Dear Dr. Stuart:

We would like to make a special contribution this year toward the campaign which you are conducting now and which we trust is moving forward in an encouraging manner. Covering the special gift I enclose check herewith.

Later this month I will send check in renewal of my contribution toward Dr. Lew's salary.

Dear Mr. Woolverton:

Your letter enclosing check for one thousand dollars has just been received. I send you this acknowledgement at once with my heartiest personal thanks, as well as on behalf of the University.

It seems to be almost a case of telepathy, as I was thinking yesterday when I could invite myself for another evening in your home. I have been in the city for the past two days, and I am leaving again tonight for a ten day trip. I shall then have two or three more days here and start for the South to be with my own people during the holidays.

On returning in January, I shall look forward to this pleasure. Meanwhile with greetings to all your household and again with thanks for your generous contribution, believe me

Very sincerely yours

I am in receipt of your two recent favors making a special appeal for a subscription to the $300,000. fund which you are desirous of raising.

Just at present I have such commitments that I prefer not to add to them. I am expecting to renew my gift in December toward Dr. Lew's salary and if conditions are favorable may be able to help you out for this fund. I hope you may be successful in your efforts.

I trust that the present unrest will have no bad affect upon the university.

I shall also be glad to hear from Mr. Wannamaker at any time he cares to call.

My dear Mr. Woolverton:

Dr. Stuart has asked me to write to you in regard to a matter on which he would be very glad to have your help.

The other day someone called his attention to the fact that a group of banks have formed what is known as the "Uniform Trust for Public Uses" - an organization which lists schools and so forth that it deems worthy of aid from people who wish to spend their money wisely. The person who gave this information thought the Farmers Loan and Trust Company might be behind this organization.

Dr. Stuart would like to have you inform him, if possible, of the process by which Yenching University might be listed as one of these worthy causes. Any help or information you may be able to give him will be greatly appreciated.

Dear Miss McCoy:

Your letter of the 16th instant is received, and I think very likely the organization which Dr. Stuart had in mind is the New York Community Trust. That is the only thing that I know of which would come within the range that you mention, though their functions are not quite such as you outline.

My suggestion would be that someone might call on them at 149 Broadway and see Mr. Ralph Hays, their Director.

I was much interested in seeing in today's Herald Tribune the item in regard to the China survey to be shared by Harvard and Yenching University. I sincerely hope that matters have been worked out as Dr. Stuart would have them, and would be interested to know if such is the case.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. Woolverton:

I have had in mind for some time writing you a word of appreciation because of your effort to help our University through Mr. Fred Eldridge. I have waited, however, in order to report the final outcome of his endeavor to interest Mrs. Charles F. MacLean. I am happy to advise you that she has now provided $50,000 in her will for us which Mr. Eldridge thinks can be transferred in the not distant future in securities. Since this has come about entirely through your instrumentality, I want you to share in the good news now that it has become an assured fact.

I find myself staying on in this country longer than I had intended and apparently shall have to be here into April. If convenient to Mrs. Woolverton and yourself, I should very much enjoy going up to your home again some evening next week. I especially want to tell you of the changed basis of Dr. Lew's support from now on.

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Woolverton:

It seems hopeless for me to attempt to get out to Scarsdale again before leaving. I am, therefore, writing you a word of farewell on the day when you begin your retirement from active work.

I especially want to report the developments in the case of Mr. Groner who like yourself is retiring and wishes to settle down in Syracuse to enjoy leisure and his family. He believes strongly in work such as we are doing in China and feels the force of the appeal although he is not sure that he is fitted for this special type of soliciting that we require. He is going to see Mr. Eldridge and have a talk with him before deciding. Meanwhile, I can say to you rather confidentially that Mr. Eldridge is undertaking to secure funds for equipping our Department of Education and making of it a sort of embryonic teachers college, as we have been asked to do by the whole group of Christian colleges in China. This gives us a unique opportunity in teacher training for the whole Christian movement which he feels the value of. If he is successful, this together with what has already been secured for us through him will be due to your suggestion and you should have the satisfaction of realizing that next to the Hall estate you will have been instrumental in helping to do ~~this~~ more than any one else. for Yenching.

Let me take this occasion to thank all of you for another pleasant visit in your home and to bid farewell to Mrs. Woolverton, Carol, and Fred.

With hearty appreciation,

Very sincerely

Dear Mr. Woolverton:

You are certainly very generous to bring so far forward the date of your usual splendid contribution to the University. I wish we had one hundred friends equal to you, each one giving the same annual contribution! Really, I say without the slightest exaggeration, that the acute financial problems of Yenching would be solved for the immediate present.

This is the sort of thing we keep hoping that we may be able to bring about - a considerable number of steady contributors giving amounts ranging from $100 to $1,000 a year. It is the most modern and up-to-date method of bridging the gap between fixed income and the total budget. It is the way in which the Harvard School of Business Administration has been so successfully financed through the efforts of Dean Donham. He has a group of persons called "Associates" who pledge themselves to a certain annual amount for an indefinite period with the proviso, however, that they are free at any time to cancel the pledge on twelve months' notice.

I am stating all this to you because I want you to know how sincere I am in expressing this earnest thanks for the kind of help you have been giving.

Mr. McBrier wishes me to tell you how he shares with me in this appreciation of your help.

Sincerely yours,

My dear Mr. Woolverton:

We have been thinking of you as one of the friends who would wish to know of specially critical needs brought to our attention in letters from Yenching. Such a need is now before us, and I write to share it with you.

You are already aware that the program of Physical Education at Yenching has shown fine development during the last few years. No department has a closer relation to the health and morale of the Yenching community during the present trying times. One of the urgent needs to which we should make response during the next ten days is that of supplying the balance of $300 necessary to assure Mr. Kuan Yi-shan of graduate study at Columbia during 1939-40. This young man is now a member of the Department of Physical Education at Yenching under the leadership of K. A. Wee. He has been doing excellent work there and is the present candidate of the Department for further training in America. His credentials have made a favorable impression at Columbia University, where scholarship aid has been granted to him for the coming year.

A total of $600 was needed to make it possible for Mr. Kuan to complete his year here. Of this sum, three gifts of $100 each have been received, leaving only $300 to be obtained. This is so small a sum that we hope to secure it promptly. Will you be one of three who will guarantee $100 each to make up this small total?

Payment would not be called for until sometime during the autumn, but we must have the assurance that the entire amount required will be available, before we can complete plans for Mr. Kuan to undertake the journey to America.

Sincerely yours,

The last American mail brought from our New York Office a complete list of American donors to Yenching University during the past twelve months. In looking through this, I have found your name and cannot resist the impulse to send you a few lines of very personal, if belated, appreciation for your continuing support of our university.

As you are doubtless receiving reports from time to time of our affairs, I shall not make any comment from this standpoint nor as to my own sense of the way in which the value of what we have undertaken is being extenuated by world events. I do, however, want to assure you of the encouragement it has been to me in the midst of our present perplexities to have this evidence of your good will.

Whitaker recalls the many delightful associations with you at Scarsdale and in the city. I remember gratefully your many courtesies and the pleasure I have had in knowing the whole family.

My greetings to the others and best wishes for yourself.

Very sincerely yours,

Why does not our government clamp down on Japan more effectively?

Mr. Samuel Woolverton

New York 22, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Woolverton:

I wish to thank you with a special emphasis for your gift of $150.00, for which receipt is enclosed herewith.

We are particularly grateful because of the pressing needs for carrying on the work at Yenching during these strenuous times. We are hoping and praying that the splendid work instituted this year may be carried through to completion in June. However, the pressures are great there at Peiping, and there is no telling what will happen. We are assured, however, that Yenching will carry on some way in some form in some place in China.

You have always been gracious in remembering Yenching, and this gift is but another indication of your loyalty to Christian higher education in China.

Sincerely yours,

C. A. EVANS
