her so well on Kuliang in China. Moreover I remember you wrote father some time ago for material for a talk you were to give on China. I forget the date of it and have not the letter before me; but thought if that was not already past, you might find a few ideas in this letter of Eunice's that would be of interest.

Helen's working in Chengtu perhaps 200 or 300 miles from Eunice in Chungking.

A letter from Myra yesterday said Stanley is starting Sunday Apr. 15 on that much announced (by me) trip west. He goes first to Montreal, Toronto, _____, Detroit, Chicago and perhaps, Saginaw. I don't know how long his trip is to be nor when he will arrive in Saginaw, - if he comes.

Father and I went to the Dr's for a check up this morning. He found my heart condition better and says I may hold up on my medicine for a while and see how it acts.

My blood pressure was all right, also urine.

I will let Father write the result of his check up himself.

Did you and Dorothy receive invitations to Dorothy Jewett's wedding on Apr. 21"?

Father says we will go. We'll go down to Gould's on Friday p.m. and go with Gould and family to the wedding and spend Sunday with them and come home Monday A.M.

Hazel and Willard are attending the wedding also.

A letter from Mrs. Jewett today said she wished all the Beard girls could be present.

Yes, I am going to write a reply to Ralph's fine letter just as soon as I can find a measure of time sufficiently vacant of musts to do justice to that fine honor. You'll see when that time arrives that I did appreciate the honor enough to give it a prompt reply- if it hadn't got waylaid. I hope he'll forgive the delay.

How I would like to hear one of Johnny's long stories. We'll be out there to see him and you all as soon as we can after the wedding.

Annibel is being sold, - is sold to Dan. She is in the big barn with Dan's cows tonight. Because she is too much work for Father to milk and care for and too much work for Margaret to milk and too much work for Mary to make butter, and too much work for Phebe to make cottage cheese. So we will buy our milk of Dan and our butter at the store, and give all these people a rest.

Wasn't our President's sudden death [Roosevelt-April 12, 1945] a sad and terrifying surprise! But radio reports from commentators inspire confidence and faith in our new President's ability and purpose to carry on as Commanding Chief and heads of the Nations.

Oct. 18, 1944.

Notes from Eunice Smith Bishop's Letter.

Both she and husband find plenty to do. Many opportunities.

The Chinese Industrial Cooperatives; The Friends of the Wounded; the United Christian Publishers; and local industrial organizations have all been anxious to get Merlin (her husband) to join their organizations to work with them.

Poor Arthur Coole (Dr. Coole's son whom I think you knew at Kuliang) was just breaking under the weight of all his treasurieships and the most immediate need seemed to be for Merlin to take over the treasurieship of the United Clearing Board, which is the Board set up for the Mission and Relief organizations, to get better exchange for the U.S. Dollar. It has the approval of both the Chinese and the U.S. Government.

It has been very successful and hundreds of millions of dollars go thru his hands every month. (I think this figure must mean Chinese dollars,) after the U.S. dollars have been changed into Chinese currency)

He has an office in one of the banks in the center of town and that has given him a chance to make all kinds of interesting contacts. It is a great satisfaction to know that his long hours at this office are helping to keep schools and churches going and relief funds more adequate.

The official rate of exchange is still $39.00 to $1.00 U.S. and the situation was desperate for much of the church work. The Clearing Board rate at present is about $180.00 to $1.00 U.S.

In Eunice's work- "From Sept. 18 to 28 there was held here in Chungking the first National Conference of all those interested in Child Welfare. It was called by the Woman's Advisory Committee of the New Life Movement. (all the more interesting because started entirely by the Chinese without foreign missionary guidance) Educators, Social Workers, Medical Workers, Psychologists, sociologists, gathered from all over free China. I went to all the meetings that I could and had an excellent chance to meet many splendid leaders, and to find out what was being done.

I was greatly impressed to find that most of the conference leaders were people trained in our Christian Schools. Three were graduates of the Xua Nan College of Foochow. (Meth) The lectures covered many vital fields of work and the discussions dealt with war and post-war problems concerning the children and the home and institutional care.

After the conference adjourned, trips were planned for all those interested in seeing some of the work being done near here. One day was spent at Kilo-shan seeing Madam Chiang's No. 1 War orphanage- the "showplace"- and it was just that. Perfect to the Nth degree, as far as exquisite buildings, equipment and cleanliness is concerned, and really quite thrilling to see what can be done in war time in China. Yet we realized it was at the expense of some of the other orphanages, and that the contrast between this and others was pretty great.

We were most impressed by the work of the Ministry of Social Affairs. This ministry was just established 2 ½ yrs. ago and they have set before them a vast program of relief and social work. The leader is a very fine young man who, altho he is not a Christian himself feels and openly says he needs and wants the close cooperation of the church in his program of work. They have a very fine orphanage for foundlings and poor children. Ideal from the standpoint of nutrition health, and medical care, but quite lacking in educational methods and technique. Wonderful buildings, grounds, kitchens, clinic and location. We visited their orphanages for the nursery, Kindergarten and other children. We found them equally fine in health, and physical care, but we all felt the lack of adequate educational opportunities. One group of 9-14 year old children had a very fine leader and had had a great deal to do with the building and fixing up of their play ground. One group were making their own straw sandals but there seemed to be too little of that type of work. At another place we visited another project of the Ministry of Social Affairs. Here they had a Maternity clinic and hospital, a school for the blind, an old people's home, an industrial shop for training of the older orphans, a kindergarten and a nursery, and a shelter for beggars.

It is all very fine, and certainly makes you realize what possibilities there are. All this is just the beginning of a vast project that has just been going over 2 years. It is certainly thrilling to be here and see what New China is doing.

At the Laura Haygood Kindergarten School where I am teaching two days a week, I am teaching a class in homemaking- that is, the child care side of the home. I am working in all the specialists that I met at the conference. The medical Dr. has talked to them on Pre-natal health; now a nutritionist is speaking on the baby's food and how to fix it. She is demonstrating and making it very practical. We will have a doll next week and demonstrate bathing and dressing the baby. The girls are just Sr. High School 1st and 2nd year girls, and it is just an experiment to see how much they can get.

I am also teaching a handwork class, and supervising some in the kindergarten. Besides these, there are contacts with those working on children's work around the city. Another job I have is being chairman of the Cooking Section of the International Women's Club. It is a lively group made up of Chinese, French, British and Russian (and herself American?). We try to make practical things out of local products. It is lots of fun and gives me a chance to meet some very lovely Chinese women and to be in their lovely homes. We will get some interesting International Recipes also.

End of direct quotation

She tells also of their joy in having a home by themselves, - that a home in Chungking is a rare and cherished joy, - that they were the most fortunate couple in Chungking when they fell heir to their little doll house on the hill. They are the only foreign couple in Chungking living in a home above by themselves. Every other couple, - and there are only a very few, - are living in boarding houses or are boarding a lot of wifeless men. Their little house was built last year and belongs to the treasurer's office and Merlin as a treasurer was entitled to it. The whole house is 24 ft. square, - has a cozy little living-dining room, a wee kitchen and servant room, a bed room and a tiny bathroom. It has some furniture, and they borrowed rugs to cover the current floor and pictures to cover white-washed walls, and they bought a few things. They thought Foochow was an expensive place but here they paid $18.00 U.S. for a pair of flatirons. $10.00 for 2 small bread pans. They are very happy to have their own place. There are so many lonesome people there, - men without their wives are certainly a forlorn lot, and single ladies boarding around. Eunice likes to entertain them, and some Chinese friends in her home, as she can to supper or tea.

She writes;-"Merlin is out with a group of bankers and government men this evening. He has enjoyed so much getting to know a lot of these men. So many of them are fine Christians and they are active in the church! We go to church here on the Chin Ching school campus- a church started and run entirely by official and government and wealthy people. The audience itself is an inspiration."

Then she writes of how wet it has been there at the time she writes Oct. 18th, '44, - they had not seen the sun for over 3 wks. And the conditions were mud and more mud.

She also writes of how they both are using many things left by other missionaries of our board who have recently left on furlo, - they couldn't take much as they flew, and were limited on baggage. And what they left came in very handy for Merlin and Eunice as they also were limited on baggage when they left America, knowing they too would leave to go part way by air plane. What was discarded by those who left was a God-send to those who arrived short-handed.

[This letter dated Nov. 25, 1945 was written from Century Farm, Shelton, CT by Ellen to son-in-law, Hugh Elmer. She thanks him for his letters and for his invitation for them to come to Florida to visit. She talks about her trip to Putnam and updates Hugh and Kathleen on some of the relatives. Eighteen people spent Thanksgiving at the farm. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Century Farm,
Shelton, Conn.
Nov. 25", '45.

Dear Hugh,

This letter is especially to you in answer to that fine letter you wrote me so long ago. It was very much appreciated, being the first I had received from any of my sons-in-law. Since then, I have received one from Ralph and another from you.

I realize how difficult I shall find it to prove to you how very much I did appreciate that thoughtful, friendly message from you, the only positive proof- a prompt reply- being entirely absent.

Sincerely apologizing for that unconscionable lapse of time, I trust you will accept my hearty thanks for your good letter and for the kind invitation it contained to visit the family in your new home.

From certain rumors floating about, you may have gathered what I am about to report; viz. that not only I but we accept with pleasure your generous invitation to make your home our retreat for a brief sojourn.

Father has looked forward for some months to visiting you all this winter, and it is needless to say that I have anticipated it with reminiscent background.

If all goes according to plan, we shall spend the week end of Dec. 9" with Gould's family and come on from there to Jacksonville early in the week. Definite data we will report later as our plans develop.

I hope this influx of people and baggage will not crowd you unbearably, and I hope it will not necessitate readjustment of your home arrangement too drastically.

Two weeks ago I made a brief visit to Putnam, considerably briefer than I intended, because of conflicting appointments. I had anticipated three or more long auto trips to visit relatives while in Putnam, but discovered Elbert had suddenly and unexpectedly sold his car, quite on the spur of the moment, for the advantage of top price and spot cash. He plans to go thru the winter without a car and buy a new one in the spring. He had used his car seven years.

Perhaps Father has written you that he sold his car before we went to Saginaw this past summer; and how we both do miss it. Elbert will miss his car too, I'm sure.

We were so glad to hear of the correction of the mistake on Cynthia's report card! What a discouraging effect the wrong marks must have had on the little girl's efforts at the school work she loves so well! Congratulations to her and her parents. It touched me deeply.

We had the usual party here at the farm on Thanksgiving day, eighteen sitting around the table. Stanley and Myra were not here as usual, but went to Nancy's instead. They will visit Ruth before they return on Wednesday next; and Stanley put into the trip two business engagements, one in Philadelphia and one in Duke Univ. Myra telephoned us from Nancy's saying all were well there and that all had gone well with their trip.

One of the appointments which hurried me home from Putnam was the weekend visit of Stanley and Myra just after their return from their long trip to the West Coast. They had seen Geraldine and I could not miss a personal interview with them. They reported that she was well and happy and very much interested in her all-absorbing subject. Myra said Geraldine had promised herself that she would decide the question by Christmas. G. and Roger were at dinner with Stanley and Myra in their hotel, and S. and M. were at G's apartment once. They had a great trip,- all by air.

Kathleen will remember Vinnie Beard [Lavinia Beard], Theodore's [Willard's cousin, Zina Chatfield's son] down at the mill. She died last week after an illness of several years. We four attended the funeral last Friday at 2 p.m. Anna, her sister, a former court stenographer, will now be all alone in her part of the house, but Paul Clapp and family, whom Kathleen will remember as farmer for the aunts at the farm 12+ yrs. ago, live in the other part of the house and will be company for her.

We will give you all the rest of the news when we see you, soon. With much love to all the family; and another enthusiastic Thank you for your two good letters. Sincerely,- Mother.

I was very sorry to hear of your mother's accident and illness. I hope she is nearly recovered now and is comfortably convalescing.

December 15, 1945 in front of an American Airlines DC-3 "Flagship Palm Springs" at La Guardia Airport, NJ
Left to Right: Willard Livingstone Beard, Ellen Kinney Beard, Virginia Space Beard, Myron Gould Beard, Hazel
Ellen Beard, Willard Frederick Beard.
[Photo from Mona Beard, family of Myron Gould Beard.]

1946

- UN General Assembly meets for first time and League of Nations dissolves
- Benjamin Spock publishes book on childcare
- Willard and Ellen are at Century Farm
- Gould and Virginia are in Manhasset, New York
- Geraldine is in Berkeley, California
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie and Ralph are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Jacksonville, Florida
- Willard is 81, Ellen- 78, Gould- 50, Geraldine- 48, Dorothy- 45, Marjorie- 40 and Kathleen- 38.

[This letter, dated Jan. 1, 1946, was written from Manhasset, NY by Gould to Willard, Ellen, Hugh, Kathleen, Jill and Cynthia. Willard and Ellen are visiting at Kathleen and Hugh's house in Florida. Gould talks about the past Christmas. He tells about some of his work travels. Letter from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

6 Martin Place
Manhasset, N.Y.
Jan 1st, 1946

Dear Father, Mother, Hugh, Kathleen, Jill and Cynthia:

What a family! You must have had a grand time all together this Xmas. So did we with all the Spaces here at the house. Mother and Father Space and Lillian and all her family were here from Sunday nite till Wednesday morning. Roberta and Jodee came down the night before Xmas and stayed with Fred and Nancy and they were all here for Xmas dinner on Xmas Eve. Ginny had the big dinner then so that the tree could take preference on Xmas day. I carved up one 19# turkey completely Xmas eve and half of a 14# turkey for afternoon cold dinner Xmas day. We found beds for everyone except Hazel who slept on the couch cushions of the floor in our room. Roberta and Jodee slept at Fred and Nan's. The package containing the book ends, fur mittens and grand sticks of candy came, a couple of days after Xmas and we all had a lot of fun opening it.

Work was piling up so fast before Xmas that I got rather tired and had a hard time getting into the zest for celebrating that the others had. Hazel and Willard were out of school with the flu the week before Xmas but all the kids were ok on the 25th. All the kids pitched in and decorated the tree on Sunday night and had a grand time. Our tree is a little smaller this year, but is a shade prettier than last year.

Mother and Father will be interested in knowing that we flew to Tulsa that Sunday nite when we left LaGuardia. We had about 4 hrs. rest then and took off to arrive at Santa Monica at 8:00 a.m. We were very tired when we arrived, but had to stay around till the plane was unloaded and fly it to Burbank, then catch a taxi back to Santa Monica and the hotel. Got to bed about 4:00 in the afternoon and slept till 10:00 p.m. then dressed and went out to eat a leisurely, late dinner. The next two days I spent checking the DC-6 mockup. Thursday morning we took out of Burbank for Tulsa via El Paso as there were storms and cold fronts across the route and we might need more fuel to fly over Tulsa if the weather continued bad. We arrived there about 7:00 p.m. Tulsa time and after looking the New York weather over we decided to hold at Tulsa for 12 hrs and let the front pass over that was due over N.Y. about the time we would have arrived if we went straight thru. The next day we had a good trip there on top of the overcast all the way.

We had a beautiful white Christmas in the north. Christmas night it started to rain and by the next morning the rain had melted almost all the snow. We have had a rather wet snow and a rash of rain since Xmas and today it is just freezing. I suspect you had a cold snap in Jacksonville too for Xmas.

I was in hopes that a deal would come thru to send me to Eglin Field for a day or two and I could stop off in Jacksonville. The mock up of the Douglas "Mix Master" has called off that trip so now I doubt whether I get thru this winter.

Ginny is putting on another church supper soon and is on the phone much of the time making plans. The kids start school again tomorrow and all activities of the new year get back into the usual groove. This year we are to work ½ hr. longer each day and have Saturday off. That will give me more time to work around the place and my garden and landscaping may come along better than it did last year. I am still trying to get some daffodils into the ground that Uncle Stanley gave me. They will bloom in the spring if I can get them in before Feb. There is a ?d of glads still undug that I should get in to the ?? ?? I covered them with leaves and think they will be up if it does not freeze to hard.

Jerry sent us a handsome wrought iron house marker No 6 on a spike to stick in the ground by a lamp post. I also got the book of knots by Ashley which I have wanted a long time. It illustrates every knot every tied and should be a lot of fun to work with, especially if I do the cellar game room over into a ships cabin. With the money that was given me I have now a total of over $30.00 for a drill press for my workshop. I will get it when the second hand drill presses come on the market from these war factories. I believe the government will not be too quick about closing our all the plants because they are not sure what old Joe Stalin may have in his mind for the future.

The aunties at the Farm sent us a picture of Grandpa and Grandma Beard which we have admired so much and for so long.

Further, I am attaching the interest check for the loan on the house which should have been mailed you in October. We intended to give it [to] you when you were here, but the general confusion made me forget to give it to you.

I have heard nothing about plans for a class reunion as yet. Hope someone starts the idea going as I would like to see all the old friends again.

All our love and best wishes for a very happy New Year to all.

Lovingly,
Gould.

[This letter dated May 5, 1946 was written from Jacksonville, FL by Kathleen to Mother and Father. She tells about all the free spinach that she and the ladies from church canned for the European Famine Relief. There are new neighbors from CT. She tells her parents about a couple of items they left at the house on their recent visit to Florida. Kathleen wonders about everyone's plans for summer vacation. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

1038 Bunker Hill Blvd.
Jacksonville 8 Fla.
May 5, '46

Dear Mother and Father:

Your cards have let us know that you arrived at your two destinations safely, and I suppose you are now resting up from the trip- and watching the Northern spring. This house seemed pretty empty for a few days after you left but there was enough to do to keep me from getting too lonely. The mission study book on Africa consumed most of the week after you went but it rained on the day we gave it and only eight or nine ladies showed up. On the following Monday the church ladies were cutting and canning spinach for European famine relief so I joined them in the morning and did my laundry in the afternoon. Fortunately it was a marvelous day and everything got dry. A truck gardener about two miles west of here donated about five acres of spinach because he couldn't get enough for it to pay for picking it, so all the Methodist women in the city are collaborating on the project. I can think of more nourishing foods to send than spinach but will hope they like it. Mrs. McCoy (wife of the church violinist) drove us over there, and Mrs. Sneller was also in our party. Other cars from other churches arrived later until we had about twelve people out at the field. Such straight, even, weedless rows I never saw and everything around there was in "apple-pie order". Cutting was not hard for the rows were hilled up nearly a foot and the leaves grew on stalks almost a yard long (such is Florida spinach) only the top ten inches of which we were told to cut. But carrying the hampers back to the shed and packing in the crates, which we also had to hoist, was a bit hard on our frail backs. We were not loath to quit after two hours when someone thought we had enough to keep the canners busy all day. We picked and packed 35 crates in that time, then we drove to the county prison farm where the public canning kitchen is, and a view of that was most interesting. Any woman may bring her produce there and can it herself, using all their modern equipment for nothing. All she has to pay is 4 cents per can for the tin cans she uses. There must have been over fifty women there, perhaps thirty of them doing spinach. The rest were canning meat, squash, beans, etc. for themselves. Maybe we will take advantage of that when we get our car. We stripped leaves off of spinach stems until noon and then came home.

Doctor Walters was in the hospital two days when he had his tonsils out and he says he has been getting along just fine since then. However, he has not preached for two Sundays. Two retired ministers have supplied for him, but I think he will preach next Sunday. He certainly does not look as though he had under-gone an operation- perhaps partly because he took local anesthetic instead of ether. We sent him some strawberries when he was well enough to eat normally. Our strawberries are continuing to bear copiously and there are still lots of blossoms so we will probably have them until June. We had shortcake again this noon.

Our new neighbors are getting settled now and we know them fairly well. Mrs. McNeil is from New London Conn. so we have something in common. Mr. McNeil is the son of a Methodist minister in Alabama. Their little boy is about Cynthia's age and is over here half the time playing. He goes to Sunday School with us and is named- John!!! Their baby boy is 14 months and I have taken care of him once while his mother went to town. He is marvelously good - stayed just where I put him playing with blocks, didn't cry at all, and slept half the time he was here. She gave me a pound of real butter the next day for keeping him. They can get all the butter, soap, canned milk and other scarce items at the navy commissary. He is a naval officer you know- and the navy always has plenty. We haven't been able to get even oleo lately and were days without it or butter. Mrs. McNeil seems very nice but looks of foreign descent or Jewish, I can't quite tell. She has black hair, dark eyes and a rather large nose. She seems fairly cultured and he seems much interested in fixing up the yard so they will make good neighbors. All the renters in this block have their notices to vacate in 60-90 days, or buy, so we will soon be having lots of new neighbors around here. Copelands are going to move as soon as they can after school lets out. We will also be sorry to see the Gormans go.

We see many things around that remind us of your visit here but I think you left only one article which you didn't mean to- possibly two. The morning after you went I discovered Mother's large wash-cloth hanging on the hall rack. Shall I send it or wait and bring it? Then I found on your closet shelf two Chinese fans which you hadn't mentioned. Did you mean to leave them? On my closet shelf I found (When I cleaned) the little bulb syringe that you bought at Walgreen's. I guess from its location that you intended to leave that. Thank you. Thanks too for all the nice hangers.

Easter was a lovely day here. We got up at 5:30 to attend the sunrise service at our church and all wore coats. There were perhaps 20 people out to it, but I was a bit disappointed in the service, for it was just a short edition of regular church service- nothing special except candles and additional flowers. The Sunday School and church services were capacity crowds with additional folding chairs in the aisles. The choir sang the "Holy City" and dragged it unbearably but otherwise it was a good Easter service. We left our coats at home for the second service and the bus made a special trip down here to bring church-goers home that day. Now it is May and the summer heat is coming. After such a delightfully cool April I hate to have it get hot. It may hurry my tomatoes along a bit tho. I have about forty plants set out now and will not have room for all the rest of them so may give them to the McNeils next door.

Are you still planning to go to Oberlin next month for commencement? And what are your plans after that? None of the girls say a word about summer plans and summer is almost here. As far as we know our vacation is still set for August 9/18 unless this coal strike cuts off all the trains and gives Hugh the whole summer off. It seems as tho they must settle it soon or there will be chaos.

All four of us send love to all there
Lovingly
Kathleen

[This letter dated May 23, 1946 was written from Jacksonville, FL by Kathleen to Mother and Father. She tells them that all of the maple syrup they ordered was delivered to her and what should she do with it all. Hugh is caught in the rail strike. She lunched with Monnie's roommate, Eleanor Edwards. The house has new paint on it now. Cyndy said "iniquicity" at a bible study one evening. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

1038 Bunker Hill Blvd.
Jacksonville 8 Fla.
May 23 '46

Dear Mother and Father:

The pressing subject of this letter is maple syrup. Its here- all of it, and I would like to know what to do with it. The Mr. Smith who drove you to the station was kind enough to bring it out here for us, since it weighs 70 pounds and now it is standing in your room awaiting instructions. There are five gallon tins, two half gallons and a large can of maple sugar which melted on the way down and leaked all over the carton and other tins. I put it in the ice box but don't think it has crystallized yet. If you wish me to send each piece to its destination from here it will probably save quite a lot of Express charges, or we can box it all and send it up to you. Just let me know soon for I don't want it moulding or fermenting on my hands and the weather is hot now.

Well, what we have been dreading for the past weeks has finally happened- and the rail strike caught Hugh up in Florence. I don't know whether he will stay there until something definite is announced or whether he will try to get home by bus. Either one will be costly and he will miss his run. What a mess this country is going to be in and how angry everyone will be at the train-men. If the coal strike is called too we might just as well all quit.

Last week Thursday I met Eleanor Edwards (Monnie's college roommate) downtown for lunch. We decided to go to the Coffee Shack where you both lunched with me one noon, but found the restaurant part of it closed and the store being remodeled so E. took me to a new Chinese Inn recently opened near the Post Office. It was very nice, air conditioned, quiet, not crowded and the Chinese food was fairly good. It was a little more expensive than the Shack so she insisted on treating me. (Seeing as her husband had got a raise and mine hadn't I thought maybe she could afford to!!) We exchanged clippings, pictures and news for an hour and I'll enclose this one that will interest you- from her town paper in Penn Yan N.Y. of which her brother is owner and editor I think. She spoke again about how thankful she was to Father for speaking at her WSCS meeting, and said they were going North late in June for a vacation. We also planned a beach trip together after school closes and just today a letter came from her asking if David could stay with us for two days while she goes to a convention down state. Of course the girls are delighted. That will be June 5 and 6.

You should see our little house now with its new shiny coat of paint. All the passers-by look at it and probably smell the fresh paint. The two men who talked to Hugh while you were here finally came back and they did a quick job- two days. We have been messed up a bit and have had bugs in the house without screens but it certainly does improve the looks. The yellow is a shade deeper than before and the shutters are more brick colored than maroon but it blends very well. Next year we'll have to paint the inside. The piano tuner also came during the painting so we got everything done at once.

Cynthia was reading at our bible session the other night and came upon the word "iniquity". She called it "iniquickity" and it was very hard to contain our laughter.

Ants are getting more strawberries than we are now and the rains are rotting them, but they are still bearing and we have given Walters, Copelands and Edwards some. I have a few green tomatoes on my plants now and red poppies in my flower bed.

The painters told us that our house has termites so Hugh is going to creosote it underneath. Much love
Kathleen

Your Shanghai Evening Posts are still coming here. Do they know you have gone back north? We enjoyed your collective letter very much and hope we do get a vacation. If the strike lasts long all vacations may be cancelled.

[This letter dated July 14, 1946 was written from Jacksonville, FL by Kathleen to Mother and Father. She inquires about her sisters and if they are coming east. She declines the offer to stay in the north longer as she must get home to entertain father Elmer while Hugh is on his train runs. She tells about the 17th anniversary of her church. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

1038 Bunker Hill Blvd.
Jacksonville 8 Fla.
July 14 '46

Dear Mother and Father:

Your letter, Father, was most welcome and we were glad to hear about your trip, details of which we can hear from you in person, but your allusion to the mangos was most mystifying. I'm afraid I must disclaimed any knowledge of them for I have not seen one myself this year and we can't get them here. I'm certainly glad you got them but you had better look again on the crate and find out the right person to thank. Are you sure they came from Florida and do you have any friends in South Florida who might have sent them? Perhaps Gould ordered them while he was in California. A good letter from Gerry came last week saying that Gould was out there recently. I was glad to know that Gerry is quite definitely coming East and so we will see her at least. Now how about Dot and Monnie?

Thankyou for your offer for me to stay on and come home by train but I guess I had better not do it this time for several reasons. I should help Hugh with the driving on the way back and be there to entertain Father Elmer while Hugh is gone on his run, and then school comes pretty soon after we get home and we need a little time to get ready for it. However Hugh says he will ask for an extra trip off with his vacation so that we can stay over the week end. He will have to take it without pay, of course, but four days does seem awfully short. Do you know yet how we are going to distribute ourselves without making too much "discombobulation"? Will Gould's family be able to come up too? The children are getting all excited about riding the ponies. I do hope they are gentle ones for neither of my girls know a thing about riding.

Today was "Homecoming" and 17th anniversary of our Church. The lay-leader of Jacksonville Methodists spoke and gave a very good sermon. There was a community dinner on Mr. Sneller's lawn following the service, but it rained before we began to eat so tables were placed on their screened porch and it was pretty crowded. The shower was a short one tho, and most of us took our plates out and stood around the yard. Being a "pot-luck" there was about everything one could imagine to eat, and plenty of iced tea to drink. It was really most enjoyable. Last night was Hugh's class meeting at Mrs. Green's. We had the best turnout yet, about twenty, counting children and we had quite a hilarious entertainment with Mrs. Walter's giving comedy readings. She had us in stitches. Tomorrow begins our daily vacation Bible school so it will be a busy week – and I hope not so hot as this week.

Lots and Lots of love

Kathie

Beard in-laws and three of the grandchildren- probably August 1946 in Shelton

Kathleen refers to taking a trip up north in her previous letter.

L to R: Ralph Butt with son, Johnny , Hugh Elmer with daughter, Cynthia, Virginia Space Beard, Jill Elmer and Harold Newberg.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

[This letter dated about July 25, 1946 was written from Shelton, CT by Willard to Geraldine. He kept busy with a council meeting and talks when he visited Dot and Harold. He now has a hernia on both sides. Letter donated to Yale by family in 2006.]

July 25th [about 1946]

Dear Geraldine:-

It seems long and it is long since I have heard a word from you. It seems longer because I have been over a trip (Chinese expression) and done and seen people and things- many. The council meeting was interesting- all of it and the 12 days with Dot and Harold with a little work for me, two talks at the boys camp were very pleasant and after I got back I realized that that 12 days gave me a good rest. Both Mother and I slept, slept, slept. One morning it was 9:30 when we appeared for breakfast- so late we did not eat lunch, - two meals that day, - nothing to do but eat, sleep and rest.

Gould and Ginny stopped a week ago on their way to Vermont or N. Hampshire to the Spaces camp, - stopped about 15 min. and again 15 min. on their way home. They appeared well and said the children were enjoying camp.

It remains hot and dry. A little shower last nite and now at 2:15 p.m. it looks like more. I am ready to go see Dr. Edson again about my hernia- one on each side now. I wanted him to let me wear a truss, but he was unfavorable in June. I have talked with one man who has worn one for 10 years or more- with others who have known men who wore them and all favor the truss.

I wish I could write something that would help you decide your momentous question but that no one but you can decide. In any combining of people- whether two or more or nations each must give up something to make a success and the success depends on the how of the giving up. In your letter to me you say Roger is an ardent Episcopalian and you are a heathen. What is your definition of "heathen". Look it in the dictionary. My private conviction is that you would not be classed as a heathen, by an interested person. There is some Being outside yourself to which you lean at times. I should- always have done so when a problem baffles me, and I have been helped. I have talked with my Being outside myself about you and told Mother you were built of her- she kept me waiting a long time for the definite answer- but she does not remember it.

Lots of love
Father

Undated photo of Marjorie, Gould, Ellen, Willard and Geraldine before 1947
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson. A copy is in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Written on photo: "Fall 1946"

Left to right: Willard and Ellen Beard, Abbie Hubbell Beard, Phebe M. Beard with Myra Palmer Beard behind her, Mary Beard, Stanley Beard, Bennett Nichols Beard.
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

1948

- Ghandi assassinated
- Nation of Israel proclaimed
- Truman ends racial segregation in the military
- Theodore Allen Elmer II was born March 16, 1948 to Kathleen and Hugh
- Ellen is in Saginaw, Michigan
- Gould and Virginia are in Manhasset, New York
- Geraldine is in New York
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie and Ralph are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Jacksonville, Florida
- Ellen is 80, Gould- 52, Geraldine- 50, Dorothy- 47, Marjorie- 42, and Kathleen- 40.

Theodore Allen Elmer II was born March 16, 1948 to Kathleen and Hugh Elmer.

[These two letters dated June 1, 1948 were written from Saginaw, Michigan by Ellen to Kathleen and Hugh. She is sending money for them to use. She plans to send money for baby Allen and she tells them the latest on her health. Letters in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

2306 North Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
June 1st, 1948.

Dearest Kathleen,

I am sending you herewith the check I intended to give you at the time baby came, but I was slipping some then, I guess, and more afterward and it didn't get done. This is not the first birthday gift for Allen such as Father gave to Jacqueline and Cynthia; that will come when you write me, (as I asked in my letter to Hugh.) how to write the name on the bank book similarly to the girl's names on their books. I shall let you get the bank book, of course, when you deposit the check down there starting his account.

This check is for you to use as you wish. And if you take your vacation trip and come north as I have heard some talk of, this summer, I will add something to this.

Have you made any plans yet? Just write us as soon as you decide. I am sure Dorothy and Harold have given up going to California this year. Harold has taken a job at the Y.M.C.A. for the summer and will be here most of the time. I suppose he will have a vacation the last of the summer.

I suppose you have had an invitation from Leolyn and William Morgan to the wedding of their youngest daughter, the twin to the only son, (forget his name.) [William Jr.]

This is Polly's second marriage and I was a bit surprised to see it so ceremoniously carried out. We all up here in Saginaw are going together on rather a modest gift (considering it is not a first marriage) and we wondered if you would like to go in with us making it a family gift and much easier for us all. In that way I think two dollars for a family is enough. Dorothy suggested table linen which I think is very appropriate, - a table cloth or a set of place mats, or whatever we find that makes the most suitable gift. We may have to go a little higher but I will be the one to put in more, with perhaps Dorothy's help, but you and Marjorie ought not to put in more than two dollars, you know the family so little. Geraldine will want to make her own gift, as her relations with the family have been so much more intimate than any of the rest of us. But I shall help her out on that as she will probably not be satisfied to present anything that will not cramp her purse. But don't you send more than two dollars, if you decide to go in with us, - or even one dollar is enough, if you happen to have been invited. Write soon.

We are all eager to hear your plans; I wonder if you are waiting to hear anything from us. I wish I had a home to invite you all to, but I am not in that position. I think it would be possible to rent rooms wherever your plans take you. A letter from Etta says she is on a tour of visits to her sons and to Oberlin to the Cong'l. meetings. Phebe writes she and Mary are going to Oberlin but does not say from there, where. Edith is going to bring her family to the farm to keep the house and feed the animals while they are gone. They have rented the farm for the year to a Stratford man who will take charge as soon as his son is out of college. He will have a hired farmer in the little cottage where the school house was, to help out.

Phebe's letter does not say whether the renter will live in the house at the farm or not; but she writes that he "has a business or rather works at the G.E. in B-Port" but is up at the farm every free moment he has. Will send you her letter and others as soon as all here have read them. With much love to all the family.

Affectionately,
Mother.

2306 North Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
June 1st, 1948.

Dear Hugh,

It was a happy surprise to receive your "Mother's Day" letter, and I thank you for remembering me on that occasion with such a cheering account of family activities.

Repetition of a never failing event has led me to expect an appreciative message of some kind from each of my own children, but felicitations from my sons-in-law are often incorporated in their wife's letters. So your letter in your own hand writing was a very special remembrance. And very special not only for that reason but because it told so much about the new member of the family about whom I am always eager for news. I too, wish I could see baby Allen now for I am sure he has changed a good deal since I saw him last. You have done well to start him on church attendance at so early an age; and I can well understand how he stirred up a Father's pride when he was taken to town shopping! And how about the Mother's?!! And why shouldn't the Baby hold the center of things in the home when you have waited for him so long? I surely would like to be there to enjoy him with you all too.

I should have sent the enclosure I am including, before that shopping trip for a hat and bag. I have not given Kathleen the birth gift I intended to send long but at last am sending it now to her in your letter. This one is not Theodore Allen Elmer's first birthday gift from Grandpa and Grandma Beard but I will send that soon if Kathleen will write me how the names should be written on the bank book and on the check, just as Father had it written on Jacqueline's and Cynthia's. Is the word "Parent" or "Guardian" used on the book or only Kathleen Cynthia Elmer, for Theodore Allen Elmer? Kathleen please write me soon.

I have given your message of "thanks" to Dorothy for all her goodness to us. I have also thanked her too, for her good care of me in my illness in Jacksonville and here, and for her willingness to relinquish her teaching and come down to Fla. to care for me and help us out in my incapacity, and escort me to her home. I paid her railroad fare both ways and reimbursed her for the time she had to pay a substitute, giving her a check for $285.00. Perhaps I should not be the news breaker, but possibly it is all right for you to know that Dorothy and Harold have both received their contracts for teaching next year at a salary raise of $500.00 each over last year's figure. Ralph has also had an increase of $600.00 in his salary and he thinks it should be more!!!! Don't tell any one I told you this, about either family.

Yes, my health has gradually improved with rest and Dorothy's good care, as you wrote you hoped had taken place. The Dr. has also had a hand in the improvement. I have been to his office twice a week for most of the time since I came here. By his prescription I am taking four kinds of pills, some of them one a day, some of them one, twice a day, another kind, two, three times a day for two days then skip one day then repeat. That, I think, makes about eleven pills a day. It takes some brain power to keep track of my schedule. At the Dr.'s office I get a shot in my arm, and Dorothy gives me nose drops at night. Don't you think I ought to get well?!!!

Yes, I have greatly enjoyed the opening of Spring here in the north; watching the trees unfold their abundant foliage has been a wonderfully beautiful sight, as indeed it was in Jacksonville, the maples, elms, birches and all the rest. One maple tree in the next yard to Dorothy's, she says has four colors during the growing season; just now it is dark red and turning to green. The lilacs have been beautiful, just now passing. Do you remember the great garden of them, over back of the water works? Just now the horse-chestnut trees, or buck-eye trees are in their glory. Iris in all shades of purple, lavender, yellow, and white are fine to look at as we drive along the streets. The flowering crab apple in Mr. Ogram's yard, next door, is in its prime now; so are Dorothy's lily-of the valley, a large silver bowl of which sits in the center of the dining table before me as I write. I wonder if you were in Saginaw in the right season to see these things I have mentioned. But you have seen them all elsewhere and it is not difficult to recall their beauty by imagination, especially with so many other local floral beauties all around you that we in the north do not have.

Harold heard yesterday that strawberries would be abundant this season and would sell, at the height of the season, as low as 25 cents a qt. basket if the dealers did not buy them all up to freeze.

You certainly are to be congratulated on being able to visit your home people so often. Kindly give my greetings to them all; I'm not sure I shall ever get to write your mother for I am still having trouble with my eyes. I am planning to see an oculist in about a week. I hope all your people in Safety Harbor are well and are enjoying good spring weather and their respective customary activities.

We all do thank you and Kathleen for sending us that box of delicious Florida fruit. It was very delicious and I think I ate the last half of grape-fruit this morning. We have greatly enjoyed it. Thank you both very deeply.

And have I thanked you and Kathleen and Jacqueline and Cynthia and Allen for the Mother's day greetings? I fear I have not, so I will send my thanks very sincere and hearty right here and now to you all for the beautiful cards and very kind greetings. If little Allen cannot walk alone yet, and cannot swim, he certainly can write his name very well, - for his age!! Thanks you, Hugh, for your very kind letter. Sincerely yours, with love, Mother Beard.

[This letter dated July 16, 1948 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Ellen Kinney Beard to Kathleen and family. Ellen asks if Kathleen will be coming north this upcoming summer. She tells of other family member's travels. She had recently been to Oberlin and at 80 years of age had a heart attack. She describes the Train of Tomorrow that recently came through. She received the photos of Kathleen's children and is contemplating what type of baby gift to send Kathleen for baby Allen. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

2306 North Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
July 16", 1948

Dear Kathleen and all the family,

Aside from the National Democratic Convention, the question which holds the center of interest is, will Kathleen and family come north this summer?! Geraldine was anxious to know, but decided to go on her vacation trip to the High Sierras with her hiking club this coming week-end, as her last chance before she comes east to live next year; she will be gone two weeks.

I suppose she has been writing you periodically as she was so anxious to know if you two could meet on your vacations this year. Marjorie's family are now on their vacation trip to Canada. They will be home about the 18th or 19th. (We had a card from M. today. They have had pretty good weather I guess, mostly rather cool (Later- They surprised us by arriving home a day early- Saturday night.

Etta is now making the rounds of her children and took in the Oberlin meeting en route, Elbert and Emma are getting along alone. I thought as I reread some of Elbert's letters this morning that you would appreciate reading them and some others from the girls and Etta and relatives. I will mail you a bunch of some we have read.

I suppose you are wondering how I stood the Oberlin trip. Well, I overdid, of course, as I wanted to attend so many meetings, and do not fully realize my limitations with this 80 year old heart of mine. So, altho I got home alright, I had a little heart attack which took me to the hospital for four days and necessitated Ralph's bringing out from his hospital, the night previous, a small oxygen tank to relieve my difficult breathing. [According to Who's Who in America 1966-67, Ralph was the administrator of Saginaw Osteopathic Hospital from 1946 to 1972. During this time the hospital grew from a seven-bed establishment to a hospital of over 200 beds. Ralph was named a Fellow of the American College of Osteopathic Hospital Administrators and was president of the Michigan Osteopathic Hospital Association.]

Dorothy and Harold are taking the best of care of me and my Dr. at the Osteopathic hospital is doing his best to rejuvenate my worn-out physical mechanism, and he has succeeded better than I expected. I begged him not to start a course of treatment with the aim of prolonging my life, for I have lived my life and it is time I got out of the way of the generations following me and not be a burden and a care and expense to them. I am no enthusiast for longevity.

I have been recuperating lying on the porch swing couch on the front veranda where I get the beautiful view of the blue sky and white clouds thru the fresh tender green of the many beautiful trees up and down the street and all around here. It has been very cool for a week,- almost cold if one isn't working right in the sun shine and there has been a surprising lack of mosquitos even when we sit out evenings.

Until within two or three days, I have not been allowed to do any work at all,- nothing that requires expenditure of strength, or motion. Yesterday for the first time I wiped the luncheon dishes. When I told the Dr. he was evidently surprised and considered that I had gone beyond his permission. He said, "You won't do it but once a day will you? So you see I'm not of much use.

Dorothy wrote Gould suggesting that he call around here some time when he was going across. Wednesday night about 11:30 p.m. Dorothy received a telegram from Gould saying he would stop off and run up from Detroit Thursday a.m. Actually he did not arrive till after lunch, for lack of transportation from Detroit. It was so good to see him after so long; he is looking well. He staid with us four days, which was pretty good for a busy man. He sacrificed the privilege of being at his home with his wife and son in order to do it, almost on the date of their 17th anniversary. Sunday morning he took a plane at Detroit for Los Angeles and will get home for his visit there next Sunday.

Have you heard thru the papers of the "Train of Tomorrow"? The "General Motors" put that out for exhibition and it came here from [she left a big blank here] and stood on the bean elevator track for four days and happened to be here when Gould was here and we all went over and walked thru it at one time or another. It was certainly a wonderfully fine traveling outfit. The chair Car, the, the observation car, the Dining car the Sleeping Car, each had an "Astra Dome" overhead as a second story, furnished and roomy, with top and sides closed in all with a special kind of glass not easily breakable and shaded slightly gray to prevent sun glare and burn. The diner seats 18 passengers in the astra Dome, 24 in the main dining room, and 10 more in the private dining room on the lower deck. It is amazing what an amount of comfort for so many people could be crowded into one train.

Raspberries are at their prime now and we have been indulging. I wish it were possible to send some to you. Dorothy bought a crate and froze about 3/4ths of it and we ate the rest.

I think I am gaining a little from month to month but I am not strong and vigorous and peppy; but feel my age and infirmity in my step, and gait and retarded speed. My sight is rather better I think, but my hearing is a bit dull. However, I am thankful to be able to use [ends here]

We received your very interesting letter today and are much pleased with the photos of the children all of which are very good. It must be an excellent one of the baby,- he looks so tall. I hope he is not being troubled still by colic. With two such devoted sisters he ought to be a good baby.

We in Saginaw, (I think thru Dorothy's spoken or written word), intimated that we plan to give baby a gift of something you needed in the care of him,- like a play-pen, or baby buggy, or something else you may have thought of. We have been terribly slow about doing it. But now we have got to the point and this letter will enclose the where-with-all to purchase such a gift. We thought it but to send you the money and let you select it right there in Jacksonville where you can see what you are getting. Make your own choice of what you most need and will get the most help from. Get a good one, whatever the article is and let us know if you need more money to get it. I hope baby will like it and that it will be a great help to the whole family in caring for him.

Congratulations to Jacqueline on her outstanding success in school honors. It certainly bespeaks faithful work and superior ability. I hope she carries it thru high school without undue strain. I hope Cynthia is enjoying her school work as much as she did when I was there and she brought home her A+ spelling and arithmetic papers. I am hoping both the girls are finding lots of time to practice piano this summer vacation.

It seems to me we have had a very cool summer thus far and I hope you have had some of our cool, crisp, fresh Mich. breezes blown down to Jacksonville to cool you off. Take care of your health, all of you; it doesn't pay to be careless and become ill like me. Affectionately, Mother

Dear Kathleen,

Am sending to you under another cover several letters of earlier date from others that I thought you might find something in that you had not heard elsewhere.

To make all possible use of postage, perhaps I'll put one or two of the earlier letters into this cover.

A short note from Geraldine this morning says she is now on the High Sierra Club Hike, started the 18", "to be gone two weeks, 125 in the party, their luggage carried by burros or donkeys, all meals prepared in a central commissary"- certainly a delux hike! I hope she enjoys every minute of it to the full and keeps well all the time. It certainly will be a great experience!

She leaves Becky Haviland there in Berkeley, in a nice boarding house, studying music in the University and giving music lessons, and substituting for organists on vacation.

Gould read these earlier letters when he was here and requested that they be sent to Virginia as she would be interested in them.

The ones that they themselves didn't write I was planning to send to Elbert and Geraldine.

Much love to all the family,

Affectionately,

Mother.

The photos of all were so good!

[This letter dated Nov. 5, 1948 was written from Berkeley, California by Geraldine to Ellen. She informs Ellen that she will be spending Christmas in Saginaw because she is taking a new job in New York and will be moving back east about that time. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Berkeley Nov. 5, 1948

Dearest Mother-

It looks as though I should be spending Christmas with you! I have just accepted a job at the N.Y. Historical Society, to begin January 1. There were so many considerations of such varying natures that I have been nearly beside myself during the last six weeks,- ever since Glen's first letter came. Then I did not hear for four weeks and conjured up all sorts of reasons for the job possibly failing to materialize. And when the definite offer did come, I had to start all over again to weigh the pros and cons. It surely is a pull to decide to leave California. But I've decided if it is so hard, I must be soft and spoiled, and need to battle some of the rigors of climate again to prove my mettle. The salary will not be much more than here at first, but I guess I can make it go as far there as here. The work itself is what made me take it. I'll be in charge of the reading room, the part of my work here I have liked the most. Meeting the readers, who are, in a library like this, and like that, all scholars doing interesting research, has been fun, and there it will be even more so perhaps. What I shall miss the most is our student assistants,- who are such nice boys,- and so much fun.

I am resigning as of December 31, and figure that I will have about two weeks of accumulated vacation so should be able to leave here about the middle of the month, or by the 20th at least. I could have nearly a week in Saginaw, and then go on to N.Y during the week between Christmas and New Years. Edna says I can stay with her until I find an apartment. I think I'll try to live as near as possible to the Historical Society, so that I can walk to work if possible. There is so much to do here before leaving that I'll be plenty busy. I should study all my spare time, for I'm rusty on what little New York bibliography I did know. And I'll have to get some winter clothes. Which leads to a question I meant to ask when I was there, and now is much more vital, than mere curiosity. Did Father dispose of the brown fur coat he offered me in 1946? I told him I did not need it then, and he did not mention it again. Will you let me know soon whether it is still available and whether, if so, I might have it?

Both Kits and Fred have been ill since they returned from their vacation this summer. Kits had a little polyp removed from her rectum, and then Fred had an attack of unknown cause, which was repeated and finally led to a hospital examination and proved to be kidney stones. They feared the kidneys were affected, but operated and found not. He is still in the hospital, and was pretty sick, but is reported doing nicely. It does seem as if they have more than their share of trouble.

Monnie's good letter came today. It will be so good to see you all again soon.

Most lovingly
Geraldine

Jill, Kathleen and Cynthia – about 1948

Allen Elmer – 1948

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

[This letter dated Nov. 7, 1948 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Ellen to Kathleen and her family. She talks about her health and Monnie's activities. Elbert visited them in Saginaw and they toured a sugar factory. Elbert is concerned over lumps on his skin. All would like to see Kathleen's baby Allen. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Finished Nov. 25th
2306 North Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
Nov. 7th, 1948.

Dearest Kathleen, Hugh, Jacqueline, Cynthia, and Baby Allen.

As I sit here at the dining-table in Dorothy's home writing, (she sits beside me writing to Geraldine), I can visualize you all, from the happy memory of days gone by, gathered around the studio couch in the living room, each (save Allen) with a Bible in hand, all reading a verse around in turn, followed by a prayer, and then singing favorite hymns. It is a very pleasant memory and I hope you will always keep up this very worth while Sunday evening family practice. The children will always remember it with pleasure and will look back on it from mature life with grateful appreciation.

How I would like to be with you again joining in these Sunday evening devotions. But Grandma's voice would not help much now in the singing; for I discovered this morning in church that even singing requires strength and my heart told me I had done enough when we reached the end of the first verse of the opening hymn. So I followed the words along and just listened to hear the congregation finish the hymn. And I rested from singing all the other hymns too, and further conserved my strength by sitting thru the entire service while the others stood for hymns, collection prayer, and benediction. My heart worked peacefully on after having given me the warning, but I thought it best to pursue a course of safety. I am taking four kinds of medicine daily, regularly, and have a fifth kind that I take "as needed", - occasionally. This last is taken when my heart gets to beating too wildly and using up too much of its strength. I make an office call at my Dr.'s about once in four weeks now. And I am living quite a normal life now, - with discretion.

I go out afternoons or evenings, occasionally, to meetings or church dinners or concerts, as one or the other of the girls invite me and is free to take me in her car. I went with Marjorie to a women's church missionary group last week and, by request led the devotions. Last week also I went with Marjorie to her Foreign Relations group of which she is chairman, in the A.A.U.W. of which she is a member. Heading this group has given her hours and hours of work, in research work in the library for her paper on the United Nations to open the year's program. More hours telephoning to members to get ladies to take papers for the meetings, or to entertain the meetings at their homes, or to be hostesses; for she is determined to make this series of discussions a success while she holds office as leader or chairman of that department of the organization. She was highly complimented for her paper on United Nations by some of the most outstanding intellectuals in this group of the A.A.U.W. Last year, under another leader as chairman, this group, foreign relations, petered out entirely at the third meeting as no one came to the meeting. This has spurred Marjorie's determination to make it a success under her leadership. There is abundant material for discussion of foreign relations, in the out-stand [?] world-wide events, in which our country is interested and involved, as indeed, there was last year; but it is difficult to get the women to tackle those great history making events and conferences and negotiations that are so involved and hard to understand as the China situation; the Palestine trouble; the Berlin blockade.

Johnny likes his school very well and is doing satisfactory work in his teacher's estimation. He has developed fast in past months, from infancy to real boyhood. He is outgrowing some of his faults and parental spoiling.

Very much love to you all, Mother

Marjorie and Ralph took me to a Violin concert by a famous lady violinist, on Dorothy's season ticket for the Saginaw Entertainment Course, which she couldn't use that night on account of another important engagement. The artist certainly was a skillful violinist and Marjorie, with her knowledge of violin music and practice hugely enjoyed it and of course got much more out of it than I did. And you would have appreciated it immensely too.

Dorothy, last week, took me, on Marjorie's season ticket which she sacrificially gave up to me for my enjoyment to hear the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, which you may some time past have hear in Oberlin, with a somewhat different personel. I once heard it there; but I think I enjoyed it quite as much in Saginaw as I did in Oberlin. As an encore after the third call, at the end, they played a piece on all the stringed instruments (without wind or percussion instruments) without bows, by just picking the strings. The leader announced they were playing it by request.

We had a wonderfully good visit with Elbert, when he visited us arriving Saturday Oct. 23", and staid just a week. He came here at Dorothy's first [request?] as D. and H. would be out of school over Saturday and Sunday and they would have more time to visit with him then.

He had just been having exray treatment for the lumps which you have heard he has on his arms and legs, which treatment had taken his appetite away, and his pep and ambition, and had made him feel rather debilitated; and he asked us not to arrange any picnics, or parties, or feasts for him, for he could not eat much and did not feel like going about much. We had arranged to have one family get together at Frankenmuth for a dinner; but when we saw how he felt we gave it up, and all got together at Dorothy's for a dinner and social evening, and again at Marjorie's for dinner and a social evening. We got permission to show him the Sugar-best industry and Marjorie took her car and drove Elbert, Johnny and me to the plant where beet sugar is made. It was very interesting and I have wanted for a long time to see it. But I fear Elbert didn't half put his mind on to seeing the processes and hearing the description, for he was so worried lest the walking about the big building and climbing the long stair-cases, and going thru the hot steamy machinery rooms, should be too strenuous for me. He said to me repeatedly, "This is no place for you." But I stood it very well and suffered no harm from the trip. We cut out the third stair case, to the top floor out of consideration for his anxiety. It was interesting to see the five lb. bags filled with granulated white sugar ready for market, and stitched across the top for closing and the extra length of the paper bag trimmed off the top all by machine, almost automatically. This machine was tended by only two women, placing the empty bags under the five pound measuring hoppers that delivered exactly 5 lbs. to each bag then shut off automatically. At the press of a button, the 6 filled bags moved off on a moving belt and were cared for by an attendant and another group of empty bags was placed under the filling machine. We also saw, similarly filled and stitched, 10 lb. bags, 50 lb. bags, 25 lb. bags and 100 lb. bags. We also saw them loaded on to freight cars, right on the tracks beside the ware house.

On Saturday, just a week after he arrived, there was a ball-game at Michigan U. stadium at Ann Arbor, and Harold had tickets so that Elbert could go with his party. They invited him to go and it appealed to him as he had not seen a big ball game for many years. Harold told him he would drive him to Detroit for his train to Cincinnati from where he would take a bus to Hamilton to visit Fulton, which he had arranged with Fulton by correspondence. He had told his Putnam Dr. to write Fulton fully about his case (the lumps) and he hoped to get from Fulton more fully the real facts about his case than the other Dr.'s would be willing to give him. He will write fully about his interview with Fulton when he gets home and I will send his letter to you. I think he fears the Dr.'s diagnose some of his lumps as malignant. He thinks he has two kinds of lumps. And my Dr. says there are three kinds. He had to drive 30 miles to Willimantic hospital, for ten minute treatments by exray, every day for ten days. He also went thru a clinic in Putnam which was conducted by two experts from Providence and N.Y. and at which all the Dr.'s in Putnam were present and examined and felt of his lumps.

Perhaps you have heard that Elbert has changed his heating outfit from coal to oil, so it is very easy for Etta to manage the heating during his absence. He has fixed up a nice room in his cellar around his oil heater, and whitewashed the walls, and finished the floor in some way, hung pictures on the walls, hung curtains at the windows, refurbished some old furniture in the attic, chairs, tables etc. and put them down there and they found it a very cool place to sit in the hot weather.

Elbert has aged considerably since I saw him last, both in looks physically, and in the temperament, - interest, and aggressiveness. I think he suspects some, at least, of his lumps are malignant; and the feeling that he is on the down-hill road affects all his thinking and his out-look on life generally. But he is trying to face it courageously. I await Elbert's next letter with interest as he will probably detail his physical condition, in the light of his interview with Fulton whom he believes has exact information from the experts at the Putnam Clinic, and his own physician in Putnam, and from the Willimantic hospital where he took exray treatments.

I have a few things that I plan to send to you soon. Could you use my white wool coat next spring? I have had it cleaned. I bought a pair of panties which are too small for me; perhaps Jacqueline could wear them. I have a book of poems that the pupils of the North Junior High school wrote and the school had published. I have read my copy thru and perhaps Jacqueline and Cynthia would enjoy reading it. I will send it to them. Some of the poems are very good, for children of that age- about Jacqueline's age. - I will wait about sending the white coat till I hear whether you want it or not. If you don't want it I can send it over seas. If you want it, but would rather I would keep it up here till next Spring, I can do that!

Thursday Nov. 25: - I took Thanksgiving Dinner with Marjorie's family as Dorothy and Harold had driven to Galesburg to spend Thanksgiving with his family. Marjorie comes over to spend the nite with me as I do not like to crowd Marjorie's family by going over there as much as would be necessary.

Wish I could be with you all this winter, but do not think it best, everything considered. Wish I could see little Allen now. Dorothy said the other day she so wanted to see baby Allen now as he is, that she was almost tempted to go down at Christmas vacation.

1949

- Communist's Republic of China proclaimed by Mao Zedong
- Ellen is in Saginaw, Michigan
- Gould and Virginia are in Manhasset, New York
- Geraldine is in New York
- Dorothy and Harold are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Marjorie and Ralph are in Saginaw, Michigan
- Kathleen and Hugh are in Jacksonville, Florida
- Ellen is 81, Gould- 53, Geraldine- 51, Dorothy- 48, Marjorie- 43, Kathleen- 41.

[This letter dated Oct. 14 and 23, 1949 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Ellen to Geraldine. They attended Fulton Hume's wedding in Ohio. She updates Geraldine on her health, activities and Marjorie's activities. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

2306 N. Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
Oct. 14" 1949.
23"

Dear Geraldine,

Hasn't this been a glorious fall day with its blue sky and golden sunshine!!! I hope you were situated so you could get out into the open for some hours of it. It would have been joy to be rolling thru New England today. I suppose Autumn foliage is almost past its peak of beauty now tho, but I hope you have been favored with more than one opportunity to see it at its best this fall.

I fear a cold I had, interfered to a certain extent with the family here enjoying this fall's color display at its best, but they have taken two trips to Flint and have some other travels, so they have not missed it all. The wind has made it inadvisable for me to lie out on the porch couch these golden days, but I have greatly enjoyed the sunshine that floods in my window. I sit in its warmth and glow more than an hour each day.

Today and yesterday were Mich. Teacher's Convention days in Flint, so I have been alone all day from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.- later yesterday. But I don't mind that, for I never mind being alone, there is always so much one can do with a surplus of undisturbed time. I didn't make a very startling record of accomplishment to-day, however, for I had to bathe and dress to go for an office call to the Dr. when Dorothy got home with the car. And caring for my own necessities, meals, bath, dressing and medicine with answering the door and the telephone used up about all the minutes available.

To-night, Marjorie and Ralph are dinner guests at a 7:30 dinner and Johnny is staying here with us tonight. Marjorie and Ralph will probably not be able to rest their heads on their pillows till 1:30 or 2:00. Their host and hostess are my Dr. Petty crew and wife who are famous for their late hours. They are great friends of Ralph and Marjorie. M. says she doesn't see how the Dr. keeps up his practice and his wife's social hours. She can lie abed as late as she needs to make up for lost sleep but he has to respect the professional man's hours.

I have just eaten a delicious bunch of concord grapes, cold and sweet, which I just brought in from the back veranda where I keep them covered with newspapers to hide them from the robins who are helping themselves to otherwise. Harold bought them for me from the corner city market a few days ago; I hope he can get one more basket before they are gone. Dorothy is very fond of them too. If you visit Putnam within a few weeks, you can have some of their specially fine "Wordens" which they are keeping in their refrigerator; they have the Concords too. I think I have read of a grape diet being recommended for an ailment like yours.

And now, how are you feeling these days since you last left us? And how goes the regime you are now trying? You must be feeling the thrill of vigor and ambition to take this Autumn trip up the river to the highlands by train to view the Autumn foliage which Virginia wrote us about. I'm glad you took the opportunity to view the foliage, and hope you didn't entirely miss the alternative offer of autumn raspberries from Gould's garden. Perhaps you can get a chance at them on some later week-end.

Well, we all had a grand time at Fulton's wedding meeting all the Hume clan,- some I had never met. [Is this Fulton's second marriage?] They certainly put on a grand affair for the wedding, without ostentatious or over display. There were some odd omissions, along with a well planned and well executed affair. I am very glad I went and have not felt any harm.

One odd omission was that, so far as it concerned us, no one seemed to be commissioned with the office of informing the out-of-town guests where the wedding gifts were on display. And so far as I have heard none of our family saw them.

The five-tiered bridal cake was a light cake with moist frosting and was delicious. I didn't see any dark wedding cake, or else I have forgotten it. Delicious punch was served. They planned a supper after the wedding reception for the out of town guests, I think, which we from Saginaw declined so that we might be making a few tens of miles on our way back home before a late hour. But they urged us so hard to stay for it (and the Humes urged us, also, on the ground that seventy had been invited to this supper and had been prepared for, and at the last minute, so many of them seemed to be going home that the bride's mother wondered who would be left to eat what she had prepared; so to please the Humes we decided to stay. Myron and Janice couldn't stay and Etta was to ride with them, (rather hastily arranged at the last, I guess,) so they all wanted us to stay, in their place. Donald's family were not staying, so they urged us to stay. Stewart's family stayed. Elbert was riding to Saginaw with us, so we didn't want to take him away from the festivities too early. It was a delicious chicken supper with ice cream and cake and coffee.

On our way home, we stopped for the night at a Motor court in Marion, Ohio, which we had engaged as we were leaving Marion that morning, having staid there in an ordinary group of over-night cottages. Harold drove around the town while he was waiting for us to dress and pack up, and found this DeLux Motor Court and engaged it for our return trip. It was absolutely new and fresh, and not entirely finished, new furnishings of extra quality, - blankets, sheets, pillows, and pillowcases, towels and all-over carpets, metal bureaus, with the idea of building fire proof, I fancy. It was not too expensive, considering what it supplies, - and so clean and new. Showers and everything very modern. I greatly enjoyed the ride, Ohio has many beautiful large trees along the roadways. I had not realized Ohio raised so many sheep and so much field corn. Quite a lot of hogs and cattle! We drove thru good farming area.

I sent as my gift to the bride one percale hemstitched sheet and a pair of pillowcases to match. The girls seemed to think I ought to give a larger gift as I was in the generation above them so I did not join with them in their gift of a white wool blanket which was exquisite, for I saw it before it was sent. And Elbert said it was far superior to the only other blanket he saw among the gifts.

I am very glad that Emma could bring her self to be willing to stay alone befriended by Mrs. Warren, one of Elbert's tenants in the big house. And I am thankful it did all work out so well, being a venture of some uncertainties. We, here, are all waiting eagerly to hear from Elbert himself just how he took the whole trip and how he enjoyed the whole and how his health is holding out. We have had two well filled postal cards about his travels since he left us, but nothing since he arrived home. We have all been very slow to write each other since we have settled down to business after the summer's goings and comings.

Marjorie felt she must give up singing in our church choir as it required her to be out one evening for practice and Ralph does not like her to be out so much from home evenings. But I miss her presence in the choir, - it was a joy to me to see her there for I knew she enjoyed it. She felt she ought to help in Sunday School, so I do not have her with me now in the morning service; and she misses a very interesting and able sermon each Sunday.

Johnny is just beginning his practice in the Cherub choir; he has been to two rehearsals. I do hope he will be a good boy there, so that they will want him to stay.

I think Marjorie is still singing in her women's choral club simply because she feels she cannot honorably pull out and leave them, for some reason I do not understand. Ralph would like to have her give that up too, I think. She also thought to give up her AAUW in order to be at home more evenings with Ralph, but she had done such good work in the section she joined that they wouldn't let her off there either; (I can't think of the name of the section now, but it was the one in which they studied the United Nations).

As for myself, I remain here in Saginaw, about so-so from week to week, and have attended church regularly each Sunday and get out to a meeting or a dinner, or to go shopping once or twice a month beside; so I get around a bit, but I am not strong and still have a cough that attacks me at intervals. I do hope you are keeping fairly well and do let us hear from you often.

Very much love to you. Affectionately, Mother.

Enclose this in your letter to Kathleen if you think there is enough in it for her to enjoy.

Be careful to dress warmly when you go out on a windy day like today. It has grown cold since noon today. Has your co-resident in your apartment returned from her summer home yet?

[This letter dated Oct. 30 and Dec. 10, 1949 was written from Saginaw, Michigan by Ellen to Kathleen and her family. Ellen talks about the fall weather, leaves and fruit. She took a trip to Northern Michigan with her daughters. Elbert visited them for two weeks. Ellen send money as a birthday gift for grandson, Allen. Letter in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

2306 N. Bond St.
Saginaw, Mich.
Oct. 30", 1949.
Dec. 10th

Dearest Kathleen and all the family,

Are you having such wonderful sunny Oct. days down there as we are having up here. It seems a pity to stay indoors; the wind is often a little too strong a breeze, to permit me to sit or lie out on the porch swing, which I enjoyed so much this spring, but the fall weather has been beautifully blue and sunny.

Now, almost all the shade trees up and down our tree-lined streets have dropped their leaves and only a few apple, pear and plum trees and a few others, are holding on tenaciously to theirs. Jack Frost has taken all the flowers except those of the Chrysanthemum family. Dorothy and Marjorie both have a few of those left in their gardens. Today Dorothy found two strawberry blossoms in the bed in their back yard. Cranberries are in market. Do you get them down there in your markets? You like them do you not? If you do not get them there, I will send you some. By the way, we sent you some apples a few days ago, - by express, I think. There are three kinds in the crate; the Greenings are for cooking in pies, dumplings, applesauce, etc; the delicious are for eating fresh; and the Northern Spy also good for apple sauce or pies. Now I think I have named the three kinds correctly, and their uses, but I am not quite sure so you will have to try them out and see for yourself. I know the greenings are always considered a cooking apple. And I know one of the other kinds makes good applesauce, but which?!!! I wanted to send you some pears but they are not a very good kind, - the Keefer pear; and the earlier and better kind, the Sheldon, ripened so fast there was not time to get them to you.

Well, Marjorie has written you all about the wedding, and of Elbert's visit to us all in Saginaw, and I could not hope to add any thing of interest following her dexterous pen. We all enjoyed Elbert's somewhat surprise visit for we had hardly expected him to be able to do it. He staid with us over two weeks, and he was so desirous of recruiting more physical strength that I put him under my Dr.'s treatment for the time he was here and I really think he actually did gain a little strength while he was here. He also visited the nephews except Myron, and he was with Myron a good deal during the wedding. I will enclose with this some letters and post cards which will fill in bits of information, where there may be blanks in piecing together the family news from our scanty correspondence of the past few weeks. We all seemed to fail out at once. Did either of the girls tell you that they took me way up in the [scribbles] (fell asleep here) north of Mich. on an auto trip as part of their vacation trip when I was not supposed to be able to take a vacation trip. But I went the whole trip with them. (Geraldine was with us) and I lost only ½ day when they went to the Soo, the very place I wanted much to see, but had to stay in bed and rest in our hired cottage with Dorothy staying with me while the rest went, as she had been on that trip a previous year. But I came thru the week's trip all right and did enjoy it very much. We took in the Macinac Island trip with its wonderful Hotel and the longest veranda in the world and where no automobiles are used; we took the long ride around in a double carriage with a span of horses and a driver. A steam boat trip of over an hour took us to the island and another hour's trip took us back to the main—land. Very memorable trip.

Our papers have reported hurricanes at two different times some where south of Jacksonville and I have watched their progress and direction but have not seen that they hit Jacksonville very hard. But some one recently spoke as tho Jacksonville did get quite a damaging blow at one time. Is that true? And did the storm come near enough to you to jeopardize you or do any harm to your home? Did it give you hours of anxiety, or any trouble or inconvenience or loss? Do write us all about it, and what date was it?

We have enjoyed the girl's letters very much and are glad to hear of their summer activities. I knew little Allen would keep the family busy investigating his where-abouts and activities when he found his feet. You are doing very well to include in his training and education regular church attendance. I hope all [scribbles] (Another nap!) the family have been well this fall.

Dorothy thinks she never has seen a fall here in Saginaw when weather and health conditions have been so good. Has polio been very prevalent in Jacksonville?

Are the girls taking band music this fall in school? And are they taking up their piano practice at home?

This Sunday morning I went to the Ames Methodist Church with Dorothy. A Meth. missionary from the Philipines was to speak and I thought it would be interesting and it was. A well prepared address and very ably given. His name was Rev. Riley; if he comes you may be sure to hear him.

I presume the same series of missionary meetings in Florida were held this past summer as has been conducted for many years. Did you get to attend any of them?

Dec. 10". - This letter has waited long to be finished but I will try to finish and mail it even tho its news is no longer new. As I was making out this check it seemed to me I ought to be making out another check to you for something- I cannot think what. If you know of anything I should pay you please let me know. I forget so.

I will try to send in this letter the last installment of Allen's birth gift. If I am right, I have given him three checks of twenty-five dollars each, to make up the amount of one hundred dollars, equal to the gift that Father gave to Jacqueline and to Cynthia each. Now if I am wrong, and this is the third $25.00 instead of the fourth, please be sure to write me at once and I will correct it. My memory is getting so poor I can not trust it on important matters. So be sure to write me soon if this is the amount that completes the $100.00, or if it is only the third $25.00. And because Allen has had to wait so long for his gift and has lost some interest in taking it in instalments, I am going to make this last check thirty dollars instead of twenty five. And I think that will put him even with all the other grandchildren.

Oct. 31", - Well, this is Haloween and we have had a large number of visitors, in groups of from one to eight, averaging three or four to a group, and ages of all the way from two to seventh grade. They ring the bell and ask for "Treats or Tricks". Harold bought a bag of candy to dispense, but when his 7th grade boys came in, he gave them each an apple. The candy gave out and when the calls continued thick and fast he got into his car and went to the nearest store for a fresh supply leaving me to hand out the last of the first bag full. I think we must have had nearly 25 callers. Harold took care of them all as Dorothy is out teaching her gym class to-night. I didn't think I could accomplish it all, as it is one of the newer ways of celebrating the Haloween.

Dec. 10", - I have been sitting up quite long periods recently and yesterday I wiped most of the lunch dishes sitting beside the sink. But I have not tried to do any work at all,- it takes so much strength, of which I have little.

Thank you for the kind remembrances of friends I met down there, and return my appreciative greetings to all of them,- Christmas Greetings too, to them all,- I am not strong enough to write them all. A boy just came to the door selling Christmas trees- pretty little ones five feet tall.

With deepest love to you all, especially little Allen,
Mother and Grandmother.

Very cheery Christmas and New Year Greetings to each and every one of you. A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all.- Mother and Grandma.

Johnny sings in the Cherub Choir of our church tomorrow morning at church for his first time. He has practiced with the choir three times. They will wear white gowns. There will be 45 little boys and girls. How I wish I could hear them but it is too cold for me to go out.

One last word!

Don't give up your trip north for any reason pertaining to our side of the question. There is plenty of room, beds and bedding. Plenty of help to take care of baby and do washing and cooking, large family no bother to anybody, plenty of eagerness to see you all, wish I could say plenty of strength and comfort for you to make the trip both ways, but I have so little strength myself to spare, that a realizing sense of the actual experience rather weakens my pen when I try to enthuse truthfully on that phase of the undertaking.

1950 +

- Korean War begins
- 1952 Elizabeth II takes over throne when George VI dies
- 1953 Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay reach the top of Mt. Everest
- Ellen Kinney Beard dies September 7, 1953
Phebe Maria Beard- February 6, 1957
Bennett Nichols Beard- January 21, 1960
Mary Louise Beard- September 14, 1964
Stanley Drew Beard- July 31, 1970
Myron Gould Beard- December 25, 1974
Dorothy Beard Newberg- May 18, 1991
Geraldine Beard- September 1, 1994
Marjorie Beard Butt- December 2, 1994
Kathleen Beard Elmer- May 12, 2004
Edith Beard Valentine – April 3, 2009

Ex-Missionary Marks 82nd Birthday

A prim New England school teacher, who left Putnam, Conn., back in 1894 to accompany her husband as a missionary to China, today is celebrating her 82nd birthday in Saginaw.

She's Mrs. W. L. Beard, who now lives with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Newberg, 2306 North Bond.

She was teaching and Rev. Willard Livingstone Beard was a minister in a small Connecticut town when the two met and married, and made immediate plans for spreading Christianity in China.

They arrived in China at the outbreak of the Boxer Uprising in 1900 and stuck through it in spite of Chinese attempts to oust foreigners from the country.

The Beards were stationed in the city of Foochow, in Fukien Province, where Rev. Mr. Beard eventually became president of Foochow College. Mrs. Beard assisted her husband by teaching English in the college and later in a girls' school.

Their compound, besides the college, consisted of a hospital, a boys' school and girls' school, as well as eight other missionary homes. It was sponsored by the Congregational Christian Church.

The Beards were involved in more warfare when the Japanese invaded China in the early 1930s, but again they remained through it and were not bothered. In 1936 Rev. Mr. Beard retired but was called back. He retired again in 1941 and died in 1947 at Jacksonville, Fla.

During their 37 years in China, Mrs. Beard obtained a working knowledge of the Chinese language and became adept with chopsticks. She believes her greatest hardship during the years there was the separation from her six children when they came back to America for education.

The eldest daughter became a missionary and returned to China, where she died. Five live in the United States. Besides Mrs. Newberg, there is Mrs. W. R. Butt of Saginaw, Miss Geraldine Beard of New York City, Mrs. Hugh Elmer of Jacksonville, Fla., and Myron G. Beard of New York City.

Past Leaders Entertained

A crystal bowl of daffodils and irises was flanked by yellow tapers at Mrs. Carl Gray King's dinner party for past presidents of Junior Woman's Club. She entertained Tuesday evening at her Golfside home.

When guests played bridge, honors were scored by Mrs. A. E. Leuenberger, Mrs. Robert L. Herrman, Mrs. Allan A. Campbell and Miss Alice A. Arnold. Other attendants were Miss Carrie A. Rieder, Mrs. James H. Curtis, Mrs. Floyd G. Torongo and Mrs. Martin R. Krueger.

Birthday Party Honors Miss Helen Weisheim

Miss Helen Weisheim was entertained by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alec Weisheim, 1602 Marquette, at a party Saturday observing her 17th birthday. Refreshments and dancing were enjoyed by Misses Doris Clabusch, Joyce Hubbell, Charlotte Bain, Lorraine Schultz, Marlene Schneider, Marlene Trier, Donna Fuller, Delores Donner, Betty Fountain, Lila Weiner, Dolly Pawada, Phyllis Schneider, Donna Martuch, Elsie Reising, Dorothy Weisheim, and Ray Bauer, Robert Goodeman, Alfred Wielock, Nate Slocum, Kenneth Stevens, Jack Dammann, Leonard Schroeder, Donald Zuziak, George Reising, Dan Harnden, William Moore, Douglas Hayden, Dan McCauley and Emeril Lentner.

MRS. W. L. BEARD.
... missionary 37 years.
(Saginaw News Photo.)

Mother was in a dither when she heard of our plan to have this done, but when all was over, she got quite a kick out of it & continues to when our friends all over town mention seeing it.

fashion important

navy and white
The picture isn't good as is the case with

Easter Dress
most new paper flash photos

$1.41

The Saginaw News 1950

Written in Dorothy's handwriting: "Mother was in a dither when she heard of our plan to have this done, but when all was over she got quite a kick out of it and continues to when our friends all over town mention seeing it. The picture isn't good as is the case with most newspaper flash photos."

Etta Kinney Hume, Elbert Kinney, Ellen Kinney Beard and Emma Kinney – taken before 1953
[Photo from the collection of Jana L. Jackson]

Kathleen, Geraldine, Ellen, Marjorie, Dorothy wearing dresses from the Philippines - 1950
[Photo in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

The Willard and Ellen Beard family reunion 1950

L to R: Jacqueline Elmer, Willard Frederick Beard, Hazel Beard, Cynthia Elmer, Hugh Elmer Kathleen Beard Elmer holding Allen Elmer, Ellen Kinney Beard, Geraldine Beard, Gould Beard, Virginia Space Beard, Marjorie Beard Butt, John Butte, Harold Newberg, Dorothy Beard Newberg.
Marjorie Beard Butt, John Butte, Harold Newberg, Dorothy Beard Newberg.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Geraldine with Fred and "Kits" (Leolyn Jr.) Griffith- 1959
[Photo in the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

The grandchildren of Willard and Ellen Beard - about 1950 - photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson

Written on back:" At Pearl and Bill Tayler's in Woodstock Conn. June of 1952

Left to Rt. front: Etta Kinney Hume, Elbert C. Kinney, Ellen Kinney Beard

Rear: Gould and Virginia Beard, Geraldine Beard, Pearl Tayler, Bertha Richardson Tweed, Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin (Pearl's brother), Dorothy Beard Newberg and Wm. L. Tayler."

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Written on back: "At Pearl and Bill Tayler's in Woodstock Conn 7-52 [previous photo said June '52]
 Etta Kinney Hume, Elbert C. Kinney, Ellen Kinney Beard.
 Weekend of High School Reunion in Putnam Conn.
 Mother Beard's 66th reunion year, she is 84 yrs old."
 [Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Some of the Beards – probably July 1953

Jill Jackson believes that this photo was taken at Dorothy and Harold's home in Saginaw. Ellen Kinney Beard is in this photo and she died in September of 1953. Allen Elmer is also in this photo and he was born in 1948. If this photo was taken the year Ellen died, Allen would be 5 years old, which is about how old he looks in this photo. Left to right: Gould Beard, Willard F. Beard, Cynthia Elmer, Jill Elmer, Hugh Elmer, Ellen Beard, Hazel Beard, Allen Elmer, Geraldine Beard, Virginia Space Beard, probably Harold Newberg, Dorothy Beard Newberg, unidentified man behind her. Kathleen Beard Elmer may be taking the photo.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Stamped on back: "Week of July 27, 1953"

L to R: Hugh Elmer, Harold Newberg, Dorothy Beard Newberg with young Allen Elmer in front of her, Jill Elmer with young John Butt in front, Kathleen Beard Elmer, Cynthia Elmer, Ellen Beard, and Marjorie Beard Butt. Ralph Butt may be taking the photo.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Written on back: "Taken last September ('52) when Jill left for college."

Left to right: Kathleen, Cynthia, Allen, Jill, Hugh.

[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Ellen L. Kinney wife of Willard L. Beard

March 29, 1868 – Sept. 7, 1953

[Photo from James Smith, Shelton, CT resident and genealogy researcher.]

According to Ellen's death certificate issued in Saginaw, Michigan, Ellen died at age 85 in a Saginaw osteopathic hospital of Recent exacerbation of Cardiac Infarction and Intestinal obstruction with varasio[?hard to read--maybe a varicose condition?] of small intestine. This was discovered during an autopsy.

[From the Saginaw newspaper September 8, 1953]

BEARD, Mrs. Ellen K.

4703 Ironwood Street

Widow of Dr. Willard L. Beard, passed away at the Saginaw Osteopathic Hospital Monday morning. Age 85 years, Ellen L. Kinney was born March 29, 1868, at Union, Connecticut. She graduated from the Putnam Connecticut High School and attended New Britain Normal School and Oberlin College. She taught school in Connecticut for two years. In 1894, she was married to Mr. Beard. They then went to China and were in missionary service at Foochow, China for nearly 45 years. In 1940 [1941], they retired and made their home in Connecticut until Dr. Beard's death in 1947. Since that time she had made her home with her daughters in Saginaw. She attended the First Congregational Church. Surviving are four daughters and one son, Mrs. Harold Newberg, Mrs. W.R. Butt, both of Saginaw; M. Gould Beard, Manhasset, Long Island; Miss Geraldine Beard, New York City, N.Y.; Mrs. Hugh Elmer, Jacksonville, Fla.; six grandchildren; also one sister and one brother; Mrs. Etta Hume and Elbert C. Kinney, both of Putnam, Conn. Funeral service will take place at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the Case Chapel. Rev. Harry Suttner and Dr. Hugh Townley will officiate with burial in Shelton, Conn. Friends may call at the chapel from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. Tuesday and are requested to omit flowers.

According to the Memorial Service Book of Ellen Kinney Beard, the pall bearers were Willard F. Beard, Oliver Wells Beard, Daniel N. Beard, Theodore W. Beard, William Lonsdale Tayler, and Seymour F. Valentine. Services were held at the Congregational Church, Shelton, Ct., September 11, 1953. Relatives attending were: Geraldine Beard, Dorothy and Harold Newberg, Marjorie Beard Butt, Virginia Space Beard, Hazel E. Beard, Willard F. Beard, Phebe M. Beard, Stanley Beard, Myra Beard, Bennett Beard, Abbie Beard, Etta Kinney Hume, William L. Tayler, Pearle Tayler, Evangeline Lawson Leslie. [Son, Myron Gould Beard was not listed, so it is unclear if he attended. Daughter, Kathleen Beard Elmer was unable to attend. Memorial book in the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

THE NEWBERGS REVIVE MEMORIES

... Harold C. (Whitey) Newberg and his wife, Dorothy, coaches and directors of physical education at North Intermediate for most of the past 37 years, thumb through their college year books. Whitey recently retired as director of the YMCA-Boytown Basketball League after 25 years of service. (Saginaw News Photo).

Dorothy Beard Newberg and husband, Harold – probably sometime after 1960

Excerpt from letter dated March 4, 1962 written to Kathleen and family from Dorothy:

I was lucky on the day Astronaut Glenn took his quick trip around the earth.I saw the blast-off and all that the TV showed in the morning. It's refreshing to see a man of his caliber, personality and humility become the nation's hero, after all the attention given by the nation's kids to these screw-ball rock-and-roll singers and twist dancers, and wild west gun-men!! I think that event has increased our prestige around the world. I don't know what to think of more nuclear tests.

Jill Elmer Jackson feels that this is Mary Beard – this could have been taken at Century Farm in Connecticut
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

Obituary of Mary Louise Beard- died September 4, 1964 [Breast Cancer]

Miss Mary Louise Beard, 82, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 564 Long Hill Avenue after a short illness. She was born in Huntington May 26, 1882, and was a descendant of a family which helped found the Town of Milford in 1639. Her father was Oliver Gould Beard and her mother Nancy Maria Nichols Beard.

She attended school in Huntington and graduated from Derby High School in 1901. She was also a graduate of Mount Holyoke College class of 1905. Following graduation she taught for a year in New Haven and for three years in a preparatory school in Santa Barbara, Cal. She also taught for several years and was head of the science department at Monticello Seminary, Godfrey, Ill.

Founded School

In 1914 she went to China with her sister, Flora, and founded an American School there for the children of missionaries. I school was established in Tungchou near Peking. This school furnished training for the primary grades through college preparatory work. In 1920 she returned to this country and obtained her master's degree at Columbia University. Returning to China in 1921 she taught there until 1924.

In 1924, she returned to the family homestead on Long Hill Avenue, Shelton, where she resided the rest of her life.

She was a member of the Shelton Congregational Church being active in the Women's Missionary Society and a past president of the Connecticut Fellowship of Congregational Women. While head of this organization she traveled extensively throughout the state and represented the organization at the national council meetings. She was an honorary deaconess of the church and member of the Silver Circle. She was also a member of the Sarah Riggs Humphreys Chapter, DAR. She is survived by a brother, Stanley Drew Beard, retired director of Lederle Laboratories of Pearl River, N.Y.: four nephews, eight nieces, nine grand nephews and grand-nieces and 13 great-grand-nephews and great-grand-nieces.

Rites Wednesday

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Shelton Congregational Church. I Rev. George L. Mann, pastor, will officiate assisted by the Rev. Howard C. Champe, former pastor, and Mrs. Paul Minear, a director of the Church Board for World Ministries. Mrs. Minear will represent Dr. J.B. Carlton, president of the United Church Board.

Interment will be in Long Hill Cemetery. There will be no calling hours. I Cyrus E. Lewis and Son Funeral Home, 148 Elizabeth Street, Derby, is handling funeral arrangements.

Jill Elmer Jackson and Cynthia Elmer Amend identified the lady at the right as Mary Louise Beard. This undated photo was probably taken at one of the many meetings where Mary spoke about China. These are probably her curios and Chinese clothing that she purchased while in China.

[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

The following was written for the 1995 25th anniversary of Wesley Heights built on the location of Century Farm:

WESLEY HEIGHTS: HISTORICAL HIGHLIGHTS

A tradition began in 1726, when Samuel Beard of Milford paid the “full sum of Nineteen Hundred pounds good Bills of Publick Credit” for the land which came to be known as Century Farm at Long Hill in Shelton. From that time on, those who have lived on that land have consistently been committed to strong religious values and concern for others in the community.

Seven generations of the Beard family farmed the land and took an active role in the community and local church. Mary Louise Beard, who sold Century Farm to United Methodist Homes, served as missionary in China before retiring to the family homestead. According to Edith Valentine, a member of the family who signed the deed to The Homes, Century Farm was well known and everyone loved to visit.

At that time in the early 1960's, the existing Methodist Homes in West Haven and Danbury were not large enough to accommodate the growing need for quality care for older adults. Bishop Lloyd Wicke appointed a commission to plan and raise funds for additional senior facilities in Connecticut and New York.

In December, 1964, The Health Care Agencies of the New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Church paid $5,000 for an option on 39 acres of land from the estate of Mary Louise. The land was purchased the following year for $120,000.

Wicke Health Center was built first, opening in 1968. Two years later, Wesley Heights began operations. Peg Belden Martin, a newspaper reporter who became one of the first residents at Wesley Heights, kept tabs on the project from the outset.

According to Peg, that first summer, residents lived in a “cloud of dust and no lawns.” They watched as the trees were planted and the streets paved.

In addition, not all the Congregate apartments were finished, so several residents stayed in cottages in West Court and were driven back and forth for meals in the dining room.

Residents soon made Wesley Heights their home, enjoying cookouts, parties, progressive dinners and other neighborly events. A residents association was formed and many issues of concern to residents were worked out. The first newsletter was published in 1971, with Glen Ketchum Maresca as editor and Peg Belden as publisher. Early activities included a sewing circle, woodcarving, table games and sing-a-longs. Bingo games and the Flower Fund (now the Sunshine Fund) debuted in October of 1972. By September of 1975, the newsletter included a full page of activities for residents.

That same year, the resident newsletter took note of how caring and concerned the staff members were. In describing Lillian Haurilak, today the administrator of Wesley Heights, editor Maresca noted: “Who has ever approached Lillian’s door, and not found somebody standing in it, with three or four more outside, while Lillian, between typewriter and telephone, finds the means to smile at one and all and even appears to like to smile, no matter how many times she’s interrupted for no reason at all?”

Throughout these past 25 years, that same attitude of caring has shaped the lives of all who have lived or worked at Wesley Heights. The joy, the smiles, the laughter... the sorrow, the tears and the sadness have been shared and borne by the entire community. Residents and staff come from all over to make a community of caring and love. It is this which we celebrate today, on Wesley Heights’ 25th anniversary.

In a telephone conversation with Edith Beard Valentine on February 22, 2008, Edith told Jana Jackson that she taught kindergarten at a school near Century Farm. She recalled a beautiful staircase within the home. One day she was at school and saw trucks going by and she realized that they were going to the old farm. She had someone watch her class for her and went over to the farm and saw them knocking it down. There had been a problem with vandals at the now vacant house. Later, after the Methodist Mission home was built, she would take her kindergarten class for a walk over to visit the residents.

Following is an undated article regarding Century Farm by Patricia Villers of the Register Staff:

Methodist retirement community celebrates silver anniversary

Shelton- Calling Wesley Heights “a place where people feel safe and welcome,” the Rev. Walter Everett looked back on the retirement community’s origins as he hosted a rededication ceremony there Thursday.

Wesley Heights, run by United Methodist Homes of Connecticut at 580 Long Hill Ave., opened in 1970. It consists of 90 cottages and 92 apartments.

Everett, chairman of the board of directors, led the 25th anniversary celebration, which drew more than 250 friends, residents and supporters.

Twenty-eight years ago “the land belonged to Mary L. Beard, who had spent many years as a missionary in China before returning to the family homestead,” Everett said.

Beard sold the land, known as Century Farm, to United Methodist Homes in 1967. A year later, Everett said, Wicke Health Center, a 120-resident nursing home run by United Methodist Homes, opened. Two years after that, Wesley Heights opened.

Everett also looked ahead to the future of the complex. “We propose to build 65 apartments for assisted living,” he said, stressing that “it would be residential rather than institutional living.”

Everett said United Methodist Homes will undertake a major gifts campaign for the project, which is expected to cost $6.9 million. “With your help we can expand to meet the needs of our growing aging population,” he said.

Edith Beard Valentine of Orange, daughter of Bennett N. Beard, Mary Beard’s brother, reminisced about the homestead.

“I’m sure the family would be very pleased” with its use, Valentine said with a smile. “It was a very religious family.”

She said her father was one of 10 Beard children — five sons and five daughters — who were born and raised on the farm.

Valentine, who taught in the Shelton school system for 35 years, said she remembers the dirt roads on Long Hill.

There was a long lane leading up to the house,” she recalled. “I house was set back far from the road.” She added that she has many fond memories of family gatherings at the sprawling farmhouse.

John P. Barrett, president of United Methodist Homes of Connecticut, said, “This is a wonderful place to live...one we should all be proud of and thankful for.”

Resident Patricia Towle raved about Wesley Heights. “I wish everybody had an opportunity to live here,” she said. “And we love our new chaplain (the Rev. Richard Yerrington). It has meant so much to the residents to have him here every day.”

Thursday’s celebration featured a buffet luncheon followed by a ceremony that included prayers, scripture readings, a litany of dedication and two hymns.

Property where Century Farm was located – between Long Hill and River Rd– now Wesley Heights Rd.
From Google maps

LOCAL

Methodist retirement community celebrates silver anniversary

By Patricia Villers
Register Staff

SHELTON

SHELTON — Calling Wesley Heights "a place where people feel safe and welcome," the Rev. Walter Everett looked back on the retirement community's origins as he hosted a rededication ceremony there Thursday.

Wesley Heights, run by United Methodist Homes of Connecticut at 580 Long Hill Ave., opened in 1970. It consists of 90 cottages and 92 apartments.

Everett, chairman of the board of directors, led the 25th anniversary celebration, which drew more than 250 friends, residents and supporters.

Twenty-eight years ago, the land belonged to Mary L. Beard, who had spent many years as a missionary in China before returning to the family homestead, Everett said.

Beard sold the land, known as Century Farm, to United Methodist Homes in 1967. A year later, Everett said, Wicke Health Center, a 120-resident nursing home run by United Methodist Homes, opened. Two years after that, Wesley Heights opened.

Everett also looked ahead to the future of the complex. "We propose to build 65 apartments for assisted living," he said, stressing that "it would be residential rather than institutional living."

Everett said United Methodist Homes will undertake a major gifts campaign for the project, which is expected to cost $6.9 million. "With your help we can expand to meet the needs of our growing aging population," he said.

Edith Beard Valentine of Orange, daughter of Bennett N. Beard, Mary Beard's brother, reminisced about the homestead.

"I'm sure the family would be very pleased" with its use, Valentine said with a smile. "It was a very religious family."

She said her father was one of 10 Beard children — five sons and five daughters — who were born and raised on the farm.

Valentine, who taught in the Shelton school system for 35 years, said she remembers the dirt roads on Long Hill.

"There was a long lane leading up to the house," she recalled.

The house was set back far from the road, she added that she has many fond memories of family gatherings at the sprawling farmhouse.

John P. Barrett, president of United Methodist Homes of Connecticut, said, "This is a wonderful place to live. One we should all be proud of and thankful for."

Resident Patricia Towle raved about Wesley Heights. "I wish everybody had an opportunity to live here," she said. "And we love our new chaplain (the Rev. Richard Yerrington). It has meant so much to the residents to have him here every day."

Thursday's celebration featured a buffet luncheon followed by a ceremony that included prayers, scripture readings, a litany of dedication and two hymns.

Monnie Beard Butt, Edith Beard Valentine, Kathleen Beard Elmer, Barbara Beard (wife of Stephen Beard), Nancy Butte [Note-Barbara died in a car accident later that year-1988.]

Monnie and Kathy on steps of Kuliang, China
1988

Marjorie and Kathleen on Kuliang 1988
[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

Kathleen Beard Elmer
China 1988

Monnie and Kathleen in China
1988

This photo was taken during the 1988 China trip. It is probably one of the buildings or residences on the Mission Compound in Foochow.

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

View of Foochow 1988

[Photo from the collection of John and Nancy Butte.]

The following was written by Nancy Butte, wife of John Butte, about her travels to Foochow with Monnie and Kathleen in 1988:

“When we were in Fuzhou it was so very difficult. We were assigned a government guide who spoke some English. We were assigned a hotel and restaurants to eat in. The guide, about 20 years old maybe, left us at the restaurant and would return later to pick us up. Often we were ignored when he left. It was unusual to see Caucasians at that time...there were no signs (as we know them) in English or even pictures that we could read. It was terribly awkward to be detached from the tour guide and group we had been with for almost 3 weeks previously! Monnie and Kathy wanted to see the “old bridge”, and this young guide took us to a bridge built in maybe 1950 or so! THAT was not what they meant, of course. But Fuzhou had grown at a tremendous rate in the last 25 years and so most of it was “new”. The guide did know the white pagoda. It was there that Kathy and Monnie felt some degree of familiarity....large boulders, banyan trees where they had played. But, absolutely no sign of any old Western buildings at all. The guide did not know “Kuliang”...maybe because of the way they pronounced the word, maybe because, like all of China, it had been renamed. The missionaries really took the Chinese pronunciation of words and translated them into English spelling as they sounded. It may not have been originally Kuliang. Where he took us seemed, to me, to be like what they had verbally described to me. But they did not really recognize much. Even though there were sort of overgrown stairs—which they recalled as having been part of the journey—they were not sure. After all, it had been fifty years, hadn’t it? Or more! They had been children in sedan chairs.

Fuzhou is a HUGE city of skyscrapers, waterways, and, at that time, zillions of bicycles!! We rode in a small bus. The kind that may seat 15 people. I did not ever have a paper map of the city. (I always do when traveling, but at that time, such things were not available to tourists) So, I really cannot be specific, sadly. In writing the above, I decided to get out the little “journal” I kept of our trip. (April, 1988) I will write you below what I wrote in the journal.

Wed, April 28, 1988

Today, after a two hour delay at a crowded, smoky, airport in Guangzhou, we stepped off the plane in Fuzhou! Nana (Monnie) has not beamed like this on the entire trip! As we walked together across the asphalt, 5 women from America among 100 Chinese, Monnie looked up, pointed to the hill, and said in a tear-choked voice, “There is Kuliang!” All of the waiting of today was worth it. I airport was a very basic place...luggage delivered to a cement platform in a shed by a truck. So much yelling, shoving, and pushing that we just stood back and waited. But not only a CITS guide awaited us, but also Dr. Chen, a doctor who visited Aunt Gerry in Connecticut when he was at a Public Health Conference about 2 years back. He is about 60, very kind-faced, speaks great English and most hospitable. (Jana, I believe he finally moved permanently to the U.S. and would be helpful if we could locate him!!)

The CITS guide is about 23, a young man named Lin (pronounced Lean) He is so very eager to please us, and will show us anything we wish. Good!

It took only a few minutes before Monnie and Aunt Kathy realized that everything building-wise they remember is gone. Totally. Either bombed in the late 1940’s or torn down. They are quite surprised and distressed by this. What we saw, as we came to our hotel, was typical of China: lots of rubble, some old buildings and some quite new buildings. There are 1.2 million people here now. Our hotel, The Hot Spring Hotel, is many stories, very western and not very full. China has overbuilt new hotels and they are not really well-built nor well-maintained. (i.e., dirty carpets, draperies snagged or unhooked, bath tiles quite dirty.) Hotel shops are overrun by locals out “looking” and they are very loud! This atmosphere does not lend a feeling of quality or tranquility to a place!

April 29

The day dawns muggy and either overcast or smoggy, it’s hard to tell. At 9:00 we board bus and go to Drum Mountain. (GuShan) to locate some remnant of familiarity. One leaves the city soon and there are rice paddies now growing winter wheat. People in straw Chinese hats dot this area—all bent over. In the near distance the land rises abruptly into a rather tall hill....bigger and more rugged than a “hill” actually, but certainly “mountain” is overstating it! At any rate, where they used to walk up on stairs there is now a road winding crazily up. First it’s paved, but soon it is a dirt road progressively more bumpy and narrow. The other four are saying “ooh” and “ah” at steep cliffs and hairpin turns. The hillsides have been planted with pines and there are wild azaleas, white climbing roses, and wild lilies. The fog/clouds drift by occasionally, obscuring views but only adding to the sense of being quite removed from the city. We were not really blessed with a view from any part of the mountain to the plain-but Monnie recalled it for us. All of the old houses appeared gone—the Air Force now has buildings and antennae on top. Monnie and Kathy searched in vain for something familiar everywhere we stopped. A few peasants live near the top in a small cluster of buildings and we saw them on the terraced hillside and near houses.

On the way down we stopped at Gushing Spring Temple. What was there was not important. But, here a man came up and spoke. He had been in Dr. Beard's school and recalled for us those days!! THAT cheered up Monnie and Kathy a lot!

We continued down in the bus and went to lunch. After lunch we visited the Christian Church. (Flower Lane Church) This is one of 400 in Fujian Province we were told. While we had tea and walked about, (the sanctuary building was a Western-style church) they went to fetch "THE BISHOP"! He appeared in about 25-30 minutes. He was 85 and not retired. He remembered Dr. Beard and others who Monnie and Kathy knew. We had a long visit, signed the guest book, and took pictures. (talking through interpreters)

L to R: Financial Ch.; Monnie; Bishop Mosu[?] Hsieh; an aid; Kathy
[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson.]

Finally, we left and visited Lacquerware Factory #2. Our guide could not speak well on how the lacquer products were made. We each bought something in the usual shop after the "tour". We visited another shop of Arts and Crafts of China, then to the hotel.

Dr. Chen came about 5:50 and we six had tea in the lobby/bar for about an hour. It was very interesting to speak to him. He has an exceptionally kind face and I liked him immediately. You can tell he is well-educated and has traveled a great deal. His wife and two children live in New York and work there. The children all graduated from Syracuse."

Myron Gould Beard

In Memoriam Death Takes DC-3 Pioneer
From: American Airlines "Flagship News: January 6, 1975

M.G. (Dan) Beard, who played a key role in the development of transport aircraft from the DC-3 to the 707, died Dec. 25. at Veterans Hospital in Northport, N.Y. He was 78.

A noted test pilot and aeronautical engineer, Mr. Beard was assistant vice president, safety, when he retired from American in 1964.

He joined American as a pilot in 1932. Later, as chief engineering pilot, he worked with a long-time friend and associate, the late William Littlewood, who was then AA's vice president, engineering. In the mid-1930s, Mr. Beard flight-tested the DC-3 before its entry into commercial service. Mr. Beard, Mr. Littlewood and Douglas Aircraft Corp. engineers were primarily responsible for the development of the most famous of all piston airplanes, the DC-3.

Another highlight of a career studded with accomplishment came at the end of World War II, when Mr. Beard headed up a group of American engineers and pilots, under a Navy contract, in research on airborne radar. From this research came the installation in the mid-1950s of this important navigational aid.

A long list of AA "firsts" bears the strong imprint of Mr. Beard and Mr. Littlewood: Specifications and sponsorship of the DC-6, Convair 240 and DC-7; development of flashing navigation lights; an entire fleet equipped with full-feathering propellers, reverse pitch propellers, to name a few.

He received numerous awards for his contributions to aviation. He was the holder of the Air Medal. Other honors included a citation from the University of Michigan, the Flight Safety Foundation's Safety Award, a certificate of appreciation from the Society of Automotive Engineers and the AA Million Miler Captain Award.

He was a fellow of the Institute of Aerospace Sciences and belonged to several other aviation and fraternal groups.

He is survived by his wife Virginia; daughter Hazel; son Willard F. Beard, an Air Force major based in Honolulu; sisters Geraldine Beard, Dorothy Newberg, Marjorie Butt and Kathleen Elmer, and two grandchildren.

[From a resume of Gould provided by his descendants, Gould was a member of the Quiet Birdmen, an exclusive and secretive aviation organization.]

In a note to Gould's Biographical Sketch, written shortly after 1963, F. W. Kolk adds the following:

The above recitation of names and places really doesn't do too much to give a stranger a correct impression of Dan Beard. Behind this outline lies a long story of continuous adventure, punctuated by the exercising of leadership in dealing with everything from black gangs on tramp steamers to groups of highly individualistic, intelligent and temperamental engineers and similar technicians. He has had to exercise ingenuity in keeping engines running at sea and in the air and he has particularly faced up to and solved the problems arising from the front ends of airplanes in the various capacities of pilot, engineer and management. He has taken a turkey buzzard full in the face through the windshield of a Ford Tri-motor. He has deliberately spun large transport airplanes. He has re-built baulky, raw engines with his bare hands, manufacturing some of the necessary parts and he has led, cajoled and forced the development of American Airlines' fleet of transport airplanes into the finest, all-around aircraft in the World, and in so doing has become one of the most loved and respected figures in American aviation today.

The following article is from the Encyclopedia of American Biography, New Series, Volume XXIX, a Publication of The American Historical Company, Inc. New York, 1959:

BEARD, Myron Gould "Dan"

Assistant Vice President for Equipment Research of the American Airlines since 1954 and active in the field of aeronautical engineering for more than thirty years, Mr. Beard is a Fellow of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences and member of the Society of Automotive Engineers. His articles on aeronautical subjects have appeared in the "Society of Automotive Engineers Journal" and the "Aeronautical Engineering Review" of the "Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences: since 1929, and he has presented papers frequently before both societies. He is chairman of the SAE Committee on Cockpit Standardization, which received the Flight Safety Foundation's safety award in 1953 for having obtained for the first time a national standard flight instrument panel for transport planes. Made a Fellow of the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences in 1954, he served on the IAS Council from 1954 to 1956. He has been a member of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, Committee on Operating Problems since 1944. He was Chairman of the Daniel Guggenheim Medal Board of Award for 1958.

Mr. Beard was born in Foochow, China, on November 13, 1896, the son of Willard Livingston[e] Beard and Ellen Lucy (Kinney) Beard. His ancestry stems from family roots put down in America during early colonial days. Records show that Martha Beard and five children landed in Boston on June 26, 1637 and moved to the Milford (Connecticut) colony in 1639, the father, James Beard, having died enroute on the ship "Martin". She was one of the few "free planters" who alone had liberty to act in choice of carrying on public affairs in the plantation. I family lineage runs through Samuel Beard, a Lieutenant in the Milford Trainee-Band in 1723; James Beard, Deacon Samuel Beard, a Sergeant in Captain Birdy's Connecticut Company in the Revolutionary War; Joel Beard who built the house in 1783, now standing on the original Beard homestead in Huntington, Connecticut; Joes Beard, 2nd, a representative in the Connecticut State Legislature in 1855; Oliver Gould Beard, grandfather of Myron Gould Beard. His father, William [Willard] L. Beard was born February 5, 1865 at Huntington, Connecticut, graduated from Oberlin College in 1891, and from Hartford Theological Seminary in 1894. He received an Honorary D.D. degree from Oberlin College in 1916. He married Ellen Lucy Kinney, born May 29, 1868, in Putnam, Connecticut, and that same year, 1894, they went as missionaries to Foochow, China, under the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. During the first term he founded the Foochow Theological Seminary of that Mission. From 1905-1910 he started YMCA work in Fukien Province, China. In 1912 he was appointed President of Foochow College of the American Board. Dr. and Mrs. Beard were the parents of one son and five daughters, all born, reared and educated in China. They retired finally in 1941 and returned to the United States in August of that year.

Mr. Beard studied in the grammar school of the Foochow Mission until 1909, then entered P.S. no. 3 in Mount Vernon, New York, and he graduated from Putnam High School in Connecticut in 1916. He attended Oberlin College in 1916 and the first semester of 1917, and then after World War I he returned to College in 1921 and obtained the degree of Bachelor of Engineering at the University of Michigan in 1925.

During World War I, Mr. Beard enlisted in the Army Air Corps on December 21, 1917, and was then stationed at the USSMA Princeton Ground School from March 21, 1918 to May 15, 1918. He took his flight training at Kelly Field, Texas on the Curtis JN 4-OX, commonly called the Curtiss "Jenny". He made his first flight on June 17, 1918, soloed on June 26th following, in 4 hours, 2 minutes, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Corps on November 12, 1918. He resigned on January 19, 1919 and accepted a commission in the Army Air Corps Reserve and remained in the Reserves through WWII.

Upon receiving his aviator's wings in World War I, he was presented with a membership in the Federation Aeronautique Internationale- Aero Club of America No. 3739, and in 1929 he joined the Quiet Birdmen (QB's) in the New York hangar.

Test engineer on diesel engines at the Winton Engine Works, Cleveland, Ohio, from February to July 1919, Mr. Beard was third assistant engineer of the motor ship Mount Baker of the Gaston, Williams and Wigmore Globe Line from July to December 1919, and second assistant engineer in January and February, 1920. First assistant engineer from February, 1920, to February, 1921, he served on the ship to Europe, South America and Gulf of Mexico ports, and he then became installation engineer on diesel engines at the Newport Ship Building Company at Wilmington, North Carolina, from February to June 1921.

Upon his graduation from the University of Michigan, in 1925, Mr. Beard became associated with the Ingersoll-Rand Company on design, test and installation of diesel engines from July 1925 to August 1927. He re-entered the aviation engineering field when he became an installation engineer and test pilot for the Fairchild-Camenez Engine Corporation of Farmingdale, New York. In September 1927 he passed the tests for a Limited Commercial Pilot's License No. 755 and the Transport Pilot's rating in 1930, with the Airline Transport Instrument rating following in 1934.

Mr. Beard was the test pilot of the Fairchild Aviation Corporation from October 1928 to July 1929 when he became chief test pilot of the American Airplane and Engine Corporation of Farmingdale and he served in this post until October 1932, at which time he was attached to the New York Office of the Aviation Corporation which was the holding corporation of the previous mentioned companies. It was as chief test pilot of the Fairchild Aviation Corporation that Mr. Beard did most of the development testing on the Fairchild-Camenez "Cam" engine. He also flew initial test flights on the KR-21; the KR-34; the Pilgrim X-100 and X-150; the Clark GA-43 and numerous pontoon versions of the land models.

Co-pilot with American Airways, Incorporated, from January 1933 to June 1934, he was promoted to Chief Test Pilot of American Airlines from June, 1934 to January 1935. Instrument flying check pilot with the operations department of American Airlines at Chicago from January to November 1935, Mr. Beard became chief test pilot in American Airlines engineering department, testing the DC-3 at the Douglas Factory, and he was later appointed Chief Engineering Pilot of the Engineering Department, first at Chicago and later at New York, from January 1937 to October 1943. Mr. Beard held the post of director of flight engineering of American Airlines from October 1950 to 1954, and he now holds the post of Assistant Vice President in charge of Equipment Research of American Airlines.

As chief engineering pilot and director of flight engineering for American Airlines, he personally did all acceptance testing of the Vultee V-1A at Glendale, California, the Douglas DC-2, DC-3, and he was in charge of testing the DC-6 and DC-6B at Santa Monica, California, and the Convair 240 at San Diego, California.

Mr. Beard, as chief engineer, was in charge of development and analysis and he was responsible for the specifications of the Douglas DC-7. As assistant Vice President, Equipment Research, he was in charge of developing the preliminary specifications and performance requirements for the Lockheed Electra turbo prop transport, and for American Airlines model of the Boeing 707-123 jet transport.

During World War II Mr. Beard was pilot and flight engineer on the crew of the first cargo DC-3 flown by American Airlines for the Air Transport Command, Cargo Survey flight to Greenland in preparation for military cargo service across the North Atlantic. This was in April 1942. He was on the crew as flight engineer and pilot of the first four-engine survey flight flown across the North Atlantic with a C87 cargo plane in October 1942. Mr. Beard was attached to a special mission for the Defense Supplies Corporation as pilot on a DC-3 to indoctrinate the Brazilians with the excellence of the American flight equipment to replace the German airplanes which were taken over when the Brazilian Government nationalized the German Condor Airline System into a Brazilian Airline System. This mission was conducted from January 1st, 1943 to March 22nd, 1943.

In May 1943, Mr. Beard was flight engineer and pilot on the first cargo flight with a C-54 across the North Atlantic. This flight started across the north Atlantic from Gander, Newfoundland to plant a radio navigation station in the Azores. An hour before arriving there, they received radio orders to detour the Azores and land at Marrakech, Africa. The flight then proceeded to Preswick, Scotland. This was the first nonstop flight from New Foundland to Africa and was accompanied by General Ben Giles, Commander of the North Atlantic wing. General Giles and the entire crew received the Air Medal for this flight.

From 1935 to 1950, Mr. Beard personally flew most of the experimental icing tests on the DC-2, DC-3, DC-4 and DC-6 for American Airlines. From 1945 to 1948, he was in charge of the experimental work and flew many of the tests to determine operational uses of airborne radar, which is now so useful for weather surveillance.

As an additional sidelight to his professional flight testing work, he was the second pilot and the first airline pilot to fly the famous DC-3 on December 21, 1935 and participated with the Douglas test pilot in all of the certification flights on that famous airplane. On one of these flights, Mrs. Beard Accompanied her husband, being the first woman to fly in the DC-3. The DC-3 was later rated one of the four outstanding vehicles of transportation of World War II.

Mr. Beard flew his first jet powered plane on August 29, 1945 which was a Bell P-59 twin engine jet. He was also the first U.S. Pilot to fly the A.V. Roe Canadian "Avro-jet" on April 27, 1950. On April 21, 1953, he was invited to fly the British Vickers Viscount and in August 1953, the first British Bristol Britannia. On September 12, 1955 he was invited to fly the first American built jet transport- the Boeing 707, and on February 21, 1958, the first American turbo-prop commercial transport- the Lockheed Electra, and was the first airline pilot to fly both these airplanes. Climaxing a long flying career, on October 7, 1958, he flew the Convair Delta wing supersonic TF-102A, putting it through the sound barrier to Mach 1.3 or about 900 miles per hour.

Mr. Beard enjoys social connections as a member of the Michigan Union of the university of Michigan and of Bethpage Lodge No. 975, Free and Accepted Masons at Farmingdale, L.I., N.Y. He is a member of the Congregational Men's Club and a past president of the LaGuardia Airport Kiwanis Club. When he can find leisure from his duties, his favorite sports are sailing, hunting and fishing and his hobbies are woodworking, horticulture and gardening.

Mr. Beard was married on July 15, 1930, to Virginia Blatchley Space, the daughter of Frederick Grant Space and of Hazel Bauman (Van Namee) Space. Her father's family is descended directly from John and Priscilla Alden, of "Mayflower" fame, and her mother's family stems from Elder Brewster who also came over in the "Mayflower". Mr. Frederick Grant Space was born at Port Jervis, New York, on August 4, 1886, graduated from Port Jervis High School and attended the Young Men's Christian Association School in New York City. Purchasing agent for the General Ordnance Company of Derby, Connecticut from 1916 to 1921, he held the same post with the Seymour Manufacturing Company of Seymour from 1921 until his retirement in 1954. Mrs. Beard's mother [Virginia Space Beard's mother] was born in Mount Vernon, New York, on March 25, 1889. Both of her parents now resides in Oxford, Connecticut. Mr. and Mrs. Beard have two children: 1. Hazel Ellen, born on July 9, 1931, at Derby, Connecticut, graduated from Manhasset High School in 1950 and attended Pennsylvania College for Women in Pittsburgh, 1950-1954 majoring in Biology. She is now assisting with research work in the Laboratories of New York Botanical Gardens. During the summer of 1954, Hazel Beard was the young Adult Community Ambassador from Manhasset, New York under the Experiment in International Living, to Denmark where she lived with a Danish family the entire summer. 2. Willard Frederick, born at Cincinnati, Ohio, on December 7, 1933, graduated from Manhasset High School in 1951 and obtained the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration at the University of Michigan in 1955. A second lieutenant in the Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corp., he attended the navigation school at Harlingen, Texas, Air Force Base, becoming a First Lieutenant, and he is now navigation officer on KC97 tankers at Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Air Force Base. He married Mona Kerruish Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junius P. Wilson, 2nd of Roslyn Estates, on July 27, 1957. They are the parents of Virginia Lee born July 4, 1958 [and later, 'Barbara June', July 25, 1960].

Few pilots have had such an extensive experimental and test flight record as Mr. Beard. In May 1958 he had accumulated 6,200 hours in all types of airplanes and most of it in engineering and experimental testing.

Mr. and Mrs. Beard make their home at Manhasset, New York.

[Copy of article provided by the family of Willard Frederick Beard, son of Myron Gould Beard.]

Dorothy and Harold Newberg after 1950 [From the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

[From the Oberlin College Alumni Magazine]

Dorothy (Beard) Newberg

Dorothy Beard Newberg, [OHS '19, OC '23, died] May 18, 1991, in Saginaw, Mich. Born Feb. 26, 1901, in Foochow, China, she taught physical education in Saginaw 29 years. She coached girls' basketball for Ames United Methodist Church, winning state championships in 1936 and 1937. She was a former Worthy Matron and Grand Ruth of the Order of the Eastern Star. She was preceded in death by her husband, Harold; her father, Willard L. Beard, Class of 1891; her mother, Ellen Kinney Beard, Class of 1891; a sister, Phebe Beard '19; and a brother, M. Gould '20. She is survived by sisters Geraldine Beard '21, Marjorie Beard Butt '28, and Kathleen Beard Elmer '30. Oberlin Alumni Magazine, Oberlin, Ohio, Fall 1991, p. 32.

[From the Saginaw newspaper, May 1991]

Newberg, Mrs. Dorothy B.,
Saginaw, Michigan

Passed away Saturday, May 18, 1991 at the Saginaw Geriatrics Home. Age 90 years. Dorothy Beard was born Feb. 26, 1901 in Fuzhou, China, where her parents were missionaries. She was married to Harold C. (Whitey) Newberg on Aug. 17, 1927. He predeceased her Nov. 9, 1969. She was graduated from Oberlin College and then taught physical education at North School until her retirement. Mrs. Newberg was an active member of Ames United Methodist Church where she and her husband organized the athletic program. She also sang in the choir and taught Sunday school. She was a member of the Bethlehem Chapter #105 O.E.S. where she was a past Worthy Matron and also Grand Ruth at State Convention. Surviving are three sisters, Geraldine Beard and Marjorie Butt, both of Saginaw; Kathleen Elmer, Jacksonville, Fla; many nieces and nephews.

Funeral service will take place 11:00 a.m. Wednesday at Ames United Methodist Church, 2015 Hanchett St. Rev. John W. Hinkle will officiate with burial in Roselawn Memorial Gardens. Friends may call at the W.L. Case and Company Funeral Chapel, 409 Adams Street from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Tuesday where the Bethlehem Chapter [Copy unreadable here for a couple of words. Possibly- will conduct a memorial..] ..rial service at 7:30 p.m. They may then call at the church on Wednesday from 10:00 a.m. until time of service. Those planning an expression of sympathy may wish to consider the Ames United Methodist Church or the Bethlehem Chapter #105 O.E.S. designated for the ESTARL Fund.

1982- Dan and Bea's 50th Anniversary [Dan Beard and wife, Beatrice]

Left to Right standing: Geraldine Beard, Win Valentine (son of Edith Beard Valentine), Hazel Beard
 Left to Right seated: Virginia Space Beard (wife of Myron Gould Beard), Edith Beard Valentine (daughter of Bennett N. Beard), Maureen Valentine (Win's wife)

Geraldine's gravestone- Riverside Cemetery

Geraldine Beard
 Daughter of W.L.B. and E.K.B.
 August 25, 1898
 September 1, 1994

[Photo from James Smith, Shelton resident and genealogy researcher.]

[From the Saginaw newspaper, September of 1994]

Beard, Geraldine,
 Saginaw, Michigan.

Passed away Thursday morning at Saginaw Geriatrics Home. Age 96 years. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Marjorie Butt, Saginaw.

Cremation has taken place. Burial will take place in Connecticut. Arrangements by the McIntyre Chapel.

Monnie and Ralph's grave stone, Bay Robert, St. John's, Newfoundland, Canada

Nancy Butte wrote in an email about Monnie and Ralph's gravesite: "Monnie and Ralph are buried in Bay Roberts, Newfoundland in a little old cemetery on a bluff overlooking the sea. It is a windswept and lovely spot."

[Photo from the collection of Jill Elmer Jackson]

Obituary of Marjorie Beard Butt

Butt, Marjorie (Monnie)

Saginaw Township

Passed away early Friday morning, December 2, 1994 at her home after a short illness. Age 88 years. Born Marjorie Beard, February 17, 1906 in Foochow, China, the daughter of a Congregational Missionary couple who spent 50 years in China and founded a university there. Like her five siblings, she was sent back to the United States in her mid-teens. She was raised thereafter on the family farm in Shelton, Conn., by two maiden aunts. Monnie graduated from Oberlin College (Ohio) and went to Labrador with the Grenfell Mission as a teacher to the Indians. There she met and became engaged to William Ralph Butt who was then starting a five year apprenticeship as a Hudson's Bay Company trading post manager. They were forced to wait the entire duration of the apprenticeship before HBC company policy would allow them to marry. The long wait was rewarded, however, by what Monnie refers to as a "two year honeymoon" while Ralph managed the HBC post at Davis Inlet, Labrador. They were totally alone there at that outpost except for the occasional trapper or Indian who came to trade. From that position near the Arctic Circle, they were enlisted as part of the Allie's "Distant Early Warning" (DEW LINE) using morse code through a huge government supplied, gas generator powered radio to send daily reports of weather condition and airplane spotted and identified to the military base during the war. [Nancy Butte added a note here that "The part about the DEW line should be when they were in Fort Nelson, British Columbia."] Monnie and Ralph briefly returned to the U.S. for the birth of their son, then were reassigned across country to the HBC Post at Northwest River, British Columbia [actually Labrador]. Traveling there, they were informed that theirs was the first infant up the newly opened ALCAN Highway. At two their son suffered a short illness that frightened them into an appreciation of the vulnerability of their remote existence. They returned to the U.S. settling in Saginaw, Michigan where Monnie had a married sister living. Within a few years, Ralph won the position of administrator for the new Osteopathic Hospital being founded in an old Victoria mansion on N. Michigan Ave. in Saginaw. Monnie supported Ralph through the difficult years that saw both the hospital grow from fewer than eight beds to over 275 and Ralph elected to the position of National President of the American Osteopathic Hospital Association. During these years Monnie taught school, raised two children and was active in the First Congregational Church of Saginaw. The AAUW, P.E.O and many civic organizations. She was married to William R. Butt on August 31, 1940 in St. Johns, Newfoundland, Canada. He passed away on October 16, 1983. Surviving is one son and one daughter, John C. Butte and his wife Nancy and their children, Ted and Jessie Butte of Burlingame, California and Sharon Murphy and her husband Gerald Murphy of Hemlock and their daughter, Brookie Taylor of Midland; one great0grandson, Trent Rogers; one sister, Kathleen Elmer, Jacksonville, Fla.; several nieces and nephews. She was predeceased by her parents, husband, one brother and three sisters.

Memorial service will take place at the date to be announced later at the First Congregational Church. Dr. Charles Guerreno Jr. will be officiating. Burial will take place at Bay Roberts, Newfoundland, Canada. Memorials may be made to the First Congregational Church, Hospice of Saginaw, or the American Cancer Society. Cremation has taken place. Arrangements by the McIntyre Chapel.

Gravestone of Hazel Ellen Beard
July 9, 1931- June 7, 1999

Hazel E. Beard [From the Manhasset Press, June 18, 1999 edition]

Hazel E. Beard, Manhasset resident since 1942, succumbed to cancer at the Sunharbor Manor in Roslyn Heights on Monday, June 7. Daughter of M. Gould "Dan" Beard of American Airlines and Virginia Space Beard, Hazel assumed the family Munsey Park home after the death of her mother in 1994.

A Manhasset High School graduate, Class of 1950, Hazel attended Chatham College in Pittsburgh and received her degree from Adelphi in 1980. In the middle 1940's she attended the Aloha Summer Camps in Fairlee, Vermont, and acquired a life-long interest in nature and the environment. An original appointee to the Nassau County Soil and Water Board, she continued to serve on the board until the time she was incapacitated.

Miss Beard worked as a laboratory research technician at the New York Botanical Gardens and then spent several years as a dental assistant for three Manhasset dentists. For the past several years she has been a receptionist with the Fairchild and Sons Funeral Home in Manhasset.

A memorial service will be held in The Congregational Church of Manhasset Chapel on Tuesday, June 29, at 7:30 p.m. The family suggests in lieu of flowers, a donation to any environmental or nature organization.

Hazel is survived by her brother, Maj. Willard Beard, USAF Ret. of Charlottesville, VA.

Stanley Forbes (son of Nancy, grandson of Stanley Beard), Mona Beard (wife of Willard F. Beard), Kathleen Beard Elmer (daughter of Willard and Ellen), Nancy Beard Forbes (daughter of Stanley Beard) and Cynthia Elmer Amend (daughter of Kathleen Beard Elmer). Probably 2000 or 2002

Kathleen [Beard] Elmer, 95 Jacksonville

Kathleen Elmer, a resident of Jacksonville since 1946, died Wednesday, May 12, 2004, in Crystal River, at the age of 95.

She was born Aug. 10, 1908, in Foochow, China, in a small stone cottage near the top of a mountain called Kuliang. She was named Kathleen Cynthia Beard. Her father, Willard L. Beard, was a missionary and principal of a Chinese boys' high school, and her mother, Ellen Kinney Beard, taught English in his school. She was educated in China by missionary wives until the age of 12. Kathleen left China at the age of 12, sailing from Shanghai to Seattle, Wash., with her parents when they returned to the United States on furlough.

She then lived in Oberlin, Ohio, and completed her high school education there [OHS class of 1926]. She met her childhood sweetheart and future husband, Hugh Elmer, in Oberlin.

Following high school, she attended Oberlin College and graduated in 1931 with a degree in music. After graduation she went to Logan, Utah, and taught in a high school for one year. She then returned to Saginaw, Mich., and married Hugh Elmer on Sept. 9, 1932.

They settled in Jacksonville in 1946 and joined the Epperson Memorial Methodist Church. Kathleen became the church organist and she was also very active in other church functions. She continued playing the organ and piano for the church for more than 50 years. In addition to playing the organ and piano for the church, she played for many weddings and other functions. She also wrote numerous songs including songs for individual weddings.

When Epperson Memorial Methodist Church closed, she became a member of the Wesley Fellowship.

She was a member of the PEO Sorority.

In 1988, she and her sister Marjorie, escorted by her niece, Nancy Butte, returned to China for a visit to see their birthplace and childhood home.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Hugh Elmer, Dec. 7, 1996; four sisters, Phoebe Beard, Geraldine Beard, Marjorie Butt and Dorothy Newberg; and one brother, Gould Beard.

Survivors include one son, Allen Elmer and wife, Sherry, of Jacksonville; two daughters, Cynthia (Cyndy) Amend and husband, Bob, of New Smyrna Beach, and Jacqueline (Jill) Jackson and husband, Charles, of Crystal River; nine grandchildren; and 15 great-grandchildren.

Her grandchildren and their spouses are: Adam Elmer and wife, Sandy, Nicole Simmons and husband, Randy, Christopher Elm, Mark Jackson and wife, Jana, Scott Jackson and wife, Della, Laura Peugh and husband, Bill, Robert Amend and wife, Robin, Michael Amend and wife, Diana, and Steve Amend.

Her great-grandchildren are: William Peugh III, Timothy Peugh, Jordan Peugh, James Peugh, Liana Amend, Nathaniel Amend, Rachel Amend, Michaela Amend, Andrew Amend, Megan Amend, Sarah Jackson, Joshua Jackson, Lucas Jackson, Jamie Jackson and Brett Jackson.

Citrus County Chronicle, Crystal River, Florida, May 15, 2004.

Willard Frederick Beard

Obituary -Charlottesville Observer, Jan. 2, 2002

Willard F. Beard, 68, a resident of Charlottesville, died Dec. 31, 2001. Mr. Beard and his wife, Mona, were long time residents of Honolulu before moving to Charlottesville six years ago. He was born on Dec. 7, 1933, in Cincinnati, the son of Virginia Space Beard and Myron Gould "Dan" Beard, an aviation pioneer. As his father was an early pilot with American Airlines, he grew up on Long Island, N.Y., with a love of aviation. After graduating from the University of Michigan, he joined the Air Force as a second lieutenant in 1956. While in the service, he obtained an MBS from Harvard Business School and then was stationed at Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines, where he flew cargo missions to Vietnam for two years. During that time, his flight crew received the Marine Unit Citation at Khe Sahn. He was transferred to staff duty at Hickman Air Force Base in Honolulu, where he retired in 1976.

After retirement, he became active in local Honolulu politics. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention, and ran successfully [unsuccessfully] for the U.S. House of Representatives. During that time he joined the Sons of the American Revolution. He and his family were active supporters of the Obedience Training and Labrador Retriever Clubs of Hawaii. He worked annually for H&R Block, in both Hawaii and Charlottesville. After moving to Charlottesville, he was actively involved in leadership of the local chapter of the Air Force Association. He has been a lifelong supporter of many national and local non-profit groups focusing on environmental and social issues.

Will is survived by his wife, Mona Wilson Beard, whom he met and married on Long Island in 1957; two daughters, Barbara June Scott and Virginia Beard Van Andel; four grandchildren, living in California and Michigan.

Services for this weekend will be announced by Teague Funeral Home. Donations in his name may be made to Hospice of the Piedmont, 1490 Pantops Mountain Place, Suite 200, Charlottesville, VA, 22911, or the Virginia or Hawaiian Chapters of the Nature Conservatory.

Myron Gould Beard's family

Family Group Sheet

Husband: Myron Gould Beard
Born: 13 Nov 1896	in: Foochow, China
Married: 15 Jul 1930
Died: 25 Dec 1974	in: Veteran's Hospital, Northport, NY
Father: Willard Livingstone Beard
Mother: Ellen Lucy Kinney
Wife: Virginia Blatchley Space
Born: Abt. Apr 1910	in: NY
Father: Frederick Grant Space
Mother: Hazel Bauman Van Namee
CHILDREN
1 F	Name: Hazel Ellen Beard
	Born: 09 Jul 1931	in: Derby, CT
	Died: 07 Jun 1999	in: Manhasset, New York
2 M	Name: Willard Frederick Beard
	Born: 07 Dec 1933	in: Cincinnati, OH
	Died: 31 Dec 2001	in: Charlottesville, VA
	Married: 27 Jul 1957	in: Manhasset
	Spouse: Mona Kerruish Wilson

L to R: Hazel, Virginia, Gould and Willard F. Beard
Hazel is also seen in her later years in the first photo on the previous page.
[Photo from the collection of Virginia Van Andel.]

Willard Frederick Beard's family

Family Group Sheet

Husband: Willard Frederick Beard
Born: 07 Dec 1933	in: Cincinnati, OH
Married: 27 Jul 1957	in: Manhasset
Died: 31 Dec 2001	in: Charlottesville, VA
Father: Myron Gould Beard
Mother: Virginia Blatchley Space
Wife: Mona Kerruish Wilson
Father: Junius Pendleton Wilson, Jr.
CHILDREN
1 F	Name: Virginia Lee Beard Born: 04 Jul 1958 Married: 28 Dec 1985 Spouse: Richard John Van Andel
2 F	Name: Barbara June Beard Born: 25 Jul 1960 Married: 30 Dec 1989 Spouse: Stephen Reid Scott

Willard Frederick Beard (son of Willard Livingstone Beard), Virginia, Barbara and Mona Wilson Beard. 1977
Hawaii

Marjorie Beard Butt's family

Family Group Sheet

Husband: William Ralph Butt
Born: 1914	in: Newfoundland, Canada
Married: 31 Aug 1940	in: St. John's, Newfoundland
Died: 1983
Wife: Marjorie Beard
Born: 17 Feb 1906	in: Foochow, China
Died: 02 Dec 1995	in: Residence in Saginaw, Michigan
Father: Willard Livingstone Beard
Mother: Ellen Lucy Kinney
CHILDREN
1 M	Name: John Charles Butte Born: 08 Feb 1943 in: Shelton, CT Married: 24 Nov 1973 in: Portola Valley, CA Spouse: Nancy Lee Roberts
2 F	Name: Sharon Butt Born: 03 Apr 1948 in: Saginaw, MI Married: 05 Jan 1980 Spouse: Gerald Edward Murphy

John Charles Butte (son of Marjorie Beard Butt) with wife, Nancy

Kathleen Beard Elmer's family

Family Group Sheet

Husband: Hugh Elmer
Born: 19 Jun 1909	in: Marsovan (aka Merzifoun), Turkey
Married: 09 Sep 1932	in: Saginaw, MI
Died: 07 Dec 1996	in: Jacksonville, FL
Father: Theodore Allen Elmer
Mother: Henrietta Mary Horsley
Wife: Kathleen Cynthia Beard
Born: 10 Aug 1908	in: Kuliang, Foochow, China
Died: 12 May 2004	in: Crystal River, FL
Father: Willard Livingstone Beard
Mother: Ellen Lucy Kinney
CHILDREN
1 F	Name: Jacqueline Elmer Born: 03 Mar 1935 in: Clearwater, FL Married: 28 Jul 1956 in: Jacksonville, FL Spouse: Charles Edward Jackson
2 F	Name: Cynthia Elmer Born: 19 Dec 1937 Married: 02 Feb 1958 Spouse: Robert Nathaniel Amend
3 M	Name: Theodore Allen Elmer II Born: 16 Mar 1948 Married: 15 May 1969 in: Dothan, AL Spouse: Sherry Darlene Walden

Hugh and Kathleen Elmer at their 60th Wedding Anniversary 1994

Thanksgiving 2002

Kathleen Beard Elmer and 13 of her 15 great grandchildren. By 2009, four more great grandchildren were born, making a grand total of 19.

Cynthia, Kathleen and Jill

Cynthia Elmer Amend, Kathleen Beard Elmer and Jill Elmer Jackson - July 20, 2002

Jill and Charlie Jackson – Cynthia and Bob Amend

Theodore Allen Elmer (son of Kathleen Beard Elmer) and wife Sherry 2002

Christmas 2006 – Jamie, Mark Charles Jackson (great grandson of Willard and Ellen Beard), Jana (Beard letter compiler) and Brett Jackson

