Dr. Arthur Brown, Chairman
Mr. B. A. Garside, Secretary
Mr. Harold F. Smith, Registrar
Cheeloo University
150 Fifth Avenue
New York City

Dear Sirs:

In reply to your request of May 12th for a grant-in-aid to strengthen and enlarge the child welfare work of Cheeloo University, I am glad to inform you that at the meeting of our Executive Committee on May 12, 1930, it was decided to include your request in our appeal for our new fiscal year beginning June 1st. As indicated to Mr. Smith in our conversation, we are compelled by our understanding with the National Child Welfare Association of China to concentrate our efforts first on the completion of the Child Welfare Home at Nanking, and, next in order, the Child Health Center in Shanghai, after which we shall put forth every effort to underwrite the amount which you have asked us to secure for your work.

We are very deeply interested in your work and assure you not only of our sincere desire to assist you, but also of our every effort to enable you to carry forward the program of work which you outlined in your letter of May 12th.

Very sincerely yours,

The Present Work of
Cheeloo University

MAY
1930

Cheeloo University, located in Tsinan, Shantung, is supported by the Rockefeller China Medical Board and twelve Mission Boards of the United States and Great Britain. It maintains Schools of Medicine, Nursing, Education, Science, and Theology. Its objective is to prepare physicians, nurses, teachers, and church workers for the 90% of China's 400,000,000 who live in rural districts.

The School of Medicine and the Hospital are second in China only to the Peking Union Medical College. The plant of the University is valued at $1,000,000. Besides the work in the city, there are well established rural centers with health, educational, church, and agricultural activities.

In Child Welfare Work, the University conducts:

1. A Baby Clinic in the Out-patient Department of the Hospital.
   Director - Dr.Annie V.Scott
2. Obstetrical Ward and Pre-natal Clinic
   Directors - Drs. Shields and Gell.
3. District Nursing - one district nurse.
   Director - Miss Frances Wilson
4. Rural Dispensary and Clinic, with physician and nurse.

The Opportunity

The present Child Welfare Work is small only because of lack of money. There is no limit to the need. The city of Tsinan has many thousands of children in homes, rug and cotton spinning factories, home industries, and a few in schools. The hospitals and dispensaries are entirely inadequate and reach only a small percentage of the children. In the rural districts about Tsinan, with a density of population from 900 to 1500 per square mile of cultivated area and the greatest depth of poverty, there is there is no modern medical care whatever excepting as we give it.

The Present Emergency

Our Schools of Medicine and of Nursing are next month graduating physicians and nurses. They are now seeking positions for next year. Prompt action will secure some of them for Child Welfare. Our Child Welfare activities are already set up. Our workers and administrators are already on the job. No delay will be made. Expansion of work and enlarged results will follow immediately on receipt of authorization of expenditure of funds.

My dear Dr. Mace:

In accordance with the telephone conversation I had with Dr. J. S. Nagle yesterday afternoon, I am enclosing herewith a number of pictures just received from Cheeloo University showing glimpses of what they are doing in the field of child welfare. I also enclose several copies of a small pamphlet prepared by Dr. H. T. Shields who is Dean of Medicine and Acting President of the University.

I believe you already have copies of the two publications "Training Christian Physicians for China" and the Report of the Cheeloo School of Medicine for 1929. I will be glad to send you additional copies of these publications if you need them.

When you have finished with the pictures, we will be glad to have them returned to our files of publicity material here in the office. I am especially well pleased with the close-up picture of the little Chinese miss holding her American doll. It strikes me as the most appealing picture and I would be glad to use it for phases of our Cheeloo promotional work.

Please call on us freely for any further assistance or information we can give you. I understand the field is sending us other pictures and material which we will be happy to pass on to you on arrival.

Very sincerely yours,

B. A. Garside

Dear Mr. Garside:

You are invited to be the guest of the International Save The Children Fund of America at dinner on Friday, January 29, 1932, at 6:15 P. M. in Room C, Town Hall Club, 123 West 43rd Street (between 6th and 7th Avenues), New York, N. Y.

The dinner which follows the First Annual Meeting of the Corporation and Board of Directors, is to be quite informal, and there will be a discussion of some of the needs of children in various parts of the world where the Save The Children Fund may be of aid ultimately.

We are hoping that Dr. Hume can be present and speak on the needs of children in China; that Dr. Henry J. Leiper will do the same for Central Europe; Dr. Thomas Jesse Jones for Africa; Dr. Robert Hopkins for Latin America; Mr. Clarence Pickett for the United States; and I shall speak for India.

It is not expected that the dinner will extend beyond 7:45 or 8 o'clock so that it will be possible for you to keep any other engagements you may have for that evening.

We trust that you may be able to attend this dinner, and will be grateful to you if you will be so kind as to let us know at your early convenience as to whether you can be with us or not.

Very sincerely yours,

SHANTUNG

Shantung Christian University

February 9, 1932.

Dr. John R. Voris,
Save the Children Fund,
156 Fifth Avenue,
New York City.

My dear Dr. Voris:

I know that you are already familiar in a general way with the service our Shantung Christian University is doing for the welfare of Chinese children. Let me however, summarize as briefly as I can, not only what the University is already doing, but the opportunities for an even larger scope of service as resources permit.

The field in which Shantung Christian University has thus far rendered its most striking contribution to the welfare of Chinese children is that of medicine. In connection with the Medical School and Hospital, the University is carrying on the training of doctors and nurses in Obstetrics, Pediatrics, and allied courses directed to the welfare of children. The University also has developed a special Children's Clinic, where, under the direction of Dr. Annie V. Scott and her corps of assistants, the finest type of friendly medical service is being given to large numbers of Chinese children. The influence of this work reaches far beyond the individuals with which the institution comes into direct contact, for the information and training given is disseminated through the immediate recipients in constantly broadening circles.

The service rendered does not confine itself to the hospital and out-patient dispensary of the University, but is extended into the home. A special health nurse visits the homes of children with which the hospital and clinic have had contacts, and there follows up the good work that has been begun. Doctors are also sent into various schools in the city of Tsinan to give health examinations to children and to provide any needed medical advice and treatment.

In many other ways the University is making a very important contribution to the children of China. Affiliated with the University are special practise schools which are rendering an important service both in providing education for the children enrolled, and also in serving as training centers for University students planning to go into this field of educational work. The University is placing spetial emphasis upon service in rural districts and smaller towns and cities, where the need is the greatest and the facilities for meeting that need are the most inadequate. In a nearby rural center experimental work is carried on for the purpose of learning the needs of the children and adults of the typical Chinese village, and discovering how these needs can best be met.

In addition to these regular forms of service, the University is always ready to respond whenever emergency needs arise. When epidemics occur, the University's doctors and nurses are always in the forefront of those laboring to check the spread of disease as well as to save those already stricken. When famine conditions exist in Shantung, as has happened so frequently during recent years, the University campus is always surrounded by row on row of tents and huts of refugees who come for the food and assistance that is somehow found for them.

In such services as these, the University is often handicapped by inadequate funds, and is always compelled to keep its work within the limitations of available resources. The scope of this service could be extended into far wider fields if increased funds and personnel could be provided.

Moreover, in many of these forms of service to the children of China, the University is making new experiments and blazing new trails. It would warmly welcome the advisory assistance which such an organization as the Save the Children Fund could give. You could supply information as to the results of similar undertakings in other lands, and could give invaluable advice and guidance in helping the University plan and develop its child welfare work.

From the standpoint of strength of organization and established position in the missionary program for China, Shantung occupies a position of leadership. The University is supported by more than a dozen Boards of Missions, representing practically all the leading denominational groups in the United States, Canada, and Great Britain. The Rockefeller Foundation has given support and recognition to the School of Medicine as being one of the leading centers of modern medical training in China. The University has behind it a record of almost seventy years of distinguished service to China. All plans for developing and correlating our Christian higher educational work in China gives a prominent place to Shantung Christian University as the center for the training of Chinese doctors and nurses, and for training leaders to serve in the towns and rural areas where the need is the greatest and available assistance is the least.

We hope that Dr. Annie V. Scott, the Head of the Department of Pediatrics will be coming to the United States on furlough this year and will be available for personal consultation with you. Meanwhile, our office will be happy to supply you with any information or publicity material we have available or can secure for you.

Just at this time the University is making plans, and preparing budget estimates, for the new fiscal year which begins on July 1, 1932. One of our most urgent needs is for additional funds to develop the work of the Children's Clinic to a point where it will more adequately meet the demands being made upon it, to employ Chinese nurses who will visit the homes and then follow up the care begun by the clinic, and to provide hospital care for children who are seriously ill but whose parents are too poor to pay even the low fees which the University hospital must charge. Ten thousand dollars per year is needed to meet these immediate needs. It is our earnest hope that the Save the Children Fund may be able to assist at this point.

Very sincerely yours,

B A Garside

SHANTUNG

Shantung Christian University

April 1, 1932.

Dr. John E. Voris,
Save the Children Fund,
156 Fifth Avenue,
New York City.

My dear Dr. Voris:

Supplementing the letter I wrote you on February 9, 1932, I am now presenting in more concrete form the request of Cheeloo University for assistance through the Save the Children Fund for the establishment and maintenance of a Save the Children Unit, in connection with the University's Child Welfare work.

I will not repeat at this time what I wrote in my letter of February 9th regarding the University itself and the work it is already carrying on in the field of Child Welfare. In this letter I will try to describe the further extension of this Child Welfare service which could be effected with additional funds, but which cannot be done with our present resources.

I have based these estimates on figures worked out by the University, but have scaled down the items for which support is asked from a total of about $12,000.00 to the present figure of $6,750.00. This has been done with the thought that the Save the Children Fund may wish to begin its support on the more modest scale, and to advance from this initial basis as funds become available and the accomplishments justify.

May I comment briefly on the various items:-

1. Visiting Nurses and Child Welfare Workers. The most urgent need, and the largest opportunity of service, now confronting Cheeloo is that of providing visiting nurses and Child Welfare workers who can go into homes in the City of Tsinan, and into the surrounding villages, to carry directly to children and their parents, the benefits of medical science, and also the sociological and economic aspects of a Child Welfare program. Such workers would be under the direction of the Cheeloo School of Medicine and Hospital, and would work in close cooperation with the Health Clinic now conducted at the University, and the children's wards of the University Hospital. Through these visiting nurses and Child Welfare workers the University could multiply many fold both the number of children who could be helped, and also the number of parents and other adults who could be instructed and assisted.

2 4 4 4 0 0 1

2. Children's Health Clinic. In the Correlated Program for all Christian higher education in China, Cheeloo University has been assigned the important task of developing a well-rounded educational program dedicated to the service of the rural areas and smaller cities and towns of China. These fields contain over 85% of China's total population. The University is just now seeking ways and means by which this rural program can be carried on.

One of the most immediate and most important phases of such a program would be the establishment of Child Welfare work in the Chinese villages. The logical beginning for such work would seem to be the Children's Health Clinic. The support requested under this head would be sufficient to enable the University to establish and maintain a Children's Health Clinic in some suitable village not too remote from the University's campus. The direct service such a clinic could render to the children of the village, and adjourning villages, would be tremendous. But such a clinic would render an even greater service in two ways:-

(a) By the creation of an experimental model which could be used for working out methods and policies for other centers of a similar nature which would later be established elsewhere.

(b) By providing a practical laboratory in which both the students in medicine and nursing, and students from other colleges in the University, could learn at first hand of the needs of the rural areas and the most effective means of meeting these needs.

3. Health Education Program. Even more far-reaching service than the immediate results of the work of visiting nurses and Child Welfare workers and the accomplishments of a Child Welfare clinic, can be rendered through a program of health education. As yet very little has been done in China in the preparation of simple, easily read, and easily understood health literature in the Chinese language. There is an urgent and illimitable need just at this point. A printed message on how to live healthfully can be distributed infinitely further and less expensively than this same message can be carried by word of mouth. Yet illiteracy in China is so wide-spread that we must continue to place a large emphasis on lectures and on visual education through pictures, models, and other easily understood illustrative media. We have already at Cheeloo a staff competent to do extremely valuable work, not only for the local area but for all China, in the preparation of material of this kind. But nothing substantial can be accomplished until funds are available for this work. The amount proposed in the attached budget estimates would permit a very satisfactory beginning.

I can assure you that the governing boards and the personnel responsible for Child Welfare work at Cheeloo can be counted upon to give their heartiest cooperation with the Save the Children Fund in any plans you may make for the establishment of a unit of your work at Cheeloo.

Very cordially yours,

B.A. Garside

My dear Mr. Garside:

Permit me to acknowledge with appreciation your letter of April first, outlining the suggested budget for Cheeloo University.

I think you know of my personal sympathy with respect to this appeal. The method of dealing with these appeals will be as follows:

Dr. Carstens and I will bring these matters before the Executive Committee at the regular meeting the middle of April. If the Committee approves the project in principal, we will then refer them back to a conference on China, in which you will participate. After that the executive officer will probably have authority to procede with any program that iw worked out.

Present: Dr. Allen D. Wagoner
Dr. E. E. Geisler

I am enclosing herewith a statement of the reference with which I am in complete accord. I have also prepared a statement which I hope will be of assistance to the committee in its deliberations, but I am not sending it to you at this time, as I am not sure that it will be necessary. I will telephone you on Monday, when reference to a conference some time next week.

Yours very truly,
JOHN A. VOGEL

CHINA UNION UNIVERSITIES
CENTRAL OFFICE

SUMMARY OF INITIAL PROJECTS

To be operated as

SAVE THE CHILDREN UNITS IN CHINA

	Amount needed Annually in U. S. $
Yenching University	$4,010.00

For maintaining and slightly strengthening a well-established comprehensive program in Child Welfare Work, conducted by Yenching University through its departments of Sociology, Education, Psychology, and Home Economics, and in cooperation with the School of Nursing of the Peking Union Medical College. This work is carried on both in the city of Peiping and also in the suburban area around Yenching, and in the village of Ching-ho.

Cheeloo University	$6,780.00

For strengthening and developing work already being carried on in Child Welfare by the School of Medicine and the University Hospital of Cheeloo University. The funds requested are needed to provide for visiting nurses and child welfare workers, to carry on a village health clinic for children, and to conduct a health education program.

Lingnan University	$6,180.00

To correlate and unify various fragmentary items of Child Welfare Work in an extensive area inside the city of Canton and in the surrounding country, and to use this work as a basis for the practical training of University students intending to devote their lives to social welfare and especially to child welfare. This program would be carried on under the direction of Lingnan University.

West China Union University	$5,280.00

To strengthen the work now being done by West China Union University in the field of Child Welfare through the School of Medicine and its affiliated hospitals. The funds requested are needed to provide for a children's clinic, nurses, and child welfare workers.

SUMMARY OF FACTS RELATIVE TO
PROPOSED SAVE THE CHILDREN UNIT
AT CHEELOO UNIVERSITY

The University. Cheeloo is the oldest University in China (established 1864), was the first to become a union institution (union began in 1904), and is supported by the largest number of mission bodies cooperating in any university in mission lands, (twelve societies in all, five from United States, two from Canada, five from Great Britain). The University is incorporated within the Dominion of Canada, by special act of the Parliament of Canada, July 19, 1924, and is registered with the Ministry of Education.

In the Correlated Program for Christian Higher Education in China, which has secured general approval both on the field and in the West, Cheeloo University is recognized as an outstanding national center both for training medical workers and for developing leaders for serving the 85% of China's population which lives in the towns and villages.

Administration on the field is in the hands of a Board of Directors, and in the West is in the hands of a Board of Governors with a North American Section and a British Section.

The Proposed Save the Children Unit. The proposed Save the Children Unit at Cheeloo would be more directly under the supervision of the School of Medicine. (The Report of this School for the year 1931 is submitted herewith). The School of Medicine is adequately administered and staffed, and has an excellent Medical School plant and reasonably satisfactory hospital and out-patient facilities. Funds are now in hand and construction will probably begin soon, on a new hospital and out-patient plant which will be superior to any mission hospital plant in China.

The one in direct charge of the Save the Children Unit would be Dr. Annie V. Scott, B. S., M.D., the head of the Department of Pediatrics. Associated with her are two Chinese doctors who are graduates of the Cheeloo School of Medicine.

While the Child Welfare work done by the Save the Children Unit would be built upon the substantial basis already established at Cheeloo, this Unit would be rendering a distinct and urgently needed service which is not now being performed, and which cannot be performed within the limits of present resources.

A proposed one-year budget for this unit is attached hereto. A few comments on the items may be helpful:-

1. Visiting Nurses and Child Welfare Workers. These would fill the urgent need, and the large opportunity, for visiting nurses and Child Welfare workers who can go into Chinese homes both in Tainan and in the surrounding villages. Through these visiting nurses and Child Welfare workers the numbers both of children aided and of adults assisted could be multiplied manyfold.

2. Children's Health Clinic. One important phase of the Rural Life Program assigned to Cheeloo is the establishment of Child Welfare work in Chinese villages. A logical beginning for this work would be a children's health clinic. The support proposed under this heading would be sufficient to enable the University to establish and maintain such a clinic in some suitable village not far from the campus.

3. Health Education Program. Very little has yet been done in China in the preparation of simple, easily understood health literature in the Chinese language, or in preparation of visual educational material for the large proportion of the people who are illiterate. The amount requested under this head would permit a worth-while beginning along these lines.

SAVE THE CHILDREN UNIT

AT TSINAN, SHANTUNG

This Unit is an important center of Child Welfare work in the pivotal and populous province of Shantung. Its approach to the need is primarily through the channel of medical service, though it is not limited to this field alone. The greatest need in Shantung, as in most of China, exists in the rural villages and country towns, and it is there that this Unit would particularly serve.

This Unit, while doing a separate and distinctive piece of urgently needed Child Welfare work, has the advantage of being associated with the School of Medicine and the Hospital of Cheeloo University. This institution is recognized as the national center for Christian medical education throughout China except for the area of West China.

Attached hereto are budget estimates of the expenditures of the Unit for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1932:-

1. Visiting Nurses and Child Welfare Workers. These fill the urgent need, and the large opportunity, for visiting nurses and Child Welfare workers who can go into Chinese homes both in Tsinan and in the surrounding villages. Through these visiting nurses and Child Welfare workers the numbers both of children aided and of adults assisted can be multiplied many fold.

2. Children's Health Clinic. These expenditures are for carrying on a children's health clinic in a typical Chinese village near the city of Tsinan. Eighty-five percent of the children of China live in the towns and villages, and are almost wholly without the benefits of medical and nursing science. Such a clinic as this renders an immeasureable service as providing an example of what can be done, as well as in serving the children it actually reaches.

This Unit is conducted under the supervision of Dr. Annie V. Scott, B.S., M.D., a missionary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., and Associate Professor and Head of the Department of Pediatrics at Cheeloo University. Associated with her on the committee responsible for this work are Dr. E. B. Struthers, B.A., M.B., D.T.M.H., the University Health officer of Cheeloo University; Miss Frances R. Wilson, B.S., R.N., Superintendent of the Nurses Training School at Cheeloo University; and several ladies who are wives of faculty members of Cheeloo University.

Save The Children Fund
156 Fifth Avenue
New York City

My dear Doctor Voris:

You may remember that some months ago I told you that Dr. Annie V. Scott, who is in charge of the work for children in the School of Medicine of Shantung Christian University, and who is Chairman of the proposed Save The Children Unit in Tsinan, would be spending this year in America.

Dr. Scott has now arrived in this country, and for some months will be carrying on study and research here in New York City. She is much interested in the work of the Save The Children Fund, and would be happy to meet you at any time and place which may be found mutually convenient. I would be glad to assist in arranging for such a meeting.

Very cordially yours,

B. A. Garside

Report on Five Universities Child Welfare Training Program

CHEELOO SECTION

Department of Sociology

December 1943

It was with great disappointment that the plan prepared last summer was abandoned. The reasons this program was not feasible were as follows:

1. In order to cooperate more fully with the other universities and to widen the general scope of service, our plan has been changed to emphasize and concentrate our efforts on primary school health.
2. The failure of our request for funds was not made known to us until it was too late to start the work.
3. The trained nurse whom we planned to invite for this special piece of work was unable to leave her post.
4. The funds allocated for our work were too small to take care of the original program.
5. Facilities, personnel and teaching staff are available to begin the child health project at once.

School Health Service for Urban Children

In studying child welfare problems and the development of children's activities the fundamental problem of child health has to be taken into careful consideration. In order that we may build up a strong nation and that the next generation may enjoy a high standard of health, close attention must be given not only to the mental needs but to the physical health of the children of today.

This project has a two-fold purpose:

a. The establishment of health centers in two neighboring primary schools, whereby a permanent foundation for such work may be laid by the use of our existing academic and experimental facilities in the Associated Universities;

b. The training of students to become workers in school health and specialists in teaching and research work in this field, in preparation for our return to North China after the war and the continuation of work that has already been started in Tsinan, Shantung.

Selected Centers for School Health Program

I. Nan-Tai Primary School. This school has been a center for practical work of students of Cheeloo University for the past five years. Up to the present, very little has been done in the way of medical care of teachers or children. The school is quite close to the University campus.

A. Teachers - These are mostly voluntary workers; a few are receiving some financial help from the Committee of Student Relief. There are 31 men and 9 women, a total of 40.

B. Pupils - There are 265 boys and 138 girls, a total of 403, in this school, 90% of them are urban children. Most of them are suffering from infectious eye or skin diseases, or both.

II. Tung-Ta-Chen Primary School. This school is located to the east of the University, at a distance of about a mile, or 20 minutes' walk. Some of the faculty of Cheeloo University and the University of Nanking have their homes in this place, and their children account for about one-fifth of the total number of pupils registered in this school.

DEC 1943

A. Teachers - The teachers of this school are full-time workers. There are 12 women teachers and 7 men, a total of 19.
B. Pupils - There are 209 boys and 160 girls, a total of 369.

Methods of Work

1. Physical Examination: Physical Examination of these two schools has already begun, and four of our women students who are majoring in this course are giving what help they can to the doctors. Each day more than 100 children are being examined, one day a week being set for this purpose, so that it will take six weeks for the 772 pupils to be examined.

2. Home Visitation: This will be the practical work for Cheeloo Sociology students. There are two objects in visiting the homes of the school children: first, to cultivate a spirit of friendship with the parents, and secondly, to study the home environment, especially the sanitary and economic conditions. The ultimate aim is to collect research data on the subject of home environment and its influence upon the school children. By these means, ways may be found to better the conditions of the children's homes and gain the cooperation of the parents in measures for the improvement of the children's health.

Organization

Members of the staff are also giving lessons in the Primary Schools on Physiology and Hygiene.

The above courses are open to five University students who are taking child welfare courses.

Budget

The sum of $7,600 N.C. has been allocated to this work for an experimental period of two months.

Future Plans

1. To secure a trained nurse for health visiting in both schools and for follow-up work in the homes of the children.
2. To introduce adult education and training in child care into the homes.
3. To extend the work to other schools next term.
