My work here is such that it is bunched at the beginning of the week . By making a judicious and planned-for series of class"cuts" I could reach New York by 7.30 P.M. on Tuesday Oct 31st and be on the job through Sunday Nov.5th I would put in such time as would be needful seeing individuals but the meeting schedule might be like this , having in mind that the Friday Nov. 3 College Luncheon was a fixed thing:

1. Sometime before the College Luncheon( Tuesday night, Wed. or Thursday) the Yali Group meet.
2. The Hua Chung Trustees meet as soon after the College Luncheon as possible, to consider the one thing viz a possible new site for Hua Chung. The effort would be to have Logan Roots get the whole thing in mind & have some Trustees authority so he might really do something when he gets back.

Would such a plan be possible? If not, what would you suggest?

I should add this: When Bishop Roots and Ed Lobenstine were home about two years ago , you will doubtless remember I made a special trip to New York and spent a whole evening with them on this very matter. Roots was so worn and weary with Communists and bandits and flood etc. that he seemed dazed, and confessed as much. he said:"Harry. it has been such a question of our even existing that we have had little strength to plan ahead". At the end of the evening Ed Lobenstine said:"At least , Harry, it seems clear that Hua Chung should go ahead and get the land" . And you know that Ed.because of his official postion not to saynatural temperament was not speaking rashly , but on the basis of facts well-considered.

Hurrah for Hua Chung!

Had the Trustees been in any shape to have acted upon Ed Lobenstines view I believe that it is 99.9% certain that Hua Chung would have been now in possession of a 100 acre, paid-for site! Whether they have "Sunned away their day of grace" I know not.
