Dear Mr. Ludington:

I appreciate your letter of February 7th. Kindly pardon delayed answer. I took a few days off and am back again in my office this morning.

I am glad that you are kept busy and have such good prospects. I hope they will all materialize and that you will be able to more than realize the hopes expressed in your letter.

We certainly should like to see you here sometime, and if you will kindly let us know a little ahead of the day when you arrive, I will do my best to plan to be here. I am not here every day but am usually here three or four days a week.

With sincere personal regards, I am,

Most truly yours,
