Dear Mr. McBrier,

I was glad to get your last letter of February the tenth and to hear that you had a good time at Boca Grande, but sorry to realize that we would not have the opportunity of seeing you here. You have been very good in the matter of my Yenching pledge and you may be sure that I have it almost constantly in mind and I had expected to make a substantial additional payment, long before now, but a number of small but important business obligations have kept me stepping. I will certainly do something as soon as I can fit it in.

We have had a very nice quiet time down here, except for the fact that I managed to collect some flu bugs, which knocked me over, as well as two of the children. A few days after I was around again, I took some friends fishing, despite unfavorable weather as they were only here for a day or so. I managed to get my small boat caught in some quite rough weather and to get absolutely soaked. I was unable to get back to a hot bath quickly enough to avoid further trouble! However, I am feeling much better again and determined to be more careful in the future.

Very sincerely yours,

C. J. Ludington
