World Council of Churches: Correspondence of the General Secretariat

The ecumenical movement

If church history continues to be written, future historians will almost certainly regard the ecumenical movement as one of the most remarkable features of Christianity in the 20th century. To a degree never witnessed before, Christianity became a worldwide religion, spread over the inhabited earth. And an unprecedentedly large number and range of Christian communities, hitherto separated by doctrinal and institutional factors, set about a serious process of consultation, cooperation, communion and even union among themselves, inspired by the prayer of the Lord that his followers “be one”, “so that the world may believe” John 17:21. The ecumenical movement represents the effort of Christian churches divided for centuries to re-establish contact with each other, to rediscover their common heritage, to explore possibilities for collaboration, to react in situations of crisis, and to find a new place within society by participating in the foundation of a new world community. Much of the history of the ecumenical movement has to be focused on the World Council of Churches, for this has been since its foundation in 1948 (Amsterdam) the institution in which the earlier Faith and Order (Lausanne 1927) and Life and Work (Stockholm 1925) movements coalesced (1938), and since 1961 the evangelism and mission represented by the former International Missionary Council (Edinburgh 1910) and finally the 1971 merging of the World Council of Christian Education (London 1889). Today the World Council of Churches is a world-wide fellowship of churches from several traditions such as Orthodox, Anglican, Old Catholic, Lutheran, Reformed, Baptist, and Pentecostal as well as many united and independent churches. The World Council of Churches initiates and fosters through its programmes the developments in ecumenical thinking.

Sections

The archives of the ecumenical movement are housed in the Library & Archives of the World Council of Churches, based in Geneva. They are divided into many different sections, reflecting the various bodies that have been active in the ecumenical scene during the 20th century. The records of the International Missionary Council, the Programme to Combat Racism, the Dialogue with people of living faith and the Relations with the Roman Catholic Church, previously published on microforms by IDC Publishers, are examples of such sections.

The present collection makes another section of the ecumenical archives available on microform, dealing with the World Council of Churches’ General Secretariat correspondence in the period from 1920 to 1994. The documents in the archives consist of correspondence, manuscripts, personal notes and press cuttings.

This collection is divided into five sub-sections:

1. WCC-5: Country files, 1942-1993, organised by regions then by countries
2. WCC-6: Member churches, 1938-1993, organised by countries then by member churches
3. WCC-7: Frequent correspondence, 1937-1977, by alphabetical order of correspondents
4. WCC-8: Occasional correspondence, 1939-1993, by alphabetical order of correspondents
5. WCC-9: Orthodox churches, 1931-1994, correspondence and meetings

These sections are an addition to the collection World Council of Churches: General Correspondence (WCC-1) that consists of correspondence ordered alphabetically by correspondent covering the period 1920 – 1966.

Scientific relevance

The General Secretariat archives are of great interest to researchers working on the history of the ecumenical movement and are consulted frequently. The collection contains documents detailing the Council's relations with individuals, countries and churches, from 1920 to 1993, during which five General Secretaries have succeeded: Dr. Willem Adolf Visser't Hooft 1948-1966, Eugene Carson Blake 1966-1972, Philip Alford Potter 1972-1984, Emilio Castro 1985-1992, Konrad Raiser 1993-2003). Taken as a whole, the General Secretariat archives document a period of immense significance, both in terms of the ecumenical movement and indeed the history of the world. They include many letters to prominent politicians and national leaders and may therefore be of great relevance not only to church historians, but also historians in general.

Correspondents

WCC-1 correspondents include Prof. ALIVISATOS, Archbishop ATHENAGORAS, Karl BARTH, Bishop George BELL, John C. BENNETT, Bishop BERGGRAV, Pastor Marc BOEGNER, Professor BULGAKOFF, Archbishop GERMANOS, Professor Hendrick KRAEMER, Bishop Hans LILJE, Reinhold NIEBUHR, Martin NIEMÖLLER, J. OLDHAM, Denis DE ROUGEMONT, and Archbishop William TEMPLE.

The sections in this collection include correspondence with national council of churches, conference of churches, Swiss and Geneva authorities, John D. ROCKEFELLER, Martin Luther KING, the community of TAIZÉ, records on South Africa, the Biafra war, Germany (DDR), the Middle East conflict.
